Prince William Delegate Gets Good Start.

Hon. George W. Herring, delegate from Prince William and Stafford Counties, is off to a flying start in this session of the General Assembly.

The only committee on which he does not have a preferred position is that of Cities, Counties and Towns. His other assignments are Claims, Executive Expenditures, and the Chesapeake and its Tributaries.

Mr. Herring is occupying an important position in redistricting contest. Senator Battle of Charlottesville has apparently taken up the scrap where Nat Early, of Greene, his predecessor, who has since been made Collector of Internal Revenue for Virginia, left off. About the only ground which the former has taken has been largely the same argument, as simply not wanting to come into the 8th District. There are other arguments but Battle does not seem to be making any headway and the bill giving Albemarle, Greene and Madison, with a population of about fifty thousand, is certain to pass with some possible changes around over the State. This will bring the population of the 8th right up to the required minimum to properly balance with the other districts.

In the matter of the biennial budget, Delegate Herring made a strong appeal on the floor of the House for a better system of study and explanation during the session instead of merely having three experts hand it to be swallowed as a whole right at the close of the session. His speech was heartily applauded.

Mr. Herring states that he wants to hear from his constituents on matters of public interest and will welcome visitors at any time.

NEW CRUSADE MEETING

The Nokesville W.C.T.U. rendered their New Crusade program in the Seminary chapel on Sunday evening, Jan. 14. Rev. C. W. Mark in conducting the devotional exercise emphasized the fact that prayer was the foundation of W.C.T.U. work in the beginning and is of just as great importance now. Mrs. Luther Bowman of Aden gave a splendid reason, "Why Youth Indulge." Rev. G. W. Beahm gave an address on "The Continuing Need of the W.C.T.U." He said that even though the W.C.T.U. is not a perfect organization we still need its help as much as at any time. He said that it is a childish idea to say that a thing doesn't work just because it does not do everything.

The poem "Little Blossom" was recited in a very splendid way by Hazel Owens. The poem is the story of a little girl who was killed by her father when he was too drunk to realize what he was doing. The father had to pay with his life but the man who sold the drink went free because he had license to sell. The women of the local organization sang the convention song "We've Worked With God Through Fifty Years." The following articles explaining the New Crusade program were read: "Why Alcohol Education," "The Citizen's Responsibility" and "A Challenge to Youth."

Miss Ella Beahm read "The Rule That Tommy Made." This was the story of a boy who even at the risk of losing his job when he had to support the family, refused to buy beer for a bunch of workmen. It resulted in promotion for the boy and a set of dry rules for the company.

A splendid explanation of the Lillian Stephens Fund was given by Rev. A. K. Graybill. Mrs. Mark brought to our attention the startling fact that Prohibition casts the government nothing at all. Instead of that it has brought an income of $170,829,189.00.

A splendid offering was lifted for the Lillian Stephens Fund.

"TOMMY TUCKER" SUPPER

Mesdames G. R. Ratcliffe, J. E. Bradford, E. H. Merchant and M. P. Lewis will be hostesses at a supper Saturday, Jan. 20, from 7 to 9 at the home of Mrs. Ratcliffe.

While the supper is by invitation there will be an offering of twenty-five cents from each person for the benefit of Trinity Church Guild. Those accepting the invitations will please notify the hostesses.

MARRIAGE RECORD

Jan. 11 — Howard Hensley, of Manassas, and Mary Hodd, of Bristow.

SPECIAL INVITATION & NOTICE

All persons who failed to join the Prince William County Chapter Red Cross during the recent drive are hereby notified and invited to send their membership fee, $1.00 for annual and $5.00 for contributing member, to their nearest Roll Call worker, or Mrs. J. A. Delaney, Manassas, Va., during the special drive being put on from February 1 to February 15.

LOCAL RED CROSS HOLDS MRS. LLOYD

Popular Worker Continued as County President.

The annual meeting of the Prince William County Chapter of the American Red Cross which was held on January 13 at the Red Cross headquarters in the Peoples Bank building, Manassas, elected the following executive committee, to serve for one year:

Mr. Eli Swavely, Mr. G. R. Ratcliffe, Manassas district; Mrs. Janie Abel, Mr. H. C. Russell, Dumfries district; Mrs. Powell Davis, Mrs. Eva K. Garner, Occoquan district; Mr. W. Y. Ellicott, Mr. R. C. Linton, Coles district; Mrs. C. B. Allen, Mrs. O. M. Douglas, Gainesville district; Mr. W. L. Lloyd, Rev. J. R. Cooke, Brentsville district.

As all members had been duly notified and proper notification given in the local paper, those present, with the approval and under the direction of Miss Sadie James, field director of American Red Cross, proceeded to elect the following officers, Mrs. W. L. Lloyd chairman; Rev. A. S. Gibson, first vice-chairman; Miss Loretta McGill, second vice-chairman; Mrs. E. C. Spitzer, secretary; Mr. O. D. Waters, treasurer.

Miss James told of the work being done in her district by the Red Cross in furnishing instructors for first-aid classes, the men thus trained are to be returned to C. W. A. projects to assist as first aid and safety directors. The duties of these first-aid directors being to see that necessary precautions were taken to safeguard the men employed, to render necessary first aid in case of accident, and call doctors when required.

Reports of the standing committees were given by the chairman, Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson gave a most interesting and comprehensive report of the work done by the Civilian Home Service committee. A more detailed report of this committee will be published in another issue of The Journal.

Production committee under direction of Mrs. O. D. Waters and Mrs. R. S. Hynson also showed great progress and activity. 92 families had been helped with clothing and materials to make garments.

Roll call report by Mrs. J. A. Delaney was encouraging, though far behind the goal set by the chapter. To date 345 members were enrolled, leaving the chapter short of its goal of 500 by 155 members. Feeling that a number of persons who have always been members, did not join due to unemployment, and have since become employed under C. W. A. or similar projects, the chapter was authorized by Miss James to put on an extra drive from February 1 to 15.

Miss Sabina Neel, county nurse, gave a splendid report of her activities during the past year. One regret that statistics must of necessity be dry and the final benefits, corrections and relief which followed her many visits to sick and underprivileged must go unrecorded as no instrument is available for recording the unending gratitude of a child for release from pain, crooked bones, deafness, tuberculosis and such kindred unhappy afflictions.

The chapter appreciates and welcomes the hearty co-operation and confidence shown by the citizens of Prince William County, and asks that the same loyal support be forthcoming during the present emergencies.

HOME SERVICE COMMITTEE

The regular meeting of the Civilian Home Service Committee will be held in the office of the County Nurse on Wednesday, January 24, at 2:30 p.m. A good attendance is requested.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Dr. Savage of the State Board of Health will be the clinician at the chest clinic to be held on Tuesday, January 23, in the Red Cross office, week elected president of the Culpeper Chamber of Commerce.

WCTU OBSERVES NEW CRUSADE DAY

Interesting Facts and Figures Given by Speakers.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union observed "New Crusade Day" at the Presbyterian Church on Tuesday, Jan. 16.

The theme for the devotional period was "Prayer." Mrs. Embrey read the intercessory prayer of Jesus found in John 17.

Opening song, "Lead On O King Eternal." Miss Kincheol at the piano.

Mrs. Gorrell read "Prayer the Foundation Then and Now."

In 1873 the crusade against the liquor traffic was begun by earnest Christian women meeting together in prayer. The "New Crusade" must conquer by the same token.

Mrs. Sadd gave "The Continuing Need for the W. C. T. U." showing the importance of leading in social, personal, religious, political and community effort, in educating both adult and youth of the harmful nature of alcohol. Mrs. Sadd also gave the pathetic story of the "Prisoner at the Bar."

Rev. Mr. DeChant talked on "Challenge to Youth." He said youth are inherently honest and truthful, and demand truth and not half truths from those who would influence them. They need sympathy rather than condemnation. "Do this" rather than "Thou shalt not." The speaker pointed out the truth that temptation was harder to resist when the will power was weakened by even a small amount of alcohol.

A paper was read by Mrs. Wood telling how Prohibition was a profit to the U. S. Government. The financial statement taken from the records of the Department of Justice shows the Government reaped as profit more than twice the amount it spent.

In the 14 years of Prohibition more than $128,000,000 was spent, and more than 299,000,000 came back in fines and confiscated property. The Wets claimed that Prohibition had cost more than thirty billion dollars. Mark the difference.

Mr. Murphy emphasized the need of a newspaper bringing to the people the real facts and truths that are suppressed by our dailies.

The meeting closed with the Crusade Glory song and the Aaronic benediction.

FAVORS PRIVATE LICENSE

The United States Senate has approved a liquor bill for the District of Columbia which rejects the government dispensary idea and authorizes the licensing of private dealers. A bill of similar character has already passed the House and there are only a few minor differences to adjust in conference. It is believed legal liquor will be on sale in the District of Columbia early in February.

ROOSEVELT AND GOLD

The move of President Roosevelt to place all of the gold in the United States in the custody of the Federal Treasury, although bitterly fought by certain special interests, is generally accepted as a justifiable move in behalf of government to regulate matters which have heretofore been in the hands of international bankers and other captains of industry. Washington, not Wall Street, is going to govern the United States, if Roosevelt's measures are carried to completion.

HEADS CULPEPER CHAMBER

Leon Ratcliffe Waters, formerly of the Culpeper National Bank and prominent dairyman, died at his home yesterday. He had been failing for some time. He was the senior member of the Town Council of Culpeper and highly esteemed.

GALLAUDET TO COME SATURDAY

Manassas A. C. Boys and Girls Divide in Doubleheader at Aden.

"What shall I do or where shall I go?" some people will probably ask this Saturday evening, January 20. Just follow the crowd to the Manassas High School gymnasium where the guests of the Manassas A. C. basketball squad will be the Gallaudet Reserves from Washington, D. C.

They come from the only college for the deaf in the world. It will be interesting to see the sign language that the Gallaudet College boys employ in their conversation—their means of speech.

Last night the Manassas A. C. boys and girls journeyed to Aden for a return game. The local boys had previously beaten the Aden team somewhat easily on the local floor. However, at Aden the Manassas boys found their hands full throughout the game. It was close from start to finish, with the lead alternating between both teams. It was nobody's game until the whistle blew.

The score was 15 to 13 in Manassas's favor at intermission. It was no easy task for Manassas to hold fast to that lead. At one time near the end of the game Aden took the lead away from us. And suddenly Manassas put on a rally, caging several nice shots after well-executed plays, not to mention two or three more good shots that were taken away from us for unknown reasons. Well, the rally put us two points ahead when the whistle blew. There was no outstanding player on the Manassas team as the whole quint including substitutes displayed good teamwork and the scoring was nearly evenly distributed among the players.

The Manassas girls lost a close game to the Aden sextet. The local girls played an improved game and showed better teamwork than in previous games. Frances Bushong and Christine Meetze did very well at guard, being assigned to cover two excellent forwards. Helen Lloyd was at her best at forward and did nearly all the shooting.

CAMP RECOVERY WINNING NAME

Private Lilly Submits Prize Letter.

In response to the announcement in The Journal a few weeks ago, to the effect that a substantial cash prize would be given for the new CCC camp at Canova, more than one hundred and fifty letters were received and turned over to the board of judges. This board met last night at the home of Miss Janie Herrell, owner of the land on which the camp is located and the donor of the prize. The decision was unanimous and the letter is reproduced as follows:

"CAMP RECOVERY — Dedicated to the work of the CCC and its effect upon the youth of the Nation." Signed James P. Lilly, Barracks 3, Group 6.

Thus is history made and Camp Recovery will be known to the community long after the actual camp has passed from existence.

WELFARE WORKER ADDRESSES CLUB

Newly-Appointed County Official Gives Interesting Talk.

Mrs. Robert Lewis, county welfare worker, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis last Friday night. She was introduced by Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson, who has been at the head of the Civilian Relief Committee since its formation several years ago.

Mrs. Lewis spoke of finding some very distressing conditions and of the relief that is being afforded. She strongly urged the location of an industrial school in the lower part of the county where agriculture did not appear to be flourishing and where the woods no longer gave a sufficient income.

The speaker insisted that the teaching of the useful arts would render the young people far more independent than at present.

BULL RUN GRANGE ELECTS

Bull Run Grange held its election of officers at Haymarket last Friday evening, January 12, and the following officers were elected:

Master, Rev. W. F. Carpenter; overseer, Preston Smith; lecturer, Miss Jennie Ewell; steward, Thomas Cornette; associate steward, Charles L. Wilkinson; chaplain, Mrs. Laura Wilkinson; treasurer, Willis Foley; secretary, Mrs. Anne Robertson; gate keeper, Geo. Wm. Carter; Ceres, Monie Peters; Flora, Mrs. Lena Smith; Pomona, Miss Katherine Peters; Lady Ass. steward, Mrs. Lula Rector; ex. com., Bailey Tyler, Grayson Tyler, C. E. Wilkerson.

Mr. Smith, the retiring master, made a graceful speech and Mr. Carpenter made us feel that there were many good things in store for us in the future. There will be an initiation of four new members on the last Friday of this month and at the next regular meeting the activities of the Grange will be taken up, and a report of the National Convention at Boise, Idaho, will be the feature.

In these critical days for the farmer, the Grange has a definite purpose of inspiration and practical achievement, that we hope the public will appreciate.

Topics for study at this time will be: Soups and Main Dishes from Milk; Vegetables for Winter; Attractive Egg Dishes.

The following leaders are expected to represent their clubs at this meeting:

GOVERNOR PEERY TAKES OFFICE

Inauguration Wednesday Was Colorful Event.

George C. Peery became Governor of Virginia shortly after noon on Wednesday. He becomes the fiftieth Governor of our Commonwealth, succeeding Hon. John Garland Pollard, who has accepted a Federal position in Washington.

The change of administration at such a critical period of the recovery program has been viewed with particular attention. It had been hoped that Governor Peery would be sensitive to the great need of the people for lightened tax burden and every special project of the State, likewise has nurtured the anticipation that the incoming Governor would do more for them than the retiring one.

Friends of the public school system have seen much hope for increased school appropriations in the inaugural statements of Governor Peery, who has come out for greater income taxes for school purposes.

At 12:15 Governor-elect was escorted to the Capitol by Governor Pollard, attended by his staff, the inaugural committees and the General Assembly. The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Preston W. Campbell. Lieutenant-Governor James H. Price was sworn in by Justice Henry W. Holt. The Attorney General, John R. Saunders, was unable to be present on account of illness.

The outstanding features of the incoming Governor's message were his request for an additional million dollars for schools, a million for roads, more severe income tax, increase of taxation on motion pictures, restriction of receiver fees in bankruptcy, reduced tax on light automobiles, a liquor control board of three men, profits from liquor to go into State treasury, placing of county treasurers, commissioners of revenue and Commonwealth's Attorneys on straight salaries without fees of any sort.

LINTON HALL MILITARY SCHOOL

Cadets Grenville T. Geogh, Jr., of Lebanon, N. H., and Robert Harrison, Washington, D. C., received praise from their drill master, Commandant Carson.

Wednesday, January 10, the Linton Hall cadets were on the qui vive. The occasion was the first drill of the New Year. Commandant Carson, first lieutenant of the Citizens Reserve Corps, who has had charge of the military work at Linton Hall for two years, gave the following report of the afternoon's work.

General drill, after which twelve boys, six from each company, A and B, went into a competitive drill with the result that Grenville Keogh was named best-drilled cadet in the school and Robert Harrison second best. Both cadets belong to Company A.

A sham battle followed the day's drill, in which Company B came out victorious. All military tactics were used, including extended order formation, with right and left flank attack. Scouts were sent out ahead to reconnoitre the advance of enemy troops, of which Company A was part. Company B did exceedingly well in maintaining military discipline and in putting the enemy to rout.

At the end of the day's work, RE-TREAT was held as usual.

It must be borne in mind that these lads are quite young children. Grenville Keogh is only eleven years of age and is one of five brothers attending Linton Hall. Robert Harrison is twelve, and, with his brother Justin, has been in residence several years.

FIGHTING TREE DISEASES

Under the supervision of Warden Russell, who is in charge of the fire control work, a squad from the local CCC camp is going daily into the southerly part of Centreville district to work in the pine region there.

As this goes to press, Mr. Russell has promised a full release of the progress of the work for the next issue.

Victories Won Before the Battle

By Rev. Rev. W. M. Compton

Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world—Jesus.
I have fought a good fight—Paul.

Both Jesus and Paul announced victory in advance. When Jesus made this announcement the disciples were in great distress because he had told them that he was going away. Gethsemane and Calvary are just ahead. Within twenty-four hours Joseph will be bearing his limp form toward the new tomb to give him decent burial. It is in view of all the circumstances of the Garden and the Cross, so imminent, that he says, "Cheer up, I have overcome the world." Paul was in a Roman prison under Roman guard. His martyrdom under the executioner's ax, known or unknown to him, was only a little way in the future and with the clink of the chains upon his wrist he wrote to Timothy saying, "I have fought a good fight." The tense of the verbs used is not future but past. Both Jesus and Paul had won the victory and announced the fact in advance of the final battle.

What is the lesson for us?
We May Win Today's Victories Before the Day Begins. It is said the best time to wind your watch is in the morning. Because the delicate mechanism receives many a jar as you walk and work. Your watch will keep better time if you start the day on a strong spring. It is not otherwise with this human organism. Your nerves will receive many a jar during the day. Some unkind remark will jar you. Some one will pass you in his automobile as if he owned the whole road. You will be tempted. Your patience as well as your religion will be put through many a test during the day. It is, therefore, wise to begin the day on a strong spring. You would not think of driving to Richmond with gas tank almost empty. Why not start the journey of every day with a good supply of Divine grace and spirituality? When do you say your prayers? I suppose like almost everyone who prays, just before you get in bed. If any prayer could be dispensed with it is that prayer we say just before we throw ourselves upon the couch for nearly every one is good while he sleeps. But all stand in need of prayer and spiritual recourse during the day. Wind your watch and say your prayers in the morning. Begin the day on a strong spring.

We May Win Tomorrow's Victories Today. For four years I was the pastor of a high school girl who later became the wife of a missionary in Africa. She was a sweet faced girl. She loved her home. They were well fixed and wanted for nothing. Later on when that daughter announced her decision to go as a missionary to the Congo Mission, her mother wept as with a broken heart. But when the time came she told her daughter good-by with a cheerful smile. She had won a victory in advance. A pastor one time stood at the railway station with a number of his parishioners. When the conductor called out, "All aboard," they stood on the platform waving good by to a young lady as long as they could see her. She was going to spend fifteen years as a missionary in India. The pastor then turned to shake the hand of the mother who to his surprise was smiling cheerfully. He said "How is this? I expected to see you weeping." She said, "Oh, I fought this battle months ago." Many of us will never forget those dark days when the great war cloud hung heavy over our land. Many mothers seemed not to cease to weep in parting with their sons. That was a weeping time. Those were tragic days. But I observed that some mothers had their sons good-by with a cheerful smile. They did not love their sons less. But these were they who back yonder months before perhaps in the quiet of their own closet on their knees (eyes in tears and lips in prayer) before God won a victory in advance.

I know of nothing more sad than to be suddenly taken from active life and thrown upon a bed with no hope of recovery and without spiritual resources to meet that awful hour. I have witnessed many such cases. One turned his face to the wall and said, "How can I crowd the work of a lifetime into a dying hour?" Do you attend church? If so, what is the purpose? As a sedative for tired nerves and to acquire peace of mind? Well that is worth while. But there is a more worthy purpose. There you may strengthen your faith and renew your spiritual resources for the days of the on-coming week. To be strengthened with power and might in the inner man. To be able to meet successfully responsibilities, emergencies, and the unexpected in life is to win victories in advance.

Note—This sermon is only half through, but space allowed says stop.

CLIFTON

Mrs. Harold Moore entertained several friends from Clarendon on Monday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Davis.

In the Tuberculosis work, in addition to home visits to cases and contacts, we have had one chest clinic in January, one in May, and a Tuberculin and X-ray clinic in October. At these clinics, 36 adults were examined and 53 children. 29 X-rays were taken, 27 of which were paid for at $2.00 each by the County Tuberculosis Association.

Five arrested cases have been dismissed from the State Sanatoria, two arrested cases, one white, one colored, have been dismissed, unimproved, dying at home soon after. We have assisted in sending to the sanatoria during the year, two white and one colored patient, of these the County Association has helped with sanatorium expenses of one white, and necessary equipment for the other who is occupying one of the additional free beds authorized by the Governor. We have still two colored adults and one white child needing sanatorium care. Mr. Wade Ellis answered a frantic appeal for assistance for help with tuberculosis work in the county by a check for $100 to the treasurer of the County Association. Last year the association contributed $100 toward the care of three children from the Marine Post at Blue Ridge, the remainder of necessary funds being raised by the father and post organizations. All money contributed passed through the hands of the association treasurer and when the children had been returned home, the eighty dollars ($80) remaining of contributed funds, we were left in the association treasury.

No contributions have been made during the past year to the Episcopal Hospital, but they have continued to take care of our children, 63 having tonsil and adenoid operations, 19 eye examinations, one eye operation, some treatments, and 5 fitted to glasses; the Kiwanis Club has paid this year bills for four pairs of glasses gotten last year; of this year's cases, one has paid for her own, and the rest are not yet paid for. A limited number have paid the dispensary charge for tonsil and adenoid operations, several have made small donations.

Four children have been treated in the Children's Hospital. One was a colored baby with a hare lip on which Dr. Moran did a beautiful repair. The father will pay the small hospital charge as he can. The other three cases have not been paid for. Doctor Moran also repaired a hare lip on a boy of seven at the Episcopal Eye, Ear, and Throat Hospital. For this case, after introduction, the mother made her own arrangements and paid the nominal hospital charge. We sent one child to the Crippled Children's Hospital with a bone infection.

Four little girls spent about six weeks last summer at the Margaret Paxton Memorial Home in Leesburg. One who was pitifully thin, always refusing to gain—at home—gained eleven pounds in the six weeks.

Two unmarried mothers from our county are getting valuable training at the House of Mercy in Washington at no cost to us in any way. They are most appreciative to their opportunity, and show their appreciation by gratifying efforts to please and improve.

National Negro Health Week was recognized by a county program put on at the Industrial School in May at which Dr. Bagby, director of the Bureau of Child Hygiene in the State Department of Health, gave a very pleasing talk.

In August, through Dr. Bagby, a Doctor's Helper's Institute for colored women was held at the Industrial School in Manassas. These institutes are conducted by Mrs. Emily Bennett, director of Midwife Education in the State, and give five days of valuable instruction to women in the care of sick in the home. A committee was formed to arrange for annual meetings of the Institute, having representative from each of the surrounding counties.

We furnished emergency service on the grounds at the Dairy Festival, and were more in demand this year than formerly, perhaps because we were using a tent instead of an ambulance. The ambulance was parked along the line of the parade, but was not called into use.

Our beginner's program was much more successful this year, and bids fair to be still better next. The County Supervisors furnished small-pox vaccine and toxoid for all and many more than usual were immunized against diphtheria. Dr. Payne, Dr. McBryde, and Dr. Martin held small clinics, taking in a group the children who must be transported by the nurse.

The Nokesville Woman's Group helped materially in rounding up their beginners and getting them to the doctor. Other groups will no doubt do the same this year. In Manassas, we can depend on the Junior Woman's Club, who have offered to help in the Nursing Service in any way they can.

Miss Pitts, the home demonstration agent, worked hard during the summer providing for hot lunches in most of the schools needing them. An account of the special health teaching campaign we are putting on in connection with these lunches belongs in our next annual report. But each winter, many of our children are better nourished because of Miss Pitts.

Respectfully submitted,
M. SABINA NEEL.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN by F. D. Cox

Home-made Wood-Burning Brick Brooder.

The home-made brick brooder was first tried out in Alabama in 1923 and is now in general use in the southern states. Poultrymen in Virginia, particularly in the southside section, became interested in this type of brooder about three years ago and a few were built according to plans from other states and used with varying results. Some have proved satisfactory, others unsatisfactory. As Virginia has colder winters than the states in which the brick brooder was developed, the state extension service was unwilling to recommend its use or prepare plans for its construction until it was definitely established by experience and a study of its limitations that it could be used with safety. Conclusions from this study are that the brick brooder built according to V. P. I. plans may be used profitably in brooding chicks.

Present methods of brooding on average Virginia farms include the use of commercial brooders, using either coal, oil or wood as fuel. Most coal brooders require hard or anthracite coal costing $17.00 or $18.00 a ton. Oil is less expensive but the danger from fire is greater. The brooders themselves are rather expensive. On the other hand, the brick brooder uses wood produced on the farm and usually the only cost of this wood is the cutting. Users of the improved brick brooder state that it requires a minimum of attention and that even if the fire goes out the bricks will hold heat for a long time. This makes chilling much less likely than with other stoves. The cost of the brick brooder is comparatively small since much of the material used in its construction is often available on the farm, or may be obtained second hand at low prices.

If you are interested in building a brick wood-burning brooder, plans will be furnished upon request.

Only hogs that were farrowed between December 1, 1931, and November 30, 1933, inclusive, from sows owned should be entered in the tables. A farm map is to be drawn and an evidence sheet filled in an addition to the work sheet. Obtain receipts, weight bills, etc., for hogs and pigs sold wherever possible.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST

The Word of God

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

FINDING THE RIGHT

WAY: Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near: let the wicked forsake his way, and the uprighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. — Isaiah 55: 6, 7.

PEERY STARTS RIGHT

It is too early in the administration of George Peery to predict his fortune as Governor (and the fiftieth one Virginia has had) but as a surmise we would say that he is proceeding along fairly cautious lines and more willing to accede to popular demands than his immediate and eminently distinguished predecessor.

Without departing from the general lines laid down for highway management, he is demanding immediate and substantial relief for the entire public school faculty of the State.

There is a feeling that without waiving their rights to select their own teachers the several school divisions should be relieved entirely of the matter of teachers' salaries. If this could be done, and the power of local government not impaired, it would be a very desirable step, probably one that would cause much rest and quiet among both the distressed taxpayers and the teachers.

Right here, however, steps in the spectre of the sales tax, so heartily endorsed by real estate men and encouraged by a large group of land owners.

In many of our smaller towns and cities there are hundreds of small dealers and manufacturers who do not sell at a great distance. If a sales tax be imposed on them, it will relieve a considerable part of those who do not themselves encourage trade within their own borders but who seek to split a penny by dealing with outside concerns.

This latter condition has been relieved wherever the NRA forces equanimity in competitive trade, and outside firms can no longer come here, or through their agents come into this area and cut prices of a local dealer without the risk of a heavy fine. Some of them are no doubt taking the risk of this fine if the business is lucrative enough or if they figure the locality will not punish the local solicitor.

However, this does not stop the person who wants to side-step his loyalty to his own community by sending his own money out of the State or actually going out himself to buy, and it does not greatly help the business in those small localities within the State which are close to the large cities into which trade is being literally sucked.

If there is any sort of a sales tax it should take these facts in mind and not further impose taxes which will in turn ruin the business men who are in many cases the backbone of the tax budget of their respective communities.

"RINGERS" MUST GO

President Roosevelt has under consideration the setting up of suitable machinery for ousting "ringers." These are folks who are leaving their regular employment in order to seek higher wages under the Civil Works and the Public Works Administrations.

They are doing this in several ways. Some are hiring substitutes to do their work while they are with the C.W.A. or P.W.A. Others are either quitting, or becoming so worthless that they get laid off.

So widespread has become the practice that the very purpose of these emergency projects is being defeated. National statistics are beginning to show that unemployment is not being relieved in proportion to the number of people that are being taken on in this new work. Impoverished, unemployed people are being crowded out in such numbers that the President stated this week in a press conference that he had under consideration the issuance of an executive order setting up local machinery to handle these "ringers" in an effective manner. It has also been stated that many people, especially in key positions, are being placed through political influence, although not in need and not registered with the National Reemployment Service. All employees of the C.W.A. and P.W.A. who have gotten in through the "back door" of political influence, and who did not properly register with the Reemployment Agency and who are not in need, should be immediately laid off.

Editor, The Manassas Journal,

We are trying to make our "forgotten man" a thing of the past, but what of our forgotten woman? Who is she, and where is she to be found, and what are her most pressing needs? Is she young or old, and will we find her in the thickly populated centers, or far from the outside world and its complexities?

When we think of employed women, or those seeking it, there unconsciously comes to us a picture of youth and efficiency—but what of the woman, and every community has them, whom life has seemed to pass by, she has had no training in any special line of work, although she may be most proficient as a housewife, or one of many various branches of so-called woman's work that is useful, and necessary, but for which there seems to be no demand.

The chances are she lives in an isolated place where contacts with the outside world are infrequent, maybe the lack of newspapers have even made the stirring news of the day but vague rumors.

It is very true that telephones and radio and other marvels of the day have put even the remotest home in close contact with the world, but what of the countless homes that have none of the gifts of modern science—tens of thousands of humble homes more or less forgotten in the backwaters of our ruthless civilization.

In more prosperous days they were self-sustaining units of our various communities, but never equal to acquiring any margin of financial security or safety.

The men we meet, and know more of their problems, but the women, the majority stay at home. It is hard for a woman whose life has been spent entirely within the security of her own home to start out in quest of she hardly knows what, only conscious of the ever pressing problem of livelihood.

National Reemployment Offices should be alive to the fact that there is a very definite need to be met in caring for the woman who must be the wage-earner.

There is going to be a fund for supplying a woman in the various communities to take charge of that work, and to maintain a place where women will feel at ease to come and register and tell their needs, for the chance of interested consideration of the individual's problem is a big factor towards the success of adjusting and keeping an economic balance between worker and employer.

Let us seek out the forgotten woman! Assure her of our interest and efforts in her behalf, and do all in our power to creating and securing projects to fit her need.

There is the woman who has the care of small children, or of old people and invalids, and also the woman who is untrained for any work and feels herself a burden on her family. She may feel she is too old to be a wage-earner—she may not realize we are working for her as well as the men. Let us seek to know our women better, in doing so we will find humor and pathos and courage, and some real heroines, for it takes the stuff that heroines are made of to keep a spirit undefeated in the treadmill of petty cares and privations and futility of effort.

Let us make our offices the means of closer contact and after we find more definitely the needs and possibilities of the applicants, do our utmost towards opening up avenues of mutual helpfulness.

Facts And Figures On Your Telephone

By EDWIN F. HILL

Today one person in every hundred in the United States is either employed by the telephone industry or has money invested in it. This is an indication of the interest in telephone communication. There are now approximately 17,000,000 telephones serving every section of the country from which about 77,000,000 calls are made each twenty-four hours. Not only is there an exchange of communication between the telephone users of the United States, but the service has been extended to almost all of the leading countries of the world.

Edwin F. Hill

Canada, Cuba and Mexico, next door neighbors of this country, are connected by land lines or under-sea cables, while the leading countries of Europe, Asia, Australia, South America, Central America, the Hawaiian Islands and the Philippines are within reach of the Bell System network by radio telephone channels, which make it possible to exchange communications between more than 90 per cent of the total 33,000,000 telephones in the world.

Less than sixty years ago there was not a single telephone in existence. The first conversation between two telephones was held March 10, 1876. By 1880 the number of telephone stations in this country had increased to 30,872. Conversation was then limited to forty-five miles. In ten years the number of telephones had increased to 211,500 and the distance that the human voice could carry was 900 miles.

By 1900 long distance telephone communication had become more general and the principal cities, towns and communities of the eastern half of the United States could converse with each other, but it was not until 1915 that the continent was spanned. In 1921 telephone service was extended to Cuba, then in 1927 to Europe, and subsequently to far-flung outposts in almost every part of the world.

Communication moves forward and today people speak with each other almost everywhere.

HOW INDIVIDUALS BENEFIT FROM CORN-HOG PRODUCTION

How each farmer who agrees to corn-hog reduction may benefit from the plan, says George C. Herring, animal husbandman for the extension division, may best be shown by taking an individual case and working it out.

For instance, a farmer has raised during the base period 1932-33 an average of 40 acres of corn each year, and raised and marketed an average of 60 hogs. On the land he plans to rent to the government he has an estimated production per acre of 30 bushels.

A 20 percent reduction in corn acreage means he will plant only 32 acres in this crop next year. The other 8 acres will be rented to the government and put under contract not to be used for feed crops or any product which competes with any part of the reduction program of the adjustment administration. At 30 bushels per acre, he will, therefore, take out of production 240 bushels, for which he will receive 30 cents a bushel or $72. From this amount his share of the cost of operating the corn program of the production control association will be deducted. The farmer may, if he wishes, reduce 30 per cent or more, but payments will be made only up to 30 per cent. He must also agree not to increase his total crop acreage on any land owned or operated by him.

The 25 percent hog reduction to which the farmer agrees limits his marketings next year to 30 hogs; so that is all he need raise, except those for home use. Part of the 30 may be farrowed this spring, part next fall; but the total must not exceed 30 where the base is 40. If he has been buying feeder hogs, he agrees not to increase the number above his adjusted average for 1932-33. Having lived up to his reduction allotment, the farmer gets $5 a head on the number he is allowed to raise from his own litters, or $150 in this case. Expenses for operating the hog reduction part of the control association are to be deducted pro rata from this amount. The total amount this farmer would get for his reductions would be $222 less expenses, which should not be great in proportion to his returns from the plan; possibly 3 to 5 per cent.

FILM HIT CAPTURES COLOR AND GLAMOUR OF PRIZE RING

All the glamour, color and thrills of the prize ring are realistically on display in "The Prize-fighter and the Lady," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film coming to the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Monday.

Max Baer, who is paired with Myrna Loy in the new picture, proves himself as great a lover as he is a fighter and, according to reports, threatens to overthrow the standard movie meaning of the word "romantic." Tall, lithe and handsome, Baer's stature conjures up mental images of clean-limbed Greek gods and Socratic athletic students.

Wherever there is Baer, there is movement. He is never for a moment still. One watches him making love to beautiful Myrna Loy or battling with giant Primo Carnera in an epic ten-round fight and one wonders about the source of such tremendous energy.

And Baer is graceful as he is active. Tall, with extremely broad shoulders, he has a wasp-like waist and long, supple legs. This would seem to be the formula for gracefulness for Baer moves more like a dancer than anything else. Primo Carnera, by comparison, resembles a great bull elephant, but a very fast and dangerous-looking elephant.

On everyone's lips, as the crowd files out of the Dixie Theatre at the close of the opening-night performance of the new picture, will be the inevitable question: "Now who do you think will win the championship fight?"

The answer is difficult, personal, crowded with "ifs" and will not be attempted by this reviewer. Suffice it to say, instead, that Baer is exceedingly fast and Carnera exceedingly large and that it will doubtless be a great fight.

Because a great fight is on view in the picture. A great fight and a great love story. Against the background of thudding fists and the barking guns of Willie Ryan's gang of racketeers, W. S. Van Dyke, the director, has woven a beautiful, sensitive, fragile love story.

AMERICA'S "NEW DEALERS"

With Andrew Jackson, the fire-brand, came the rise of the common man, the people taking charge of government; with Franklin Roosevelt, the diplomat, comes the rescue of the "forgotten man," the Government taking charge of the people. The result of an interesting study contrasting the lives and methods of these two great American Presidents is contained in an article appearing in the magazine section of The Washington Star next Sunday.

Flying Into Antarctica!

ON BOARD THE BYRD FLAGSHIP, JACOB RUPPERT:— (By Mackay Radio) Whew! That was some crossing of the Pacific, wasn't it? From Norfolk, Va., to Wellington, N. Z., and then smack into the ice pack bordering on the great Antarctic continent (if it is a continent)—all in a week. Well, anyhow, here we are right in the middle of a most amazing world of icebergs, ice cakes, seals, whales and silly looking penguins! The sudden change from America and New Zealand is more than my mind can take in all at once.

In last week's story we were just leaving Norfolk. I have sent to the club editors by mail and radio twelve stories of our adventures on the long trip. You will probably never see those stories. Too much is happening with us and we've got to come up to date with this series right now.

Two great events occurred here on December 20 and 22. Admiral Byrd made a magnificent four-hour flight of discovery over the ice of the Ross Sea in the big Condor plane. And Klondyke had a calf! Some excitement!

First, I'll tell you about the Admiral's great flight on the 22nd. He had been dreaming this flight for years. Already our great steel ship had gone further south into the ice than any ship in history. Commodore Gjertsen advised retreating to open water. Admiral Byrd had seen a big open bay in the closely packed ice and we circled around to its entrance. Then he notified Harold June, chief pilot, William Bowlin, relief pilot, J. A. Pelter, mapper, and Carl O. Petersen, radio man, to get ready. In the most beautiful and fantastic scene ever dreamed of, the huge 6-ton Curtiss-Wright Condor plane was hoisted out on the big boom and dropped gently into the calm water and then the 46-foot Matthews motor boat cruiser was put over and took the plane in tow.

Under Commander Noville, executive officer, great red drums of Tydol gasoline were rolled up on deck and 400 gallons put into the plane by hand. Then the cruiser towed the plane out into the ice-lined bay and cast off. This was 10:30 a. m. Up and down the bay June ran the flying ship, warming the engines. Then, like a magnificent sea bird, she took the air and circled for almost an hour over the Ruppert, while compasses, radio and other equipment were checked and tested. At 11:40, the Admiral signalled "We are heading south," and off they went, at 1500 feet. It took only fifteen minutes for the Condor to disappear in the distance.

At 2:55 she was over the ship again after one of the most important exploration flights ever made from 66°31' South 149°5' West along the 150th Meridian to 70° South 350 miles further south than the record made by Captain Cook on the same meridian in 1773. Mark this on your map when you get it in the near future.

The Admiral saw no land, but he saw miles of open water behind an ice pack not nearly as big or tough as it was supposed to be. So with new flights for guidance, it may be that we shall get our big steel ship further south safely than was dreamed possible. It is now December 26 and we have drifted around for days in a thick fog.

And maybe this whole ship load wasn't excited about Klondyke last week (on the 20th). We had suddenly plunged into an ocean of icebergs. The first I had ever seen. Never will I forget it. We passed more than a thousand in sixteen hours—like huge ships or glistening apartment buildings. In the water between there were thousands of shiny white broken pieces of bergs. Admiral Byrd and Commodore Gjertsen told me they had never seen so many at one time in all their trips. The Admiral said, "Only an undulating and extensive barrier coast could produce bergs in such large numbers. Somewhere hereabouts is a barrier which may be considerably larger than the great Ross ice barrier fronting on the Ross Sea. If that's the case and we're lucky enough to find it, the eastward search for the coast of the Antarctic continent may be ended."

But at ten o'clock in the morning our thoughts were taken violently off of icebergs and everything else except Klondyke. At that hour she increased the population of the Byrd Expedition to the extent of one full-blooded Guernsey bull-calf. It was a hectic time on the Jacob Ruppert and it was a huge event for Messrs. Cox and Clark, two of our ex-Navy men. For weeks they had been consulting charts, calendars, the ship's log book and Captain Verleger, because they had promised the donor of our three cows that the first calf would be born within the Antarctic circle. This would have happened except for a couple of days of fog and the terrific gale that slowed us down last Sunday, and they missed it by 217 miles!

The happy event took place in the cow shed on deck next to the studio of David Palce, our artist. An able seaman, Fred Dustin, was first to know of it. We were all watching a berg four miles long when he yelled "Oh boy, oh boy, oh boy!" and went racing for the Messrs. Cox and Clark and Dr. Shirey, our medico. Commander George Noville tells me he is very fond of veal chops.

I understand the maps we are going to send without cost to every member of the Little America Aviation and Exploration Club will be ready by January 10th. Those already members will receive them automatically. Non-members should become members right away, at no cost, by sending me a self-addressed stamped envelope at the Club's American headquarters, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y., so they can mark this flight on the map.

ARNING EXPECTANT MOTHERS

If you have ever been a patient in any hospital, you are probably familiar with the advantages of a liquid laxative.

All doctors know the value of the laxative whose dose can be measured, and whose action can be controlled.

The public, too, is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have now learned that a properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement without discomfort at the time, or after. Dr. Caldwell's long experience with mothers and babies, and his remarkable record of nearly three thousand births without the loss of one mother or child, should give anybody complete confidence in any prescription which he wrote. But most important of all, gentle liquid laxative does not cause bowel strain to the most delicate system, and this is of the utmost importance to expectant mothers and to every child.

Expectant mothers are urged to try gentle regulation of bowels with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a delightful tasting laxative of herbs, pure pepsin and active senna. Not a single mineral drug to be absorbed by the system, or irritate the kidneys.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved preparation and kept ready for use by all druggists.

BYRD TO HELP VA. CATTLEMEN

Senator Harry F. Byrd has been in constant communication with the Secretary of Agriculture in an effort to improve the price of cattle as well as hogs. These two farm products have lagged behind in the general recovery of farm prices.

He has been assured by Secretary Wallace of the support of the Administration for an appropriation of two hundred million dollars to assist in the rehabilitation of the beef, cattle and dairy industries. The details of the proposal are now being worked out and a two hundred million dollar fund will be established and include the dairy industry when outlining a broad program of adjustment, which it is believed will be most helpful in the price of cattle.

It will be necessary, so Secretary Wallace says, to amend the Farm Adjustment Act, so as to include cattle as a basic commodity. This amendment was introduced by Senator Byrd on the first day of the convening of the session. Senator Byrd stated today that he felt confident that the amendment would be adopted and when cattle is made a basic commodity of the Farm Relief Act and the fund of two hundred million dollars established, he hoped that improvements would result in the cattle market. Senator Byrd began the fight last summer to improve the price of cattle and is continuing his efforts and doing everything possible to accomplish this result.

Kitchen Without Telephone Not Modern, Housewives Say

A Modern Kitchen. This housewife knows the answer to why a kitchen is modern. It has an extension telephone as well as many other conveniences.

A telephone "conspicuous by its absence" from a modern kitchen exhibit in the food and agricultural building of the Century of Progress Fair at Chicago was the subject of frequent comment by housewife visitors recently. An internationally known manufacturer had on exhibit a series of replicas of kitchens of other lands and in earlier times, contrasted with the attractive and well-equipped room in which the American housewife of today prepares her meals.

This present-day kitchen featured among other conveniences a telephone extension of special color to harmonize with the decorative scheme of the room, but for some reason the telephone had been removed. A hurry-up call to the Illinois Bell Telephone Company for another to take its place disclosed the fact that there was not an instrument available at the moment of the correct shade to harmonize with the kitchen's color scheme, but a standard black enamel set was promised within a short time. Groups of visitors in the meantime walking through the exhibit made frequent comment on the absence of the telephone, according to the exhibitors. "Your modern kitchen," commented one alert housewife, "certainly looks complete—except that it should have an extension telephone!"

"Would not a telephone be convenient in a kitchen of 1933?" asked another, in a tone which implied that she knew the answer.

"You have a radio, but no telephone!" objected a third.

Still others—dozens and scores of them—simply looked and asked with blunt emphasis: "Where's the telephone?"

Presently, the substitute instrument arrived and the flood of comments and inquiries ended—but not before the attendants at the exhibit had become thoroughly convinced that, whatever may be the things one may safely omit from a modern kitchen, the telephone is not one of them.

Insure Your Cake Success With Careful Measurements

"Half adage, 'You can't have too much of a good thing,' doesn't apply to cake baking. Knowing that baking powder leaves cake it is natural to assume that a teaspoon more will give a cake greater lightness. The sad, strange fact is that too much baking powder may cause sinking in the center, to a gummy crust, coarse, dry crumb, or cake that runs over the pan—a dismal cake failure.

Let us rule out cake failure by following two simple baking powder rules. First, always use amount recommended on your baking powder can. This proportion has been worked out as best for that particular baking powder. Second, measure carefully an excess of any type of baking powder gives undesirable results. A level teaspoon means that you must level off with a knife.

Make one of these cakes by these rules—you'll be surprised!

Caramel Layer Cake
(2 Eggs)
1½ cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons combination baking powder
1 cup sugar
½ cup milk
½ cup butter
2 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
Sift flour once, measure and add to powder, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, then flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375° F.) 25 minutes. Spread caramel frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake.

Creole Fudge Loaf
(1 egg)
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons combination baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well; then add chocolate. Blend. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in greased 9x5x3 inch loaf pan in moderate oven (325° F.) 1 hour. Spread boiled frosting on top and sides of cake. When frosting is set, pour on mixtures of 2 squares unsweetened chocolate and 2 tablespoons butter, melted, and chocolate run down over sides of cake. Double recipe for two large loaves.
