ASSEMBLY NEARS END OF WORK

Night Sessions Loom as Debate Grows.

The main interest which is being developed at Richmond this week centers around Governor Perry's tax plan which is being strenuously assailed, not for lack of loyalty to the administration especially but because a proven ability to raise the revenue has not been satisfactorily demonstrated to many.

In result to direct questioning by the Prince William delegate, Hon. George W. Herring, Ashton Dovell, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, admitted that by following the program as set up by former Gov. Pollard there were not sufficient funds to guarantee a eight-month school term.

Changing conditions in revenue and the strenuous demands raised by a very large majority of the Virginia rural school districts have led some of the delegates to class the budget as purely guesswork. In the midst of desultory remarks and attacks on various phases of the budget as affected by both the provisions for elementary and higher branches of education, the delegate from Pittsylvania is credited with the following remarks:

"I am in favor of giving to the public schools everything that has been suggested by Governor Peery, but I do not think we should appropriate funds which cannot be realized. Therefore, we would not pass a budget bill which is not balanced."

"Governor Peery's program has not been acted upon by the General Assembly, and until we see how this program fares in the House, we should not add to the appropriations bill appropriations which will unbalance a balanced bill. If we pass a bill appropriating funds which we have no chance of collecting, we may be certain that the Governor will exercise the authority given him to cut the appropriations to all agencies, including schools, until the budget is balanced."

Following demands of many years that the old fee system be wiped out, the Senate almost unanimously passed such a bill on Tuesday. The passage of this measure was accomplished by considerable acrimonious debate.

Gov. Peery has signed the new liquor bill and is expected to appoint the members of the Alcohol Beverage Control Board by the end of the week, although some claim that he will hold up such appointments until the closing days of the session.

The measure to do away with the State Real Estate Commission has raised a howl of protest from realtors in the suburban districts, particularly just outside of Washington.

The Racing Bill which staggered and then triumphantly trotted through the House was missing at the goal post when the round-up took place in the Senate. By a double-edged vote not to reconsider the measure and through placing it on the table, the bill is dead beyond recall. This was quite a blow to the sportsmen of the State, particularly in those areas where it was hoped that licensed tracks would be placed. With just two weeks to go both branches of the Assembly are faced with night sessions in addition to committee work.

It is noticeable that a more determined effort than ever before has been made at this session to get a better understanding of the budget before it is voted on. The delegates of northern Virginia are being generously given full credit of their efforts along such lines particularly the fiery little representative from Prince William.

GARDEN SECTION TO MEET

The Garden Section of the Manassas Woman's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. J. P. Lyon on Monday, March 5, at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. C. C. Lynn will be assistant hostess.

A full attendance is desired as there will be a very interesting illustrated lecture, "The Art of Flower Arrangement," sent by "Better Homes and Gardens."

A CORRECTION

The meeting which took place at the home of Mrs. Jack Leachman last Thursday was the Manassas Garden Club of which she is president and not the Garden section of the Woman's Club as stated in the article.

WM. HILL BROWN.

"The many friends of Mr. Wm. Hill Brown are pleased to know that he has been favorably mentioned for the position of trial justice in this county. Mr. Brown, whose father came here many years ago from good old Culpeper, was born and raised in Manassas and is very much liked."

PEERY NAMES FARM GROUP

Organization Ready for Action.

Governor George C. Peery recently announced the appointment of a Farm Debt Adjustment Committee for Prince William County consisting of the following members: G. Raymond Ratcliffe, Temporary Chairman, Manassas, Va., E. W. Thompson, Woodbridge, Va., J. W. Alvey, Catharpin, Va., C. E. Clarke, Woodbridge, Va., Mahlon Seese, Nokesville, Va., E. M. Briggs, Manassas, Va., Thos. H. Lion, Manassas, Va., and Wilmer Kline, Manassas, Va.

This Committee was appointed by Governor Peery upon request of citizens of the County to C. Nelson Beck, Charlottesville, Va., Secretary of the Virginia Farm Debt Committee.

The Committee represents agricultural and business leaders located in the different sections and districts of the County.

Mr. Ratcliffe, Temporary Chairman has been requested by Governor Peery, to call an organization meeting of the Committee at an early date. Mr. Beck will furnish the members with information and material for assisting distressed farm debtors in this County.

MUST FURNISH COMPLETE EVIDENCE

Farmers applying for production loans, who have not signed a production control agreement, will be asked to furnish satisfactory evidence that they plan no increase in the production of basic agricultural commodities in a manner detrimental to the success of the production control program.

The Federal program provides for aggressive action in bringing the production of farm products in line with consumptive demands and all agencies of the government are co-operating in an effort to bring about this adjustment as rapidly as possible.

The Farm Credit Administration is charged with the responsibility of providing both long and short-time credit to farmers who are unable to secure the necessary funds through ordinary channels. The Agricultural Adjustment Administration is charged with the responsibility of production control. The Department of Agriculture desires to co-operate fully with the Farm Credit Administration in providing satisfactory credit facilities. The Farm Credit Administration also desires to co-operate with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in bringing about adequate production control.

U. D. C. MEETING

The March meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will be held next Wednesday, March 7, at 2:30 p.m. at the Prince William Hotel. The hostesses will be Mrs. R. S. Hynson and Mrs. James Dorrell.

QUICK WORK

Manassas is to be congratulated upon the speedy fashion in which the Manager proceeded to remove the snow from its main thoroughfare this week. The streets compared very favorably with those of any large city.

ON CAPITOL HILL

Latest News on Congress and Our Congressman.

Direct from the Press Gallery.

Out of the rumblings of dissatisfaction at the Capitol over the milk policy of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration have come a demand by 100 members of the House for a "new deal" for the milk farmer and a new program for fixing producer prices.

The revolt against the existing program came to a head at a meeting last Wednesday night of members of the House from the country's principal milk producing sections. A resolution was adopted at this session opposing the present policy.

Charges were made that the farm administration was dominated by "dreamers and theorists." One member, Representative Joe H. Eagle, Democrat of Texas, went so far as to declare that it was controlled by Communists.

Representative Howard W. Smith, Democrat of Virginia, who presided, pointed out that under the present milk policy producer prices were fixed without regard to local conditions and without respect to the cost of production. He said he was unable to understand why milk prices should be based on the price of butter fat in Chicago. The present program, he insisted, is based on theory and not on facts.

The present program, it was declared by Representative Robert Ramspeck, Democrat of Georgia, will destroy the small producer in order to curb milk production. He said there is no reason for reducing the price of fluid milk as a means of curbing reduction, simply to raise butter prices.

Representative Francis D. Culkin, Republican of New York, would not agree with Mr. Eagle that Communists controlled the A.A.A., but predicted that if the present milk policy is pursued, the dairy industry in his State would be put out of business.

Watch Virginia Liquor Plan.

Both advocates and opponents in Congress of the dispensary system adopted by Virginia for handling liquor sales, are planning to keep a close check on developments in that state.

In Washington, they will have an opportunity to study the so-called private sale, private profit plan. Virginia is the nearest point to observe the State controlled dispensary plan in operation.

The sale of liquor in Washington will not become legal until the latter part of the week, and the opinion prevails at the Capitol that unless the stores here handle a better quality at a lower price than the liquor sold in nearby Maryland, nearby Virginia is destined to get a good part of this city's liquor business.

With a dispensary system, it is pointed out the State can control the quality as well as the price, and prevent some of the conditions that have developed in nearby Maryland where men and women mingle together in drinking parlors, and old-fashioned bars have been set up with displays similar to those which existed in the bars of the pre-prohibition era.

Just A Tough Job.

Being a member of Congress is not easiest job in the world. On the other hand, Representative Arthur P. Lamneck, of Ohio, thinks it is a pretty tough job.

Mr. Lamneck took up several pages of the Congressional Record the other day to explain how hard a member of Congress works, not so much for the benefit of the members themselves, but for the general public and "the folks back home."

"Members get a vast amount of mail," Mr. Lamneck said, "this requires much study, dictation of replies, and often visits to the different executive departments in Washington."

"A member will get a thousand letters or may be several thousand a session from citizens advocating or opposing proposed legislation. Usually a Congressman answers every letter, though he cannot tell everybody what he thinks about every bill that has been introduced. He must wait developments through committee hearings and give thought to those measures that are being brought forward for favorable committee action."

Swanson Not to Retire.

R. Walton Moore, Assistant Secretary of State, the other day came to the aid of his close friend, Secretary of Navy Swanson, and definitely spiked rumors that had floated around the Capitol that Mr. Swanson might resign because of ill health.

Mr. Moore said that while Mr. Swanson had been in ill health, his condition has improved, and he planned to return to his office soon.

CHILDREN DANCE FOR KIWANIS

Bennett Children Entertain for Club.

The Kiwanis Club has been invited to attend a joint session of the Fredericksburg and Charlottesville Clubs tomorrow noon when International President Johns will address the meeting at our neighboring town.

The club was favored by a double program last week. Under the direction of Miss Virginia Frazier, of the Bennett faculty, several of the children gave some very pretty dance steps, including a reel.

Dr. Swavely gave an impromptu talk on Washington which was very appropriate and much enjoyed.

Things are getting into shape for the minstrel on April 13 and 14.

"DANCE GIRL DANCE" IS DRAMA OF VAUDEVILLE

What goes on back-stage in the dingy dressing-rooms of the four-day vaudeville theatres is vividly and dramatically depicted in "Dance Girl Dance," the new Invincible talkie, which comes to the Dixie Theatre in Manassas tomorrow.

Joe (Eddie Nugent), a typical small-time wise-cracker, picks up Sally (Evalyn Knapp), a small-town girl, and establishes her as his partner. Sally, if Joe had only sense enough to know it, has talent, but is subordinated to him, she is unable to save the act, and they soon find themselves "between engagements."

Joe blames Sally for their failure, and, leaving her flat, he seeks a new partner. A new partner, or a whole chorus of girls, for that matter, couldn't put Joe across, and he is forced to pick up whatever odd jobs he can while he is waiting for the "break," which he, and he alone, knows he deserves.

Sally, meantime, has found her way to New York, where an opportunity to sing a song of her own composition establishes her as a night club star. Wade Valentine (Alan Dinehart), owner of the club, falls in love with Sally, but she is unable to forget Joe. Joe appears ultimately as a waiter in the club, and Sally is again drawn to him. Robert Ellis, erstwhile actor and director, who wrote the story, evidently knows his vaudeville and night clubs, and he has developed a drama that is replete with unusual twists.

The cast is exceptionally good. In addition to those already mentioned, Ada May, of Broadway fame, Gloria Shea, Theodore von Eltz, and Mae Busch deserve special mention. "Dance Girl Dance" is a picture you had better not miss.

A SERMONETTE

By J. Royall Cooke

Text, Matt. 3:2 and 4:17:
"Repent ye: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand."

It has always been a striking fact to me that when God would make His final offer of mercy to a sinner as a savior, both John the Baptist, His forerunner, and Jesus Himself preached the same heart-searching truth—repentance.

The age in which this message came was very similar to the present age—a time of depression, gloom and disappointment. Men were growing weary and skeptical of the old systems and formulas of life, and were blindly seeking something better. The Roman Empire at the height of its glory was already showing evidences of the weakness and corruption that finally brought its ruin. To this despondent world came a ringing message of hope: "The kingdom of heaven is at hand." But the indispensable condition of entrance is repentance. Repent of what? asks a complacent world. Repent of sin for "the wages of sin is death," and I have never heard of the repeal of that law. It was sin that was bringing the blight of death to the world of Jesus' day, and it is still sin—perhaps a little more refined—that is at the root of all our trouble today.

We are now engaged in a frantic effort to remedy deplorable conditions by investigations, new laws and economic readjustments; and many honestly believe that these things will usher in the long-delayed kingdom of heaven on earth. However, one might express a fear—without undue pessimism—that our hopes may be doomed to failure unless the indispensable condition is fulfilled.

About this time we are celebrating the birth and extolling the virtues of George Washington, our national hero. Thank God for the towering character and example of this great man, but we need something more than that—power to follow the example. The world has had a host of great leaders, teachers, moralists and reformers but none of these have saved the world. Our great and crying need is a Savior, who can not only lead and teach, but give us power to follow His teaching. "Thou shalt call His name Jesus: for He shall save His people from their sins." That is His unique distinction among the sons of men, and the effort of modern critics to dethrone Him and place Him on a level with other great teachers and social reformers is to be deplored.

The sins of our country are crying to high heaven today, and instead of repentance we seem to grow more callous and unconcerned. Our legislature is seriously considering legalizing gambling and other forms of vice, under the specious plea that men will commit these sins anyway, and the State had just as well have some revenue from it. Sell our birthright of honor and righteousness for a mess of pottage! God save the mark! Esau will soon be paraded as a paragon of virtue, and the State will have discovered a new gold mine of revenue in licensing all the vices that flesh is heir to.

Yes, the Kingdom of God is still at hand, but "except a man be born again, he can not see the Kingdom of God" much less enter in.

Yes, the kingdom of heaven is still at hand, but without the new birth and repentance which Jesus alone can work in these sinful hearts of ours we will always fail to enter in. For "Him hath God exalted with His right hand to be a Prince and a Savior, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins."

It is time for earnest Christians everywhere to unite in earnest prayer and effort for a great spiritual awakening that will save our beloved heritage.

CATHARPIN

The "Catharpin Columnist," together with all other Catharpinites in general plus many who were not, read with much interest and amusement the letter from Mr. C. E. Jordan, formerly of Haymarket but now of Cristobal, Canal Zone, which was published in last week's Journal; and more particularly was this column interested in the proffered aid to our syntax difficulties. We now feel sure it will enable us to cope with the most difficult grammatical constructions; but in order that Mr. Jordan may fully understand us, we shall give him the Methodist way of handling the situation he speaks of which is as follows: The order—

"Gentlemen: Will you kindly ship at once the following order by express p p and oblige:

"I Goose and a Gander. You will understand, however, that it is a pair of the former we want so you can just keep the gander."

The sequel to the above was that the next morning's express brought us our two "gooses." Now you can readily see how we eliminated that awful swear word so that no "substitutions" need be offered no matter who might read the order.

Well, this column remembers Mr. Jordan so pleasantly that it was a pleasure, indeed, to have him refer to us in such a jovial, friendly way. We shall often think of him as we "pen" the little happenings as they occur in his "back-home" country. We are very sure that the descendants of the Sanders, Patties, Lynns, Leachmans, Cushings, etc., shall all appreciate his kindly references to their ancestry; and may we say we are positively sure and certain that "Sadie" will remember him and appreciate his every word.

Mrs. Susan Downs Sloper, wife of Mr. Thomas Sloper, was buried in the family lot, Sudley cemetery, on Thursday, Feb. 22, at 2 p.m. Funeral rites conducted by the pastor, the Rev. A. B. Sapp. The Slopers, formerly of Gainesville district, are now residents of New York State where they moved some two years ago. The deceased was in usual health until contracting pneumonia from which she could not recover. She leaves a husband and a number of grown children to mourn her loss. The funeral party was greatly delayed en route to Virginia by reason of the great snow storm in the Virginia region.

Mr. R. B. Gossom, our genial local assessor, was making his annual visit in the Catharpin neighborhood last week and wrote us all up ready for the pleasant duty of paying our annual citizenship dues along about December 1. We hardly get one set of taxes paid until another set peeps up over the horizon to keep us in a good humor.

The L. J. Pattie family is once more united by the return of the mother who had been absent about four weeks investigating the beauties and benefits of Sibley Hospital, Washington, where she had gone for an operation. The patient is doing splendidly and is high in her praise of Old Sibley which she thinks is most excellent. Their many friends join in congratulations to both Mrs. Pattie and the entire family upon their recovery to health after a siege of some three months ailments which embraced the whole household.

The second Quarterly Conference of the Sudley circuit will be held at the parsonage on Saturday, March 3, at 10 a.m. Owing to so much sickness and bad weather, services on the different charges have been greatly interfered with, but it is hoped the conference may receive the "retort courteous" via the envelope route, which also seems to have suffered from the same cause.

The Catharpin Good Housekeeping Club met with Mrs. T. Otis Latham at Snow Hill on Thursday of last week for its regular monthly meeting and the usual good time is reported. Usually these meetings are held in the afternoons at some member's home and a lunch served about 4 p.m. and here is where the hostess, if possible, tries to serve something "new." This naturally inspires a "cook-book research" with various and sundry results. Upon this occasion, however, the hostess invited the club for all day and when bidden to the festive board, found the table loaded with all the delicacies of the season with none other than George himself, standing in the center with his cherry tree beside him. It was then discovered that it was a Washington's Birthday Party and all the "fixens" that go with it were provided; little red hatchets for place cards and even a red cherry and a green leaf to top out the ice cream. The usual contest and prize awards figured in the proceedings and a belated exchange of Christmas gifts closed an eventful and perfect day. Mrs. W. C. Latham and young son of Hickory Grove and Mrs. Moffett Huffer and son of Leesburg were invited guests. Well, we don't know just how you feel about it, but it does seem too bad, to us, that we have to work our typewriter overtime to report these things and then have to be content with just hearing "HOW DELICIOUS THE EATS" were. Charlie, how do you handle these things down on the Panama Canal?

Mrs. J. H. Akers of Rock Hill returned to her home on Sunday after a few days visit among relatives and friends in the city of Washington.

DUMFRIES GROUP TO MEET

The March meeting of the Dumfries Home Demonstration group will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Mooney on Wednesday, March 7, at 1:30 o'clock. The topic for demonstration will be "Appetizing Salads."

The women of Dumfries-Quantico community are cordially invited to attend.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY OBSERVED BY LINTON HALL

Holiday was proclaimed at Linton Hall School on Thursday, February 22. A ball game in the morning's beautiful sunlight gave life and zest to the day's events. The unusual program followed in the evening.

The decorations of the stage were appropriate and dignified. Flags, large and small, single and crossed, were seen everywhere, while a Gilbert Stuart's life-sized painting of Washington hung in the center of the stage with a large American flag for background.

When the curtains were drawn a picture of twenty fine, husky lads with their instruments in hand was presented, Linton Hall's Brass and Reed Band. Cadet Edward (Eddy) Brennan of Washington and Michigan stood in the center and made the address. He said in part:

"Today is a notable day in the history of our great country, and we, the cadets of Linton Hall, have gathered together to offer a brief program in honor of the birth of the Father of our Nation, the immortal George Washington. (Here trumpets sounded and drums rolled.)

"While we wonderingly think of him as the fearless General, as the profound Statesman, as the President of the United States of America, we, the boys of Linton Hall, love to think of him as a boy, even like ourselves, with the ability to throw a Spanish dollar across the Rappahannock River—no mean feat, that—yet even as a boy he possessed a higher trait of character, the ability to always tell the truth. Let us emulate him."

The musical program followed and was most inspiring:

Full band, America; two piano solos, by Marcus Carroll, Story by the Mouse and Whistling Jan; songs, Father of the Land We Love, Linton Hall, Uncle Sammy; full band, Project March, Star-Spangled Banner.

When the program closed the boys must have felt that in honoring the great Washington they had indeed honored themselves. These many chaps and their school are to be congratulated on the splendid work accomplished in the first half of the present school year.

A new member among the Clarinet players was Howard Somma of Richmond, Va.

SALLIE W. BOTELER

Mrs. Sallie W. Boteler, a lifelong resident of the Fairfax neighborhood, died at the home of her only child, Mrs. W. Laird Arey, in Atlanta on February 21. Although in ill health for some time, her death came after a rather brief illness. The funeral service was held in Atlanta with Dr. A. Julian Warner officiating. Interment was Friday at the Fairfax Cemetery, with Rev. Herbert Donovan, rector of Zion Church, officiating.

Mrs. Boteler was the only child of Murvin and Jane (Allison) Washburn. She was born in 1859 near Fairfax Courthouse and lived in and near the same place until she moved with her daughter to Atlanta in 1928. She was a lifelong member of the Good Shepherd Church. She was married to L. I. Boteler, also of Fairfax County, who died January 5, 1924.

Always a devoted Christian and church worker, she will be greatly missed by the many friends who knew and loved her.

"WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD"
POWERFUL, REALISTIC FILM

Mark it down on your calendars now. "Wild Boys of the Road," First National's swift, vital dramatization of the story of a half million wandering boys and girls, which comes to the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Wednesday, is another amazing piece of realistic motion picture entertainment for which Warner Bros.-First National are noted.

Its power and intensity has scarcely been equalled on the talking screen. Here is a stirring story boldly told, filmed with understanding, featuring a vital drama based upon actual conditions which seem almost impossible in this day and age.

There seems to be no yardstick by which the power and drama of "Wild Boys of the Road" can be accurately measured. Perhaps it can be compared best with that other epochal film from the same producing company, "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang." Even so, "Wild Boys" seems to deal more effectively with a more vital subject than either of its predecessors.

Together with the tremendous import of this picture, it achieves an equally high place as pure entertainment. A story of modern youth, even a worried, homeless, fugitive youth, it still has an irrepressible humor, a buoyance of spirit and a vital spark of enthusiasm which add immeasurably to its general excellence.

Most of the players appearing in "Wild Boys of the Road" are under twenty. Frankie Darro, remembered for his sensational performance in James Cagney's "Mayor of Hell," plays a leading role. Dorothy Coonan, a newcomer, chosen from the chorus of "42nd Street" and "Gold Diggers of 1933" and other musicals, proves to be a happy choice for the principal feminine part. Edwin Phillips, Sterling Holloway and Ann Hovey are other youngsters whose work is outstanding in the picture.

CARD OF THANKS

In behalf of all of the children I wish to express our sincere appreciation of the loving kindness of neighbors and friends of our father, Ballard Preston Snyder, who passed away February 18, and we wish particularly to thank the Manassas Masonic Lodge and all who were so good during his illness and death.

(By Inna McGill)

OUR PRESIDENT

In the course of a tribute to President Roosevelt at the New York Engineers Club, Judge Martin Conboy said:

"The man who remembers what the situation was on the fourth of March last, and who knows what improvement has been since effected, recognizes in the President one striving as he thinks he would have striven to restore confidence and avert disaster. He sees that by the favor of the Providence which watches over the United States, a President has appeared on the scene who is endowed with that rare combination of character, courage and ability that the condition of the country imperatively demanded."

Stressing the confidence inspired by the President, Judge Conboy added: "Confidence of this order is not inspired by men to whom ability is conceded. There must be, in addition, that indefinable something we call character, a quality that can be defined only with the greatest difficulty but that fortunately can be recognized with the greatest ease."

And this "confidence" finds appreciation in the words voiced a short time ago, by the President, when he said: "I can never express in words what the loyalty and trust of the nation have meant to me. Not for a moment have I doubted that we would climb out of the valley of gloom. Always I have been certain that we would conquer, because the spirit of America springs from faith—faith in the beloved institutions of our land, and a true and abiding faith in the divine guidance of God."

THE WORD JUSTICE

Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts in a recent address declared: "The word justice is one of the most beautiful in the English language. Justice is owed to oneself, to one's neighbor, to one's country and to one's God."

"We must give in order to receive," he added, "and there are three channels in giving which can be followed—to home and loved ones, to country and to the Church."

NEIGHBORLY ACTS

Manassas has been weathering another storm of snow, sleet and zero weather. But storms of this nature emphasize the consideration of neighbor and of merchants for their customers. It was interesting, on Sunday, to see the residential brigade engaged in ridding their own and their neighbors' pavements of the deep snow. The girls who took part in this good work are to be commended. In this connection mention should be made of the young man who, through deep drifts, opened a path over pavement and steps for a group of churchgoers, yet, when asked his name by those whom he had voluntarily befriended, quickly replied, "O, Just Nobody."

THEY WORK NOT FOR FAME

To take our thoughts away from frigid weather and snow storms, let us think of that discovery of the particular mosquito that carried the infection of yellow fever which resulted in preventive measures and, so, reduced the death rate from that scourge. When Gorgas took charge of the construction of the Panama Canal, he achieved wonders by his attack on the mosquito, and by improving sanitary conditions. Now we learn that the Rockefeller Foundation is developing an immunizing vaccine which, if time proves its thoroughness, may banish from the earth the torments of the mosquito scourge.

To the ordinary observer it may seem that time passed in laboratories is wasted and that research is only a pastime for curious scientists. Yet, in a sense, many of these secluded scientists are heroes of a higher type than men who have been decorated for valor on the field of battle.

The humble monk laboring in his cell over decaying manuscripts, that the erudition of the ages may be preserved to posterity, and the cloistered Mendel experimenting with plants to find the truth of the laws of heredity, are of infinitely more value to this world than are many whose names are enshrined in history. No one knows the learned monk's name. Few had heard of Mendel 'till he was dead. Nor does any one remember the scientist laboring in his laboratory. Their task is to save life; not to take it. They are endeavoring, not to bring the race back to barbarism, but to make the bounds of knowledge yet wider.

Sacrificing everything, personally, they are repaid if they discover a new preventive to disease, or something that may add to the happiness of mankind.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST

The Word of God

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

THE LORD SUSTAINS:

They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.—Isaiah 40:31.

FEED THE BIRDS

The appeal of Game Warden Elton D. Sheetz to the citizens of Shenandoah County to feed the birds during the present severe weather will find a ready response, this paper feels sure, not only on the part of sportsmen, but on the part of citizens generally throughout this section of Virginia. The deep snow deprives our feathered neighbors of both food and water, and unless we have pity upon them most of them will die before conditions are again favorable to their survival.

It will be a small matter for each family to put food and water in some sheltered place where the birds can see and get to it once or twice a day. Small grain is preferable but bread and meat scraps will suffice and may save the lives of many of the starving little creatures. Aside from the matter of saving our supply of game and song birds, you will be surprised to find out how much genuine personal pleasure you will experience from this work of mercy.—Northern Virginia Daily.

A LETTER TO MERCHANTS

The value of your local newspaper to the success of your business cannot be overestimated. It's worth all the support and co-operation you can give it. For the newspaper is a mirror reflecting the life of the community in which you and your store have an important part.

Your advertisement is the reflection of your store in this mirror. Everybody sees it there. If it is not there the mirror is dark where your store should be. You are there but you cannot be seen. Your store is open for business as usual, but "out of sight; out of mind!"

To keep in step with the progress of your community; to get your share of business, you must advertise regularly. Take your newspaper publisher into your confidence; he can give you invaluable assistance. Establish an advertising budget. Plan a regular schedule for your advertisements. It's a policy that is followed by the most successful stores; it's an idea that will be profitable to you.—Stillwater (Minn.) Gazette.

How about you, Mr. Merchant? Don't you know that the mail-order houses mail regularly their catalogues to nearly every family in Prince William County? And, you, what are you doing to keep business at home? You don't even let the folks know you are in business if you fail to use your town paper.

Editor, The Manassas Journal.
Dear Editor,

With the extreme cold and snow the birds are having a hard time, and unless they are given some aid by human friends, many are bound to perish. Ice and snow has covered nearly all their resources for food and by the time what little there is available, is once more free of its icy blanket it will be too late for many a feathered songster.

A country without birds would be a sorry place indeed, the miracle of growing plants and birdsong are Nature's gifts that are free for all to enjoy.

However, much as we may treasure the birds for the beauty and sweetness they add to our countryside, there is also a very practical angle to be considered. It is a proven fact that an insect-eating bird will consume for its own food and as a supply for a young family, its own weight of plant-destroying worms and bugs.

There has never been a time when the farmer had as many insect pests to contend with as now, and scientists who are authorities on the subject assure us that were there a year's truce in fighting these various pests, and birdlife were to be destroyed, we would succumb to eventual starvation.

The birds are our allies in the season when we need their help, now is our time to stand by and help them; a few crumbs and grain scattered about now where they can get it will be more than paid for when the bugs and worms make their appearance.

SUSAN MORTON.

ATTENTION, S. S. WORKERS!

There will be a call meeting of Sunday school workers at the Manassas Presbyterian Church on Saturday, March 3, at 7:30 p.m.

We desire that all superintendents and at least two laymembers be present from each Sunday school of Manassas district. We also invite the ministers to be present with us.

Important business pertaining to Sunday school work will be considered.

Pres. County Council of Religious Education.

I have lost a life companion
A life linked with my own
And day by day I miss you more,
As I walk through life alone.

What would I give to clasp your hand
Your happy face to see;
To hear your voice and see your smile
That meant the world to me.

No one knows the silent heartache
Only those who have lost can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence
For the one I loved so well.

Hazardous Uncertainties!

JAN. 28: Where is Arthur Abele? Is he on the Jacob Ruppert, drifting on the Bay of Whales unable to reach the ice wall to unload equipment or to take marooned men aboard? Or is he with the 43 men on the ice at Pressure Camp, four miles from the edge, where some of the supplies had been dumped by tractors and dog teams from the ship before the crumbling of the bay ice and the great Ross Barrier of ice cliffs sent a million square yards of the ice sliding into the sea? Or is he one of the four men at Little America in need of warmth and food?

The club secretary, who acts as editor of these articles, has had no direct word from Abele since the day the Jacob Ruppert reached the Barrier in the Bay of Whales. (Jan. 18) He has, however, received messages through Third Mate, the Mackay Radio and Byrd Headquarters, that everybody, ashore and afloat, is safe. We have radioed to young Abele twice during the past week, once urging him to rush his weekly story of the exciting happenings down there. Then, hearing of the terrific struggle they are having to establish themselves in those awful surroundings, we radioed him to forget his stories until everybody is safe and settled.

The situation in the Bay of Whales is an amazing one, full of the most hazardous uncertainties. Little America and all the surrounding territory for hundreds of miles is not located on land. It is located on ice, sometimes hundreds of feet thick, and under it is water 1600 feet deep. Every year some of this ice breaks off but the vast bulk of it has remained more or less stationary for more than 80 years, probably anchored to land miles and miles away. During the past few years a slow movement of the ice toward the sea has been under way, as indicated by enormous pressure ridges which have been built up by the irresistible push of the slowly moving inland ice against the ice near the edge of the water. Admiral Byrd made a flight this week (January 26) and reported that some of these ridges extend further than the eye can see. This year, Antarctica is having an unusually warm summer. The temperature is hovering way up around the freezing mark—32 degrees Fahrenheit. This is melting the ice which is crumbling for countless square miles.

If you look at the map the Club has sent you, you will see that this huge ice area is believed to extend all the way back to Carmen Land, almost 500 miles. And if the weather does not get colder and freeze it, it may all slide suddenly into the sea, taking Little America and everything with it. It will almost certainly be necessary to undertake the cruel and superhuman task of moving the houses, radio masts and hundreds of tons of equipment of Little America further back, maybe several times, if the Admiral decides to go on with his plan of wintering on the ice with 45 men. If he deems it too risky, or if the Jacob Ruppert is not able to unload her 600 tons of supplies by February 10th, it may be necessary to abandon the entire plan until next December. And between Little America and the edge of the ice are pressure ridges impossible for the three tractors to negotiate and almost impossible for the dog teams.

The Antarctic winter is about to begin. The Jacob Ruppert is a steel ship. If she is caught in the ice when the sea freezes she will almost certainly be squeezed so that her plates will be crushed in. That is why she must get out of there and back to New Zealand before the freeze sets in. Admiral Byrd has set February 10 as the deadline. Meanwhile the good old wooden Bear of Oakland, with an ice-breaking bow 26 feet thick, is coming south through the Ross ice pack.

The reason the Ruppert is having difficulty unloading is that the ice has gone out of the Bay of Whales, which is nine miles wide and 20 miles long. Usually there is a great solid ice pack at the Bay's entrance with occasional leads or openings through which a ship can sneak. This was the situation when the Ruppert arrived. The ice kept the sea quiet. Now, however, the ice has broken up and so much of it has floated out to sea that a heavy swell has taken possession of the bay. The ship can no longer dock in this swell alongside the crumbling ice, because her sides rub against it even when it does not slide into the sea, and her bottom hits submerged ice. So she is drifting in the Bay until conditions change.

From the daily newspaper radio dispatches from the Expedition, which the Club Headquarters also receives, we learn that the day after the ship arrived Arthur Abele had a most thrilling adventure. He had swung over the side of the ship and was standing on a big ledge of ice, with an Eskimo dog in his arms, waiting to board the Matthews motor boat cruiser which was taking men and supplies to a landing place further along on the ice. Suddenly his ledge broke off and fell into the sea, with him and the dog on it. By a miracle it landed right side up and did not capsize. Holding the dog safely, Arthur sprang out on his stomach and balanced the floating ice cake until Edgar Cox, steering the cruiser, arrived and Arthur and his pet were hauled aboard. Here is a paragraph we omitted from Arthur's story last week:

"The tractor trip George Noville is planning should be a corker—half way across the entire continent of Antarctica, with a big American Cletrac tractor and two smaller French Citroen tractors. Hope I can go with him but I probably can't. My job is to stay at Little America and learn to be an aviator."

Since that was written, one of the tractors hauling great drums of Tydol gasoline to Pressure Camp caught fire and its wooden body completely burned up, and one of the others caught fire but it was extinguished by Admiral Byrd himself.

More than five thousand people, including several entire school and college geography and science classes, whose teachers are using these stories as weekly lessons, have joined the club by sending self-addressed stamped envelopes to Arthur Abele, Jr., Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y. There is no charge for joining this Club, organized at Admiral Byrd's request, and all members have received membership cards and a big working map of the South Polar region. A handsome club lapel button will be sent all members in the near future. If you haven't joined yet, the club will welcome you and your friends.

MUSICAL FILMS BRING NEW TYPE STARS INTO GREAT PUBLIC FAVOR

New types of screen players, as well as technical units, have been ushered into motion picture work with the present musical comedy cycle started by Warner Bros. and in which their mammoth picture, "Footlight Parade," at the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Monday, is the latest and most outstanding example. And these stars have come into great public favor.

Ruby Keeler and Dick Powell are two such types who have been made by musicals. Miss Keeler had never before appeared on the screen until she played in the first of Warner Bros. new musicals, "42nd Street," although she was well known as a musical comedy star on Broadway. A dancer of great ability, the new kind of screen entertainment at once opened a channel for her in pictures. An outstanding success in her first picture—she repeated in "Gold Diggers of 1933" and now is one of the stellar lights in "Footlight Parade."

Powell, before going to Warner Bros., was a singer and orchestra leader whose opportunity on the screen came with the new cycle of pictures. With the exception of a role as a crooner in "Blessed Event," "42nd Street" also was his first picture. He has been paired with Miss Keeler in all three of the big musicals produced by Warners. Furthermore, as the result of fan demand, the two will be teamed together in romantic non-musical pictures.

James Cagney and Joan Blondell, who are the principals in "Footlight Parade," have been popular stars of the screen for some time, but the musicals have furnished them with a new outlet for their talents not necessary to the regular run of features. Both were hoofers on the stage before entering pictures. Jimmy again shakes a mean foot in the current picture while Miss Blondell burst into song in "Gold Diggers of 1933."

Warner Bros. alone seem to have both the organization and the knack of turning out musical pictures that are the last word in screen entertainment. Busby Berkeley, who directed the beautiful dance numbers for the three musicals, is a genius for picking beautiful and talented girls for his chorus numbers; for creating inspiring dance ensembles and designing spectacular sets.

Lloyd Bacon, director of "Footlight Parade," also directed "42nd Street" and is a highly qualified megaphonist for musical comedies, having made the first of the musicals for the screen with Al Jolson for Warner Bros. Teams of ace song writers such as Harry Warren and Al Dubin and Sammy Fain and Irving Kahal who wrote the catchy airs for "Footlight Parade" are also being kept busy, the first team having also written the melodies for "42nd Street" and "Gold Diggers of 1933."

"Footlight Parade" surpasses its predecessors not only in its ensembles which are more elaborate and unique than any yet seen but it has a strong plot full of hilarious situations, tender romance, fast action and snappy dialogue. The all star cast includes besides those mentioned Guy Kibbee, Frank McHugh, Ruth Donnelly, Hugh Herbert, Claire Dodd, Gordon Westcott, Arthur Hohl, Phillip Faversham and 250 lively beauties.

VIRGINIA NEGROS CELEBRATE NATIONAL HEALTH WEEK

The twentieth anniversary of National Negro Health Week will be celebrated by negroes throughout the country during the week of April 1-8. For many years the National Negro Health Movement, in co-operation with the United States Public Health Service, state and local health departments and other interested organizations, has devoted an entire week during the spring of the year to a special health campaign to be observed in churches, schools and homes. Ministers, doctors, nurses and teachers will emphasize the importance of health and especially the health problems of mothers and children, by means of lectures, demonstrations and health contests. Personal hygiene, community sanitation and communicable disease control are the outstanding subjects to be considered, special days in the campaign week being assigned to them.

The Negro Organization Society of Virginia is the real founder of the Negro Health Week. It was from this organization that Dr. Booker T. Washington sensed the possibilities of such a movement and, in 1915, converted it into a national movement by a special appeal to colored organizations, all among colored people, called upon to co-operate in the celebration. Now, in 1934, there are forty-five organizations, both white and colored, actively co-operating in the observance of National Negro Health Week.

The efforts of these organizations to carry the gospel of good health directly to the colored people over this comparatively short period of years are already producing encouraging results. Since 1913 the median span of life of the negro in Virginia has been increased from thirty years to forty-five—the average negro in this State now lives fifteen years longer than in 1913. In 1931, 1,235 Virginia negroes died from tuberculosis; this number was reduced to 1,129 in 1932—a saving of 106 lives. Another significant fact is the reduction in the total number of negro deaths in Virginia from 11,553 in 1931 to 10,618 in 1932—a saving of 935 lives.

Special projects of the Negro Organization Society of Virginia are to secure more colored nurses employed throughout the State and to promote the organization of Child Health study groups, material for which is furnished by the State Health Department.
