BOARD SELECTS SCHOOL SITE

Waiting for OK on Loan Application.

The county school board with all members present met in the Woman's Club rooms at Haymarket to study the selection of a school site.

Despite a heavy drizzle, nearly a hundred interested citizens of Gainesville district attended the session.

Several sites were advocated and the board visited them. The final verdict was a property owned by W. M. Jordan. An appraisal committee composed of J. W. Alvey, M. G. White and Percival Lewis will determine the exact lot which is to be four hundred yards long by depth enough to give six acres. The outline of the lot will be rectangular. This land is on the northeast side of the John Marshall Highway, nearly at the edge of the town.

The exact site of the building will be determined by a committee composed of D. J. Arrington, Mrs. Anita Piercy, Superintendent Haydon and a representative from the State Architects' office. The building will be modern, containing nine rooms, auditorium (which may also be used as a gym), an office and the usual accommodations which go with a structure of this type.

Applications for a $12,000 loan from the Public Works Administration has gone in and the Board is marking time until it is approved. Immediately after this is granted, a literary loan will be asked for to supplement the amount needed.

The Board will hold a special session on the 26th when the Supervisors will also meet to hold hearings on the budget.

KIWANIS HEAR DAN HOLLENGA

Secretary of Alexandria Chamber Wants Local Body.

Dan Hollenga, executive secretary of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, came into the midst of the Kiwanis last Friday night and again proffered two weeks of his time to assist in the Dairy Festival this autumn.

Dan's talk was typical. He's quite a booster—in fact it's his trademark. This time Dan boosted for all he was worth to urge to business men to organize a trade body.

Everybody listened with great interest to the talk which was colorful and picturesque with varied and unusual phraseology such as Dan delights in.

Ladies Night seems to have gone by the board for a week or so. Something got into the works and slowed things down.

CREDIT THRU CREDIT ASSOCIATION NOW AVAILABLE

The Warrenton Production Credit Association is now ready to furnish credit to farmers for the production of livestock and crops. These loans are best suited to those needing longer term credit as for purchasing cattle.

Inspection and abstracting costs together with the requirement that the borrower subscribe 5 per cent of the amount of his loan as stock in the association does not make the credit offered particularly adapted for smaller amounts for short periods of time.

The association is not in competition with local banks but due to regulations under which it is established may be able to accept collateral for loans which banks can not take.

By filling out the applications now, credit may be established with the association and the money drawn at the time needed with interest charges not starting until that time. Application forms may be obtained at the County Agent's office.

GETS ROUGH RECEPTION

Engineer Hubbard, local engineer for the Highway Commission, has certainly had a bad reception.

Coming in on the 1st of February, he arrived in a period of cold which got colder by the day. The rough roads have literally kept him in a saddle for this county has a wide secondary system and the folks who live on them like to travel just as much as the others.

Mr. Hubbard has acclimated himself quickly as he is making good progress under the most discouraging conditions.

(Phoned to The Journal by Delegate Herring)

At 5:30 this afternoon, by a vote of 25-13, the Senate passed the Peery tax program which goes back to the House tonight for concurrent in some slight changes.

CLUB TO HOLD CHARITY BALL

Mrs. G. R. Ratcliffe, General Chairman.

The Manassas Woman's Club is again making plans to put on its annual charity ball on Easter Monday, April 2. This has become an established custom of the club and is one of the high lights of the social season. The proceeds each year have been contributed to hospitals which have given hospitalization and treatment to the underprivileged children of Prince William County, and has the whole-hearted support of not only the members of the club, but every organization and citizens interested in the well being of "the least of these."

Mrs. Robert Smith, chairman of the Woman's Club, has appointed Mrs. G. R. Ratcliffe as general chairman, and the following committees to assist her:

Reception: Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Aylene Guthrie, Mrs. J. P. Lyon, Mrs. C. C. Lynn, Mrs. T. J. Broadus and Mrs. F. R. Hynson.

Music: Mrs. O. D. Waters, Mrs. Hawes Davies.

Invitations: Mrs. H. E. Pickeral, Mrs. T. H. Howard, Mrs. Edgar Parrish.

Decorations: Mrs. A. A. Hough, Mrs. C. C. Lynn, Mrs. F. R. Hynson, Mrs. Harvey Steele and Mrs. Harry Love.

Refreshments: Mrs. T. J. Broadus, Mrs. Geo. McDonald and Mrs. R. B. Bission.

Clean-up: Mrs. John Hynson, Mrs. V. V. Gillum and Mrs. Paul Cooksey.

SCHOOL TEAMS IN TOURNAMENT

Nokesville Teams Play Manassas Boys and Haymarket Girls for Titles.

The finals of the county high school basketball tournament will be held in the M. H. S. gymnasium this Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

In the boys division, the Manassas and Nokesville teams will play for the championship of the county, and in the girls division, the title rests between Nokesville and Haymarket.

These four teams earned the right to play for the title by scoring decisive victories in the preliminary round held at Nokesville last Saturday, March 3. The final results were as follows: Nokesville girls 36, Manassas girls 6; Haymarket girls 54, Occoquan 13; Manassas boys 42, Occoquan boys 20, and Nokesville boys 39, Haymarket boys 17.

Manassas boys and Haymarket girls, the championship teams of last year, are still in the running for the title and bid fair to offer stubborn opposition to the teams which are attempting to take their titles away from them. On the basis of play in the preliminaries both games should be very hotly contested, and a very few points should separate the winners and losers.

C. C. C. DANCE

The men of the Conservation Camp will give a dance on the evening of Saturday, March 10, to which the young ladies of Manassas are especially invited. The officers in charge state that competent chaperones will be in attendance and that transportation will be furnished, leaving the Prince William Hotel between 8 and 8:30 p.m. and returning there after the dance. Refreshments will be served and the committee in charge has made every effort to insure an enjoyable event.

HIGH SCHOOL LEAGUE

The High School League will meet at the Manassas High School on Tuesday, March 15, at 3 p.m. Business of importance will include the annual free-will offering for State work.

The fee bill abolishing the fee system will be finally voted on tomorrow and also the budget.

ON CAPITOL HILL

Direct from the Press Gallery.

Ever since Congress convened, it has been struggling with the problem of how much of the 15 percent pay cut to restore to Government employees, and the final solution is still just as much in doubt as it was two months ago.

The pay cut question is all tied up, along with so-called veterans' benefits, in the Independent Offices Appropriation Bill. This measure has passed both the House and Senate, but because of the controversial pay cut and veterans' benefits features, its legislative journey is still far from completion.

Right now, the Bill is back in the House Appropriations Committee, where it originated early in January, soon after Congress convened. Speaker Rainey sent it there last week when it was returned from Senate, bearing the scars of a furious political battle, and changed in many respects from the form in which it originally left the House.

The House wrote into the Bill originally a provision to restore five percent of the Government pay cut when the new fiscal year begins July 1, and left with the President the authority to increase the percentage if the rise in the cost of living justified higher Government wages.

The Senate, however, voted to give the Government workers 5 per cent of the pay cut back, effective February 1, and remaining ten per cent July 1. In addition, the Senate prescribed a number of veterans' benefits, and increased the total called for in the House Bill by approximately $354,000,000. Of this amount, it was estimated $190,000,000 would be absorbed by full pay cut restoration.

The best authority on what is likely to happen to the pay cut provision on the House side of the Capitol is Representative Clifton A. Woodrum, Democrat of Virginia, chairman of the sub-committee on appropriations which framed the Bill.

Ever since the Bill with the amendments was returned from the Senate, Mr. Woodrum has been holding a series of informal conferences with House members to ascertain their sentiment on the question of pay cut restoration and veterans' benefits. His predication is that the House will agree to give the Federal workers 5 percent back, retroactive to February 1, and another 5 per cent beginning July 1, and clothe the President with authority to return the remaining 5 per cent if living costs go up. He also believes the House will trim the Senate figure for veterans' benefits.

Whatever the outcome of the Government pay fight, Mr. Woodrum, as well as Senator Carter Glass, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, will give a sigh of relief. On these two Virginians has fallen the burden of steering the Independent Offices Bill through Congress.

In fact, Mr. Woodrum has been working on this measure ever since early December, a month before Congress met. His subcommittee held numerous hearings before framing the Bill, and after it was reported to the House, it fell to his lot to take charge of it on the Floor and defend it from attack. Now he has the job to do all over again.

Mr. Woodrum is regarded as one of the foremost leaders in the House on Government economy. His background of experience began several years ago when he was drafted to serve on the Special Economy Committee, which framed the original economy program. Since then he has been in charge of the subcommittee handling the Independent Offices Appropriation Bill, which has contained the Government Economy program for the last two years.

Political Talks Tabooed

Members of Congress are smiling wisely but saying nothing about the latest move of President Roosevelt to muzzle the political spellbinders in the Government service.

The President's order forbids Members of his Cabinet, as well as other high officials from making political speeches.

The President, it is said, was especially anxious to avoid having any member of his official family refer in public to the first year of the "new deal" as a political triumph for the Democratic party.

The rule was invoked at this time in order to shut off a possible outburst of political oratory to commemorate the close of the first year of Mr. Roosevelt's Administration. It will, however, be kept in force for the remainder of his term.

While the rule does not apply to Members of Congress, and could not, the President has let it become known to party leaders in both the Senate and House that the less said at this time about the first year of his Administration, the better he will like it.

YOUNGER SET TO UTILIZE LEISURE HOURS

A Home Arts class composed of Misses Esther Warren Pattie, Rena Bevans, Charlotte Tiffany, Meaker Burke, Charlotte Brown, Walser Conner, Marion Lynn, and Janet Trusler met Monday, March 5, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the home economics department of the Manassas High School.

The aims of this group are to develop ability in the economical selection of consumer-food supplies, to develop skill and judgment in the preparation and use of breads, meats, vegetables, salads, salad dressings and desserts in the day's menu plan, and to collect and exchange ideas for attractive table decorations.

Each member of the class, after observing a demonstration, made biscuit and biscuit variations. The products were then scored. Comparative cost and quality of brands of flour, baking powder and lard were made.

Provision for the instruction of this class is authorized by the George Reed Federal Home Economics Appropriation. The work will come under the supervision of the regular home economics instructor.

Results of the class will appear in this paper each week.

W. M. S. TO OBSERVE WEEK OF PRAYER

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist Church will observe the "Season of Prayer for Home Missions" at the mid-week service Wednesday, the 14th, at the church at 7:30 p.m. at which time the W.M.S. will have charge of the program.

An all-day meeting in the interest of the same cause will be held on Friday, the 16th, at the home of Mrs. R. M. Jenkins, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

It is hoped that many will come out and attend these meetings.

WILL SPEAK AT HAYMARKET

Mr. C. B. Roland and Mr. Charles Lynn will talk on "Taxes and What Is Done With Them" on Friday night next at 8 o'clock in the Masonic Hall at Haymarket. This is under auspices of Bull Run Grange and the general public is cordially invited to be present.

C. W. A. WORKERS ARE REDUCED

County Force Cut to 151 Men. 10 Per Cent Go Off Each Week.

In accordance with the Government requirement, the C.W.A. force in Prince William County is being reduced 10 per cent a week, both on Federal and on local projects. At the same time the National Reemployment Service is launching a campaign throughout the nation to stimulate the employment of these men under private industry. Personal contact is being made with employers, urging them to make use of the list of eligibles on file with the National Reemployment Service in filling positions.

As spring work advances, farmers and householders are being urged also to call for these workers. It is pointed out that these eligibles represent the most worthy cases as investigations by the local welfare agencies reveal.

In Prince William County only 151 men are now on the C.W.A. rolls and these face the necessary 10 per cent per week curtailment. At present they are assigned to the various C.W.A. projects in the county as follows:

Dumfries and Occoquan School Project 29, Manassas School 14, Haymarket School 7, Town of Occoquan 16, Nokesville 15, Town of Manassas 35.

In as much as the men who are being laid off are still in great need, the public has been addressed by the following statement issued from the Prince William County Office of the National Reemployment Service, of which Mr. H. C. Dulaney is in charge:

"With the removal of numbers of C.W.A. workers, the public may feel that the National Reemployment Service offices are showing less activity. The fact is that with the President's new program the N.R.S. has a much more responsible part to play, but in order to give our best, the co-operation of the private employer—the farmer, all who expect to need help in one form or another, is necessary.

"We hope that fraternal and civic bodies, as well as the individual, will feel the subtle urge that the Spring seems to inspire to clean up, freshen up, and do the various jobs that a severe winter has made impossible to do before.

"In spite of the fact that Recovery is becoming more apparent, we are still confronted with a vast amount of unemployment; everyone that is employed privately is just one less to be considered on our files, and every dollar that is put into circulation through wages means that the local merchant, and business in general, will benefit. Our files show a wide range of workers to choose from: Mr. Business Man, do you need another clerk, or part-time clerk, a typist, or a bookkeeper, or, if you are a home owner, does it not need some repair or freshening up that we can send a carpenter or painter to take care of, or perhaps a mere cleaning up that would require only unskilled labor.

"And you, the farmer, whose busy season is just approaching, let us supply your labor, we have plenty of applicants who can qualify for any sort of farm work that you may need them for.

"You, Mrs. Housewife, do not forget that there are women in the county, too, who are seeking employment, can you not find work, whole or part time, for a cook, or any general housework, and is there not sewing that it would be to your advantage to secure some help for?

"The National Reemployment Service is just exactly that, a service that the public should feel is theirs to call on. The employer or employee pay no fee, and we can get in touch with the particular sort of worker that is required. As some erroneously think, there is no set wage scale for private employment, but it is based on the prevailing wage of the community.

"We would like the confidence and the co-operation of the public who is

RATCLIFFE HEADS DEBT COMMITTEE

Committee Makes Public the Plan of Work.

Acting as temporary chairman at request of Governor Peery, Mr. G. Raymond Ratcliffe called an organization meeting last night in Manassas to perfect the work of the County Farm Debt Adjustment Committee. Mr. Ratcliffe was elected chairman, Mr. E. W. Thompson vice-chairman, and Mr. Wilbur Kline secretary. The other members of the committee for Prince William County are Messrs. Thos. H. Lion, J. W. Alvey, Mahlon Seese, E. M. Briggs, A. E. McInteer.

In order to bring about a better understanding of the function of this committee, the following statement was immediately made public after the meeting held last night:

"The function of this committee is set forth in the Governor's letter of appointment, part of which is as follows:

"It is our thought that such committee will serve as a material assistance to both debtor and creditor in an effort to arrive at a friendly, sensible and fair solution of the debt problems, and that such efforts will tend to conciliate many problems of the type which have heretofore resulted in unnecessary foreclosures. It is likewise hoped and expected that these voluntary committees will serve in the future as a basis of developing harmony between contending interests in various localities of the State."

"The local committee, in order to avoid any misunderstandings as to its duties, wishes to make public the following statement concerning its work:

(a) Any debtor or creditor seeking a readjustment in the debt relationship, one with the other, may ask this committee to investigate and make recommendations to either or both parties for the purpose of effecting a satisfactory solution of any existing difficulties.

(b) Application blanks will be furnished to either the debtor or creditor seeking adjustment. These blanks supplied by members of the committee may be used to request the aid of the committee.

(c) This committee has nothing to do with the actual refinancing of farm loans under the Federal farm relief legislative program. Such relief should be sought through the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore, of which Mr. Bruce Whitmore, of Manassas, is the local representative.

"In commenting on the proposed work of the committee, Mr. C. Nelson Beck, secretary Virginia Farm Debt Committee, stated that obviously if the local committee is to accomplish its purpose, debtors and creditors who desire to submit their problems to the committee should recognize that conciliation is the keynote and that the recommendation of the committee is for the guidance of both parties in their efforts to reach a friendly and mutually satisfactory settlement of their problems."

The committee's decision. When an agreement between debtor and creditor has been reached through the suggestions and recommendations of the county committee, a final contract should be drawn up between the two interested parties. At this point the services of a lawyer, either as a member of the committee or as an adviser, will be found almost indispensable because the contract should be in legal form.

The Local Committee in Operation.

There are several ways by which the county committee may aid in the adjustment of farm debts.

1. The mere fact that such a committee exists means that people of the community will give more attention to debt-adjustment problems and will frequently cause debtors and creditors to seek an amicable adjustment of any differences that may exist. It has been the experience of many county committees that in many cases it is only necessary to suggest to a debtor applicant that he go to his creditor and "lay his cards on the table." He should do this before officially submitting his case to the committee. It will promote better relations between debtor and creditor. In many cases it may be (Please turn to page 8) in any sort of position to furnish employment to one or many. We will do our utmost to secure you competent workers, please tell us your needs and let us show you that it is our business to fill them."

A MILKMAN'S MEDITATIONS

The flag may follow the dollar, but so does the crowd.
Sound business principles and Christianity go hand in hand.
A man of God knows the difference between Living and Existing.
How can a man escape reaping what he sows in this world as well as in the next?
Cross-grained men do not make the best church timber.
Every spoken word is a boomerang; the after effects of a kind word are better than a harsh word.
Most young men will learn that it don't take much thought or effort to 'act like a fool.'

A SERMONETTE

Rev. A. Stuart Gibson

Matthew 5:43-44 "Love Your Enemies"

This is a time for a re-interpretation of the Christian Religion. Times similar have preceded this. Scientific discoveries have modified our thought. What have we Christians to say to modern science and to this and the coming ages?

Let us consider this a forum for the discussion of an important modern problem. About nineteen hundred and thirty years ago there appeared in Nazareth in Galilee a man from the masses, whose influence on human history has been unique. As a man he was endowed with a penetrating intellect and a noble spirit such as none of his contemporaries possessed. He dealt with phases of human life and attributes of mind and spirit on which science is not qualified to speak. "Qualities" which cannot be weighed or measured, not quantities with which science is alone equipped to deal.

It had become the fashion to speak of Jesus as an humble carpenter, who had no right to speak of the great things of which he spoke, as a man having authority and not as the scribes. Let me make a comparison. What scientist will say that Michael Faraday could not speak on matters of science? Yet Faraday was born and bred a man of the people until Sir Humphrey Davy took him from his work as bookbinder's apprentice and gave him a chance to develop his mind. If Faraday had not lived, thought, worked and taught in his own special field, where would be our dynamos, motors and other electric equipment?

Jesus dealt with a realm beyond science. He taught truth far beyond his day and age. The more we examine his work and his character, the more we are convinced that, with his disciples, we must acknowledge He is greater than any man we know. In Him we see the ideal character of man, the character which mani-

Sickness thruout the community is still on the mend and it is now prophesied that since the groundhog has functioned so persistently and continuously and with such vigor that he must be about through and an early spring is "just around the corner." At least that is what we hope. We as a people are a "forgiving People" and once we are let alone we soon forget and go on our way rejoicing.

Services at Sudley have been entirely suspended during January and February but it is now hoped that next Sunday may find health and weather conditions favorable to a reopening of all services so that people can get together once more and renew acquaintances. It seems a long time to be absent from church and Sunday school work.

The past week might very properly be called the "rubber-coat-and-gumboot-week" since it was not safe to appear in any other form of garb; therefore all "society events" were cancelled and the low backed dresses (excuse me—gowns) and spike-tailed coats were left in their usual haunts, the former in one side of the handbag and the latter across a chair back. So here's hoping that things may come out all right yet and that we shall "live happily ever after."

So here's hoping that things may come out all right yet and that we shall "live happily ever after."

MINNIEVILLE

Minnieville has come to life after being snowed under for four weeks. Roads are very muddy, not many traveling around. News is scarce. There will be services at the Baptist Church here Saturday, March 10, 2:30, and Sunday morning, March 11, at 11 o'clock. Elder Miller, pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Russell's little baby who was taken to the hospital and operated on for mastoids has been brought home and is getting along nicely.

We were sorry to hear Mr. Barroe Curtis, a resident of this neighborhood, was carried to Alexandria Hospital during the cold weather, both feet were frozen and were amputated. We hope he will soon be out.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis have moved to Agnewville where they will make their home for a while. We wish them good luck.

Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Kidwell and little son, Singleton, of Aurora Hills, spent February 22 at the home of their parents here.

GOLD RIDGE COMMUNITY LEAGUE

The Gold Ridge Community League will hold its regular meeting on Friday, March 16. There will be a program given by the school children after which there will be string music.

CLIFTON

Mr. Swen Elgin is a patient in Georgetown Hospital.
Mrs. Geo. Kincheles was a Manassas visitor on Tuesday.

Mrs. Nannie K. Johnson is recovering from an operation on her eye at Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital last Saturday.

Mr. Frank Detwiler has been very sick with the grippe but is improving.

The weekly prayer meeting of the Presbyterian Church was held at the home of Mrs. Edgar Davis last Thursday.

Mrs. Jas. Beasley was a Manassas shopper last Tuesday.

Mrs. J. C. Koontz and daughter, Louise, have been confined to their home with the grippe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Weaver moved in their new home on March 1.

Mrs. Wickliffe Buckley was hostess to the Clifton bridge club last week.

The Penitent Pirates, an operetta in two acts, will be presented on March 15 and 16, in the Clifton High School auditorium, by the Glee and Dramatic Clubs of the school.

Nine society girls run away from home to be pirates—because their parents won't give them everything they want—and are captured on a desert island, in a cave by the nine "real" pirates who possess it. The dramatic situations are as interesting as the songs, drills and dances, and all combine to work out a plot both exciting and interesting.

The cast of characters is as follows:

Marguerite, the optimist, Ruth Chesley; Peggy, the pessimist, Bella Allen; Rita, the Spanish girl, Mary Buckley; Evelyn, the tomboy, Jessie Nickolls; Doris, the flapper, Idell Spindle; Ida, the would-be movie actress, Dorothy Mathers; Lillian Weaver, soloist in the "Bear Song"; Mary Chesley, soloist in "Please Let Us Do"; Tommy Kincheles, the gum-chewer; Henry, the pirate general, Everett Koontz; John, the pirate sergeant, George Mock; George, the pirate colonel, Willie Maley; Stephen, the pirate major, Roger Buckley; Eugene, the pirate corporal, Jesse Fairfax; Joe, the pirate captain, Harry Buckley; Randolph Mathers, first lieutenant; Randolph Burke, second lieutenant; "The Bear"; Stuart DeBell, third lieutenant.

VIRGINIA'S DEBT

The Virginia State Debt is $22,670,770 less a sinking fund of $2,563,470. This is much better than the situation in most of the states.

"SONS OF THE DESERT" NEW FEATURE-LENGTH LAUGH FEST
FOR LAUREL & HARDY FANS

When a husband tries to deceive his wife, he is almost certain to become involved in a series of difficulties. This is especially true if he is assisted in his fabrications by one as dumb as Stan Laurel, who, with his side-splitting, eyebrow-raising partner, Oliver Hardy, is seen in their latest Hal Roach-M-G-M feature-length comedy, "Sons of the Desert," coming to the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Wednesday.

Assisted by a notable cast including Charley Chase, a star in his own right; Mae Busch, Dorothy Christy and Lucien Littlefield, a situation of wife-deception is turned into a screamingly funny picture that ably colors the mirth-provoking antics of the stellar comedy team.

Stan and Oliver find that even though they have sworn to attend the convention of their lodge in a distant city, they are faced by the strenuous and pugnacious objections of Hardy's wife. A serious illness is invented by the boys, and Laurel is commissioned to find a doctor who will prescribe a trip to Honolulu as the only sure cure. The doctor turns out to be a veterinarian, but so ably does he assist the boys with their deception that they are soon on their way to the "Sons of the Desert" gathering.

At the convention city, the two pal up with a brother delegate from Texas. When the latter learns that Laurel and Hardy are from Los Angeles, he decides to call up a sister living there, via long distance telephone. Hardy is introduced to her over the phone. After a flirtatious conversation, he takes her number down for future reference only to find after a second glance that it is his own home phone number and that he has been talking to his own wife.

Their return home results in even more difficulties than their attempts to get away. On arrival, the two find that the vessel they are supposed to be returning on has sunk and that, while no passengers have been lost, they are being brought back on another boat due to arrive a day later.

How they come out of this mess and the trials and tribulations that result from their attempts to extricate themselves, brings the film to a climax that would make a red riot look like a Sunday school picnic.

REAL WINTER

Last week's heavy snow storm and wintry weather with thermometers, one day, registering 16 below zero, was a record for Manassas that made welcome the milder days of the week. But accounts from Burlington, Vt., would indicate that Virginia, by comparison, has had only a touch of genuine winter in the year 1934. Dispatches from the Green-Mountain State describe roads blocked with snow, after snow, and mercury registering 40 below when, after a week's severity, workmen finally began breaking open a road to a nearby town, isolated for seven days behind one of Vermont's eternal hills.

Trucks could not break through the crusty drifts, plows failed and it seemed as if the storm-bound village might be lost until summer. "Yankee ingenuity saved the day," according to an editorial in The Washington Post, "when the road commissioner borrowed several large ice-saws and workmen cut the way, square by square, for a distance of six miles. That's Winter! That's worth discussion 'round the cracker barrel!"

ONE BY ONE

Noah was surprised to see three camels coming up the gangway. "Hey!" he shouted, "one of you will have to stay ashore."

"Not me," said the first ship of the desert, "I am the camel so many people swallow while straining at a grail."

"I," said the second, "am the camel whose back is broken by the last straw."

"And I," said the third and last, "am the camel which shall pass through the eye of a needle sooner than a rich man shall enter the Kingdom of Heaven."

Noah scratched his head in perplexity. Finally, deciding that posterity could ill spare any of these and would be lost for illustrations without them, he let them all come aboard.—Boston Transcript.

WILLIAMSBURG RESTORED

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth met in Williamsburg, the Colonial Capital of Virginia, on the twenty-fourth of last month for the first time in a century and a half to commemorate the restoration of the stately red-brick capitol, built during the reign of Queen Anne—now transformed into a structure designed to recall the scenes in which Virginia Legislature made the laws of the Colony.

The restored capitol is only one of a hundred-odd Colonial houses restored or constructed in the historic town on a scale of expensive elegance—three of them public buildings. Three hundred and fifty modern structures which "spoiled the picture" have been swept away.

The money for this enterprise, already amounting to $12,000,000 or more, has been supplied by John D. Rockefeller, jr., who was at once the guest of honor and the host to the Governor of Virginia and the Virginia Assembly, on this historic day that marked the opening of a new era for Williamsburg.

The town has remained exceedingly small with a population of only a little over 2,000—not counting the hundreds of students at the College of William and Mary. This seat of learning, founded in 1693, has the distinction of counting among its graduates three Presidents of the United States—Jefferson, Monroe and Tyler—and John Marshall, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

When Thomas Jefferson moved the capital of the new Republic Government to Richmond, in 1799, Williamsburg was left with all the office buildings and trappings of a capital; consequently, in 1783, the Virginia Legislature was found offering it to Congress as a ready-made outfit for a National Capital.

The restoration of the town brings to us a knowledge of the place and period when Williamsburg, as a settlement, was coeval with Boston. And to the man who had the imagination and the money to transform a slumbering village into a unique memorial of patriotism, Virginia owes a debt of gratitude.

SPRING GARDEN
SUGGESTIONS*Home Demonstrator Gives Timely Suggestions.

In spite of the present cold weather, it is time to think about gardening. In fact, these cold winter nights afford an excellent opportunity to sit by the fireside and make some definite plans concerning the coming year's food supply.

Naturally, the first question which arises in planning a garden and which is suggested in studying the seed catalogs concerns the vegetables to be planted in the garden. How many and what vegetables should be included to constitute a good garden—one which will supply an abundance of fresh vegetables to the farm family throughout every month in the year? For the sake of discussion let us say that a garden, to supply such a diet, should contain from twenty to twenty-five different vegetables. The selection of these vegetables should be given serious consideration. As a rule, vegetables which are difficult to grow should not be included by the inexperienced gardener. By far the greater number of vegetables included should be the more common or staple vegetables.

In the green or leafy group, such vegetables as lettuce, cabbage, turnip salad and curly kale deserve a place in every garden. Cabbage is available throughout the summer and fall months. The fall crop may easily be stored throughout the winter. Kale will over-winter in the garden. Lettuce may be available from early spring to frost. With these should be included three or four other green or leafy vegetables whose selection should be determined by individual tastes and preferences. Among those vegetables from which the selection should be made are mustard, celery, spinach, collards, endive, Swiss chard, cress and spinach mustard. Each of these vegetables has its own special merits. Spinach like kale will live through the winter. Mustard is a delicious green, but goes to seed quickly in hot weather. For those who are particularly fond of this green, spinach-mustard, a heat resistant mustard, is recommended. Swiss chard, which belongs to the beet family, will produce more greens to the foot of row than any other green you can grow.

In the root vegetables, potatoes, onions, beets, carrots and turnips should certainly be found in every garden. Sweet potatoes should be added in certain sections of the state. Either parsnips or salsify, or both, should be included, as they will live through the winter, thus making a fresh vegetable available in the winter months.

In the fruit vegetables, tomatoes, beans, peas and corn should always be included. Lima beans, if desired, may be grown in any section of the state. Okra should prove a welcome addition to many gardens. No soup mixture is complete without this vegetable. Peppers will thrive in any good garden spot. Pumpkin and squash should be included if they are not grown in the cornfield. Cucumbers for the table and pickles are always prized by the housewife. Cantaloupes and watermelons may be included if the soil is suitable for these crops.

After determining which vegetables to include, it is necessary to decide upon varieties. There are numerous varieties of every vegetable. Every year new varieties appear on the market. The home gardener is often at a loss to know what variety to select. In general, it is wise to make your main plantings from the standard varieties. A few of the specialties may be tried with pleasure and profit, but the main planting should be limited to the varieties which have been tested by years of experience and found reliable. If you are not familiar with varieties and have catalogs from two to three concerns, the problem of selection is simplified. Limit your selection of varieties largely to those listed in all catalogs. Practically all large seed houses carry the standard varieties.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST
The Word of God
 BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.
GOD'S GENEROSITY: O God let all the people praise thee. Then shall the earth yield her increase; and God shall bless us. And all the ends of the earth shall fear him.—Psalm 67: 5-7.

THE NEW TRIAL JUSTICE

The appointment of William Hill Brown as trial justice for Prince William seems to have met with unanimous approval. Mr. Brown's father was mayor of Manassas and held other civic offices of importance and trust. That the mantle of popularity should fall on his only son seems to be accepted by everyone with satisfaction.

Though young in years Mr. Brown has the judicial instinct and poise of an older and more experienced man.

To the new judge we extend our heartiest good wishes for a most successful career which we believe he will have.

THE ASSEMBLY ENDS

With both bodies of State Assembly passing bills forward for advanced reading and accepting them almost as rapidly, legislation resembled a machine gun engagement with the color of bills changing within the hour.

Committees are meeting on rapid fire demand and one would wonder why such efficiency could be developed about a month ago. With both the budget bill and the tax advance plan in the offing, the entire state is standing breathless to see what happens. If the extra million is raised on the Peery plan, the school system of the state will give one good long breath and let out three rousing cheers.

There are items in the budget still being contested by those advocating stricter economy and this bill may not finally be passed until tomorrow.

The mass of most of this legislation is meaningless to many but one item which may revolutionize voting is the apparent success of the measure which would permit voters hereafter to vote as of yore, with either a check or a cross mark to indicate for whom they are voting instead of having to cross out all that they do not want.

Another important item locally was the action of the Senate in giving every county $400 to help pay the salary of its trial justice, otherwise about our third of the counties would have not received this aid, already having justices in office.

Your subscription label tells whether a subscription is due.

RECENT VISITORS IN MANASSAS

Messrs. Allen Hovermale and Allen Kline of Washington, D. C., were guests of friends in Manassas over the week-end.

ASSEMBLY VISITS A NEW SHRINE

Mariners Museum Assembled at Huntington.

For the second time in as many weeks, the General Assembly of Virginia traveled out of town Saturday to inspect a new Virginia shrine. Last week it visited restored Williamsburg, where John D. Rockefeller, jr., who has spent $12,000,000 on the project, received its members and Governor Peery. This week the governor and Assembly went to Newport News to inspect the beginning of the Mariners' Museum, the contribution of Archer M. Huntington to Virginia and a project reported to require a much greater outlay than the Restoration.

While Mr. Rockefeller searched the English speaking world for appropriate things with which to furnish his restored Colonial city, and to verify his restoration plans by old writings, Mr. Huntington has set aside twenty-five years of his life to searching the world for relics of the men and ships which conquered the seven seas.

In the conception of his museum, Mr. Huntington, who is an artist by instinct and whose wife, Ann Hyatt Huntington, is both painter and sculptor, has made definite provision to include not only relics of the sea but appropriate sculpture, forceful paintings and a library of 50,000 volumes of nautical works. Provision is also made for the preservation of specimens of wild land and sea life, for including in the museum grounds every type of tree and shrub which will grow in the Virginia climate and for a wild fowl sanctuary.

What the Legislature will see will be the accomplishments of four years in the twenty-five year plan. There are many notable relics already on display, numbers of famous figure heads, compasses, chronometers, sextants and wheels from many an ancient bark, a carved paddle wheel cover from an ancient side wheeler, saluting cannon from old warships, insid ships tables, shipping papers signed by every president from Washington to Hayes, whole tiers of ancient treasure and sea chests, a full sized Spanish fishing boat, old liquor and medicine chests and a vast quantity of priceless bits picked up from the four corners of the earth. However, the things they saw are only the forerunner of the treasures which Mr. Huntington will collect in his museum.

In the field of art there are hundreds of interesting and valuable paintings, selected by Mr. and Mrs. Huntington in various parts of the world. Whole groups of the works of Harry Nayland, the Roux family, of Clifford W. Ashley and many interesting Courier and Ives prints, are a part of the collection. There are paintings of Columbus, Mississippi River activities, eighteen wonderful pictures of whaling ships in action, the Merrimac sinking the Cumberland in Hampton Roads, and similar interesting subjects. More than 5,000 of the books for the library have arranged and are being placed. Many fine bits of sculpture have been received and are in place in appropriate places in the grounds.

Probably one of the most interesting of all of the exhibits is that of the ship models, which some day will number a complete set of all of the types of boats which have ever sailed the seven seas since the beginning of time. All are to be modeled on the same scale, a quarter of an inch to the foot. The first of these models to be completed, the S.S. President Hoover, took more than two years to build. Workman expects to spend the next two decades rounding out the collection, although it is understood that many of the models will be purchased. Some of those already on exhibit include a model of an old tow boat, a model of a tug, a yacht, a liner and a river steamer. These models are not just boats. Each is designed as carefully, from the original plans of some vessel, as if it was actually to sail the seas. The models are accurate to the minutest rope and spar.

Connected with the museum is a laboratory, recently completed at a cost of $80,000, which will be used to test models of boats and ships.

MANASSAS ADULT SCHOOL NEWS

February weather, the measles and bad roads brought down the average attendance from 82 per cent to almost 68 per cent. One student had the measles and others had to stay away because members of their families had them or their employers had.

One student came four miles by motorcycle and another walks three miles. On his route the mail carrier got stuck repeatedly and finally had to be pulled out with a tractor, this was on Wednesday but the student got to school. It took some time to get his shoes clean enough to come into the school room. This sort of thing shows persistence.

Those attending regularly are showing real progress and know that they are. Some of the students have no other time to study than school time, no time for "home-work". No other subject shows greater improvement than spelling. In English the work has been largely the study of the laws of building with words and building a vocabulary.

The students have enjoyed getting their monthly reports of progress. On the social side after Friday's study a number of them partook of refreshments for the inner man. On Tuesday night James Knox showed the film, "Pioneer Women", in three reels. There were several visitors present.

One of the students took an examination in Washington this week. By the way there are five women in constant attendance; one of these has not missed a single session.

GAINESVILLE

Mrs. Willard Pearson and son, Bobbie, were callers at the home of Mrs. Triplett one day this week.

Miss Esther Robey of Washington is spending some time with the Misses Blanche and Vi Ellis.

Lucy Ellis, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ellis, is quite sick at her home. Her little friends hope she will soon be back in school.

Mr. and Mrs. Haynes Davies are the proud parents of a son born Feb. 27. Mother and baby are both doing nicely.

Mrs. Dr. Brower of Sudley was a caller at the parsonage last week.

Mrs. C. F. Sinclair was a Haymarket visitor one day this week.

Mrs. John Clark, Mr. and Mrs.

Nalls were visitors in Greenwich this week.

Mrs. V. M. Ellis called on Rev. and Mrs. Sapp this week.

WOODBIDGE

Well after being snowed in for a good many days and living on corn bread and salt herring, which are mighty good but very monotonous after a day or two, those brave men who work the back roads once or twice a year took up a notch in their belts and partly cleaned the snow away so I could get out. Now if the wind dries the road up o.k. but if it rains I will be muddled in. Oh well it could have been worse. What if I had been out of herring? That would have been bad.

Visitors over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Clarke were Mrs. W. R. Ersfeld and daughter, Edith, of Wilmington, Del., Mrs. George Sauley of Washington, D. C., and Mr. W. M. Carter of Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Walter Allen has been under the doctor's care for several days. Her son, Ralph, is having a swell time with the measles.

Bobby and Donney, small sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tyrrell are in bed with the measles and I think in this case Mrs. Tyrrell is having a swell time.

Miss Nellie Allen died on March 6 at her home in Woodbridge.

WEEKLY LAUGHS FROM WOODBRIDGE

Some time ago Uncle Nick had Jimmy Dowell fix a plow for him. He and little Nick helped all they could and when they were about through Uncle Nick went down to the fishing shore and got a big string of fish for Jimmy thinking it would lighten the bill. When Jimmy was ready to go he gave Nick Nick a bill for 10 bucks. Uncle Nick passed out but that didn't worry Jimmy any as he has had them pass out before when he presented his bills and he now carries a bottle of smelling salts so he quickly brought Uncle Nick back to pay him. Uncle Nick swears Jimmy charged him for the fish.

Dick Carter and Reuben Burdette have been cutting wood for John Riley but Papa Carter says he thinks he will have to stop Dick as that kind of work makes him eat too much.

MRS. OLIVIA SUTPHIN

Mrs. Olivia Sutphin, age 78, died at her home near Haymarket on Saturday, February 24, after a brief illness of only three days. The funeral was held at Marshall on Monday, Feb. 26, Rev. Sapp officiating.

Mrs. Sutphin is survived by her husband, Mr. W. P. Sutphin, by two daughters, Miss Agnes, of Washington, and Mrs. T. W. Wader, of Nokesville, and by two sons, Whitley and Amos, of Haymarket. There are also three brothers, Mr. Ben Ball and Mr. Fenton Ball, of Middleburg, and Mr. John Ball, of Belvoir. Her sister, Mrs. Creel, lives at Broad Run.

Mrs. Sutphin was greatly beloved by a wide circle of friends and relatives and her decease has been the occasion of much sorrow.

DAZZLING ARRAY OF STARS
ON ONE SET MADE EVEN HARDENED "PROP BOYS" BLINK

The invitations read most plainly, "Dinner at Eight," but the oddly assorted guests of this most amazing of all dinner parties arrived at nine in the morning and stayed until six in the evening with a brief recess at noon, without even reaching the first course. For the whole affair ended with a grand march toward the dining room. It all occurred during the making of "Dinner at Eight," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's brilliant picturization of the Broadway play hit, which opens next Monday at the Dixie theatre in Manassas.

Cocktails, made of weak tea, were the only approach to food. But the guests didn't mind. They laughed and talked just as if rare viands were waiting behind the paneled walls of the dining room. And what guests they were! Nine of them, not counting the host and hostess. One, invited, didn't appear. Even while the guests assembled, John Barrymore, as "Larry Renault," had committed suicide in his hotel bedroom. Officially he couldn't be at the party, but he wandered on the set to gaze from the sidelines.

It made even the hardened electricians and prop boys dizzy to watch the parade of celebrities gathered together for the final scene in "Dinner at Eight." It is an even bet that no dinner party ever included such an illustrious guest list. Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery, Jean Harlow, Lionel Barrymore, Edmund Lowe, Billie Burke, Madge Evans, Karen Morley, Louise Closser Hale, Phillips Holmes and Grant Mitchell. And when John Barrymore, Lee Tracy, Jean Hersholt and May Robson, also in the cast, appeared as eye-witnesses, the ensemble was no less than staggering.

Marie Dressler, as "Carlotta Vance," appeared in a glittering black gown of sequins with a rope of pearls reaching almost to her knees. A passe musical comedy star, she dressed and acted the part as only Dressler can. It was difficult to recognize "Min" of "Min and Bill" in this coy, flirtatious, out-moded beauty of the past. While they waited for the director, George Cukor, to call them into the drawing room, Jean Harlow, Billie Burke, Madge Evans and Karen Morley chatted and laughed about Hollywood affairs. With the exception of Miss Harlow, they sat in comfortable cane chairs, but the perishable nature of Jean's white satin gown made necessary a "leaner" which looked like a padded ironing board.

It was all very busy and noisy. The eleven dinner guests had been working on the picture in various groups for several weeks, but this was the first time in which they were all together. Many of them were meeting each other for the first time. Billie Burke is a comparative newcomer to Hollywood and many introductions were in order. Edmund Lowe, Wallace Beery and Grant Mitchell foregathered and talked flying. Marie Dressler and John Barrymore got together and talked about old times on Broadway. Lee Tracy was the center of another laughing group. Hollywood is famous for its celebrity dinners but in all its history there was never one like this "Dinner at Eight."

well for the committee to refer the problem to some third party known to the creditor and who will be able to find a solution without bringing the case before the committee for a hearing. Such action will conserve the time of the committee. Often this third party will be someone with whom the creditor is doing business and who has a contact and influence with the creditor which the committee itself would not have.

It is quite likely that the creditors of an individual may meet for the first time as a group through the efforts of the county committee. When creditors learn that others have similar claims, all of which cannot be satisfied in full, a compromise may be more easily reached.

2. Local committees may render a service by assisting conservators and receivers of closed banks. Experience in many communities indicates that such conservators or receivers have come to rely quite largely upon the county committee for help in arriving at an equitable procedure, when the liabilities of farmers are involved in the affairs of a bank.

3. The local committees should inform themselves so that they may be resourceful in offering suggestions regarding methods of adjustment of debt difficulties that may not occur to individual debtors and creditors. Always, an opportunity should be given debtors and creditors for friendly conferences with the committee. It should be needless to say that the committee should assume an impartial viewpoint.

4. The committee should be able to help delay foreclosures while investigations are being made or while an application for a Federal farm loan for refinancing purposes is being considered.

5. To help determine legitimate cases for foreclosure and to advise the creditor in such instances is as truly a function of the committee as other duties mentioned.

6. To suggest what appears to be a just basis for scaling down loans will be very helpful.

7. Local committees can frequently render assistance in closing Federal farm loans.

8. An extension agreement may be arranged which will, in a sense, "freeze" the accumulated indebtedness and provide for the division of available income among creditors, taking into consideration priority of claims, until such time as it may seem advisable to effect a more permanent settlement of the case.

9. Assistance may frequently be rendered to judges passing on debt cases by presenting pertinent information based upon an impartial investigation of a debtor's property and his financial standing.

The above list represents a few of the more important ways by which local adjustment committees may render service. Committee members should recognize the responsibility placed upon them and should seek to develop the confidence of the people of the county which they represent to the end that an equitable and fair adjustment to debt difficulties may be reached.

COUNTY AGENTS' COLUMN by F. D. Cox

Concerning Corn-Hog Contracts.
Some are holding back on signing the corn-hog contracts because of not having complete records of sales of hog sales from 1932-33 litters. Those not having complete records of sales can make out the statements of sales to the best of their ability and these will be acted upon by the County Committee, which will be elected at the close of the sign-up period by the contract signers. While it is desirable and will be to the advantage of every signer to obtain complete evidence, where hogs have been sold to hucksters or others whose names are not known statements to that effect may accompany the application.

Information on production and other figures from producers who sign corn-hog adjustment agreements will be made public in order to give all producers an opportunity to check up on any statements made that may be inaccurate.

Corn-hog reduction contracts representing a total average of 1145 acres of corn and 3149 hogs have been signed.

Approximately 80 per cent have already signed up in the leading corn and hog states.

Cattle Shipping Laws

The New York State market is practically closed to Prince William farmers having surplus dairy cattle for sale and will be until steps are taken locally to meet the requirements set up by that state. Their law reads: "All cattle over six months of age imported for dairy or breeding purposes shall come from herds certified to be free from Bang's (abortion) disease. If not tested for tuberculosis within twelve months prior to import, must be retested immediately prior to shipment into New York."

New Jersey requires that cattle imported must be negative to tuberculin test at time of shipment and also on a previous test not longer back than three years or nearer than sixty days. Buyers from New Jersey recently have had to pass up Prince William and nearby counties because of not finding sufficient cattle in one locality, having had the previous test required, to make up a shipment. All dairy and breeding cattle, including calves six months of age and over, must pass an approved test for Bang's abortion disease made within thirty days of time of shipment.

ment. Abortion tests made within twenty-days after calving will not be accepted.

This means that until Accredited built up or sufficient cattle are tested regularly for T. B. to make it possible for buyers to get a load together to go out upon passing the second test, New York and New Jersey, two of the best dairy markets, are closed to us.

Farm Account Books

A simple farm account book that is much easier to keep than the book formerly supplied by the extension division is now available. If you can use this, ask for it.

Quotations on 2-2-2 fertilizer are around twenty dollars per ton and on 4-16-4 thirty dollars per ton. The same plant food costs 25 per cent more in 2-2-2 than in 4-16-4.
