MANY PROBLEMS FACE ASSEMBLY

More Revenue or Less Cost of Government.

The General Assembly of Virginia, meeting this week in Richmond, is faced with numerous difficult problems which will tax their resourcefulness to the limit. Because they have already about taxed their constituency to their limit, they are up against the difficult problem of either cutting the costs of government or else finding new sources of revenue.

They look away from Richmond to the counties for their greatest opportunity to cut costs. It is stated that many legislators even hope to consolidate counties. The report of the Commission appointed by Governor Pollard to study the consolidation of counties is awaited with much interest.

So far the chief field of cost reduction has been in the realm of criminal procedure. A report of paroles and a system of indeterminate sentences is now in the hands of the printer, which may include a system of state-wide probation calculated to save the taxpayers many thousands of dollars.

The sales tax idea has many followers, particularly among real estate owners. It is argued that a sales tax would permit reduction in the tax on real estate. The pressure for a sales tax in Virginia is recognized as considerable, but informed commentators state that no such legislation can muster sufficient strength to become law.

Liquor regulation presents immediate problems growing out of Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. It is believed that a one percent sales tax would yield $4,000,000. Some legislators are only in favor of a sales tax as a "last resort," meaning that the state budget must be retained, even by forms of taxation which they do not approve.

The liquor revenue is variously estimated at around $1,500,000. The difficult problem here is the need for (Please turn to page 8)

LEE-JACKSON CELEBRATION

Daughters of the Confederacy Will Hold Memorial Exercises, Jan. 19.

Under auspices of the Manassas Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, the annual Lee-Jackson birthday celebration will be held in the auditorium of the Manassas High School at 3:30 p.m. on Friday, January 19.

The occasion is always one of great significance to Southern folks and the general public is always cordially invited to be present and the response every year indicates the patriotic spirit of the community in carrying on the ideals for which the gallant Confederates fought.

Hon. George C. Tyler, clerk of the Court of Prince William County and one of the most beloved citizens of the county, will officiate as master of ceremonies. Features of the program this year will include the invocation by Rev. A. S. Gibson, address by Hon. Charles C. Callahan, of Alexandria, on General Robert E. Lee and Leesylvania, a solo by Miss G. Ball, address on Stonewall Jackson by Mr. Robert A. Hutchison, a poem on Stonewall Jackson by Miss Mary Elizabeth Marsteller, song, "How Firm a Foundation" by the high school chorus and benediction by Rev. T. D. D. Clark.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF LOAN BOARD

A special meeting of those interested in the organization of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board for Prince William County has been called for Friday evening, Jan. 12, at 7:30 to take further steps toward perfecting a permanent organization. A preliminary meeting was held last Monday night at the Town Hall in Manassas and Mr. A. A. Hooft, as secretary of the tentative organization was instructed to send out a special invitation to a selected group of representative citizens of the various communities of the county requesting their presence Friday night of this week.

It has not yet been definitely ascertained that the project can be perfected in Prince William, but the committee has received much encouragement from the response so far and is hopeful that the meeting Friday night will result in a permanent and effective organization.

ALUMNI OF LINTON HALL SCHOOL MEET IN SESSION

The former students of Linton Hall returned to their Alma Mater Saturday, January 6. They were a happy lot of school boys once again, meeting their instructors, and others they had not seen for a long time, visiting each book and cranny around the school. They immediately took charge of the chapel services, choir and sanctuary, on both Saturday and Sunday.

At 8 p.m. they sat down to their annual banquet, having as guests of honor their Reverend Chaplain, Father John, Jack and Robert McGrath of the Georgetown Prep, Panama boys who spent their holidays at Linton Hall with their two younger brothers, and Joseph Salm, Cairo, Egypt, representing the class of this year.

Sunday morning the boys communicated in a body. At 10:00 o'clock was held the business meeting, election of officers and reception of new members. In the absence of the president, Jack Freeman, the secretary, Edward Gramm, presided. The usual routine business was attended to and then some rather useful resolutions were offered; for instance, the members endeavor to identify themselves with the Junior Holy Name Society of their respective parishes; some had already done so. Then they pledged themselves to support the Lintonian, the school publication by writing articles and sending in news items that would interest members far away. The Lintonian is purely a school activity, edited and printed at the school by the boys in the grades.

The new members admitted are George Stewart of New York and Edward Walton, North Carolina. The McGrath brother were admitted as honorary members. The election of officers resulted in the following:

Honorary president, Rev. Mother Alphons, O.S.B.; president, Joseph Shearin; vice-president, Jerry Cunningham; secretary, John A. Miller; treasurer, Bernard Shumaker, all of Washington.

A rising vote of thanks was tendered Mother Alphons for her generous hospitality. In acknowledging the compliment Mother Alphons made some wholesome remarks and the meeting adjourned.

WATERS NEW KIWANIS HEAD

Inauguration Held Last Week.

O. D. Waters is now the high "Mukamuk" of the Kiwanians. This was done at the last meeting on Friday when Dick Hynson made fun of Al Hooft for formerly having been nervous in passing the President's button to him, and then Dick proceeded to outdo Al by dropping the collar button under the table. He retrieved very quickly, however, to the tunes of the "Last Roundup" sung very sweetly by the charming sponsor, Mrs. Stuart Pattie.

Doc Swavely and company bewailed certain alleged delinquencies in the performances of the club and all hands promised to do better.

Many compliments were passed on the retiring president and Fred Hynson, via Bob Hutchison, presented President Dick with a beautiful loving cup.

O. D., as his first official act, named the following committees:

Agriculture: Conner, Roseberry, Saddy, Covington.

Attendance: C. C. Conner, F. R. Hynson, W. C. Merchant.

Vocational Guidance: R. C. Haydon, Swavely, Tiffany.

EIGHTH DISTRICT TO BE ENLARGED

Little Opposition Seen to New Proposal.

On the opening of the General Assembly, Senator Holt, chairman of the committee on Privileges and Elections, introduced a redistricting bill which seems to be giving general satisfaction as a solution of the difficulties encountered two years ago. The new proposal is said to have the support of all of the members of Congress and such widespread approval in the General Assembly that its passage with no material modifications is anticipated.

The delegates of Arlington, Fairfax, Prince William and Alexandria City are already quoted as heartily endorsing the new arrangement which chiefly concerns the Eighth District. None of the home counties of any of the present Congressman are concerned in the new arrangement.

The bill proposes the transfer of Cumberland County from the old tenth to the fourth; Wythe County from the ninth to the fifth; Albemarle, Green and Madison Counties and the City of Charlottesville from the old seventh to the eighth; Clifton Forge, Botetourt, Alleghany and Craig from the old tenth to the sixth, and the cities of Staunton and Buena Vista and the counties of Amherst, Appomattox, Augusta, Bath, Buckingham, Fluvanna, Highland, Nelson and Rockbridge to the seventh from the old tenth.

MANASSAS BEATS WARRENTON A. C.

In a thrilling and rough game at the high school gymnasium in Warrenton last night, the Manassas Athletic Club basketball squad defeated Warrenton A. C., 33 to 31.

The victory was a sweet one for Manassas, considering the fact that the game was played at Warrenton and it was the first time in some years that Manassas has ever beaten Warrenton on the latter's own court.

At the outset of the game, Warrenton took the lead with a long shot. However, Manassas immediately took command of the game with a long shot by Cosgrove followed by several consecutive shots by all members of the team including Wurdemann, Lynn, Bradshaw and Vetter. Manassas kept piling the score until the score was 18 to 7 at the end of the first half.

At the start of the second half, the Manassas boys were caught off balance with many long shots by Warrenton until the latter came within two points of tying the score. Then the Manassas boys found their shooting eye once again and managed to keep ahead of their opponents throughout the half.

The game was very rough but Manassas fought gamely, thus deserving the victory. Two of the Manassas boys, Lynn and Wurdemann, were hurt, the former having had to be carried off the floor. Lynn was playing a great game until forced to leave the game. Cosgrove was covered very closely all time and while managing to get a few points, did the feeding most of the time. Wurdemann did a nice job of guarding Benner, Warrenton's best player, holding him down to a few points. Bradshaw played his best game of the season and contributed largely to both offense and defense. Vetter played his usual game, being over the whole floor all time. Beachley, Burke, Saunders and Kite capably filled in as substitutes. In short, the whole team displayed excellent teamwork and good spirit.

In the girls' game, the Manassas team was defeated by the strong Warrenton sextet.

The Manassas A. C. boys' team goes to Washington Tuesday, the 16th, to play the Shells, the city champs. On Saturday, Jan. 20, the Reserves from Gallaudet College of Washington are to come here. It is hoped that a good crowd will turn out and root for the town team. The Gallaudet reserves should be a drawing card here as they come from the only college for the deaf in the world.

UNITED STATES MONEY

The United States has 10 different kinds of money: gold certificates, silver certificates, Treasury notes of 1890, United States notes, national bank notes, Federal Reserve notes, gold coins, silver dollars, subsidiary coins and token money.

P. W. A. FUNDS FOR HAYMARKET

Citizens Petition for Modern High School.

The county school board met yesterday with all members present.

The most striking incident of the day was the filing of a petition from freeholders of Gainesville District requesting the Board to secure PWA funds and a loan from the State Literary Fund to erect a modern high school building in the vicinity of Haymarket.

The Board tentatively approved the project and instructed Professor Haydon to prepare the necessary applications. Final action on this matter was reserved by the Board until its meeting on February 7.

A library was approved for the Bennett School.

A report was made on the CWA work in the public schools. Seventy-five men are at work and additional projects will be started in the near future. Work is now going on at Manassas, Occoquan, Nokesville, Haymarket and Dumfries.

Mr. Haydon reported to the Board that letters had been sent to Hon. John W. Rust and Hon. G. W. Her-ring, requesting they exert themselves to secure passage of legislation to have the present term kept at full length and also to have State Superintendent Hall's recommendations made effective with regard to the next two-year period.

Mr. Lloyd, trustee from Brentsville district, asked the Board to add a course of home economics at Nokesville. The Board referred the matter to the budget committee, to be considered in the next budget.

HYNSON GETS FOURTH TERM

Dairy Festival Insists on Retaining Him.

The 1934 Dairy Festival got under way this afternoon when a meeting of the Association was held at the Town Hall, with President R. S. Hynson presiding.

Mr. Hynson complimented the group on the work that has been accomplished, stating that the Piedmont Festival was at last on a firm footing. He read some communications from those unable to be present, and also referred to the many letters of commendation which he had already received.

The first business was the election of a president, and Mr. Hynson was carried into an office for the fourth time by acclamation.

There was much discussion on the suggestion of Dr. Melnick that certain changes be made in the by-laws. Mr. Sinclair cleared the matter by suggesting that the constitution be amended to permit the selection of three vice-presidents as desired by Mr. Melnick in place of a large group of vice-presidents.

Dr. Norbert Melnick, of Arlington, was chosen first vice-president; B. W. Middleton, of Florida, second vice-president; Dan Hollenga, secretary of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, third vice-president.

Directors were then named by a committee as follows: E. R. Conner, J. W. Brookfield, Lester Huff, B. B. Bean, Harvey Marcey, Frank Michelbach, C. C. Lynn, A. H. Roseberry, Hunton Tiffany and F. R. Hynson.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Cox and Mrs. Smith for their efficient services in the last festival.

F. R. Hynson addressed the meeting on the purposes and principles of the organization, and upon his motion a committee was appointed to prepare a set of revised by-laws suitable for publication in pamphlet form.

Dr. Ashworth, of the District Health Department, offered to cooperate in the matter of publicity.

Mr. Hollenga made a very enthusiastic talk, claiming that the importance of the section covered by the Dairy Festival made it possible to outstrip the Apple Blossom Festival in class. He made a number of valuable suggestions.

William Hill Brown, secretary of the association, kept the minutes of the meeting.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The meeting of the Nursing Activities Committee as scheduled to meet with Mrs. Abel Friday, Jan. 12, at Dumfries, will meet with Mrs. George Waters at Dumfries, on Friday, Jan. 19.

WOMAN'S CLUB SPONSORS ART PROGRAMME

The members of the Manassas Woman's Club and student body and faculty of Manassas High School were given a rare treat on Wednesday afternoon, when they met in joint session in the high school auditorium to hear one of the most interesting and informative lectures on the paintings of great painters.

The lecture was given by Miss Myrta Williams of the art department of George Washington University, using very fine reproductions in color of Medici prints. These were obtained from the extension department of the University of Virginia. Miss Williams not only explained the paintings as to lighting effects, use of color and characteristics of the various painters, but also told something of the character and surroundings of the artist, which were so clearly expressed in the paintings themselves.

She exhibited paintings of such great painters as Rembrandt, Van Dyck, deHooch, Hals, Vermeer, Mun-berg, and many others. A truly enjoyable program and everyone present expressed the keenest appreciation and a desire to hear more from Miss Williams at some future meeting.

Following the program the usual business of the Woman's Club was transacted. Committee reports, largely pertaining to the club's activities at Christmas time, were presented. A substantial sum was spent by the Charity Committee in dispensing cheer. The Garden Section had sponsored and arranged to have the Community Xmas tree and decorated throughout the week. Music for the carol singing was arranged and presented by the music section. Mrs. C. W. Dalton, chairman of a special committee to arrange the Assembly Ball, made a splendid report, and funds obtained were placed in a special fund to finance future assemblies.

The matter of a May breakfast and installation ceremonies for the incoming was discussed and the club voted to hold this at the regular meeting in May.

While there was no report from the Junior Section, they have been busy and have been helping in various charitable enterprises, through the county nurse.

PROFESSOR RAPS CONSERVATION

Uses Endowment Fund for Political Attack.

Using the Jefferson Fund for Forest Research, as his vehicle for publication, Professor Alfred Akerman, of the forestry department of the University of Virginia, has launched a political attack upon the Chairman of the Conservation Commission, which will be widely regarded as an aftermath of the Chapin Jones affair of last year, when Chairman W. E. Carson of the Conservation Commission sought the dismissal of State Forester Jones, but only succeeded in securing the Governor's consent for his demotion.

Issuing his pamphlet on the eve of the opening of the General Assembly, the University professor accuses the chairman of the Conservation Commission of a number of petty offenses of administration, quoted from press reports as consisting of shifting a district forester to other work during a fire season, failing to discharge a warden who is said to have neglected his duty, of dropping two trained wardens and appointing two others, of doing nothing toward the acquisition of State forests for recreation, watershed protection and other ways, and of discontinuing the issuance of research publications by the Forest Service.

The charges, lying within the field of administrative judgment, may or may not all be true and if true, may or may not have been justified by the facts involved, but the outstanding achievements of Chairman Carson in organizing the conservation work in Virginia have been so prominent that such an attack, under ordinary circumstances would pass unnoticed.

However, it is stated that heavy pressure will be brought upon the General Assembly during the present session to make a pie counter out of the conservation work. Here is a job, now handled efficiently and with relatively small administrative outlay, which may be transferred into another great State Bureau with a head drawing a big salary and all sorts of highly paid assistants. ## U. D. C. MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Daughters of Confederacy Plan Special Program.

The Daughters of the Confederacy were the guests of Mrs. Jean Giddings and Mrs. Phoebe Jackson in the home of the latter for the January meeting. Twenty-three members responded to the very cordial greetings of the hostesses.

The exercises as usual opened with a prayer followed by "Dixie" led by Miss Speiden. After the minutes were read and approved and the treasurer's report heard, showing a satisfactory balance and $301.22 in the savings department, a letter was read from Mrs. Jaquelin Nottingham of Orange, State president, a recent visitor in Manassas. Mrs. Nottingham expressed great pleasure at being here and commended the excellent work of the chapter and the harmonious co-operation of its members.

The chapter now has an enrollment of 104 members with four additional applications for membership on file.

The State president's official communication was heard. She emphasized the three principal objectives for the year. The completion of the payments on the Stratford Fund, completion of the Jefferson Davis Historical Foundation, an Endowment Fund for Historical research and the L. H. Raines Fund, this to be used as a loan to students doing graduate vocational work.

A contribution for the portrait of Dr. Lyon G. Tyler was voted to be sent. This portrait when completed will be hung in the State Library.

Miss Nollie Nelson and Mrs. Hill Brown were congratulated and thanked for the skill and artistic arrangement of the Christmas baskets sent to veterans and widows, nine having been sent.

A communication from Mrs. Charles E. Bolling, relative to the requirements and eligibility of Confederate maiden ladies for pensions, was read.

The chapter voted to subscribe to the official U. D. C. Magazine published in Wytheville. Mrs. Herbert Nash read a letter from Judge John Barton Payne declining to make the memorial address on January 19. Judge Payne's letter was filled with humor. He insisted that he was not an orator but could not be persuaded to prove this to the chapter.

An important letter received from Mrs. B. A. Blenner, county chairman of R. E. Lee Camp Advisory Committee, calling attention to a Bill to be presented to the next session of the General Assembly, to make the Soldiers' Home Grounds a Confederate Memorial Park. She requested the assistance and influence of the chapter in securing the passage of this bill.

An announcement was made that Mr. Charles H. Callahan of Alexandria, well known to the people of Manassas, would be the guest of the U. D. C. and one of its speakers, on Jan. 19. It is hoped that Mr. Callahan's many friends will be present to welcome him.

The business session completed, Mrs. LeRoy Byrd read with much expression Lee's Farewell Address to his Soldiers. This was received with much applause.

Mrs. Walter A. Newman exhibited several old songs, favorites of the Belles of the Sixties. Much interest was shown in the display of these songs of long ago.

Next the social hour arrived which is always much enjoyed when kind greetings and bon mots are indulged in, and with the delicious refreshments daintily served by the attractive hostesses. All went merry and the guests were loathe to leave.

The February meeting will be held at the residence of Miss Virginia Speiden, assisted by Miss Nollie Nelson and Mrs. Austin Weedon.

SERMONETTE

By J. M. Frame

"For I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified." I Cor. 11:2.

The church at Corinth was sick. It was developing that lingering or deep seated disorder called division. This comes from an off-centered faith, caused by missing the true import of the Gospel message. The symptoms are, a quick heart beat toward its own; cold feet towards others; rising temperature towards all meetings, with considerable increase towards annual sessions; dropping back to normal or below upon returning home.

The patient walks around looking backward, and says, "I am off." Satisfied that every other division is off center, save his own, he is determined to carry on 'till Jesus comes. This is not a blood disease. However, the offspring are more than apt to contract it through the association with their parents. The higher the rank one holds in this divisional disease the more pronounced the case. There is a two-fold reason for this. One is, that unless the patient is well broken out he is not eligible for the position; and the other is, that in prosecuting the office the germ is driven in deeper and deeper.

As to treatment, it has been known to be cured. Paul had a very bad case and got entirely well, as the text shows. The only genuine cure is found in the Scripture. The Scriptural cure is to get thoroughly in the mind that one is of Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification; and redemption. Christianity is not the creed but Christ. Christ is building his church, and by the grace of God we are what we are. Therefore, everything that savors of the "I am off" principle frustrates the grace of God. Divisions there are. The Scripture makes provision for division, but it is according to individual and not according to group. We grow like apples on a tree, one by one, and not like grapes on the vine, in clusters.

There are hundreds of these divisions in Christianity, and each one is a staunch defender of "the faith once delivered" notwithstanding the fact that his position is not justified by the Scripture. In preaching the gospel in the dark portion of the earth it goes loaded with these divisional germs. Recently a missionary said, "On the foreign field we pay little attention to Sectarianism. We preach only enough of it to keep our churches here supporting us." Just think! Christian America and little or no money for the pure unadulterated gospel.

The woman of Samaria is very significant. She was a victim of that Samaritan division; sitting there on Jacob's well; claiming relationship with God's people; in sympathy with "our own work"; and using that ever convenient phraseology "our church says this and your church says that." Jesus said to her, "Ye worship ye know not what... salvation is of the Jew." The poor woman had the wrong objective.

Again, "For I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified."

"THE MAD GAME" WITH SPENCER TRACY, IS DARING SCREEN DRAMA

Daring in theme and sensational in its drama, "The Mad Game" comes to the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Wednesday and brings the public face to face with the astounding opposition the government must deal with in its combat with the kidnapping racket. The film's direct hit at the heart of America's most menacing crime proves to be highly engrossing and entertaining.

"The Mad Game" is the only picture thus far which gives the public an inside look into how modern criminals operate in perfecting the snatch racket. Only one actor could do justice to the leading role, and Fox Film has done wisely in entrusting Spencer Tracy with the part.

The story concerns itself with an ex-gangster and former beer baron who is double-crossed and railroaded to jail for a five-year term. During his stay in prison, his former aide in the beer racket takes to kidnapping as a form of criminal livelihood. The daring and the bravado of this new leader and his henchmen in kidnapping famous people terrorizes the country. Among his victims is a young man and his bride, the young man being the son of a federal judge who is leading the crusade against kidnapping.

Because of his knowledge of the underworld, the ex-gangster is released in order to help in the search of the kidnapped pair. His clever disguise enables him to gain entrance into the kidnapping ring. He soon secures the information leading to the rescue of the kidnapped pair, but loses his life in a gun duel with the leader of the ring.

Spencer Tracy portrays the ex-gangster admirably in a role best suited for his talents. Not since his portrayal of Killer Mears, in "The Last Mile" has Tracy been so well cast. Claire Trevor and Ralph Morgan, who head the supporting cast, do exceedingly well. The remaining members of the cast, which includes J. Carrol Naish, John Miljan, Matt McHugh, Howard Lally, Kathleen Burke, Mary Mason, Willard Robertson, John Davidson, Paul Fix and Jerry Devine, are to be commended.

Irving Cummings' direction is excellent.

PROGRESS IN THE C. W. A. OFFICE AT HAYMARKET

Like most of the C. W. A. offices, we have been too busy to talk about ourselves, but that is what we are supposed to be, and the fact that there is so much to do gives us the satisfaction that this is a real job.

Our President's programme is of such a large scope, that it is greater for its far-reaching effects than was War-time work, for this is a work of recovery, and the gigantic task of bringing renewed faith in our government and prosperity to our people.

In this office our files show that up to last Saturday, we had placed exactly 1000 men and between nine and ten thousand dollars is being distributed weekly among Prince William men.

Registrations are over twenty-two hundred.

We feel that with the co-operation of all, we will soon see the light of brighter days ahead.

Henry C. Dulaney, Ex-Sec'y

There will be a meeting held at the Court House at Warrenton, Tuesday, January 23, at 10:00 a.m. to organize the Production Credit Association for this district to be made up of the counties of Prince William, Fauquier, Rappahannock, Culpeper, Fairfax and Loudoun. Full information regarding the Association will be given and after this is done the farmers present will elect from twenty to thirty men, who are farmers eligible but not required to borrow, to act as incorporators for the six counties named who will apply to the Farm Credit Administration for a charter and also in turn elect the Board of Directors for the Association.

VICTOR JORY MAKES GRADE AS AN ACTOR OF SPLENDID EXPERIENCE

The greatest compliment an actor can be accorded is to be referred to as "a real trouper."

Victor Jory, who has made great progress during his single year in motion pictures, is one of the select few of the younger players who may correctly be described as troupers.

He got his taste for playing acting at high school, in Pasadena, improved it at junior college, in Fullerton, Calif., and, during his year at the University of California, at Berkeley. He closed his books to become an actor, and unwittingly started on a long trek across the country, beginning at Vancouver.

"I went from there to Salt Lake for a long engagement," he relates. "Then I moved over to Cincinnati, down to Cleveland, and, before I was through, I had played in Columbus, Dayton, Indianapolis, Denver, Minneapolis, New Orleans and Memphis—and a lot of other places I ought to be able to remember."

"It was in 1929 that I got to New York, and I managed to find work without much difficulty. I was in the casts of 'Berkeley Square,' 'Tonight or Never,' the revival of 'What Every Woman Knows,' and 'The Truth Game.' Then I returned to California, and my first job was in the Ramona pageant at Hemet, playing the Indian, Alessandro."

It was while playing the role of a movie press agent in "Louder, Please," at the Pasadena Community Playhouse that Fox Film representatives saw him, and signed him to a contract. That was a year ago. Since then he has played in more than a dozen pictures, with leading roles in the last six.

"I Loved You Wednesday," in which he was featured with Warner Baxter and Elissa Landi, gave him the opportunity which led to the lead in Will James' "Smoky."

As Clint, the cowboy hero of James' favorite story, he has a role unlike any other he has ever attempted. Irene Bentley, New York society girl, who was introduced to the screen in Lilian Harvey's "My Weakness," appears opposite Jory.

"Smoky" comes to the Dixie Theatre in Manassas tomorrow.

SUMMARY OF ACTIVITIES OF BETHLEHEM GOOD HOUSE- KEEPERS CLUB FOR 1933

Twelve interesting meetings were held at the homes of the members, the membership of the club being limited to twenty-four. All of the club's work is done through membership dues. The following objects were contributed to: High School Library, $15.00; School Shoe Fund, $10; $2.50 to Miss Pitts for prize for 4-H Club gardening project; $5.00 to Red Cross work; $5.00 to the Children's Home Society in Richmond; $5.50 for Christmas baskets for the needy.

A tree was planted in the high school grounds, and baskets and cards sent to cheer the sick and shut-ins.

The club looks back with pleasure on the year's work, and the pleasant hours together. No sorrow came to the club through death of any of its members. The blessing of the Lord it maketh rich, and he addeth no sorrow with it.

Food Market Advice

By ANN PAGE

THE household marketer should have an easy time finding what she wants at prices she wishes to pay this week with the possible exception of fresh fish. Severe or stormy weather always curtails the supply of fish so it may be difficult to find exactly what you desire. However, there is always some variety and there will undoubtedly be mackerel, halibut, salmon and filleted fish together with oysters. Smoked fish are also delicious and make a pleasant change from fresh.

Any of the meats will be moderate in price. This week's pot roast may be cut from the round, chuck or rump. Rib lamb chops are different when "Frenched" and served with a frilly paper cover over the bone. They are a favorite luncheon dish with many people. A fresh pork shoulder may be roasted either whole or boned. The Quaker Maid reminds you that a boned and rolled or boned and stuffed roast needs longer cooking than one in which the bone is left. Link sausage is well liked for breakfast or with some of the luncheon entrées.

No more attractive dish comes on the home table than a glazed, clove filled baked ham. It takes a whole ham to make all the delicious dishes of cooked ham you would like to have but a half may also be pre-boiled and baked.

Of all the fruits available grapefruit is outstanding in quality. Oranges are sweet and juicy and reasonably priced. California navel oranges are available as well as Florida Valencias. Apples of many varieties for both cooking and eating are available at moderate cost. Bananas are reasonable and as usual low in price. Native grapes are becoming scarce but the supply will soon be supplemented by grapes from the Argentine.

Strawberries are news in the fruit field. They are not high considering the season. Use them for flavoring and garnishing until they are more plentiful.

The list of available vegetables is about as it has been in recent weeks. Carrots, onions, celery and turnips help to make soups, stews and braised dishes flavorful. Beets make a colorful relish when pickled, as well as a delicious vegetable. Mushrooms add flavor and combine well with left overs at little added cost.

Green beans and spinach continue to be the outstanding green vegetables both for quality and price though the cabbage family still occupies a large part of all vegetable stands.

Tomatoes are again fairly plentiful and of good quality. New potatoes are news.

The Word of God

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

The Lord bless thee, and keep thee: The Lord make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee: The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace—Number 6: 24, 25, 26

THE FINAL RESPONSIBILITY

If the legislature maintains the same attitude toward the teachers of the State which Dr. Pollard has assumed to the very last of his administration, it will be a cheerless session for them.

Dr. Pollard can see, with considerable justice, that the road program must be maintained or the state will not only lose prestige but also large sums of Federal appropriations.

The talk of the threatened collapse of the school system, says Dr. Pollard, is really due to the fact that teachers have been reduced in pay as much as 15 per cent, and that instead of complaining they should "take it on the chin" like all the other public servants of the State who were also cut.

There is one frailty in this argument and that is the teachers were already underpaid in the vast majority of cases and the cuts have worked intense privation in many instances. Some counties have been able to throw the brunt of the burden directly on the local taxpayer and no cut has been made, but these counties are very much in the minority.

Dr. Pollard seems to think that unless the community comes through with its own share that help should not be so generously extended. This is very much the case of the banker who wants the type of security that would render the borrower independent if he had it to offer.

We do not believe that any community should be unduly encouraged in idleness or lack of responsibility but we do think there is decidedly more of a golden medium to be reached than that at which Dr. Pollard appears to have arrived. The legislature now about to get under way has delegates who are very close to the people. It is from them that they receive their office and is to them that they are, in the final analysis, responsible.

NO PAY RESTORATION

On Tuesday President Roosevelt issued an executive order containing the 15 percent pay reduction fixed by Congress for government employees until June 30.

It had been anticipated that there would be at least a 10 percent increase. Organizations of federal workers had "demanded" an increase.

It is too bad, of course, that government workers cannot now be restored to pre-depression levels. However, the fact remains that the country has not sufficiently recovered to warrant any such increase, particularly as the reduction does not at all represent the depth to which things have fallen.

Government workers in the regular establishments are really quite fortunately situated. They have not been cut in the same proportion that the earning power of the people at large has been reduced and there have been no wholesale dismissals, although it is widely recognized that many of their activities are of little or no practical value to the taxpayers.

The action of the President will not be widely criticized. To have restored the pay at this time would have been to have stimulated a false idea of the extent of recovery and would have operated to lessen the public effort which is now being made to dig out of the depression.

A NASTY SITUATION

This week Senate investigators in Washington unearthed the fact that the Postmaster General under President Hoover burned his personal and official correspondence just before leaving office.

The missing data was sought in connection with the investigation of airmail and other postal contracts involving large sums of money.

The American people some time ago decided that the Hoover administration was too crooked to be further tolerated. The burning of these files, therefore, will not particularly shock the public. The people had already been shocked into action last November and this most recent disclosure merely confirms their good judgment.

However, if it is possible to do so, those who burned their records before leaving public office last March should be summarily dealt with according to the laws governing arson, or however the crime may legally be designated.

SWARMING TO THE LAND

The present back-to-the-land movement in this country is far greater than either the government or the public expected. It appears especially in the demand for "subsistence farms" under government auspices.

In planning such homesteads, Senator Bankhead of Alabama, asked for an appropriation of $400,000,000. The fund actually provided was only $25,000,000. Many thought it would suffice, at least for experimental purposes. Already applications have been filed which, if they were all granted, would cost $4,000,000,000. Letters from city people pleading for a rural home and a bit of land to cultivate have been coming in at the rate of nearly 1,000 a day.

Only a handful of projects have yet been approved, the first three being in Dayton, O., Reidsville, W. Va., and Decatur, Ind. These little farms, or big gardens, with house attached, built in organized community groups, are intended mainly for workers in mined-out coal regions or other mining areas, for workers in logged-over lumber regions, for victims of "technological unemployment," for families in low-production farm areas and for workmen in seasonal occupations.

Various foreign countries have already done a good deal along this line. Our government, before it is through, may go farther than any of them, if the present demand continues.

—Portsmouth Star

A GOOD LAW

Maryland has enacted a law requiring commercial trucks to carry at least two flares which are to be used when breakdowns occur, leaving the truck parked without lights.

Many serious accidents occur in Virginia by running into such vehicles, parked without lights as result of some kind of accident, and consideration of a similar measure in Virginia would be timely.

VISITING IN BALTIMORE

Mrs. Eula Holt Merchant is visiting her friend, Mrs. Oscar T. Smith of North Charles street, Baltimore.

BIRDS IN CAPRI

Mussolini's edict establishing a bird sanctuary on the island of Capri is particularly appealing to Americans. It is something new for Italians to foster bird life.

There is still a good deal of hunting of game birds in this country, but the people as a whole have been growing more and more interested in the song birds for their beauty, for their interesting ways, for their service in keeping down the insect pests. Old and young study birds, not with too heavy scientific emphasis but easily and agreeably. They build houses for them, set out birds baths, plant trees and shrubs to shelter them and provide feeding stations for them in winter. It is fun to watch them and to study their different mannerisms and habits.

Migrating songbirds used to have a bad three months in Capri. During six weeks every fall and spring the natives all went forth on a great hunt, killing these birds to sell to epicures. A bird lover convinced Mussolini that this was wrong, that the birds not only had a right to life themselves, but that they belonged to the rest of Europe as well as to Capri. Hence the dict protecting them hereafter.

Mussolini is no St. Francis of Assisi, but if the birds could know what he has done for them they would doubtless express their appreciation in some way.

MANASSAS SCHOOL

FOR ADULTS

Superintendent Haydon took occasion Tuesday evening to visit the school conducted for adults in the basement of the Presbyterian Church. He commended the young men there for the interest they have shown in taking advantage of the opportunity offered to further their education. Particularly, he said, since being employed during the day they have but little leisure for improving themselves.

He told them to tell others the benefit that they are securing that they too may share in it. He said also that there is possibility of another teacher being employed to help Mr. Sigman to carry on.

About twenty-five have signified their intention of coming but late hours of employment of some of them make it harder to work out a satisfactory schedule of classes. Those who postpone enrolling may not have the advantage of starting with the others and of fitting into the schedule.

Several young women are taking part in this work and others are about to come. Educational pictures will likely be shown once a week.

BISHOP CANNON
LOSES APPEAL

Supreme Court Rules That Bishop Must Face Trial.

By a vote of 8 to 1 the United States Supreme Court has upheld the indictment of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., and his secretary, Miss Ada L. Burroughs, charging them with violation of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act during the Al Smith campaign.

Bishop Cannon has based his appeal to the Supreme Court upon the contention that the federal law regulating publicity for campaign contributions could not be applied to presidential electors upon the ground, as maintained by the Bishop, that they were State officers and not regulated by Congress.

The indictment followed an investigation of the United States Senate into the contributions of E. C. Jameson, of New York, reputed to be a close friend of former President Hoover, and whose gifts of $63,300 had not been disclosed by the Bishop, but was discovered by the investigating committee.

The case now comes up for trial in the Courts of the District of Columbia at a time to be set.

PROFESSOR RAPS
CONSERVATION

Under the argument that the Conservation work now has grown to such proportions as to justify a full-time Bureau Chief, it is stated that legislation along these lines will be pushed, with the idea that Chairman Carson, who is proprietor of large business enterprises, cannot afford to detach himself from his business. A survey of the personnel advocating this "full time chairman" proposal, reveals, it is stated by these who followed details of the State Forester's dismissal last year, that the political enemies of Chairman Carson are largely interested in this indirect method of unseating him.

In view of the splendid achievements of Mr. Carson, it would be practically impossible to discredit the Chairman of the Conservation Commission by direct attack, say those who have followed such outstanding accomplishments as the establishment of the Hogyer Camp at Rapidan, the development of the Skyland Drive and realization of the Shenandoah National Forest.

HOG TAX MISUSES REPORTED

Reports that farmers are having to pay the hog processing tax are coming into local and national headquarters of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and have drawn from officials vigorous denunciations of this practice on the part of buyers and processors.

Farmers in Virginia and elsewhere are saying that some buyers deduct the processing tax of one dollar from the market prices of the hogs before paying for them. This puts a penalty on the producer and tends to frustrate the declared policy of the administration. The tax has been put on to finance the corn-hog reduction program for the benefit of farmers and the increase is meant to be taken up in small additions to the retail cost per pound.

Farmers are urged not to sell to any buyer who attempts to pass this tax on to them. Names of such purchasers and particulars of cases where this practice is used should be sent in to Dr. A. G. Black, chief of the corn-hog section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in Washington. The administration pledges all its powers to prevent and prosecute fraudulent practices of this kind.

Buyers who do not slaughter but sell to processors are not required to pay this tax. But the administration points out that in such cases neither the farmer nor the buyer but the processor should pay the tax. Buyers of this class who penalize the farmer and processors who thus avoid the tax are both subject to prosecution. However, farmers who slaughter their own hogs for sale are classed as processors and must pay the required tax.

Whether these unfair practices come about through ignorance or intention, they are looked upon by officials of adjustment work not only with disfavor but also with great concern, for it is felt that such methods may easily defeat the entire corn-hog reduction program which is now being launched in all sections producing these commodities.

Clinics are to be held in all sections of the county. All women who wish to take advantage of this assistance in the making-over of garments are invited to bring their problems to the clinics.

POPULAR STARS IN
"RAINBOW OVER BROADWAY"

George R. Batcheller, president of Chesterfield Motion Pictures Corporation, has assembled a spectacular array of talent for "Rainbow Over Broadway," his company's latest musical romance, which will be the feature attraction at the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Monday and Tuesday. Joan Marsh, seen recently in "Three Cornered Moon" and "Bachelor's Affairs," heads the cast in the role of a small-town song writer who finally makes the grade on Broadway. Frank Albertson, well remembered in "Salute" and "Men Without Women," plays opposite her.

The leading character role in the piece, the part of a hen-pecked husband of an erstwhile burlesque queen is played by Lucien Littlefield, whose recent successes include "Broken Lullaby" and "Strangers of the Evening." The role of his wife is played by Grace Hayes, a Broadway star, who is new to the screen. Reports from Hollywood, where "Rainbow Over Broadway" was shown at a preview recently, seem to indicate that she will be one of the most sensational new stars of the season.

Several popular singers and dancers of vaudeville and musical comedy provide entertainment in the night club sequences of the picture. Among them are the Fanchon-Marco Girls, Hollywood's best-trained dancing troupe, and the Foster Sisters, those inimitable harmony girls.

The production, which has a New York night life background, is said to be the most pretentious that Chesterfield has ever made. Mr. Batcheller personally supervises the making of the picture.

HITCH-HIKER DRAWS FINE

In what is believed to be the first conviction under the Virginia "anti-hitch hiking law," Leonard Oreto, of Washington, was fined at Fairfax Tuesday by Judge Brown. He was convicted of "thumbing" a car for a ride and the stopping of the vehicle caused a bad accident when five cars approaching from different directions piled up at Centreville last Sunday night, severely injuring Dr. Dabney and his daughter, also of Washington.

VALLEY CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL WAKENS

We're not dead, we've just awakened from a long sleep. We had lost interest. Some of our young people had begun to leave our Sunday School.

At the home of Rev. Davis Nolley, a meeting was called October 4, 1933, at which the young people were admonished to be present. Using the first part of our meeting for discussion, we then decided to organize the young people into a group of "Willing Workers."

Just look what we've done! A contest of Red and Blue side was started, captains were elected, each captain choosing his side, having a standard by which each pupil is graded. This contest continuing for a quarter, the losing side has to treat the winning side as you know, "The spoils always goes to the victor."

The end of the quarter being January 3, 1934, the Red's treating the Blues with an oyster supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Liskeys. The meeting was opened by sacred music, and the devotional which was well conducted by Bro. Wilmer Neff. In our business meeting it was planned to help the poor and needy, also there was a committee appointed to work out programs to take to various communities not fortunate enough to have a Sunday School.

The oyster supper given by the Reds was enjoyed by both sides. Those present were: Captain of Blues, LaVerne Flory; Lloyd Diehl, Harold Neff, Wilmer Neff, Mr. David Kerlin and wife and daughter, Kathleen Kerlin; Rev. Lester Flory, wife and children, Christine Earhart, Paul, William, Hazel and Mary Diehl, Mr. Edd Michael and wife, Mr. Lester Huff and wife.

Captain of Reds—Nina Flory, Mr. George Michael and wife, Mr. John Flory, wife and sons, Herman Swank, James Earhart, Mr. Jacob Flory, wife and daughter, Raymond Showalter, Mabel and Molley Hedrick, Dehelia Snyder, Ruel Liskey, Stella Sonafrank, Lena Shirkey, and Mr. Glenn Liskey, wife and daughters.

We regret that Miss Jeanette Matthews, a member of Blues, could not be with us on account of illness. We were sorry that the following couldn't be with us: Oscar Diehl, Edna Earhart, Sylvia Showalter, Verneader Pound, Gordan Newland, and Billy Hedrick and Mr. May.

The meeting closed by singing our class song, "Win Them One by One," then leaving for home with the spirit of beginning a new contest each striving to win new members one by one for our Sunday School.

At Sea and At Norfolk!

ON BOARD THE BYRD FLAGSHIP JACOB RUPPERT:—It is now Saturday, October 14, and I am actually upon the ocean as the youngest member of this great Byrd Antarctic Expedition. After the exciting and perilous fire at Bayonne, we cast off from the Tidewater dock at 11:20 p. m. last night. Cheers of relatives and friends, longshoremen, stevedores. Slipping away silently into the blackness of the Atlantic on the first leg of my life's greatest adventure.

Time to go to bed at last? No chance! Every movable object on deck, except the dogs must be lashed down. All hatches must be battened down. The sailors call it "securing the ship for sea."

At last I am called into the galley for hot coffee and sandwiches and told Capt. W. F. Verleger of the Byrd Flagship to bed. I am dog tired but too excited to sleep.

For an hour I stand at the rail watching the lights of New York recede in the distance. No more New York, no more bright lights, for two years—except perhaps the bright lights of the Aurora Borealis.

At 3 a. m. we arrive off Cape Henry but I know nothing about it. I am in my bunk sleeping the sleep of exhaustion. At 6 a. m., with still many hours of sleep to make up, I am awakened. All hands are called to begin the life of the day. The tug with the pilot is alongside. We slip down the river at dawn and arrive at the Norfolk Navy Yard at 8 a. m.

The first passengers ashore are the two cows we are taking to Little America to supply us with fresh milk. They have a chance to get a little green pasture for a few days, their last chance for a long time.

At 8:20 we start cleaning up the ship. It is Sunday but the work must be done. The Admiral is coming aboard at noon.

At 9:30 visitors start streaming aboard—in an hour we have several hundred. The dogs, some in their cages and others chained all over the steel deck, seem to interest them more than anything else. And they should! They are the loudest things on board, and the smelliest.

Here comes our leader, Rear-Admiral Byrd. He looks weary and ill. He gives instructions to his staff—Commodore H. J. Gjertsen, commander of the Expedition; Harold June, chief aviator; Captain Verleger, skipper of the Jacob Rupert; Dr. G. O. Shirley, the Expedition's medical officer, who will set up a snow-covered hospital at Little America, and Lieutenant Commander George O. Noville, Admiral Byrd's aide, who is my immediate boss and instructor on this trip.

I get cleaned up for a short trip ashore—my first shore leave on the Expedition. Commodore Gjertsen tells me to return by 10 p. m. That is okay with me. I am still almost dead from lack of sleep, and I know I have terrific work to do from now on, working on our four airplanes, learning their details, helping to get them in perfect condition for future perilous flights, learning my job as fuel engineer for them and the rest of our amazing automotive equipment.

Our other ship, the famous 1700 ton Coast Guard ice breaker, the Bear of Oakland, which has served so illustriously in Alaskan waters since 1857, is in drydock here having some last minute repairs made. She is scheduled to leave a little ahead of us but is slower. Maybe we shall race her down to New Zealand and then to the ice barrier.

There is a big radio farewell party tonight with many distinguished speakers. Admiral Byrd saying farewell to his friends for two strange and hazardous years in the most desolate and dangerous spot on earth.

(People of high school age or over, desiring to join the Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, are invited to write to Arthur Abell, Jr., Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y., enclosing stamped and addressed envelope. There is no charge for membership.)

BERMUDA—Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, (right), chatting with S. S. Spurling, leader of the Bermuda House of Assembly, on a recent visit to Bermuda.

RE-EMPLOYMENT—According to J. E. Pennyhacker (right), Managing Director of the Asphalt Institute, the release by the Public Works Administration of an additional $90,000,000 for low cost local roads is a recognition of the fact that some two and a half times as many workers are required on low cost highway types for each dollar spent as are employed on trunk line pavements. "More all-weather low-cost roads mean more men taken from the dole and given work. At the same time more farmers have a road to market."

NUDISM—David Livingston, sociologist-lecturer (left), who made the statement at the first annual convention of the International Nudist Conference, at Town Hall Club, New York—"We are entering a new dark ages of artificiality. Only nudism can wipe out the repressions and despair of machine-made civilization." The Nudist Magazine, official publication of the I.N.C., sponsored the meeting.

TOBACCO—Unemployed men of Wayne County, Mich., raise and cure own tobacco, saving county $30,000 which had been spent annually to supply the poor of the county. Photo shows some of the fine crop being cured. Eight acres were planted, which yielded 10,000 pounds of fine burley tobacco. Agrico fertilizer was used, which not only insured a good yield, but also improved the quality.

CHALK—Natural arch in Virginia, formed of blue limestone. Chemists now make precipitated chalk from the limestone of the Shenandoah Valley which is used in toothpaste, paper, etc. The process was perfected by experts of the Industrial Chemical Co., New York City. Before that company started the manufacture of chalk, the U. S. was dependent upon Europe for its supply. Inset shows chalk particles magnified 700 times.

a low liquor tax in order to eliminate the bootlegger, who in certain sections of Virginia have been characterized, probably erroneously, as constituting 90 per cent of the population. In any event, a high liquor tax is certain to encourage many evils which Repeal was designed to eliminate. With Federal, State, County and Town governments all hungrily reaching for liquor revenue, the bootlegger may yet have a "break," some informed observers maintain.

In any event the liquor control bill will be one of the first major problems to be tackled by the General Assembly. The Governor wants one full-time man to constitute a control board. Another perplexing problem is the use of the liquor revenue. Various methods of employing these funds are proposed.

The Racing Bill will also come up for consideration. The legalization of betting in many states is said to have eliminated many evils and to have brought in much revenue. In previous sessions the Horse Racing bills have been badly snowed under, but friends of the measure believe that a more liberal attitude will be evidenced by this session.

The State has a deficit of around $2,500,000. The Governor was vested with sufficient power to have prevented this excess of expenditures over receipts, but asked the Special Session last year to grant him authority to incur this indebtedness in view of the suffering that would result from the curtailment of State activities during the depression.

Governor Pollard goes out of office on January 17, to be succeeded by George C. Peery who will be inaugurated on the afternoon of that day.

What Are You Doing to Boost Manassas?

Protection

UNUSUAL conditions confront the world today. Where a sense of security formerly obtained, there seem to be change and fluctuation, engendering lack of confidence and safety; hence the need of protection looms large in individual thinking. This is no new experience. From time immemorial men have been in quest of protection for themselves, their families, and their belongings, and human experiences show that only in the measure of its spiritual stability has it been secured. When the foundation of protection rests in matter, it is subject to change and other vicissitudes, carrying a modicum of fear, anxiety, and foreboding.

Protection is ordinarily regarded as preservation from danger, harm—some phase of evil. When properly understood in its widest application, protection should be a guaranty of immunity from all discord. Where is the danger? In the world, where protection expresses the unerring law of God—a sure defense in all circumstances. But the question may arise, How can Spirit deal with material objects? In this connection Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, has rendered incalculable service to humanity through her promulgation of the fact that God, the creator of the spiritual universe, including man, is the divine Principle of existence. On page 468 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mrs. Eddy gives the fundamental teaching of Christian Science: "All is Infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation." Thus Mind is seen to embrace all causation, and the experience of each generation adds weight to the Biblical saying regarding a man, "As he thinketh in his heart, so is he."

Spiritual thinking is constructive, but material thinking, so called, is destructive. To illustrate, one seemingly unemployed and vainly seeking a position through various channels may become imbued with the apparent futility of it all. He is depressed if not hopeless, thus clogging his right thinking and thereby proportionately incapacitating himself for right acting. The remedy is to abandon negative thinking and take hold of the fact that as a child of God he is under the divine government and all that pertains thereto. It is for him to reflect God through His ideas, to keep himself actively employed in entertaining them. Fear, depression, and hopelessness will soon give place to love for God and man; to joy, hope, and assurance of good. Radiating these thoughts and the good which he realizes and claims from his heavenly Father will open to him the proper channels, where his own need will be met.

Another may have misgivings as to his business prospects. His thought may dwell upon trade depression and closed avenues of activity until he becomes befogged with the clouds of apparently overwhelming difficulties. Turning resolutely from that uninviting contemplation, let him look up to the all-powerful and ever present goodness of God. In the divine economy there is enough and to spare; prosperity is undiminished therein, and never for a moment inactive or suspended. There fluctuation is unknown. As one depends upon that sheet-anchor and exchanges his material thinking for spiritual ideas and qualities, such as intelligence, wisdom, justice, honesty, and goodness, the outward manifestation of God's good will to man will be expressed in his human experience. God is beneficent, a bountiful rewarder of all who diligently seek Him and do His will. To be under God's protection is to be allied to the one never failing spiritual source of good.

Through the study and application of Christian Science it has been proved that there is no condition or circumstance that cannot be brought under the protection of God, the all-embracing and imperishable Love which fills all space. This veritably is the gospel of Christ Jesus, and as demonstrable today as it was of yore on the shores of Galilee.

The Bible abounds in helpful, comforting narratives and practical admonitions for everyday present use. One such assurance is, "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms; and he shall thrust out the enemy from before thee; and shall say, Destroy them." Good thoughts are a shield and refuge; they individualize divine power and dispel evil suggestions which are the enemy of mankind. Thus right thinking and right doing carry with them the fruition of goodness, power, protection, and peace.

Mrs. Eddy wrote to her students in a letter published in "Miscellaneous Writings" (p. 263): "How blessed it is to think of you as 'beneath the shadow of a great rock in a weary land,' safe in His strength, building on His foundation, and covered from the devourer by divine protection and affection. Always bear in mind that His presence, power, and peace meet all human needs and reflect all bliss."—The Christian Science Monitor.

INTERESTING COMMENT BY SUPERVISOR ROLAND

Editor, The Manassas Journal.

With the advent of a New Year we are inclined to mentally take stock of the progress we have made towards more prosperous times, and to fervently thank our worthy Head that that his unsurpassed genius has steered our course this far from ruin. But there seems still to be a phase of service that is inadequate—the question of our adolescent youth and young men.

It is very true, and necessary, that in the placing of workers, those with families or dependents receive the jobs, when there is not enough for all.

What we want to urge is, that the most serious consideration be given the young men, and efforts made towards opening legitimate means of making a living.

It is of course a matter of fact that the appalling crime wave is largely composed of youth, and one wonders where it is to end?

Boys who have reached the late teen age during these distressing years have been confronted with such baffling conditions, that must of necessity leave them confused and cynical and according to the individual temperament and problem, desperate.

In many cases it has been impossible to continue school, even where there is the desire to do so; homes are not always places of refuge, but overcrowded, poverty-ridden places that the boy feels he is only another unwelcome mouth to feed, and starts out on his own, to eke out an existence by fair means or foul.

They come hopefully, asking for work, meeting disappointment cheerfully, at first, then passively, and finally, with sullenness, it is this later mood that makes us fearful.

Maturity is so much more able to meet life's buffetings philosophically than youth, and one can but wonder what the scars left by these years of futile effort to fit into this topsyturvy world will actually produce. One is struck by the evident sincerity of many of these youths, who at times break through the barriers of reserve and show their true reactions in timid confidences: As one boy put it, he had never known what it was to feel that another week's security was ahead of him, and another said that if he were just able to pay a little at home—where it was sorely needed—he would not "feel so much like a bum."

So many of them have but scant schooling and no especial training in any line, and there seems to be but little call for mere physical qualifications. What a situation to look forward to a few years hence, when these same cynical youths are the men of our communities!

The small farms sponsored by the government, where each family is a self-sustaining unit, is something worth watching.

Projects of insect control, game conservation and rural sanitation suggest fields that are familiar to the rural boy who is untrained, wherein he could work, also training schools where he could learn a trade that would give him a better chance in the future.

To come down to the very practical end of it, a chance now for work or self betterment is cheaper than the conviction and maintenance of a criminal. Give the young man a chance to be self-supporting citizen, and his care is off the community, let him become criminal and his support must be borne by the society that he revolted against, and finally the individual taxpayer.

We must believe that behind the mask of resentment, or stodginess, or even rude aggression, there is some latent good traits of character that can be developed into the law-abiding citizen of tomorrow, or, if neglected at the critical time, can as readily lead to the potential criminal: This means your boy and my boy! think, and then support the President, for he is trying to help you.

Write your Congressman, your Senators that it is your desire that he support the President.

Mr. Green of the Federation of Labor should be careful and not expose himself. His utterances against fiat money would lead one to believe that he belongs to that old conservative, reactionary school who have been in charge of our economic plan for many years and have been found wanting when weighed in the balance of time.

Their plan become top-heavy and fell, now, after all the suffering and misery they have caused, they want us to go back and do it over, it sounds like the boy who saw the old woman slip on the banana peel and said to her, "Go back and do it over again. My sister did not see you."

Mr. Green would be more in his place if he would forget the fiat money and work with the President, helping him in getting the unemployed back to work on a shorter hour work day which will bring about a more equitable distribution of our national income—a thing necessary to revive our home markets. The President's C.W.A. will do the trick if supported and in less than a year we will be enjoying a prosperity that will last. Private business will be too busy to worry about any tax levied to retire an issue of greenbacks used to pay for starting the wheels of industry again.

Why should we make the money loaner rich at the expense of the poor, for the poor are the ones that pay their all for the privilege to live.

It is hoped that such persons as Mr. Green will not have too much influence with our President—Although a president of a large labor institution does not represent the entire body, on his stand on fiat money, we know that an issue of greenbacks can be retired by a tax levy when money becomes liquid enough to meet the demands of business the same as a bond issue fattens the tax-exempt rich.

There is a lack of co-operation with the President's plans that at a time like this seems like treason to those of us who are working for the success of these plans.

I for one will not support for public office any one who do not do their utmost to make his plan a success.

C. B. ROLAND.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT AT GRACE CHAPEL

On Tuesday, Dec. 26, at 7:30 p.m., it was the writer's privilege to attend a Christmas celebration at Grace Chapel; also known as Ewell's Chapel, near Hickory Grove. The entertainment was in the form of a pageant representing that early morning so long ago; at the manger of the inn in Bethlehem; the little Christ child, and the visit of the wise men, bearing gifts. The different parts were well taken by the teachers and pupils of the Sunday school and the meaning of the scenes were enforced by the well-chosen carols which were sung by the choir; the solo parts being taken by Mrs. Templeton, sister of the rector of the parish, Mr. Carpenter. The background was especially effective, representing as it did the starry sky enfolding the quiet Judean hills.

We were impressed by the announcement by one of the teachers that the liberal gift of "goodies" to the pupils and visiting children was made possible through the generosity of a former pupil of the Sunday school, now grown to manhood and far away from the little chapel of his childhood.

We come away with a grateful feeling in our hearts for the "faithful few" who keep alive the love of Christ in the country churches of today, knowing that it was He who said "Where one or two are gathered in My name, there I will be in their midst."

THE GLUTTED HOME MARKET

HOG production in the United States has increased at about the same rate as our population, but the quantity of hog products available for home consumption has increased materially because of a severe decline in our exports since the World War. The American people recently have been eating around 14 percent more pork and lard than they did in the pre-war period, and they are now eating a higher percent of the total production of hogs than 20 years ago. However, this excess of hog products in the home market has depressed hog prices. The recent increased consumption is a reflection of the comparatively low prices at which the pork had to move, rather than of any substantial pick-up in consumer requirements or preference for hog products. A more moderate hog production would eliminate the excess on the home market and would result in a higher price per hundredweight and a larger total return from the whole hog crop. This the corn-hog plan of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration seeks to bring about by adjusting production to present-day needs.
