MRS. HILL BROWN HOSTESS TO UDC

Delightful Tea Served Ladies at the Close of the Meeting.

The Daughters of the Confederacy were delightfully entertained in the home of Mrs. Wm. Hill Brown on Wednesday last, Mrs. Brown and daughter, Mrs. Stuart McBryde being hostesses.

A large attendance responded to the gracious welcome received also several guests among whom were Mrs. Lamb, president of Centerville Chapter and member of the state president's publicity committee, and Mrs. Hubbard of Manassas.

After the usual opening exercises and general reports of committees were heard a contribution was voted to be sent to the Virginia Tennessee Book Committee. A decision was also reached that a picture of Sydney Lanier, poet scholar and soldier, should be purchased and presented to the High School.

Mrs. Johnson stated that the annual contribution from the Chapter to Library would be used to purchase a book written by John S. Mosby relative to the war happenings of the sixties. She also recommended the purchase of "Ham Chamberlyne's Letters" a most interesting work.

Miss Florence Lion exhibited a letter from Gen. R. E. Lee to a relative of hers, Mrs. Thomas Shaw, written in 1864 which was of special interest and value being symbolical of this noble chieftain's character showing his great magnanimity and regard for his fellow man, the outstanding traits of this Idol of the South.

Mrs. Hynson gave a full and excellent report of the Upperville Convention. This report was of interest to all as many of the Daughters did not attend the convention.

Two new members will soon be welcomed by the Chapter as their papers have been duly filled out and sent in.

The chapter regretted to hear of the illness of one of its most faithful members, Mrs. Herbert Nash and wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Newman stated that the lot recently secured for a Memorial Hall had through the generosity of the Johnson family in dimension from 23 ft. by 24 increased to 40 ft. by 50, this gift is certainly appreciated by the chapter. They are also indebted to Mr. James Nelson for his very generous gift of twenty-five dollars toward the purchase of the lot.

An invitation was received from Miss Mary Ewell to attend the Memorial Exercises of the 8th Va. Regiment Chapter on Thursday, June 7.

Mrs. Johnson stated that the prize by given chapter for best paper, subject Light Horse Harry Lee, was won by Miss Dora Mays.

Mrs. Byrd read a communication from an absent daughter, Mrs. Nanette Alexander Lynn of Stafford. The chapter regretted to hear that she had been ill and hope that she has entirely recovered.

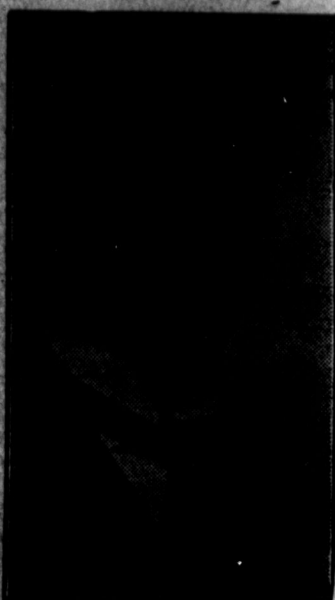

The business session completed, the historical program was presented. The historian being absent, Mrs. Thornton filled her place and gave a very interesting account of historical evening at the Upperville convention. She also read Dr. Gochenour's address of welcome which was a delightful paper enjoyed by all. Readings were also given by Mrs. Hite, and Mrs. Fred Dowell which elicited applause.

And now for the social hour, which was indeed a delightful one, when the cordial hostesses again availed themselves of the opportunity of diffusing not only a cordial welcome but served a delicious tea consisting of chicken salad and all its tempting accompaniments. Another delightful evening spent and the Daughters will always be glad to accept an invitation from Mrs. Brown.

DOUBLE HEADER NEXT SUNDAY

Manassas A. C. will play two games next Sunday on Swansville Field. Culpeper will be encountered at 2 p. m. and according to Manassas posters, their crushing defeat will be followed immediately by the massacre of the Occoquan team. Good games are in prospect, however, and it is even conceded by some more conservative observers that the local team might get licked. The Horning Jewelers last Sunday carried off honors to the tune of 9 to 2, so it is possible that either Culpeper or Occoquan may break through the local defense Sunday.

UNOPPOSED FOR CONGRESS

HON. HOWARD W. SMITH.

SATURDAY IS POPPY DAY HERE

Third Annual Sales To Be Observed.

Under the leadership of Miss Margaret Lynch a group of ladies and girls will again sell poppies for the benefit of the American Legion Post here.

These poppies are all made by disabled veterans and the sale of the little red flower is to commemorate those who died during the World War. The proceeds will be for the aid of the families of veterans as well as for the veterans themselves.

The sale both years previous has been very good and this year should prove no exception to the rule.

Remember the date—Saturday, June 16.

MANASSAS WOMANS CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The June meeting of the Manassas Womens Club was held in Parish Hall on Wednesday June 13 at 2:30 p. m. with the new president, Mrs. Paul Cooksey, presiding.

Reports of the incoming chairmen of the various committees for 1934-35 showed considerable initiative and enthusiasm with many new and worthwhile projects being planned. Among the most outstanding being: civic improvement, music and literary study groups, gardening and home beautification, charity and welfare, legislation and building up club membership.

Mrs. Paul Cooksey gave a splendid and most comprehensive report on the Virginia State Convention held in Newport News recently, which she attended as a delegate from the Manassas club. She gave an excellent resume of many of the addresses given by outstanding speakers as Mrs. Grace Manison Poole; National President of the Federation of Womens Clubs; Mr. Albert Stearns, international artist of New York; Mrs. McMiller who spoke on international affairs and many others. The club members were made quite happy by the president's promise to give us more of the interesting from time to time.

Music for the afternoon was delightfully rendered by Miss Jessie Mae Conner and Mr. Cleveland Fisher, pupils of Miss Virginia Speiden. Another feature which also gave a great deal of pleasure was a display of flower arrangements by members of the garden section under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Lewis.

Delicious refreshments were enjoyed during a pleasant social hour, Mrs. E. H. Merchant being in charge of this always welcome and enjoyable part of every meeting. The club adjourned to meet again in September as no meetings are being held during the summer months.

BETHEL WOMEN TO MEET

The June meeting of the Bethel Home Demonstration Group will be held on Thursday, June 14, at 1:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Riley. The topic for demonstration is "Livable Porches."

The women of the community are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Hinton Tiffany has returned from Chicago where he attended a conference of NRA repeating the code for the Milling Industry. Mr. Tiffany is on the national committee for this industry.

ON CAPITOL HILL

Through the persistent and determined efforts of Representative Howard W. Smith, Democrat of Virginia, the District of Columbia is in a position to get some urgently needed public improvements in the coming fiscal year that otherwise would not have been provided. Virginia, of course, will share to some extent in these improvements.

First, Mr. Smith succeeded in his fight to have an item included in the 1935 District Appropriation Bill for construction of sheds at the Farmers' Market in Southwest Washington. The Bill, as it finally passed, contained $22,500 for the erection of the shed to protect the farmers who use this market, many of whom come to Washington from Virginia to market their produce. In addition to the sheds George W. Roberts, Superintendent of Weights, Measures and Markets of the District, plans to use some of the money to improve the sidewalks and the space the sheds.

Mr. Smith led successfully the fight to pilot through the House a Bill authorizing the District to borrow $10,750,000 of Public Works Administration funds for urgently needed public improvements, not provided in the regular Appropriation Bill.

As a member of the important Rules Committee of the House, he aided in having a rule reported which gave the measure a privileged legislative status, and prevented its defeat by filibustering tactics which had been threatened by Representative Thomas L. Blanton, Democrat of Texas. Then he fought on the Floor of the House to have the rule adopted, and when it was, he took a leading part in the debate which resulted in passage of the Bill.

The 000,000 for road construction shall be apportioned by the Secretary of Agriculture under provisions of Section 204 of the Recovery Act.

The original allotment to Virginia under Section 204 of the Act amounts to $7,416,757. Since the original road construction appropriation under the Act totaled $400,000,000, Virginia's share of the $100,000,000 would amount to one-fourth of the original allotment.

Out of the $10,750,000 the District Commissioners plan to use about $500,000 in making improvements at the District Reformatory at Lorton, Virginia. One of these improvements will consist of a walled enclosure, designed to prevent prisoners from escaping.

The condition at Lorton, due to the escaping prisoners, was particularly emphasized by Mr. Smith during the debate in the House. He called attention to the fact that the prison population totals about 2000, and that there are no places to confine them in cells. And by reason of the fact that the District has what is known as the "intermediate sentence law", the Federal penitentiaries will not accept the District prisoners. Therefore, he said, "there is a condition down there that everybody concedes should be remedied."

It also is planned to use the major portion of the P. W. A. loan in constructing a sewage disposal plant, in an effort to remove a major portion of the Potomac River pollution. This plant also will indirectly benefit Virginians who live along the Potomac.

Virginia is scheduled to get $1,854,180 of the $100,000,000 carried in the deficiency appropriation bill for highway construction through the Country.

The Virginia allotment is based on the pro rata share granted the State under provisions of Section 204 of the National Industrial Recovery Act approved June 16, 1933.

The Deficiency Bill, carrying President Roosevelt's emergency relief program, was passed by the House this week after 20 minutes of debate. It provides that the $100-

COMPLIMENTS MR. TIFFANY (Special to the Manassas Journal)

Washington—Coincident with the AAA's announcement that President Roosevelt has approved a code of fair competition for the wheat flour milling industry, it is learned that Mr. Hinton Tiffany, of Manassas Feed and Milling Company has been designated as one of the fifteen members making up the code authority of that industry.

The code, which sets forth provisions governing flour sales contracts, prohibits unfair methods of competition, and sets a minimum conversion charge for flour sales, was drafted by members of the industry in cooperation with National Recovery Administration officials and representatives of the Agriculture Adjustment Administration.

Mr. Tiffany is recognized in both Administrations as an active and earnest worker in behalf of the small, independent miller. At the public hearings called to discuss the proposed code, he took an active part in ably presenting the beliefs and views of those he represented.

Approval of this bitterly-contested code is recognized as a distinct victory for the New Deal, in that suspension of the stop-loss provision of the code, by Executive Order, is directly in line with the recently announced NRA policy. This stop-loss provision, it is pointed out, can not be used until such time as the Secretary of Agriculture may determine and declare that an emergency exists in the flour milling industry to the extent that stop-loss provisions are necessary.

DRUG STORE CONTEST HAS CLOSE COMPETITION

In this issue, the Prince William Pharmacy is releasing the first showing in the vote contest for prizes which they are offering the children of the community.

The first vote was very close and Dr. Newman does not want any of the children who may not be mentioned in the results to feel discouraged as there is ample opportunity for other contestants to win.

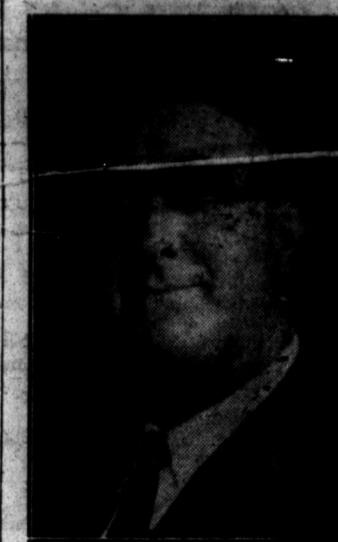

The next "voting day" will be June 30, and patrons are invited to visit the store to see the prizes.

BETHEHEM CLUB CHANGES DATE OF MEETING

The Bethlehem House Keepers' Club will meet on Thursday, June 28, at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. Annie E. Spies. Please notice change of date.

ENTHUSIASTIC ALUMNI GATHER FOR ANNUAL FEAST

FOR STATE SENATOR

E. R. (Ed.) Conner is to run for the State Senate next year, his friends say, and they are already booming him for the job.

"Ed" is very popular and a successful dirt farmer and merchant. He is well known and much liked in Richmond.

DIENER VISITS KIWANIS CLUB

Official Makes Pleasant Visitation.

Lieutenant Governor Irvin Diener, of the 1st District, Capitol Division, with his daughter, Celestine and her house guest, Helen Jean Moorhead, of Pittsburgh, Pa., were the house guests at the Kiwanis Club meeting on Friday night.

Irvin was not a bit embarrassed when a part of the Club walked out on him but went right into a stirring address on the need of the Kiwanis spirit in resisting communism, etc which, he claimed, were actively attempting to undermine the American principles of government.

Miss Moorhead put on several lovely dance hits and sang most charmingly.

The Club greatly enjoyed Irvin's visitation and urged him to return soon.

MISS SPEIDEN PRESENTS PUPILS

On Tuesday evening, June 12, Miss Virginia Nelson Speiden presented her pupils in a delightful musical program. The outstanding feature of the program was a demonstration of the Dunning System of Improved Music Study. The children showed remarkable ability in the knowledge of the various phases of music. Even the smallest of them performed with perfect ease the difficult tests in sight reading, rhythm, transposition, chord playing, and ear training proving that after only a few months study they already have a firm grasp on their subject. For the transposition and chord playing the audience was requested to ask for any key in which they wished the pupil to play. The subject of music history was represented by one of the pupils who told interesting facts in the life of Bach.

Other features of the system, such as scale work, melody writing, dictation, sight singing, memory training, and hand training, were not demonstrated because of limited time.

Following the demonstration, the children gave a recital of solos and ensemble numbers. The names appearing on the program were as follows: Jean Lewis, J. J. Conner, Jr., June Sadd, Roberta Sadd, Doris Staples, Douglas Mathers, Katherine Jenkins, R. LeRoy Byrd, Jr., William Knox, Maxine Ball, Mildred Merchant, Samuel Hottle, Tommy Athey and Garland Bosterright.

On Thursday evening, June 9, Miss Speiden's more advanced pupils gave an interesting recital.

The young people performed with an ease which indicated considerable talent and careful training. Special mention should be made of the performances of Miriam Blough, and the rendition of the Peer Gynt Suite by Cleveland Fisher.

Mr. Carl Kingheloe is attending the horse show in Upperville.

Portrait of "Miss Eugenia" is Unveiled.

The high point of the scholastic year of 1933-34 was not actually reached in Manassas until Saturday night when students and alumni, some of whom were accused of having great grandchildren, joined hands in honoring their friend of many years standing, Miss Eugenia Osbourne.

Gathered in the assembly hall which has been the scene of many brilliant affairs, the students and grads made merry until a late hour.

First, however, Bill Lloyd, president and toastmaster for this year, herded his charges into the business department where an election of new officers for next year was conducted in hurricane fashion. The popular tide swept Jenkyn Davies in as next year's leader, assisted by Frances Bushong, as vice-president, Christine Meetez, secretary and W. Hill Brown, Jr., as treasurer.

In a close vote, Bill Lloyd and Wheatley Johnson were elected over their feminine competitors as members of the executive committee.

Although out of tune by a two year gap without practice, Wheatley Johnson, Rev. Joe Gulick and Miss Smith gave a whoop for Naughty Five.

The presentation of the picture which had been looked forward to with so much anticipation passed very simply. Dr. D. A. Prescott, Class of 1916, and a prominent educator of today himself, praised very highly the school and its long time principal, Dr. Prescott is at present dean of the graduate school at Rutgers College.

He recalled that even as far back as 1912 that the school was a training ground for any university in the entire U. S. While at Harvard, he stated that his dean remarked to him "When I hear that you came from Manassas, I know that you were from one of the really fine schools in Virginia."

The speaker's plan to the alumni was very similar to that of Miss Eugenia's in urging that the high standards which have been built up be maintained by all succeeding classes.

"For such a thing to exist in a small community," stated Dr. Prescott, "is really remarkable. There must be a reason. That reason is Miss Eugenia Osbourne."

"It is truly fitting," he concluded, "for the alumni to place a portrait of Miss Eugenia upon the walls of this school."

At this moment, little Miss Jean Watson pulled the cord which released the covering from the frame which held the picture of the old time Southern gentlewoman whom all had gathered to honor. The occasion was applauded vociferously.

Mrs. Howard Rutan sang "Miss Eugenia" a song by an alumnus, eulogizing their old friend.

In accepting the picture on behalf of the school board, Professor Haydon did the dramatic by reading a resolution passed by the county school board nearly eight years ago but never before made public. That resolution reads as follows:

"Realizing that the excellent standards which have been attained by the Manassas Schools are in a very large measure due to the life-time of loyalty and service devoted to education in this community by Miss Eugenia H. Osbourne and her sister, the late Mrs. Fannie Osbourne Metz and realizing that out of appreciation of the efficiency and standards of these schools the citizens have seen fit to make possible a new splendid building to house the high school department, Be IT RESOLVED that the Prince William County School Board does this first day of September, 1926 name the new Manassas High School building 'The Osbourne Building' as an expression of appreciation for a life-time service rendered by Miss Eugenia H. Osbourne and her sister, Mrs. Fannie Osbourne Metz.

(Signed) R. C. HAYDON, Clerk. Immediately thereafter, Dr. Elizabeth Johnson arose and read a poem dating back to the annual teachers' institute in the fall of 1928. It reads as follows:

I TEACH SCHOOL
I write no poem men's heart to thrill,
No song I sing to lift men's souls;
To battle front, no soldier's lead,
In halls of state I boast no skill;
I just teach school.

community who has been ill for some time was taken to the Charlottesville, Sanitarium the first of the week where she will undergo treatment at that institution. Mrs. Collins was a patient at this sanitarium several years ago and came home very much improved in health. It is the fond hope of all friends that she may again be benefitted and return to husband and children soon.

Miss Mary Currell Pattie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Pattie of Catharpin, is receiving the congratula-tion of friends upon the receipt of the Elizabeth Quarles Johnson Mathematics prize given for the best student in mathematics in the third year class of the Manassas High School. This prize was inaugurated some years ago to commemorate the memory of Miss Elizabeth Quarles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. C.
Johnson, who, herself was a member of the third year class and excelled in that particular line of study. A fine memorial, indeed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lowry and twin sons John and Glen of Fayette City, Pa., were overnight guests at Oakwood on Friday of last week. The Lowrys were on a vacation trip thru Virginia and were much impressed with the general fine appearance of the crops and gardens in this section of the state. They report that their part of Pennsylvania around Pittsburgh is literally burned up by the intense heat and drought; gardens destroyed, wheatfields not worth harvesting and cornfields barren. It is almost inconceivable that the short distance of 216 miles from Catharpin would find such conditions to exist. The N. R. A. will find no trouble in that section anent wheat reduction.

A truckload of fat hogs, weighing a little under 150 pounds was taken to market last week and the best they could get for them was $3.35 per cwt., a price much lower than this time last year. Someone was heard to remark that everything that was "processed" as
"on-are-ayed" went down, and things that were let alone rose in price.
How about it?

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES
PICNIC AT LIBEAU'S BEACH

On Saturday of last week members of the first and second year high school classes, Miss Waters, Miss Emily Johnson, and Dr. Elizabeth Johnson went on a picnic to Libeau's Beach. In spite of the absence of sunshine and the presence of a few clouds, the picknickers had a very delightful time swimming, playing games, and, of course eating. Excepting a fall or two, everyone returned home much the better for such an enjoyable day.

Address to Graduating Students by Dr. Sydney Negus

Coming over here from Richmond I came to a point in the road where there was a sign which meant sharp curve to the right. I could have disregarded the sign if I had wanted to and ended up in a deep gully. But driving experience has taught me that such sign-posts mean what they say and I obey them. I came up onto another sign-post at a railroad crossing. You have seen it many times, "stop, look and listen." I obeyed it. If I hadn't you probably would not have had a commencement speaker and you would have read about it all in the papers tomorrow. Another sign I've seen on the road is "drive carefully, you may meet a fool."

There are certain sign-posts to guide human behavior. These posts over the years have proven to be worth obeying. The Bible has its ten commandments and we older ones and many of you younger ones know that obeying them is just as much common sense and head work as it is a matter of the heart. Moses was not only a good law-maker but he was one of the outstanding physicians of all times.

There are just a few sign-posts which I would like to set up for you tonight, short pieces of advice learned by experience which I hope someone will give to my son and daughter when they come to the place you are now. They are sign-posts which I am sure your parents here tonight will approve my giving.

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN

The STOP implies thinking. You cannot think wisely unless you develop a trained mind. In your high school work, under Miss Osburn's direction, you have made progress in this direction. Most all of you will agree that you still have much to learn. Occasionally, however, one meets a young man or woman just graduating from High School who knows it all! That's just too bad. Pasteur, lived to be 73 years old and the greatest scientist France has given to the world, said in the last year of his life, "I have just lived long enough to perceive my ignorance."

Get out of your head the idea that you must have a college degree or a university degree to be an educated person. Frankly, some college and university graduates are sad specimens. Your folks have met some of this class to which I'm referring. Some of you young people here tonight may go on through college and still, if your heart isn't right, end up with nowhere near the sound fundamental education which you folks may have without even attending high school or college. Knowledge, scientific training and culture are all futile unless with them goes the right sort of outlook toward your fellow-men. A tramp will steal a ride on a railroad. If he becomes highly educated without his character developing simultaneously, he may steal the road. Dillinger is smart but experience over the years has refuted proven that his plan of living is absolutely futile. STOP, think, use your head and resolve to develop your mind in a field for which you are suited, college or no college.

"LOOK" implies observing. Observe carefully the older people for whom you have great respect. Read biographies of persons you admire. In my observations of this sort, I have learned of 5 important signposts.

First: Be appreciative of things done for you, the little favors as well as the bigger ones. Tonight when you go home, thank your folks for all they've done for you in making it possible for you to be receiving your high school diploma tonight. If you don't remember anything else I say, keep in mind that little words of appreciation go a long way.

Second: Get acquainted with folks in all walks of life. Become able to feel at home talking with a laborer as well as with the president of the U. S., at the same time making the person with whom you're with feel at home himself. Strive to be liked and respected by all types of people and see the good, not the bad, in folks generally. As you know, this is the predominant asset of our president, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Thirdly: Respect the rights of others. Follow this simple signpost and you'll be a lady or a gentleman, violate it and you're in another class. Fourthly: Develop a sense of humor. See the rosy side of happenings generally. Wrinkles will come in your face but have them in the right place.

Fifthly: Never get to the predicament where you think your mind is so well trained that you can become cynical of the finer things of life. The more one gets to know about life generally, the more humble and reverent he or she should become of the great power back of it all. Many of the less thoughtful young people of today seem to go through a period of skepticism due largely to lack of life's experiences. A young man told me a while ago that he wouldn't believe anything excepting that which could be proven to him. What a senseless stand to take considering how very little we know about so many things. It is well to remember that a person scientifically trained believe in them because he can observe evidences of them. A reverent person believes in God and the Church for exactly the same person. He sees evidences of what believing in them has accomplished. Don't drift away from the faith of your fathers.

LISTEN What an important word that is and it means what it says. A good conversationalist is one who has learned to listen well. One can learn very little by talking but a whole lot by listening. There are many people I know who talk themselves out of what they're after. Haven't you met people who actually talked themselves out of your friendship? Haven't you met other persons who are gossips, who never seem to have a good word about anyone? As you go along, you will learn if you haven't already that people who seem to delight in destructively criticizing someone else are doing themselves more harm than the person they are condemning. Listen, keep from getting the reputation as an idle talker.

CHESTER ARTHUR AMOS

It was a great pity indeed that on the very night that his old alumni buddies were celebrating their annual get-together here that "Chet" Amos should meet such a tragic end in Alexandria.

Born in that town, Chester Arthur Amos came to Manassas then a small boy and spent his school days here. He made a brilliant record, getting a scholarship in 1913 when he left here.

His achievements as a doctor, a keen student of science and an educator of no mean importance are all well known. Big as was his capacity for progressive medicine, just so was his heart, and there are many sad faces today among the many who were graced by his goodness of character.

The funeral on Tuesday at which leading physicians of northern Virginia acted as pall bearers saw the largest turn out for a deceased citizen that old Alexandria has witnessed for many days.

COMMENCEMENT AT MANASSAS H. S.

The exercises at Manassas High on Friday night were quite forceful in their simplicity.

The address of welcome was given sweetly and clearly by Miss Catherine Luck, president of the Class of 1934.

Jane Lynn, speaking on the plight of the unemployed graduate, gave some thoughts that were not only soothing but quite helpful.

John DeBell told of the achievements of the students' league. Henry Peters, defending agricultural education, registered some very serious ideals.

In the line of entertainment, Miss Speiden had the students well drill in the two numbers which they gave. Later the Octette also gave two numbers quite efficiently.

The awarding of prizes was done by the redoubtable O. D. (who got by without telling any jokes). Later Chairman Arrington, of the County board gave out the 7th grade certificates while our own Dick gave out the sheepskins. Needless to say that Miss Eugenia had to back up all three of them.

Dr. Sydney S. Negus, of the Richmond Medical College, made the address to the graduates. The talk was striking in its brevity and in general directness. With the exception of a small part, the address is reproduced in full in another column.

We congratulate the graduates of Prince William Schools, and wish them continued success as they climb the ladder of success.

Among the valuable lessons that many school graduates yet have to learn is the habit of systematic saving. Some have already developed this essential to a successful career.

We invite our young friends to patronize this safe and efficient bank.

MISS STEELE A BRIDE

Announcements have been received of the marriage of Mr. Holmes H. Smith, son of Mrs. Annie M. Smith and the late H. H. Smith of Birmingham, Alabama, to Miss Audrey E. Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Steele.

The wedding took place on the first of June in the city of Detroit, Michigan. Mr. Smith will complete work in August at Tri-State College, Angola, Indiana, for a degree in Civil Engineering. For the past two terms he has also been Laboratory Instructor in Surveying at this college. Previous to the time at Tri-State, he has been employed by the Department of Interior in the United States Geological Survey.

Mrs. Smith, graduated from the Manassas High School in 1926 and is a graduate of the State Teachers College, Fredericksburg, Va. For the past three years she has been at the head of the Warren County Commercial School, Front Royal, Virginia. The young couple will return to Virginia around the middle of August and will then be at home to their friends at 451 Grant Avenue, Manassas, Va.

MRS. THOMPSON TO GIVE BENEFIT

On Thursday afternoon, June 21, Mrs. Corbin Thompson, of Woodbridge, has graciously donated the use of her spacious grounds and beautiful home for a garden party and card party for the benefit of the Woman's Clinic.

Mrs. Grattan Kerns has charge of transportation from Washington. The buffet luncheon service will be under the charge of Mrs. C. L. Starkweather, assisted by Mrs. Frank Birgfeld, and Mrs. George W. Eastment. Those who will not play will merely pay a nominal charge upon entry to the grounds.

This particular affair promises to be the most popular given in the history of the work.

ACTIVITIES AT CAMP RECOVERY

Simultaneous with the arrival of a detachment of men from the Camp at Dillwyn, Va., the summer schedule of activities of Camp P-71 was inaugurated.

Due to the summer season being at hand, the strictly education program was modified lightly to allow contests in horse pitching, volley and playground ball to take place during the time formerly allotted to class periods.

A swimming place with platform, a high and low diving board and a bath-house are being constructed by the men on the upper part of Lake played by the camp nine, with teams representing the other CCC Camps in the sub-district.

Provisions have been made for moving pictures to be shown in the Camp each Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, an hour which does not interfere with the classes for that evening. And it is also planned to have a series of occupational talks delivered to the men each Wednesday.

Having been in their new home long enough to become acquainted with their new surroundings the men have come to like and hope, in time, to become as well liked as they were in their former home.

ANNUAL CLOSING AT LINTON HALL MILITARY SCHOOL

On Friday evening, June 8, Linton Hall brought to a close one of the most successful years in its history. The service conducted in the Chapel, by Rev. Father John D. S. B., assisted by Rev. Father Ryan of All Saints Church, Manassas, were of a military character, and proved most inspiring to the large crowd of people, relatives and friends of the cadets, who had gathered for the occasion.

Promptly at eight o'clock the bugle sounded a call as a signal for the companies to assemble. Then followed a hymn "Ave Maria," sung by the gaudet choir. After this came the blessing of the beautiful new flag—a salutation, "The Cross and the Flag" by Cadet Capt. Francis Cromwell and the "Star Spangled Banner" played by the Linton Hall Military Band.

Promotion cards were then distributed to the cadets, the following boys receiving Eighth Grade certificates—Edward Brennan, Robert Reddy, Joseph Salm, Francis Clairvany, Thomas Gibbons and Francis Cromwell. Father Ryan then gave a short address, admonishing the boys to be faithful to the principles they have imbibed at Linton Hall, loyalty to God and their country—after which Military Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was given. Following the cadets' hymn of triumph, "Jubilate Deo" the Companies were given the signal for "Retreat". With heads held high, the proud commanders led their troops forth for the last time in 1933-34. And well they might be proud! For each and every little cadet had done his level best during the past year, and held in his hand the pledge of a step onward.

The Linton Hall Alumni held its third meeting on Saturday and Sunday, June 9-10. Fourteen members attended. The main feature of the entertainment was the banquet on Saturday evening, the honor guest on this occasion being the beloved chaplain of Linton Hall, Father John Smith O. S. B.

It was resolved to dedicate one day of the next meeting to a retreat.

Coinciding with this was a retreat given by Rev. Father Conlon O. P., National Director of the Holy Name Society, to the men of the Richmond Diocese.

WOODBRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Davis entertained friends from Washington, D. C., at their cottage at Davis Beach last Sunday.

Mrs. Warren Clark spent the week-end in Baltimore, Md., visiting her brother.

Mrs. Chas. U. Gibson left Monday for Hensdale, Ill., to visit her daughter, Mrs. H. R. Bresnahan.

Weekly Laughs from Woodbridge

I saw Bill Smith the other day and Bill says "Hello Cap. Perry." Bill always calls me Cap. Perry. I guess that is because I look like a leader of men. I asked him what he was doing and Bill said "Studying." "For what?" I asked. Then Bill told me the whole story. It seems a fellow was to give him a job painting but when it came time to go to work, the fellow said he was sorry but the people were kicking as Bill as he had never learned his trade and wasn't a regular painter, so Bill sent to Roebuck and got a course in painting and is aiming to be ready for the next job that comes his way.

I heard yesterday that Clarke Gable is looking for a sky pilot to be a knot for him next week, but I don't believe it as Clark don't really look that crazy.

WATERFALL

Miss Jean Howdershell of Washington, spent several days of last week with her sister, Mrs. R. R. Smith.

The 8th Va. Reg't Chapter UDC observed Confederate Memorial Day at their hall at Hickory Grove on Thursday of last week. Mrs. Alice presided in the absence of the president Miss Lucy Berkeley, who has not as yet, arrived at "Evergreen" for the summer. In lieu of a special speaker which has long been a custom on this occasion; "daughters" presented an interesting program of "Song and Story" reminiscent of Jefferson Davis and the thrilling days of the 60ths. Especially interesting was a letter read by Mrs. Sanford Gulick; and written by her brother, Mr. Ludwell Hutchison, describing the battle of Sailor Creek; in which his twin brother, John, was injured. He spoke of burning three biscuits for which he paid $3.00 in Confederate money.

The meeting was unusually well attended and the hall was brightened by the presence of several members from a distance, among whom were Mrs. Nim Lightner, of Nokesville, and Mr. and Mrs. Rob Conner of Cherrydale. The daughters noted with regret the passing of Mrs. Wm. Wise, of Leesburg. Mrs. Wise has long been a loyal daughter of the Loudoun Chapter. Delicious refreshments were served after which we reluctantly departed to meet in July at the community hall in Waterfall.

Mrs. R. R. Smith, Mrs. R. B. Gosson, and Miss Cynthia Leonard are the delegates appointed to represent Antioch at the annual meeting of the W. M. U. to be held with Manassas Baptist Church June 20 and June 21.

PANAMA (No. 3)

The Isthmus of Panama, with the Panama Canal, form the cross-roads of the world; and our motto "The earth divided, the world united" is just a plain statement of fact, for we have ships from the East crossing the Pacific to the western coast of the U. S., passing through the canal, and sailing up the east coast, or going eastward to European ports; coast-wise ships from the northern most points of our west coast to the southern most ports of the west coast of South America. Also ships from the east coast of South America passing on up the Atlantic coast of the U. S., or back and forth through the canal, according to the demands of trade. So it is plain that this is truly the crossroads of the world, and while the entire population now, including Panama City, Colon and the Canal Zone, is only about 200,000 in the course of time, with the return of normal trade, large cities at these two terminals will most surely rise in the place of the present cities, as this country's resources are developed.

This morning (April 19th) I walked out to the piers and found them loaded with all manner of freight from all parts of the world; The "Santa Teresa" from New York with 200 passengers, discharging and receiving miscellaneous freight, a ship from Norway discharging 5000 tons on cargo; one from Brazil discharging 18,000 bags of coffee, one from the west coast unloading 500 bbls. of wine. Our Panama R. R. ship, the Ancon loading coffee from Peru, and other freight, preparatory for sailing to New York on Sunday; two large oil tankers, and the "Krassen" flying the Russian flag. It is a Russian Man o' War and ice breaker, on the way to Alaska. This is just a sample of the daily activities on the piers at Cristobal.

A great many hand-trucks are still used, but the bulk of freight is now handled by electric elevator trucks.

The labor is largely Jamaicans and East Indians; these with some Italians, some French from Martinique, Chinese, Japanese, and the Mongrels from everywhere, make up quite a "confusion of tongues" with these people crowding the streets and parks.

One can get a very good illustration of all this leg reading the second chapter of Acts, verses 9, 10 and 11, but amid it all you hear very little of the "wonderful works of God" as mentioned in this chapter.

There are between two and three hundred saloons, cabarets, night clubs and etc in Colon. Gambling of all sorts is carried on openly, although prohibited by law. The National Lottery of Panama is one of the biggest enterprises here.

Everybody buys lottery tickets; only fifty cents, and you may win one dollar or a thousand dollars for the fifty cents, but most generally you win nothing.

Until the depression struck us the annual carnival of four days, ending with the beginning of Lent, was the great festival of the year. It is not as elaborate now, but is still observed to some extent each season.

The Panama R. R. Co. operates Commissaries at all the towns in the Canal Zone, where only the employees may buy their supplies—employees and their families, and the army and navy and marine corps.

The Commissary here in Cristobal is just a big department store, carrying all classes of goods, even novelties in great variety from various countries of the world—almost as great a variety as can be found in the East Indian stores here, of which there are a great many. These stores do a fine trade with the tourists that are visiting here almost daily.

If you want to see poverty and happiness—which always go hand in hand—one must go out on one of the trails to the interior. It was said that a man consulted a philosopher to ask how to become contented, the philosopher told him to go and find a man who was perfectly contented, borrow his shirt and wear it and he would become so.

At last he returned and told the philosopher that after a long search he found a man contented, but he had no shirt.

CHEVROLET SALES GO UP WITH PRICE DROP

Although it is only a week since Chevrolet announced drastic price reductions on its entire line of passenger cars and trucks, sales throughout the country have already increased substantially, indicating the company's objective—the prolonging of factory employment through the ordinarily quiet month of June—is likely to be attained.

The announcement was made today by W. E. Holler, general sales manager, based on the dealer reports from all over the country. Concrete evidence of the effect of the reduction, Mr. Holler said, is the fact that Chevrolet's output projection for June is sharply increased over last year's June output, amounting to approximately 100,000 units, and there is every indication that June will exceed May in retail deliveries. Such a record for June is regarded as a distinct achievement, and is attributed largely to the new low price schedules he said.

The effect of the price reduction, totalling as much as $50 per unit, was probably accelerated by the fact that Chevrolet was in the public spotlight at the General Motors Exhibit just concluded in 61 principal cities. But the improvement in business can not be accounted for on that basis alone, since the influx of new orders is not confined to the cities where showings were held. Dealers in almost all states report a quickening of interest, due to the fact that Chevrolet's patented knee-action is now available at the lowest price since the introduction of the 1934 line, and also to the company's offering, in the new standard series, the world's lowest priced car of six or more cylinders.

"We have double cause to feel gratified," Mr. Holler said. "This prompt public reaction not only means much to Chevrolet but is also a decided boost for the national recovery program. The seasonal slump, heretofore regarded as inevitable in the automotive industry, will be felt less severely than usual in the 21 Chevrolet plants. And equally important, though perhaps less apparent on the surface, the huge army of suppliers of Chevrolet's raw materials will also be more active this summer than in other years, and their buying power, like that represented in our own direct payrolls, will make itself felt beneficially the length and breadth of the land."

A SERMONETTE

By Rev. V. H. Council,
Baptist Minister, Clifton Station, Va.

Daniel-1-8 But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the King's dainties nor with the wine which he drank.

The world needs again and again to be reminded of the story of Daniel who, for no fault of his own, was carried away into Babylon a captive, never again to return to his native land. When chosen by King Nebuchadnezzar, because of his Royal blood, to be trained in all the wisdom of Babylon and to be one of the King's ministers he purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the King's dainties nor with the wine which he drank. We may be sure the King's table was laden with the choicest viands to be procured in the land, and as to the wine—it must have been of the rarest vintage, but Daniel, true to the convictions of his heart and to the traditions, no doubt, of a Godly Father and Mother, purposed in his heart not to defile himself. He might have chosen the line of least resistance and yielded to the temptation to be a member of the social set which had access to the Court of Babylon. But he chose rather to walk in the foot steps of his illustrious ancestor Moses who when occupying a similar position in Egypt "chose rather to suffer affliction with the people of God than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season." And like Joseph, a Slave in Egypt when subjected to the most galling temptation said "How can I do this great wickedness and sin against God?"

Let us look at Daniel's influence upon others. His three friends Hananiah, Michael and Azariah when ordered by the King to fall down and worship the golden image which Nebuchadnezzar had set up or be cast into a fiery furnace answered: "Nebuchadnezzar, we have no need to answer thee in this matter. If it be so our God whom we serve is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace and will deliver us out of thy hand O King, but if not be it known unto thee, O King, that we will not serve thy Gods nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up."

When the enemies of Daniel indicted King Darius to issue an edict that anyone in the realm offering a prayer to God or man by the space of thirty days, except to the King, should be cast into a den of lions, this decree made no difference to Daniel. Kneeling down upon his knees as "aforetime", three times daily with his windows open toward Jerusalem he didn't even close his windows, nor pray with his head under the cover although he knew his enemies were seeking his destruction. He gave thanks! What did he have to thank God for? He a captive, an exile, persecuted, but giving thanks. We might expect him to be cursing his enemies or bemoaning his fate, but listen! Giving thanks! He was not embittered, not resentful, but giving thanks!

This world still needs the example of such a man. This generation needs Daniel's example. You need it and so do we all.

But what was his influence upon the people among whom he lived? King Nebuchadnezzar became so deeply impressed with the steadfastness and loyalty of Daniel that he became a devout believer in the God of Daniel and made a decree that all nations and every people should revere the God of Daniel. And King Darius who came to the throne at a later period said, "I make a decree that in every dominion of my Kingdom men tremble and fear before the God of Daniel for he is the living God and steadfast forever."

VIRGINIA SOIL EROSION
PROJECT

Congress was advised by the Department of Interior this week of the establishment of a soil erosion project on the watershed of the Ben-nister River in Pittsylvania County, Virginia. This important undertaking will comprise approximately 100,000 acres in the central part of the county, where approximately 75 percent of the land is cultivated.

The proposed area is representative of a broad land condition in the rolling Piedmont region of Virginia and North Carolina, where erosion is a serious farm problem. As a general thing, the fertile topsoil has been largely depleted of its productivity and in many places, entirely washed away. The sandy character of much of this area, permitting ready absorption of rainfall, has saved most of the land from serious and extensive gullying, but a sheet of erosion is constantly taking a toll of both soil fertility and the soil body itself.

The farms within the project, numbering about 1,200 for the most part, vary in size from 75 to 220 acres, and are generally owned by the operators. Tobacco is the principal crop, although in recent years, on account of the encroachment of erosion, some added attention has been given to grasses, legumes, and livestock.

Why Visit a Funeral Home?

As we extend this invitation for you to visit our funeral home, the thought arises that you may wonder what reason there is for your accepting it. Briefly, it is no longer customary to wait until need arises before visiting a funeral home. Almost everyone may be obligated to make arrangements for a relative, friend or neighbor. Foresighted people are making it a point to visit and know about the facilities of modern funeral homes, as one of their responsibilities. By doing this they avoid hurried decisions, made in emergencies, that might result in lasting regret. They secure information which helps make their final tribute to loved ones as considerate and beautiful as possible.

ENTHUSIASTIC ALUMNI GATHER FOR ANNUAL FEAST

I just teach school but post's thrill,
And singer's joy and soldier's fire
And statesman's power, all, all are mine;
For in this little group where still
I just teach school.

Are Poets, Soldiers, Statesmen, all.
I see them in the speaking eye
In face aglow with purpose strong,
In strengthened bodies, tense and tall—
When I teach school.

And they, uplifted, gaze intent
On cherished heights they soon shall reach;
And mine the hands that led them on!
I still teach school.

At this moment the subject of the evening herself arose to give her appreciation. With a few words, she thanked the alumni for so honoring her.

"It is really the most pleasant moment of my life," she said.

In most unassuming way, Miss Eugenia then showed the plan upon which she had helped build Manassas High to the high rank which it holds today.

"It is not so much whether the children get to college that we use the college entrance standards. It is because these standards mean the best there is in scholarship. We have allowed the teachers their own methods of attack but these standards must be reached for graduation. Trying to attain these standards is the best educational experience the students can have. The same methods employed by the higher institutions of learning may be duplicated in any high school."

In closing, Miss Eugenia asked the aid of the alumni in keeping up the standards.

"The association can do its part," she said, "by forming committees and by taking a general and personal interest in the high standing of their Alma Mater."

The entire body sang Alma Mater, and then the initiation of the 1934 Class was under way. It was a much simpler procedure this year, mainly devoting upon the application speech made by Miss Dorothy Ritter and the endorsement made by Miss Menker Burke, of the 1933 Class.

Next the Blue and Gold was sung and reminiscing started. Mrs. E. D. Williamson was first and her anecdotes were the source of much mirth. Mrs. Williamson is at present editor of the Geographical Laboratory of the Carnegie Institute of Washington. She was succeeded by Dr. Truxton Wolfe, Class of 1897, Manassas Institute, now a prominent physician in Washington.

Dr. Wolfe recalled the old days of the gay Nineties when the old school on Centre street was deserted for a new location on Grant Avenue. He was quite reverent in his touching references to both Miss Eugenia and her sister, Miss Fannie, who were the guiding spirits of the old school.

Doc looked like he had been getting ready for something all evening and out it came. It seems that Miss Metz and Miss Eugenia went riding one winter evening and the colt ran away, causing Miss Eugenia much alarm, considering embarrassment and the loss of the skin off one side of her nose. The following was a poem dedicated to the episode at the next meeting of the children at their weekly Friday evening social.

It reads thus:

The Downfall of Our School Teacher
Once upon a time
Two ladies were striving
For pleasures abroad
And so they went driving.
The engine of force
Was only a colt,
When suddenly he gave
A start and a bolt.
While one of them rose
And with all her strength,
Tried to check that
On which the horse was bent,
The other one frightened
Grasped the back of the seat,
And prayed a prayer
That was very meet.
But all of a sudden
As the steed turned round,
She lost her balance
And was thrown to the ground.
And when she returned
It was apparent to all,
That she had had

very great fall.

Needless to say that Doctor got a big hand for his poetic efforts which had been overlooked these many years.

Dr. Elizabeth Johnson ('05) again arose, this time to recall some of the pleasantness of the old times. She was followed by Clarence Wagner, who gave the grade a little bit of brotherly advice in the matter of advising courage and determination.

Mrs. Elinor Johnson, long associated with school activities, also had a few pleasant words.

All the toasts now having been drunk, and the hour of midnight near at hand, the time honored custom of joining hands during the singing of Alma Mater brought the evening to an end.
