MRS. R. S. HYNSON HOSTESS TO U.D.C.

Assisted by Mrs. Howard Jamison and Mrs. James R. Dorrell.

The Daughters of the Confederacy were delightfully entertained on Wednesday last by Mesdames Richard S. Hynson, Howard Jamison and James R. Dorrell. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was unusually small, only twenty members and two guests, Mrs. Rozier B. Larkin of Washington and Miss Holden of New York, responded to the welcome of the gracious hostesses.

After the usual routine of opening exercises, the following letters were read from Mrs. Hodge acknowledging flowers received, Mrs. Leo Kasehagen and Mrs. L. Raymond of Washington, Mrs. Keith of South Carolina and Mrs. Paul Kincheol of Fairfax. Letters from absent members are always heard with interest and appreciation. The custodian reported having sent a flag for the funeral of Mr. B. Preston Snyder, a veteran of the sixties. This privilege, a token of love and esteem, will not be our much longer as these brave and noble heroes are rapidly passing.

Miss Lion read an interesting letter from Mr. J. McCrea of New York with reference to the grave of his cousin, George McCrea, a Confederate soldier buried in Prince William.

A committee was named to select a subject for the 8th grade's annual essay, sponsored by the chapter. The building committee stated that they had found several available lots, desirably located that could be purchased for a chapter house. This committee was requested to obtain some important and necessary data before a final decision was made.

Next came an address by our popular town manager, Mr. Wm. Cooke, whose subject was the Manassas Battlefield needed improvements. Mr. Cooke having investigated thoroughly the necessary needs also the funds required gave little encouragement at this time for securing government assistance, but urged the chapter not to be discouraged that from his interview with some of the officials he thought with determination and a united effort something might be later accomplished. His address was replete with interesting data referring especially to the railroad cut where Jackson and his men made such a wonderful and successful charge. The chapter is much indebted to Mr. Cooke for his very interesting and instructive address and hope to profit by his excellent advice.

A poem, "My Springs" by Sydney Lanier, dedicated to his wife, Mary Dane Lanier, was well given by Mrs. Walter A. Newman followed by an interesting paper read by Mrs. T. J. Ashford, "Facts and Fiction of Virginia History" by Dr. Wayland. The literary hour is always one of interest, hence is especially pleasing to all.

Delicious refreshments furnished by the hostesses and gracefully served by two of Manassas' most charming debutantes, Misses Esther Warren Pattie and Rena Bevans, closed an interesting and successful session of the U. D. C.

MISS DUNKLEY'S ROOM WINS HONOR

The fifth and sixth grade boys and girls of Miss Dunkley's room in Bennett School have the distinction in winning the banner at each League meeting during the present session. They have been asked to give a play, "Rip Van Winkle," which has been written by the class since having seen the stage play at the Children's Theater in Washington March 10.

Through the inspiration of the teacher these children are very cooperative and possess a marvelous school spirit.

HAYMARKET HOME DEMONSTRATION GROUP TO MEET

The March meeting of the Haymarket Home Demonstration Group will be held at the Woman's Club Room at 1:00 o'clock on Wednesday, March 21. The women of the community are cordially invited to attend.

A CORRECTION

A subscriber of ours from Nokesville has called our attention to the fact that an error occurred in last week's paper when it was stated that the Haymarket girls won the basketball championship for 1933. It should have been Nokesville, the same as this year.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The meeting of the County Nursing Activities Committee scheduled to meet in the Odd Fellows Hall at Independent Hill on Friday, March 9, has been postponed and will meet on Friday, March 23, unless it conflicts with other meetings. A full attendance is requested as important matters will be discussed. We are especially anxious to make plans for the care of children to enter school in September 1934.

Public Health Nurse.

FLOUR TEST BY HOME ARTS CLASS

Manassas Product Proven to Be Excellent.

The Leisure Hour Class met in the Home Economics Department from 3:30 to 5:30 Monday, March 13.

The girls first tried the solution reaction of seven different price baking powders.

Next, the best of these baking powders was used with both White Rose, Manassas manufactured flour, and a well-known Western flour. A dozen different try-outs of biscuits, including orange and cheese variations, were baked. In each case there was no material difference in the taste and texture of the finished product. In a year's time a family of eight would have saved approximately $11.75 by using the Manassas flour, White Rose.

These two experiments definitely show that a good baking powder should be chosen and the saving can be made in the proper choice of flour. Three of the class scored 95 points with both soda and baking powder biscuits while the lowest score made by any was 85.

Next week the class will try other interesting experiments in pastry and fillings. In the near future the girls will exhibit their products in one of the down-town stores for the information of those interested in the tests.

GIRL SCOUTS SHOW PROGRESS

Organized by Miss Frazier.

On November 8, 1933, the Junior Woman's Club of Manassas decided to sponsor a troop of Girl Scouts. Mrs. Gaiga, from the national headquarters in Washington, came and explained to the club members in a detailed way just how to organize a troop. The club members in their usual enthusiastic way lost no time in getting started, and the following Saturday a group of girls met at Mrs. A. A. Hooff's and were organized into their troop with Virginia Frazier as captain and Esther Warren Pattie and Rena Bevans as lieutenants.

The Girl Scouts have 23 active members and are divided into three patrols. They meet every Friday in the Home Economics room in the high school.

Their program consists of: cooking, sewing, first-aid work, games, songs, stunt planning, nature work and folk dancing.

The girls and their leaders have been registered in New York and have received commissions to be members of the national organization. This entitles them to wear the uniform and use all regular scout privileges and equipment. The following girls are Girl Scouts: Althea Hooff, Lelia Dowell, Elizabeth Davies, Elizabeth Lloyd, Jocelyn Gillum, June Pickeral, Molly Leachman, Thelma Robinson, Maxine Lynch, Emily Lynch, Catharine Mae Rexrode, Lucy Morris, Julia Anne Beane, Shirley Hynson, Dorothy Breeden, Mildred Parrish, Margaret Blakemore, Marie Bauserman, Janet Newman, and as little sisters or Brownies, Nancy Leachman, Mary Mason Davis and Catharine Jenkins until they are old enough to be regular Scouts.

PRE-SCHOOL REGISTRATION

The registration of children to enter school in September 1934 has been slow because of the hindrance to school attendance caused by sickness and weather. Will any having children to enter school next fall for the first time who have not received a registration slip from the school, please send name and age of child and name of family physician to the school principal or county nurse.

ON CAPITOL HILL

Direct from the Press Gallery.

Despite the threat of a Presidential veto, the House has passed the Patman Bill providing for the immediate payment to America's World War Veterans of something like $2,200,000 on adjusted service certificates.

The bonus measure is now in the Senate where it will meet almost certain defeat, since one cash bonus proposal already has been voted down there at the present session of Congress. Even though the Senate should by some stroke of fate pass the Bill a veto awaits it at the White House. And there is very little likelihood, at the present time at least, that Congress will pass the measure over the President's veto.

So, to the country, Congressional action on the Bonus Bill appears very much like a waste of valuable time. But to members in Congress, it is regarded as of utmost importance politically.

Representative Wright Patman, a Texas Democrat, is father of the Bonus Bill. In getting it before the House, he had the assistance of Representative Lundeen, a member of Minnesota's Farmer-Labor delegation. Both made a valiant fight to push the measure through the House.

Monetary Bill Before House. Very soon now, the House will be called upon to consider a Bill designed to restore monetary control to the Government.

This measure, bearing the approval of the Committee on coinage, weights and measures, would formulate a monetary policy under the provisions of the Constitution that Congress "shall coin money and regulate the value thereof." It is the first bill this Committee has ever recommended to Congress which provides a way to regulate the purchasing power of gold. It takes into account the fact that the value of gold is represented by the purchasing power of the metal and not, by its weight in gold coins.

There is rather strong opinion among some members of the House that under existing monetary laws, the power of monetary control has been left in the hands of Europe and European governments which have not used it in the interest of stability.

For example, according to Representative William L. Fiesinger, of Ohio, the bank of India in 1928 and 1929 took the responsibility of destroying more than $3,000,000,000 in the value of the world's monetary metals. This placed an additional strain on the remaining $14,000,000,000. As a result, he says, there was an inflation in gold values which was sufficient seriously to lower security and all property values—values that were expressed in gold equivalents. Inevitably, the credit structure in Europe and America were upset.

Mr. Fiesinger claims that had the United States taken appropriate action at that time with provisions of the monetary control bill, the primary cause of the world depression could have been obviated.

A Dry Capitol

Since the return of legal liquor in Washington, the driest spot, alcoholically, is the United States Capitol. Before the prohibition era, the Capitol building itself boasted one of the finest bars in Washington. It was the mecca for all liquor drinking members of Congress.

The old bar, however, is just a memory to veterans in Congress. The strongest drink that can be purchased at the present time in the Capitol building is full strength beer. Even light wines are taboo.

As a result, members of Congress, who like a little "nip" before meals must walk about two blocks to the nearest source of supply. Few of them do it because of the time it takes, but the Capitol restaurants continue to do a flourishing business even though dry.

EMPLOYMENT OFFICE MOVED TO QUANTICO

Mr. Dulaney Issues Appeal to Employers.

On Friday of this week the Prince William office of the National Re-employment Service will move its local headquarters from Haymarket to Quantico. It is stated that a branch office will be continued at Haymarket and that a representative will be in Manassas on stated days.

The air-port project has been furnishing considerable C. W. A. employment. About 30 men are engaged on this improvement who would otherwise probably have been laid off. The force includes an engineer, foreman, tractor, 12 team with drivers and 14 laborers.

Urging private employers to do all that is possible to find work for those being laid off each week by the C.W.A., Mr. Dulaney, who is in charge of the National Re-employment Service for Prince William County, issued the following appeal this week:

"It is the merchant's business to become acquainted with the needs of his customers, know the sort of merchandise that is in line with their needs, and supply it to the best of his ability, and see that it gives satisfaction, both for the good of the customer and himself.

"This same principle works with the National Re-employment Service. It is our business to supply the employer workers that will meet his needs, and, so far as our judgment and number of applicants permit—and we have a wide range of occupations listed—to see that both parties are satisfied.

"We hope that anyone in need of some help, whether merchant, farmer, or housewife, will call us their needs and ask our assistance. It is our part to be of mutual helpfulness to both employer and employee. Our service cost you nothing, and every opening for employment brought to our attention, and then put to practical use, is just that much added to the general good of the community, and the individual as well."

DEATH OF MR. CLARKE

Mrs. C. E. C. Johnson has just received word of the death in Benson, Minn., of her brother, Bert Clarke. Mr. Clarke had many friends in Manassas and the news of his death was the occasion of wide-spread regret. Mrs. Johnson has the deepest sympathy of many friends.

BENNETT SCHOOL LEAGUE MEETING

The Bennett School League will hold its regular meeting Monday, March 19, at 3 p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to the members of the High School League and all interested in education.

The members of the Bennett League are requested to come prepared for the Free-Will Offering, which it is customary to take up at the March meeting.

JUNIORS HOLD MARCH MEETING

Projects Reported on.

The Junior Woman's Club of Manassas held its March meeting at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. J. P. Lyon, with Misses Meaker Burke and Helen Lloyd, joint hostesses. This was the last meeting of the club year and all work was brought to an end. The club feels that under its president, Miss Frances Hushong, some very fine work has been done in the town and county.

At this meeting the club voted to send Miss Neel a check to cover a two weeks' hospital bill for a little child in the town. An interesting report was given to the club on the entire work of the Girl Scouts up to the present by Captain Virginia Frazier. A letter was read urging the club to put more time on Fine Arts. Miss Walser Conner gave a short report on this topic and told the club about the excellent radio programs, arranged by the Federated Woman's Clubs, which could be heard on Saturday evenings at 8 p.m.

The girls were very fortunate in having with them at this time Dr. Newman. He presented an informal talk on "The Benefits Derived from Amateur Drama in Small Communities." After his talk a round-table discussion was held and any interesting questions were answered.

As the last event of the club year it was voted to hold a charity bridge party at the home of Mrs. J. P. Lyon on Thursday evening, March 22, at 8 p.m. Miss Rena Bevans was appointed general chairman and she feels sure that she can depend upon the co-operation of the public in the same way that they have always come to the front to help the Juniors in any undertaking.

DAUGHTERS GET HONOR BANNER

Large Group of Visitors Present.

Prince William Council No. 45, Daughters of America, was the recipient of the banner for District No. 1 for the past quarter in the membership contest, the event being staged at the regular meeting of the Council on Monday night.

The presentation was made by Sophie C. Mann, of Cherrydale, past State councilor, the councilor, Miss Ethel Robinson, receiving the same on the part of the local council. Miss Mann's speech was one of great encouragement to the group which has come through a season of sickness and bad weather.

Mrs. F. Regan, past state councilor of the District of Columbia, and representing Golden Rule Council No. 11 in that city, gave a splendid address which was well received.

Other visitors included from the District of Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. George Cox and Mr. and Mrs. H. Howell; from Virginia, Providence Council (Vienna), Evelyn O'Bannon, Helen O'Bannon, Jeannette O'Bannon and Katherine James; Betsy Ross Council (Fairfax County), Eula Bennett, Fannie Kidwell; Arlington Council No. 32, Beatrice Winslow; Cherrydale Council No. 11, Sophie C. Mann, Grace Donaldson, and Mary Winslow.

This is the largest visitation the Council has had since its installation last October. The sick members and those whom bad roads detained will be greatly cheered by the progress which has been made and the meeting on March 26 will see a large turnout as the days will be longer and the sun warmer.

INJURED IN FALL

Mrs. Olcott, a farmer on one of the Manassas routes, was severely bruised and shocked when she fell in Manassas yesterday. She was unconscious for several hours. She is said to be resting easily today.

WOMAN'S CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Club to Have May Breakfast.

The March meeting of the Manassas Woman's Club which was held in the high school on Wednesday, March 14, marked another milestone in the progress of this very active organization. Splendid reports were given by the chairmen of the standing committees, each having made some contribution to local enterprises along their particular line of endeavor. The sections also had excellent reports. Mrs. Robert Logan reported considerable interest being shown among the school children in a hymn contest in the public schools. This is being sponsored by the Music Section under the direction of Mrs. Robert Logan.

Mrs. G. Raymond Ratcliffe, general chairman of the Charity Ball, announced that plans were progressing nicely, and that all committees were actively at work. This gala event will be held as usual on Easter Monday, April 2, in the high school gymnasium, between the hours of 9:30 p.m. and 2 a.m. The music section is in correspondence with several well-known orchestras and good music is assured. Proceeds over and above expenses will be used as heretofore, for charity.

Another coming event in which all of the members showed considerable interest and enthusiasm is the May Breakfast, to be held at the time of the regular meeting in May. This is an innovation and is to be the formal installation of the incoming officers and a tribute to the retiring ones. Committees to make plans and arrangements for this have been named as follows: Programme, Mrs. W. L. Lloyd, Mrs. Harry Love, Mrs. DeChant; arrangements, Mrs. Eli Swavely, Mrs. Bettie Leachman, Mrs. C. C. Lynn; decorations, Mrs. Margaret Lewis, Mrs. Paul Cooksey, Mrs. V. V. Gillum, Mrs. Cyril Wade-Dalton; music, Mrs. Robert Logan, Mrs. John Hynson, Miss Virginia Speiden. A contribution was voted to Miss Sarah Pitts to be used as a prize in her County Dress Contest.

Following the lengthy business session, a delightful social hour was enjoyed and the following hostesses were announced for the April meeting: Mrs. Margaret Lewis, Mrs. T. W. Howard, Mrs. C. M. Larkin, Mrs. Norvel Larkin, Mrs. A. A. Maloney, Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson.

CARRUTHERS TO VISIT KIWANIS

Makes Manassas One of His First Clubs.

The Manassas Kiwanis Club will be honored by a visit from the governor of the Capital District tomorrow night when E. I. Carruthers, of University, will journey to our town to meet the local group.

Last week's meeting was largely devoted to a singing class by Dr. Leinbach, preparatory to the April minstrel show.

Ed Conner got off his first "pome" for many weeks. The cold weather seemed to have depressed him along with all the other song birds. For a specialty, Ed brought the theme of his verse along with him but did not read his line until the said guest was too full to run.

A new member appears to be in the offing and everything is cheerful in the club as it prepares to do its bit for underprivileged child work when it stages its gigantic show next month.

WILLIAM PAYNE

Mr. William Samuel Payne, of Catlett, died Monday night in the Fauquier Hospital where he was brought three days ago.

He was seventy-seven years old and had broken his hip in a fall several weeks ago. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Julian Compton, of Bristersburg, Va., and a son, Mr. John J. Payne, of Washington.

A NARROW ESCAPE

On Monday Mrs. O. E. Newman had a very narrow escape as a rifle bullet struck the north side of the house and lodged in the weather boarding in a manner to indicate that if it had gone on through, she would have been wounded. The boys, who are known, will probably not again violate the town ordinance in respect to shooting, but the circumstance serves as a warning to all shooters to be more careful.

A SERMONETTE

"He Was Subject Unto Them"

Luke 2:41-52.

All of us like to wield authority even if it is only over dumb animals. We enjoy the feel of mastery, we take satisfaction in bending others to our will. Sometimes we become intoxicated with power and make the most impossible demands upon others simply because the authority is in our hands. Kings, dictators, victorious generals and even the bosses of labor gangs have been guilty of the misuse of power.

Power is safe only in the hands of those who have learned to obey. "He was subject unto them" is one of the great lessons of life and it is the part of wisdom to learn that lesson. The text of course refers to Jesus in His relations with His parents. We commonly use it for the instruction of children but it is capable of wider application. It not only teaches children to be obedient to their parents; it teaches all of us to be subject to whatever authority is set over us.

As the boy Jesus was subject to his earthly parents, so the man Jesus was subject to his heavenly Father. Here many of us fall short. We fail or refuse to recognize the authority of God. In some circles it is the fashion to ridicule prayer. We are asked how we can expect to alter the Divine Will or change the mind of God. This is never the purpose of prayer. We do not expect nor try to bend the Will of God to fit our desires. In no instance did Jesus attempt to do this. He never performed a cure without first asking God for the strength needed. His success lay in the fact that he only undertook to do what he was certain God would approve. That is why

God invariably gave him power. When we look into the cause of our own failures, it may be that we are trying to do things of which God does not approve. Even when Jesus prayed that the cup of arrest, trial and crucifixion might pass from him, he did not try to change the Divine Will, for he said "not my will but Thine be done."

From beginning to end Jesus was subject to the will of his heavenly Father. The results of such living are plain. He became the Saviour of the world. His life is the supreme example for all Christians to follow. Obedience to his commandments brings abundant life. Learning how to obey, he became first the Teacher of the twelve disciples and afterwards the Master of the lives of millions, which place he continues to hold.

Let us learn the Will of our heavenly Father. Let us get into the habit of doing the things that he approves. He will answer our prayers for strength if we want strength to do His Will. He will answer our prayers for courage if we need courage to carry out His Will. He will answer our prayers for wisdom and patience if we are trying to understand His Will. Let us make ourselves subject to God. He will give us all the power and authority and responsibility we can use.

Prayer—
Make me humble before Thee, O Lord. Nerve me for every task. Help me to grow day by day into Thy likeness. Keep me from sin. Make me see that no burden is greater than I can bear. Thy Will be done in me. Amen.

"That's what I call a million dollar ride!"

"YOU know I thought maybe they were being a little over-enthusiastic when I first read about these new skyway style Studebakers.

"But now that I've had a ride in one, I give you my word they're even better than the advertisements claim.

"You may not think it possible, but six of us rode in that new Studebaker sedan . . . with loads of room for everyone.

"Why, it was just like sitting in a lounge at home. And we went over some of the roughest roads I ever saw—at better than sixty—without jostling one another or jouncing up and down or pitching forward the way you usually do in the best of cars.

"Take it from me, anyone who buys a new car this year without trying a Studebaker first is making a big mistake. Even the prices are a surprise. They start as low as $645. And I'm told 20 miles to the gallon is no trick at all for these cars!"

Marvelously streamlined skyway style bodies of steel reinforced by steel . . . quad-ri-plex suspension that cradles the action of all wheels not just the front wheels . . . high-powered, sensationally economical engines . . . uncanny "mechanical brains" that leave you little to do but steer . . . stamina derived from years of triumphs in stock car and Indianapolis Speedway racing . . . better cars than the Studebakers which sold for $200 to $700 more last year.

that two young ladies had a ten-round bout over Macon Walker and his silver wheeled chariot. Walker being mud bound can't do a thing to straighten things out.

Here's one on myself. I was standing with some fellows the other day and one of them was reading the Woodbridge news. When he finished he turned to me and said "Who in the—writes this stuff any way?" "I don't know," I answered. "But he sure is rotten." "Rotten," said my friend. "Why if I couldn't do better than that I wouldn't write at all." "Me either," I answered.

CATHARPIN

Dr. Brower has again sought refuge in the sick chamber due to an attack of pneumonia from which he has been suffering for the past week. At present writing he is much improved and prospects bright for an early recovery.

Mr. J. E. Kidwell of near Sudley Mill is still confined to his room suffering from heart trouble which developed some weeks ago. At present he is under the doctor's care and his condition somewhat improved. Mr. Kidwell has many friends who are sorry for his illness but hope for his early recovery.

Mrs. Judson Hoffman has recently returned to her home after an absence of several weeks in Culpeper where she had gone on account of the illness of her mother.

Mrs. Ruth Buckley Carey has entirely recovered from an attack of scarlet fever which has confined her to her room for several weeks. She is now enjoying the freedom of the house since her escape from the "cell."

Mr. Luther Griffith is again on duty after spending some ten days at home suffering from grip and general indisposition.

A number of Catharpin young people attended the basket ball game in Manassas on Friday night of last week. Frances Robertson, Emily Polen and Belva Ellison being on the team.

Mr. W. K. Caldwell of Six Acres was calling on friends in the Catharpin neighborhood on Sunday.

It may be a matter of interest to learn that Mr. Ralph Crouch of Clifton who has been huckstering through the Catharpin neighborhood, has had serious sickness in his family due to pneumonia which caused the death of his oldest daughter and the serious illness of a son. Mr. Crouch's visits were greatly missed.

The Catharpin friends of Mrs. Maud G. Jordan, a teacher in the Haymarket schools, were sorry to learn of her serious accident on Friday night of last week. Since the consolidation of schools the Haymarket teachers have almost become part and parcel of Catharpin since so many children from this section come under their care and tutelage. They may not realize it yet their names are household words all along the "line" and anything happening to any of them becomes a matter of interest to many an unseen friend. It is our sincere hope that Mrs. Jordan may soon recover her usual health and good spirit.

Mr. R. A. Collins of Marble Hill is not just as well as he would like to be; suffering from cold in the head which gives him considerable trouble.

You will note we are not doing much "big talk" about the weather this time. One of our most faithful constituencies called us "up" this morning and called us "down" and said we had better "sign off" about the weather since every time we said it was nice it turned out rough; and when we said it was rough it turned out nice; so there you are! You can't please every body; you just can't. So rather than run any risk of getting into juxtaposition with the Weather Man's reputation we have decided to accept the advice, but before we stop please just let us tell you its mighty cold this Monday morning.

The Catharpin neighborhood is now right out in the open in regard to her morning news. Here-to-fore we have had to bide time until about 1 p.m. for the arrival of our daily papers; but now the "New Deal" or something else has changed all that and the Washington Post is being delivered on our breakfast tables, or to be a little more specific, it is delivered in our special mail boxes in time for breakfast. This innovation is bro't about by Bobby Davis of Manassas who never fails his customers no matter how cold the day or how bad the roads. There are many "mail" subscribers to the Post who will be glad to change from Uncle Sam's delivery to "Bobby's" delivery as soon as matters can be arranged. This early delivery is, indeed, much appreciated, especially since it costs no more than the late delivery.

WOODBRIDGE

Well here it is time to send in the news and I can't think of a thing to write. About the usual number of visitors were in Woodbridge the past week, also about the usual number of local people visited elsewhere.

Those on the sick list, I believe, are with one or two exceptions well on the road to recovery. I hope I can report all well in the near future.

Very little news this week, not even a real good smash-up on the highway.

WEEKLY LAUGHS FROM WOODBRIDGE

Kettle, Shorty and Bubb. Sounds like fire horses, doesn't it. You remember Geney, Barney and Tom. Well they are not fire horses they are Ladies' men and I hear they are going to Washington twice a week to take dancing lessons. Some say they just took lessons so they could dance with the good looking partner at the school but the report comes back that the partners are all old hags so that reason is out. I guess they are planning on showing Bull Run how it should be done this coming summer. Clarke Gable (Trifford) tells me

 BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.
 FOLLOWING JESUS: Be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you. — Ephesians 4:32.

LINDBERGH REFUSES
 The national defense is a matter of concern to every patriotic American. Our nation stands today in the midst of a world of unfriendly national groups that are arming heavily and are repudiating solemn obligations. The League of Nations has proven ineffective and conditions are trending toward a repetition of the horrible conditions which the World War was believed to make impossible hereafter.

The army airplane service has been proven incapable of maintaining a mail service which was being rather efficiently carried on by a civilian organization which had to be cancelled on account of the graft disclosed. The President has now terminated the temporary assignment to the army and appointed a commission of leading aviators to study and report on the causes of the army failure. This is a great and important commission. The direct safety of every citizen of the United States is concerned.

Colonel Lindbergh is recognized as one of the world's leading aviators. His name was included with those receiving unholy favors from the aviation industry, but notwithstanding he was named on this important commission.

However, apparently placing his relationship to the aviation group which presented him with valuable stocks and bonds above the national safety, he has declined, stating that he believed the President's action in cancelling the airmail contracts unfair and unwarranted.

The appointment had no bearing upon the merits or demerits of the President's order, but asked the technical knowledge of the noted aviator in a matter touching the national defense. The nation which had honored this aviator almost beyond the deserts of any living man, is denied this assistance.

Whether the assistance would have amounted to anything or not is a matter of conjecture, but the public will not soon forget that the Colonel would not help his country and it is unlikely that he will ever again have such a conspicuous opportunity.

BENEFIT CARD PARTY

The Junior Woman's Club of Manassas will have a benefit card party at the home of Mrs. J. P. Lyon on Thursday evening, March 22, at 8

Decoration committee: Frances Bushong, chairman; Anna May Ellis. Refreshment committee: Esther Warren Pattie, chairman; Helen Lloyd, Helen Dunkley.

Clean-up committee: Christine Meetze, chairman; Marion Lynn, Mildred Young.

Tables may be reserved through any of the club members or by calling Virginia Conner. This will be the last function under the present club year with Miss Frances Bushong as president. The public is invited.

FRAZIER TO GET NEW JOB

Although Governor Peery is withholding announcements relative to the new A. B. C. (Alcoholic Beverage Control) Board it is now generally conceded that McCall Frazier will step into the chairmanship while John Q. Rhodes, jr., delegate to the Assembly from Louisa, who played quite a part in the nomination of Governor Peery, will succeed Frazier as motor vehicle commissioner.

There are several others mentioned for the new Board, Hon. Wilbur C. Hall, of Loudoun, being the only one from this section to be mentioned.

WHEAT SIGNING UP TO FARMERS

There will be no drive to get farmers to sign up under the wheat adjustment program in the reopening recently announced, but every interested farmer is invited to come in for his application blank, the county agent announces.

The wheat program was reopened because requests for it were received from farmers in nearly all the wheat States who failed to sign up in the original campaign and who have asked for another chance.

The reopening follows the policy of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration of making co-operation pay the farmer who co-operates. Because of this policy, those who sign now will be eligible for the final 1933 payment, and whatever payments are made in 1934 and 1935, but will not receive the first payment for 1933 which has already been made in practically every county.

Farmers who actually filed applications before January 1, but were unable to complete contracts, can complete them now and be eligible for full 1933 payments.

Even if a farmer believed that he was ineligible for a contract at the time of the original campaign, but wishes to sign, he should investigate the reopened program, the agent says, as there have been modifications to take care of such cases.

HOME FOR SPRING VACATION

Miss Ann Bradford is at home for her spring vacation from St. Mary's College, Raleigh.

1934 LICENSE PLATES PUT ON SALE TODAY

Owners of passenger automobiles in Virginia will find the cost of license tags considerably lower today and during the next two weeks when the 1934-35 plates go on sale throughout the Commonwealth.

The price will drop as low as $8 in some cases, under provisions of the new law which has reduced the price to 40 cents per hundredweight. Generally the price of the tag will be between twelve and fifteen dollars for the smaller cars.

T. McCall Frazier, director of the State Division of Motor Vehicles, said yesterday that the new tags—they have a black background with white numerals—will go on sale this morning at 107 depots throughout the State. The division hopes to have practically all of the tags distributed by April 1.

Motorists may order plates by mail returning application forms already received by present license holders.

Mr. Frazier pointed out that no tags will be issued without the presentation of the application cards. He said the division had mailed these to all holders of tags for the current year. They were sent to the last address recorded at the offices of the division, the director said, adding that those who have not received the application cards should check previous addresses if they have moved. Otherwise, they should communicate with a representative of the division.

It is estimated that the reduction in license tag costs will result in a saving of about $1,800,000 to the passenger car owners of the State.

"DOWN ON THE FARM"

The typical Southern farmer realizes the difficulties he is against, but nevertheless "carries on" with a dogged courage and determination—as is illustrated by the following verses:

Down on the farm, 'bout half-past four,
 I slip on my pants and sneak out of the door;

Out of the yard I run like the dickens
 To milk ten cows and feed the chickens.

Clean out the barn, curry Nancy and Jiggs,
 Separate the cream and slop the pigs.

Work two hours, then eat like a Turk,
 And by heck I'm ready for a full day's work.

Then I grease the wagon and put on the rack,
 Throw a jug of water in an old grain sack,

Hitch up the horses, hustle down the lane—
 Must get the hay in, for it looks like rain.

Look over yonder sure as I'm born,
 Cattle on the rampage and cows in the corn

Start across the medder, run a mile or two,
 Heaving like 'm wind-broke, get wet clear through,

Get back to the horses, then for recompense
 Nancy gets a straddle of the barbed-wire fence.

Joints all a-aching and muscles in a jerk,
 I'm fit as a fiddle for a full day's work.

Work all summer till winter is night,
 Then figure up the books and heave a big sigh,

Worked all year, didn't make a thing;
 Got less cash now than I had last spring,

Now, some people tell us that there ain't no hell,
 But they never farmed, so how can they tell?

When spring rolls 'round, I take another chance,
 While the fringe grows longer on my old gray pants,
 Give my spenders a hitch, my belt another jerk,
 And by heck! I'm ready for a full day's work!

CENTREVILLE

The Centreville Community League met in the school Thursday evening. Plans for getting some playground equipment was the leading subject under discussion.

The Junior School League of Centreville School held its regular meeting Friday afternoon. A St. Patrick's program was presented by the program committee.

Mrs. Lucille Compton visited McLean School last Tuesday for the purpose of observing work in the second grade. Mrs. Compton reports a most interesting and instructive visit.

The sixth and seventh grades of Centreville School are working on the subject "Industries of Fairfax County." These grades accompanied by their teacher, Miss Edythe C. Robson, recently visited up-to-date dairy and poultry farms in the vicinity of Chantilly.

The school board recently purchased an additional piece of ground from Mr. E. C. Utterback extending the Centreville School lot an acre or more. Everyone is eagerly looking forward to the prospect of a new building next year.

Miss Lucie LeGallais visited Vienna School one day last week and observed work in the first grade.

Mr. Roger Spindle has purchased a lot in Centreville and is preparing to build a home there in the near future.

Mrs. B. L. Rinehart of Missouri has come to make her home with Mrs. A. J. Robey while working for the government in Washington.

Mr. E. C. Utterback is convalescent after a long illness.

Mrs. Irene Woltz, who has been confined to the house for several weeks with a sprained ankle, is able to get around on crutches now.

THE FARMER'S COMPLAINT

As I was going down town one day,
I saw two farmers, and heard them say,
"We thought us folks was goin' to get rich,
But, by gad, politics has put us in a ditch.
"Beef has gone up all around,
Yet all we can get is two cents per pound;
What in the devil are folks goin' to do,
We wonder how we'll ever pull through.

right,
But when they bring their fat cattle
into town
All they will pay them is two cents per pound.

"Two cents per pound and meat selling high,
The farmers faith in politics is sure
going to die,
Everything goin' out of sight,
How in the devil can people live
right."

"EVER SINCE EVE"
WITH GEORGE O'BRIEN, A BREEZY FOX FILM

We have long awaited the opportunity to see George O'Brien in other than a Western role. Now the wait is over, for O'Brien makes his appearance as a man-about-town in his latest Fox Film release, "Ever Since Eve," which comes to the screen of the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Wednesday. With his breeches and spurs put aside, O'Brien dons his city clothes and does some fast and fancy stepping in this film which is reported as being a laugh-provoking comedy-romance.

"Ever Since Eve" deals with a young man who is the foster son of three old gold-miners, all confirmed women-haters. The mine is in need of some new machinery, and the young man volunteers to go East and purchase it. His foster parents are loath to send him for fear he may fall into the clutches of a woman. It is finally decided that one of the men accompany him on the trip East in order to keep an eye on him. Although he is closely guarded, the young man falls victim to the charms of a gold-digging debutante. They marry and he discovers that his wife has done it for his money. But he does not give her an opportunity to explain that she is also deeply in love with him. He returns to the mine, only to receive a sour welcome from his foster parents. His bride, however, soon wins her way into the good graces of the partners and they learn of her unhappiness. The plan devised to bring the young man to his senses is heralded as one that brings the film to a hilarious and side-splitting conclusion.

Mary Brian has the feminine lead opposite George O'Brien, and Herbert Mundin, who has his important role to date, plays the part of one of O'Brien's foster parents. The other members of the cast are Betty Blythe, who makes her return to the screen after an extended absence, Roger Imhof, Russell Simpson and George Meeker.

George Marshall directed, from the screen play by Henry Johnson and Stuart Anthony.

LITTLE AMERICA

Lost and Found!

ON BOARD THE BYRD FLAG-SHIP, JACOB RUPPERT, ANTARCTICA, Jan. 29 (via Mackay Radio)—Well, here I am folks. Back again on the good old Jake. Filthy dirty and no chance to get clean. Dog tired, every joint I possess aching madly. But gosh! What muscles I am developing!

I've been told by the club secretary, by radio, that I've been lost. I didn't know it. But I've had the amazing experience of spending three nights—or rather the tiny parts of night I could spare for sleep, with the sun shining all night—in a tent with a snow floor.

And only the exhaustion of 20 hours a day of the most terrific physical labor could make me sleep on that cracking snow and ice floor. I'll never see a crack in a concrete sidewalk again without John O'Brien wanting to run Second Mate of away from it.

The Ruppert Down here you'll see a tiny crack you could hardly put a knife-blade into. A few minutes later it is three feet wide and you're sprinting away from it as fast as you can go. In half an hour a piece of territory as big as ten football fields, with a horrible grinding sound, has slid into the ocean, which is 1600 feet deep around these parts and darn cold. Nice stuff to sleep on, eh?

My job won't sound impressive to you. Checking gas and oil. Prosaic enough, I imagine, doing that in some warehouse or freight station. But on the edge of a slippery, crumbling cliff or snow and ice which is likely to disappear any minute and take you with it, well, prosaic is not quite the word, believe me.

All day yesterday and practically all night we worked with furious energy on the ice to take advantage of good weather. The ship had been able, with the aid of our wonderful motor boat cruiser, to snug up to the treacherous and unsteady ice cliffs after drifting about the bay for three days to save her from being sunk in a smother of falling ice cakes as big as houses. On the end of the big boom the landing net was spilling radio equipment and great red drums of gasoline and oil out onto the ice. And George Noville, C. P. Lindley, and Warren, R. L., several other fellows and myself were working frantically loading them onto the dog sledges and tractor sledges for the mad dash away from the edge of the ice to Pressure Camp, four miles back, where the ice hasn't started to crack up yet.

Admiral Byrd, on a tour of inspection, had located several cracks behind us but we were too busy to worry. He worried, though, as he always does about his men when there is danger around. He considers the breaking up of the bay ice a terribly serious problem. But we toiled on undisturbed.

Pretty soon, from the bridge, we heard the Admiral yell through a megaphone to Lindley, "Hey, Lindley, you're too close to the edge to work without a life line. Put one on immediately." This was Lindley's lucky day. The rest of us had life lines on, groups of us tied together on long ropes. Lindley did as the Admiral told him and attached himself to Noville and me. Darn good thing he did!

We were loading up another sledge for another wild run to Pressure Camp when suddenly we heard the four ominous blasts on that deep whistle on the Ruppert. It scared the wits out of us. This was the signal to cast loose ship and dash aboard. In other words, it meant both we and the ship were in deadly danger and the ship was going away from there immediately. Before we could move a muscle the ice started breaking up all around us and underneath us, with that awful grinding sound. The sharp eyes of Admiral Byrd and Commodore Gjertsen had spotted its beginning from the ship. Tremendous cracks appeared like magic on all sides of us. One opened up directly under Lindley and he went head over heels into it, out of sight and almost took George and me with him. With all our strength we hauled him out, like a huge fist and in the excitement Noville gave him a good kick, for no good reason at all.

On the piece of ice that was falling next to the ship were several packing boxes of precious supplies and ten big drums of priceless gasoline. These simply had to be rescued. The big boom swung out quickly over the side and almost buried us with the landing net. Working like mad we rolled the drums and boxes hurriedly into the net and it was jerked into the air and onto the broad steel deck of the Ruppert. Thank the Lord that's not cracking up! On all sides men were scurrying about on the ice—some to dig out the buried steel hatch covers to which our mooring lines are attached and casting them off, others rushing to the makeshift gang plank to the ship, made of telephone poles and more hatch covers. Up that gangplank we scampered madly and the men on board got busy hauling it in. Will you believe it, five minutes after that whistle went off, the ship was moving out to open water, just as the whole area where we had been working, hundreds of yards of it, tumbled into the ocean. Oh boy, some excitement! But we're getting used to these sudden moves. Nothing happens slowly down here. Wonder if I shall ever be able to accustom myself to a peaceful life at home again. I certainly will for the first six months because I'll sleep that long the minute I reach there.

You should see us. Our nice white working suits are filthy black. So are we and the beards we are growing are comical to see. We haven't had a real bath since we left New Zealand and the Ruppert, being an oil burner, has deposited on all of us a nice layer of sticky, oily soot which no amount of cold cream seems to budge. If I ever get into a nice white tiled bathroom, with plenty of hot water and towels and scrubbing brushes, I'll kiss the walls and eat the soap.

The club tells me that all the cards and working maps which members get without cost have been sent to date but that some of them have been returned because names and addresses were not clearly enough written by applicants. Write them about this if your card and map haven't arrived and they'll send them. If you haven't applied yet for membership, which costs nothing, do so now, with your friends. Simply send us a self-addressed stamped envelope and your membership card will be sent you immediately, with the map being mailed the following day. Address your envelope to Arthur Abell, Jr., Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y.

ALONG THE WAY

(By Inna McGill)

A BILLION

How much is a billion dollars? To answer this question: If your ancestors had started out to save $1,000 a day at the beginning of the Christian era and had continued the process through the years, to the present day, nothing anywhere near a billion dollars would yet have been amassed. Allowing 100 silver dollars to a foot, if a billion of them were placed, side by side, on edge, they would stretch out a distance of 1,894 miles. If they were laid each on top of the other, they would likewise make a pile of that same height. A dollar bill covers 16 square inches of space, and a billion of them will cover approximately four square miles of territory. If these figures are considered in connection with Uncle Sam's store of gold which represents four times as much as the sum here talked about, the vast wealth of our Uncle may be appreciated. When we consider that the old gentleman owes twenty-five times the amount, words fail to voice the sympathy that is due to those now handling our Nation's financial problems.

A LENTEN THOUGHT

Some morning, when least we expect it, the sun will rise on the last day of life. The time is short and we make hurried preparation. We pray then as we never prayed before. We pour out our souls in regret for the lost days and hours. We would give a million worlds for another week, another year, in which to make up for lost time. Lost time! The time that could have been devoted to good works and to prayer! The time that had no importance in our eyes while we were well and strong! The time spent in worldliness; in vain amusements; in the things that do not count; in everything but the one thing profitable—prayer.

The world blinds us, the flesh draws us away from God, the devil always furnishes pretexts, and we go along through life with no thought of wasted hours, never thinking of economizing time until there comes the question of spending it in the things for which it was made—the service and the love of God.

SOME SCHOLAR

Teacher, to class: "Define for me the word anecdote."
First boy: "A short tale."
Teacher: "Give me a sentence that includes that definition."
Second boy: "A little dog ran down the street with a tin can tied to his anecdote."

A WORTHY UNDERTAKING

Parents are called upon to be more conscientious in supervising the attendance of their children at motion pictures, in a drive against immoral literature and indecent theatre performances that has recently been set in motion. The influence of the motion-picture, for good or evil, is felt in every home, and parents are warned by one leader in the drive that "Some action of heroic proportions must be taken if we are to save the youth of America from a pollution and debauchery the like of which our country has not before known."

Catholics, Protestants and Jews are uniting in this campaign against "vile literature and immoral performances in the theatre." The New York Federation of Churches and the Protestant Church Missionary Society of Brooklyn have voted to organize a group representing citizens of all creeds to call on the Police Commissioner of New York City to look into what is regarded as a perilous condition in the metropolis.

In one day, the Catholic diocesan weeklies, which have a combined circulation of 7,000,000 subscribers, made a concert attack on the type of pictures now under censure, and 30,000 priests have been asked to use their influence with their local congregations for success to this drive for cleaner films.

THE MARINE BAND

Before the advent of the radio, the concerts by this band at the Marine Barracks were attended by thousands of residents of Washington and visitors to that city from almost every country. No chance has been overlooked when, and wherever, it were possible to hear the Marine Band. Now, through radio, the beautiful numbers by these skilled musicians can be brought into almost every home. And it is gratifying to find that these request programs for the "Shut Ins" can now be heard in the evenings—a privilege formerly enjoyed only in the morning hours.

The "Inflammatus" from Rossini's Stabat Mater was a feature of last Friday's program to remember, and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" never sounded sweeter than when played that evening by the men under Capt. Taylor Branson.

The radio furnishes good concerts for those who seek and appreciate them—"Singing Strings" for an example. On the other hand, its crooners and jazz (the nightmare of music) threaten the death-knell to real music in the home.

"I AM SUZANNE" LASKY'S LATEST, IS PRODUCER'S SUPREME WORK

Jesse L. Lasky's Fox Film production, "I Am Suzanne," featuring Lillian Harvey, is coming to the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Monday. Lillian Harvey's performance is such a grand job that she eclipses anything she has hitherto done, either in Hollywood or Europe.

The romance, the sensational revue numbers and the photographic wonders of the picture brand "I Am Suzanne" as one of the most spectacular productions ever to come from Hollywood. The Podrecca Piccoli Marionettes, which are employed throughout the major part of the film, lend a unique background to the production. It is new to the screen and refreshing in its novelty.

The romance of "I Am Suzanne" has as implicitly and rapture that bring to mind the unforgettable romance of "Seventh Heaven." The story is that of a young dancer who falls in love with the youthful representative of a family of puppeteers. She leaves the stage to join the puppet show so that she may be near her sweetheart. The puppeteers are successful, but the young star is unhappy because the boy seems to prefer her puppet to herself. Infuriated with his thoughtlessness of her, the young girl destroys the puppet and returns to the stage. The lovers, however, find themselves together again when her producer engages the puppeteers for the same show. The star's manager, fearing that his young dancer will ruin the show because of her inambition, pleads with the young man to profess his love for her. The youth finally realizes that it is the girl he loves and not her puppet, and his confession of this love inspires the star to give a magnificent performance that assures the pair of success and happiness.

Gene Raymond, who plays opposite Miss Harvey, gives a performance that outdoes anything he has ever done in his long career. The supporting cast which includes such stellar names as Leslie Banks, Georgia Caine, Geneva Mitchell, Halliwell Hobbes, Murray Kinnell and Edward Keane, all give splendid performances under the fine direction of Rowland V. Lee. Director Lee collaborated with Edwin Justus Mayer on the story and screen play.

Sammy Lee directed the dance numbers to the tunes of "St. Moritz Waltz," "Just A Little Garrett" and "Eski-o-lay-li-o-mo," all by Frederick Hollander, composer of the music for "Congress Dances," and Forman Brown. There are song hits in them these musical numbers.

FORD TO BUILD HUGE EXPOSITION AT THE 1934 CHICAGO WORLD'S FAIR

A GREAT Ford Exposition, portraying the tremendous part the arts, sciences and virtually every other industry plays in the manufacture of today's motor cars, is planned by the Ford Motor Company for the 1934 World's Fair.

The Ford Exposition will be housed in a giant building 360 feet long to be built in the heart of the fair grounds on an 11-acre plot bordering Lake Michigan and flanking the main fair boulevard. Construction of the building will start Mar. 1.

In the dominant central building will be housed Henry Ford's "Drama of Transportation," depicting the development of wheeled vehicles from the chariots of ancient Egyptian kings to modern motor cars. Every model of Ford car made since 1903 will be included.

In the smaller building to the left will be housed some of the priceless historic exhibits from the Edison Institute at Dearborn, Mich., including the one-story brick workshop, complete with the original tools, where Mr. Ford in 1893 built with his own hands his first motor car. This first car will be displayed inside the shop.

The main exposition building will

Henry Ford and Edsel B. Ford show to Rufus C. Dawes (center), president of the World's Fair, the scale model of the giant Ford Exposition building to be built at the 1934 Fair. (Lower) The Ford building as it will be seen from Leif Erikson drive. Opposite the building will be a huge park bordering Lake Michigan.

display an imposing array of exhibits, most of them in action, show how steel, aluminum and other metals, soy beans, corn, wool, cotton and other farm products and the products of myriad industries are converted into car parts. The building also will house displays of cars and a big movie theater. Along the east side will be an open-air balcony equipped with chairs and lounges where hundreds may relax. Across the drive fronting the lake will be a big Ford Park, beautifully landscaped and also fitted with seats and other comforts for fair crowds.

OUR FISH AND GAME SHOULD BE PROTECTED

Would you please print a few lines for me in regard to our fish and game protection, as I hear so much about them being destroyed.

I was talking to some of the boys which are good sports the other day and they say that our game and fish laws are being abused and broken in this county.

This could very easily happen as there are so many people who do not care anything about the protection of game and fish or else they would not throw dynamite in our streams and pools of water among helpless fish or kill poor innocent game in closed seasons, which are being turned loose in our forest and streams for restocking work by the State and through our local sportsman.

They are not only taking fish and game from the other fellow's mouth, but from his own more so, as the fish and game he destroys in generally in his own locality. If everybody in every locality would do this destructive work it wouldn't be long before there wouldn't be any fish or game.

We have some good sports and some bad ones. How many have we that when hunting or fishing stop when they get a mess regardless of the bag limit? How many have we that would kill the last one if they had the chance? I have heard lots of fishermen and huntsmen say: Well we had good luck the other night we got a wash tub full of fish or we had good luck hunting, we killed about forty rabbits and about that many birds and so on, when probably there is only three or four persons in the family—then most of their game or fish spoils. It seems as if some people think it looks big to catch fish and game as long as they can and then brag about it. It seems to me that it would sound a lot bigger to hear him tell his fellow sportsmen that he got a mess and left some for another time.

How many sportsmen have we that won't string little suckers on his hook for bass bait?

How many have we that set traps for hawks and owls?

How many have we that go out one day and kill the bag limit, if possible that won't go out the next day and kill as many or more if possible?

Is this class of huntsmen and fishermen good sports? If so then I am not a good sport.

I have heard lots of people grumble about the fish and game laws. I believe that we do have some laws that we could do without. But it isn't any use for us to take spite on the game and fish because we have some laws we don't believe in. We might as well take spite out on our dogs and kill them as to take spite out on the fish and game and kill them.

Now, let's all be better sports and protect the game and fish. It is to our own interest to do so if we like to fish and hunt. I know of one coon and opossum hunter that left several coons and opossums sitting up in trees which he could have very easily killed if he had been hog enough. He says he only wants to catch one once in a while to keep his dogs trained as he likes the sport of hearing his dogs make the mountainside roar. He says if he would kill all he could his sport would soon be ended in his locality.

We will never have good fishing and hunting until we get together and protect the game and fish. When we find out a person is a game hog or fish destroyer we should keep a lookout for him and not allow him to hunt or fish on our premises. The way to find these parties is to keep tab on them when they are fishing or hunting and see if they will stop killing game or catching fish when they have caught or killed a good supply.

It seems that we have several good sports that fish in Broad and Cedar Runs who knows when he gets a mess of fish as a farmer says he counted twenty-five or thirty dead ones in the bottom of the creek. Is this a good sport? He left some for another time.

A SPORT.

A MILKMAN'S MEDITATIONS
Not everyone that saith unto me "Roosevelt! Roosevelt! Shall get a job."

Young ladies: A young man is like a cow—you can't lead him until you get the rope around the neck.

In these days of talking machines it's the unusual man who can keep his mouth shut.

Blessed is that man who doesn't do what he condemns in others.

LOST WEIGHT, NERVOUS

Wm. O. Bower of 14 E. 9th St., S. Richmond, Va., said: "My health was completely gone, my appetite too—lost weight, was nervous and would catch cold easily. New Eyewear Styles for the Sportswoman Windsurf windshield wipers, operated by the wind, keep these eye "windshields" clean from flying snow and ice.

Below! The final touch to the skier's costume is a pair of dark glasses to protect the eyes from the intensely reflected sun rays.

SNOW glare is more harmful to eyesight than any other strain the sportswoman has to contend with, according to the Better Vision Institute of New York City, and here are two modern methods taken to combat it.

Dark sunglasses are as effective against the direct rays of the sun as against the reflected rays from snow, and form a picturesque part of the skier's costume. And if you need windshield wipers for your goggles, here is a highly ingenious way of keeping the glasses free from visual obstructions; the propeller is operated by the wind and in turn operates the lens cleaners.

Food Market Advice

THE weather man seems to be conspiring against those of us who like fresh fish during Lent. Snow, cold and storms have affected the Atlantic seaboard and inland lakes alike, making fishing difficult or impossible. A limited variety of fish is always available and even a few days of mild weather will bring supplies up to normal. However, smoked fish, salt fish and a variety of canned fish can always be counted on.

In the absence of fish, there are plenty of fine, fresh eggs at moderate prices, and since there is a recipe book entitled, "1,000 Ways to Cook Eggs," monotony need not be feared. Dependable American or "swiss" cheese is always available and even a few days of mild weather will bring supplies up to normal. However, smoked fish, salt fish and a variety of canned fish can always be counted on.

Vegetables scalloped with white sauce and cheese or with bread crumbs, milk and egg make substantial luncheon or dinner dishes. Examples of the first type include, cabbage, cauliflower or broccoli au gratin. Of the second type are, scalloped egg plant, tomatoes, squash, celery and cucumbers to name only a few.

Salads should have a place in winter and early spring menus and they will prove acceptable luncheon dishes if they are preceded by a hot soup either homemade or canned. Dried peas and beans make hearty and inexpensive soups and in addition there are vegetable soup, various cream soups, clam chowders, oyster stew, noodle soups, broths and the popular onion soup. Soup ingredients such as onions, carrots, celery, cabbage and turnips are plentiful and inexpensive. Soup meat and bones of beef are reasonable if a meat stock is desired. Soups require careful seasoning and it pays to have on hand a few bay leaves, whole black peppers, dried celery tops and parsley to help flavor them.

The quality and price of lettuce is an inducement to serve salads. Plenty of fruits, vegetables and lettuce increase the bodily resistance to colds and, if this week is an example, most of us need all the resistance we can get. So let's serve green salads with a French type dressing, vegetable salads (well-marinated) with salad dressing or mayonnaise and fruit salads with whipped cream cheese or one of the cooked fruit juice dressings. Fish salads should also be well-marinated and require a dressing well spiced with mustard and Worcestershire sauce.

Plenty of fine fruits are in market at reasonable prices, including apples, oranges, grapefruit and bananas. Strawberries are not too expensive for the average pocketbook if used sparingly.

Meat choices for the next week include, surprisingly, broilers and calves' liver at relatively low prices, and, in addition fresh hams, ribs of beef, legs of lamb, top and bottom round pot roast, and fresh or corned boneless brisket of beef. In general beef continues to offer the best values. Here is an appetizing menu prepared from foods which are seasonal and economical.

M.H.S. BOYS' TEAM RETAINS CHAMPIONSHIP

B. D. H. S. Sextet and M. H. S. Quintet Win.

The annual county basketball tournament was held last Friday night in our gymnasium. There was a large crowd and everybody was enthusiastically applauding their team.

The first game was between the Nokesville and Haymarket sextets. This game was more than exciting during the first half but Nokesville had the stronger team and they kept Haymarket from scoring in the last half. The score for this game was 31-9 and it gave Nokesville the girls' championship for the second year. LePoint Trenis, forward for Nokesville, played an outstanding game but Emily Pollea, side center, former M. H. S. student, was easily the best player on the floor.

The boys' game between Nokesville and Manassas told a different story for the Nokesville team. This game was everything anyone could ask in a game. It was fast; both teams were good and the home team won by a huge majority in the end. What more? The first half was closer than the last and it was a bit more exciting because Nokesville trailed in the end. The game ended with a score 47-30 after all the fans had yelled themselves to exhaustion. Tommy Kite was high scorer for Manassas and King was for Nokesville. "Buck" and White played excellent games as guards. The whole team had the real spirit. We should extend thanks to Mr. Lloyd for his fine work with the boys because it is going to be mighty fine to have a new banner in the auditorium.
