Original words for "Home on the Range," written by Thelma Moore, secured first place in county song contest for Buckhall 4-H Club. Occoquan 4-H Club song ranked second with Greenwich song coming third. Songs were written by 4-H club members.

Following the contests club members and friends enjoyed swimming and picnic lunch.

A demonstration on life saving and swimming approaches, given by Edwin Beachley of Manassas, added to the day's interests.

Judges in the contests were: Miss R. Belle Burke, Miss Veta Marie Draper, Miss M. Sabina Neel, and Miss Mae Senseney.

QUEENSBERRY GETS TWENTY YEARS

Tom Quesenberry was sentenced to week by Judge J. R. H. Alexander, twenty years in the penitentiary this of Leesburg, after pleading guilty to the charge of slaying C. J. McClary, a policeman of Alexandria. The case attracted considerable attention on account of the long range of the shot which felled the officer and because of the prominence of the prosecuting attorney, Hon. John Galleher, who had been named Public Work Coordinator for Virginia. Among the witnesses from this section was Sheriff John P. Kerlin.

INSPECT BATTLE PARK

On Tuesday of last week a group of distinguished visitors spent a few hours in the vicinity of Centreville inspecting the forts and other historic landmarks of the neighborhood.

Mrs. Harold Ickes, wife of the Secretary of the Interior, was in the group which also included Major Joseph W. Hanson, military historian of the National Park Service; Dr. Johnson, former president of the Lee Highway Association, and Mr. Ernest Coe of Florida, who is known in that state as the father of the Everglades National Park.

Much interest was expressed by the visitors in the historic landmarks of Centreville and their importance in any comprehensive project to establish a battle park.

BRADFORD GIVES STATE DEFICIT

Only $110,000 Behind, Says Budget Director.

State Budget Director J. H. Bradford, never too optimistic over Virginia's financial status, forecast this week that at the end of the biennium June 30, 1936, books of the Commonwealth would still be slightly red in spite of returns from the State's liquor monopoly. He admitted that the deficit would be negligible, but he insisted there would be one.

He made this prediction almost on the eve of the end of the present fiscal year, the first half of the biennium. The last year of the biennium for which the General Assembly of 1934 made appropriations, begins on Monday.

According to the budget director's estimates, the State, which began the biennium with an apparent deficit of $2,610,000, will end it with a deficit of only $110,000, thanks to excess profits from the liquor monopoly plus a 5 per cent slash in appropriations for each of the two years.

Mr. Bradock pointed out, however, that revenues from sources other than alcoholic beverages have fallen below estimates for the last four years and he seemed to think it likely they would fall again during the coming fiscal year, in which case the probable deficit would be greater than $110,000.

Against the apparent deficit of $2,610,000 the budget director placed a saving of $1,500,000 for the biennium as a result of the 5 per cent cut in appropriations and estimated returns for the two years of approximately $1,000,000 in excess liquor profits. Thus these two items would wipe out $2,500,000 of the $2,610,000 apparent deficit.

He based his deficit total of $2,610,000 on an estimated loss of $1,500,000 in revenues (from sources other than liquor) during the biennium, $800,000 in over-appropriations made by the last General Assembly; $150,000 in unexpended balances reappropriated, and a $160,000 extra deficit.

The State Budget Director is well known in Prince William County, where his brother, Mr. J. E. Bradford, is prominent in business and social circles.

Ballston Hands Macs Fourth Straight Defeat

Owen, Given Brilliant Support by Ballston Infield, Bests Adair by Score of 6 to 3.

The Macs, who appear to be headed nowhere in particular this season, continued to detour Sunday, dropping their fourth straight game, this time to the strong Ballston nine by a 6 to 3 score. Ballston played a strong defensive game and behind the steady pitching of Owen, assumed the lead in the sixth and held the locals safe the remainder of the game.

Manassas got away to a one-run lead in the opening inning when Lynn reached first on McQuinn's bobble, went to second on Godfrey's looper to right and scored as Dreifus lined one into center for a base. They picked up another tally in the third when Woodard beat out a hit to McQuinn and went to second on the latter's throw past first. He was sacrificed to third by Lynn and scored as Miller tossed out Godfrey. The Macs scored their final marker in the following inning on a walk to Dreifus, a sacrifice and Vetter's single to center. Thereafter, with the aid of fine defensive work on the part of the Ballston infield, Owen held the Macs safe, not allowing a runner to advance beyond first base.

Ballston scored in the second on singles by Miller, Tonker and Spitzer and added two more to tie the score in the fourth on a walk, singles by Biggs and Tonker and an infield out. McQuinn broke the tie in the following inning when he lined one of Adair's pitches over the left field wall for a home run. Two more runs came over in the sixth on singles by Bowman and Tonker and a double by Ball. Ballston threatened again in the seventh but McQuinn was picked off first and Miller, in an attempt to steal, was ruled out for interference when trapped between third and home.

The Macs end the first half of the split season Sunday, engaging the Arlington nine on Swavely Field.

ISIAH C. JACOBS

Upper Prince William County has lost one of its oldest and most highly-respected citizens in the passing of Mr. Isiah Cumberland Jacobs, aged 79 years, whose death occurred on Friday, June 28, from a heart ailment, at "Foster Hall," his home near Thoroughfare, where he had resided for the past 30 years.

Mr. Jacobs had been in failing health for about five years and the end though sudden was not unexpected.

This venerable gentleman was prominently identified with all of the county's activities until becoming disabled, and was widely known. He was a retired farmer, and was also associated in the lumber business for many years.

Mr. Jacobs was a man of high integrity and believed always in fair and honest dealing with his fellowmen.

Funeral services were conducted on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. by Rev. C. Wirt Trainham, of Marshall, from Antioch Baptist Church, and his remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at Antioch.

One of the largest crowds which has ever gathered in this section came on Sunday to pay their last tribute of respect to him who had passed on. The floral tributes which were many, and very beautiful, bore mute testimony to the love and high esteem in which the deceased was held by all who knew him.

Those surviving besides his widow are four sons and three daughters, namely: James, of Washington; Isaiah, Jr., of Marshall; Moss, of Haymarket, and Logan, of Rapidan; Mrs. W. L. Gardner, of Hickory Grove; Mrs. J. Welton Graham, of Buckland, and Miss Bessie, who resided at home.

Those who acted as pall bearers were Messrs. Thomas H. Lion, H. Thornton Davie, John P. Kerlin, William M. Jordan, William R. Gossom and Jack Crewe.

TAX NOTICE

STATEMENT BY SENATOR BYRD

Explains Justice of Tax on Bonds.

The amount of tax exempt bonds has now reached the great total of $90,000,000,000. This provides a refuge for those who invest in such bonds and thus escape the payment of taxes which must be paid by those engaged in productive business enterprises.

This total is being constantly increased by new issues of federal, state, county and municipal bonds. The Federal Government alone is now spending $13,000 every minute of the twenty-four hours of each day including Sundays. $7,000 each minute is being added to the Federal public debt by the issuance of Federal tax exempt bonds.

I have always believed in an equalization of the tax burden by taxing all classes of property on a fair basis.

I have introduced legislation to make possible the taxation of all future issues of federal, state, county and municipal bonds, and providing also that the state can tax federal bonds.

Any reform of our taxation systems on a basis of ability to pay must provide for the taxation of the bonds which are now exempt.

Very frankly, one of my objectives in this legislation is to discourage the future issuance of federal, state and local bonds. I still believe in the pay-as-you-go plan. I do not favor giving a refuge to the rich of the country to avoid taxation by the issuance of tax exempt securities. I think the issuance of such securities imposes a great burden on the people in the way of interest and refunding charges.

SOUND MOVIES AT HAY-MARKET FRIDAY NIGHT

Sound movies will be shown at the Haymarket 4-H Club at the Parish Hall there, Friday night, July 5.

The picture, "4-H Club Work-What It Is and Does," will be featured. Others included in the program are "Roads to Wonderland"; "A Century of Progress" depicting in full detail the recent Chicago Fair; "When the Cows Come Home," an agricultural educational film, and "Payne Fund Students Complete Course," another 4-H picture.

Proceeds from a very low admission fee will be used toward sending the club delegates to the V. P. I. and Jamestown 4-H Short Course this summer. Refreshments will be available at the show.

The members of the Haymarket club, with the co-operation of R. L. Hughes of Prince William Motors who is generously furnishing modern talking movie equipment and additional pictures, assure all who may attend from Gainesville and other districts of the county an interesting evening of entertainment and education.

Will Celebrate 300th Anniversary of First Settlers at Hopewell

Hopewell Chamber of Commerce has named a committee to arrange a fitting celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the first settlement of Hopewell plantation, present site of the city of Hopewell. The exact date of the settlement in 1635 is known and the celebration will take place on this date, August 26.

Plans, as discussed with the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, include a pageant, depicting the history of the plantation, of City Point during the War Between the States and of Hopewell during the World War.

MANY GUESTS AT BUSHONG WEDDING

Popular Young Couple Married at Presbyterian Church.

One of the most beautiful weddings of the season in northern Virginia was solemnized last Thursday when Miss Frances Kathryn Bushong became the bride of Mr. Sedrick Saunders of Warsaw. Rev. John M. DeChant, pastor of both the bride and groom, officiated, using the impressive ring ceremony of the Presbyterian Church.

The bride was attired in a white satin gown made princess style and trimmed in lace. Her veil of tulle was held in place by orange blossoms and she carried a large bouquet of bride's roses and lilies-of-the-valley. She entered the church on the arm of her father, Mr. Joseph Locke Bushong, to the exquisite strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, and during the ceremony, "O, Promise Me," "O, Perfect Love," "Until" and "At Dawning" were softly intoned.

The maid of honor, Miss Rena Bevans, was attired in white organdie, as were the bride's maids, Misses Madeline McCoy, Walser Conner, Esther Warren Pattie and Rose Ratcliffe. They wore white leghorn hats and carried bouquets of mixed summer flowers.

Mr. Saunders had as his best man his brother, Mr. Lowry Saunders, of Warsaw, Va. Both were attired in white suits as were the ushers, Messrs. Jack Holt Merchant, Wallace Lynn, Hawes Davies, Jr., and John Jenkyn Davies. All of them wore white carnation boutonnieres.

The bridal party left the church to the beautiful peals of Mendelssohn's Bridal March.

The musical program was rendered by Miss Christine Meetez of Manassas and Mr. Louis Carper, of Washington.

A most delightful reception was held at the Bushong home on North Main street after which the young couple left for a brief honeymoon.

The floral decorations in the church and the spacious home of the bride's parents were masses of gorgeous white summer flowers.

The bride's going-away costume was navy blue silk with accessories.

According to custom, the bride threw her bouquet at her maids and the floral beauty was caught by Miss Rena Bevans.

Mrs. J. L. Bushong, mother of the bride, wore printed silk of robin's egg blue trimmed with brown lace, and was assisted in receiving by the groom's mother who wore old rose crepe.

Out-of-town guests included: Miss Edna H. Barnard, Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Robt. G. Van Meter, Miss Catherine Van Meter, Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. O'Neal, Middletown; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bushong, Clarendon, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Kleon Focadies, Washington; Mrs. Fred Keochie, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Milton

CATHARPIN

For the past week up to Tuesday morning the weather has been just about as hot as any one cares to have it. What it has been since that time you know as well as we. Harvesting and threshing are all the rage so people are quite busy.

This year has brought an "innovation" in the harvesting line which seems to be new in this section at least. On Sunday morning while people were heading off to church they were startled to hear the hum and clatter of a binder as it went plowing its weary way across the field of one of our "busy" farmers. This occasioned considerable surprise to many. It seems, however, that people are becoming more and more accustomed to "innovations" of one kind or another so that the "edge" of Sabbath Observance is becoming quite dull indeed.

It is predicted that this country will soon be experiencing what is known as the "European Sunday" whatever that is, which prediction seems to infer that we shall have no Sunday at all insofar as observing the day as per the precepts of Holy Writ. We have almost become accustomed to seeing big trucks loaded with cattle hiking out of a town to reach the early Monday market, and to see great accounts of Sunday ball games as played in our county seat, but this Sunday harvesting is a new "edition" to the many others which have long since lost their "zing" and have become so commonplace as to be looked upon as a matter of course.

Isn't it funny, though, how people will "stand by" and just let things go? That things are happening every day which are illegal, immoral, and against common law and common decency is known to all, yet not one will vouchsafe a single objection. Just how long this can last is an enigma. Certainly no one of sound mind will ever agree that such things should be. If pressed for an answer they will all tell you that common decency would preclude them all; yet onward we go, ignoring something here and something there until finally we shall have neither law nor morals. Sodom and Gomorrah did it and look what happened to them.

OCCOQUAN GRAYS
WIN TWO GAMES

The Grays won their return game with the Nokesville A. C. Saturday at Nokesville by the score of 6 to 5. Wade Breen hurled well for the Grays for seven innings. He was replaced by O'Malley in the eighth inning with the score 6 to 1. Except for a streak of wildness, O'Malley hurled creditably. His wildness enabled the Nokesville team to score 4 runs in the ninth inning before a double play, Pearson to O'Neil, killed the threat.

The Grays proved their fighting spirit Sunday when they came from the short end of a 9 to 4 count to win over the Clarendon Cardinals, 10 to 9. O'Malley again pitched for the Grays, striking out 12 but issuing 8 free tickets to first. The Grays scored 4 runs in the seventh and 2 in the eighth to pull the game out of the fire.

Manager Marshall paled out a home run for the Grays. This game was scheduled and advertised to be played at Clarendon, but a change in schedule brought the game to Occoquan.

This Saturday, the Manassas team will be played at Swaley field in Manassas. Manassas defeated the Grays in their previous game and Occoquan will be fighting to even the count. The game will be called at 3 p.m.

The best attraction of the year will be the game on Sunday at Occoquan when the McLean A. C. plays the Grays in a league game at 6 o'clock. McLean is leading the "Old Dominion League" and defeated the Grays at McLean earlier in the season. This is the game the Grays are planning to tuck under their belts. The weather was very unfavorable before and there were also other hindrances. The Grays are winning and what's more they're playing ball. If you want to see a ball game, come to the Grays' diamond Sunday at 3 p.m.

A NOVEL OF THE OLD SOUTH

By H. J. Eckenrode

The story of Buck Musgrave, Southern gentleman, who devoted himself, before the Civil War, to the serious pursuits of life, particularly horse-racing, cock-fighting and hard drinking. The searing changes which the War brought to this son of the Old South, and his changed outlook in the Reconstruction period are presented with dramatic force.

The author is State Historian of Virginia. He knows and understands the people of whom he writes, and he treats of the Musgraves as well as the "poor whites" with honesty and vigor. The manners and customs of the time just before and after the Civil War are presented from a fresh viewpoint in this fine novel of the life, loves and adventures of Buck Musgrave, who betrayed his traditions, but found a renewed and finer life under a new code.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST
The Word of God
The word of God keeps us from sin, and a right word by itself—Proverbs 11:19.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

It parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a precious heritage to them in after years.

THE THIRSTY LAND: O God, thou art my God; early will I seek thee; my soul thirsteth for thee, and my flesh longeth for thee in a dry thirsty land.—Psalm 63:1.

RUNNING THE STREETS

When the warden of the Massachusetts state prison recently retired after serving 35 years he gave voice to an observation parents of boys here in Warrenton should be interested in. There is much discussion everywhere now as to why young people go wrong and so many figure in holdups, burglaries and other crimes. Here is what the warden said:

"Go out any night and you'll see small boys running the streets, running wild at all hours. You can blame the movies, crime stories over the radio and what-not for crime, but the truth is there would be fewer criminals if fathers and mothers would take the trouble to see where their children go. We pay all sorts of attention to correcting a youngster after he gets to the reform school, and yet we pay no attention to correcting him before he gets into his first scrape."

The retiring warden noted the change in the type of men sent to prisons in the past 25 years. Where criminals once were mostly middle-aged men, they are now mostly youths. You have only to read the crime news in your daily paper, and note the ages of those participating in the crimes, to realize the truthfulness of that statement. The responsibility of parents for the bringing up of children was never more clearly pointed out, and coming from one long experienced in the care of those who could not go straight, the words of the former warden should not be passed over lightly by the fathers and mothers of growing boys.—Fauquier Democrat.

SOME GOOD SUGGESTIONS

Speaking at Nokesville Tuesday night Sheriff John Kerlin made some timely suggestions relative to law enforcement which ought to have especial consideration. He urged greater attention to the mandates of the law in liquor matters and particularly stressed the wide-open manner in which the Richmond liquor authorities are permitting sale of alcoholic beverages on Sunday. His suggestion that dance halls and other places of amusement close at a specified time Saturday night should have especial consideration.

From his experience as an efficient law enforcing officer Mr. Kerlin made suggestions

CONGRESS BEGINS TO ACT

National news of the week, featured in the form of headlines indicating drastic rebuffs administered to the President, indicates that our legislative branch of the government is beginning to function of its own volition. Several months ago the powerful rules committee of the House, of which Hon. Howard W. Smith is an influential member, took the bit in teeth, as it were, and refused to sign on the dotted line. The revolt has spread. Senator Byrd and Glass have stood solidly for independent Congressional thought and finally the rebuke administered by the Supreme Court in its unanimous decision against the N. R. A. has thoroughly awakened the country to the necessity of independent action on the part of our three basic branches of government, the executive, the legislative and the judicial.

In sharing the relief from executive oppression which is felt throughout the nation, we should not fail to recognize the services of those who have stood firmly for Constitutional integrity in the face of very heavy pressure.

DISTRICT JUDGE TO BE APPOINTED

Designation of a Virginian Hoped For.

The creation of a new federal judgeship for eastern Virginia has given much public interest in the approaching appointment by President Roosevelt. While it is possible that any qualified candidate from the country at large could be appointed, it is hoped, by Virginians, that this position in Virginia will be filled by a local selection.

Among those prominently mentioned are Hon. Thos. W. Ozlin, of the State Corporation Commission, Judge Robert N. Polliard, of Richmond; Brokenbough Lamb, former president of the Virginia Bar Association, and Virginian R. Shackelford, who is now a member of the State Board of Education.

The appointment is particularly important at this time when federal law enforcement within the State is so much in the limelight. The appointment of a judge not in sympathy with the ideals and traditions of the South.

The Montague Bill creating the new Judgeship in Virginia has passed both houses of Congress and is said to be awaiting the signature of President Roosevelt.

NOTICE Infantile Paralysis

State and Federal reports indicate that Infantile Paralysis is unusually prevalent in North Carolina and a group of counties in Virginia bordering on that state.

Brunswick, Halifax, Lunenburg and Mecklenburg are the counties most affected at present. There are, however, cases scattered about over other portions of the State. The disease seems to be, according to the State reports, travelling along U. S. Route 1. The location of the cases in Virginia, and the time that they have developed possibly indicates that travel from North Carolina into Virginia, over Route 1, is the source of spread—all the other States surrounding Virginia being practically free from the disease.

As a help to the people as a means of preventing Infantile Paralysis occurring in the county, attention is called to the article dated May 6, 1935, which was distributed by this Department through the schools and newspapers, and headed "A Health Officer's Views on the Beginning Point of Any Safety Campaign."

Avoid trips into infected areas. The mode of transmission is by direct contact with infected persons—including carriers of the virus—or indirectly by contact with articles freshly soiled with nose, throat, or bowel dis-

The fly is possibly the most frequent indirect means of transmission, charges of such person.

A FOURTH OF JULY WARNING CONCERNING INJURIES FROM FIRE WORKS

The dangers of powder wounds are always brought sharply to our attention about the Fourth of July—when the promiscuous use of fireworks is present. Every injury caused by the explosion of fireworks is a potential source of the disease known as tetanus, commonly spoken of as lockjaw. Tetanus, or lockjaw, is a disease that affects the nervous system—the germs of which enter through a wound. Every person injured with a puncture wound, or a wound inflicted by the explosion of powder, should immediately consult a physician.

LOVE AND MYSTERY IN "STAR OF MIDNIGHT"

Love and mystery form an intriguing combination in "Star of Midnight," RKO-Radio's romantic drama, starring William Powell and Ginger Rogers, at the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Monday and Tuesday. Telling a strikingly different type of love story, in which the delectable Miss Rogers, fresh from triumphs in the musical "Roberta," is the pursuer, and Powell the ostensibly wary quarry, the picture deals with a baffling mystery in modern New York's pageant and glitter.

A beautiful woman disappears, a newspaper columnist is killed under strange circumstances, and three different factions undertake the solution of the case . . . each with a separate motive.

Powell and Miss Rogers team as a "Sherlock and Watson" combination in running down clues to the mystery. The two stars, long established among the screen's foremost favorites, appear together for the first time. Although they have worked at the same studios many times and often have acted on adjoining stages, Powell and Miss Rogers were never cast together until RKO-Radio opened the microphones for this intriguing mystery drama.

"Star of Midnight" is based on the serial of the same title, by the late Arthur Somers Roche. It ran recently in the Red Book magazine. Howard J. Green, Anthony Veiller and Edward Kaufman are the scenarists.

STAR GETS HAT

TORN TO PIECES

Cats come back. And so do hats. Ask Carl Brisson, the star of English stage and screen, whom Paramount brought to Hollywood for Earl Carroll's "Murder at the Vanities," showing at the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Wednesday and Thursday.

Just before he left England, Brisson literally was mobbed by enthusiastic admirers. When he finally broke loose, he discovered that his hat had been appropriated by some enthusiastic admirer.

Today he received a package at the studio. In it was his hat—cut into 87 pieces. There was also a letter from an English girls' school asking for his autograph on each of the little bits of felt.

"Murder at the Vanities" features eleven of Earl Carroll's "most beautiful girls in the world" and Victor McLaglen, Jack Oakie, Kitty Carlisle, Duke Ellington and his famous orchestra, and Dorothy Stickney. The screen story, based on the original by Earl Carroll and Rufus King, was directed by Mitchell Leisen.

GEORGE WILLIAM SHIRLEY

The Antioch Baptist Church in Prince William was filled on Sunday, June 23, with the sorrowing friends of George William Shirley, whose body they that day laid to rest beside that of his wife in the Antioch Cemetery. Dr. Chas. T. Herndon of Warrenton conducted the funeral service, assisted by Rev. T. D. D. Clark of Manassas, while W. M. Jordan, Ernest Shirley, Russell Rector, R. R. Smith, R. B. Gossom and Howard Bell acted as pall bearers.

Mr. Shirley was born at Little Georgetown in Fauquier County, February 22, 1851, to James Sydnor and Elizabeth Deneale Shirley. In 1870 he went to Warrenton as an apprentice to Mr. John R. Spilman, and on October 7, 1875, he married Miss Toy Annette Smith, a daughter of the late James and Anne Moore Smith of Hagley.

Returning to Prince William in 1877, Mr. Shirley built Oakshade, the home which he occupied until his death on June 20.

While living in Warrenton, he was baptized into the fellowship of the Warrenton Baptist Church by Dr. J. L. Carroll, later moving his membership to Antioch. In the latter church he served at various times on many committees, as superintendent of the Sunday school, as treasurer of the church, and as a deacon, holding the last office until his death.

Like Stephen, he was a good man and enjoyed the confidence of all who knew him. Modest, seeking no honor for himself, loving his family, a friend of all of his neighbors, helpful in all of the interests of the community, he found his highest joy in the fellowship and service of his Lord. No sacrifice was too great for him to make for his Master or for his church. As a father, husband, friend, citizen, church-member, he was ever faithful, loyal and true.

Like his Master, he was a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief. He laid three of his children, all grown, to rest at Antioch, and also their mother, who had long been his inspiration and joy. These bereavements he bore with Christian fortitude and resignation to his Father's will.

As nearly as any man I have known he seemed to measure up to David's description of a citizen of Zion as set forth in the fifteenth Psalm: "He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart; he that slandereth not with his tongue, nor doeth evil to his friend, nor taketh up a reproach against his neighbor; in whose eyes a reproach is despised, but who honoreth them that fear Jehovah; he that sweareth to his own hurt, and changeth not; he that putteth not out his money to interest, nor taketh reward against the innocent."

Three children remain: Mr. Herman Shirley of Panama, Mrs. Henry Thomas of Arlington County and Miss Margaret at home; also five grandchildren; a brother, Mr. J. W. Shirley of Warrenton, and a sister, Mrs. John T. Simonds of Washington, D. C.

STAR GOES SPARTAN
THREE WEEKS BEFORE
STARTING NEW FILM

For three weeks prior to the production period of his pictures, all based on the immortal stories by James Oliver Curwood, Kermit Maynard, the screen's newest and "scrappiest" star, lives like a Spartan youth of ancient times. He reduces his diet to the minimum requirements and sleeps on a cot in his Hollywood garden. This is to further harden him, he says, for the rough-and-tumble fights and to put a keen edge on his memory in order that he may not fumble the lines of his parts.

"Northern Frontier," Kermit Maynard's newest James Oliver Curwood picture, in which his rugged frame and physical stamina undergo terrific punishment, comes to the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Friday, July 12. It is an Ambassador picture, produced by Maurice Conn.

HOOT LIKES TO TRAVEL FAST

Horses are not the only fast method of locomotion that appeals to Hoot Gibson, the screen's most popular western star appearing in "Sunset Range," a First Division Picture at the Dixie Theatre in Manassas tomorrow.

In addition to the whirlwind riding which features all of his pictures, Hoot is a wizard with mechanical speedsters. He has been a professional race driver with automobiles and motorcycles and at one time did a vaudeville act riding a miniature automobile around the perpendicular bars of a cage on theatre stages.

In later years he has gone in for aviation and his greatest ambition is to become one of America's leading pilots. During the National Air Races in Chicago in 1930, he won the Grand Prize for the Sportsman Pilot Prize contest, against America's leading amateur aviators.

In fact, it was during one of the national races at Mines Field, near Los Angeles, Calif., that Hoot was injured in a plane crash while making a pylon turn, which accident kept him in the hospital for many months. It is only recently that he has fully recovered so that he can handle the strenuous duties which fall to a western star.

Undaunted by almost fatal calamity, Hoot has just ordered a brand new plane with a cruising speed of 230 miles per hour, in which he plans to fly from city to city to meet his engagements at rodeos and state fairs, after he completes his present series of western pictures for First Division.

Supporting Hoot in "Sunset Range," which is claimed to be a new type of western with modern angles and many comedy angles, are Mary Doran, John Elliott, Walter McGrail, James Eagles and Fred Gilman. Ray McCarey directs.

THE WORLD AROUND US

By

O. J. Schuster

REVOLUTIONS need not be bloody affairs. In fact the most effective revolutions are the result of spiritual battles waged in determined intellectual and moral campaigns. Such a revolution is now in progress and is bringing about impressive social and political changes at a wholly unprecedented speed. Whether we like it or not, this revolution will continue as relentlessly as the earth itself moves along in its orbit around the sun. Few people as yet are clearly conscious of the revolutionary changes now in progress. They merely feel the stir of things effected by new forces but have little conception of whether we are going or what we shall find when we arrive.

THE WOMEN OF AMERICA are a powerful force in this revolution. In the last few years they have entered every department of governmental service, including a cabinet portfolio. While they have not yet achieved the presidency or a seat on the bench of the supreme court it is not at all improbable that they will achieve such distinction within the next decade or two. Their rapid progress can only be explained on the basis of actual achievement thru efficient service, and to the clear vision of and devotion to essential human needs possessed by women leaders. These leaders regard politics, not as a game played for selfish ends but as the science of good government. In urging young women to enter politics they impress upon them the importance of thorough and extended preparation for government positions. A study of economics, public health and other welfare work, and a general knowledge of the fundamental sciences are pointed out as essentials in such training. More thorough and extended training in the special service selected should follow. This larger training for political service results in sustained and justified self-confidence, which the women leaders claim is essential for marked achievement.

SUCH ORGANIZATIONS as the League of Women Voters—a non-partisan body that studies issues from all sides and seeks to arrive at unprejudiced decisions regarding persons and policies—have won the respect of the men who managed national and state campaigns of all parties. Recent magazine articles by men of the highest authority credit the women of these non-partisan political organizations with being more efficient, more sincerely interested in the progress of the whole population, more direct and therefore more effective political workers than the men. The women managing these leagues of voters are credited with so condensing and clarifying the verbose literature sent out from party campaign headquarters that their brief printed leaflets were eagerly sought and read by the men as well as women voters because they expressed in simple, plain language the essential issues and showed more interest in public welfare than in party politics. The testimony of the men who have been closely identified with the management of party campaigns indicates that women in politics are, on the whole, more interested in and more devoted to the welfare of the next generation than are the male politicians. Because they insist that party platforms and all other party promises shall be kept whole-heartedly these women are not welcomed by the typical politician of a past age. In spite of such cold reception their numbers are increasing and promise to be an ever larger and larger part in the world around us.

The Stability of Our Times

WE ARE sometimes prone to think that the problems we must face are peculiar to us as individuals or as nations, or to our generation; while, as a matter of fact, the temptations that come to any one individual are common to mankind; and the problems of our age have recurred in differing forms throughout all history. The Bible is replete with stories of how those who trusted in God worked out the same problems which confront us, and this is one way in which the Bible has served to comfort mankind. There is comfort in it now for those who are disturbed over the present apparent overturning of social, economic, and governmental conditions, and who believe the world to be in such a state of upheaval that they have come to wonder if there is anything fixed and stable.

Isaiah, seeing the need of the people's deliverance from evil, gave the assurance, "And wisdom and knowledge shall be the stability of thy times." The Preacher, considering it, arrived at the consolatory conclusion, "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever; nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it." Over and over again the Scriptures assure us that all the good and all the true will endure forever, that what has been established by God is forever stable. Since God's law is fixed and permanent, we have no cause to fear that in this present world-wide upheaval of old traditions we can possibly lose anything that is good and real.

Progress does not create evil, but it does tend to make hidden evil evident; to bring it to the light so that it can be seen for what it claims to be and is not, and thus destroyed. Looking back, perhaps in our own individual lives, and certainly in more recent world history, we can realize that the times when we seemed to have the greatest sense of material peace and satisfaction were not necessarily the times when we were making most progress spiritually. In fact, the very opposite might be said to be the case.

The situation may be likened to the cleaning of a neglected room. A considerable amount of dust may be stirred up in the process, but it is merely being brought to the surface so that it can be swept away. So in the present world-wide experience a great deal of that which is wrong is being brought to the light in order that it may be seen and destroyed. Instead, then, of regretting that we are faced with these problems, we can rejoice in progress. We can be glad that our present time is so peculiarly awake and active. Naturally, if we allow our attention to center on the impurities thus brought to the surface—the on the fear, greed, injustice, and strife which have become so evident—we may become appalled and disheartened; but if we look above the seething surface we shall see clarified, purified conditions being crystallized in thought.

In commenting on the words of God as recorded in Isaiah, "I make peace, and create evil," Mary Baker Eddy has written on page 540 of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures": "The prophet referred to divine law as stirring up the belief in evil to its utmost, when bringing it to the surface and reducing it to its common denominator, nothingness. The muddy river-bed must be stirred in order to purify the stream."

Since the theories of men are never wholly true, and material systems never wholly right, they cannot remain fixed. Constant progression is required. The human mind, however, loves a comfortable rut, and objects to being shoved out of it. It objects to giving up its cherished theories and practices, no matter how outgrown they may be. "Let us alone" is always its plea. But progress demands that we be not let alone.

Instead of deplored the impermanency of material systems, now is the time to rejoice in the permanency of good, in the stability of God's government, Mind's economics, Love's currency. Now should we show forth more stability in all our ways—more stability of character, more stability of purpose, more steadfast reliance on divine Principle. We can stand firm in the truth we know, forever undisturbed by any erroneous testimony from the material senses. Realizing that the all-powerful God is governing His entire creation, we can look for and behold His hand in everything that makes for good.

Let us watch that we are not clinging obstinately to beliefs outgrown, and are not prejudiced and set in our opinions. Turning always to divine intelligence for direction, holding to God as the standard of perfection, we shall not become confused or alarmed. In the present medley of new theories, strange plans, and untried systems we shall be led to distinguish that which most nearly approaches Principle. What Gamaliel stated in the Sanhedrin still provides the comforting test, "If this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to nought; but if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it." —The Christian Science Monitor.

ADEN ENTERTAINS
S. S. CONVENTION

Spring District Meet is Well Attended.

The Brentsville District Sunday School Association met in regular session with the Valley View Church of the Brethren Sunday, June 30.

Convention was called to order by the president, Mr. L. J. Bowman at 10:30 A.M. Scripture lesson was read by F. H. May. Prayer by Elder I. N. H. Beahm. Address of welcome, by which all the substantial crowd was made to feel at home, was given by Elder Davis Nolley.

Response to the above address was made in a very fine way by Elder I. N. H. Beahm. Music was rendered by a group of small girls from Brentsville Union S. S., which was much enjoyed.

Next, an address, "Basic Principles in Teaching," was given by Mr. F. G. Sigman of Manassas followed by an address by W. H. Hale, "The Advantage of a Good Organization." At this time Miss Marjorie Graybill gave a talk on "The Greatest Need of the Sunday School."

All of these addressees were of high order and pointed out many facts and conditions that we need to know to do effective work.

The noon hour was enjoyed by all. The good Valley people made great efforts to care for the needs and pleasure of all.

The afternoon session consisted of a scripture lesson read by Miss Hazel Owens; prayer by Elder G. W. Beahm. Music was given by the Foster sisters trio, followed by a business session, with all schools in the district except one reporting. A substantial offering for the state was given.

The following officers were elected: President, L. J. Bowman; vice-president, F. H. May; secretary and treasurer, F. L. Foster.

The addresses by Rev. O. R. Kerner, Rev. William Wine and C. O. Bittle were all instructive and helpful.

Rev. Minor C. Miller was also present. He addressed the convention and also held an after conference to plan work for the year.

The convention was also honored by having present the sextette from Dunn Loring, Va. These men know the power and value of music and were a great inspiration to the convention.

In all one must be present to get the meaning and value of a great meeting like this one, and even though the house was full it is to be regretted that so few people of the district or county could be present to enjoy and profit by these good things.

Cereal Tips

By Barbara B. Brooks

THE crisp, ready-to-eat cereals can provide a pleasant change from bread crumbs in breading chops, fish, egg plant or other vegetables. You can roll croquettes in crushed corn flakes just as you would in bread crumbs. Sprinkled thickly over the casserole they add both to its eye and appetite appeal.

Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY FRANCES WEEDMAN

Director Hotpoint Electric Cookery Institute

When I bake a cake—even a butter cake—I mix it and then I put it in a cold oven—I close the oven door—I set the temperature control—I turn the switch to bake and leave the range until it is time to take the cake out of the oven.

Revolutionary? Yes. Unheard of? Yes. Successful? Yes.

One step baking we call it, but "miracle" baking is what it really is. "Miracle" baking is made possible only by the magic achievements of the new, modern electric range of "Miracle" one step baking is made possible only by the magic achievements of the new modern electric range of the present time.

Today's Cooking Miracle
Here is a recipe for making and baking a delicious white cake the "miracle" way.

¾ cup butter
½ cups granulated sugar
2½ cups cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt 1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
4 egg whites

Cream the butter, add the sugar and beat well. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together and add alternately with the milk and vanilla extract. Beat the egg whites until stiff and fold into the cake. Pour batter into a well greased, medium-sized loaf pan.

Place cake in a cold electric oven. Set temperature control to 350° F. Turn switch to bake. Bake cake 50 to 55 minutes according to size of loaf pan. Cake is baked sufficiently when it just begins to shrink away from the sides of the pan.
