HORNINGS TAKE RUBBER GAME

Take Advantage of Breaks and Errors to Defeat Macks in Deciding Game.

The Horning Jewelers, proteges of Horning's Pawnshop in Washington, came to Manassas last Sunday and took the third game of the series between themselves and the Macks into hock. When they finished their day's business, they found themselves on the long end of a 7-2 score.

When the game was over, the Macks found that they had again been thrown for a loss after two straight wins. But they had no one but themselves to blame for the defeat. They had lost the game through loose fielding and weak hitting. During the course of the game they had been guilty of four errors and had registered only eight hits.

Buster Polen pitched a good game, allowing twelve hits, but striking out seven and walking only one. Going to the hill for the third time within seven days, however, he found a little difficulty in getting under full steam, and the Jewelers succeeded in getting to him for hits with men on bases in the early innings. As the game progressed, he regained his strength and cunning, and in the sixth and seventh innings turned away the first two men to face him on strikes. But the damage had been done, and the Jewelers proceeded to win the game as Young held the Macks away from the plate effectively.

The box score of the game is as follows:

MANASSAS JUNIORS DEFEAT CLARENDON

A pitcher's dream was almost realized when the local Legion Juniors met the Clarendon Generals on Saturday, July 15.

"Bubbie" Simpson, accomplished young twirler of the Legion, carried the Generals to the early ninth hitless, when Daro, pinch hitting with out, singled to center field.

Fogle and Cline carried off slugging honors for the locals with a triple and single apiece, the former scoring two runs with his three-bagger.

Due to illness, Boatwright, catcher, and Vetter, second base, were on the bench. White and Bowers, however, covered the positions neatly.

MISS TRUSLER TO ACT AS COUNCILOR

Miss Janet Trusler departed Sunday, July 16, for Rock Creek Park to assume the duties as an official councilor at a summer camp for children. It is expected that the duties will continue throughout July and August, after which time Miss Trusler will conduct classes in expression and dramatic art, here and in Washington.

Attention is again called to the Battlefield Picnic ALL day tomorrow. Food and refreshments on grounds. All three candidates for governor are expected to speak. State Senator Rust will preside.

COMMENTS FROM MR. DEAL

The following extract from a speech made at Newport News by Mr. Deal last week:

"The people don't know how Peery stands on these vital questions; they have no way of knowing whether my honorable opponent even knows what is going on in the country, for up to this time he has stuck pretty closely to such grave matters as whether or not I received the machine's support in my campaigns for Congress.

"I submit that the outstanding issue in this campaign is whether the people want a standpat, reactionary machine running Virginia or a man whose face is to the future, who believes that Roosevelt's progressivism is the sole hope of the nation and who pledges himself to do all in his power to give to our President the wholehearted support of that State which is known as the mother of Presidents.

"Most of our local issues hinge directly upon this central question. You people of Newport News are interested at present in power rates. My honorable opponent has had ample opportunity, as a member of the State Corporation Commission, to see that the people got a square deal from the power trusts. But I suppose he feels that interfering with the custom of permitting them to earn 8 per cent on stock watered and re-watered would be unwarranted, just as the man who is running him for Governor feels that the President is going too far in interfering with lawful business.

"Peery's supporters are so alarmed at the swing away from their candidate that they are actually suggesting that the people nominate him for Governor and then hold a platform convention so he can be told how he stands on the issues I have raised in the campaign. The News Leader, Byrd-Peery organ, is now insisting that the people must be told how their leaders stand on the 'new deal,' saying they cannot be asked to follow in the dark. But that newspaper would have the people told by a platform, written after the primary. This amazing proposal is proof enough that even Peery's supporters, if they are intelligent and if they have the good of the State at heart, are growing disgusted with his placid assumption that running for Governor is a childish game in which serious matters should not be intruded."

EAGLES BACK FOR ANOTHER BATTLE

Team Which Snapped Previous Winning Streak Returns for Game This Sunday.

The Alexandria Fraternal Order of Eagles team is coming back again this Sunday to give the Macks hawks another shot at their shining plumage. When they were here before, they put an end to a winning streak which the Macks had established, just as the Horning Jewelers did on the past Sunday.

Now the Macks hope to use these same birds to start themselves a new winning streak. With a record of ten victories and four defeats for the season, the Macks can show no prolonged winning streaks, and for that reason they would like very much to clip the wings of the Eagles this Sunday and start themselves on the road to a real winning streak.

ENJOY PICNIC

The postal clerks association picnicked at Davis Beach today as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Allen. About fifty attended.

Hon. G. W. Herring was a prominent figure at the gathering.

BULL RUN

Bull Run. That magic name has inspired countless thousands who have never seen the spot where "Stonewall" earned his name.

If one would go to the little rise where Jackson stood and to which Bee excitedly ran in the confusion of battle, they might perhaps get a faint idea of that moment of history when almost the fate of nations was changed.

The day had gone distinctly against the Confederates, and word had already been passed back that the rebels were being defeated.

Calm in face of shot and shell, Jackson watched the enemy over the expanse which swept away to the northwest. The battery on his right was about to retreat, and asked permission. "How many rounds have you?" asked Jackson. "Two" was the reply. Counting seconds as it were, and with the enemy constantly gaining, Jackson said "Fire slowly, for when you have fired twice the Virginians will be with us."

As the smoke rose from the guns on the second volley, there was a crooning yell, which gradually surged up and down the tired gray line. For just at that moment, the ranks of the Virginians came into view over the rise just behind the great General and he knew the day was his.

The order to charge along the entire line was given and the Federal rout became one of the greatest and quickest changes from victory to overwhelming defeat that the world has ever seen.

Of all that brave battle line, how many remain to still pulse the wonder of that day? It is the saddest moment of all to realize that they have passed from the scene. We can only feel the thrill of pride that comes in the fact that the glory of the Anglo-Saxon race is never dimmed by the passage of time and that as the present-day exponents of that great family we have the same gage of battle thrust into hands, even if it be only an economic war and the plough share has replaced the saber.

May we join once again today in the sincere hope that our sons of the Southland will come forward to victory once again as they did on that bright day in July so long ago!

GEORGE-WATSON

A wedding of great interest to people of the Haymarket and surrounding neighborhoods took place on Wednesday, July 12, when Miss Mary Watson of Hickory Grove became the bride of Mr. Robert George of the same place.

The marriage was solemnized in All Saints Episcopal church in Frederick, Md., Rev. Douglass Hooff officiating. The witnesses were the bride's two brothers, Messrs. James and Francis Watson, and her cousin, Miss Margaret Carter.

After the ceremony the party returned to the home of the bride's parents for a wedding supper at which members of both families were present.

Mr. and Mrs. George will make their home at Sunnyside near Hickory Grove.

They are planning a visit to the World's Fair in the late summer.

HOUSE PARTY AT WIDEWATER

Miss Rose Ratcliff is entertaining a large party of young folks at her parents' commodious bungalow at Widewater.

W.C.T.U.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet at the home of Mrs. R. L. Sadd Wednesday, July 26, at 8 p.m. All members are asked to come prepared to give a short sketch of some convention address as given in the Union Signal of the W.C.T.U. convention held in Milwaukee.

VEEDER-HUDSON

Mrs. J. R. Hudson of Albany, Ga., announces the marriage of her daughter, Mary, to Charles Deering Veeder of Greenwich, Prince William County, Va., and Warm Springs, Ga. Miss Hudson is a former student of Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., where her studies in physical education led her to take up the inspiring work of physiotherapy of the Warm Springs Foundation, at Warm Springs, Ga., founded by President Roosevelt, for the relief of infantile paralysis.

Mr. Veeder is the youngest son of the late Commodore Ten Eyck De Witt, United States Navy of Schenectady, N. Y., and the late Mrs. Veeder, who before her marriage was the daughter of Charles Green, of Savannah, Ga., and Prince William.

The groom is a brother of the late Lieutenant T. E. D. W. Veeder, Jr., U. S. Navy, the Misses Veeder of Washington, and Greenwich, Va., and Lieutenant William S. Veeder, U. S. Navy. He attended the Episcopal High School at Alexandria, Va., and of late has been co-editor of The Warm Springs Mirror.

The wedding took place July 15 at Warm Springs, in the presence of the two families and a few intimate friends.

MARRIAGE RECORD

July 15—Charles Lawrence Reiss, of Alexandria, and Jessie Sarah Javins, of Manassas.
Colored
July 20—Valentine Green and Maria Lewis, both of Haymarket.

A PROCLAMATION by The Governor of Virginia

"Whereas application in writing, over the signatures of two-thirds of the members of both houses of the General Assembly of Virginia, has been made to the Governor, as of this day, in accordance with the provisions of Section 73 of the Constitution of Virginia, to convene the General Assembly in extra session:

"Now, therefore, I, John Garland Pollard, Governor of Virginia, in pursuance of the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia, do hereby summon the members of the Senate and of the House of Delegates, constituting the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Virginia, to convene in extra session in their respective chambers in the Capitol, at Richmond, at 12 o'clock noon Thursday, the seventeenth day of August, 1933.

"Given under my hand, and under the lesser seal of the Commonwealth at Richmond this fifteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three, and in the one hundred and fifty-eighth year of the Commonwealth."

HORSE SHOW TO DRAW CROWD

Programs for the Prince William County Horse Show are out calling for the usual two-day affair at Nokesville, Wednesday and Thursday, August 2 and 3.

The number of classes has been reduced somewhat but the racing card is equally as good as in the past. There are seven classes, halfbreeds, yearlings, handicap jump, hack or hunter for the first day, and green hunters, touch-and-out, and hunter trial for second day.

The racing purses are liberal considering the times, and entry fees all quite reasonable.

The officers of the organization are H. W. Herring, president; E. W. Hale, secretary; both of Nokesville. There are a number of prominent men of the county who are in the list of directors.

Mr. Hale announces that entries for each race must close at 10 a.m. on the day previous to race.

RURAL LIFE MEETINGS AT BLACKSBURG

The Virginia Homemakers Association will hold its annual meeting at V.P.I. August 1-4 a. the same time that the Institute of Rural Affairs, the State Farmers Institute and the American Country Life Association are meeting. Through the joint meetings a program of unusual interest is being provided.

The central theme of the meeting is "National Policies Affecting Rural Life" which will be presented by nationally-recognized farm leaders.

Among those who will appear on the program are: Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture; Hon. John Garland Pollard, governor of Virginia; Dr. H. C. Taylor, president of American Country Life Association; Dr. L. C. Gray, member of national committee on land utilization; Miss Grace Abbott, Children's Bureau; Chas. W. Halmom, National Milk Producers Federation; Dr. A. R. Mann, Cornell University; Dr. Asher Hobson, University of Wisconsin.

ALASKAN PICTURES SHOWN TO KIWANIS

Lieut. Commander A. W. Radford, of Fairfax, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis last Friday, his subject being the mapping of the international boundary in Alaska.

The talk was accompanied by a series of most beautiful pictures shown to the club in many months. Mr. Radford explained each in a clear and highly-entertaining manner.

Fred Hynson got off some Scotch jokes between curtains.

Chariman Hooff announces a talk of Conservation work this week.

WILL REPRESENT FAIRFAX

Jean Bready, Alice Bready, Annie Jenkins, Anna Utterback, Rem Lynch, Louise Swartz, Edna Watson, Katherine Edwards and Bernice Rigglies will represent Fairfax County at the 4-H Short Course at Blacksburg July 24 to 29.

BIG POLITICAL RALLY AT BETHEL

Candidates Please Crowd With Frankness.

Last Friday night Bethel was the scene of a large and enthusiastic crowd of people from all parts of the county and Stafford County turned out en masse at a political rally sponsored by the Bethel Community League. The campaign of the local candidates have, up to now, been very quiet, but this rally marked the beginning of what is expected to be an exceedingly interesting and hard-fought political battle. Mrs. Nelle Hyde Holmes is a candidate for the seat in the House of Delegates, of which Mr. George W. Herring also of Prince William is the present incumbent. It is interesting to note that while there have been in the past three women members of the House of Delegates, with a woman at the present representing Norfolk, Mrs. Holmes is the first woman to run for office in this part of the State.

Hon. Hawes T. Davies was chairman of the program and Mr. E. R. Conner introduced the speakers. Mr. Hawes lauded Mr. Conner for his many activities in Prince William and spoke appreciatively of Mr. Conner's wide popularity in the county. General Ed then, blushing, took the post of honor and introduced the lady candidate first, with many compliments.

Mrs. Holmes, speaking first on the program, delivered a very impressive and timely speech, the central theme of which was a $5 auto license fee and free text books.

Mr. Herring made a short extemporaneous talk in which he stated that he, too, was in accordance with the idea of free text books and reduction of automobile license tax. Senator Rust followed Mr. Herring with remarks about schools, text books and highway construction.

Conner at the close of the speeches supplied a touch of humor by reading a very clever poem, of his own composition, on the two candidates for the House of Delegates.

Miss Isabel Rainey of Manassas entertained the crowd with tap and acrobatic dancing, with Mrs. Kitty Parler at the piano.

CATHOLIC CLUB TO BE FORMED

At a meeting held yesterday in the rectory of All Saints' church, Manassas, the women of the parish decided to form an organization to be known as "The Catholic Woman's Club of Prince William County."

Every woman of the parish is eligible to membership. Until further plans are made the club will meet every third and fifth Sunday in the church rectory, immediately after the late mass.

MRS. SUSAN F. IDEN

The death of Mrs. Susan F. Iden of 3223 Sixth street N. W., Washington, D. C., which occurred on July 13, 1933, in the National Capital, marked the passing of one of the prominent members of pre-War-between-the-States social and political life of Virginia. She was ninety-one years of age. On May 29 last Mrs. Iden suffered a stroke from which she never recovered. Interment will be at her birthplace, Manassas, Va.

Mrs. Susan F. Iden, nee Hooe, was the daughter of John Hooe of Manassas, and as a young lady witnessed some of the harrowing experiences of the Civil War. General Beauregard used her home as his headquarters for a time. Twice she refueged with her family and a retinue of slaves to the southern part of Virginia to escape the invading armies of the North. She visited the field immediately after the Second Battle of Manassas before the dead had been buried. Her father's home was plundered and burned, and at the end of the War, like so many families of the South, she found herself "land poor."

Mrs. Iden is survived by her husband, William G. Iden, retired; and two sons, Frank H. Iden, a civil engineer in the employ of the District of Columbia, and V. Gilmore Iden, director of Public Relations for the American Iron and Steel Institute and the American Institute of Steel Construction, New York.
