CONSERVATION REORGANIZATION

Peery Favors Full-Time Chairman for Commission.

It was stated in Richmond this week that Governor-elect Peery favored reorganization of the Conservation Commission of Virginia with a full-time chairman, drawing a salary commensurate with the importance of the office.

The popular impression of this decision eliminates Chairman William E. Carson from the picture of reorganized Conservation work, as Mr. Carson's large business interests are such that it is believed that the State would not be able to secure his full time services, and, therefore, will be likely to lose the valuable aid that Mr. Carson has given in the development of the various important projects which are grouped under the present Conservation Commission.

To Chairman Carson has been credited the major accomplishment of the Shenandoah National Park, which has brought so many visitors to Virginia and which is the chief inspiration in developing the great Skyland Drive. His other contributions to the Conservation of Virginia's natural resources have been many and important. Among these are listed the establishment of the Rapidan Camp by President Hoover, and the establishment of the National Colonial Monument project linking Jamestown, Williamsburg and Yorktown.

Under the present supervision of the Chairman of the Conservation Commission are the geological and forestry and the publicity work of the State.

POSSESSES VALUABLE PAPER

Judge William Crow, of Joplin, has in his possession a copy of a weekly paper published at Kingston, Ulster County, N. Y., on January 4, 1800.

It was the first issue after the details of the burial of Washington, and the inside of the paper is a mass of mourning bars. There are the resolutions of Congress, the message from John Adams, President, and other articles.

There are numerous other items of interest, such as a New Year greeting from a clothing merchant and a sawmill located in Rochester where an inexhaustible supply of pine was said to be available.

(Ed. note—Judge might give this to Fred Hynson as a birthday gift, as Fred says the date of publication is his anniversary).

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Frank D. Cox

Corn-Hog Program.

While planned particularly to reduce the surplus of hogs and corn in the middle west, the corn-hog contract offers farmers of Prince William County that have produced an average of three litters or more during 1932 and 1933, a proposition they can hardly afford not to take advantage of, providing as it does for a compensation payment of $5.00 per head on 75 per cent of their average number of pigs raised during 1932 and 1933 in return for their reducing the number of pigs farrowed and marketed in 1934 by 25 per cent. When 10 acres or more of corn were grown they are asked to reduce their corn acreage from 20 to 30 per cent in return for which they will be paid approximately 30 cents per bushel on the estimated yield that the land planted to corn would produce in 1934.

Corn and hog farmers wishing to co-operate in the plan should ask for the preliminary work sheets and any information wished that they have not already received. The necessary information concerning production of corn and hogs in 1932 and 1933 can be gotten together and then later transferred to the contracts in short order.

Please call at the office (second floor of the Manassas P. O. Bldg.), phone or write for the work sheets or any additional information desired.

WOMAN'S CLUB

There will be an executive meeting of the Woman's Club Monday at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. T. J. Broadus. Full attendance desired.

The regular meeting will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the high school. An art program will be presented and all interested in the subject are cordially invited to attend.

ANNUAL MEETING OF PIEDMONT DAIRY FESTIVAL ASS'N

As provided by the by-laws and constitution of the Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival Association, the annual meeting will be held at the Manassas Town Hall, Thursday, January 11, at 1:30 p.m. At this time the president and nine directors from the area at large, including Arlington, Culpeper, Fauquier, Fairfax, Loudoun, Madison, Orange, Prince William, Rappahannock, Stafford and Spotsylvania Counties, Alexandria City and the District of Columbia, will be elected. The membership of each participating county and the two cities will each at their own local meetings elect a vice-president to serve on the Board of Directors and represent his constituents in planning the Fourth Annual Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival.

The Board of Directors shall elect a secretary, treasurer, and a managing director at a later meeting.

All interested in the festival are urged to come to this meeting next Thursday afternoon.

R. S. HYNSON, President.

WILL PREPARE POLICE MANUAL

Virginia Body Sponsors Move.

Following a meeting of the executive committee of the Virginia Police Executives' Association in the offices of the League of Virginia Municipalities, announcement was made by Harold I. Baumes, director of Personnel Training of the League of Virginia Municipalities and assistant secretary of the Police Association that plans have been made to embark upon a considerably extended work program during 1934.

The association, headed by Mr. W. E. Mahone, chief of police of Newport News, includes in its work schedule for the coming year the continuation of the police training program inaugurated so successfully last year throughout the State. An endeavor will be made to increase the membership of the association so that it will include practically all municipal and county police departments. Recommended standards for recruitment and the establishment of improved personnel records to show the progress made by officers in the police schools to be given appropriate consideration for promotions will be prepared for the consideration of the executive committee. The purpose of this action is to make possible the entire utilization of the benefits of police training. Tentative plans have been made to hold a police institute next fall devoted to the detailed consideration of one or two important police problems as distinguished from a police convention at which miscellaneous talks will be given on unrelated subjects.

The officers feel that there has long been a need in this State for a police manual to contain the Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure. No such document is now available for the use of Virginia police officers and it is felt that the preparation of such material would be a real contribution to effective police work in this State. Inquiry will be made as to the probable cost of such publication and the means of financing the same.

Those present at the meeting of the executive committee of the Virginia Police Executives' Association at which these plans were made were as follows: Chief W. E. Mahone of Newport News; Chief J. H. Martin of Danville; Chief R. B. Jordan of Richmond; Captain T. K. Sexton, superintendent of Virginia State Police; Morton L. Wallerstein, executive secretary, League of Virginia Municipalities, and Harold I. Baumes, director of Personnel Training, League of Virginia Municipalities.

PLAY AT INDEPENDENT HILL

The Hayfield 4-H Club will give a program at the O. F. A. Hall, Independent Hill, on Friday, Jan. 5, at 7:30 p.m. Two short plays will be featured and everybody is cordially invited to patronize this event.

NIGHT CLASS STARTED

The special night classes under Professor Sigman in the basement of the Presbyterian Church have started successfully, nearly twenty having already enrolled.

MARRIAGE RECORD

Jan. 4 — Lawson C. Dove and Evelyn Kerlin, both of Nokesville.

A BUDGET OF 6 BILLION

President Roosevelt revealed today that it will cost Uncle Sam around nine billion dollars to put his house in order. The deficit over current revenues for the year ending June 30, 1934, will be $7,309,068, 211.00. Another two billion will be added to this deficit the year following.

The President believes that the third year of his recovery program will see a balanced budget and that thereafter a continual reduction of the national debt will follow.

These stupendous figures are beyond the scope of mental conception.

But this is a mighty nation and it has been very sick. We were willing a few years ago to spend as much in an idealistic effort to restore world conditions, so we ought not to idealize the cost of putting our own nation on a solid footing.

If we have no international war, the President's program will doubtless be carried out on schedule. If we have a great war everything will be topsy-turvy, but even then we will be in all the better shape to protect ourselves. So in any event, under the Roosevelt leadership our great nation is definitely headed to a recovery which will be the pride of succeeding generations of patriotic Americans.

FAIRFAX ROTARY GREETED KIWANIS

Nearby Club Has Delegation Here Last Friday.

On Friday night, Captain Francis Pickens Miller, Fairfax Shield McCandlish and George B. Robey, leaders in the Fairfax Rotary Club, came over as guests of "Bish" Gibson and Ed Conner.

Shield made a nice little talk of his hunting prowess, telling what fine ducks Senator Rust raises for backlot hunting. He didn't tell what happened to the other duck. Incidentally, Shield introduced Captain Miller, a World War veteran, who gave a most interesting but rather gloomy picture of conditions in the Far East.

George didn't make any speeches but did some nice "basso" singing. The Young Woman's Club, under Miss Frances Bushong, president, took their stand just outside the dining hall and very prettily sang carols to the great pleasure of both hosts and visitors.

Professor Eli Swavely, subbing for Ray Ratcliffe, presented gifts to the club's sponsors, Mrs. R. H. Smith, Mrs. Stuart Pattie and Mrs. William Leachman.

President Dick presided for the last time and now OD will have a chance to shine with increased splendor. The president's button will adorn him well.

CHEST CLINIC

A State Chest Clinic will be held in Manassas on Tuesday, January 23. This will be a one-day clinic for adults only. If you have had a bad cold hanging on over a period of months or have other reason to feel that you need a chest examination, consult your physician or the county public health nurse about an appointment for the clinic. These clinics are sponsored by the County Tuberculosis Association. The association takes care of local expenses for the clinics and pays for many X-rays at the X-ray clinics. If you did not have an opportunity to contribute to these funds by buying Christmas seals, you may make a contribution to the treasury of the association at any time. There is pressing need now for sanatorium care for patients not able to pay their own expenses.

FAVORS LOWER AUTO TAX

State Senator John W. Rust has announced that he is in favor of a lower license tax on automobiles, saying he believes all of the people in the State are looking forward to immediate relief from the present high fees. He hopes, he said, that a bill may be passed reducing the fees by at least one-half and that the bill may go through as an emergency measure so as to take effect for 1934.

LANGUISH IN COUNTY JAIL

Christmas time brought a small harvest of offenders to Sheriff Kerlin place of safe keeping. Notable among these are two gentlemen who raided the turkey roost of Lawn Farm just before the holidays. They are named Herndon and Powell, and come from upper Loudoun.

On Saturday and Sunday, Willie Corbin, who got himself in a mess last fall and was let off easy, wound up an alleged three-car spree. He is said to have begun here with Oden Breeden's Chevrolet which he drove into a bank near Fredericksburg. A car which he is said to have brought from Alexandria and allowed to freeze is also in the puzzle. The last was also an Alexandria car which ran out of gas before he got back to Prince William.

Mrs. M. R. Lawler, of Wellington, was a business visitor here on Saturday.

TOM FRANK NAMED WARRENTON POSTMASTER

Tom Frank, mayor of Warrenton and publisher of the Fauquier Democrat, has been named Postmaster at Warrenton, to succeed J. B. Grayson, whose term has expired.

Mr. Frank's popularity has often been evidenced by his fellow townsmen in repeatedly electing him to the office of mayor of his city. As publisher of the Warrenton newspaper and as a tried and true Democrat, he is well known throughout Virginia and his appointment has been the occasion of much satisfaction.

HOME LOANS FOR PRINCE WILLIAM

Field Organizer Visits Manassas

"Federal co-operation to the amount of $100,000 is immediately available for home finance and Prince William County has an opportunity to obtain a part of that money to fill a long-felt need," according to Mr. Sam W. Borden, field organizer of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in Washington. "The only remaining obstacle to the prompt use of such funds," Mr. Borden stated, "is the relatively easy task of raising an equal or greater sum of money in the form of private capital, for the formation of a Federal Savings and Loan Association." Mr. Borden was today conferring with financial and industrial men in Manassas regarding the formation of a Federal Savings and Loan Association which will be adequate from the viewpoint of capital and the character of its management, to serve the county, home financing requirements.

"Judging from the discussions I have had so far," Mr. Borden stated this morning, "the situation here seems favorable, from the Government's standpoint, for the formation of a Federal Savings and Loan Association. That is, the necessity for such an institution actually exists in this community, and there is a strong probability that such an institution would be financially successful and its creation would assist, rather than inflict injury upon, any existing savings or home financing institution in this area."

"Of course, a further requirement of the Government," Mr. Borden said, "is that no charter shall be granted for the organization of a Federal Savings and Loan Association except to a group of persons of responsibility and sound character. I have no doubt from my recent interviews here but that steps taken toward the formation of such an association would have the immediate sponsorship of representative business men. Those I have talked the question over with recognize clearly that a properly managed home financing institution of this kind is vital to the community's stability and future progress. I am delighted with the co-operation and encouragement which I have had already from prominent citizens individually who appreciate the urgency of establishing such a home credit organization and who realize the advantages to be gained by securing a Federal charter. I might say in that regard, that the privilege of securing dollar for dollar participation from the United States Treasury in preferred stock in such institutions, up to $100,000, is only one of the strong features of the Federal Savings and Loan associations."

A body of the town's business men met this afternoon at the Prince William Hotel where Mr. Borden explained matters in detail. Hunton Tiffany was appointed temporary chairman. After some discussion, an organization committee was appointed of five as follows: Bruce Whitmore, Ernest Trusler, R. A. Hutchison, C. R. C. Johnson, and A. A. Hooff. They will report at a public meeting to be held Monday night at the town hall.

There was no opposition among the twenty-five gathered although several expressed no definite decision.

ALFRED T. HYDE

Funeral services for Alfred Taylor Hyde, 83, who died yesterday at his home in Colchester, will be conducted at 2 o'clock tomorrow at Pohick Church by Rev. C. A. Langston, rector, and Rev. A. Campbell Tucker and Rev. Phillip Mason, both of Richmond. Burial will be in Pohick cemetery.

Mr. Hyde was a retired railroad engineer and at one time was an engineer for the Standard Oil Co. He was a native of Prince William County, but had lived in Fairfax County many years.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jean M. Hyde.

LIQUOR CONTROL A BIG PROBLEM

General Assembly Expected to Act Quickly.

The problem of organizing a liquor distribution system in the shortest possible time after adoption of a control act by the General Assembly this week was receiving close attention of members of the Virginia Control Committee, and amendments to the control bill may be recommended by which the time gap can be bridged.

When the new control bill is signed by the governor things will have to happen quickly.

A permanent beverage control commission must be named by the governor, who will be George C. Peery.

This board must organize in the shortest possible time, and a central office must be established for the administration of a business which will approach in size the largest mercantile business in the state.

It must be decided what liquor to buy, from whom it should be bought, and what the prices are to be.

It must establish local warehouses and locate state stores in non-local option territory, and man these distribution points with reputable, skilled and responsible employees.

It must fix the retail price in each locality, a price which may vary at several points according to the price of bootleg liquor.

It must provide for the orderly sale of hard liquor to the public.

It must provide for the enforcement of licensing provisions as to wine and beer permitted to be sold in hotels and restaurants.

It must set up complete accounting and credit systems, arrange for the bonding of employees who handle money, arrange for the transportation of large quantities of beverages and otherwise prepare to enter business on a large scale.

William R. Shands, director of the division of legislative research and drafting and secretary of the control study committee, has written Senator John W. Eggleston, chairman of the committee, directing attention to the organization problem and to the possible necessity of amending the tentative will so as to bridge the all-important organization period.

STATE'S SURPLUS CATTLE TO BE USED IN RELIEF

To Be Bought by Government, Meat Given Needy.

The national Emergency Relief Administration this week authorized the purchase by the Virginia administration of the surplus cattle of Virginia farmers and the processing of the beef for distribution among needy families of the State, it was learned.

Paul L. Fletcher, a graduate of V. P. I. and an expert cattle buyer, now is traveling about the State examining and purchasing cattle for the administration.

The work is under the direction of John H. Wright, director of the surplus food division of the relief organization.

The cattle are to be brought to Richmond where they are to be processed at a local slaughter and meat packing house, and sent to relief directors over the State.

BANK PROPOSAL IN POLLARD MESSAGE

Favors Liquidation Through Banking Division and Not Receivers.

Governor Pollard has stated that in his message prepared for presentation to the General Assembly he reiterates his proposal that liquidation of closed state banks be accomplished through the state banking division and not through receivers.

His statement was made in commenting on the criticism of the amounts paid receivers for the closed American Bank and Trust Company of Richmond.

Asserting that the receivership plan was not the best method for disposing of the affairs of closed institutions, the governor said he would ask the General Assembly to adopt his suggestion.

3 NEW CWA JOBS GIVE 50 WORK AT CULPEPER

Work is being started at once on three additional projects recently approved under the CWA for the town of Culpeper, employing fifty or more men. These projects include street work, sewer lines and work at Fairview, the town cemetery.

SERMONETTE

By Rev. John M. DeChant

Text: John 6:12. "Gather up the broken pieces which remain over, that nothing be lost."
Theme: "Waste"

Waste is one of our great national sins. It has been a blot upon every generation of the life of the nation. We cannot study the development of a single natural resource without finding thoughtless extravagance and huge waste. Forests, lands, mines, oil fields, water, wild life, all have been exploited for private gain with no thought of the needs of coming generations.

Human life has been wasted in the same manner, for private gain and with no thought of the value of a human soul. The story of the importation of cheap European labor during the period of our industrial development makes revolting reading. We must be filled with disgust as we read of intolerable living conditions in factory, mine and labor camp.

A whole race, the negroes, was carried, protesting, to work as slaves in the new land. Their presence brought on an expensive war and their condition was worse after emancipation than before.

Speaking of human life, Jesus said: "The Son of man came to seek and to save that which was lost." America has selfishly wasted the very thing Jesus came to save, human life. As individuals, we have performed in much the same way, we have wasted many of the talents or natural resources with which God has equipped us.

Having fed the multitude Jesus was unwilling to throw away the remains of the feast. "Gather up the broken pieces which remain over, that nothing be lost." The twelve baskets of food that were gathered up were probably saved for the later use of the disciples or given to the poor to carry home. Nothing was lost.

What does it mean for you and me, "Let nothing be lost"? Simply this! God has given me a musical talent. I will learn to plan an instrument, I will cultivate my voice and use it to sing his praise and bring happiness to my fellows. God has given me a fine brain. If I refuse to use it, it will be lost. If I make it a cunning instrument to get the better of my neighbor, it will be lost. But if I write a book, invent a machine or develop an idea that will benefit humanity, my brain will be saved and used.

God has sent me a great calamity. Is it all loss? Not unless I will it so. Let me gather up broken pieces and make some thing great out of them. Years ago a boy of 14 lost his arm while picking slate at a coal mine. His career as a miner was abruptly ended. Was it all loss? No! The calamity became an open door—to school, to college, to ministry. Today that boy is a great leader in the church life of America. We can turn loss into gain, waste into usefulness, calamity into victory—"not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts."

CATHARPIN

Miss Mary Currell Pattie has returned home after a week's visit with her aunt, Mrs. Chas. F. Brower, jr., in Purcellville, Va.

Mrs. W. S. Brower entertained her mother and sister and Mrs. Lizzie Larkin of Manassas one day last week.

Rita Robertson, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson, has joined the ranks of the measles brigade and is at present confined to her room. Measles seem epidemic just now thruout the neighborhood.

Mr. Joseph Pearson, one of the lumbermen connected with the sawmill operations in Robertson's woods, is suffering from bronchial pneumonia contracted during the holidays. At the present time the patient is doing as well as could be expected at this stage of the disease. Mr. Pearson has four small motherless children with him in camp and accommodations and provisions are not ideal by any means so that assistance is needed. The youngest child broke out with measles on Sunday and prospects for the next week or so are not bright. Fortunately they are in a neighborhood which will not let them suffer.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Munday of Washington spent New Year's with friends in the neighborhood returning home on Tuesday. Mrs. Munday, nee Miss Audrey McIntosh, is always welcome back to her old home and friends.

Mr. E. S. Clary of Lawrenceville, Va., spent a few days among friends in Catharpin last week whence he had come to join his wife who had preceded him for the holidays. They returned home early in the week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carey and Mrs. P. S. Buckley spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Lawler of Maryland.

Mr. Raymond Briggs of the Marine corps who has been under quarantine in the Pattie home for the past ten days, returned to his post of duty on Tuesday.

The L. J. Pattie family are all feeling better from the after effects of the anti-toxin administered during the late sickness in the home and the quarantine being lifted at noon on Tuesday will enable their friends to visit them again.

Mr. Luther Griffith of Oakwood annex was a Luray visitor on Monday.

"WALLS OF GOLD" IS FILM OF HIGH MERIT

"Walls of Gold," the new Fox photoplay based on the novel of the same name by Kathleen Norris, opens at the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Wednesday.

The story of the picture deals with the problem of a young and beautiful girl whom must choose between love and the comforts of wealth. From the searching pen of Mrs. Norris comes a character that Sally Eilers plays to perfection. It gives her every opportunity to display her truly fine talents for dramatic depiction.

Norman Foster, cast in the masculine lead opposite her again, proves himself as worthy as he was in the role of her lover in "State Fair." Ralph Morgan, in the part of a middle-aged romantic, with doubtful ethics and peculiar artistic tastes, is superb.

Others in the cast who deserve much credit for making "Walls of Gold" an outstanding film are Rosita Moreno, Spanish actress and dancer, Rochelle Hudson, Frederic Stanley, Marjorie Gatenon, Mary Mason and Margaret Seddon. Kenneth MacKenzie did a fine job of the direction.

Mr. Byrd Mathers is quite sick at his home on Centerville road.

Mr. Howard Snead of Haymarket, Va., was the Sunday guest of Miss Louise Koontz at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Koontz.

The Baptist Church held their Xmas entertainment on Tuesday, Dec. 26.

BRISTOW

It was a shock to the community to hear of the sudden death of Mr. John Hoffman. He was only sick a short time from being paralyzed. His body was carried to the Valley where he was laid to rest.

Mr. F. C. Strickler, Robert, jr., Mr. Hebert Strickler, of Midland, Mr.

Lynn Kibler of Baltimore, and Mr. Mark Long of Nokesville were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. W. M. Walls.

Mr. Mark Long and Miss Evelyn Walls were visitors in Fairfax on Sunday.

A HARROWING ACCIDENT AT GAINESVILLE

A Plymouth sedan, the occupants of which were L. C. and Amos Wagner brothers, residents of North Carolina and en route to Washington, D. C., was struck by a train at the crossing near Gainesville on Tuesday evening. L. C. Wagner was instantly killed and his brother sustained a broken rib and internal injuries and was sent to Emergency Hospital, Washington, by Dr. Payne of Haymarket who rendered first aid. This crossing is particularly dangerous. The highway crosses the railroad at an angle. In the last twenty-five years there have been two serious accidents at this place. The one on Tuesday and that of Susan Peters, a venerable colored woman of Catharpin, who was killed at the same place about ten years ago.

HORSE HAS BIG PART IN NEW GIBSON PICTURE

Unlisted in the cast of "The Fighting Parson" playing at the Dixie Theatre in Manassas tomorrow is a great old actor. He is "Mutt," Hoot Gibson's clever horse. They've been teamed together for years. In fact, Hoot has owned him ever since he was foaled. Having personally directed every step of his screen training, Hoot has an understanding of "Mutt" that is only surpassed by the animal's understanding of his master.

The horse's intelligence is almost human. Treating him as a pal, Hoot makes it a point of explaining to "Mutt," telling him just what he is supposed to do and the horse apparently understands, for once under way, Hoot seldom has to worry about "Mutt."

In one of the scenes in "The Fighting Parson," the action calls for "Mutt" to come to Hoot when he whistles. The scene had been rehearsed until everything was letter perfect and then the cameras were set to grinding. In the meantime, one of the attendants had tied "Mutt's" bridle to a hitching post. The whistle sounded, Mutt started and was suddenly halted. But he wasn't phased. Quickly, he stepped back to the hitching post and untied the knot and raced to Hoot with only a few seconds delay. The uncalculated event, added to the color of the sequence and when it was seen in the rushes Director Frazer and Hoot decided to leave it in.

Another of "Mutt's" clever bits of acting occurs during the thrilling climactic scene. With hundreds of falling rocks from the gigantic explosion dropping all around him, the horse kept one eye in the air and another on the ground and carried Hoot to the rescue of Marceline Day unscathed.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and he shall sustain thee: he shall never suffer the righteous to be moved.—Psalm 55:22.

BANKING INSURANCE

Quietly and almost automatically a system of Federal guarantee of bank deposits went into effect the first of the year. This outstanding achievement of the Roosevelt Administration completely restores the public confidence in our banking system. The government now guarantees every depositor up to $2500 and it so regulates the banks that no losses can again occur through speculation.

Banks in previous times have used much of their depositors' savings in speculative ventures which they believed to be safe and which brought to the banking executives enormous personal profit. In many instances they did not pass these gains along to the stockholders of their respective institutions, and, of course, the depositors only received the usual nominal interest. When the crash came, it was "just too bad" for the depositors. They lost the savings of a lifetime and the bank officials were only guilty of "errors in judgment" of the values of securities peddled in Wall Street.

The banks of Manassas, being offered by high-minded gentlemen who put the welfare of the community above opportunities of personal gain, never entered the doubtful field of speculative banking, and as a result, our folks only felt indirectly the effects of the banking crash throughout the nation.

However, it is fine to know that now no matter what calamity may befall one's bank, Uncle Sam is behind it and that it is no longer possible for any depositor to lose the money he places for safe keeping in his guaranteed bank.

Editor, Manassas Journal.

Dear Sir:

R. E. Lee Camp, No. 1, Confederate Veterans, Richmond, Va., in its recent controversy with the State and the Art Commission, has saved their most cherished portion of the Lee Camp Soldier's Home Grounds for park purposes. It is now up to those who love and honor Lee Camp to see that their plans are realized.

The chapel, from which more than seventeen hundred veterans have received their last rites; the cottage line of homes; the administration building; dining hall; the hospital; Randolph Hall; the recreation center; last, but not least, the beautiful grove of ancient oak trees; all these have provided shelter and comfort for the more than three thousand Confederate Veterans that found a haven for their declining years.

R. E. Lee Camp, No. 1, C. V., wants this property that they have saved, made into a Permanent Confederate Memorial Park, when it has ceased to be used for a Confederate Soldier's Home. Further; when the old buildings are taken down, it is desired to have erected a fire-proof structure, to be known as a Confederate Memorial building, to house the relics and personal possessions of Lee Camp, and to provide space for the permanent preservation of all Confederate records of the State.

The Lee Camp Advisory Committee, composed of Daughters of the Confederacy, Hollywood and Oakwood Memorial Associations and Confederate Literary Society, has been formed for this purpose. We are urging your immediate co-operation by petitioning or interviewing your local State representatives to help us in the final disposition of this property. Also procure the participation of all local organizations—or individuals—who have an interest in Confederate traditions, or heritage.

We are preparing a Bill to be presented at the next session of the General Assembly which will settle for all time the use of these sacred grounds. We want it made a Permanent Confederate Memorial Center honoring R. E. Lee Camp for their spirit in providing an honorable home for some three thousand Confederate Veterans, thus bequeathing to as many Virginia families an honorable heritage, which they would not have enjoyed had it not been for the love of Lee Camp for their comrades-in-need, manifested in this manner.

Yours very sincerely,

R. E. Lee Camp, No. 1, Confederate Veterans Advisory Committee.

(Mrs.) Daisy Lester Avery,

Chairman,

310 N. Meadow St., Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Earl Brown, Secretary.

Extension Telephone Use Foiled Bold Bank Robber

An extension telephone paid big dividends to the State Loan Company, a banking institution in Mt. Rainier, Md., a short time ago when Mrs.

Was the robber surprised? Mrs. Maurine Weir when being held up recently, answered a telephone call and recognizing a friend's voice asked her to call the police. The robber ran. Maurine Weir, cashier, was held up by a robber who posed as a potential customer.

The "customer" appeared in the banking rooms to discuss the possibility of a loan. When Mrs. Weir took him into one of the private offices to talk the matter over the "customer" drew a gun and informed her that he wanted all the money she had.

He then ordered her to the front office where the cash drawer was located, warning her that he would shoot if necessary. About this time another customer came into the bank to make a deposit. The hold-up man, Mrs. Weir said, ordered her to wait on him. "I tried to write a warning on the customer's receipt, but I lost my nerve."

Then the extension telephone rang! Automatically Mrs. Weir answered the telephone on her desk—Decatur 5555—and, recognizing the voice of a friend, took advantage of the opportunity to say quickly, "Betty, call the police! I am being held up."

The robber, startled by the suddenness of this telephone request, turned and ran out of the bank. Mrs. Weir followed him to the street. A police officer who happened to be standing nearby gave chase to the robber, and, assisted by citizens of the community, captured him.

A sum of money taken from Mrs. Weir by the robber was recovered.

"If it hadn't been for the extension telephone, I suppose we should have been out that much money," Mrs. Weir says.

Fire—Our First Adventure

ON BOARD THE BYRD FLAGSHIP, JACOB RUPPERT:—Here we are still at Bayonne and we've just had the first thrill of the Expedition.

After breakfast, a long day of back-breaking labor, but excellent meals at lunchtime and at dinner helped a lot. If I could only get some sleep. If I don't soon there will be nothing left of me to take to the South Pole.

It is 10 o'clock at night—gee, it's Friday, the 13th!—A loud explosion. Shouting from the dock. A sudden red glare in the sky. Our ship is illuminated as if by a gigantic red searchlight.

Dead silence on our ship for a few minutes. Then a shouting of orders. An oil tanker is on fire two docks away. We are in terrible danger because our holds and tanks are bulging with oil, gasoline and high explosives. If the fire is not controlled immediately the whole Expedition may be wiped out. I've only been aboard the Jacob Ruppert 20 hours and here is one of the greatest thrills of my life.

A breathless wait on our ship. The distant clanging of fire engines. A gradual darkening of the ruddy glare. The situation is under control. Two men are dead from burns in the original explosion. Grim reality only a stone's throw away from us. This is no tea-party we are setting out on.

All day equipment and supplies of all kinds have been pouring over the side of our vessel. Here, for example, is a list of the automotive equipment for which I am the fuel engineer and all details of which I have to learn before we get to Little America:—a 1400 horsepower Curtiss-Condor airplane with a wingspread of 32 feet; a 700 horsepower Pittman airplane; a 600 horsepower General airplane; a Kallit autogyro airplane; a Cleveland tractor; 3 Franch Citroën tractors; 2 Ford snowmobiles with caterpillar treads at the rear and metal skis at the front.

In addition there are two airplanes, one an immense Tri-motor Ford all-metal plane and the other a smaller scouting machine, buried in the snow down at Little America which Admiral Byrd hopes and believes are still in perfect condition.

In order to use all of this automotive equipment for our exploration and other scientific work, in addition to the dog teams, it has been necessary for us to carry along immense supplies of fuel and lubricating oils. Packed down in our holds are 16,450 gallons of aviation gasoline; 800 gallons of lubricating oils; 3,000 gallons of automobile gasoline; 1,500 gallons of kerosene; 25 pounds of aero rocker arm grease; 30 tons of Diesel engine fuel oil; 200 gallons of Diesel engine lubricating oil; 600 gallons of cylinder oil; 6,250 gallons of marine engine oil; 250 gallons of rod swabbing oil and 400 pounds of cup grease. Some supply of petroleum products!

I shan't know for months how many of you people of high school age or over have joined the Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, through which Admiral Byrd hopes to build up a tremendous interest in American aviation among the young people of the land. I hope it is in the thousands, because the club members and I are going to have some exciting times together and later I am going to send each of them a detailed map on which he or she can keep a daily record of our journeys and flights of exploration and other scientific significance while we are down at the bottom of the world. If you haven't joined yet, now is as good a time as any. There are no obligations whatever. All you have to do is send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and a note saying you want to join the club. Send it to my name to the New York headquarters of the Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, at the Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y., and the membership card will be sent you immediately and later the map and, perhaps, other communications.

POPCORN THAT POPS!

THESE are crisp, crackling days when the sound of corn popping is a sure sign of the season and pleasant to our ears. But it is not so pleasant if some of the kernels decline to pop, and emit only a dejected fizz. That means that there was too much water in them, and that you will find hard, unpopped kernels or "old maids" in your popper that will have to be sorted out.

That is the reason why you should always get your popcorn in cans. Put up in that fashion, it is first shelled and then dried to the point where it contains exactly enough water to turn into steam, when heated, and promptly turn each kernel inside out with a resonant pop. Having taken this precaution, you can make all sorts of goodies with it to pop into your mouth without fear of hard unpopped kernels, or to hang on your Christmas tree to which the snowy flakes form a most decorative addition.

So here are some recipes guaranteed to be successful if you use the proper kind of popcorn:

Fruit Popcorn Balls

Lemon Popcorn Balls: To make these you will need two and a half quarts of popped corn, or about half the contents of a 10-ounce can. Put the corn in a large pan so there will be plenty of room to stir it while pouring over the syrup. Boil one cup sugar, one-half cup canned light corn syrup and one-half cup water to 250 degrees or a hard ball. Add one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon vinegar, one teaspoon lemon extract and a few grains of salt, and pour over the corn, mixing well. Butter hands, using as little pressure as possible, to prevent crushing the corn and making balls hard and compact. This makes about sixteen medium balls.

Honey-Raisin Popcorn Balls: To make these you will need three quarts of popped corn, or three-quarters of the contents of a 10-ounce can. Wash one cup of raisins, and steam them for ten minutes. Combine three-fourths cup canned honey and one and one-fourth cups canned light corn syrup, and boil to 250 degrees, or a medium hard ball. Add one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon vinegar, one-half teaspoon salt and the raisins, pour over the corn and mix well. Butter hands and form into small balls, using as little pressure as possible. This will make about twenty-four medium sized balls.

Molasses Mixtures

Molasses Popcorn Balls: To make these you need three quarts of popped corn, or three-fourths of the contents of a 10-ounce can. Boil one cup canned molasses and one cup corn syrup to 250 degrees, or a medium hard ball. Add one tablespoon vinegar, three tablespoons butter and a few grains of salt, and continue boiling to 260 degrees, or a hard ball. Add one-half teaspoon lemon extract, and pour over corn. Butter hands and form into balls, using as little pressure as possible. This makes from sixteen to eighteen medium sized balls.

Popcorn Brittle: To make this you need one and a half quarts of popped corn, or one-third of a 10-ounce can. Boil one cup brown sugar, one-half cup canned molasses and one-fourth cup water to 270 degrees, or a hard ball. Add one-half tablespoon vinegar, one tablespoon butter and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Also add two cups shelled peanuts which have been browned in the oven. Pour over the corn and mix well, then press into small oblong pans about three by five or four by five inches. Press very lightly so as not to break the corn. This makes from six to ten cakes, depending on the size of the pans.

And Here's a Surprise

Popcorn Surprise Balls: Combine two cups sugar, two tablespoons light corn syrup and one cup water in a sauce pan and mix well. Wipe down sides with a wet cloth, and cook without stirring to 240 degrees, or a soft ball. Pour out, without scraping down side of pan, onto a cold, wet slab or platter, and cool to lukewarm. Then beat with spatula, from edges to center, until creamy. Flavor and color this fondant as desired, and then knead with hands until smooth and creamy. Cover with damp cloth for half an hour. Form into balls and roll in popcorn, covering completely. Press corn very lightly into the fondant in order not to break the kernels.

A Profitable Investment

EVENTS of the last few years have caused many people to ponder the insecurity and uncertainty of the average types of financial investments. This may lead to a more spiritual concept of substance, because a careful consideration discloses the fact that materiality in any form is unsubstantial, insecure, and uncertain; whereas the things of God are substantial, secure, and permanent. While legitimate investments, helpful to humanity, are quite proper when correctly and wisely made, nevertheless financial interests should at all times be secondary in consideration, and spiritual understanding of "the deep things of God," primary.

To invest means, among other things, to confer, to endow, to vest (in). "One of the definitions of 'vest' is, 'To put in possession so as to give an immediate fixed right of present or future enjoyment.' How descriptive is this definition of the result which one obtains who turns to God, Spirit, for guidance, protection, supply, and peace! Reliance upon God bears immediate fruitage, for it indeed vests the reliant one with "an immediate fixed right" to enjoy the blessings from God's power. This reliance is not too transcendental in its adaptation or realization at this present and in all time. Centuries ago Christ Jesus used a parable to illustrate the value of the kingdom of heaven. He told of a man who found a "pearl of great price." Note, that while it was a pearl of great value, a "great price" was required to purchase it. So highly did the man value this pearl, and so much did he desire to possess it, that he "sold all that he had, and bought it." At another time Jesus said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." Surely there could be no more profitable investment than the kingdom of God and His righteousness; and no greater profit could be obtained from an investment, for the promise is that not part of, but "all these things shall be added unto you."

By his words and works Christ Jesus, the Way-shower for mankind, revealed that it is always practical to seek first and always to do the will of the Father. His life demonstrated that such simple trust in God is the only really profitable investment and is entirely practical in human experience. No one, before or after Jesus' time, has ever shown forth, as did he, the wealth and profit which such an investment produces. His spirituality derived from God, Spirit, was sufficient to meet all human needs, even to raising the dead, stilling the tempest, walking on the water; and we may conclude that his own human need was provided for as well, without lack or limitation. His was the seamless garment of high price in those days. He had sufficient money to meet the financial needs, such as paying taxes and contributing to the poor; and he was not at a loss to know what to do with the multitudes in the desert places. So practical was his faith and trust in God that he was able to feed all and leave a surplus.

Nor was the proof of God's ample reward confined to Christ Jesus or his time. Notable among those whose faith and trust in God was abundantly rewarded is Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. Like the great Master, she not only was endowed with pure spiritual understanding, but was able to demonstrate in practical manner that her faith in God was well rewarded in freedom from lack and limitation. She proved that pure spirituality cannot be denied expression. And in Christian Science, Mrs. Eddy has given the rules which enable others to invest their all with God and receive surely and abundantly the good which He has prepared for all His children.

As the understanding of God, good, unfolds in human consciousness through the study of Christian Science, the student finds that this correct knowledge of God brings healing from disease, deformity, discomfort, and fear. It comforts the sorrowing, binds up the broken-hearted, and encourages the weary ones. Like the man who found the "pearl of great price" and sold all that he had in order to obtain it, the student of Christian Science finds it advisable and necessary to dispose of false material concepts as soon as possible and strive to gain the pearl of spirituality, the consciousness of God's presence, power, and Science. "Seeking is not sufficient whereby to arrive at the results of Science: you must strive; and the glory of the strife comes of honesty and humility," writes Mrs. Eddy (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 341). In the transitional state of consciousness these words on the same page are encouraging: "Do human hopes deceive? Is joy a trembler? Then, weary pilgrim, unlouse the latchet of thy sandals; for the place whereon thou standest is sacred. By that, you may know you are parting with a material sense of life and happiness to win the spiritual sense of good. O learn to lose with God! and you find life eternal: you gain all!"—The Christian Science Monitor.

Food Market Advice

By ANN PAGE

THIS is National Honey Week when we are reminded that honey is a delicious and flavorful sweet with many uses. Honey is particularly delicious with fruits including grapefruit which is fine at this season. It is also good with such seasonable fruits as oranges and cranberries.

It is an unusual week when there is nothing new in the fruit and vegetable markets. Qualities and prices on specific foods may vary slightly but you will find essentially the same things in your stores today that you found last week.

All we said of green beans last week is true this, and if you cut them across last week cut them diagonally this week. German style, or into strings, French style. Let them cook in butter and their own juices before adding a little water to prevent them from sticking. They cook more rapidly in this fashion and are therefore more apt to hold their color.

If you have not yet tried serving broccoli, this is a good week to start as the quality is said to be excellent. Although it may seem wasteful, discard all but the flower heads and main stalks which should be peeled or scraped before cooking. Plenty of boiling salted water and not too long cooking is the rule for this vegetable. Like asparagus, the flower heads cook more rapidly than the stalk so it can stand out of water for the first ten or fifteen minutes of cooking. No longer than thirty to forty minutes should be required as total cooking time. This vegetable may be served with salt, pepper and butter with or without the addition of lemon juice or cream. It is also served with white sauce, cheese sauce or Hollandaise. The Quaker Maid suggests serving it cold with French or salad dressing if a bunch is more than your family can eat hot.

Cauliflower, cabbage and Brussels sprouts are so closely related to broccoli in their seasons and general flavor that you may serve anyone of them that most appeals to your taste and purse.

Peas and lima beans are of good quality, but are relatively high in price — they are only for elastic budgets.

Bulk carrots are in market. These vegetables are cheaper than young, bunched carrots and equally good and of more developed flavor for use in soups, stews and braised dishes. Use them with boneless chuck for pot roasting which is available this week. Braised shoulder lamb chops are also a good choice for this week.

There are two seasons each year when veal is more plentiful than at other times—the more important occurring in the spring, a second in the fall. Two choice veal cuts, loin chops and veal cutlet, are frequently breaded and either deep fat or pan fried. They may be broiled or pan broiled but are better for being brushed with melted butter or other fat before cooking as veal is a very lean meat. Like pork it should be thoroughly cooked.

Other meats which are likely to attract budgeteers are roast fresh ham or pork, legs of lamb and ribs of beef. Unless poultry appetites are being denied until Thanksgiving, a roast stuffed young chicken should have a real appeal. The price is attractive. This is also true of fowl.

Oysters are popular with most people. Some like them raw, some fried and many enjoy a steaming hot oyster stew. They are lower this week than usual. With fresh fish becoming scarcer from cold and stormy weather we are fortunate to be able to call on the smoked and frozen varieties. Finnan haddock, smoked fillets and kippers are all popular and inexpensive. Fresh flounders, shrimp and southern bluefish are also available to fish lovers.

"SMOKY" IS RICHLY DRAMATIC FILM OF WILL JAMES' STORY

Richly and dramatically filmed, the Fox picture, "Smoky," comes to the screen of the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Friday, Jan. 12. "Smoky" is Will James' best seller, and the favorite of millions of readers. With the author himself as narrator, the screen play is unreeled with an astounding degree of sincerity and authenticity. In his simple and straightforward manner, the author injects a human understanding that makes "Smoky" live like a real person. "Smoky," a vicious horse, born and bred on the wild plains of the West, is branded a killer, because of his hatred for men. A cowhand on a large ranch tames "Smoky," and everlasting friendship is formed between man and beast. When "Smoky" is stolen, the cowhand gives up his girl and job to go in search of his friend.

During the years that follow, the film traces with startling realism, the incidents in the life of "Smoky." He reaches fame as a rodeo horse, and then gradually descends to the lowly depths of a truck horse. His human friend, at last, picks up his trail, and how the two are brought together brings the film to so stirring a climax that it is an experience no one can afford to miss.

Victor Jory and Irene Bentley, who have the romantic leads, are finely suited to their roles. They give splendid portrayals.
