ASSEMBLY IN BIG BATTLE

Liquor Control, Redistricting, School Finance, Movie Taxation and Censorship Present Problems.

The General Assembly of Virginia has gotten down to business now that the new Governor has been inaugurated and is faced with some very difficult problems on which there is a wide difference of honest opinion. As expected the liquor control measure has presented great difficulty.

With strong sentiment for liquor control by a State Board, many details causes wide divergence of opinion. On account of the fact that Washington hotels may be permitted to sell hard liquor, the hotel associations of Virginia are urging similar legislation in Virginia for benefit of the tourist traffic. Otherwise, they stoutly maintain, the larger hotel institutions of Virginia will be faced with ruin. A very strong sentiment appeared in favor of liberality in the matter of beer and light wines, but restriction of hard liquors to sealed packages in State dispensaries.

The Redistricting measure continues to perplex legislators. No proposal satisfies everybody. The Holt Bill, however, seems to be satisfactory to a greater majority than any of the many proposals, has been advanced toward enactment, and it is freely predicted by disinterested observers that it will pass with no very material amendments. There seemed to be trouble about adding Wythe County to the Fifth and Goochland and Fluvanna to the Fourth. As the Holt Bill appears in its third reading the First and Second Congressional Districts remain unchanged. Goochland is taken from the Third, Cumberland and Fluvanna from the old Tenth and placed in the Fourth, Wythe transferred from the Ninth to the Fifth; Craig, Botetourt, Alleghany and the City of Clifton Forge go to the Sixth; Appomattox, Buckingham, Nelson, Amherst, Rockingham, Augusta, Bath and Highland and the cities of Staunton and Buena Vista to the Seventh.

To the Eighth District, which now includes such counties as Arlington, Fairfax, Prince William, Fauquier, Culpeper, Stafford and King George, are added Albemarle, Madison and Greene and the City of Charlottesville, the location of the University of Virginia. A number of amendments have been offered and killed, based upon the contention that the Holt Bill will, if enacted, also be found unconstitutional, but many believe that the Holt proposal comes as nearly within the Constitutional requirements concerning population as do the average congressional district apportionment throughout the country.

Senator John C. Mackall, of Fairfax, introduced a bill to make it obligatory to close the schools on General Lee's birthday. The proposal has met with a great deal of response as a measure suitably impressing the youth of the State as to the importance of Southern ideals.

The billboards are getting their usual lambasting, but whether they will show their customary vitality against regulation remains to be seen. The national billboard concerns have been losing ground all over the country since many manufacturers began to realize that in marrying the beauty of landscape they were creating ill will instead of promoting business.

The bill to abolish the office of Justice of the Peace in favor of county trial justices is meeting serious opposition.

A reorganization of the Movie Censorship Board has precipitated a fight on that agency, it being proposed to abolish it altogether. The board has been composed of R. C. L. Moncre, Edwin S. Reid and Mrs. Emma Speed Sampson. The Attorney General, who appoints the board, has recently requested the resignation of Mrs. Sampson and designated in her place Mrs. Elizabeth Chalkey, widow of the late Senator Chalkey, of Wise County. Out of the board's reorganization has come a strong effort to have it abolished.

Legalization of horse racing under the so-called Pari-Mutuel system of betting has gained far more support than in any previous session of the legislature. The Virginia Horse Breeder's Association has a bill, drafted by Delegate Hall, of Loudoun County, which is claimed will put horse racing upon a high plane, and eliminate the evils which have

A TRIBUTE FROM THE KIWANIS CLUB

It will be a long time before our meetings, or any other meeting where Bobbie Johnson attended as a member, will be the same to us. There will be some one missing whose friendship we prized, whose companionship we enjoyed, whose presence was a pleasure to us, and who was ever ready and willing to do his part in any of our undertakings. Not only among the members of the club will he be missed but his loss will be felt by everyone in the community. His friendliness, his sympathy, and his kindness had won him a place in the hearts of all who knew him—the smallest child and the oldest of us—and in the hearts of those of us who were daily associated with him there is a pain that will not be eased soon.

To his wife and children go our heartfelt sympathy and the assurance, and we hope consolation to them, that the ache in our hearts for him who will meet with us no more is as if we had lost a very dear brother—is for one whom we loved. Bobbie, we are going to miss you. Jim.

HOME CENTER IS ORGANIZED

Will Apply for Charter in Near Future.

Following a preliminary meeting at which a few interested citizens advised the plan of giving training in the useful arts, a general meeting was held at the Town Hall on Tuesday afternoon.

Professor R. C. Haydon called the meeting to order and Mrs. E. C. Spitzer read the minutes of the last meeting after Rev. Murray Taylor had given a short prayer for the success of the gathering.

Mr. Haydon explained many details to the group, laying out the need of industrial teaching and intensive farming projects. He then called on Hon. T. H. Lion to further explain the machinery of the plan.

Mr. Lion referred to the project as a "Home Center" for craftsmanship and vocational training. He stated that the initial step was to organize a charter body with a board of trustees or directors with terms of from one to three years. This board will draw by lot after the charter is granted, and after that time will determine its own membership.

Mr. Lion also stated that a committee of petitioners was necessary, and moved that such a committee be empowered to make such changes in the petition for a charter as might be recommended and which would meet with their good judgment and approval. This committee was nominated as on motion of D. E. Earhart, R. C. Linton, J. M. Taylor and R. D. Wharton.

On motion of Mr. Lion, C. C. Cloe was made president and Mrs. E. C. Spitzer, secretary. D. E. Earhart was named treasurer.

The following were named trustees: the entire Board of Supervisors, Mrs. Janie Abel, Miss Emily Johnson, Mrs. E. H. Hibbs, Mrs. Laura Seymour, Mrs. Frank McIntire, Mrs. Mattie Herring, Judge William Crow, G. C. Russell, Fred Lynn, Mrs. J. F. Hale, Mrs. Anita Piercy, Hon. T. H. Lion, E. M. Briggs, H. O. Russell, Miss Dulcine Brown, Mrs. M. J. Shepherd, Mrs. Daisy Douglas, and Mrs. Marion Lewis.

That the men from this Camp were chosen as having the best Company in Glacier National Park, Montana?

That from October 1 to January 1 they have completed sixteen miles of truck trails through the woods of Prince William County in order to facilitate transportation of fire crews through the county?

That they are constructing two fire towers, one in Prince William County and one in Fairfax County in order to have greater protection for Virginia's natural resources?

That they have removed six hundred and ninety-three acres of fire hazard by removing dead timber and underbrush?

That they are now working on one hundred acres of insect eradication on the Nypen Corporation Land in Fairfax County?

That the payroll and subsistence allotment runs over ten thousand dollars per month?

That the local business houses receive a goodly portion of this payroll every month in trade transacted with this camp?

That this camp expects to take first place among all the camps in Virginia?

That the work these men are doing and will do here in the future will benefit the people through conservation of their timber and restore wild life which has been diminishing through carelessness of fires and lack of prevention?

That you are welcome to visit this camp from 4:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. on week-days and from 12:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. on Saturday, Sunday and holidays?

That it is time for chow and we are going to quit this right now? So long, come up and see us some time.

E. R. CONNER TO PRESIDE

Farm Credit Group Applies for Charter.

Articles of incorporation for the District Agricultural Production Credit Association, to serve Prince William and nearby northern Virginia counties, were drawn up at the organization meeting at Warrenton Tuesday. I. W. Lightner, P. A. Lewis, J. J. Conner, T. O. Latham and E. R. Conner were named by the Prince William group attending to represent the county as incorporators in applying to the Federal Farm Credit Administration for a charter.

Seven men, one each from the counties, Fauquier, Prince William, Fairfax, Loudoun, Culpeper and Rapahannock, were elected who with one director for the area at-large, will comprise the Board of Directors of the Association. T. O. Latham was named by the Prince William group as the director from this county and E. R. Conner was unanimously elected by the farmers from the six counties as the director at-large.

The directors will meet at Warrenton next Tuesday to name a secretary-treasurer and perfect the final set-up of the association, soon after which it is planned to begin the making of loans. The initial capital is to be provided by the regional Production Credit Corporation of Baltimore. The association can discount acceptable notes up to approximately five times its unimpaired capital and the initial capital to be provided will make possible about $400,000 of production loans.

Borrowers who have not signed production control agreements will be asked to furnish satisfactory evidence that they plan no increase in production of basic agricultural commodities in a manner detrimental to the success of the production control programs.

DR. JOHNSON DIES SUDDENLY

Was Prominent in Life of Town and County.

Dr. C. R. C. Johnson, druggist of Manassas, died Tuesday, January 23, after an illness of but three hours. Closing his place of business he was taken ill at his home about 10 o'clock and did not regain consciousness. The end came about 1:30 a.m.

Mr. Fred Hynson, his nearest neighbor, summoned Dr. Marsteller who exerted every effort possible without avail.

The sudden death of one of the most beloved citizens of the county was the cause of much gloom Tuesday as news rapidly spread that he had passed away. His many associations with the civic and fraternal life of Prince William County, made his passing the occasion of widespread sorrow. His work while president of the Manassas Kiwanis Club in furthering the welfare of underprivileged children, was but one of many of the quiet ways in which he had worked faithfully to better conditions in the community.

Dr. Johnson was born at Pleasant View, near Lake City, Minn., in 1869 and was of a prominent old Virginia family. His brother was the original of Owen Wister's famous novel, "The Virginian."

He is survived by his wife and by two children, Mrs. Leonard Poor, of Jefferson City, Mo., and Clarke Johnson, of Chicago. A third child, Elizabeth, died several years ago. Doctor Johnson came to Manassas in 1908 where he became proprietor of the Prince William Pharmacy.

Funeral services were held this afternoon under auspices of Manassas Masonic Lodge, of which he was a member. Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, officiated at the home, and at the local cemetery the last rites were performed by the Masonic Lodge.

Honorary pallbearers were J. E. Bradford, Dick Haydon, Huntun Tiffany, F. R. Hynson, R. S. Hynson, C. A. Sinclair, H. T. Davies, Fred Dowell and R. A. Hutchison.

The active pallbearers were G. Raymond Ratcliffe, O. D. Waters, T. E. Didlake, A. A. Hoof, E. H. Marsteller and M. Bruce Whitmore.

CATHARPIN

Well we have a new word to con-jure with and for the past two weeks or so we have been so busy with it that we have not had time to attend any social functions much less to feed the chickens. While this new word had application only to the airplane it did not concern us much but when Henry and the other manufacturers began to apply it to the old model "T" we began to sit up and take notice. They now tell us that our cars are to be "streamlined"; think of it! When we first heard that the airplane was streamlined we thought it meant something about the propeller, or perhaps it might have been something wrong with the spark plugs; but now, that we are to be confronted with it on our automobiles, 'tis time we were knowing something about it, so we puzzled and puzzled until some one suggested that the fish was the most perfect example of streamlining in existence; but for the life of us we could not see wherein a fish and an automobile looked anything alike; so we are still more or less in a state of "coma" as we pursue our researches. In studying the fish we find he travels blunt end ahead, and his "chassis" maintaining a gradual retreat from front to rear and ending in a blind extremity at his tail. Not so the auto; the latest models, as the magazines show them, seem to begin their "retreat" amid ships and run fore and aft on both windward and leeward sides and crowning the whole with an upper-crust as smooth as a bald head, which to our bucolic mind, if it were painted alternate yellow and black stripes it would remind one of the pesky potato bug or a bean beetle. All these things that troubles us is the statement that the "streamlining" does not go into effect until the machine reaches a speed of 60 m.p.h. or better. Imagine that speed around Catharpin and we certainly will have your sympathy for our feverish haste in trying to solve the mystery. Can you help us out?

Little Patricia, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Briggs, was taken to the Naval Hospital on Saturday last and had her tonsils removed.

Mr. Etta P. Lynn has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Hill Akers of Rock Hill, during the past week and from reports these two sisters are having a great time together.

Miss Pitts, our county home demonstrator agent, visited Catharpin last week and arranged to have hot lunches served to the school children on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week with cocoa on Thursdays. The patrons of the school having prepared many cans of vegetables last fall suitable for soups which are now being used. Miss Adeline Polen has been engaged to superintend the making and serving so that no time shall be lost by either teacher or pupils during the preparation.

Services at Sudley which were discontinued during January on account of so much sickness in the neighborhood, will be resumed again the first Sunday in February, being the 4th of the month.

Mr. W. S. McCarty and his brother, Ben, of Delaplane were Lawn Vale visitors one day last week.

Mrs. Dr. Brower who has been confined to her room for some days suffering from an attack of flu, is much better as we write and is able to be around again. Also her little granddaughter, Bettie, is suffering from the same disease.

For the past several weeks the Catharpin and Sudley neighborhoods have had the unusual experience of a visitation from measles, chicken pox, whooping cough, scarlet fever and diphtheria; and while none of them were allowed to become epidemic yet the population went on guard lest the lighter diseases might, after all, develop into the more serious ones. At present all are convalescing and no further fatalities are looked for. The appearance of diphtheria will always call to mind the great epidemic of that disease some years ago during which scarcely a family escaped, and the fatalities were so great that as high as three children in a single home were lost before the disease could be arrested; in other words the disease had "run its course" stopping only as the "fuel" ran out. Fortunately, we of today are better trained and are able to meet emergency conditions and to successfully combat them.

The above recital seems to afford a splendid opportunity to mention a few things we are experiencing today which might not be appreciated as fully as they deserve until something like the above is called to mind for contrast. Things often come to us so easily and naturally that we sometimes neglect to be appreciative; so, "lest we forget" let us look into things a bit and see, for instance, just what is happening in our public schools and in our county activities in regard to the general health of the people. First of all it may be said that from the State Supt. of Public Instruction down through the county superintendents, school principals and teachers everywhere the factor of health is recognized as vital to the well being of the child and all are instructed and trained so that they may teach the laws of health, sanitation, prevention of diseases, and many other things of like importance too numerous to mention, so that the child, nowadays is fortified and equipped with a knowledge not vouchsafed to his ancestors of several generations back; hence the speed with which we of today are enabled to check a disease before it can become epidemic. Then again we have Miss Neel, our county nurse, looking after the health of people as well as children; also Miss Pitts, our county home demonstration agent, who, among many other things, is looking after hot lunches for the school children; and just recently Mrs. Robert Lewis, county welfare worker to look after the needy and indigent; so it seems to this column that Prince William County is being so well cared for along all lines in need of attention that an epidemic of any kind can be throttled before it can get under way. We feel that the citizens of the county have great reason to be thankful for all these health activities, and never forgetting the Board of Supervisors for making them possible. We should give them all our confidence and respect and never forget to express our appreciation for the good service they render. The conditions mentioned as happening some years ago could hardly happen today since all school officials, county agents, nurses and welfare workers are out to prevent such things before they can take root. So again we repeat that Prince William is mighty fortunate to have such competent people to head these activities; also is fortunate to have a Board of Supervisors who are public spirited and always ready to help worthy projects along. To all we say THANK YOU for your good work.

VIVID TALKIE DEALS WITH FATE THAT AWAITS FAMILY OF MAN SENT TO JAIL

When a man goes to prison his wife may wait one year, even two,
but seldom more than three.

All of the romancing and senti-mentalism that has been woven about the families of men in the "big house" can be reduced to just that iron formula. It is not a statement by any highbrow expert, but is the actual experiences of thousands of men "up the river."

Such is the basis for "Day of Reckoning," one of the most unusual prison stories ever to be brought to the Dixie screen in Manassas, opening next Wednesday, written by Morris Lavine, former newspaper man.
He represented one of Los Angeles' largest papers in the Hall of Justice for nearly twelve years. It was recently completed by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

Lavine's experiences with the operations of criminal justice in all parts of the United States provide a startling revelation of what really happens when a man is arrested and lodged in prison. Not the conditions that surround the prisoner himself, but the fate that awaits his wife and other members of the family.

In his reporting in many big cities, Lavine covered every type of case from minor offenses up to the most serious felonies. He watched the breaking of family ties through the course of justice that punished the offender but did not consider his home.

A determination to reveal the "other side" of a typical prisoner's life caused Lavine to write his observations in an original story soon to be published upon which the new picture is based. In addition to his experiences as a reporter, Lavine has also been a practicing attorney which gave him a thorough knowledge of all technicalities.

An exact duplicate of a large "tank" in the Los Angeles county jail was reproduced at the studio under Lavine's supervision. Tiers of cells with bunks, "hash wagons" and other details are included in the settings. As a contrast to the grim drabness of the prison, other settings represent an average American home that the prisoner has left behind.

Richard Dix heads the notable cast of players assembled to portray leading roles in the story. Supporting him are Madge Evans, Conway Tearle, Una Merkel, Stuart Erwin, and Spanky McFarlane.

THE MANASSAS SCHOOL FOR ADULTS

Of those who are attending the Adult School held daily in the Presbyterian Church, the average attendance is not quite 82 per cent of the possible attendance. This is believed very good when it is considered that the students are young men and women, who are using the little leisure they have away from their daily work, to put in a couple of hours a day at study. Two students have not missed a single session. There were three enrollments the last few days, and there are students who are actually attending and not those who promise to attend and then forget to come.

The two largest classes are these in business arithmetic and English, and there are a dozen in each class.

The classes in geometry, economics, algebra and trigonometry are making excellent progress.

The actual attendance now is within three of the allowed number. After this either those who are very irregular in their attendance may be asked to discontinue, or what is more likely, an additional teacher will be employed.

EXPLAINS GAS PRICE LEVELS

For the greater part of twenty years gasoline has been relatively the lowest priced of all the articles generally classed as necessities, according to Mr. V. H. Browne, local representative of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, who pointed out that the average price of gasoline would be more than 26 cents per gallon today if the industry had maintained service station prices at the 1926 level. Actually, however, the average price taken from 50 representative cities on October 1 was 21 cents, including tax.

"The motorist may not stop to realize it, but he is getting his gasoline at a much lower price than he pays relatively for any other necessary commodity," Mr. Browne explained. "The figures of the United States Department of Labor prove this. Using 1926 prices as a standard and giving them an arbitrary index number of 100, we find that gasoline prices, exclusive of taxes, were below 40 in August this year. That means that for 40 cents the motorist could obtain as much gasoline as he could for $1 in 1926, exclusive of taxes. On the other hand, farm products were just below 60 and the average price of all commodities was at 70.

"In the slow climb of prices out of the rut toward 1926 levels, gasoline starts from a lower base than any other necessity. Yet its recovery thus far has not been at a faster rate than that of other commodities.

"In the face of these facts it may still seem to the motorist that the price he pays for gasoline is not much lower than it was several years ago. However, that is due to the increase of gasoline taxes which have gone up as the price of gasoline has gone down. This is a factor beyond the control of the petroleum industry, but one which gives many motorists an erroneous impression of the price of gasoline."

Mr. Browne pointed out that increasing taxation had escaped the notice of the motoring public because the increase was over-balanced by the lowering of the refiner's price. The latter was brought about both by savings in gasoline manufacture and the general decline, according to Mr. Browne. The extent of this lowering is shown by comparison of the average price of 20.9 cents in 1926, exclusive of tax, with the present average of 14.4 cents, exclusive of tax.

"But despite this decline," Mr. Browne continued, "the increase in taxes has been such that a rise of a few cents, in keeping with increased costs and the general trend, appears to bring gasoline back to the 1926 level, whereas the amount which the refiner receives still is far below the 1926 level.

"It is our hope that the public will bear in mind that taxes alone may be held responsible for gasoline prices hitting the 1926 level."

New "Knee-Action" Chevrolet Gives Passengers Ride Like a Glide

In the design and development of the new 1934 Chevrolet, particular attention has been given to driver and passenger comfort, all annoying sensations of disagreeable sound and feeling having been eliminated. The upper photo shows the new Chevrolet coach with its long, sleek lines. Wind rush has been eliminated by the Fisher No Draft Ventilators and the new streamlined bodies. Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" wheels enjoy the advantage of being completely enclosed in a weathertight housing; the coil springs and shock absorbers ride in a bath of oil. William F. Holler, Chevrolet's general sales manager, is shown at the left looking at a chart which shows the internal construction of the system.

The driver and passengers in the new 1934 Chevrolet get a ride like the glide of an airplane. One of the main factors in improving the riding qualities of the new car to such a great extent is the "Knee-Action"—or independently sprung front wheels, to use the technical term.

So much has been written about independent springing that the public has doubtless concluded that it is something too technical to understand. As a matter of fact, there is nothing complicated about either the principle involved or the construction of the system. Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" enjoys the advantage of being enclosed in a welded weathertight housing in which the entire spring mechanism and shock absorbers ride up and down in a bath of oil.

An automobile gives a perfect ride when both the front and rear springs have the same "frequency," or tension. Actually this has been impossible to carry out in the past because the front springs had to be twice as "stiff" as the rear springs in order to hold the front axle, wheels and brakes in place. In independent springing, the wheels and spring mechanism are rigidly attached directly to the frame and there is no front axle. By relieving the front springs of the task of carrying wheels and axle, therefore, it became possible to make the front springs as "soft" as the rear springs. When the new Chevrolet strikes an irregularity in the road, both front and rear move up and down with the same frequency—there is no inclination on the part of the rear end of the car to leap into the air and throw the passengers forward and upward.

Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" has additional advantages all contributing to a comfort in riding never before thought possible in a motor car. There is a decided improvement in handling, steering, safety at high speeds and tire economy.

In design, the front spring is a neat, compact and efficient unit, as Mr. Holler points out in the above picture. The entire spring mechanism is attached rigidly to the frame. From this enclosed unit the wheels spring vertically at the ends of strong, steel horizontal arms.

WEEKLY LAUGHS

T. P. was sporting a beautiful black eye last week. He said he was fixing the fire and the poker slipped. T. P. should know better than to hand out a yarn like that.

Earl Wells says (I quote) "If any one knows of a good lawyer let me know. It has cost me $172 a year for 5 years for fines and costs. The law in Virginia strikes fast so this lawyer must live in or near Woodbridge so I can get him on short notice."

Robert Lee was involved in an accident Sunday on the Richmond highway with a car whose occupants are reported to have been members of some Welfare Society. Bob helped one young lady out of the wreck and she came out singing with a tambourine in her hand. After the collection Bob went home broke and all was well.

Norman Trifford is now known as the Woodbridge Clark Gable.

Billy Terrell and Jake Cooper motored in to Woodbridge last Saturday. On leaving both declared they had a fine time while in town.

TUGBOAT ANNIE AND RASPUTIN CHARACTERS UNITED IN 'HER SWEETHEART'

"Tugboat Annie" and "Rasputin" form the latest cinema team. Marie Dressler and Lionel Barrymore, together, come next Monday to the Dixie Theatre in "Her Sweetheart" (Christopher Bean), which marks their first appearance as co-stars.

The new picture, a vivid drama based on the famous New York stage hit, "The Late Christopher Bean," presents both stars in characters unlike any they have ever played. Miss Dressler enacts Abby, the faithful old servant. Barrymore is seen as the kindly country physician who under the lash of avarice turns to a scheming grasping scoundrel seeking to rob her—only to have the woman's faith turn him back again to his lifelong path of honor.

The unique dramatic twist in the gripping drama of New England made the play, with Pauline Lord on the stage, one of the most-talked-of offerings of the decade. It is the current stage sensation of Paris and London.

C.W.A. MUST BE EXTENDED

If there has been any justification for the Civil Works program, there exists the same justification for its continuance. Business conditions are improving, but any observer can see for himself, with only a casual survey of national conditions, that private employment cannot possibly absorb the C.W.A. workers as fast as they are going to be laid off, if additional funds are not provided.

Warm weather itself brings much relief and certainly until then the government should continue its present policy of Civil Works employment. Informed observers state that May 1 is the earliest date on which these emergency projects should be discontinued. This will be bad enough, but to begin now to lay men off at the rate proposed will certainly retard national recovery.

THE JINGOES AGAIN

The jingo campaign against the United States has been renewed in the popular Japanese press. The admirals and generals are now finding fault with the American Navy. They contend, in the words of Vice-Admiral Nobumasa Suetsugu, the commander-in-chief of the Japanese Navy, that "a self-sufficient country like the United States does not need to have the greatest navy in the world, such as she possesses today. That is nothing but a menace to other nations."

According to the Tokyo correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, the magazine article written by Admiral Suetsugu, "and a flood of similar ones, represent the answer of the Japanese 'big navy men' to observations of leading Japanese diplomats, business men and scholars, recently returned from the United States, that the United States was not even thinking of war with Japan. These observations have dissipated misgivings in the minds of so many Japanese that the 'big navy men' regard an answering campaign as necessary to assure continued public support for their policies."

It is so obvious that neither the government nor the people of this country want war with Japan that it is idle to labor the point. The Roosevelt Administration went out of its way to indicate that its recognition of the Soviet Union was not to be construed as an anti-Japanese move by ordering the removal of the Atlantic fleet from Pacific waters. The presence of the Atlantic fleet in the Western ocean had been a sore point with many Japanese, who were incited by militarists to believe that the United States was thus keeping its entire navy in readiness for an attack on Japan.

The President's order did more than anything else to allay the suspicions of the propaganda-ridden Japanese public. It helped to reawaken the liberal opposition to the militarists and imperialists for the first time since the fall of the Wakatsuki-Shidehara Government late in 1931. But, deprived of one of their strongest arguments, Japanese jingoes have redoubled their efforts to raise up the United States as a fearsome bogey. We on this side will hope that enlightened publicists and business men will be encouraged by the pacific policies of the Roosevelt Administration to continue their endeavors to dissipate the foolish fear of an American attack.

In this the Japanese moderates must have the moral support of the American Government. The demands of the Swansons for "a navy second to none," and the legislative proposals of the Vinsons and Brittons for a gigantic navy-building program, play into the hands of Japanese jingoes. There is no danger of war so long as responsible public men on both sides keep their wits about them.—Baltimore Sun.

GLASS SHOULD QUIT

The people of Virginia, who gave Mr. Roosevelt an overwhelming majority in the last presidential election, have also given loyal support to his administration and the policies it has advocated for national recovery. Some of these policies, it is true, have caused conservative citizens to gasp and those more conservative to shake their heads in grave doubt as to the final outcome of measures that were plainly revolutionary. Then came the proverbial second thought and the grim realization that nothing short of revolutionary measures would be able to save the nation from consequences too terrible to contemplate. So Virginians have trusted and supported the President, believing that his policies have been wisely shaped to insure the national safety and the welfare of the entire body of the American people.

We feel sure that we have correctly stated the attitude of the people of Virginia as a whole toward Mr. Roosevelt and his policies. Certainly the Democratic party of the state is almost solidly behind the President and few Republicans have seen fit to attack the recovery program. Newspapers have not hesitated to criticize the Roosevelt policies but the criticisms have been generally constructive and have carried no suggestion of disloyalty or hurtful opposition. The President's frank statement that his policies in many respects were necessarily experimental has been accepted at its face value. The people of Virginia trust Mr. Roosevelt because they believe his heart is with the masses who are struggling to live and because they believe his governmental policies are essentially sound.

It is exceedingly unfortunate and embarrassing to many Virginians that the outstanding opponent of the President's monetary policy and the figure around whom all the forces of discontent and reaction have rallied should be the senior representative in the United States Senate of a state that is thus wholeheartedly committed to the cause for which the President stands and the policies adopted for its achievement. This newspaper has already expressed the view that Senator Glass is unqualified, both by training and by reason of a fixed mind, adequately to represent Virginia in the Senate at this critical period of our national history and should relinquish his seat to someone else who can.

The senator thus would still be able to give full expression to his views on all matters through his newspapers and in person before the committees of the Senate and House. But he would be unable to vote and act officially contrary to the wishes of the people of the state he represents. There is scant likelihood, of course, that Senator Glass will follow this suggestion. It is well to record the fact, however, that his views are not the views prevailing in Virginia.—Northern Virginia Daily.

"TOMMY TUCKER" PARTY

A BIG SUCCESS

The party given by ladies of the Trinity Guild at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Ratcliffe was a big success, not only financially but socially. The evening was devoted to a real "party" like the boys and girls of the gay nineties used to enjoy and enjoy now. The "younger set" would profit if the "older set" would set the pace sometimes, and the "older set" would profit greatly also.

LET US SPREAD CHEER

This is the motto of the Reed and Wind Band of Linton Hall Military School, located four miles from Manassas.

The young cadets lived up to their motto in part Wednesday, January 17, the occasion being a visit to the District County Home near Manassas. The weather was ideal and the lads were quite excited making their preparations. At 2:30 p.m. the Linton Hall bus moved off with twenty-one happy youngsters and their instructors, instruments, including the drums.

At the Home the party was mostly graciously received by the matron, Mrs. Guthrie, R. N., and her mother, Doctor Robben. The inmates appreciated the music, without doubt, but only according to each one's capacity.

The boys had purchased candy bars and distributed them to each one in the building. Mrs. Neal Carney of Washington, an aunt of one of the boys, brought two beautiful cakes and Mother Alphonse, Superior at the school, contributed the fruit.

Following is the program, also the names of those participating in spreading cheer.

Yuletide Echoes, Jingle Bells, Adeste Fideles, O' Sanctissima, Silent Night, The Noel, O' Little Town of Bethlehem, Mutual March, Home, Sweet Home, America.

Those who participated are Louis Kengla, Kensington, Md.; Benoit Keogh, Grenville Keogh and Jerry Keogh of Lebanon, N.H.; Joseph Salm, Cairo, Egypt; Eugene and Mark McGrath, Cristobal, Canal Zone; Warren Reid, Francis Clairvaux, Page Porter, Leonard Doggett, Edmund Burgess, Thomas Gibbons, Francis Cromwell, John Buckley, Justin and Robert Harrison, all of Washington, D. C.; Edward Brennan, Beverly Farms, Mass.; Marcus Carroll, Margate, N.J., and Howard Sommia, of Richmond, Va.

WHAT BECOMES OF THE BABY MOVIE STARS?

What happens to the famous child actors and actresses of the celluloid world after they outgrow their babyhood and reach the "gangly" age? Take, for instance, the cases of Jackie Coogan, Wesley Barry, Baby Peggy, Ben Alexander, Dave Lee, Farina, Mickey Daniels, Joe Cobb and a few others. Big shots as children, many never "come back" as adults. That is the rule, but Madge Evans is the exception. The story of these child stars is told in an interesting article appearing in the Sunday Magazine of The Washington Star next Sunday, January 28.

NOKESVILLE BOYS WIN DISTRICT F TOURNAMENT

The basketball team representing the Nokesville Chapter of Future Farmers of America won the District F tournament which was played at Herndon Saturday night, January 20. The teams playing in this tournament were from Herndon, Lincoln, Nokesville and Dakton. This was the first in a series of games which have been scheduled between teams representing the boys taking Vocational Agriculture in the schools throughout northern Virginia.

The Nokesville team will enter the semi-final contest and meet representatives from the F. F. A. Chapter of Handley High School at Winchester in Marshall Saturday night, Jan. 27. The winner of this game will play in the final tournament which will decide the championship for northern Virginia. This final contest is scheduled for Winchester in the gymnasium of the Handley High School.

In order to enter a team in these contests, each group of boys taking agriculture in the high schools must be organized as a local chapter of Future Farmers of America and be recognized by the state and national organization. The team members must be regularly enrolled in a class in agriculture in the school represented. Each player must have a passing grade on at least three regular subjects in the respective school. Future Farmers all over the country are taking occasion at this season to enter wholesome recreational activities that will break the monotony of regular class room work.

The members of the Nokesville team are Beverley King, Joyce Garman, John Hively, Philip Reading and Vernon Wood. The following were used as substitutes: William Schaeffer, Allen Schaeffer, Harold Neff and Robert Nelson. The opposing teams offered close competition and played excellent games but the boys from Nokesville won due to their good organization and alert team work.

SPEED OF TELEPHONE MESSAGES INCREASED

Speed of telephone messages throughout the Bell System has been increased to such an extent that long distance connections are now completed on an average of 2.1 minutes as compared with 11.7 minutes ten years ago, according to a statement found in the current telephone almanac now being distributed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Telephone communication throughout the world is now available with all countries having 100,000 telephones, with the exception of China, Japan, New Zealand and Russia, the almanac shows.

Under each month's heading are dates of historical events such as the establishment of the first commercial telephone switchboard system in the world at New Haven, Conn., January 28, 1878. Establishment of the first central office in Maryland at Baltimore, January 1, 1879; in Virginia, at Richmond, April 1 of the same year; in West Virginia at Wheeling, May 15, 1880, and in the District of Columbia, December 1, 1878, are also interesting items.

One of the twelve historical events in the history of the United States which serves to illustrate the importance of communication is that a letter was sent by air from Philadelphia to Woodbury, N. J., January 9, 1793. The distance was fifteen miles and Joan Pierre Blanchard, a French aeronaut, was at the helm of the balloon, which was the first ascension of such an airship in the United States. Blanchard remained aloft forty-five minutes. He carried, along with other letters, one from President George Washington, calling on all citizens to "receive and aid him with that humanity and good will which may render honor to their country and justice to an individual so distinguished by his efforts to establish and advance an art, in order to make it useful to mankind in general."

16 High School Boys Earned $5,000 Last Summer

Youngsters of Aroostook County, Maine, Get Record Crops of Potatoes on One Acre Plots

MORE than $5,000 was earned last summer by 16 high school boys of Aroostook County, Maine, winners of the annual Agric Potato Growing Contest held by the high schools of the county. These boys, each working a one-acre plot of ground, raised a total of 8,701 bushels of potatoes, or an average of 543.8 bushels of potatoes per acre, which were sold at prices ranging around two dollars a barrel.

The crops of the high-school boys were considerably higher per acre than their fathers' yields in the famous Aroostook potato country, and were five times the national average crop per acre during the past five years. In addition to the fine profits made by the boys, they divided $450 in prize money that was offered in the contest by the American Agricultural Chemical Company. Some of the boys bought automobiles with their profits, others banked their gains as nest-eggs towards the purchase of a farms when they complete their education.

E. C. Cunningham, agricultural instructor in the Washburn High School in Aroostook County, and chairman of the committee supervising the contest, in announcing the 16 winners and their spectacular yields of potatoes, said that the remarkable record of the boys demonstrated unmistakably that farmers can get greater profits and earn a better living by using high grade fertilizers and improved cultural methods. Many farmers, he said, could cut down their acreage and by the adoption of intensive methods produce more potatoes at a lower per bushel cost than they are now able to do.

Although Aroostook County is one of the largest potato regions in the United States and big crops are the rule, the boys with their this year crop showed up their fathers in grand style, said Mr. Cunningham.

The largest yield on any of the one-acre plots was 594 bushels which was produced by Almond Edgcomb.

Food Market Advice

By ANN PAGE

THIS is almost certainly the busiest week in the whole year for the housewife. Three meals a day—last minute shopping, wrapping and mailing, and foregoing preparation for Christmas dinner and perhaps a party or two fill every minute.

Ample, wholesome meals may be quickly prepared and are a good means of getting ready to enjoy the holiday feast. The attractive prices at which various steak cuts are being offered give beef an extra appeal and they cook quickly. A thick broiled porterhouse or sirloin is a totally different seeming dish from pan-broiled round steak or braised chuck steak. When the week-end arrives a meat will be wanted for Sunday. Baked smoked ham is in a class by itself and it has the additional advantage of being delicious cold or when combined into entrees and other dishes. Portions of cold sliced ham and cold sliced turkey, are perfect for informal entertaining. Roast beef, roast lamb or roast fresh ham are equally good Sunday dinner suggestions.

Since there are three fast days this week it will be easy to fill in the week's menus with some of the many appealing fish and seafood dishes which this week's market makes possible. Why not serve oysters at least once? Some people like an oyster stew, some fried or scalloped oysters, some creamed oysters in short cake or patty shells and some plain pan-fried oysters. Fish fillets are versatile and are equally at home pan-fried, fried in cream, in cheese sauce, in Spanish sauce or with Hollandaise. If no other type of fish were available there would be need to tire of this one.

To help Santa Claus fill Christmas stockings there are shiny red apples, juicy oranges, yellow bananas and loose skinned tangerines. These fruits together with grapefruit, Emperor grapes and nuts and possibly a spiny topped pineapple will also make a gay fruit centerpiece for the table.

When you are serving fluffy white mashed potatoes a colorful second vegetable helps to make your dinner service more appetizing. The outstanding green vegetables available are spinach, broccoli, green beans and peas and Brussels sprouts. Carrots, rutabaga turnips and winter squash come in shades of yellow and orange and offer a warm crimson. When you are serving sweet potatoes you can serve white vegetables such as cabbage, celery, onions and cauliflower. The whiteness of vegetables can be gotten around with the help of paprika, chopped parsley, or any of the colored sauces or by scalloping and browning in the oven.

At present tomatoes are relatively scarce and expensive. Lettuce is cheap so that you can serve your family hearts of lettuce with a dressing which combines chili sauce or ketchup with salad dressing and chopped olives for a pleasant change. Celery is fine in quality and plentiful. The relish dish of celery and olives deserves a more frequent place on your dinner table than Sundays and holidays but is never omitted on Christmas if one can judge by market demands.

Mushrooms are not important from the standpoint of nourishment but they add greatly to the flavor and attractiveness of many dishes. Sautéed whole or sliced they go perfectly with steak if you do not insist on onions instead.

ALONG THE WAY

By Inno McGill

The first coal ever mined in the United States was dug near Richmond, Va. Bituminous coal was mined there as early as 1700, and in 1775, was extensively used in that locality. During the Revolution, a Richmond foundry employed this coal in making shot and shell for the Continental forces. From its use as a local product, gradually it obtained a national renown and, in 1789, it was being sent to Philadelphia, New York and even to Boston.

The Railroads: People readily forget favors; so, forgotten are the days when the headlight of an engine was a star of hope. Ages ago, when it threw its first beams across the prairies, the pioneer knew that he was no longer alone. The engine lessened the distance that separated him from his old home and his fellow men.

It carried to his door the things that conduced to his comfort, and gave him markets that doubled the value of his crops. It increased the value of his possessions. It delivered seed for his fields, books for the children, papers for the long, prairie evenings and, bringing friends to his home, made the city within reach of his farm. The railroad was the key that opened the door of the West and the door to opportunity.

Now, we forget—forget the things that the railroad helped us to build and to make, and we should drive the old benefactor to the wall. We tax him to poverty. We shake our fists in the face of the headlight and we see in his progress and expansion only a menace. We encroach on his right-of-way, and we would, if we could, drive him, with our motor vehicles, from the tracks he has built.

Let us think of the days in the distant past when the railroads were needed and the railroads came. If we cannot be grateful, let us at least be fair. Fairness is a little thing, after all, but an old friend would be glad to have it.

DASHING COWBOY FAVORITE SHOOTS WITH KNUCKLES INSTEAD OF GUN

Discarding the trusty six-shooter, which have stood him in such good stead during his entire western career, Bob Steele comes to the screen of the Dixie Theatre in Manassas once again with his fists as his only weapons in "The Fighting Champ," scheduled for Feb. 2 and 3.

The Monogram star still retains the western locale of his former triumphs, however, appearing this time as the hard-hitting young ranch foreman who punches his way into a job and into the doubtful opportunity of meeting a barnstorming fight champion. His fistieuffs do not stop with the big bout, however, as Steele fights his way through the smashing finish to win the heart and hand of the pretty sister of the ranch-owner who first hired him.

Confronting Steele in the thrilling three-round bout that furnishes one of the big "punches" of the picture is Kit Guard, former star of "The Leather Pushers" series, while his other principal opponent is Charles King, as a crooked ranch foreman. Others in the excellent supporting cast are Lefe McKee, George Hayes, Frank Ball and Henry Roquemore, while Steele's new leading lady is none other than pretty little Arletta Duncan who has previously been seen in "Frankenstein," "Back Street," "Night World" and "Racing Youth." "The Fighting Champ" was directed by J. P. McCarthy from the original screen play by Wellyn Totman, author of more than a score of successful westerns.

ROCKINGHAM CO-OPERATIVE FARM BUREAU SERVES VALLEY FARMERS

The Rockingham Co-operative Farm Bureau recently completed twelve years of service to the farmers of the county in marketing livestock, wool, and grain and purchasing for them such supplies as seed, feed and fertilizer. This large and efficient co-operative was organized in the fall of 1921 with a membership of approximately 270 farmers. At the present time the membership numbers 1300 and 1400 farmers who are paying $6 a year dues to their co-operative. This money is placed in the capital fund of the organization and is used to finance its operations so that it is able to operate on a strictly cash basis and take all possible discounts for paying cash on delivery for supplies in handles for the members. The net worth of the business is approximately $100,000 and this belongs to the members in proportion to the amount of membership dues they paid during the period of their membership.

The first year that the Rockingham Co-operative Farm Bureau operated it shipped only an occasional car of livestock for the members and purchased a few cars of supplies for the members on orders. All supplies had to be paid for as taken direct from the car door. The secretary-manager was employed only five days a month. At the present time the organization is making weekly shipments of livestock for its members and operates a central warehouse at Harrisonburg with branches at Bridgewater, Elkton and Timberville to provide supplies for the members at convenient places. It requires a staff of about 25 people to handle the approximately three quarters of a million dollars of business the co-operative does during a year.

The livestock shipping activities of the organization are of real service to the members and a benefit to the farmers of the county. The co-operative keeps posted on the daily prices of various types of livestock on the Lancaster and Baltimore markets so that the members can determine for themselves whether they can probably obtain more for their stock by shipping it co-operatively to the Eastern Co-operative Livestock Marketing Association at Baltimore or sell it to one of the local buyers. The service rendered by the co-operative has stimulated the local buyers to pay very close to the central market prices.

Each spring the Farm Bureau handles the selling of the wool for such of its members as wish to participate in a co-operative pool. In years past most of the wool has been pooled thru the United States Growers Co-operative and the participating farmers have received the average price at which wool sold during the season, which has frequently been several cents above the local price at shearing time. Last spring the United offered the members of the Farm Bureau the alternative of putting their wool into a seasonal pool, or selling it in a cash pool for 31c, the buyer to pay for it delivered to the car at local shipping points on the county. The farmers voted for the cash payment pool and the Farm Bureau handled over five carloads of wool for them at prices 5 to 6c a pound above the local market offerings. The purchasing activities of the Co-operative have expanded to large proportions. It purchases feeds, salt, oyster shells, tires, gasoline, oils, hardware, fencing, roofing, harness, cement, fertilizer, grass and other seeds sugar and flour, etc. for its members. In the spring and summer of 1932 the Farm Bureau built a new headquarters warehouse in Harrisonburg 150 feet by 50 feet, two stories and a basement of fireproof brick and cement construction. It is known up and down the Shenandoah Valley as the House Co-operation Built.

The Rockingham Co-operative Farm Bureau has had a strong board of directors and leaders from its very inception. The first president was G. F. Holsinger of McGaheysville who resigned in 1928 to become president of the Virginia Farm Bureau Federation. He was succeeded by D. C. Acker, of Broadway who had been vice-president. Much credit for the success of the co-operative in a business way belongs to the manager, C. V. Smith. Writing about the organization in 1928, S. M. Cox, the county Agricultural Agent, wrote, "Any discussion of the Rockingham Co-operative Farm Bureau and its wonderful record of business achievement would be incomplete without making special mention of C. V. Smith, who has been manager ever since the organization was started. Mr. Smith is a sound and conservative business man. His efficient management has been largely responsible for the business success of the organization. He has always kept in mind that his organization stood for service to its members at the least possible cost. Under his management this co-operative has handled various commodities for its members on perhaps the smallest margin of expense to the organization of any co-operative in Virginia. The splendid work of this organization, thru its board of directors and officers, has saved the farmers of Rockingham county many thousands of dollars."

The members of the Rockingham Co-operative Farm Bureau believe in co-operation. Many of them are also members of the Valley of Virginia Co-operative Milk Producers Association which markets their milk. The great majority of them have loyally supported their organization with their patronage and have co-operated with the directors and management to make the farm bureau the outstanding institution that it is.

A Musical Comedy Bird!

ON BOARD THE BYRD FLAGSHIP, JACOB RUPPERT—(Via Mackay Radio). "Today your lives were in the hands of God and the engine room. If either had failed, you would all be dead men tonight!"

This is what Commodore Gjersten told us at dinner tonight (December 26) and it made me realize more than anything that has happened since this trip began, what deadly realities we are up against.

For four days we have drifted around in the fog, half the time with a howling northwest gale trying to destroy us. It is getting cold as the deuce. And if we had anybody less experienced and cautious than Commodore Gjersten, a small but amazingly forceful Norwegian ice expert, and Captain Verleger

Medical Officer leading our great G. O. Shirey ship through what must be the world's most dangerous waters, the gale would have accomplished its purpose against us—the gale and the icebergs. We have not been able to see more than three miles since last Friday and usually only a few hundred yards. And we've made only 56 miles since noon Saturday. Thousands of icebergs go plunging past us in the gloom—some of them five miles long, two or three miles wide and estimated at 1,000 feet or more from high tip to submerged bottom. If we ram our 11,000 ton ship into one of them or run over the submerged part of it—well, the Titanic did that, you know. Or if one of them rushes at us out of the invisible distance and crashes into the side of our ship, it will be just too bad. But our wise and able skippers know their stuff and are performing miracles of judgment and seamanship every minute every day.

This morning, however, they met an enemy they hadn't counted on—water—water in the oil. In the midst of our work of dodging these moving ice mountains, stopping to let them drift by, or dashing out of their way, the engine room reported that some water which had leaked into the starboard tank had risen through the oil, had been pumped under pressure to the burner nozzles and had extinguished the flames which keep us going by making our steam. By the time Chief Engineer Queen had switched to the port tank and had begun to revive our lost steam pressure, our ship had lost practically all of her headway and for more than an hour we drifted in a 50-mile gale almost helpless. Then the steam returned and we resumed our game of tag with the strange moving city of ice. It made us think serious thoughts.

I have learned, to my surprise, that ice is a noisy thing. The waves, as they splash against these mammoth bergs, eat great holes in them, in which the plunging water roars in a thousand hollow keys. The smaller bergs and cakes, as they gallop by us or we push our way through "leads" in their tightly packed mass, give out strange growling sounds and the constant ringing of the bell signals from the bridge to the engine room, all help to make it anything but quiet around here.

Speaking of sounds, I had a funny experience today. I was leaning over the starboard deck rail looking at the restless sheets of ice as we ploughed through them. No one else was on deck. Suddenly, from some place off the ship, I heard a gruff voice yell, "Hey! Hey!" I saw nobody. Again it was repeated. I crossed to the port rail in time to hear the angry call right below me. And there on the ice was a small Adelle penguin, about 18 inches tall, running along on the drifts with a perfect Charlie Chaplin waddle, keeping up with the ship and turning his head every few seconds to look up at us angrily and cry, "Hey! Hey!". Just as a farmer might shout at boys stealing apples. He was protesting this steel monster blustering through his icy domain. And as I watched him, he dropped over and started to toboggan along on his breast, pushing himself along frantically with his flippers and sculling with his feet. Then he became upright again, running alongside, glaring at us and yelling "Hey! Hey!" He was a scream.

We had a swell Christmas. Gifts from the home folks—music—songs—a grand dinner with turkey and wonderful fixings. All our troubles forgotten for a few hours. I hope all members of our club had as pleasant a Christmas and that we shall have a happy and interesting new year together. They tell me the maps we are sending to all members, without charge, will go to them in a few days now, so they can mark on them the wonderful flights and other exploration trips Admiral Byrd and others are going to make. If you're of high school age or over and aren't a member yet, you can become one right away, with no obligation of any kind, by writing me at the Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y., enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope.

INCREASES IN JOB PLACEMENTS

U. S. Re-employment Service Finds Work for Many.

From the local office of the National Re-employment Service at Haymarket comes information that placements have increased. In unofficial language this means that more people are being placed in positions to earn their livelihood.

Mr. Henry C. Dulaney, who is in charge of the National Re-employment Service for Prince William County, stated Wednesday, Jan. 17, that the total placements to date had been 183 and that registrations continue to pour in.

"As the President's program in its various branches becomes better adjusted," Mr. Dulaney added, "we hope for a constant increase in the number of placements and with them, fresh hope and courage. These days are a real challenge to all of us who are in any way connected with this vast work of bringing order and prosperity back to a population that was perilously near to desperation—a challenge to give one's best and stand firm against the besmirching of the policies that we are here to uphold against any personal or political coercion."

The National Re-employment Committee of Prince William County is composed of Mr. C. B. Roland, chairman; J. Murray Taylor, Mrs. Ruth Lloyd, Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson, Mrs. E. L. Herring (Independent Hill), Mrs. E. C. Spitzer (Nokesville). This group composes the executive committee and there are sub-committees for the various communities.

The Re-employment Committee does not place people in position, but furnishes a supply of eligible persons to the various agencies which are employing people. If the Civil Works Administration (C.W.A.) or the Public Works Administration (P.W.A.) or private employers need help, they ask the National Re-employment Committee to furnish names and they make the selections. It is important, however, for those seeking jobs to be registered with the National Re-employment Service. Otherwise they will not be eligible for employment.

Those seeking key positions, such as foreman, timekeepers, etc., should also file their names with the National Re-employment Service and ask the agency where they wish to be employed to call for them from the Re-employment Committee.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by F. D. Cox

The signing up of the Corn-Hog contracts will start Saturday, January 27, at the office of the county agent.

The preliminary work sheets, evidence forms, and form on which to draw farm map should be filled in as completely as possible and this information brought to transfer to the contracts.

We have tried to get information concerning the plan and the forms to all growers but should you have been overlooked please call or write at once.

The time limit for signing corn-hog contracts has not been set, but it is hoped that all who plan to sign will do so as soon as possible, since growers in counties first completing the sign-up should be the first to receive their adjustment payments.

RESULT OF CHEST CLINIC HELD ON JANUARY 23

At the chest clinic held at Manassas on January 23, nineteen adults were examined by the State specialist, and five were found to have the disease. Seven were suspicious.

These cases were referred back to their family physician for advice and treatment. Some of them will doubtless go to the State sanatoria, but most of them must remain at home. Doctors report that it is easier to get well at a sanatorium because people at home do as they please and not as the doctor advises. The advice of the family doctor if followed out in the home is just as effective as the advice of a doctor at a hospital. People with tuberculosis should realize this when they must remain at home with the disease, act sensibly and obey the doctor. Medicine is not needed. Plenty of rest, good food, and fresh air will work the cure if they begin soon enough.

Browned Pears Garnish the Crispy Roast

By Caroline B. King
 Home Economics and Culinary Authority

"EAT" appellation your roast goose over" goes a nice old saw which we observe as conscientiously today as did those old housewives of a hundred years ago. Just so, we serve cranberry sauce with turkey, and currant jelly with lamb without any knowledge of why we do so other than that custom has so decreed and that the sweet provides a combination pleasing to the taste.

But there is a very real reason why such fruit sweets with meats should be far more popular than they are, a nutritional reason as well as an appetite appeal. The fruit really complements the richer qualities of the meat, making it more easy for the system to assimilate. Therefore, if we are wise and discriminating purveyors to our families, we will see to it that some fruit always garnishes our roasts or steaks or sausages or chops, and let me say right here that the dish so dressed will be most attractive and exciting, as well as far more delicious than when it is merely decked out with a spray of parsley or cress.

Roast Beef with Browned Pears is a popular dish wherever it is served. It is delightfully savory, and novel enough to please the most modern of hostesses. Select your favorite beef cut, a rolled rib, or a sirloin or pinbone roast, rub it with a damp cloth, season with salt, pepper and a teaspoonful of sugar, dust with flour, and place in a hot oven 450 degrees to sear on all sides. Then lower the heat slightly, add 1 cup hot water and continue to cook in the usual way until neatly finished. Allow 15 minutes to the pound for a rare, 20 minutes for a medium roast. Meantime drain the juice from a No. 3 can of large halved pears, wipe the fruit and sprinkle lightly with sugar then with flour. Arrange about the roast. Baste with the fat in the pan and cook until the fruit is nicely browned. When serving, arrange the pears as a garnish about the roast, interspersing them with slices of scarlet canned pimiento. Add 1 cupful of the juice from the pears to the fat in the pan when making the gravy.
