Frank Sigman is Speaker of Evening.

The Kiwanis were the guests of the 4-H Girls at the Parish Hall last Friday evening. The youthful cooks certainly won the hearts of their big friends with the dexterity they exhibited with the menu and also with the generosity in which it was served.

Afterwards OD turned the rest of the evening over to Rat who in turn called on one of the old reliables, Frank Sigman. Frank is everready with a speech, sermon, verse or what have you. This time Frank claimed they came mighty near a vocal treat. The boys looked worried but settled down when Frank dug out his brief case and proceeded to orate.

Frank gave them several offerings not the least of which was some ancient history, very poorly disguised. Frank got quite a hand when he finished so they must have thought it OK, as Frank's stuff generally is.

No mention of a program this week. These programs continue a matter of dark secrets these days.

U. D. C. MEETS AT LIBERIA

Mrs. Roseberry and Mrs. Varner Hostesses to Chapter.

A large number of enthusiastic members of Manassas Chapter U. D. C. responded to the invitation of Mrs. Roseberry and sister, Mrs. Varner, to be their guests for July at Liberia, the handsome old home of much historic interest built by Mr. James J. Weir in 1830.

There was no business of special importance, the time was principally occupied with the historic program and a delightful social hour.

An announcement was made that Miss May won the U. D. C. prize her paper being the best submitted.

The chairman of the building committee stated that the deed for the lot recently purchased by the chapter had been received and would be recorded. She also reported a contribution of twenty-five dollars from Miss Nolie Nelson and one of twenty-five from Mrs. Austin Weeden.

A check for five dollars was received from Mrs. Howard Smith for the Museum Fund, Mrs. Kenseal Laws also made a contribution.

The chapter voted to purchase twenty-five pictures of Sydney Lanier to be given to the schools in the county.

Mrs. Hutchison called attention to a decision of the town council of Herndon to request the Virginia Planning Commission to include the Manassas Battlefields in the system of parks to be recommended for development.

Mrs. Marsteller made reference to the Confederate graves having flowers placed on them by Mr. Alexander Weddell now Ambassador to Buenos Aires.

Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson read an excellent paper giving the history of Liberia, her paper was replete with many interesting facts and received the applause of the Chapter. It will be remembered that Liberia was headquarters for Gen. Beauregard while in Manassas, during the War of the Sixties.

Mrs. Hibbs exhibited the diary of Maj. W. W. Thornton kept during the War between the States. Also an order from Gen. R. E. Lee written April 4, 1865, requesting food for his men and an horse.

Mrs. Kenseal Laws, guest of the Chapter, gave an interesting account of the work of her Chapter in California especially emphasizing the interest and work of the young people.

Mrs. Laws will be remembered as Miss Jessie Clark of Manassas.

The social hour was next enjoyed and the gracious hostesses dispensed delicious refreshments, and the guests departed with many pleasant memories.

Wheat Reduction for 1935 Announced

Production adjustment in wheat is to be continued into the 1935 crop year on practically the same plan as is now in force with contracting producers for the 1934 crops, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration has announced.

Approximately 192 million dollars in benefit payments, on top of the 98 million for the 1933-34 program, will be made in two installments, the first planned for October, 1934, and the second following proof of compliance. These will be at the rate of 20 and 9 cents respectively, or a total of 29 cents a bushel, on domestic allotments. Each grower's share of local administrative expenses of his wheat production control association will be deducted from the 9 cents.

Contracting farmers will plant not less than 85 percent of the average for the base period. No reduction greater than 15 percent will be required; and, should conditions warrant it, an increase in acreage over the 85 percent may be permitted. Definite rulings in this respect will be given in August, following a meeting of the International Wheat Advisory Committee.

The processing tax on wheat will remain the same, 30 cents a bushel. The difference between the parity price and the farm price has not changed materially, and the tax to provide benefit payments to close this gap is therefore maintained.

In considering the wheat situation in the United States, officials state that under normal conditions a continuation of the present acreage will provide a crop of sufficient size to meet normal consumptive demands, and to leave more than 100 million bushels for export. Continuation of the present acreage does not mean, they say, that the United States will retire from world wheat marketings, but means that with normal weather conditions and average yields, sufficient wheat will be produced during the coming season to more than supply our world wheat trade, as based on average exports prior to the depression.

Over 575,000 farmers, producing over 77 percent of the nation's wheat, are parties to adjustment contracts covering 1934 and 1935 wheat crops.

MANASSAS DEFEATS BALLSTON TO TAKE LEAGUE LEAD

In a thrilling encounter that kept the fans on edge throughout and raised blood pressures to a new high, Manassas A. C. turned back the Ballston team Sunday by the score of 7 to 5. The win enabled the Locals to stretch their winning streak to four games and to take the lead from Ballston in Section A of the Northern Virginia League by a scant half game margin. The crowd, the largest in local sandlot history, was treated to a pair of spectacular catches that smacked of the Big Show and brought the fans to their feet in frenzied outbursts of applause. In the fourth, the visiting manager and center fielder emulated the man on the flying trapeze and with a lengthy dive intercepted Saunders' line drive that was headed toward the outermost recesses of left center field. He turned a complete summersault and came up with the ball to complete the catch that rang up a new high in defensive base ball in the local ball yard. Vetter, the Mac's second baseman, contributed the other catch at a most propitious moment. But more about that later.

The Macs won by the simple but effective expedient of bunching their hits in the first two innings to pile up an early lead and then concentrating their efforts in turning back alien threats throughout the remainder of the game. The importance of that lead became more and more evident as the game progressed. So effective was the relief hurling of Hull and Printz that after the second inning not a single local runner advanced beyond the initial sack. The tide that all but engulfed Dreyfus in a hectic first inning was a constant menace throughout, but only on two other occasions, the fifth and the ninth, was its fury so great as to break past that sturdy left and spill over into the run column. Vetter was the fair-haired hero who plugged the leak in the fifth with a leaping stab of a sizzling liner that was labeled hit from the moment it left the bat. One run had already crossed the plate and runners were on second and third when Bowman squarely met one of Dreyfus' pitches and sent it winging out toward unoccupied territory. With the crack of the bat it seemed inevitable that the Mac's lead was destined to vanish into thin air but the ball never passed the infield. Vetter, in a mighty effort, leaped high to bring it down for the third out and end the threat that marked the high water mark of the Ballston offensive efforts. True, they scored again in the ninth by virtue of a walk, a hit and an infield out but the fury of the visitor's attack was spent in that fifth inning effort. It was a game in which anything might happen and a sigh of relief went up from the local fans as Wurdemann came up with Biggs' sharp bouncer and stepped on first for the last out in the ninth that left their arch rivals trailing by a pair of runs and vaulted the Macs into the league lead.

From an offensive standpoint, the greater part of the action was crammed into the first two innings. Ballston pounced on Dreyfus with a vengeance at the start scoring three runs and filling the bases before Lacey went down swinging for the third out. Lacey fared even worse and before the first inning was over the Macs had wiped out the three run deficit and were one run to the good. They scored three more runs in the second to raise their total to seven and there it stayed the remainder of the game. Dreyfus opened the home half of the inning with a double. Woodard drew a pass and then Dreyfus stole third. Lynn popped to Ruding but Vetter got his second hit, a single to center scoring Dreyfus and sending Woodard to third. That was enough for Lacey. He had given up 6 hits and 5 runs in 1 and one-third innings. He was replaced by Hull. Saunders greeted Hull with a double down the right field foul line scoring Woodard, Vetter stopping at third. Bradshaw walked to fill the bases. Wurdemann was called out on strikes but the count one and one on Reeves, the next pitch got away from the catcher, Vetter scoring and Bradshaw and Saunders each moving up a base. Reeves fanned to end the inning and the Mac's last threat.

GEORGIA GIRL THRILLS U. D. C.

8th Regiment Group Hears Stirring War Stories.

The most pleasant meeting for the season, of the Eighth Virginia Regiment Chapter, U. D. C. was on July 4 at Mount Atlas, near Waterfall, home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gosson.

Since places as well as people are interesting, it may be mentioned that Mount Atlas is not only one of our old homes but a most attractive one. On a foothill of the Bull Run Mountain, it commands a most extensive view, and a breeze at this time of year most delightful. The old house is large and imposingly high. It was once one of the numerous Carter homes and a quaint picture of a "Maiden in Prayer," painted right on a paneling over the very striking parlor mantel, is supposed to represent a lady of that family. It has been a pleasure to the present owners to preserve not only this picture but all the other leading features of the place.

The meeting, which was well attended, was held in the large old-fashioned breezy parlor. After the usual opening the first business discussed was concerning some much-needed repairs to our Memorial Hall at Hickory Grove, and it was decided to go ahead with them, and trust to good luck, the help of friends, and our own exertions of the necessary funds.

After this various other matters came in for a share of discussion, among them the coming Day on the Battlefield, and the projected Museum. It was much regretted that things at the Henry House are not in better condition. We think that the entrance fee should be reduced to twenty-five cents, paid beforehand and strictly collected, instead of the reveage. It was agreed that all who could would go on July 21.

After this came the chief event of the afternoon, a most interesting, and indeed thrilling, speech from Miss Powell, of Georgia, though now living in Washington City. It turned partly on her own childhood recollections. Never before had Sherman's March to the Sea seemed so real to us and so terrible. Miss Powell's home, just out of Atlanta, was raided and taken possession of by the Northern troops. She told of the callousness of General Sherman, mercifully off-set by the very different behavior of General MacPherson, who though on the wrong side seems to have been the right sort of man. It was with truly breathless interest that we listened to all this, and were afterwards presented to Miss Powell whom we hope to see again, as she is a summer guest at Waterfall.

Afterwards there was music, old Southern tunes played mostly by Mrs. Alice Hutchison also conversation and truly delicious refreshments. Never does ice-cream taste so good as on the Fourth of July. Before adjournment it is agreed that the August meeting should be at Dunlane the Home of Miss A. M. Ewell.

LARGE CROWDS GREET STORE

One of the largest crowds that has ever attended any commercial event in Manassas in recent years gathered on Center Street last Thursday evening to enjoy the music and participate in the distribution of gifts by the management of the D. G. S. Market.

It was necessary to police the congested area to regulate traffic something which ordinarily occurs only in case of fire. The affair continued at full height until nearly 10 p. m. Manager Noah Dove is in charge of the new concern which took over the Red, White and Blue store operated by Mr. R. L. Sadd. He states that the District Grocery Stores are not chain stores but owned and operated by local men in every case the system being devoted to group buying to aid in lower prices.

HOLSTEIN MEET WELL ATTENDED

R. A. Lewis is Host to Many Visitors.

More than 200 dairymen from Prince William and surrounding counties gathered on the hospitable farm of Percival A. Lewis this afternoon to hear the problems and glories of the Holstein cow.

The chief diversions of the day were the thrilling stunts of a visiting aviator and the glorious meal served by Miss Pitts and the 4-H girls at noon, the food stuff being supplied by the local dairymen.

The leading speaker was Allen Crissey, fieldman for the National Holstein Association in the Atlantic who told of the problems in the north Atlantic States, urging that the local herd improvement associations and members of the milk producing associations do their part in stemming the rising demand for high fat content in milk offered for the market.

He told specifically of the efforts in Massachusetts to restrain this by local ordinances and similar tactics.

The value of riding herds of Bang's disease was stressed by Dr. L. E. Starr of V. P. I. He spoke of new Federal legislation regarding eliminating of unprofitable cows.

Frank Walker, vice president of the State association, reported on the national convention at which he represented Virginia. He spoke rather encouragingly of the situation, stating that the Holstein people should be satisfied with their share of the business which they are getting.

J. W. Bartlett of the New Jersey Experiment Station, spoke of butterfat production through a study of the inheritance of both lines. He told of the methods by which the New Jersey farmers are co-operating with the State Department to prove worthwhile sires. In emphatic language, the speaker advised against mixing breeds, urging that the sire be the same as the herd.

R. G. Connelly, of Blacksburg, gave some interesting facts using demonstrations, also stressing the increase of butterfat in this way. He agreed with the preceding speaker that the Holstein breeder is really sitting pretty with the gradual building up of the breed.

C. Nelson Beck, state president, presided over the session and made the address of response in return to Mr. Lewis' hospitable welcome. The day would not have been complete without a word of appreciation from Ed Conner to the visiting dairymen expressing his pleasure at the meeting and hoping that they would come again.

The afternoon was concluded with a short business session.

SUMMER AT LINTON HALL

From time to time during the past year this paper has published accounts of the activities at our nearby Military for Boys at Linton Hall. The scholastic year 1933-34 closed June 8, graduating eight cadets from the eighth grade.

With vacation on we find the entire picture at Linton Hall changed from a boys' grade school to a Summer Normal School for the benefit of the sisters of the Benedictine Order in the diocese of Richmond, Virginia.

Heretofore, the sisters regularly English, Education, Science and attended the summer sessions of the Catholic University. It was a familiar sight to see the Linton Hall bus conveying these earnest women to and from Washington, D. C., as it passed through our town twice daily making this fatiguing trip in pursuit of higher education.

This summer different arrangements were made. The Summer School is carried on at Linton Hall and while the number of students is not large (twenty-four) there is a complete faculty offering courses in English, Education, Science and Music. A trained librarian is also employed. The school opened July 2 and will run on without interruption until July 30. Classes begin at eight o'clock in the morning and continue throughout the day.

It is needless to say the school is under the approval of the Virginia State Board of Education.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

A DISTRICT PENAL FARM (Contributed)

At the present time all county and city jails are inadequate in capacity and, to a large extent, deficient in sanitary provisions. To enlarge each of these jails and provide for modern sanitation will entail a heavy outlay on the part of each county and city.

It is probable that the city of Alexandria and the counties which are now maintaining the District Home, near Manassas, could purchase the land for a penal farm and erect the necessary buildings for less than the aggregate cost of the needed improvements to the several county and city jails which they are now maintaining.

Just as the District Home has enabled those counties and cities to provide its inmates with healthful surroundings and comforts undreamed of in the poorhouses which it replaced, so a district penal farm would provide sanitary living conditions and healthful employment for misdemeanor prisoners in place of the foul atmosphere, unsanitary surroundings and vicious idleness of many present day jails.

Penal farms are now maintained by the cities of Danville, Lynchburg and Newport News. Reports from all of these cities indicate that these farms can be made practically self-supporting and prove an actual saving in the money cost of maintaining misdemeanor prisoners. The improvement in the moral and physical condition of the prisoners is an element of profit upon which it would be hard to put a money value.

A STIRRING ADDRESS

The following speech by the Rev. Gochenauer, who used to be in Manassas, was made at the annual meeting of the 4th District of the U. D. C. It is so full of local history and pulsating with love of the south that we have been requested to print it. We take pleasure in doing so.

Delegates and members of the U.D.C. and Friends:

As a son of a worthy Confederate soldier, long since binned for eternity, and the nephew of another follower of Lee and Jackson, who has been spared to this day to recount the many battles engaged in between '61 and '65, I deem it a coveted honor and privilege to have a part in the opening session of the annual convention of the 4th division of the U. D. C.

Your hostess is the Welby Carter Chapter, bearing the name of that beloved and gallant Confederate Cavalry officer, Colonel Welby Carter, and I pause to pay tribute to his daughter, Mrs. Sophie Carter Richardson, who at the time of her death was the president of your local chapter, and who held dear to her heart the principles and liberties for which the Southern soldier fought. Tonight you have pitched your tents in a section of Virginia, designated "Mosby's Confederacy."

Four miles east of Upperville at what was then Rector's Cross Roads, early in April, 1863, met the brave and intrepid Mosby with fifteen defenders of the Southern Cause and formed that fighting unit known as "Mosby's Rangers." From 1863 to 1865 his ranks were added to, finally numbering about 600 valiant soldiers. His successful raids into the enemy's lines, wresting storehouse of ammunition, firearms and food, and on several occasions capturing Union Officers, high in rank, are matters of historical record.

Two miles west of Upperville in a room in the home of Wirt Green was held a "Council of War" by General John B. Green and his staff, preparing plans for an extensive engagement with the opposing Union forces, the battle to have been fought across the turnpike leading from Winchester to Washington at that point. For some reason the enemy withdrew during the shadows of the night and the conflict did not ensue.

Half a mile nearer the town on the right of the turnpike stands the residence of Dr. Byrnes, oft-times furnishing shelter and food to that brave and fearless Chaplain Scout, Capt. Thomas Nelson Conrad, who after the cessation of hostilities, purchased the old Upperville Academy and became its head-master.

On a hill overlooking the village to the South is the home of the lamented Capt. Robt. E. Lee, Jr., worthy son of a great sire, today occupied by the grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the "Confederate Chieftain," and it is interesting to know that among the priceless relics of their distinguished grandfathers is the original letter of resignation to General Winfield Scott, Commander-in-Chief U. S. A., in which General Lee placed native land and Southern kinsmen before all else—and shortly afterwards became Commander-in-Chief of the Armies of Virginia in the field.

The Southern Methodist Church of the village was used as an improvised hospital for wounded Union soldiers, sometime during the war. In the west end of Upperville, just to the right of the road, stands in bold relief, a crumbling heap of stones, all that remains of a once busy grist mill. This ill-shapen monument bears testimony to the ruthlessness of the war, and, be it to his eternal shame: marks the hellish train of Sheridan and his firebrands.

Doubtless there are many more interesting facts linking Upperville and the vicinity to the tragic period of the War between the States, but those I have mentioned will suffice to remind you that the ground on which you stand is hallowed by the tread of foot-sore Confederate soldiers.

Among those in the neighborhood who rallied to the Southern battle flag to defend their firesides and protect their constitutional rights, many to make the supreme sacrifice to the "God of War," were: Colonel Richard Hunter Dulany, Col. Welby Carter, Major Dolly Richards, Capt. Bruce Gibson, Capt. Bowles Armistead, Capt. Alec Grayson, Capt. Clinton Fletcher, Capt. John Fletcher, Lieut. Jos. A. Gibson, Sergeant Pembroke S. Gochenauer, Wirt Green, John E. Gibson, Robert Lucius, Geo. M. Slater, Robert Fletcher, Henry Arthur Hall, Geo. Frasier, Preston B. Gochenauer, Dr. Thomas Lee Settle, distinguished surgeon attached to General Ashby's command, and many others. Brave men these never shouldered a musket or faced an enemy's line; all honor to them, Living or Dead.

Tonight you gather in a spirit of worship and devotion to pay homage to the unimpeachable character and unmatched valor of a Lee, a Jackson, a Johnston, an Ashby, and a host of other Confederate leaders, and with equal appreciation you recognize the strong individuality, moral stamina, and personal prowess of the chivalrous private soldier, who, in the last analysis, won for the Southern arms the brilliant victories of the war.

In the name of Welby Carter Chapter—

I invite you.

In behalf of the hospitality of Upperville and vicinity,

I welcome you.

In the indomitable spirit of a risen South,

I greet you.

I. I. Anderson

Ira Imri Anderson of Catharpin, Va. died July 16, 1934 in a Washington Hospital, aged 82 years.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, Mrs. G. E. Anderson, Catharpin, and five children Mrs. E. V. Franklin, Clifton, Mrs. B. F. Matthews, Manassas, Va. Harvey L. Anderson, Catharpin, Va., Lynden Anderson and Berkerly Anderson of Washington, D. C., also eight grandchildren, two brothers, Charlie of Washington, Walter, of Norfolk, one sister, Mrs. Dora Furr, Washington, D. C.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB TO GIVE DANCE

At the July meeting of the Junior Woman's Club, held in the form of a picnic on July 12, it was decided that the Club would sponsor a dance on Friday, August 10. On account of the success of their previous dance given earlier in the season, it is expected that this event will also prove successful.

The picnic was given at the Hynson Bungalow, with Miss Esther Warren Pattie, president of the Club as hostess. Each member of the Club invited a guest, and quite a large number were present. Several canoes, and an excellent motor boat afforded the guests much pleasure, the swimming also was enjoyed, and a tempting supper was prepared by the hostess and club members.

Much enthusiasm was displayed about the coming dance, and it is hoped that many will attend.

RESOLUTIONS

Rev. C. P. Ryland

WHEREAS, Our Heavenly Father has been pleased to call our beloved brother and Pastor, Rev. C. P. Ryland, from his earthly labors to a higher service in the Chapter Eternal. Therefore, we, the members of the Manassas Baptist Church, pause today to pay tribute of love and honor to the memory of our beloved Pastor in the following resolutions:

FIRST: Our brother Ryland came among us nearly three years ago. His coming was quiet, gentle, and dignified. He moved among us spreading such a sweet spirit of love, sympathy and good-will at all times.

SECOND: That he was a man of faith, devout as he was brave. In his faith he caught from the seed a vision of the blossoming flower, to be; he saw the silver lining in every cloud; he was enabled to envision a beautiful tomorrow to follow the darkest and saddest today. In the crushing sorrows that fell into his life, he looked ever towards the stars, his face was ever towards the dawn.

THIRD: He was a Saint in the midst of an intensely busy life, because he was ever in communion with God, and ever giving himself unselfishly to doing God's work. His religion permeated and pervaded his whole life.

FOURTH: That in the passing of Brother Ryland, The Manassas Baptist Church has sustained an irreplaceable loss and the community a good and useful citizen.

FIFTH: That we express to his loved ones our deepest sympathy and commend them to the grace of Our Heavenly Father who doeth all things well. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Church, a copy be sent to Dr. C. P. Ryland, Binghampton, N. Y., a copy to the religious Herald, Richmond, Va., and one to the Manassas Journal for publication.

CATHARPIN

The old "Quilting Bee" which has been on Summer vacation for some time finally took courage and joined hands with the bumble bee and the honey bee and got busy once more when the faithful came together and quilted a new Dresden Plate and now have it ready for a purchaser. It may be a trifle early to begin talking about quilts especially during this heated season, but there is nothing like having something to sell when someone wants to buy.

Keith Willis of Roanoke, who has been spending his vacation with his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Brower, this summer, returned home last week.

Misses Bettie and Frances Brower, young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Brower, spent last week with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Brower, Jr. of Purcellville, Virginia.

Mr. E. H. Riley of Washington, son of Mr. James Riley of Washington and Catharpin is spending his vacation this summer with his aunt, Mrs. T. J. Caton of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Willis and son, and Mrs. Henry Grill and daughters of Clarendon were Sunday visitors of the Brower's at Lone Oak.

Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson and daughters, Frances and Rita and Caroline Lynn, were visiting relatives in Berryville recently.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carey have been on sick leave for the past week or so but are now much improved and able to be around again.

The fourth and last Quarterly Conference for the year will be held at the parsonage, Gainesville, Va., on Saturday, July 28, at 10 a. m., "Eastern Standard Time." The sermon, however, will not be preached until Sunday morning, August 5, at Sudley church. The Conference year will close the last Sunday in September and it is hoped that all who may read this notice will forget about the "heat waves" and depressing influence upon mind and body and think only of the cooling inspiration engendered to the soul and spirit when it is realized that the churches budget is paid in full.

Mr. I. I. Anderson, who has been enjoying the best of health for the past few months, took suddenly ill on Saturday last and was taken on Sunday to the hospital in Washington for treatment. The nature of the illness is not definitely known to the writer but his many friends wish for his recovery. Mr. Anderson is now among the oldest inhabitants of the Sudley neighborhood.

Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson and daughter, Ann, and Mrs. W. S. Brower were Washington shoppers one day last week.

Misses Alline and Janice Griffith, young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Griffith of Oakwood Annex, are visiting friends and relatives in the Luray neighborhood this week.

Quite a number of Catharpinites journeyed to the County Seat on Monday night of last week to see David Harum as depicted by "America's Foremost citizen" Will Rogers. David Harum, as a horse trader, is a relic of an "institution"—horse trading—which, as a profession, is fast passing away, so much so that the younger generation would understand it better, perhaps, if you were to call it "bus trading." But there are many yet living who have an acute recollection of the old horse-trading days who will enjoy Will Rogers as he recalls the ins and outs, ups and downs, gains and losses as they used to obtain when our fathers and grandfathers used to indulge in that interesting sport. It has often been said that a man may be as honest as light and as true as steel, but when it comes to tradin' horses, his conscience deserts him entirely or becomes so fickle and unreliable that he "doth not know from whence he cometh or wither he goeth" except to get the best of the other fellow.

But there was one thing about it that nearly every one could understand—the race. When "David" came out ahead we feel safe in saying that most every one in the audience was gyrating around and making about as much fuss and commotion as was the negro hostler himself. Well, it was well worth seeing and the beholder was well paid for his time and trouble. Such pictures as Will Rogers is connected with, need no censorship. This could hardly be said of the one immediately preceding.

Threshing is now in full swing and wheat turning out fairly well. The new firm of Collins and Hundley are doing most of the work in the Catharpin neighborhood. "Putting wheat in the garner" is another of the old time institution which seems to be rapidly passing away. No sooner does the threshing machine appear until the swift further pleasure of the owner in regard to its sale. Some of the machines are now equipped with a baler and the straw is baled immediately ready for easy handling or for transportation. Things certainly do move along.

R. F. D. NEWS

The Woodlawn baseball team went to Bristersburg on Sunday and played a good game with the "Heflin Team." It was quite an interesting game. After winning from the "Heflin Team," some of the Woodlawn boys journeyed to Midland to see their victims in action with the Midland team.

Woodlawn expects to play two games this Sunday on the home diamond.

Mr. Landon Walls, Miss Evelyn Walls, and Mr. Mark Long attended the game at Bristersburg. The latter being one of the players. From there they went to see the game at

"FRONTIER MARSHALL" IS NEW FOX ROMANCE

The frontier town of Tombstone, Arizona, makes its last stand against the onrush of civilization in "Frontier Marshall," the latest Fox Film release which comes to the Divie Theatre next Friday and Saturday. Tombstone was the town that was overrun by lawlessness and banditry, until that famous peace officer, Wyatt Earp, made his appearance on the frontier and brought it law and order. The screen play was adapted from incidents in the life of Wyatt Earp, and George O'Brien plays the title part.

It is reported that "Frontier Marshall" is real, true and convincing, its characters having stepped to the screen from life itself. The people you see, the motives that guide them and their heroic actions have all actually happened.

The story concerns a young man and a girl who fall in love after they meet in the stage coach bound for Tombstone. When they reach their destination, the girl finds that her father has been killed. Although loath to do so, the young man decides to remain in Tombstone, to avenge the murder. The young man's bravery in capturing an outlaw is rewarded by his being made marshal. His attempts to bring law and order to the town become all the more difficult when he discovers that the Mayor is in alliance with the outlaws. But he finally succeeds. The climax of the story is heralded as being one of the most stirring of Western epics.
