RUSH-BAGOT CELEBRATION

Manassas Kiwanis Represented by Rev. Gibson and Mr. Tiffany.

President Hunton Tiffany and Rev. A. Stuart Gibson represented the Manassas club at the dedication of the Rush-Bagot Agreement Memorial Tablet by Dr. William J. Carrington, Atlantic City, President of Kiwanis International, on the Columbia Hospital grounds at Washington, D. C., April 29. This tablet commemorating the 118 years of peace and friendship between Canada and the United States, was unveiled by Miss Margaret Maxfield in cestum as Miss Columbia, and Miss Nancy Jors, dressed as Miss Canada. These two young ladies are daughters of Dr. George W. Maxfield and Karl F. Jors, respectively, both members of the Washington Kiwanis club.

Dr. Carrington said in his address, "On this site, one hundred and eighty-eight years ago was signed the final of a series of informal notes exchanged between Richard Rush and Charles Bagot. Histories refer to these scraps of paper, not as a treaty, but merely as an agreement. And yet from that day to this, the Dominion of Canada and the United States of America have stood side by side, arm in arm, prototypes of peace and understanding. On that day frowning forts and bristly boats disappeared forever, pray God, from what is now an invisible border."

This tablet erected on the anniversary of the signing of the Rush-Bagot Agreement on the grounds of Columbia Hospital carries the following inscription: "Peace Through Limitation of Naval Armament Was Promoted Between the Dominion of Canada and the United States of America by the Signing of the Rush-Bagot Agreement, April 28 and 29, (Continued on page 5)

MACS TO MEET MIDDLEBURG

Game to be played at Manassas Sunday and Promises to be Interesting.

Next Sunday, the Macs play host to the Middleburg nine, winner of last year's championship, in what promises to be one of the most interesting games of the current season. The Macs, still smarting under the sting of those two drubbings administered at Middleburg in last season's postseason play-offs, are anxious for revenge. Manassas, strengthened behind the plate and in the infield, appears to be even stronger than last year and hopes to account for their second win. Middleburg was rudely jolted last Sunday by the powerful Ballston outfit, Furr being raked for a total of seventeen hits which were good for eleven runs. The final score was 11 to 0. Furr, however, appears to have the Indian sign on the locals as attested by his two wins last year. It is quite possible that he will again be in the box next Sunday.

Godfrey, the Macs' new "Austin Size" third baseman, who won the admiration of the local fans by his work in last Sunday's game, will again play third, while Dreifus is expected to try for his second win.

Considerable interest has been aroused not only in Manassas, but in the surrounding countryside concerning the Macs in general and this game in particular and in the event of good weather, a record crowd is anticipated. The game is called for 3 p.m.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION SPONSORS DANCE

Plans have been completed for the dance which the Alumni Association is giving on May 17 at the gymnasium. A well-known orchestra from Winchester has been engaged, and a large crowd is anticipated to be in attendance.

Mr. J. Jenkyn Davies, president of the association, has been working untiringly toward this dance, since the funds raised by it will be used to help pay for the sealing of the interior of the gymnasium, thus making it warmer and more comfortable for the sports of the high school. It is earnestly hoped that everyone will come and support the dance and its worthy cause.

Miss Frances Bushong, Mr. Jack Merchant and Mr. J. J. Davies are on the dance committee. A large floor committee will also be present.

Manassas Opens League Season with 5 to 3 Victory over Falls Church

Godfrey's Triple in Eighth, Two on, Provides Winning Margin.

Manassas opened the current Northern Virginia League season Sunday by scoring a hard fought win over the Falls Church nine. In spite of the threatening weather, a crowd of mid-season proportions was on hand to watch the Macs come through in the closing innings in face of determined opposition for their initial victory. Two new additions to the Macs ranks provided the punch that drove across all five of the locals' scores. Brenner, with a double to deep left in the opening inning, scored both Lynn and Vetter to give the home team a two-run lead. However, it was Godfrey, the diminutive third sacker, who provided the telling blows at opportune times to account for the three remaining runs that sent the invaders down to defeat. In the sixth with the Macs trailing by one run, he slashed out a double directly over third base to score Buckner and tie the count while in the eighth, with two away and two on base, he lined the ball far over the left fielder's head to score the two runs that represented the Macs' margin of victory.

Dreifus, who hurried for the locals, gave up only five hits, all singles, but wildness reduced his effectiveness and kept him in constant trouble during the early innings. He steadied after the sixth inning and allowed only two men to reach first during the last three innings. Fox walked in the seventh after two were out and was promptly erased on an attempted steal, Buckner to Vetter. Royston dropped a Texas leaguer in to right center in the ninth but was left stranded as Dreifus slipped a third strike past Sole for the final out of the game.

The Macs fielded sharply throughout the game, Saunders, Wurdemann and Vetter coming through with exceptional catches. Buckner's work behind the plate was outstanding, he being forced to dig numerous wild pitches out of the dirt while his perfect throw in the seventh caught Fox on an attempted steal.

FAMILY NIGHT AT KIWANIS

Enjoyable Get-Together at Masonic Temple.

The Manassas Kiwanis Club added another enjoyable night to its recent list of splendid programs by celebrating Family Night in the Masonic Temple with the Eastern Star ladies as hostesses.

Ed. Hill, whom Bob styles the grandfather of the Manassas club, and George Mangan, one of the oldest members of the Kiwanis International, happened along in spite of the rain which George says always comes when he tries to visit the Manassas club.

Miss Bozarth made a charming substitution for the club's regular sponsor and Mrs. Smith presided at the piano as usual.

Hunton Tiffany added a mixture of pain and pleasure when he called on Bob Hutchison, O. D. Waters, Jim Bradford and Bill Cocks to sing "Sweet Adeline."

Previous to that, Bob made a pleasant combination of pathos and comedy in a presentation of an alumni loving cup to Ray Ratcliffe. Bob's oratory deserved a fitting conclusion.

George Mangan made a splendid talk on Kiwanis education. He showered compliments on the local club for its splendid attendance record stating that this was the prime requisite necessary to Kiwanis education.

Inasmuch as Bob had already made his speech, Hunton fell back on O. D. for an address of thanks to the Eastern Star ladies. It would be impossible to properly reduce to prose the fine poetic ethics of O. D.'s extemporaneous address. Only those who were present can appreciate it.

This was the first time that the club had been in the Masonic hall in many months and the ladies certainly dined them splendidly. They also made an extra effort to get to the appetites of their guests by decorating the tables very pretty. Kiwanians present and their guests were as follows:

Mr. D. J. Arrington, Misses Lucy Arrington and Virginia Frazier, W. S. Athey, J. E. Bradford, W. G. Covington, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Cocks, Rev. and Mrs. A. Stuart Gibson, Messrs. F. R. Hynson, Warren Hynson and Ed. Hill, Messrs. G. W. Herring, F. P. Moncure, Ross Jordan and George Reigler and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hoeff, Mr. R. C. Hayden and Miss Barbara Neill and Dicky Hayden, Messrs. J. C. Carl and Connie Kinchloe, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lynn and Miss Jane Marye Lynn, Messrs. W. H. Leachman, W. A. Taetz and W. J. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lloyd, Mr. W. E. Lloyd and Miss (Continued on page 8)

BENNETT SCHOOL TO GIVE PLAY

Operetta on May 17 Was Written Especially for Children.

An operetta will be presented by the Bennett School of Manassas on May 17 which promises to be a delightful affair.

The three-act operetta, "Boy Blue," is written especially for children. The story is centered around the little boy called Boy Blue who can never keep awake, and his playmates called the Hayfield children.

Boy Blue Mollie who is Boy Blue's best friend and the Hayfield children plan a fishing trip. In order that the sleepy Boy Blue may be there before the others arrive the following noon he spends the night in the field by the haycock.

Part II is a most delightful story showing how Boy Blue meets the Echo Elves, Katy-She-Dids and Katy-She-Didn'ts, the fireflies and the Musical frogs in his dreams. He goes fishing in a most unusual manner and the queer things he fishes out of Dreamland Sea are delightful. The queer little creatures not only talk to Boy Blue but they sing some lovely songs and dance, for his pleasure.

Part III brings the Hayfield children into limelight again through frolicking games in the hay field. Boy Blue is raked out from under the haycock very much bewildered as to where he is and of the sights he saw while asleep. He relates the incidents to the Hayfield children who would never have believed had it not been for an alarm clock and a stray frog and grasshopper.

THE BISHOP DISAPPOINTS MANASSAS

In the absence of Bishop James Cannon, jr., last week, the crowd which would have gathered at the high school to hear him dwindled to not very many over two hundred.

Dr. Edward Richardson of Richmond was present and gave some very excellent cartoons in color on the blackboard.

In spite of the absence of Bishop Cannon the meeting was quite successful and the audience was very appreciative of the temperance method as presented by those who did come. Rev. W. M. Compton presided over the meeting.

Bishop Cannon, the day before, broke a small bone in his arm and despite that had kept several engagements, severely overtaxing his strength. Up until 3 o'clock of the day he was scheduled to come he was still intent on being present at Manassas but the staff physicians at Sibley Hospital refused to let him make the trip and he was kept there until early Friday morning when he was carried to the train and assisted to his berth.

Bishop Cannon is well known in Manassas, having spoken here several times in the past few years.

WILLIAM A. SMITH EXPLAINS FERA

Asks Public Aid in Providing Private Employment.

Not one family will remain on relief this summer for whom even a temporary job can be found, William A. Smith, Administrator for the Virginia Emergency Relief Administration, has announced.

There are encouraging indications, he said, that there will be enough seasonal employment to provide jobs for a large proportion of the State's case load during the next few months and local relief directors have been instructed to exert every effort to place as many of their clients as possible in private employment.

"Our objective is to put people back to work, not to keep them on the relief rolls," Mr. Smith declared.

"During the next few weeks, particularly, while there is an increase in the demand for farm labor, we are going to make a determined drive to get as many people as possible off the rolls and into jobs where they can make their own way.

"The success of this effort will require the whole-hearted co-operation of every employer in the State. If it were possible to contact each of them in person we would like to do so, but since that obviously is out of the question, we are urging that they communicate their labor needs to their local employment offices where they exist, or to the local relief office in these localities without employment service facilities.

"Each relief office in Virginia maintains an occupational classification of all its clients. Local relief officials can tell on a moment's notice exactly how many workers of a particular type—steam fitters, plasterers, stenographers, engineers or common laborers—are available, and will even inform them when and where to report for work.

"We would like to cut Virginia's relief case load squarely in half this summer, and if farmers, business men and other employers of labor will give us their help we will at least make a definite approach to that goal."

Mr. Smith stated that 9.3 per cent of all the people in the state were receiving relief during March, the last month for which complete figures are available. This represented approximately 48,000 families in which there were at least one or more persons fitted for some form of employment.

"The work program of the FERA," he stated, "is not designed to put all of these people to work on relief jobs and thus remove them from the normal supply of private labor. On the contrary, its purpose is merely to provide work for those who cannot be absorbed in private employment, and the fewer people we have to put on work relief the more successful our program will be."

The relief office in Prince William is located at Manassas, Va., and is in charge of Mrs. Marion Lewis. Miss Frances Smith is in charge at Fairfax, Mrs. Melvin at Leesburg, Mrs. Katherine Moncure at Stafford, Mrs. Mary Doffen at Warrenton and Miss Watkins at Alexandria.

ESTHER AKERS HONORED AT STATE MEETING

This organization is a subsidiary of the National Student Government Association. There were fourteen schools of the state represented who either had student governments or are setting up the same for the coming year.

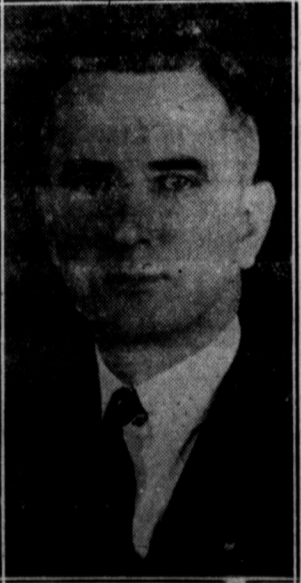

The purpose of this meeting was to form a state organization of these schools who later became charter members of the association.

Miss Esther Akers was named state secretary of the association.
