URGE CROSS COUNTY ROADS

Prince William Delegation
Hopeful of Early Improvements

The road hearing at Culpeper on Monday was well attended by delegations and officials from all portions of this Senatorial district. Honorable John W. Rust, State Senator, took the floor shortly after noon and introduced his delegation.

Representing Arlington were County Manager Braden, Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence Douglas, the entire personnel of the County Board, County Treasurer C. T. Jesse, County Finance Board Member F. E. Mann and others. They filed a brief with the commission which will be studied by that body for further reasons. Board Chairman Smith introduced Mr. Braden who spoke for the group. The new president and secretary of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, George Yeatman and Louis Bessemer, were also present.

Representing Fairfax were Pierce Reid, chairman of the Board of Supervisors; board members, D. W. Buckley, William H. Ellmore, Wallace Carper and C. H. Powell, and the following citizens: J. M. Preston, McLean; Mark Turner, Forestville; A. H. Buell, George F. Harrison, and V. C. Cokerille, of Herndon; Mrs. Ashton Money, Colvin Run, and the following Burke delegation: Col. M. D. Hall, Mrs. J. M. Fitzhugh, Mrs. Nita White and Mrs. Malcolm Merchant.

Chairman Reid presented the commission with a statement of the county's needs, following which statements were made by Martin Webb of Annandale who advocated including Columbia Pike in the State Primary Road System and George Harrison who presented a map and resolutions to the Commission, advocating the extension of the Manassas-Centerville road toward Herndon and Forestville to meet the proposed bridge at Great Falls. Mr. Harrison argued that this was a necessary cut-off such as Mr. Shirley has been seeking to shunt traffic around Washington.

The Prince William delegation was headed by Chairman Lindsey Dawson of the Board of Supervisors who was accompanied by Lester Huff, Charles Lynn and Murray Taylor, also of the Board, and the following: Town Manager William F. Cocke of Manassas and Town Councilmen Edgar Parrish, E. R. Conner and C. W. Alpaugh. The Nokesville delegation included John A. Hooker and E. E. Hale.

Mr. Cocke spoke for that delegation, urging improvement of the cross-county road, citing its advantages and needs. The delegation also urged the improvement of the Manassas-Nokesville-Catlett road.

Many of those present had never attended such a meeting before and it was quite a treat to listen to the classical oratory of former Senator Nat Eearly of Greene, present collector of internal revenue for the State, and the fiery enthusiasm of Burnett Miller, of Culpeper. With this was matched the clear and concise statements of Senators Wilfred Cather, of Winchester, and John Battle, of Charlottesville, and others.

Considerable comment has been aroused over the passage of the recent public works bill and it is said that the next eighteen months will see comparatively large road expenditures in the State. This in particular is what heightened the interest of the meeting which was attended by delegations from all over the Fredericksburg and Culpeper districts, comprising about one-fourth of all the counties in the State.

Fredericksburg district was heard first; a considerable portion of the delegations of the Culpeper district going over into the afternoon session. Col. Harry G. Shirley, State Highway Engineer, was an interested spectator and there was also a number of the members of the General Assembly present, some of whom addressed the commission, others merely being spectators.

The increasing needs on a considerable portion of the secondary roads has increased a good deal of demand for revision of the program and a demand that more secondary roads be included in the primary road system. Senator Battle of Charlottesville attacked this idea as a general plan stating that outsiders were already being misled by maps which indicated primary roads that were anything but primary and urged that the entire primary system be completed before any more additions are made.

All of the delegations were well

NOTICE

I will meet with the Board of Supervisors at their regular meeting on April 4, 1935, at the Court House and hear recommendations in regard to the secondary system in Prince William County.

E. D. HUBBARD,
Resident Engineer.

IRISH MUSIC IS ENJOYED

Good Housekeepers Feature St. Patrick's Day.

A representative number of the Bethlehem Good Housekeeping Club was received by the hostesses, Mrs. W. M. Pierson and Mrs. W. M. Johnson, at the home of the former on the regular meeting day, third Wednesday, March 20.

The usual routine of business was conducted by the presiding officer, Mrs. R. L. Sadd. Mrs. W. S. Athey, Mrs. Nannie Middleton and Mrs. B. F. Knox were reported on the sick list.

Through the generosity of Mrs. W. M. Johnson flowering shrubs were given to the Manassas Garden Club for use in beautifying the entrance to the Manassas Battlefield.

Best wishes from the club were expressed to Mrs. Chloe E. Lay Hodge on her birthday, March 21, by sending cards and a potted plant. Also a beautiful cake from the hands of the hostesses was sent.

A program as of March 17, St. Patrick's day, was presented by Mrs. Mary Lyons and Mrs. Mamie Hart. The opening number was a sketch of the Irish saint read by Mrs. Lyons. Mrs. Lomas was next presented in readings of short Irish poems. Preceding each poem, Mrs. Lomas gave a brief outline of the life of the author. She stated that Thomas Moore was perhaps the most beloved and is best remembered by his Irish melodies such as "The Last Rose of Summer" and "Believe Me If All These Endearing Young Charms." Other poems read were "In the Go Path" by James Stevens and "When You Are Old" by William Butler Yates.

The assembly was pleasingly entertained as Mrs. Lomas is unusually gifted in the art of verse reading.

Mrs. John Broadbent and Miss Bozarth furnished the musical numbers by violin duets, carrying out the theme of the program by the following selections: "Believe Me If All These Endearing Young Charms," "Mother McCree," "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and "My Wild Irish Rose."

The April meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Maud Kincheloe with Mrs. Marion Lewis assisting.

During the social hour delicious refreshments were served which brought to a close a very pleasant occasion.

Women of Dumfries - Triangle-Quintecio community are invited to this meeting.

SANITATION MEETING AT INDEPENDENT HILL

satisfied at their reception and are equally hopeful of securing the goals for which they have been working.

Senator Byrd on the Diversion Scheme

The paragraph in Senator Byrd's address in behalf of his amendment to the public works program in which he called attention to the diversion of large slices of the public works appropriation to governmental purposes other than public works, did not receive the attention from the press gallery it deserved. What Senator Byrd showed was that the very elastic interpretation that is being placed upon "public works" permitted the administration to divert large sums appropriated for this purpose to governmental undertakings that can be brought within the meaning of the term only by a considerable stretch of the imagination. There was disagreement when $268,000,000 of the public the Administration switched works funds to the naval building program. But Senator Byrd let that pass unchallenged. Such a large sum could hardly have escaped his close audit of the PWA's expenditures and it is therefore a fair conclusion that he agrees with the Administration that preparedness is properly a public works program. None of the items on which he reported are in the doubtful category. He showed that approximately $485,000,000 of the first public works appropriation was diverted and used for paying the administrative expenses of the government. From the long list of bureaus and commissions to which part of the public works fund went offered by Senator Byrd, we quote a sample from his speech as quoted in the Congressional Record:

For the National Resources Board, $135,000.
For the Office of Adviser on Foreign Trade, $350,000.

For administrative expenses of the enforcement of the oil code, $830,000. I understood when the N. R. A. was established that the administrative expenses of the different codes would be paid by assessments upon the members of those codes; but here we find that $830,000 has been taken from the appropriation carried by the Public Works Act to pay the administrative expenses of the oil code.

For the Immigration and Naturalization Service, $58,000.

For the Bureau of Labor Statistics, $10,000.

For the Office of the Secretary of Labor, $16,000.

For the Conciliation Board, $222,000.

For the National Labor Relations Board, $1,027,000.

For the National Steel Labor Board, $58,500.

For the National Longshoremen's Labor Board, $25,000.

For the Office of the Secretary of the Treasury for administrative expenses, $1,141,000.

For the Office of the Treasurer of the United States for relief of contractors, $100,000.

For the Public Health Service, $43,698.

For the Mississippi Valley Committee, $45,000.

For the Review Board, $50,000.

Senator Byrd opposes the grand-scale diversion scheme here suggested because it tends to break down the principle of governmental administration by budget and is giving the executive department a greater authority over public expenditures than Congress. One may disagree with Senator Byrd's position on the public works bill and agree with him if the program is to be for the relief of unemployment its expenditure should be wholly productive of employment. It is impossible to justify the expenditure of nearly a million dollars for the administration of a code that is wholly in the interests of the oil producers.

Senator Byrd's audit of PWA accounts has served a purpose that is in the interest of the public and the unemployed. Danville-Register.

MRS. LEWIS AD- DRESSES KIWANIS

Mrs. Marion Lewis, county health worker, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club Friday night. She gave an interesting picture of what had been accomplished along relief lines and expressed her appreciation of the general co-operation she had been receiving.

A surprise feature for the evening was the pleasant advent of the Rev. George Frazer of the Richmond club, former lieutenant-governor of the Capital district.

O. D. sang his usual song about the high school library and some action was promised him on that in the near future.

The Board reported to the club that April 26 had been selected for Annual Ladies Night.

DAUGHTERS HAVE SUCCESSFUL EVENING

The bingo party of the Daughters of America held on Saturday evening at the Junior Hall was the first of any sort of public entertainment put on by the local group.

The play was by tables, some fifteen tables being in use. Sheriff John Kerlin called the numbers until play was ended by the advent of refreshments. Some twenty prizes were given, all useful presents.

A group of visitors came all the way from Arlington to join in the play. During intermission and before play started, music was furnished by a radio donated by Fred Hynson, one of the leading Junior members.

John Kerlin won his own cake which had been donated by Mrs. Kerlin. John thereupon auctioned it off to the further gain of the Order.

BRENTSVILLE COMMUNITY LEAGUE

The regular monthly meeting of the Brentsville District Community League will be held in the high school auditorium in Nokesville Tuesday evening, April 2, at 7:30.

A special program has been arranged by the homemaking committee which will include entertainment by the school children and an illustrated lecture on Home Sanitation by Dr. A. L. Carson, health officer of Fairfax County.

FOR COMMUNITY HEALTH EVERY HOME SANITATED

Mayor Davis is sending out invitations to all of the business men of the community to attend a meeting to be held in the Town Hall in Manassas at 8 p.m., on Tuesday, April 2, for the purpose of discussing the organization of a Chamber of Commerce.

Responses to a questionnaire which was recently sent out would indicate that there is a general interest in such a move, and it is hoped that the meeting will be well attended by representative men from all sections of Prince William County.

BANK BOARD CONSIDERED

Plan May Be Presented to Next Legislature.

Establishment of a State banking board to administer the State bank system, organization of a system of examination and certification of men operating banks and adoption of a law empowering the State to liquidate closed banks are being discussed by Gov. Peery's advisers on the Virginia banking situation.

These matters were being considered as possible measures to be proposed at the next session of the Legislature. The advisers were discussing them in their deliberations over Gov. Peery's plan to "put teeth in the Virginia banking laws."

Under the bank board plan the State banks would be supervised by a separate tribunal rather than by the State Corporation Commission, as at present. Such a plan was said to have been successful in New York and other States.

The suggestion that the State banking division be given authority to liquidate "failed banks" is not a new one. For it has been recommended repeatedly since 1927, when the commission named by Gov. Byrd to modernize the banking laws brought up the matter. In each case it was killed by legislators who did not want the private receivership plan abolished.

Some of those discussing the receivership law pointed out that while such a law might not be vitally necessary at present because bank deposits are insured under the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., it might provide additional assurance for the future.

4-H CLUB NOTES

The Senior Hayfield 4-H Club met at the home of Mrs. E. L. Herring at 7:30 March 15 with 10 members and 3 visitors present. Four new members were added to the roll.

The meeting opened with a song followed by the club pledge. Following the roll call and reading of the minutes a report was made on work of the club house. The roof has been put on and further work is deferred until property can be moved out. Committees were asked to have repairs and cleaning completed by April meeting in order that the furnishing may be started.

April 4 was set as date for Sanitation program. Music is being arranged by the club. The program will include slides, exhibit and a talk.

Date set for the plays to be given by the club is May 4.

The report on club pins showed all members eligible, all having satisfactorily completed one or more years of work. The request for pins was accepted.

Miss Pitts spoke on garden and poultry projects and urged members have plans and begin work as early as possible.

The program period was devoted to music.

Greenwich 4-H Club will meet Monday, April 1, at 2:15 o'clock.

Bowman, wife of the pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Washington, D. C. Subject, The Christian Home. The public is cordially invited to attend.

BATTLE HEADS NEW COUNCIL

Peery Appoints Important Advisory Group.

Senator John S. Battle, of Charlottesville, has been named chairman of a seven-man advisory council to Gov. Peery which the State's chief executive appointed.

Under the set-up, a precedent in the Commonwealth, Senator Battle will head studies of legislative problems in the State. Other members of the committee who will work with him are: Senators George W. Layman of Craig and Hunter Miller of Bedford; Delegates Haskins Hobson of Chesterfield, Thomas B. Stanley of Henry, and Ashton Dovell of Williamsburg; State Tax Commissioner C. H. Morrisett, and William R. Shands, state director of the bureau of legislative research and drafting, who will act as secretary of the group.

The body met with the Governor for a short time Tuesday morning and adjourned after lunch at the executive mansion. Plans have been made to hold a second meeting next Tuesday morning.

Gov. Peery explained that the body is to act in a purely advisory capacity.

Senator Battle has served one term in the Senate and previous to this was a delegate for two terms. He succeeded Senator N. B. Early in his present post.

FOR COMMUNITY HEALTH— EVERY HOME SANITATED (Continued)

No community is more sanitary than its most unsanitary home. Nor is the health of your family secure so long as there are unsanitary homes in your community. You may have had your own premises perfectly sanitized—safe drinking water, safe toilet, safe sewage and garbage disposal—and your house perfectly screened but there will come the damp days when some of the flies clinging to your screen door will slip into your house.

The occasional flies coming into your house will prefer, of course, to light on your dinner table or your baby's bottle or the cake you are icing for your Sunday dinner. When you consider the fly's habits and hairy body and legs you will feel much more comfortable if you can feel reasonably sure that there is no exposed filth nearby from which he could come directly to your home.

But do not feel too secure when you have helped all your neighbors sanitize. Your fly visitor may be a tourist or may have thumbed a ride from a neighborhood that is not so safe. He may have fed last on food infested with germs of Infantile Paralysis and when he deposits his saliva on your little girl's after-dinner candy for the purpose of dissolving a portion for himself, he may fail to take up all the germs he deposited when he sucks up the solution. Yes, he has most disgusting manners but he is even more dangerous than disgusting. Consider that by actual laboratory test it has been found that a single fly can carry on his hairy body and legs millions of germs and that he may carry germs of Typhoid Fever, Dysentery, Cholera, Infantile or Summer Diarrhea, Eye Infections, Leprosy, Plague and Tuberculosis. A distinguished entomologist has said that the house fly is no more to be tolerated inside our dwellings than a plague-stricken rat.

When we consider the house fly as he is and realize how far he may travel these days in a short time, we want to trap him outside our doors if possible. If he gets inside we want to greet him with a swatter or immediately imprison him. Thinking of what he may have on him, we prefer trapping to poisoning lest we find him dropping, dead, into our soup. Let us then join the crusade against the house fly. A single female may lay from 2000 to 3000 eggs. Given good breeding places and allowed to live eight or ten weeks her descendants will outnumber the stars. But do not wait to determine by the size of the fly or the set of its eyes whether it is male or female, swat it quickly and surely.

it's even Better than it Looks!

At first sight, America named the Silver Streak Pontiac the most beautiful thing on wheels. But even that high praise tells only half of Pontiac's story. Get in, drive, and you'll discover that this low-priced car is even better than it looks. It's an unusually safe car with solid steel "Turret-Top" Bodies by Fisher and triple-sealed hydraulic brakes.

It's a marvel on the road—smooth, lively, easy to handle and easy on gas and oil. And, as such super-fine features as silver-alloy bearings and a completely sealed chassis prove, Pontiac asks no odds of any car at any price when it comes to quality and dependability. A look, a ride and you'll decide—the car makes the price phenomenal.

PUBLIC WORKS BILL

The huge public works bill is now in conference. It is believed that within a few days the points at issue between President and Congress will be adjusted and the largest public works program in the history of the world will be undertaken.

Many of the best minds of the Nation seriously question the wisdom of appropriating such an enormous sum of money. Senators Glass and Byrd have expressed the opinion that the credit of the Nation will not stand such an expenditure. Many prominent members of the House have also questioned the wisdom of granting so many powers to the executive branch of the Government which usually lie with Congress.

One of the chief causes of friction in the passage of this great project has been the unwillingness of Congress to surrender its constitutional authority. The revolt against the Presidential power originated in the powerful Rules Committee of the House where Representative Howard W. Smith and others stood firm for the preservation of Congressional authority. This firmness on the part of local Democrats who have stood behind the President's program was immediately crystallized in the Senate, and the long delay in the passage of this important legislation is viewed by many competent observers as a natural result of contention between those who believe the Government will be spending too much money; those who would have the Government increase these expenditures, and those who would be satisfied if the authority lay with Congress.

There is no doubt that the final legislation will bear the imprint of this unexpected delay in enactment. The results of the legislation will be felt in every section of the country, and much improvement in the general prosperity of the Nation is expected to follow.

PIRATES

In olden days the pirates sailed The seas in search of gold, And stored their stolen treasure In Jolly Roger's hold. Many are the bloody tales Of how they fought and died To take from honest merchants The cargoes of their pride.

In modern days are pirates, too, (But under different name) Who thrive on others' failures And beat their way to fame; Gangsters with their rackets, Thieves who steal at night, Grafters in their harmless roles Consuming all in sight, Smugglers with their booze and dope Endangering life and health, Murderers planning perfect crimes—All in the strife for wealth.

'Tis said the world's a safer place Than in those days of old, For evil deeds are sheep-clothed An formed in righteous mold. But as for me, I think I'll take The days that used to be—When skull and bones were hoisted By pirates on the sea.

To the Editor of Manassas Journal.

Dear Sir:

I hope you will pardon the privilege I take in presuming to introduce myself. And in extenuation allow me to say that I am an alien Prince Williamite. I have just been reading The War Poems of the South by W. Gilmore Simms, which brought to my mind memories and associations of my Prince William days, and provoked me to write a few verses reminiscent of those days. I am sending them to you. If you think they may be worthy of a place in the Journal, I shall feel very much gratified. If not I hope you will not be offended at my presumption. And consign them to the waste basket.

In regard to my being at one time a resident of Prince William I will say I lived twenty-five or more years in Buckland, and had the happiness to be the son-in-law of the late Rev. John S. Trone who resided there for many years. In consequence of which Prince William seems more like Home to me than any other place. Occasionally I see a copy of the Journal, but these days I see very few names of those persons whom I knew in the years gone.

I have just heard of the passing of Mr. Westwood Hutchison whom I very pleasantly remember.

If you honor my verses with publication, will you be so kind as to send me few copies, and accommodate.

Yours respectfully,

EUGENE COMPTON,
Gaithersburg, Md.
care Methodist Home.

A Reminiscence

Standing one day on the battlefield,
Where in the days of the long gone past

Was heard the clangor of sword and shield,
And the murderous cannon's blast.

As I gazed around on the quiet scene,
Where a peaceful calm now rests:
On vales and hills, and the flowing stream,
And the Bull Run Mountain's crest.

I thought of the days of war and strife,
When these fields were drenched with blood
From the hearts men whose ebbing life
Passed out with the crimson flood.

It was near this spot that Jackson stood,
Amid the battle's flame and flare;
Serenely cool, as a rock unmoved,
When he won his "nom de guerre," Stonewall!

What synonym could be more fit
To grace this patriot hero's name?
The world's applause now honors it
With an immortal fame.

'Twas here that Bee and Bartow fell
In defense of their country's rights;
Defying the storm of shot and shell—
As the valorous warrior fights.

Off there is Groveton's hallowed ground,
Where the Southern soldiers sleep
In silent slumber most profound
While the stars their vigils keep.

No more the tocsin of war is heard
On Prince William's classic plain,
Sweeter the note of the singing bird
That warbles its musical strain.

Which falls on the ear at eventide,
When the sun is sinking low;
And the length'ning shadows softly glide
O'er the mead, when the fireflies glow.

No more the clatter and clash of arms
Nor the spouting of human gore;
But happier far are the fireside charms
That are value to the bleeding sore.

Where cattle browse on the broad green fields,
And sturdy yeomen till their soil;
A more propitious harvest yields
Than cruel strife and war's turmoil.

HI-JACKING CHARGE

TO BE HEARD
This morning Deputy Sheriff D. H. Herndon and Constable C. C. Wittner, of Woodbridge, arrested and brought to Manassas Mr. Gilbert Kincheles and a Mr. Taylor from the lower part of the county. Police state that they also have warrants for a Mr. Harold Liming, also of the lower part of the county.

The arrests were brought about following an investigation of hi-jacking which had been going on for several years.

From accounts, it appears that two truck drivers, after consultation, worked a decoy that trapped the men who were said to be driving behind one of the trucks without lights. Two of the men escaped into the woods and the third drove off. Later State Motor Vehicle Deputy Snead, of Stafford, who was patrolling the road, noticed a car pull down near the scene of the trouble and two men later emerged from the woods.

Snead raced to the spot and the car drove off leaving two men who were said to be implicated in the hi-jacking escapade.

The hearing will be heard at police court tomorrow morning by Trial Justice Judge William Hill Brown, jr.

CODE TO CONTINUE

IN FULL EFFECT

Codes of fair competition will continue to be enforced in Virginia, Acting NRA Director John J. Corson, 3rd, announced yesterday in a special release. Corson pointed out that unenforced codes result inevitably in unfair competition and pave the way for the "chiseler."

In commenting on the work of his office, the director stated that his enlarged field staff enabled him to handle a great many more cases of code violations than at any other time in the history of the office, which has paid back a total of $29,602.27 to Virginia employees whose hours and wages did not conform with NRA standards.

The Richmond office now handles more than 100 cases a week with an average wage restoration to Virginia employees of $1,000 per week, according to Corson, who explained that this increased work does not indicate increasing violations of approved codes.

"As a matter of fact, compliance with codes in Virginia, I feel, is better now than ever before. We have tried to handle complaints in an amiable and educational manner so as to make clear to all parties involved the advantages of fair standards of labor and competition."

Corson attributed a large share of code violations to the failure of employers to familiarize themselves with their codes. He pointed out that a new code governing automobile repair shops is now in operation and stated that his office is answering letters daily as to the provisions of this code, which requires a 44-hour-work week and a minimum wage of $14.00 in any city with a population between 2,500 and 250,000 and $13.00 a week in smaller cities. Mechanic are entitled to 50 cents per hour and their helpers 40 cents.

Interesting Letter from Supervisor Roland

To the Editor of The Manassas Journal:

Three years ago the first R. F. C. relief committee meeting in this county was held at the Town Hall in Manassas. At that meeting it was said that relief as proposed was inadequate and would do very little good, outside of the little inflation it would cause.

Later came the C. W. A. with $400,000,000 allocated to revive a $40,000,000,000 business failure. To any hard-headed business man, the idea of investing one dollar in a one-hundred dollar business failure would be absurd, if one expected to revive the business. Nevertheless, brain trusters won their way. They paid inflated artificial wages out of the $400,000,000.00, which unfortunately was not enough to give this child of the brain trust decent care at birth, therefore, it died. In spite of its early death, this child of our learned brain trusters, like the tornado, left many bad impressions in its wake.

Then came the premature birth of the F.E.R.A., an inadequate child whose parents must have been mental robots whose action in conceiving this child were controlled by too much learning and very little horse sense.

The result is that this child has been an invalid from birth. Much wealth has been doled out for him, with no apparent improvement; nevertheless, the parents, with much optimism, hope for its recovery.

With no thought of their unfortunate experience with two former children, the brain trusters have conceived and brought forth twins, Rehabilitation and Work Centers. Poe's fertile imagination was never able to create anything as fantastic as this pair of absurdities.

With this in mind and a serious condition confronting this community (and there is no reason to believe that this condition does not exist throughout the country), we should demand that Relief be made adequate or be discontinued.

All public workers, except the supervisors of relief work and regular government employees should at this time be on relief work.

To work two men of the same ability on the same public works job, one at 30 cents an hour for ten hours, 5 1-2 days a week, the other at 20 cents an hour for eight hours, 2 days a week, is not fair and should never be allowed when paid for out of taxation.

When conditions of this kind are allowed, we cannot expect anything except resentment. If nothing more forcible is resorted to, it will be surprising.

At this time it is advisable to reduce all relief work to six hours a day. This would make it possible to work two shifts a day, which would do much to stimulate business. The shorter day would also make the work less attractive and as business revives, the longer day with extra money would soon draw the workers into private industry.

Relief work must furnish the minimum substance necessary to maintain the health of those forced to accept it.

Relief work must be regular, at least five days a week; six would be better.

There are many reasons for regular work. Men are more contented when at work. The employer has an opportunity to place his men so as to get the maximum amount of work done.

It would be superfluous to discuss wages on relief work. For those who are forced to accept relief, the wage should be the prevailing wage of the laborer of that community, because the prevailing wage is never high enough to leave a balance, except in the red.

Relief work should always be as near as possible the same class of work. Special work for the relief of white collar, the trades, the professional, should never be allowed when paid for out of taxes. It is against our traditions to build classes with public money.

The same discipline must exist on relief work as in private industry goes without question.

In our community, 20 cents an hour, 6 hours a day, 6 days a week would be adequate to care for those who need work at this time. This would mean if a man should work every work day of the year, he would earn $375.60.

It would also mean that 6,000,000 rural laborers could be employed for one year of $2,253,600,000.

Every cent of this amount would go to make business. As Mr. Eccles says, "It is the use to which money is put, rather than its volume that determines the amount of business."

It seems to a great many of us that more good could come from a moratorium until such a time that a market can be developed for their products, for those whose creditors are working night and day in every way to get your dear Uncle Samuel to refinance their debtors on loans made on inflated values. The money shark is glad to turn over his questionable loans to the tax payers. When he gets his cash, he promptly puts it in cold storage. Later you note in the paper that a Government bond issue has been oversubscribed nine times. The shark thaws out his cold storage cash. This kind of finance is very bad, but it is going on all the time, and is delaying recovery. There are exceptions to the above picture; the exceptions are in the minority.

The debtor in a large number of these cases are only prolonging their misery; in the end they must lose. The public loses the use of the money due to the lack of safe investments at this time. It freezes up.

If cash is turned loose, it should not be turned over to financial interests to go into cold storage. It should be turned loose where it will create the greatest amount of business.

We hear from those political paragon the cry that we cannot buy ourselves out of this depression. That depends on the paragon; if he has not the business sagacity to use borrowed capital, he has no business representing a constituency in an institution that does everything on borrowed capital.

Any institution with as successful a career in the past as the United States has had, in case of complete destruction, if its credit was good enough to borrow to put it in working order again, it would borrow.

Borrowed money properly invested will bring good dividends.

There are many investments that will bring big returns.

We must forget those cries about the national deficit. They are promoted by those who desire to profit by the misery of a servile and prostrate labor.

They never miss an opportunity to discredit anything, if they do not profit by it personally.

One has but to remember the war-time waste; your Uncle Samuel paid many millions to develop a very questionable aeroplane motor.

The profiteers did not squawk loud and long about labor sitting down on the job. They were getting theirs.

As the Federal Government is the only institution large enough to handle this project, the desires of the people must be so placed that those in authority will have no way out but to act on those desires.

A simple Permanent Public Works Program that will have such projects as road building, flood control, and such on hand at all times that when private industry slows up, there will be a place for the man to go until private industry speeds up again.

Under a program of this kind the Federal Government could allocate funds to the states to be used for labor on feeder roads, the state furnishing supervision and material. A program of this kind would give work to all that need work, would do much to bring about a parity between the Agricultural and the Industrial divisions of society—a thing that must be accomplished before Agriculture will come into its own!

The fact is, it goes to the root of the agricultural troubles. It will eliminate the surplus of cheap labor with which the farmer is always cursed. Cheap labor comes easy and things that come easy are not always best for us. In the case of the farmer, it causes him to pile up a surplus of his products for which there is no market.

A program of this kind will benefit and give pleasure to more than thirty-five millions of our citizens by making it possible for them to get out of the mud.

It would also eliminate the necessity of out-of-work insurance by always being in a position to furnish the person a job until he can place himself in a private job where he will get more pay, due to the longer hours. It would do away with the processing tax that was levied to pay for plowing down crops and killing pigs and cattle, that are needed badly to feed and clothe a class that are not doing their part to maintain our markets because of their inability to feed, clothe and house themselves properly.

This inability to feed, clothe and house themselves is due to the lack of proper employment. It will also take care of the man which private industry has dumped on to the economic dump pile because of his forty years, and because there is a surplus of young men waiting for his job.

A program of this kind can be accomplished without any change in our form of Government.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM SUPERVISOR ROLAND

It will do more to save our young people from a life of crime than all the police forces in the country.

It will make it easy for the authorities to know those that I live without visible means and be in a position to use discipline when necessary. There are twenty-one million boys and young men between the ages of 16 and 25 in this country from whom the racketeer is recruited. These boys are passing through dangerous years for youth and we are in no small way responsible for them. They are of an age when they must have something to do and if we do not find it for them, they will find it for themselves, the results in many cases being bad.

So let us assume the responsibility that is ours, let us see that they have work; let us see that they have enough to eat and to wear; let us see that they have a chance to make men of themselves; a chance to make good citizens. To push these boys out on the world that is surfeited with men out of work is a crime. The chances are a thousand to one against them making good, or even making a decent living. Let us cut out these relief organizations whose very presence acknowledges our inability to meet the situation.

There are organized road commissions in every state that are capable of taking over these workers and give us something for our money instead of experimenting on untried theories.

Let us push for a project of feeder road building to be pushed not halfheartedly, but with vigor. Road building is practicable and no other work will benefit as many people.

Let us work for feeder roads. Let us make the country more desirable good roads while labor is cheap and than ever to live in. Let us have plentiful. A 5 1-2 sales tax on the national income will finance this program. I am willing to pay it, are you?

Let us build this monument that our children may see it and profit by our experience. I do not offer road building as a panacea for our economic troubles. As long as each person reacts differently a panacea is impossible. But it will help more than anything so far proposed.

Yours for feeder roads,
C. B. ROLAND.

One year has passed, dear Mother Since you were called away. How well do we remember That sad and weary day.

You suffered hours; yes, hours of pain,

To wait for cure, but all in vain. So God alone knew what was best— He called you home to give you rest.

Forget you? No, we never will We loved you then; we love you still. Your memory is as fresh today As in the hour you passed away. Her Loving Husband and Children.

FORD V-8

In A Class By Itself

THERE is no way to compare the Ford V-8 with any other car because there is no other car like it.

The Ford enables you to step up into the fine-car class in performance, beauty, comfort and safety. But there is no stepping up in price. That is kept down by Ford low-profit policies and unique manufacturing methods. These are as different as the car itself.

It takes eight cylinders to give the modern performance you need these days. The Ford is powered by a V-8—the finest type of eight-cylinder engine. You have to pay more than $2000 for that in any other car.
