CREDIT GROUP TO EXPEDITE LOANS

Statement by Secretary Austin.

The services of the production credit association in making loans in Loudoun, Fauquier, Fairfax, Culpeper, Rappahannock and Prince William Counties to purchase horses, cattle and other livestock may be increased considerably in the near future, according to a plan announced by J. Alfred Austin, secretary-treasurer of the Warrenton Production Credit Association.

The new arrangement makes it possible for a farmer or livestock man to purchase horses or livestock and give a bill of sale on the animals purchased as part of the security for the loan. The application for the loan is made to the association in the usual way and the applicant's farm property is inspected by the loan inspector of the association. If found satisfactory to the association and to the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Baltimore, the farmer is supplied with a letter of credit and a blank draft for each animal or lot of livestock to be purchased. On the back of the draft is printed a bill of sale in favor of the association. The farmer or stockman may then purchase the desired stock, having the bill of sale executed before the draft to pay for the animals is issued.

"The new arrangement," said Mr. Austin, "will enable the association to make loans on a business basis to farmers and livestock men who have a part of the security for a loan since they will now be able to purchase needed animals and put up the stock purchased as additional security. Many farmers in this section who need work animals, dairy cattle and other livestock should be able to use this type of loan with success. The association is trying to extend the maximum service to borrowers, mindful that it is established for farmers who need credit but only for those who wish to do business on a sound basis and repay their debts."

CAMP RECOVERY HAS NEW UNIT

Seasoned Virginia Veterans in Majority.

Under the command of Captain Michael Earmopray and 2nd Lieut. James A. Powers, Infantry Reserve, 149 members of the new CCC Company arrived at 3 p.m. on Tuesday.

All but a few of the boys are from the lower portion of Virginia and the Piedmont, the majority being from Fluvanna, Cumberland and Goochland counties. Others come from Newport News, Portsmouth and Richmond. Quite a few of them have been in service for over a year.

Manassas welcomes the new lads and hopes that they may have a pleasant summer with us.

MISS LEDMAN GRADUATES WITH HONORS

The annual graduation exercises were held at Emergency Hospital, Washington, D. C., Wednesday evening, May 23, at 8:00 o'clock p.m. A fine large class of forty-four nurses received their diplomas and were graduated after their three-year course of training in Emergency and affiliated hospitals. Manassas and Prince William County will be proud to know that among this group was one of our local girls, Miss Emma Ellen Ledman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Ledman. Miss Ledman was graduated from Manassas High School, having received the academic diploma in 1929 and the commercial diploma in 1930. Her many friends rejoice with her and her family in this important achievement.

HOME FOR THE SUMMER

Mrs. D. R. Lewis has returned to her home here for the summer. She has many friends in Manassas who are delighted to see her back.

AN APPRECIATION

Captain Howard W. Jamison, commander, and Prince William Post No. 158, American Legion, through the columns of The Journal, desire to express their sincere thanks to the young ladies who so kindly took part in the pageant, and thus helped to make the affair the success which it proved to be.

Memorial exercises will be held under the auspices of the Memorial Association and the Daughters of the Confederacy, June 8, Jefferson Davis' birthday. An interesting program is being arranged.

SHEPPARD'S HIT SETTLES RACE

Ocoquan Baseball Team Wins County Banner.

Ocoquan High School baseball team by defeating Manassas last Friday by a score of 6 to 3 assured themselves of being able to gaze upon the championship banner for the year 1934 as this much coveted rag will adorn the walls of their auditorium for the next twelve months after an absence of one or two years. Ocoquan has now defeated Manassas and Nokesville twice each and Haymarket once, even though they should lose to Haymarket next Friday they would still be at the top of the league.

The new champions accompanied by their principal, Mr. R. W. Peters, who we understand will be with Manassas next year, arrived in Manassas with blood in their eyes after reading in The Journal that their winning streak was to be broken by the local team. Although they were trailing 1 to 3 at the beginning of the 8th inning and had been able to do practically nothing with the batters of Tommy Kite, they went to bat with the voice of their principal ringing in their ears and with a determination born of several late inning rallies which had pulled games out of the fire that had apparently been lost. They kept up their fighting spirit and scored two runs to tie the score at three all. When this inning was over there was no doubt of who would be the winners. Ocoquan's spirit was up and coming while Manassas went out one two three in the 8th. The visitors helped by Tommy Kite's wildness and two hits, one a two bagger with the bases full by Ralph Sheppard scored three runs, thereby hanging the banner.

The game was hard fought and well played. A catch by Reynolds of a foul over among the trees behind third would have done credit to a big leaguer. McInteer at short who was substituting for the regular shortstop, Tommy Piercy, on account of illness, played a nice game for the visitors, while Tommy Kite in the box for the home lads was a power in pitching and defense until he visibly weakened in the 7th inning.

On Tuesday Ocoquan lost its first game of the season when they bowed to the strong Fredericksburg High team by a score of 7 to 3. The Prince William champs had two bad innings, the third and fourth when the winners scored six runs on misplays by the infield coupled with bingles that came at the right time for the Fredericksburg boys. True to the past the Ocoquan team kept fighting, forced two changes of pitchers and scored a run each in the sixth, seventh and eighth, having the bases full in the seventh but unable to score but one run.

Score by innings:
Ocoquan ..... 100 000 023-6
Manassas ..... 200 001 000-3
Fredericksburg ..... 002 040 100-7
Ocoquan ..... 000 001 110-3

ATTEND CHAMBER BANQUET

Town Manager Cocke and R. S. Hynson were among the speakers at the annual banquet of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce last night.

Both spoke on the needs and uses of the Piedmont Dairy Festival. Dan Hollenga, executive secretary of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, was especially complimentary in his introduction of Mr. Hynson as the mainstay of the festival program.

WILL GET CERTIFICATE

Miss Mary Benson Terrill, of Haymarket, will receive her normal professional certificate at Fredericksburg with the 1934 class.

Miss Gertrude Chesley, of Fairfax Station, is also listed among the graduates.

ALUMNI BANQUET

The annual alumni banquet will be held on June 9. Tickets may be secured from Mrs. John Adams.

ON CAPITOL HILL

A steady gain in Federal revenues is pointed to by Senator Robinson, Democrat of Arkansas, as one of the encouraging signs of the time.

Treasury receipts thus far in the current fiscal year, he emphasized, amounted to $2,622,000,000, compared with $1,716,000,000 in the same period a year ago, and with $1,692,000,000 in 1931-32.

With one exception, Senator Robinson declares, all of the main divisions of the Treasury's revenue show a gain. The exception is the so-called miscellaneous group which includes as its principal item payments on the war debts. The amount received this year from foreign Governments amounts to $20,000,000, compared with nearly $100,000,000 last year and with more than $200,000,000 in the year before the Hoover moratorium.

All the other and more important revenues, Senator Robinson explains, shows an improvement. Custom receipts increased from $215,000,000 last year, reflecting the greater activity in foreign trade. The yield of income taxes advanced from $539,000,000 to $613,000,000. By far the greatest gain, however, has been made in the case of internal revenue taxes, which, bringing in $1,280,000,000 this year compared with $705,000,000 a year ago, have increased their yield by about 80 per cent.

This favorable showing Senator Robinson attributes partly to the new liquor taxes and partly to the greater yield of those imposed on the sale of motor cars and other industrial products.

Farm Values Increase

The Farm Credit Administration sent to Congress this week a report showing marked improvement in prices of farm property and a renewed interest in the purchase of rural land.

The average price of farms sold by Federal Land Banks throughout the country during the first three months of the current calendar year, according to the report, increased from $17.02 per acre to $19.40.

The report also declared that returns from the 12 Federal Land Banks indicate that sales are being made principally to farmers living near the properties. Of 498 sales studied, 317 were to nearby farmers, 30 to farmers living 50 miles or more distant, 41 to nearby non-farmers and 37 to non-farmers living at a considerable distance.

The amount of cash paid down, the report said, was slightly more than a year ago, except in the South and West where it has been almost twice as large.

Defends Tariff Measure

Quick legislative approval of the Administration Tariff Bill was urged in the Senate recently by Senator Byrd, of Virginia.

The Bill is designed to give the President authority, with few restrictions, to negotiate mutually beneficial trade agreements with other nations.

These proposed adjustments, according to Senator Byrd, cannot follow a general plan, for tariffs are too largely a local issue for members of Congress.

"In fact," Senator Byrd said, "the process of log rolling, and the pressure of organized minorities, are in a large degree responsible for the ineffectual tariff barriers that have been enacted."

"If we agree that reciprocal commercial treaties are necessary, there is no other course but to grant the President the authority requested." Senator also laid at the doorstep of the Hawley-Smoot tariffs the responsibility for the world-wide depression of the last several years.

IN MEMORIAM

FREDERICK W. MACLAREN PATTERSON

Maj. Frederick W. MacLaren Patterson, retired, died May 15 at the Mount Alto Hospital, Washington, D. C., aged 55 years, following a long illness, borne with the greatest fortitude, calmness and without the slightest complaint. Ever thoughtful of relatives and friends, to avoid causing grief, he was always cheerful and courageous before them through an extended period of great suffering.

Major Patterson's death is a loss to those who had the good fortune to know him. He was a natural leader of men, a born soldier, and possessed of a magnetic personality, strength of character and a cheerfulness of disposition that knew no bounds. By his life on this earth he has left a memory which will ever be held in highest esteem and affectionate regard.

A son of Mrs. Patterson and the late Wm. J. Ballantyne Patterson, he volunteered for service immediately following the entrance of the United States in the World War and was appointed captain, infantry section, officers' reserve corps, May 11, 1917. Proceeding from Camp Meade, Md., with his regiment (the 315th infantry, 79th division), he served with much distinction in France. Capt. Patterson was advanced as major, infantry, U. S. Army, September 3, 1918. The same month while in command of his battalion at Nantillois he was severely wounded and was awarded the distinguished-service cross for extraordinary heroism in that action. Maj. Patterson also received the award of the Purple Heart decoration. He was one of five brothers holding commissions in the Army during the World War. One, 2d Lieut. Lyman Patterson, a pilot in the air service and later captain, air corps, Maryland National Guard, and captain, air corps, officers' reserve corps, was killed in an airplane accident in February, 1930.

Following a long period in hospital in France and the United States, Major Patterson for several years was financial editor of The Washington Post and subsequently owned The Manassas (Virginia) Journal which he edited until ill health necessitated giving up active work. Since then he has resided at his old Colonial estate "Oak Grove," White Plains, Charles County, Md.

Major Patterson is survived by his wife, Mrs. Tessa S. (Clark) Patterson; his mother, his aunt, Mrs. Templeton Hodge, and four brothers, Col. Wm. Lay Patterson, U.S.A., retired;

Maj. Gen. Robert U. Patterson, the surgeon general of the army; Jeffrey B. Patterson, and Alexander Balfour Patterson.

Funeral services were held May 17 at St. Paul's Church, Washington, conducted by the rector, Rev. A. A. McCallum, interment being in Arlington (Va.) National Cemetery with full military honors. The honorary pallbearers, members of the Manassas Masonic Lodge of which Major Patterson was a member, were: Mr. G. Raymond Ratcliffe, Dr. Stewart McBryde, Mr. Harry Davis, Mr. Robert Weir, Hon. T. H. Lion and Dr. George Cocke.

Representatives of the National Press Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the District of Columbia Bankers Association, the American Legion and other societies, in addition to a large gathering of friends, were present at the services.

Selecting from many press comments is reprinted the following:

"Many expressions of sorrow over the death of Major Frederick W. Patterson, former financial editor of The Washington Post and more recently owner and publisher of The Manassas Journal, were heard in the financial district yesterday. The passing of the popular newspaperman is particularly saddening at this time when financiers are preparing for their annual convention, as they recall the many years when Major Patterson covered the event for his newspaper and was a striking figure in the social life of the summer convention trips."—Washington Herald, May 18.

Death Saddens Financiers

"The death of Maj. Frederick W. Patterson at Mount Alto Hospital after an illness of about a year caused wide regret in the financial district. He was financial editor of The Washington Post from 1924 to 1929 and won an unusual number of friends among financiers in the banks, brokerage and investment houses."

"In the newspaper field Maj. Patterson made a fine record, having a facile pen, splendid ability to judge news values and a penchant for accuracy. His war record was even better, being awarded the Distinguished Service Cross during the World War for bravery in action. During the last of his life he limped slightly and used a cane as a result of war-time injuries. He was born in Liverpool, England, 56 years ago."

"After Maj. Patterson became owner and publisher of The Manassas

ATTENDS GRAND LODGE

Mr. J. W. Smith was in Lynchburg this week attending the three-day session of the Grand Lodge of the IOOF of Virginia. He represented Highland Lodge.

Much valuable legislation was passed and Mr. Smith will report on it at the next meeting. As some of this represents matters that must be acted on at once, Mr. Smith is very anxious for a full attendance.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Chairman Trusler Candidate for Re-election.

At a meeting held in Culpeper last Thursday the Republicans of the Eighth Congressional district set August 6 as a convention day to be held at Culpeper to select a nominee for Congress.

It was evident at the meeting that the popularity of the present district chairman, Hon. W. E. Trusler, of Manassas, insured his re-election to the district chairmanship without substantial opposition.

The meeting was addressed by Hon. Joseph L. Crupper, National Republican Committeeman, who advocates a vigorous campaign for the November election.

PROMPT ACTION SAVES HOME

Authorities Investigating Suspicious Circumstances.

In response to an alarm turned in by Town Sergeant Marshall at 2:55 a.m. last Monday morning the local fire department extinguished a big blaze in the house belonging to Irene Ritchie, near the Southern Railroad depot, in record time, the hook-up taking up 55 seconds.

Aided by oiled paper, said to have been deliberately arranged to cause the greatest possible damage to the furniture and to insure as far as possible the destruction of the house itself, the flames had gained great headway when brought to a spectacular stop by the two big streams of water brought into play with the greatest efficiency by the Fire Department. A very large throng of spectators witnessed the spectacular achievement accomplished by the boys.

On account of circumstances alleged to point directly to arson, authorities immediately launched an investigation. In a few hours, Mr. Samuel Steiner, Deputy State Fire Marshal, was on the scene and with co-operation of town and county authorities, a searching inquiry is said to be under way.

Commenting upon the splendid efficiency of the local fire department, the State Fire Marshal expressed admiration of the efficiency exhibited which he said compared most favorably with that of the salaried professional fire-fighters of the large cities.

The house and furniture were adequately covered by insurance. The occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Psarakis, were away at the time of the conflagration and Mrs. Psarakis fainted when she returned to the scene and viewed the extent of the damage.

COUNTY CONVENTION

The County Sunday school convention will be held at Nokesville Church of the Brethren Sunday afternoon and night, August 26. Further announcements will be made.

Journal his friends in the local financial district tendered him a surprise dinner in the Virginia town as a special tribute to his work in Washington. He retained until the end of his illness his interest in the American Legion, several Masonic bodies, the National Press Club and the Army and Navy Country Club. A charming personality, his memory will linger long in the hearts of his host of friends.

"Many financiers attended his funeral today at St. Paul's Episcopal Church and went to Arlington Cemetery, where he was buried amid full military honors."—Washington Post.

SALLY LEWIS IS BEAUTY WINNER

Wins Title of Miss Prince William.

Before the admiring eyes of five or six hundred Prince William folks and before the scrutinizing eyes of a hard-boiled crowd of judges, little Miss Sarah Elizabeth Lewis, daughter of Charles F. M. Lewis, was declared "Miss Prince William County" on Friday night last at the American Legion beauty pageant held at Manassas High School.

The show started with sixty-two entrants, one of the largest yet held anywhere in the State. Eight eliminations were necessary to reduce the original squad to four very bright-eyed girls, namely, besides Miss Lewis, the Misses Esther Warren, Mildred Young and Eula Shaw.

In the meantime the girls had paraded and interludes had been put on in the nature of dances by Misses Deedee Lynch and Ellen Bisson and songs by Charmie Sinclair and the Leachman duo (Mollie and Nancy). The music all the way through was given by Mrs. William Leachman and by the orchestra which later played for the dance.

Considerable tenseness was felt while the judges pondered at length. This was decidedly increased when the next elimination left Miss Lewis and Miss Shaw, the runner-up.

When these two retired, Hon. C. A. Sinclair, county treasurer, was called to the stage and in a moment everyone knew who the winner was. The applause was hearty and genuine and all hands peemed very much pleased with the work of the tired, and now happy, judges. These gentlemen, by the way, were James D. Zerega and Fenton Conner, of Leesburg, and H. A. Standiford, of Washington.

Mr. Sinclair's speech of presentation was made under considerable difficulty and few heard the words of praise which he gave Miss Lewis as he presented her with the cup. But they all saw the ribbon and the cup.

The judges and those who came in to contact with the show had only the highest words of praise for the Legion and the auxiliary that got out and rounded up a show that few counties will equal and none will surpass.

When the ceremonial was finally over, the Legion accompanied Miss Prince William, their guest of honor, to the beauty pageant dance which was held in the gymnasium and which was eminently successful.

REV. A. P. GRAY TALKS ON SERVICE

Former County Man Active in Kiwanis Work.

Town Manager Cocke was the entertainment committee at the Kiwanis last week. He introduced Rev. Arthur P. Gray, a former Haymarket boy who is an Episcopal minister located at West Point, Virginia. Incidentally, he is also the head of the Kiwanis Club there.

Mr. Gray talked on the service side of Christianity as applied by the work of Kiwanis. He told of some of the things already accomplished at West Point and other ideals projected.

Dick Haydon reported on the contest sponsored under the wishes of President Carruthers, stating that the best five papers would shortly be in the hands of the Kiwanis committee, with announcements tomorrow.

Lieutenant McKensie, of the CCC Camp, as the guest of Al Hooff, made his adieu to the club which he had visited several times, stating that orders had arrived to move out on the Monday following.

Ex-Governor Ed Hill was around and Ed always has a live program. This time he posed as the Golden Rule Trust Company and made the several committee chairmen show the worth of the club and its assets before a loan could be made. The collateral proved to be satisfactory and the loan was guaranteed by the trust officer.

OLD "VET" PASSES
94th MILESTONE

Gives Many Interesting Incidents In His Life

On Friday last, George Augustine Weedon, Confederate veteran, celebrated his 94th birthday.

Hale and hearty, the veteran was found strolling around the lawn of the Nalls home where he now lives. Asked for some reminiscences of his long and useful life, he courteously acquiesced.

"For several generations," he said, "We have been fighting men. Like my forebears I did not go into the War Between the States out of any bitterness or hatred but for the honor of Virginia and to protect my home.

"My great grandfather, Augustine Weedon, who was in the Revolution, was a brother to George Weedon, one of Washington's generals. I was named for the two. My grandfather was in between the two wars but my father, Thomas Wroe Weedon, was in the War of 1812.

"While I was in the Army he was arrested for harboring spies and placed before the firing squad. The guns were drawn but the commanding officer called it murder in time to save his life. Even then he would not promise to refuse aid to Confederate spies.

"The Federal camp which was near our home, (a farm on the Rappahannock below Remington) treated my mother very nicely and gave her supplies liberally in return for cooking for them.

"In my young days I went to Nat Pope, a Rappahannock man who taught in a building near Grove Church in Fauquier. I had an aptitude for handwriting and figures and in 1858 my parents sent me to Culpeper to study under Peter Norris.

"He taught me bookkeeping. I then went to Wilderness (Spotsylvania County) and ran a store for my brother-in-law (William H. Simms).

"When the war broke out, he had already taken me into partnership.

"I enlisted in Company C, Thirtieth Virginia Infantry and remained with that company to the closing days of the War when I was captured just after Lee's retreat from Richmond. The only time I was separated from my division was when it went on the Gettysburg campaign. Probably I would not be here to tell the story if I had not for a lieutenant led our entire division from the field. That shows how badly it was cut up.

"C Company was captured by Captain Wister Wallace, of Fredericksburg, and the regiment was headed by Col. Archibald Harrison. The brigade was under Decoss, an Alexandria man, who had previously raised the old 17th Virginia. We were in Pickett's division.

"I did not get to the first Battle of Bull Run in time to do much fighting. We were holding the lines at Aquia but came up when we learned that McClellan had attacked at Centreville.

"Our division was all through the Peninsula campaign from Malvern Hill through both Cold Harbors, Drewry's Bluff and other fights. Men were often wounded at my elbow and have fallen mortally wounded against me but I was never even scratched.

"We were in the skirmishing in Tennessee and North Carolina but there were no major campaigns.

"We were coming over to help Early draw off troops from the north when we met him coming back from Maryland. The hardest fighting, strange to say, that I did in all whole war was just before Lee surrendered at Appomattox. If I killed anybody it was on that day. I was separated from my company when Custer charged the infantry with his cavalry, an infamous performance.

"I was taken to Point Lookout, Md., and fell very much in love with Maryland where I later spent much time. Naturally I was not mustered out but when I wrote my captain, he gave me a very gracious and honorable discharge, stating that he had not previously known where I was.

"In the main I was treated very nicely while in prison. I found that the difference was very great when old soldiers were not in charge for the youngsters were right rough."

After the release from prison Mr. Weedon returned, as did all the others, to his old home. He remained here for nearly a year and then turned back once more to Culpeper where he kept books a short time for Peter Norris.

Then began his long stay away from home.

After keeping books at a West River, Md., store two years, he bought another store there with his father's help. This he ran for four years, selling the same and again going to work as a bookkeeper both in Baltimore and New York. There he was bookkeeper and disbursing officer for a large commission house for a time and entrusted with many thousands of dollars.

The strain told on him and he came back to Maryland, buying a business on the Patuxent river (Battle Creek).

After another three year period here, he sold out and came back to his old home in Fauquier where he stayed only a brief time, Constant indoor work had impaired his health and he was advised to take up more vigorous exercise.

With that idea in mind, he learned the milling business at the old Ellis mill on the Rappahannock which was then operated by George Jones.

Having mastered this art, he was in demand at once and Col. Catlett Gibson, father of the present assistant commonwealth's attorney of Virginia, got him to take charge of a large mill which he owned. It was during this time (1892) that he married Louisa Rosson, daughter of Barnett Rosson, of Madison County. They had no children.

In 1893, Mr. Weedon again branched out for himself and rented a grist mill owned by the late W. L. Jeffries, of Culpeper, county judge for many years. With the exception of a brief days.

period in which he ran a mill on the Hazel River, he remained with Judge Jeffries until 1905.

After that time he continued in the milling business, doing most of his work at Cordova. Then he retired into private life (about 1923) and was living very happily when his wife had a most unfortunate accident in 1926. She was brought to Manassas where Mr. Weedon came after closing out his business affairs.

He stayed with her to the last, a few months later.

At present and for some time past, Mr. Weedon has found a very pleasant home with the Nalls who live on the Centreville road just outside Manassas. He pays Mrs. Nalls the tenderest tributes as a faithful friend of an old veteran.

Still loyal to the cause which he so patriotically served in the dark days of the Sixties, his eyes are bright with the glint of courage which has never flagged and his memory of a life well spent lives with him to serve as a never-failing aid in his declining years.

TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT

The United States Supreme Court has just handed down a decision which is fraught with many possibilities. It has decided that States engaging in the liquor business must pay the federal tax the same as a private business concern.

"When a State enters the market place seeking customers, it divests itself of its quasi sovereignty pro tanto, and takes on the character of a trader, so far at least, as the taxing power of the Federal Government is concerned."

In this legal verbiage the Federal Government would deprive a State of its sovereignty. It only remains now for the counties and cities to tax the State, and the absurd situation will be complete.

The States engaged officially in liquor dispensaries should resist this invasion of their sovereign rights and oblige their ambidextrous Uncle Sam to devise ways and means of enforcing the new mandate. In the meantime the patriotic citizen is greatly edified by this exhibition of the greed of his government in seeking to tax its own subdivisions in its unbridled engorgement of license fees. Never has it been more apparent that we have entirely too much government.

A NEW HONOR

Northern Virginia lays just claim to many distinctions. It is astonishingly easy to journey from Washington to Richmond. In 1864 a mighty army found the travelling the worst in the world's history. We have numerous other proud and distinctive traditions and resources in northern Virginia, and we now have a chance of being regarded as the original Garden of Eden. Our counties are lovely enough to merit such a distinction and now comes a paleontologist or super-scientist of some sort from the Smithsonian Institution in Washington further stimulates our bump of conceit by telling us that certain pottery excavated in the Rapidan River in Orange County and also on Dogue Run near Fredericksburg indicates that man hunted and feasted in northern Virginia some eighteen thousand years ago.

We don't doubt any discolo-sure respecting the ancient and present grandeur of our fair section of Virginia. We know it must be so, but it is nice to be reminded that Adam and Eve may have lived in Piedmont Virginia.

They are said to have been very discerning folks and certainly the counties of the Eighth Congressional district would have been worthy of favorable considerations as a desirable place of abode!

NEWCOMERS SATISFIED WITH JUDGE SMITH

Reports from Democratic leaders of Albemarle, Madison, Greene, Fluvanna and Goochland counties, the territory added to the Eighth Congressional District by the Redistricting measure of the recent legislature, indicate that the citizens of these counties are so satisfied with their new Congressman, Howard W. Smith, that there has been no thought of opposition to him among the Democrats in the coming primary.

In the counties of the old Eighth, Mr. Smith has not had Democratic opposition since he was elected by such an overwhelming vote to succeed the Hon. R. Walton Moore. He is recognized as one of the most intelligent and untiring workers in the National House of Representatives and is deservedly popular with his constituents.—Virginia Star (Culpeper).

Doctor Eddy will be in Fairfax County on Sunday afternoon, visiting the Falls Church district convention at 3 p.m. and then speaking at the Methodist Church in Fairfax at 8 p.m.

Other group meetings will be announced at these times, if any are to be held.

HOME-MADE REMEDIES FOR DESTROYING INSECTS

1. Soap solution to be sprayed on insects. Dissolve a 1-inch cube of laundry soap in a quart of hot water. This spray material must come in contact with the insect to kill it. Use against sucking insects such as plant lice or aphids.

2. Tobacco Extracts. Soak one pound of tobacco stems, or stalks, for twenty hours in a gallon of water. Use against sucking insects.

Hydrated or Builders Lime. Use on cucumbers, squash or pumpkins to keep off the striped cucumber beetle, and on tomato plants for flea beetles. Place the material in a burlap sack and shake over the plants. Keep young plants covered with lime until danger of injury is over.

Manufactured Materials
 Magnesium Arsenate. All five level tablespoonsful to three gallons of water for a spray, or one part of arsenate to three parts of lime for a dust. The material must be placed on the under side of the leaves to control the Mexican beetle. Do not use after pods are formed. Magnesium arsenate can also be used for biting insects, such as the potato bug, cabbage worms, and tomato worms.

Black Leaf 40, a tobacco extract. Add 1 1/2 teaspoonful to one gallon of water. A 1-inch cube of hard laundry soap dissolved in each gallon will increase its effectiveness. Use against sucking insects, such as aphids or plant lice.

Home-Made Protection
 Cut Worms—Tomato, pepper, and cabbage plants may be protected against this insect by using paper bands around the stems. About 1 inch of paper should be below the soil surface and from one to two inches above ground.

OLD CHURCH BURNS

Disastrous fires have hit the Manassas vicinity in the past few days. The Briggs house, then nearly completed, was totally destroyed while no one was in or around the building. The loss here was heavy. The Episcopal church which has been used for some time burned to the foundations. It is in Dettingen Parish but was serviced for some time previous to its closing by St. George's in Fredericksburg.

Another house recently destroyed by fire was the B. F. Liming house at Poplin. This house was unoccupied.

FIREMAN INJURED

Douglas Dodson, popular young postoffice employee, who had his arm broken in fire drill last week, is improving rapidly. The accident occurred in an effort to make a record at look-up.

Losses Close Contest to Crack Team.

On Saturday, Manassas went down No. Ocequan and rounded up two pitchers to the tune of $55. Dulp started for Ocequan and is credited with the loss. Ryan finished. Albrite went the route for the Macks.

On Sunday, the hard-hitting Swannee Club from Washington wrung a hard-fought game from the local team by a two to one score. Newton was the losing pitcher.

This Sunday Ocequan will return with blood in their eyes for the Manassas boys and the fight will be close.

On June 3, Aldie will come here for its first game with the local boys.

Peach Desserts

WOULDN'T you give a quarter for a dessert like the following which costs really only twenty-four cents and serves four people?

Peach Shortcake with Whipped Cream: Sift together one cup flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon sugar and one-half teaspoon salt, and cut in two and a half tablespoons shortening. Add three-eighths cup diluted evaporated milk, pat or roll out, and cut in eight rounds. Put two rounds together with melted butter between. Bake about twelve minutes in a hot oven (450 degrees). Split open and put between and on top the contents of a 1-pound can of sliced peaches which have been gently stewed for a few minutes with two tablespoons sugar and one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, then cooled to lukewarm. Top with one-third cup whipped cream.

If You Really Love 'Em

Peach Cobbler: Drain the contents of four No. 3 cans of sliced peaches (or one No. 10 and one No. 2½ can), and lay them in the bottom of a large flat baking pan. Mix together one and one-half cups sugar and six tablespoons flour, then add the peach syrup, stirring until smooth. Pour over the peaches, dot with three-fourths cup butter (or a butter substitute), and place the pan in oven while preparing the crust.

Sift together one and a half quarts flour, one tablespoon salt and one-half tablespoon baking powder, and cut in one and a half cups shortening. Mix with enough cold water to make of the consistency to roll. Roll not quite so thin as for pie crust, cut to fit top of pan, and make several slits in top for escape of steam. Remove peaches from oven, lay crust on top, and return to oven (400 degrees) for from twenty-five to thirty minutes. Serve warm with cream or with hard sauce. Serves fifty.

CATHARPIN

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Caton are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a young daughter, Eleanor Lee, weight 8 pounds, who arrived on Tuesday, May 15, to take up permanent residence with her elder sister, Mildred, who is mightily pleased with the outlook. Mother and daughter doing nicely.

Jack Alvey, young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Alvey of Catharpin, is now convalescing from an attack of pneumonia which has kept him under the nurse's care for the past two weeks. To keep him company, his younger brother, Hampton, was also indisposed for several days but both are doing nicely at present writing. Hampton had not missed a day from school this year and this seemed to worry him as much as his sickness.

Mr. Edward Pattie, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Pattie, spent Monday with his parents in Catharpin. Edward is working for the A&P in the "Marine City" Quantic.

Mrs. W. S. Brower and little son "Billy" were Washington visitors on Monday. You should hear Mrs. Brower explain how hot it was down there.

The Sudley Wesley Bible Class held its regular monthly business meeting last Sunday when the secretary reported 11 new members had been received since last meeting.

bringing total membership to 80. The class was pleased to have Mr. Eberhardt, of Alexandria, as its teacher on Sunday the 13th. All are cordially invited to attend class sessions each Sunday morning at 10 a.m.

The Rev. Mr. Sapp, pastor at Sudley, preached an excellent sermon last Sunday morning from the text: "I sat in his seat," which, being interpreted, means something like this: If you are going to set yourself up as somebody's critic or judge, you should first put yourself in his place and see if you could do it any better, so that you may judge correctly. Otherwise, your "judgment" might disclose your own ineptitude. It was a strong deliverance and well worth hearing.

It looks as though poor, old, voteless Washington is doomed to forever have her troubles. The starlings pestered the life out of her for so long, then came the cold snap of last winter which challenged her records, and now comes the hot spell when most of her thermometers blew up when they reached 95 1-2 degrees leaving her sweltering in her own discomfiture; while Catharpin went breezing along with her corn planting in an atmosphere which registered only 93. Well, it really does look as though the weather man should go some place and take a post graduate course in "modern" weather conditions for it is reported that while Washington and Catharpin were suffering up in the nineties, New Orleans, away "down south in Dixie," was enjoying the cooling influences of 84 in the shade. It doesn't look like a square deal some way. Perhaps the NRA will help us out. However, we are not complaining—just talking.

HOUSEWIVES OWN TELEPHONE STOCK

Owners of stock of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company include people in every walk of life, but 210,000 housewives outnumber all other classifications, according to C. S. Van Cise in the current Bell Telephone Quarterly. Of the 681,000 stockholders, 115,000 are Bell system employees, 90,000 include clerks and sales people, 40,000 professional and technical men and women, 35,000 merchants, 30,000 manual laborers, and 25,000 each management and financial men and women, educators and personal service professions, 21,000 retired people, and 15,000 government employees. There are also 20,000 trustees and 5,000 corporation and private firm stockholders.

The par value of American Telephone and Telegraph Company stock owned by institutions and corporations is more than $100,000,000. Included in this number are 500 churches and religious organizations, 250 schools and colleges, 200 institutional organizations and 150 hospitals, the quarterly article shows.

Brokers' holdings of A. T. & T. stock are relatively small, according to Mr. Van Cise. The list discloses about 490 brokers' firms with less than 3.7 per cent of the outstanding stock registered in their names. Although this represents in a general way, the floating supply of the stock, actually it is smaller than this percentage indicates, for there is always a considerable amount of stock in brokers' names which is not in the market for sale.

At times of heavy stock financing, the Bell Quarterly article shows that security dealers have been important factors in stabilizing the market and in absorbing through their market purchases the portion of each new stock offer for which other stockholders have not subscribed. These new stock issues have not been underwritten in any way, but in the six offers made by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company from 1921 to 1930, brokers voluntarily bought subscription rights in the market from stockholders not wishing or able to subscribe, and thus with the rights they themselves received as stockholders they purchased a total of $191,000,000 par value of new stock. This sum which brokers subscribed for stock, in part for their clients, constituted 20 per cent of the total stock subscription under these offers and demonstrates the value to the telephone industry of having a stock which maintains its investment position.

There are, of course, the article says, a number of individuals who hold large amounts of this stock. For over forty years, however, no individual or small group has owned a controlling or even a relatively substantial interest in the stock of the A. T. & T. Co. or its predecessor, and now no individual stockholder has as much as one-fifth of one per cent of the stock outstanding.

Geographically, A. T. & T. stock is perhaps the most widely held single investment in the world. During earlier years the ownership of stock was naturally centered in Massachusetts, where the telephone was invented and first financed, but as the Bell system grew and its nation-wide character became established, interest in its securities extended to all parts of the United States. Furthermore, it was soon recognized that the telephone industry could not be financed through the savings of any one section of the country and that a broad interest in the Bell system would be needed to provide the capital funds required for its growth. There are now twelve states which each have more than 10,000 stockholders. Twenty-three states have more than 5,000 stockholders and no state has less than 500. There are 8,000 stockholders, or 1.2 per cent of the stock list, owning 2.7 per cent of the total stock, in 82 foreign countries and United States possessions.

CITES USES AND VALUE OF PHONE SERVICE

Users of the 340 telephones served from the Manassas switchboard of the Central Mutual Telephone Company, Inc., one of 95 companies connecting with the lines of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia, now make 1,000 calls each twenty-four hours. This shows the extent of use of this modern form of communication, which forty-eight years ago was said to be impractical, Edwin F. Hill, Washington, D. C., information director of the Chesapeake and Potomac Company, told the Manassas High School students and faculty at their general assembly (May 18).

Telephone users in Virginia last year made approximately 318,000,000 calls from the 192,000 instruments operated by or connected with the Chesapeake and Potomac Company, according to Mr. Hill. More than 139,000 of these telephones are owned, operated and maintained by this company, while the other 52,700 are connecting company telephones owned by companies whose lines connect with those of the Bell system. As a result of these connections, telephones operated by connecting companies become a part of a nationwide telephone service and with the system's connections may reach the greater part of the world.

Telephone service in the United States, Mr. Hill said, has set a standard for the world. This high degree of efficiency has been brought about through development and research. The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia and other Bell system companies follow this practice systematically, depending on the resources of the Bell Telephone Laboratories for their research and development activities.

This organization, consisting of more than 3,700 scientists and engineers, is continuously engaged in making improvements to telephone apparatus, in formulating better ways of doing things, and in developing telephone equipment that will give better service.

Improvements brought about by these scientists and engineers in the Bell telephone laboratories have made it possible for about 92 per cent of the 32,950,000 telephones in the world to be interconnected.

Extension of telephone service by radio to foreign countries has brought into use many new and intricate types of apparatus.

Telephone communication also plays an important part in radio broadcasting. Radio audiences in the eastern part of the United States seldom realize that the programs coming into their homes from the Pacific coast travel more than 3,000 miles by telephone wires and only a few miles by radio. The president of one of the large broadcasting companies said recently, "It is to the telephone, not to radio, that we owe the development of the equipment whereby speech and music are made available for broadcasting. More than this, it is the telephone wire, not radio, which carries programs the length and breadth of the country."

To enumerate the various scientific phases of the telephone industry would be out of the question, the speaker said. For example, he stated, there are more than 15,000 patents covering telephone apparatus, with something like 1,300 pending.

Bell telephone laboratories' scientists and engineers have also done much to aid medical science by developing an artificial larynx, which enables those who through disease have been robbed of their speaking voices to talk again, and an electrical stethoscope, which enables doctors to hear plainly the actual beating of the human heart. These men have also developed the public address system, which enables speakers to address large audiences of people and the synchronization of talking motion pictures. These latter are by-products of the research and development activities of the telephone scientists and engineers.

Another accomplishment of research and development is the dial telephone. Today about 45 per cent of the 14,000,000 Bell telephones are dial operated. The first commercially operated dial office in the Bell system was installed at Norfolk, Va., in 1919.

Development of telephone cable is an item of major importance. Today about 95 per cent of all telephone wire in the Bell system is in cable. Of all cities of 50,000 or more population, 75 per cent are connected by cable, which is practically storm-proof.

Long distance telephone communication, which was first inaugurated March 27, 1884, between New York and Boston, now reaches more than 55 countries on six continents. The first commercial transoceanic telephone communication was held between New York and London, January 7, 1927. Two years later passenger steamers plying the Atlantic between the Old World and the new were equipped with telephone apparatus, which made ship-to-shore telephone communication possible.

Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor, who spoke the first words by telephone, March 10, 1876, according to the speaker, was the originator of the Bell Telephone Laboratories. At that time Dr. Bell, of necessity, did his own research work. In fact, he and one or two assistants performed the necessary functions for several years afterwards, until the American Telephone and Telegraph Company was organized in 1885. Then telephone research and development became standardized and the engineers and scientists engaged in that work carried out their experiments for all of the Bell System Companies. As the telephone industry began to expand, this research and development work also expanded until it became necessary to organize the Bell Telephone Laboratories to carry on the many phases of the work.

"RIDERS OF DESTINY" BLAZING MELODRAMA OF FAST ACTION

As "Singing Sandy," Wayne introduced a new type of outdoor action character. Sandy is a soft-singing, hard-fighting hombre who wades right through a mess of trouble in a desert community, cleans up a gang who are trying to get possession of all the acreage by reason of their control of the water rights, and ends up by having the well dynamited and chasing the villain over a cliff. Of course, there's a romance—the a girl who had turned bandit to save her father's gold shipment from the rustlers. The fact that "Singing Sandy" is a government investigator from Washington sent out to clean things up, make it the more interesting and glamorous to the girl.

Cecilia Parker is the girl, and is very appealing in the role of the rancher's daughter who turned bandit to save her father's gold. George Hayes, as the father; Forrest Taylor, as the heavy; Earl Dwire as Slip Morgan, and Lefe McKee as Sheriff Baxter, are excellent in grateful roles. Those two funsters, Al St. John and Heinie Conklin, add a lot of humor to the proceedings, which move at a furious pace throughout. R. N. Bradbury directed, and also wrote the story.

The play comes to the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Friday, June 1.

EVENTS AT FREDERICKSBURG GRADUATION EXERCISES

The graduating class of the Fredericksburg State Teachers College will have the pleasure of hearing Dr. S. C. Mitchell, professor of history and political science at the University of Richmond, deliver the commencement address on Monday morning, June 4.

A four-day program of festivities is planned for the commencement exercises. Beginning on Friday evening, June 1, the Drama Club will present "The Queen and the Cardinal." This event will take place in the open air theater.

On Saturday morning the traditional daisy chain procession will precede the class day exercises. In the evening the Alumnae Association will have the graduates as its guests at the annual banquet held in Seacobeck Hall. The dinner will be followed by a dance on the roof garden. Several hundred former graduates are planning to attend this event.

The final vesper services of the Y. W. C. A. will be held at 5:30 p.m. on Sunday. In the evening, Dr. Forrest Pretymann, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Fredericksburg, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon.

On Monday morning, the graduation exercises will be held in the open air theater. After the address by Dr. Mitchell, the degrees will be conferred by Dr. Morgan L. Combs, president of the Fredericksburg College.

Why Visit a Funeral Home?

As we extend this invitation for you to visit our funeral home, the thought arises that you may wonder what reason there is for your accepting it. Briefly, it is no longer customary to wait until need arises before visiting a funeral home. Almost everyone may be obligated to make arrangements for a relative, friend or neighbor. Foresighted people are making it a point to visit and know about the facilities of modern funeral homes, as one of their responsibilities. By doing this they avoid hurried decisions, made in emergencies, that might result in lasting regret. They secure information which helps make their final tribute to loved ones as considerate and beautiful as possible.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION ADVANCE

The Virginia Council of Religious Education, Inc., has just issued its most attractive folder entitled "Advancing Toward Spiritual Recovery." The manuscript was read by the chairman of the Board or executive secretary for religious education in the major denominations and the folder carries the endorsement of these denominational leaders, which adds greatly to the significance and value of the folder.

The folder is being distributed now in connection with the council's program of Advance and in which the International Council of Religious Education is actively participating.

This special effort is under the general direction of Dr. Paul D. Eddy, New York City, who is director of Week Day and Vacation Schools for the International Council.

He is spending most of his time in the larger cities of the state but local leaders in the County Council of Religious Education have been able to secure him for a general mass meeting and Sunday school rally at the Presbyterian Church, Manassas, Va., at 8 p.m., Saturday, May 26.

All Sunday school officers and teachers and all ministers of all the churches of the county are heartily invited, as is every other friend of religious education. It is the hope of leaders here that a record attendance may be secured.

Dr. Eddy will speak of the subject, "Christian Education and the New Day." He is one of the strongest men on the staff of the International Council and he has been very popular in Virginia. He has travelled in 20 nations of the world and he is well prepared to deal with the subject as announced. Local Sunday school leaders look forward to this as being one of the greatest Sunday school meetings ever held in the county.

Miss Lily Kokinides, niece of Mr. Harry Kokinides of Quantico, Va., is an applicant for the B. S. degree this year from the Fredericksburg State Teachers College where she has specialized in French and English language.

Miss Kokinides graduated from the Fredericksburg High School in 1931, and had completed the regular four-year course in three years. She is a member of "Le Cercle Francais" and also of "Modern Portias," a club composed of students especially interested in the teaching of English.

GAIETY OF PARISIAN LIFE IS REVEALED IN "FASHIONS OF 1934"

Americans who never have been to Paris are due for a veritable Cook's Tour of the smart places of the French capital and those who know the city like natives are due for a familiar landmarks in "Fashions of 1934," the Firs National picture which comes to the Dixie Theatre on next Monday and Tuesday, with William Powell in the stellar role.

Action of the story, which presents Powell and Bette Davis as a pair of amiable "chiselers," takes place before a background of such glamorous places as Ciro's bar, the far famed Ritz, Foyot's, Prunier's, the Folies Bergere and a typical cafe-cabaret in the Montmartre district.

Also seen are such well known architectural and geographical features as the Place de l'Opera, Arc de Triomphe, Notre Dame Cathedral, Rue de la Paix, Place de la Concorde, Rue de Rivoli, the left embankment of the Seine and, of course, the inescapable Eiffel Tower.

REPORT OF STATE
CHEST CLINIC

At the chest clinic held at Manassas on Monday, May 21, twenty-one adults and one child were examined by the State specialist. The reports of the examination have been sent to the referring physicians and all positive and suspicious cases advised to consult their family physicians for advice and treatment. Some of them will doubtless go to the State sanatorium, but most of them must remain at home. Doctors report that it is easier to get well at a sanatorium because people at home do as they please and not as the doctor advises. The advice of the family doctor if followed out in the home is just as effective as the advice of a doctor at a hospital. People with tuberculosis should realize this when they must remain at home with the disease, act sensibly and obey the doctor. Medicine is not needed. Plenty of rest, good food, and fresh air will work the cure if they begin soon enough.

We have now in the sanatorium three cases and three more recommended from this clinic for sanatorium care for whom adequate home care could not be arranged, and who have not means to pay sanatorium fee. The funds of the county tuberculosis association are low, and will not nearly take care of these cases. Organizations or individuals who could make contributions to this fund might thereby not only contribute to the cause of public health but protect themselves and their families as well. Tuberculosis cases who have been trained to care for themselves and protect others are not dangerous. The disease is spread by undiagnosed cases and those who are careless about following instructions.

INSPECTING SCHOOLS

For several days past the county school board and Prof. Haydon have been touring the schools of the county. This is a personal interest that is most commendable.

Today they are at Nokesville.

This sort of contact is one of the many reasons for the high standards and loyalty of the school set-up in this county which is generally regarded as an example for the other rural counties to fashion by.

V. P. S. CO. EFFECTS
TRANSFER OF PROPERTIES

The Virginia Public Service Company has concluded arrangements with the Potomac Edison Company, Hagerstown, Md., for the exchange of certain territories now receiving electric service in parts of Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland, it was announced by Lewis Payne, vice-president and general manager. The transfer of these territories, Mr. Payne stated, has been effected in the interest of more efficient operation of the properties involved and the customers served by both companies.

The transaction transfers to the Virginia Public Service Company the Loudoun Light and Power Company and the distribution system at Lovettsville, Va., now a part of the Potomac Edison system. The principal towns served by the Loudoun Light and Power Company are Purcellville, Middleburg, Hamilton, Round Hill and Hillsboro. All of these towns are adjacent to communities now being served by the Virginia Public Service Company.

The Virginia Public Service Company will transfer to the Potomac Edison Company the distribution system in Strasburg, Va., and vicinity and properties formerly served by the Potomac Valley Power Company and Harpers Ferry Electric Light and Power Company in West Virginia and Maryland.

The transfer will result in more efficient and better supervision of electric service now rendered to the communities in Loudoun County, Mr. Payne said. The new communities added to the Virginia Public Service Company's system are located in Northern Virginia, famed for its beautiful estates and prosperous farms. The company already serves Leesburg, Warrenton and the territory adjacent to these two well-known towns.

Settling Disputes

IT IS a strange thing that men often resort to strife first and reason afterwards in their efforts to settle disputes. Misunderstandings, jealousy, envy, self-justification, and the like are corrected not through strife, but through reason and amicable agreement. Wars are not a means of securing such an agreement; but after the use of bayonet and gun has ceased, and reason begins to bring about peaceful relations, then disputes are settled.

The ages have furnished historical data which prove that material ambitions and possessions afford no sound basis for peace, in either national or personal relations. Matter, being limited in its nature, expresses the belief of limitation in its every manifestation. Instead of making one great, trust in matter weakens one who relies upon it; and what this reliance does to individuals it does to nations. One right thinking individual is more valuable to world peace than millions of wrong thinkers. Referring to this individual importance, Mary Baker Eddy has written in "Pulpit and Press" (p. 4): "You have simply to preserve a scientific, positive sense of unity with your divine source, and daily demonstrate this. Then you will find that one is as important a factor as duodecillions in being and doing right; and thus demonstrating divine Principle." A little farther on she quotes, "One on God's side is a majority."

As the spokes of a wagon wheel get nearer the hub, they get nearer to each other; so is it with men; as they get closer to God in thought, they get closer to one another. The divine plan is impartial and blesses all alike who obey its laws of action. Love does not grant special favors, nor restrict legitimate progress; neither does it provide for such regulations through the material agencies commonly known as implements of warfare. The words of our Master, who came to fulfill the law, not to destroy, are as significant today as when they were spoken to Peter after he had drawn his sword and cut off the ear of the servant of the high priest: "Put up again thy sword into his place: for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword." Then, as if in holy benediction, he turned Peter's thought from matter to the infinite source of all good by asking, "Thinkest thou that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he shall presently give me more than twelve legions of angels?"

During the last quarter of a century was witnessed the most vicious and widespread combat ever fought, and today there is a crying need for assurances of peace, and a universally acceptable basis for the settlement of disputes. Spurred on by what it calls national defense policies, the human race has become engaged in the provision of drastic material methods of self-preservation.

But that which counteracts "all evil" comes from the divine Mind, not from the cannon's mouth. When animality gives way to brotherly love, and trustworthiness takes the place of dependence upon brute strength, the desire to rule one's neighbor through force or cunning will cease. It is the nature of God's law to elevate, not suppress, the human race; to give life, and not to take it. His law holds universal jurisdiction over all points of equity, and His angels bestow all blessedness on those who obey His law. As one becomes better acquainted with the demands of divine Mind, one begins to settle personal disputes by first correcting one's own thought. Starting with God, the source of all intelligence and good, one may establish friendly relations with others, for there is but one common origin and basis of all harmonious action.

Intelligence has already established an impartial and wholly practical answer to all questions; and when the entire human family submits to God's government, there will be no cause for distrust, fear, or strife, and there will be no unsettling disputes among men. Then will the prophecy of Isaiah be fulfilled, namely: "The mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it. . . . And they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."—The Christian Science Monitor.

GOV. PEERY APPROVES
HOMESTEAD APPLICATION

Governor George C. Peery this week approved the state's appropriation to the Federal Emergency Relief Administration for $150,000 to inaugurate the subsistence homestead program in Virginia. The money, to come from the Subsistence Homestead Corporation will be applied to the removal of 400 families from lands being incorporated into the Shenandoah National Park.

The Shenandoah evacuation and subsequent homesteading of the 400 families, will be among the first projects of homestead nature in the country. Under the plan the people, and their portable belongings, will be transported and colonized in small groups on tracts of various sizes, most of them adjoining the park. Land, housing, livestock seed and tools will be furnished them.

"BELOVED" IS A

"Beloved," the Universal's musical romance of a century, opens an engagement on next Wednesday at the Dixie Theatre. It is a real musical panoramic review of the past century.

This romantic drama presents John Boles and Gloria Stuart in the leading roles, and features Boles in a number of songs of the type which he does best, especially composed for him by Victor Schertzinger, while additional numbers are given by other members of the cast.

"Beloved" follows the career of a man through his lifetime struggles in an effort to compose "the great American symphony," and its constantly changing background covers almost an entire century. In his role Boles is first seen as a baby in Vienna, son of a nobleman who is even then engaged in instilling great music in the consciousness of the child. The scene quickly changes to Virginia before the Civil War, where Boles is the girl who afterwards becomes his wife, the role played by Gloria Stuart.

is before the Civil War, where Boles is the girl who afterwards becomes his wife, the role played by Gloria Stuart.

In swift succession the couple are shown at various stages of their life together, and the backgrounds for dramatic action include New York's Bowery in the '60's and the great city in the years which follows, with the story reaching its conclusion in the year 1933. Melody pervades the dramatic story throughout its length, with the solo songs and symphonic musical score written by Victor Schertzinger, who also directed the picture.

The large cast supporting Boles and Miss Stuart in "Beloved" is of virtually all-star proportions, and includes Dorothy Peterson, Albert Conti, Jimmy Butler, Lucille Gleason, Edmund Breese, Richard Carle, Mae Busch, Holmes Herbert, Anderson Lawler, Mickey Rooney, Ruth Hall and many others.

AGNEW APPOINTED CHAIRMAN OF NEW MILK COMMISSION

J. S. Agnew, Burkeville dairyman and member of the State Board of Agriculture, has been named chairman of the Virginia Milk Control Board by Gov. Peery. Kane Brugh, dairyman of Mace, Va., and Dr. T. R. Snively, professor of economics at the University of Virginia, were named as the other two members.

The commission was provided for in an act of the recent legislative session, the board to have wide powers in fixing the price and in the marketing of milk.

Under the Act the commission is authorized to regulate the sale, transportation and distribution of milk and to set minimum prices therefor.

Mr. Agnew is a producer of Guernsey milk while Mr. Brugh is for the most part a producer of Holstein milk. Dr. Snively is a well-known economist.
