JAMISON OFFERS SCHOOL PRIZE

Armistice Day Celebration Is Featured by Interesting Addresses.

Education Week was celebrated at Manassas High School by two very interesting assembly programs. The Thursday speaker, Mr. Robert Hutchison, gave an excellent address on the meaning of citizenship, the theme also being further emphasized by short talks by members of the senior and commercial classes. On Friday the annual celebration by the high school of Armistice Day was held.

In his Armistice address Rev. W. M. Compton, like many another earnest speaker on the same theme throughout the country last Sunday, dwelt on the ominous threat to peace among the nations made by the overgrown spirit of nationalism now rampant throughout the world. If we are ever to attain to a spirit of international and Christian good will, the speaker urged, it must be by continuous effort to find some way of settling our national difficulties and quarrels by consultation, or by an international judicial tribunal rather than by the horrors of war made more terrible and brutal than ever by modern science.

Mr. Compton's address was followed by an extremely interesting first aid talk by Commodore Longfellow, national chairman of the American Red Cross Life Saving Committee. Commodore Longfellow also pointed out that the Junior Red Cross organizations would one day become one of the world's best safeguards against war.

Announcement was made during the program through Commander Jamison that the local Post of the American Legion would offer a competitive prize of $5.00 to the students of the county high schools, the subject to be announced later. The Legion also presented to the local high school a brass eagle for the staff of its United States flag.

The Armistice Day program was sponsored by both the Senior Leagues of the High School and Bennett schools as well as by the High School Student League.

The high school also wishes to express its gratitude to the ministers of the Manassas churches for the sermons preached on the Education Week theme on Sunday last.

Drivers are most urgently besought not to pass school buses loading at more than five miles an hour. Recently several children have narrowly escaped injury at the hands of drivers going at least 45 miles an hour. Superintendent Haydon asks for co-operation from the public to guard the lives of little children.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS TODAY

Pleasant Game in Many Counties.

At a half hour before sunrise today, the 1934 Virginia hunting season got under way as eager nimrods, guns newly oiled and ammunition belts loaded, step with their dogs into the great outdoors.

While the dove, the sora and the squirrel hunters already have had a chance to try their skill and duck hunters started their season on November 8, today marks the beginning of the season on quail, wild turkeys, ruffed grouse, rabbit and deer in all, except restricted areas.

Every Virginia county permits rabbit and quail hunting beginning today, but although the season lasts until December 31 in most places, some counties close down on November 30, while others add on a month and close their season on January 31.

Twenty-one counties, all in western and southwestern Virginia, have a completely closed season on wild turkeys. Others have about the same season as for quail, with a few closing November 30.

There are 40 Virginia counties which permit deer hunting, mostly for the six weeks from November 15 to December 31. This number includes nearly all of the central and eastern Virginia counties.

GIRL SCOUTS NAME PROJECTS

Are Planning to Furnish Scout Hall.

The Girl Scouts have gotten well under way for another busy year. The scouts have undertaken two projects this year. They are: one, the organization of a patrol of Brownies which consists of little girls from 7 years to 10 years old. The scouts wish to share with their little sisters the joy of being a real Girl Scout. Second: The scouts have been very fortunate in securing a gift from Mrs. Round the use of a house located directly behind the office of Mr. Davies. The girls are busy and bubbling over with plans to furnish the house themselves. They will use this house as a "Scout House" and will hold all parties and outings there.

There are two full patrols and a beginning of a third. The patrols are the Poplar Patrol with Elizabeth Davies as leader. The Poplar signifies "we are straight and strong." The second patrol is the Minnow Patrol with Elizabeth Lloyd leading. Minnow signifies "we stay together." Althea Hooff is the scout scribe and Shirley Hynson is the scout treasurer.

The Brownies: Fanelle Pickeral, Nancy Parrish, Betty Parrish, Dorcas Leachman, Nancy Lee Didlake, Lenora Marshall, Anna Marie Hibbs.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wightman have returned after a four month's stay in Honolulu. Mr. Wightman was sent there last June as sugar administrator for the Government. Mr. and Mrs. Wightman visited all adjacent islands that were inhabited and spent some time in the mountains. They travelled on the palace liner Lurline and, with the exception of some rough weather on the return voyage, report a most delightful visit.

While there the volcano Kilauea on the Island of Hawaii became eruptive and presented a magnificent spectacle.

Mrs. Wightman says the Japanese question does not seem to trouble the people over there and you hear very little about the matter.

After a visit to her mother, Mrs. Kincheloe, Mrs. Wightman will join her husband at their apartment in the Highlands, Washington.

LIFE SAVING EXPERT HERE

Commodore Longfellow, of the Red Cross, Is Kiwanis Speaker.

Commodore W. E. Longfellow, one of the originators of "first aid" instruction and who has indirectly been the means of saving thousands of human lives, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis last week.

Commodore is a jolly chap and his talk was listened to with great attentiveness. The club indulged in quite a laugh when he demonstrated the "Harlem stroke." Miss Neel was a subject for the Commodore's demonstration in life saving in fires and also in protection from the elements.

Mrs. Lloyd discussed the coming Red Cross roll call and expressed the great pleasure that Manassas had enjoyed in the visit of Mr. Longfellow. Mrs. Mamie Dulaney, head of the Roll Call, also spoke briefly.

On Tuesday evening a delegation from the club carried the "Golden Rule" to Fredericksburg.

President-elect Tiffany flashed his new plan of committee naming. Everyone is wondering if it will be like the "primary" balloting for officers a few weeks ago.

Bob Hutchison "bawled" the Board out for not passing on a definite recommendation in the matter of assisting in the hot lunch proposition at Bennett. Incidentally Jim got his weekly call down for some new remissness.

The program included vocal, instrumental and choral numbers by representatives of the various Junior and Senior Clubs, and inspirational addresses by the music leaders in the federation.

The two principal speakers were Miss Grace Van Dyke More, dean of Public School Music, Woman's College, Greensboro, N. C. whose subject was "The Value of Public School Music," and the state president, Mrs. T. R. Steele of Portsmouth, who spoke on "Federation Aims."

WOMANS CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Dr. Elmer Louis Kayser Guest Speaker.

The November meeting of the Manassas Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting at the high school on Wednesday of this week.

During the usual opening exercises the Rev. Luther Miller gave a brief comment on the second phase of the club collect.

Following this the club members adjourned to the auditorium, where they were joined by the senior classes of the Manassas, Haymarket and Nokesville High Schools, to hear an address on "International Affairs" by Dr. Elmer Louis Kayser, professor of history, and dean of the University Student Body, George Washington University.

Dr. Kayser gave a most comprehensive and enlightening address by taking up the various points of friction, over the world and cited the many forces at work in each of the great countries at the present time, which might lead eventually to conflict and war. He touched on the work now going on at the naval conference in London, its significance and purposes; the coming "Plebiscite" to be held on Jan. 13 at which time a settlement of the possession of the Saar Valley will be discussed. He also gave a brief resume of Foreign Minister Barton's great work to promote peace, which was interrupted by his recent untimely death.

Everyone present was thrilled and delighted with the clear, concise manner in which Dr. Kayser handled his subject in the brief time allotted to him, and all expressed the hope that they might have him again in the near future.

Matters on which the club acted were: A plan to raise a fund to be contributed to the Cancer Control fund, this to be a voluntary offering at the December and January meetings.

The annual Christmas assembly was discussed and favorable action taken. This will be held during Christmas week. Mrs. W. L. Lloyd was appointed general chairman, with a group of committee members to assist her.

Mrs. F. R. Hynson made a splendid report on the district meeting held recently in Lyon Park, which thirteen members of the Manassas club attended.

Hospitality was dispensed under the direction of Mrs. James Edward Bradford, chairman of the committee, and a pleasant social hour enjoyed by all.

JUNIOR CLUB HOLDS NOVEMBER MEETING

The November meeting of the Junior Woman's Club was held on Thursday evening, November 8, at the home of Mrs. J. P. Lyon.

The meeting was opened in the usual order with the reading of the Collect, and the reports from committees. Much work has been done through committees, giving the club more time to concentrate on other matters.

Two members volunteered to canvass for Red Cross membership in the business section of town. Old business was finished, and reports from the play committees were heard. The date set for the play was December 7, and Miss Meaker Burke gave a very interesting report in regard to the progress on the production.

Plans were discussed as to the possibilities of organizing new Junior Woman's Clubs in nearby towns, with a committee appointed to confer with Mrs. Cooksey, Junior chairman for the Fourth District.

Miss Rena Bevans gave a very interesting report of the District Conference of Woman's Clubs, held at Lyon Village recently. State plans for the General Federation were unfolded there, and also federation aims for individual clubs. The conference proved a very helpful one to the Manassas Juniors, and the report enlightening to those who were unable to attend.

After the reports, the meeting was adjourned, and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Miss Pattie and Miss Meetze.
