RAILROAD FILMS SHOWN KIWANIS

Newest Wrinkles in Transportation Featured.

The main feature of last week's meeting of the Kiwanis Club was the showing of several excellent reels of railroad films featuring the latest type of high-powered locomotives in Canada. There were also some excellent scenes depicting sporting life and agriculture in Canada. Mr. Robert Weir officiated and Mr. Bill Lloyd of the local high school faculty operated the reel.

An interesting fact was developed in Mr. Parrish's report of the Kiwanis activities at the Bennett School showing that a number of the children had gained materially in weight since Christmas; the average gain being about three pounds.

Announcement was made of the fact that Kiwanis ladies' night would be held in the parish hall on March 9.

On Tuesday afternoon five of the Kiwanis journeyed to Fredericksburg to attend an inter-club meeting at which numbers of the Charlottesville and Ashland clubs were also present. Ray Ratcliffe had a good opportunity to do some song leading and Bob Hutchison was introduced to a real mustache. The international president will be at Fredericksburg in the near future and an invitation has been extended to the local club to meet with them on that day.

SENATOR BYRD GETS RULING

Succeeds in Efforts to Aid Hog Farmers.

The processing tax on hogs which became effective in November carried no provision for exempting small quantities of pork which farmers or others might sell or exchange locally. It was felt by many that this worked a hardship on the farmers and those who had only a small number of hogs raised mainly for home use, but from which they might have a small surplus to sell or exchange.

Senator Harry F. Byrd has been endeavoring to have the regulations of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration amended exempting a reasonable amount of hog products from the tax, and has been in touch with the Department of Agriculture urging that this be done. His efforts have been successful, and the Department has now issued a ruling exempting from the processing tax 300 pounds of such products sold by a producer during any one year providing his total sales do not exceed 1,000 pounds. The regulations provide as follows:

"No tax is required to be paid on the processing of live hogs or corn by or for a producer, for consumption by his own family, employees, or household.

"No tax is required to be paid by the producer who slaughters his own hogs and who, together with his own family, employees, and household, sells or exchanges not more than 300 pounds of the products derived therefrom during any marketing year, provided he does not sell in excess of 1,000 pounds of such products. If the producer sells more than 1,000 pounds of the products derived from his hogs, during any marketing year, he loses this exemption."

In the case of corn, no tax is required to be paid upon the grinding of one bushel of corn, or less, per week for the producer therefor, regardless of the purpose for which ground. No tax is required to be paid upon the grinding of corn for feed purposes only.

The exemption on hog products referred to is effective as of November 5, 1933, the date on which the first marketing year for hogs began. This, of course, applies to hog products. There is no tax on live hogs.

FORMER MANASSAS BOY HONORED

Ralph K. T. Larson, of the news and editorial staff of The Virginian-Pilot, Norfolk, for the past nine years, has been elected treasurer of the Norfolk-Portsmouth Chapter of the Newspaper Guild of America. He formerly made his home in Manassas, where he attended the graded and high schools.

Mr. Larson's editorial paragraphs have gained considerable attention. Two of his paragraphs were reprinted under "Topics in Brief" in last week's issue of The Literary Digest.

NOTICE

The Manassas Chapter, U. D. C., will meet Wednesday, March 7, at 2:30 p.m., at the Prince William Hotel, Mrs. R. S. Hynson and Mrs. James Dorrell, hostesses. The meeting will begin promptly at 2:30 p.m.

RED CROSS NEEDS HELP

Local Contributions Are Still Desired.

While the sale held in December of 1933 is about $6,000 behind that of the previous year according to the statement of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, returns are not yet complete and it is hoped that this amount may be made up through late contributions. The returns to date amount to $58,185.22.

Forty-five counties and ten cities show an increase over the 1932 sale, and that the sale is not so large for the State as a whole is due to the fact that several places were unable to raise as much as formerly on account of economic conditions.

The calls for assistance for tuberculous patients and measures to prevent the spread of the disease are greater than ever before, and Rev. A. S. Gibson, chairman for Prince William, urges all who did not contribute and can afford to do so to send in a contribution to the seal sale, for the year's work is just beginning and the funds in hand are insufficient to meet the need.

The seal sale in Prince William county is $448.99 but a number of those to whom seals were sent have not yet responded, and it is hoped that they may yet wish to have a part in stamping out tuberculosis in their community. The sale last year was $457.31 and it is hoped that enough contributions will still be received to at least bring the sale this year up to that amount.

LINTON HALL BOYS HOLD UNIQUE VALENTINE PARTY

As St. Valentine's Day fell on Ash Wednesday this year, the boys at Linton Hall held their celebration some days previous to the 14th.

They called it a party, and it was a boy's conception of a good time—lots of noise, loads of eats, and freedom.

The 8th grade boys were in charge and gave evidence of their budding business ability. The school had just fitted up the auditorium with new party a sort of combination fair and chairs, so the young lads made their cafeteria; then they invited their parents, relatives and friends. The attractions were a lunch counter, and who will say this was not popular?—hot coffee, chicken sandwiches, "hot dogs" and rolls, soft drinks and ice-cream cones, candy counter, shooting the dart in the Cupid's heart, and several tables of bingo. An unusual attraction was a hand-made slumber robe, a beautiful piece of work. This article was held over to be raffled off presumably on Field Day.

The parents seemed to enjoy the two hours of the boys party as much as the boys themselves, and the proceeds helped a little in these depression days. At all events, the boys enjoyed their 1934 Valentine party at Linton Hall.

ON CAPITOL HILL

Latest News on Congress and Our Congressman.

Direct from the Press Gallery.

A plan of price relief for the dairy industry is the goal of an unofficial committee of members of the House from the principal milk producing states who have revolted against the policies of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Leading the fight is Representative Howard W. Smith, Democrat of Virginia, whose district comprises a large part of the Washington milk shed. He has been named chairman of the committee. Representative Francis D. Culkin, Republican of New York, is secretary.

The dissatisfaction in Congress with the policies of officials of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration came to a head several days ago when a group of House members from the country's chief dairy regions got together for a conference. As a result, it was decided to organize and work out a program designed to remedy existing conditions.

Thirty members of the House attended this conference, and, according to Mr. Smith, "voiced many complaints against the policy, or lack of policy, of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration from the time of the signing of the Act to date."

"The most vigorous objection, however, was made against the present attempt of these officials to reduce prices which are now being received by producers who supply fluid milk and cream to the urban markets. This attempt is in the form of applying a new fangled formula which producer representatives from coast to coast have asserted to be impractical and objectionable and below both cost of production and pre-war parity."

"Such an effort was generally agreed to be in contradiction of the spirit and purpose, if not in direct violation of the law itself. After a thorough canvass of the situation the consensus of the group was that the duty of the Secretary of Agriculture is to raise the price of all dairy products as rapidly as possible to the pre-war parity basis prescribed in the Act, and that he should not in any way countenance any reduction of producer prices which may obtain in any branch of the industry when these prices are not in excess of the parity basis."

As chairman of the unofficial committee, Mr. Smith appointed two subcommittees, one to bring about a full attention of all members of the House from the dairy districts of the country to existing conditions, and the other to prepare a program of action with a view to effecting a stable policy.

The subcommittee on arrangements is composed of Representatives Joe H. Eagle, of Texas; Harold Knutson, of Minnesota; and Monrad C. Wallgren, of Washington. On the policy subcommittee are Representatives Robert Ramspeck, of Georgia; Russell Ellzey, of Mississippi; Daniel A. Reed, of New York; Charles A. Plumley, of Vermont; Frank H. Buck, of California; George W. Blanchard, of Wisconsin; and Tom D. McKeown, of Oklahoma.

"Built Up" Like Garbo.

Members of Congress have been greatly amused during the week at newspaper stories about the woman member of the House from Indiana, Mrs. Virginia E. Jenckes, who, it is reported, engaged a publicity man to further her political ambitions.

Everything would have been all right had not the publicity man boasted in the presence of a newspaper woman that he proposed to "build up" Mrs. Jenckes like Greta Garbo was "built up" by publicity. That mere statement was used by the reporter to build up a swell story.

Now, the publicity man denies having made the statement, and Mrs. Jenckes denies she has a publicity man.

"I am my own manager and my own publicity man," she declares emphatically.

Nevertheless, newspaper correspondents who call at Mrs. Jenckes' office seldom see her, but are referred to her publicity man, who incidentally bears the title of "legislative advisor." These same newspaper correspondents also know that by whatever title the publicity man uses, he has been most prolific, and that Mrs. Jenckes has been kept constantly in the public limelight.

The Cotton Control Plan.

Keen political observers see in President Roosevelt's approval of applying compulsion to the cotton acreage reduction campaign a step toward his national land campaign now under consideration by a cabinet committee.

The plan is said to be constructed around the development of the National principal watersheds with the Tennessee Valley project as a model. It involves flood control, prevention of soil erosion, reforestation, elimination of sub-marginal lands, decentralization of industry, and manufacture of hydro-electric power.

Supporters contend that unless the Government can control the production of cotton and other major crops, the plan cannot be made a success.

Persons desiring establishment of fire lanes and the reopening of abandoned sawmill roads for such purposes should not leave it to the warden to secure easement privileges but should contact directly with Mr. Russell and furnish all the information he desires and also secure permission to carry these lanes through lands of non-resident owners.

Such co-operation will bring the workers to your premises more quickly.

HERRING ATTACKS COLLEGE COSTS

List of Unnecessary Expenses Is Read by Delegate.

George W. Herring, vigorous representative from Stafford and Prince William in the Virginia House of Delegates, launched a broadside against what he terms unnecessary expenditures at State institutions of higher learning in the House of Delegates recently, the attack of Mr. Herring bringing on a long debate.

"We are all for the governor's program and are backing the free public schools 100 per cent," he said, "and we don't want to see State money wasted at the institutions of higher learning."

Mr. Herring read a list of expenditures totaling $4,000,000 which he said he regarded as unnecessary.

He criticized Richmond newspapers and said he was going to issue a statement at the end of the session saying how the members feel.

W. Stuart Moffett of Staunton said the list of expenditures Herring had read, amounting to $4,000,000, had misrepresented a bill he supported at the special session and therefore had misrepresented him. He said perhaps the Richmond newspapers had more information than Herring and that this might account for their views differing from his.

Moffett said the state gave none of the $4,000,000 and that it was all coming from the Federal treasury.

"The Federal government put out $3,000,000,000 to provide jobs and 30 per cent of it was an outright gift," Moffett said. "If Virginia didn't get any of it to provide work we would have paid our part of it to the Federal government just the same and it would have been spent elsewhere."

Mr. Moffett said the Federal Government's expenditures had relieved Virginia of capital outlays at institutions of higher learning for ten years and that the institutions did not expect to get what they had been getting.

MISS SPEIDEN U. D. C. HOSTESS

Senior Member Writes Interesting Letter.

Manassas Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, were the guests for the February meeting of Miss Virginia Speiden, assisted by Mrs. Austin Weeden and Miss Nelson. The Daughters were most cordially greeted by the hostesses and a very delightful meeting followed.

The usual opening exercises were observed, minutes read and approved. The treasurer's report showed a satisfactory balance. The most interesting feature of the meeting was a letter from the senior member of the chapter, Miss Lou Moxley, who will celebrate her ninety-third birthday this month. She was made an honorary member for life by the unanimous vote of the chapter.

A letter was read from Mrs. Blenner acknowledging a contribution to the dinner for the "Old Confeds" at the Soldiers Home in Richmond. She gave a graphic picture of the ball and how much it was enjoyed.

Interesting letters were also read from some of the absent members showing their lasting interest in this work of love. These included Mrs. Lynn, Miss Garth, Mrs. C. L. Hutchison and Mrs. Nellie Clarkson Redding, daughter of Dr. Clarkson who was poet laureate of Manassas Chapter.

Mrs. Marsteller told of a communication from Mr. Eckingrode which stated that a marker would be made for Liberia.

The attention of the chapter was called to the condition of a former Daughter's grave and a committee was appointed to look after it. Two applicants for membership were recommended, Mrs. O. D. Waters and Mrs. F. Peters. The erection of a chapter building has been claiming the attention and interest of the Daughters for some time. The committee in charge submitted several lots offered for sale. However no action was taken. Business session ended, the historical program was next heard.

Mrs. Ralph Andrews read an interesting paper on the life and military activities of Raphael Simms which was well received and appreciated. Mrs. L. R. Lomas then read a delightful paper, subject, Sidney Lanier. This received much applause.

Next came the social hour always enjoyed. Then the delicious refreshments served by the gracious hostesses which ended another one of the interesting gatherings of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

A SERMONETTE

By Rev. V. H. Council

John 13:16: The Servant is not greater than his Lord.

Our Savior is now giving to His disciples their final instructions for carrying on His work after He had taken his departure and ascended to the right hand of His Father in Heaven.

Even at this moment he was in the shadow of the cruel cross upon which he would be put to death for the Salvation of the world. Up to this time his disciples had assumed no responsibility; they had been as little children looking up to their beloved Teacher, enchanted with His marvelous power to perform miracles and even to raise the dead. They confidently expected Him to proclaim Himself The King of Israel and overthrow the Roman Government and wield the sceptre over the Kingdoms of the earth. In fact they had recently been disputing among themselves as to which of them should have the most exalted place in the Kingdom which they confidently expected Him soon to proclaim. James and John thinking to secure a distinct advantage over the other disciples persuaded their dear mother to intercede for them and request that her two sons might sit one on His right hand and the other on His left when He should set up His Kingdom.

Jesus' reply to her was "Ye know not what Ye ask."

Up to this time Jesus had taught His disciples by precept only. They had heard His great Sermon on the Mount and been with Him when He performed many miracles but even now after three years they did not yet understand the spirit of their Teacher and Lord. And now He would teach them by example. As they were assembled in the upper room and after observing the Passover supper He laid aside His outer robe and girded Himself with a towel in the similitude of a servant and poured water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet. We may know with what amazement the disciples looked on, too astonished even to speak. But as He approached Peter his indignation found expression in the exclamation "Lord dost Thou wash my feet? Thou shalt never wash my feet!" He was unwilling to see Jesus humiliated by washing his feet, not at all comprehending the purpose He had in mind in assuming this unusual attitude, although He had taught them on a previous occasion that "he that would be greatest among you, let him be servant of all." Jesus now tells Peter "If I wash thee not thou hast no part with Me," and then Peter answered "not my feet only but also my hands and my head."

What was the purpose of this unusual exhibition of humility? First that true religion must be expressed in service.

"If I your Lord and Master have washed your feet ye ought also to wash one another's feet." It was an example of service just as the servant washed the feet of the tired guest upon his arrival at the door. It was the setting of an example—the teaching of a great lesson, rather than the establishment of an ordinance.

Was there ever a time in the history of this world when we need this lesson more than at the present time?

If a brother or a sister be naked and destitute of daily food and one of you say unto them depart in peace be warmed and filled notwithstanding ye give them not those things which are needful to the body, what doth it profit?

James 2:15-16

"Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and the widows in their affliction and to keep himself unspotted from the world."

James 1:27

"Let us hear the voice of Jesus saying 'Go and do thou likewise.'"

Judge the new FORD V8
on what it will do

Thousands of people who can afford to spend two or three times as much for a car, are today choosing the Ford V-8 for 1934, instead. Here are some of the reasons.

POWER. The Ford V-8 for 1934 gives you better than 80 miles per hour with the quicker acceleration and greater smoothness of an 8-cylinder motor. Power has actually been increased by 12 per cent over last year's model.

COMFORT. The Ford V-8 for 1934 offers more actual body room than many other cars that cost considerably more. It offers you new Clear-Vision Ventilation, with the window in one piece. It offers you free action for all four wheels—plus the comfort of Ford Cantilever Springs and the proved safety of a front axle.

SAFETY. With the new Ford V-8 you get an all-steel body, safety glass, welded steel-spoke wheels, exceptionally low center of gravity and more braking surface per pound of weight than any other American-made car we know of.

ECONOMY. Gasoline economy is increased by two or three miles per gallon with the new Ford V-8. Test runs show that the new engine will give 20 miles per gallon at 45 miles per hour.

CATHARPIN

It's a good thing sometimes, that something happens to call forth recollections of past events which had taken place during our "ancient history" period, lest memories become rusty for want of exercise. Many of us know this since we can generally remember things that happened years ago but forget what we did yesterday. We have in mind the recent cold snap and the many mental disturbances it caused among some of our "oldest inhabitant" class trying to think up a time back in the remote antiquity of the neighborhood when a like condition prevailed. Some say it was the coldest they had ever known; others think we had a similar experience some 20 years ago, and so it goes. One thing is certainly true: the ground hog did get in his work this time. We are always ready to credit him with six weeks of bad weather but rarely does he produce it. This time, however, he will now grant us success for another 20 years we shall forgive him for his 8-degrees below zero which he slipped over on us while we slept on Thursday night, February 8, A.D. 1934.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Griffith attended the funeral of Mr. Griffith's brother in Luray on Friday of last week.

Mr. W. S. McCarty of Delaplane was a Lawn Vale visitor one day last week. Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson and daughter, Rita, were visiting among friends and relatives in Berryville on Monday and Tuesday of last week. Oakwood was badly knocked out during the night of the freeze but still in the ring, tho' must confess we are hanging across the ropes. It was all caused NOT by "The rockets' red glare" or "The bombs bursting in air" but by The pipes bursting down stair Leaving us in despair. While zero, his pranks, played upon us for fair.

So we now advise that if anyone contemplate a visit at this time we certainly would recommend a postponement for indeed a chilly reception would be theirs.

Mr. and Mrs. Sowers of Washington were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Griffith last week. Mrs. Sowers is a daughter of the Griffiths.

Mrs. Dr. Brower has recovered from her illness sufficiently to visit her daughter Marjorie in Clarendon, Va., where she went last Sunday to spend a few days recuperating from her illness of several weeks from an attack of pneumonia. Dr. Brower, who was the last of the family to retire to the pillows, is feeling much better and able to be about again after a siege of the flu. We thought we had the Doctor better trained than to think he should get sick himself; but some people, sometimes, get independent like, you know, and won't heed good advice when they get it.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Merchant of Ivakota, Va., were guests of Mrs. Gilbert's parents at Marble Hill on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Onley and daughters of Washington were Oakwood visitors on the afternoon of the first day of the week.

Mr. J. E. Kidwell of Sudley Mill is confined to his bed suffering an attack of indigestion.

The hot lunches served daily to the children of the Catharpin School are growing in favor and especially appreciated during the cold weather. This activity is being carried on under the efficient management of Miss Adeline Polen.

The many friends of Mrs. L. J. Pattie are pleased to learn of her continued improvement and the prospect of her return home probably the latter part of the week.

February is certainly a notable month. As we look at the calendar (if we are fortunate enough to have one), we note that the 12th and 22nd are marked in red so we may know at a glance that those days mean something. If we have forgotten, we immediately "check up" on our memories to find out just who, why and what they are, and since our notables are thus set apart, it would seem that the calendar makers should have given the 2nd some sort of a distinguishing color to set it apart from the rank and file of ordinary dates since we feel sure that old Mr. Wood Chuck's birthday is remembered by more people than all the rest of the "birthdays" put together; at least we presume that his name is mentioned more frequently and by more people than any other of our "noted celebrities."

In speaking of these notables, we wonder just what George and Abe might think if they could come back to Washington and "sit in" on some of the investigations now going on in that city? We know for a certainty just what Mr. Wood Chuck is thinking of it all for he is doing his best to freeze them out; but George and Abe would certainly pity the "common people" for the predicament some of our high officials have gotten us into. And then to think that we are doomed to disappointment just when we were expecting almost any day to hear the "mail plant" purring over our chimney tops and dropping our letters through a funnel down on our reading stands. Well, we are used to disappointments so we shall not grieve unduly over this situation for we still think that Catharpin vicinity are ahead of the game; that altho we have no "mail planes" to deliver our letters, yet we have two "mail girls" (An aural anomaly) who never fail us. So why should we worry?

As this week opens it seems that the "sick epidemic" in this neighborhood is gradually subsiding. We usually think of the term "epidemic" as applying only to a single ailment, but from recent experiences, it would seem that the term should have a broader significance since whole families have been ill at the same time but suffering from as many as four different diseases. We had thought that this neighborhood was perhaps the only one thus afflicted, but it appears to be general thruout adjoining counties as well as the State. The Health Department of Baltimore city is issuing bulletins giving special instructions to parents and people generally in regard to measles and the necessity of watching the disease carefully since children are developing high temperatures, which if neglected, may prove very fatal. So while our neighborhood is "on the mend" we must not for a moment relax vigilance until all danger is past. The community, thus far, has been mighty fortunate due to excellent care by both parents and physicians and it is now hoped that the worst is over.

HERRING RIGHT ON THE JOB

In the discussions which have been going on at the Assembly in the last week concerning the tax budget and the heavy increases which appear imminent, Delegate George W. Herring of Prince William read certain figures on the floor of the Assembly of which the general public is in ignorance and which show a continued trend toward assistance of the higher branches of learning while the lower branches are involved in the said tax increases.

Delegate Herring stated from authoritative sources that $3,336,424 for improvements out of public works funds for these institutions has been granted and granted while loans amounting to $869,710.57 are still in abeyance.

None of these sums are for actual instruction work but they represent vast amounts which would tend to lead the average reader to believe that money is being liberally wasted.

Delegate Herring also put up a fight which was finally lost in the Senate to have the new ABC Board held down in salary to $5,000 for each member. The day hardly goes by but what the Assembly is now expecting Mr. Herring to start something interesting. His work is attracting state-wide attention and not in a sensational way for his ideas appear to be conservative and constructive.

A MATTER OF GRAVE CONCERN

The bill which was introduced within the last week commanding the State Board of Education to reduce the number of school districts by from 30 to 50 per cent appears certain of passage.

This bill is not aimed as a rebuke to Dr. Hall as some people thought but represents the continued efforts of the commission on economy for a lowering of the general operating expenses of the State.

This redistricting will become effective before the beginning of another school term and will be a matter of grave importance to every county in the State. Prince William will be grouped with some other county either Fauquier or Stafford; there being little likelihood of a union with Fairfax which will more than likely be absorbed in a junction between that county and Arlington.

In any event Prince William should get into the fight right now to see that its division superintendent is retained over the new area which will be embraced with it. We cast no reflection whatever upon the division superintendents of any of the neighboring counties but for a strictly rural county, we submit the fact that Prof. Haydon has organized and perfected a working unit which is without superior anywhere in the State.

We do not know all of the factors which will be taken into consideration by the State Board as that will be yet a matter for study by all of us. It is sufficient that we want no doubt left in the mind of the State Board of Education of the sterling worth of our local school organization.

The Manassas Journal:

Your weekly visit of the issue of Feb. 1st is just at hand; and I hasten to assist your Catharpin columnist with his difficulty in placing his singular and plurals in describing the truck shipments of cattle. Here is the solution:

A tailor was in need of a pressing iron, (known as a goose). In fact he wanted two, but had trouble getting the order in grammatical shape; and, after struggling with the problem, he at last, in desperation, wrote "Send me a tailor's goose, yes damn it, send me two." I know your versatile columnist will take the cue, and, being a good Methodist, will substitute any objectionable word with one more in line with his code.

When The Journal arrives each week and I see the names of so many old friends, my memory harks back to the days long gone, especially as so many of the old friends have passed "over the river" and received their "well done, than good and faithful servant."

"These hearts of ours, how strange! how strange!
 How they yearn to ramble and love to range
 Down through the vales of the years long gone
 Up through the future that fast rolls on."

When I see the familiar names of Pattie Sanders and many others, my memory reverts even back to the antebellum days when I first knew Frank Pattie and his son Lute; George Sanders and his son Fred and others. I even remember what a beautiful woman was Mrs. Sanders, and I know how closely her daughter "Sadie" resembles her. Besides the two mentioned of the older generation were Billie Lynn, Luther Lynn, Tom Leachman, Crawford Cushing and many more, all down thru the ages to the present.

These were splendid old gentlemen—Southern gentlemen of the old school; and all of them, as far as I know, were devoted to horse-racing. There must be some subtle or hidden virtue in this sport, as all of these men to whom I have alluded were men of sterling character, noted for their rugged honesty, industry valor and patriotism. These good qualities, however, were not confined exclusively to the devotees of horse-racing, as this community may well be proud of its entire citizenry of the past as well as the present.

I note, also, that Manassas has quite an acquisition to its literary group in the person of Miss Inno McGill. This lady is always in the front trenches when there's work to be done for the community's good.

I began this with the intention only of helping the Catharpin columnist, and hope to be pardoned for the digression.

Very truly,

C. E. JORDAN,
Cristobal, Canal Zone.

The funeral was held last Friday and burial was in Baltimore, Md.

Board of Supervisors meets on Tuesday.

A number of cases of measles and the severe winter temperatures of the past week have greatly reduced the social and community activities of our town and county.

The Garden Club section of the Manassas Woman's Club met today at the home of Mrs. Jack Leachman. A special feature was an interesting address by Professor Frank Cox, county agent, who presented many interesting and useful facts concerning the proper use of fertilizers in the garden.

The Valentine dance held last Friday night under auspices of the Manassas Volunteer Fire Department was a success both socially and financially.

Pasty Keys, who was operated on two weeks ago, came home yesterday and is much improved.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

Corn-Hog Contracts.
 All Corn-Hog contracts should be signed as early as possible.

Wheat and small grains may be planted on contracted corn acres this fall for harvest in 1935.

Farmers producing less than three litters of pigs a year are now eligible to sign the contracts and receive the reduction payments.

Korean Lespedeza.

The place of Korean lespedeza in our farming system is as a soil improvement and pasture plant. On soils which have not been limed, there is no other legume which can be substituted to such an advantage for clover.

Korean lespedeza is one of our best pasture plants and should be included in all pasture mixtures. Its greatest virtue as a pasture crop is that it is at its best during midsummer when pasture grasses are at their worst. Seed prices this year are reasonable.

Revised Bulletins Now Available.
 The following revised bulletins are now available and will be furnished upon request:

"Information for Virginia Fruit Growers," including 1934 Spray Calendar.

"Diseases and Parasites of Poultry."

"A Hand Book of Agronomy," dealing with Field Crops; Lime; Fertilizers, and Soils; Seed treatments; weevil control; silo, bin and crib capacity tables; legume inoculation; hay measuring; treatment of potatoes for scab; and home mixing of fertilizers.

"The Home Made Brick Brooder."

"Lespedeza as a Forage Crop."

C. H. S. COMMITTEE TO MEET

The regular meeting of the C.H.S. Committee will be held on Wednesday, February 28, in the office of the County Nurse. A good attendance is requested.

BRENTSVILLE

Quite a bit of interest was shown in the gathering together of the community of the Brentsville Community League on Feb. 16 in Brentsville School.

After the league meeting program, in which Mrs. Edward James was in charge of "Lincoln" and "Valentine," Miss Dorothy Woodhouse was in charge of the Washington program. Miss Woodhouse's program was very successful in spite of the bad weather. All were present and had a enjoyable time and hot dog sandwiches and coffee. Special music was offered by Brentsville Buzz Band. All who were cordially invited were present and had a pleasant evening.

Mrs. Harry Breedon's children are able to be out again after three weeks' confinement to the bed with measles.

Mrs. John Evans is just able to be out again after an illness.

A house is being built on the highway in Coles district for Ernest Cornwell and his homeless family who lost their home in a fire recently. Lumber was given by Brown and Hooff. It was learned that some of the neighbors are still giving Mr. and Mrs. Cornwell and children clothing.

Mr. Earvin Cornwell's children have been sick for the past week with measles and pink-eye and did not attend school.

Mr. Earvin Spitler of Brentsville is very ill and has been confined to his bed for the past three weeks.

Mr. H. R. Keys of Brentsville is confined to his bed with a severe cold.

Miss Helene Hendickson from Nokesville visited Mr. and Mrs. John Seymour on Sunday.

WILL SIT IN ANCIENT HALL

On Saturday of this week the General Assembly of Virginia will hold a brief session in the Restored Court House in Williamsburg. On account of limited space the members have been greatly restricted in their invitations.

A good part of the day will be spent in touring the Town which has been restored under the auspices of the Williamsburg Holding Corporation. The event is a notable one and one which the entire body of Legislators will greatly enjoy.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Mrs. A. R. Landrum of Greenville, Va., said: "A nervous breakdown about exhausted my strength. I became weak and thin as I had no appetite. I gradually improved in every way after I had taken alternate doses of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and his 'Favorite Prescription' and have been in perfect health ever since." Sold by druggists everywhere. New size, tablets 50 cts.; liquid $1.00. Lge. size, tabs. or liquid, $1.35. "We Do Our Part."

PROMINENT EDUCATOR HERE

On Friday, Col. M. D. Hall, of Burke Station, division superintendent of schools in Fairfax County from 1885 to 1929, came to Manassas to attend the funeral of his brother, a former pastor of the local Baptist Church.

Your address label tells whether a subscription is due.

DEATH OF SERGEANT EVANS

Word has been received of the death in Nicaragua of Sergeant E. C. Evans, a former resident of Prince William. He had served his country for 26 years as a marine; was on the firing line in France during the World War and also saw service in Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines and China. He was wounded in Nicaragua. For gallantry in action he had been decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal.

Veterans of Foreign Wars have requested Secretary of the Navy Claude Swanson to order the body returned to this county for burial.

Sergeant Evans is survived by a brother, John Evans, and a sister, Miss Alice Evans, both of Coles district.

FED THE QUAIL

Mrs. George W. Ryan, of Coles district, found a number of quail so weak from hunger that she picked them up and brought them into the house. After eating and becoming warm, they went away happily and by this kindness were able to survive the severe winter.

(Ed. note—It is hoped that more of our readers will feed the wild birds during times of winter snows.)

TWO GREAT FEATURES

"The First World War" and "America on Parade," two big-picture features, are winning acclaim in The Washington Star each Sunday. The first is a special eight-page rotogravure section devoted to the World War; the other deals with the march of America from the Civil War to the present day—a full page of remarkable photographs each Sunday. Order your copy of next Sunday's Washington Star from your news-dealer today.

FARM CREDIT ASSOCIATION

The Warrenton Production Credit Association, which has been organized to make short-term loans to farmers in Fauquier, Prince William, Fairfax, Rappahannock, Loudoun, Culpeper and Arlington Counties, is one of the units of an agricultural credit reserve system which is designed to be a permanent service.

Altogether, 516 production credit associations have been organized. They cover more than half the country—26 states completely.

Since last fall when the first of these farmer-credit co-operatives was set up in Illinois the movement has developed rapidly. It spread quickly through the Pacific coast regions, and made a clean sweep of the southern agricultural belt from Texas to Virginia. At present about half the counties in the east-central and New England states have been included; and the center of activity of the movement is now turning to organize the remaining area of the central states and the middle west.

With this work of organization being rounded out, the Production Credit Division of the Farm Credit Administration is now directing major attention to the necessity of providing good management and sound financing policies for the local associations in preparation for the lending operations of the coming season.

In sections where productions credit associations obtained an early start applications for loans are already being approved by their local loan committees. The notes of farmers are then discounted with the Federal intermediate credit banks. One of these is in each of the 12 farm credit administration districts, and especially equipped to lend money on farmers' notes endorsed by local associations.

The actual work of each association is being supervised by the Production Credit Corporation, organized in each district. The Warrenton Production Credit Association is supervised by the Baltimore Production Credit Corporation.

The Baltimore corporation also agreed to subscribe to approximately 75 per cent of the capital of the Warrenton association. Funds obtained by the association from the sale of this stock to the association will be invested in high-grade securities, chiefly Government bonds, and placed with the Baltimore Intermediate Credit Bank as additional security for the notes of farmers which will be discounted. The Intermediate Credit bank may then lend money on, or discount, acceptable farmers' notes endorsed by the association equal to five times the amount of the bonds deposited with it.

The authorized capital stock of the Warrenton Production Credit Association is $80,000. The Baltimore Production Credit Corporation is prepared to pay in about 75 per cent of this amount as needed; the money will be invested in bonds and placed with the intermediate credit bank, making possible a total of $400,000 in loans to farmers in the seven counties served by the Warrenton association.

The total authorized capital stock of all the production credit associations now organized in the United States is more than $53,000,000. This means that more than $200,000,000 is already available to farmers for financing this season's crops and livestock.

Although the Production Credit Corporation provides the initial capital for an association, it does not provide the entire capital, for each borrower is required to own stock in his association equal to 5 per cent of his loan. In this way the corporation owns approximately three-fourths of the capital and the borrowers own most of the remaining portion. Neither stock carries any double liability.

The stock which the corporation purchases is non-voting but preferred as to assets in case the association is liquidated. The stock owned by the borrowers is the only voting stock in the association. It may be owned only by farmer borrowers, and each has only one vote in the association regardless of the amount he borrows.

Farmers do not have to advance the money to pay for their stock. It may be purchased with a part of the money borrowed from the association—one $5 share with each $100 or fraction thereof borrowed.

A farmer does not have to purchase new stock each time he borrows unless the stock he owns has become impaired in value or he wishes a larger loan. After he pays his indebtedness to the association in full, a farmer may sell his voting stock to another eligible borrower, subject to approval of the association, or exchange it at its fair book value for non-voting stock. Such an exchange must be made in any event within two years after the holder of the voting stock ceases to be a borrower.

Loans may be made for almost any general agricultural purpose, for the cash cost of fertilizing, planting, cultivating, harvesting or marketing crops, and for producing livestock, or dairy or poultry products. The minimum amount of a loan is $50.

Loans will run from 3 to 12 months, each loan having a maturity coinciding with the marketing period of the crop or livestock financed.

MORE ABOUT THE N. R. S.

After being interested in the N.R.S. for a while, one is confronted with the problem of the group of people that are typical of every community, who are not fixed, either physically or mentally, for work with other more competent men. Some of them are capable of performing hard work, but are not adjusted to working in harmony with others. But under the proper conditions would give satisfactory service to an employer.

Cannot help be diverted from the Emergency Relief to meeting a need that is twofold—employment for those who would otherwise be on the relief rolls, and help for the farmer who is unable to hire it under present conditions?

It is quite evident that there is a class of people that it rests with the government, either National or local, to help, they are society's responsibility, and if the fact that we are our brother's keeper is to be applied from a Christian angle, we must see that they are at least given the necessities of life, which means direct relief—or putting aside all humanitarian motives, if we force him to become the potential criminal, he becomes an expense to the country anyhow, an expense that is already burdening the country with millions in yearly expenditures, and then there is still the man's family, if he has one, to be cared for. While there are many cases where direct relief is the only possible means of helping a distressed condition, where the recipient is capable of performing any sort of useful work, that would seem the sensible solution—to put him in a position where he could do it. Constant relief, without its being pay for the value received, must of necessity deaden the sense of pride and independence that should be the birthright of every American, and like an narcotic, continued dole will dull any initiative that the recipient might have and in time he grows to assume the pitiful aspect of the mendicant who has ceased to look the world squarely in the face with courage.

There are few farms that cannot find work of one sort or another for a laborer, and in most agricultural communities farm work is that most familiar to this class of labor, incompetent for work in other fields. Were the farmer allowed to hire one or more of these men at a standard wage of a dollar a day, the time sheet to be sent in the same as on other projects, and the check mailed to the employee, both parties would be helped.

Even an old man not able for manual labor on many of the projects, is able to do something, and he certainly is going to be a better citizen if he is made to feel that his days of usefulness are not quite over.

An eight-hour day should give the farmer value for the money paid the worker, and it would not be too arduous a day for those not physically strong, and providing time for those with homes to do the necessary work there.

There are few farms that would not profit by added care and attention to the upkeep, yet these days the average farmer is not in a position to pay for the labor that he can possibly get along without.

That such labor would be in competition with more skilled farmwork would be overcome by the restricted hours that a man could work, and a maximum wage of a dollar a day which would not include board, and if conditions cannot be so adjusted that the wage scale for first class farm labor be such as to insure the farm worker, means to keep up a decent standard of living, we still have far to go in the matter of freeing our farm communities of the exploitation of that class of labor.

As to the assumption that the chance to get cheap labor would tend to induce the farmer to let their help go to better paying jobs, or take them themselves, what of it? If the dollar day laborer is not eligible for the work of an able-bodied man but takes the place of one temporarily, on the farm would this same farmer not be justified in working for money to pay taxes or interest with which the majority of the farms are burdened?

These people, if we carry out the policies of the New Deal, must be helped. Why not make it for wages instead of dole?

HANSON B. TYLER

Hanson B. Tyler, brother of County Clerk George G. Tyler, died yesterday morning very suddenly at his home at Canandaigua, N. Y., where he had been living for the past twenty years, having gone there to engage in the enamel business with a nationally known manufacturing company.

Born at Hickory Grove in 1873, he attended school there and completed his education at Williamsburg. He was the son of the late Captain Robert H. and Sally S. Tyler and was the first of a family of eleven children to die.

He married Miss Virginia Stewart of Bellaire, Ohio, and leaves several children and grand-children. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

SCREEN TELLS STORY OF MISSING PERSONS FOR FIRST TIME

The mysterious, and to a large extent, secret workings of that division of the police department in which are recorded the cases of kidnapped men and women and those who strangely vanish, are brought to light for the first time in pictures with the First National production, entitled the "Bureau of Missing Pictures," which opens at the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Wednesday, with Bette Davis, Pat O'Brien, Lewis Stone and Glenda Farrell heading the large cast.

In every large city there are thousands of missing persons reported yearly. A fair proportion of these persons are found, but many disappear completely. Every class and age is represented among the missing, as related in the picture.

The Park Avenues of the nation have furnished their quota to the bureau of the missing persons just as has the slums, two such notable cases being that of Dorothy Arnold, the wealthy New York and Newport society girl who dropped out of sight one morning, never to be heard of again; and that of the Hon. Joseph Force Crater, a Justice of the New York Supreme Court, no trace of whom has been found since he disappeared.

It is the effort of the police in the Bureau of Missing Persons to solve these mysteries around which the plot of the story is woven. The cases in the picture are based on actual fact. They parallel some of the most famous disappearance cases the country has known.

The story also gives an accurate and graphic picture of the methods employed by the police. Robert Presnell, who wrote the screen play from a book by Capt. John H. Ayres and Carol Bird, relating the Captain's experiences as head of the New York City Bureau of Missing Persons, made an exhaustive study of the police departments in New York, Los Angeles and other cities, in order to get accurate data for the picture.

There is an exceptionally large and able cast of players, many of whom have starred on both stage and screen. They include, besides those previously mentioned, Allen Jenkins, Ruth Donnelly, Hugh Herbert, Alan Dinehart and Marjorie Gatenon. Roy Del Ruth directed.

SOME LOW TEMPERATURES

Mr. Walter Sudd has received some interesting data on sub-zero temperatures in New York State. At Hamilton, near the home of his brother, C. W. Sudd, the thermometer dropped to 51 below zero. At Wanakena, N. Y., a low of 60 below zero was recorded.

ALONG THE WAY

(By Inno McGill)

AN APPRECIATION

Just one year ago, in his tribute to George Washington, Benito Mussolini wrote:

"In addition to my admiration for George Washington, I am moved by the breath of fellow feeling, when, in the writings of your great countryman, I strike such a passage as the following:

"The men who oppose a strong energetic Government are, in my opinion, narrow politicians or are under the influence of local views. The apprehension expressed by them that the people will not accede to the forms proposed is the ostensible, not the real cause of opposition."

This, like other sentences then quoted by the Premier of Italy from Washington's writings, is as applicable today to those who oppose an "energetic Government" as when Washington referred to the narrow-mindedness of politicians of his own time. Governments honor their dead statesmen; though political leaders can be merciless in inflicting heart-wounds to such men while living.

AS IT SHOULD BE

Rev. Dr. Peter Guilday, professor of American Church History at the Catholic University of America, has accepted the invitation to address the Methodist preachers of Baltimore on "The Beginning of Catholicism in Maryland," Monday evening, February 26, in the social room of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal Church, Baltimore.

This announcement would indicate that there is today a better feeling abroad so far as religious tolerance is concerned. When people realize that tolerance consists in recognizing the political, social and business rights of others, though they disagree theologically, they have no great difficulty getting along with one another. Every citizen has a right to his own viewpoint; but has no right to deny civil and social amenities to those who disagree with him. Respect is justly due, whether agreement be mutual or not.

BABY BROADCASTING

The program Sunday evening by, and for, a precious babe of four weeks was one that brought a touch of tender sympathy to the hearts of every radio listener.

The parts were enacted by Bob Trout, N.B.C. radio announcer; Dr. Edgar A. Bocock, superintendent, Gallinger Hospital; the hospital nurse in charge of the little foundling, and the infant himself whose baby whimpers, if interpreted, would have voiced his gratitude for the kind treatment he is receiving.

This unusual program was enacted in the hope of locating the mother who, it is believed, deserted the little one recently found in a Washington theatre. While the mother had not been located, to time of this writing, yet, the radio message showed how wide is the interest awakened in the deserted child, and told that many offers to adopt the little one have been received at the hospital.

The following letter came this week from an esteemed native of Prince William, Charles E. Jordan, former resident of Haymarket. It shows that years of absence have not lessened his interest in our county and The Manassas Journal, and its publication in this column will be welcome to his many friends. The note in this paper to which he refers with keen appreciation was one on "The Railroads" that appeared in The Journal for January 25.

Christobal, Canal Zone,
Isthmus of Panama.
February 9, 1934.

My dear Miss McGill:

I have read with deep interest and pleasure your column in The Manassas Journal and congratulate you on your courage in breaking through the barrage of the customary sordid articles that fill our papers in this age, and that you hark back to the days when gratitude was considered one of our cardinal virtues.

In glancing over the columns of any newspapers, one becomes sat-ated with the conglomeration of crimes and disorders of all sorts; the clash of armed mobs, and, at best, the clash of tongue and pen—all in a mad rush for money, power or fame, or for just common notoriety.

The note of sentiment and old-fashioned gratitude in your column comes with the inspirational voice of a benediction from the days when sentiment and gratitude had not so nearly departed from our land. I trust you will continue this good work.

As you clearly intimate, we are building up magnificent and expensive systems of highways on land, in the air and on the water, involving elaborate and costly equipment, without thought or care for the railroads, or gratitude to our honored railroad builders of the past who were the equal, if not the superior, force in the development of our nation. It is generally thought that the railroads were not as far-sighted as they should have been in meeting the situation, but it must be remembered they were held down by taxation, by interstate and railroad corporation laws; prohibiting adequate advances in traffic or passenger rates, and, at the same time, were "held up" by labor organizations demanding higher wages.

So, it is doubtful if fair play and justice have ruled in our councils.

I congratulate you on the position you have taken in behalf of a business that has suffered by what is sometimes misnamed progress, and by lack of fair play. I hope you will continue the good work and give us more sentiment, for the world is sadly in need of it in this age. Also I thank you for your published account of coal production in Virginia. It is very interesting, and I am placing your notes in my scrap book dairy.

Sincerely yours,

C. E. JORDAN.

CHEVROLET ANNOUNCES

a revolutionary new line of low-priced trucks

Bigger, huskier models feature an entirely new engine, giving increased power on less fuel than ever!

THE 1934 line of Chevrolet trucks—truck-built for truck service all the way through—feature the Blue-Flame engine—a great new development that will be welcomed by every truck buyer in America. Here are the remarkable facts: The new Chevrolet trucks are even bigger than last year's models—bigger in bodies, with stronger, heavier frames, huskier transmissions and rear axles, and larger brakes. They will deliver more power. They will haul bigger loads than ever. Yet, thanks to the new Blue-Flame engine, operating costs are actually lower than before—and that means the lowest in the hauling field. The net result of all these improvements is a line of trucks like no others on the market—the first to offer such a combination of big capacity, great power and unequalled economy. CHEVROLET MOTOR CO., DETROIT, MICHIGAN
