DREWRY BILL CREATES PARK

Historic Site at Appomattox to Be Restored.

President Roosevelt this week signed the Drewry Bill which creates a Battle Park at Appomattox where General Robert E. Lee surrendered. The new legislation changes the original plan very materially and is along lines now being followed by the Federal Government in commemorating such historic spots.

Originally it had been planned that the Government should erect a great monument here "commemorating a re-united nation," but opposition from the United Daughters of the Confederacy and from the Sons of Confederate Veterans, defeated the original plan which was described by Southerners as merely a commemoration of Confederate defeat. In 1932 a competition among distinguished sculptors resulted in the selection of a design by the National Government which was characterized by the Confederate Memorial Association in Richmond as "an insult to General Lee and to every Southern soldier who fought and died for the Confederate cause."

The outcome resulted in the abandonment by the National Park Service of plans for monuments of stone and bronze in favor of the more widely appreciated project of restoring these historic sites to original condition and building roadways through the park area to permit systematic study and enjoyment of the scenes by the touring public.

Legislation along these lines is said to be meeting the patriotic objections raised by Southern memorial organizations and it is believed that the proposed Manassas Battle Park and similar projects will hereafter be proposed along such lines.

CATHOLIC WOMAN'S CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The Catholic Woman's Club met Tuesday evening, August 13, at the home of Mrs. Mary Pope, at which time the annual election of officers for 1935-36 was held.

Mrs. Robert Bisson was elected president; Mrs. William Compton, vice-president; Mrs. Douglas Merchant, treasurer, and Mrs. William Taylor, secretary.

The retired president, Mrs. Mary Pope, has served faithfully as president of this organization for the past two years. Under her guidance and leadership the club has prospered and benefitted to a large extent, and it is hoped that it will continue to grow as it has in the past.

Due to the increased percentage of infantile paralysis in northern Virginia, the annual Sunday school picnic will not be held.

The Labor Day dance which has been held annually by the Catholic Woman's Club for many years, has been postponed until a later date.

Plans were partially laid for the annual card party and also for an evening of "Irish Melodies" which is promised to be a most interesting and entertaining event of the year.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS FINALLY ENTERS COUNTY

Although the general infantile paralysis situation is becoming much better, Prince William finally developed one case, a fourteen-year-old girl, living near Wellington.

There is no general cause for alarm, however, and the whole situation is due to subside entirely within the next two or three weeks.

The case herein stated is said not to be severe.

RECOVERY COMPLETE FROM SUSPECTED PARALYSIS

We are glad to report that after being kept indoors for three weeks, Master Junior Madert, who was reported as having infantile paralysis in Haymarket, has seemingly completely recovered with no bad effects from the reported epidemic.

And we are glad there has been no other cases reported in our community.

H. H. WALTON TO PROTEST ELECTION

Stating that Mr. Worth Smith was not his campaign manager nor any one else, H. H. Walton, of Louisa County, declares that he will protest the recent Senatorial election in Spotsylvania and Stafford.

Mr. Walton was defeated by 14 votes.

The Kiwanis Club of Manassas will resume its weekly sessions at the Prince William Hotel tomorrow evening. It is anticipated that other organizations will follow suit rapidly and all public functions will be normal in a week or so.

VIRGINIA HERDS RANK HIGH

Annual Value Far Above Average for Whole U. S.

A recent report of the 712 dairy herd improvement associations in the United States with 203,930 cows on test gives an interesting comparison with cows not on test. A comparison of the production of association cows on test in the dairy herd improvement associations in 41 states with that of all milk cows on farms in the United States for the period from 1929-1934 inclusive shows some interesting results. The average milk production for the six years was 7779 lbs. for the association cows and 4345 lbs. for those not on test. The figures on annual production of butterfat for the six years 1929-34 are just as startling. The average for the tested cows was 308 lbs. and for the cows not in the association, 170 lbs.

The benefits of dairy herd improvement are shown in a startling way by the reduction in butterfat production during the six years 1929-1934 of the cows not on test, from 180 lbs. in 1929 to 159 lbs. in 1934. During the same period on the association cows the butterfat production had increased from 298 lbs. in 1929 to 322 lbs. in 1934.

Taking a single year 1934 for comparison with the five-year averages we find that the dairy association cows produced an average of 8,015 lbs. milk and 322 lbs. butterfat while the average for the untested cows was 4,030 lbs. milk and 158 lbs. butterfat. Could anything give a better recommendation for cow testing than these figures?

The United States average means nothing unless compared with production in our State. There are 7,760 cows on test in our Virginia Associations and a comparison with the average for the United States will be interesting. The annual value of the product per cow in Virginia was $195.00 as compared to $143.00, the average for the United States. The annual cost of roughage in Virginia was $39.00 while that for the United States was only $33.00. The cost of grain was also higher than the United States average, being $34.00 while the general average was only $27.00. The total annual feed costs for Virginia was $73.00 while the average for the United States was only $60.00.

The total value of the product above feed cost is the final analysis. In Virginia the total value averaged $122.00 while that of the United States was only $83.00. While in Virginia the total feed cost was $13.00 above the United States average, the value of the product in Virginia was $39.00 over the United States total value.

There were only five states in which the value of the product over feed cost were higher than in Virginia. These were North Carolina—$168.00, New Jersey—$140.00, Massachusetts—$126.00, Connecticut—$125.00, New Mexico—$123.00, and Virginia—$122.00.

Of the 41 state associations, 25 averaged less than $100.00 above the cost of production. Taking it as a whole the associations of Virginia compare favorably with the other associations of the United States.

DANCING OPENS NEW CAREER TO JEAN HARLOW

Jean Harlow has found herself on the threshold of a new career.

Her career thus far has been decidedly metamorphic, carrying her through a series of definite cycles that continue to change the course of her professional life.

First, she was a comedienne in short comedies. From comedies she progressed to exotic, dramatic roles, thence through a cycle of satire, evident in her dynamic performance in "Blonde Bombshell."

And now the platinum star reaches the newest character transformation in the course of her career as a singing and dancing star in her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Reckless," in which she is co-starred with William Powell and which opens next Wednesday at the Dixie Theatre in Manassas.

Supervisor Roland Discusses Labor Complaints

To the Editor of The Manassas Journal.

Would you be kind enough to print the following letter in a prominent place in this week's issue of The Journal?

To the farmers of Gainesville District.

Gentlemen:

There is some very loose talk going around to the effect that the relief work going in this county is depriving the farmer of the labor needed to harvest the crops. Whether this talk is a deliberate attempt to discredit the effort that is being made to help the unfortunate or just the lack of information it is hard to say. In any case it is far from the truth.

For those hampered by the lack of help to harvest their crops, can get relief by co-operating with the Relief Office in Manassas or with the writer instead of complaining and help us find out where the trouble is. There is no shortage of labor in this community. In fact there is more than we have work for, even with the help of the work relief. It seems that some of our employers have ten to twenty days work a year during rush times and that there are only certain men who can do this work. Now then we know that it is quite impossible to make ends meet on twenty days work a year. The relief is trying to help out with the balance of the 345 days.

Mrs. Lewis will be glad to release any relief subject to any employer if he makes his wishes known. And if the said subject refuses to work and insists on remaining idle, a vagrancy warrant will be used to bring him before the court for whatever discipline that it sees fit to administer. We have no place in this community for confirmed loafers and with the support of the public they must go.

C. B. ROLAND.

HUNT CLUB TO DRAW LOCAL ENTRIES

Riding and Hunt Club's third horse show of the summer season is expected to lure a large crowd of Maryland, Virginia and Capital exhibitors and show enthusiasts to the Meadowbrook Saddle Club, located in Rock Creek Park at Chevy Chase, Md., on Saturday afternoon.

Ten highly interesting events have been arranged by Col. Charles L. Scott and Fenton Fadeley and the best horses in this section of the county are expected to be on hand when the meet opens at 1:30 p.m.

Sterling silver prizes are to be presented to the winners in each class, while championship rosettes are to go to the hunter and open jumper scoring the most points in the events arranged for those divisions.

The hunter rosette will be given to the horse accounting for the most points in the corinthian, lead-in, hack and hunter and open hunter classes, while the jumping tri-color is to go to the mount scoring heaviest in the working hunter, manners of horse and balance of rider, open jumping and handy hunter classes.

In addition to the events figuring in the championships Col. Scott and Mr. Fadeley have scheduled an open saddle class and a class for hunters ridden by ladies.

The judges will be John C. Butler, of Rectortown, Va., and Courtland H. Smith, of The Plains, Va.

DR. HAMMOND RESIGNS AT CULPEPER

The Rev. Kensey Johns Hammond, D. D., for 23 years rector of St. Mark's Parish, which includes St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Culpeper, the Colonial Church of Little Fork and the chapel of St. Mark's in the county, has tendered his resignation to the vestry on account of continued ill health, to become effective October 1.

Dr. Hammond, who is a native of Baltimore, and prominently connected throughout Maryland and Virginia, entered the ministry of the Episcopal Church 53 years ago, and in all that time has had only three charges, being first in a missionary field in West Virginia, going from there to Wilmington, Del., where he remained for 23 years, and coming from Washington to Culpeper.

CIRCUIT COURT PROCEEDINGS

Nellie F. Purvis qualified as notary public for four-year term from Aug. 7, 1935.

Macs to Play Falls Church Here Next Sunday

Macs Swamp Arlington by Score of 11 to 2 to Take League Lead.

On Sunday, Aug. 18, the Falls Church team will cross bats with the Manassas A. C. on Swavely field at 3 p.m.

The second half of the Northern Virginia League is close and exciting with Manassas at the top and Ballston, Falls Church and Middleburg in the second place. Next Sunday Falls Church will try to repeat their previous victory over the Macs to tie Manassas for first place. However, the Macs are out to avenge that defeat at the hands of Falls Church and hold onto first place.

It is stated that Tennant of Manassas and Lyons of Falls Church will again be opposing pitchers, the latter having been victorious in the first game at Falls Church, 2-1.

Manassas Scores Nine Runs in 7th and Wins Easily Behind Tennant's Effective Pitching.

A thirteen-hit attack, together with Tennant's effective mound work, enabled the Macs to send the Arlington nine down to a 11 to 2 defeat and run their string of wins to four. Ballston's defeat of Falls Church enabled the Macs to take undisputed possession of first place for the first time this season.

For six innings Tennant and Rice locked horn in a real pitching battle with the former having a slight edge. Over the six-inning stretch, the Macs were able to garner but three hits but these were bunched in the first two innings and were good for a pair of runs. So effective was Tennant that not a runner reached first until one out in the sixth. Jarboe and Rice jolted him for successive singles and Hefflin walked to fill the bases but Heins forced Jarboe at the plate and Snook rolled out to Blackwell to end the inning.

Then came the seventh when the Macs pieced together eight hits, three of which were doubles, a walk and a pair of errors to score nine times and turn the game from a pitchers' battle into a rout.

Tennant opened the inning with a single and after Dreifus fanned, Blackwell reached first on Cooper's error. Saunders' double accounted for one run and Buckner's single added two more. Brenner popped to Russell but Lynn and Vetter followed with singles and when Sheedy's hot grounder went through Russell, C. McPherson replaced Rice in the box for Arlington. Tennant, up for the second time, greeted McPherson with a single to left. A walk to Dreifus and doubles by Blackwell and Saunders raised the total to nine and gave the Macs an eleven-run lead.

Arlington scored twice in their half of the inning. C. McPherson's double with the bases loaded accounting for both runs. Arlington threatened again in the ninth, filling the bases with no outs but Tennant tightened getting Cook on a fly to left, fanning Hefflin and forcing Heins to roll out to Blackwell.

ROBERT WEATHERLY ADAMSON

Dr. Robert Weatherly Adamson, pharmacist of Gaithersburg, Md., and son of Mrs. R. J. Adamson, of Manassas, died suddenly at the home of his mother last Thursday night of an acute heart attack.

Mr. Adamson was born in Manassas May 4, 1888, was a graduate of the Manassas High School and of the Richmond Medical College. He married Miss Thelma Nash on August 27, 1913. In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, Robert W. Adamson, jr., and by his mother, Mrs. R. J. Adamson.

He was a member of Manassas Lodge, A. F. & A. M. and of Acca Temple, Order of Mystic Shrine, Richmond, and also a member of the Methodist Church.

Funeral services were conducted from his mother's home Sunday at 10 a.m., Rev. W. M. Compton officiating and Rev. A. S. Gibson assisting.

The pall-bearers were Dr. George Coker, Dr. Stewart McBryde, Mr. Wilson C. Merchant, Mr. Randolph Brawner, Mr. Warfield Brawner and Mayor Harry Davis. Burial was in the family lot at the Manassas cemetery.

The high esteem in which the deceased was held in the community where he was born and raised was evidenced by the unusually large throng of mourners and by the banks of lovely floral tributes which attested the friendships sustained through his boyhood and mature years.

U.D.C. DISCUSSES APPOMATTOX

Chapter Entertains Guests at August Meeting.

Mrs. E. H. Nash and Mrs. R. A. Hutchison were hostesses to the Manassas U. D. C. Chapter on Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. Hutchison.

Guests present were Mrs. Harry Dugan, president of the Bull Run Chapter, and Miss Bettie Shirley; Mrs. Nora V. Allison, president of the Fairfax chapter, and her daughter, Miss Allison, and Miss Estelle Holden, of Herndon, formerly a member of the hostess chapter.

Mrs. Lomas, president, welcomed the guests, all of whom graciously responded. The chapter learned with regret the illness of a member, Mrs. E.atrix Hawks, who is in the Charlottesville Hospital.

Mrs. Newman, historian, being absent, sent an article to be read regarding the national monument area at Appomattox. The article reported President Roosevelt had signed the bill by Representative Patrick H. Drewry, of Petersburg, authorizing the Government to create a mile and a half monument with $100,000 of Federal funds. The "monument" not to be of stone, but a park, technically called a "monument" by the War College, in its classification of parks established in battlefields.

Mrs. Hibbs read an interesting account of the organization of the chapter, the date being July 21, 1896, with the following members: Mrs. E. E. Meredith, president; Mrs. Thornton Wolfe, Mrs. Alice Trueheart Buck, Miss Effie Nelson, Miss Selina Wolfe, Mrs. J. B. T. Thornton, Miss Lena Taylor, Miss Lillie Hixson, Miss Nellie Clarkston, Miss Fannie Simpson. Mrs. Hutchison read an article from the Southern Magazine by Mr. Eckinrode in regard to Southern Battlefields Parks, and referring hopefully to the Manassas Battlefield Park project.

Mrs. Hibbs told of the C. of C. having planned a program for Liberia, but which had to be called off on account of the paralysis scare.

Mrs. Round sent a most interesting Manassas Journal of May 21, 1897, for the chapter's inspection.

MARRIAGE RECORD

PENSION BILL BECOMES LAW

Roosevelt Signs Social Security Measure.

On Wednesday of this week President Roosevelt signed the Social Security Bill, which is designed to give to thirty millions of citizens of the United States direct benefits through unemployment compensation, old-age pensions, and increased protection for health and measures of protection for children. A huge tax program is provided to raise the necessary funds to carry the legislation into effect. "We have tried to frame a law," the President said in signing the bill, "which will give some measure of protection to the average citizen and to his family against the loss of a job and against poverty stricken old age."

Before the law can be administered the President will appoint a Social Security Board, a new governmental agency of vast ramifications. The greatest tax burden ever imposed by Congress in a single piece of legislation is included in a graduated scale of assessments on employer payroll which reach a rate of 6 per cent by 1949 in addition to a levy of 3 per cent against the workers. It has been estimated that by 1980 the old-age pension reserve fund will have reached a total of forty-six billion dollars, which is more than the present national debt.

The new law represents an attempt on the part of government to prevent the occurrence in the future of such a situation as has occasioned the present huge expenditures for public relief. It is said to be one of the few measures of the present session which represents careful consideration and study by the Congress.

Whether the vast Social Security experiment will prove successful or merely represent another colossal plunge into uncharted seas will not become apparent for many months, or years to come.

JOSEPH SIMMS

Joseph Sims, aged 38, died at Alexandria Hospital, Wednesday, August 14, at 1:30 p.m., after a lingering illness. Mr. Sims had not been well for some months, but his condition did not become alarming until July 10 when it was decided by his physician that he would require hospitalization, and he entered the Alexandria Hospital on the 13th, where a week later it was determined that an operation was imperative to relieve an obstructed jaundice, which was performed by Dr. Fifer, of the surgical staff. Owing to the weakened condition it became necessary for quite a number of blood transfusions to be given, which resulted in a temporary improvement each time, but the correction made in the former operation did not remain permanent, necessitating another operation which was performed on the morning of the 14, which he survived but owing to the weakened condition of his heart, he died about thirty minutes after.

Mr. Sims is survived by his wife, Annie May, of Manassas; his three children, Douglas, 12; Estrella May, 9, and Cynthia Ann, 6. Mr. Sims came to this county as a small boy from Bedford County with the late J. R. Reynolds of Agnewville, who reared him from quite a small boy, he being an orphan child. He has no relatives known of. He spent his childhood in the Agnewville neighborhood and married Annie May Bryant, of Hoadly, Va., who survives him.

Mr. Sims was an expert automobile mechanic and had been in the continuous employ of the Manassas Motor Co., Inc., for the past 12 years where he was held in the highest esteem by his employer and his fellow employees. He was a possessor of an always cheerful and sunny disposition, most accommodating and had a host of friends by reason thereof.

Funeral and interment will be at the Metherall family burying ground near Hoadly, former home of his wife, at 1:30 Friday, August 16.

UNUSUAL PLANT SPECIMEN

Mr. C. W. Holmes, of Catlett, Va., presented us with a remarkable specimen of double cantaloupe. The two cantaloupes were produced on separate flowers on distinct vines but the melons grew together to form a perfect double. The specimen has been photographed as a permanent record and is on exhibition at the Manassas Journal office.

QUIET TALKS ON RELIGION

By
Dr. James T. Marshall

THE BEST TONIC

"The joy of the Lord is your strength." (Nehemiah 8:10). The joy of the Lord is not to be confused with what the world calls joy. It is altogether a different emotion from either fun or pleasure. Only a shallow and flippant person could find fun in partaking of the holy communion or taking part in the public worship of God. To a reverent person these sacred exercises are occasions of the deepest joy. As the sunlight dispels darkness the presence of God dispels all sadness, and a realization of His presence is the source of our strength.

This is true in the physical life. Christians ought to be more healthy and live longer on account of their faith. Religion keeps one from doing things which damage health, makes his conduct pure, destroys harmful emotions such as fear and anger, and produces an inward calm which in itself is a great factor in bodily healing. Every doctor understands the therapeutic value of a cheerful spirit.

The joy of the Lord makes us more efficient in the performance of our daily tasks. The man who sings at his work will do his work better and do it with less fatigue. The real purpose in placing a band at the head of the procession is not to entertain the onlookers but to enliven the spirits of the marchers and prevent weariness on their part. The drug-ery is taken out of our daily work as soon as we remember that "we are laborers together with God." We are in His presence when we work as truly as when we worship, and in His presence there is always fullness of joy.

The joy of the Lord makes us strong in our struggle with the trials of life. You can put men like Paul and Silas in the dungeon but you cannot prevent them from singing praise unto God. Such men are invincible. This joy is one of the fruits of the Spirit and rightfully belongs to every child of God.

We would all talk less about our discouragements if we would step aside occasionally from the confused activities of our lives and sit down quietly and recharge our spirits with the joy of the Lord. Edmund Sears' Christmas hymn has a stanza which is applicable to everyday of the year, "And ye beneath life's crushing load Whose forms are bending low, Who toil along the climbing way With painful steps and slow, Look now! for glad and golden hours Come swiftly on the wing; O rest beside the weary road And hear the angels sing."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Spirit" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 11.

The golden text was "He that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting" (Galatians 6:8).

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance; against such there is no law. And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts" (Galatians 5:22-24).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man walks in the direction towards which he looks, and where his treasure is, there will his heart be also. If our hopes and affections are spiritual, they come from above, not from beneath, and they bear as of old the fruits of the Spirit" (p. 451).

Reeves, became the bride of Mr. Joseph W. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner King, of Wellington. Reverend Ridgeway performed the ceremony.

The church was very attractively decorated with potted plants and ferns.

The bride was very pretty in a white satin dress with hat and gloves to match. She carried Johnson Hill roses and delphiniums.

Mrs. Leona Langdon, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a yellow organdy dress with hat to match and carried a bouquet of talisman roses.

Miss Lillie Edmonds played the wedding march. Mr. Sinclair Boatwright sang "I Love You Truly." He was accompanied by Miss Virginia Speiden. Miss Thelma Orndoff was flower girl. Mr. Oliver Reeves acted as best man.

CATHARPIN

Catharpin did not do much last week in the way of making news. The hot weather seemed to have precluded everything except observance of the infantile paralysis quarantine. It took us a long time to comprehend the mathematical formula for computing majorities, but we think we understand it now since the county as a whole seems to have operated on very small margins. We had always been used to big things before and had forgotten that, oft times, it is the little things that count most. At any rate we are now settled for another four years and may prosperity prosper.

The Alvey quartette, Jack, Hampton, Lynn and Robert, have all been under the weather during the past week and mostly confined to their rooms. Hampton with a very painful boil under his knee and the others variously suffering from indigestion and kindred troubles. All are convalescing much to the relief of all concerned.

Mrs. W. S. Brower has been confined to her room for some days suffering the aches and pains from a rheumatic source. She, too, is feeling much better as we write but still enjoys the comforts of the pillows.

Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Beard, a former pastor of Sudley, visited that Old Shrine on Sunday morning last but found it closed, thus realizing the power of quarantine. They came on to Oakwood where they spent the day and returning to their camp over on the Shenandoah river in the evening. The Beards are on their annual vacation and are tenting on the banks of this famous river, fishing, swimming, entertaining and being entertained, thus giving the South Roanoke congregation a vacation also. The Beards, as usual, are getting along fine, look well and working hard.

We often see notices in the papers these days about the "nudest" colonies and how they fight to maintain their "right" to exist. To many of us this is almost beyond comprehension, since from the time Adam and Eve started out on their honeymoon, people have been in the habit of wearing clothes; and as the different periods in the world's history have rolled along, we find the matter of raiment has always claimed a very prominent place in the minds of mankind generally. At first it appears that "style" as we know it today, was an unknown quantity. From the Neanderthal Period for many years onward, clothing was a matter of protection or convenience and it did not matter much just how it was fastened to the body just so the wearer was protected from the heat or cold or from the jabs of his enemy's spear. Climate also influenced his choice of garment and ranged from the figleaf in the Garden of Eden to bear skins in the colder zones of the earth; all being governed by the time, the place and the man.

However, after many years of experiment and development, mankind got on the highway to civilization and later on reached another "zone" in his pathway which we are pleased to call "enlightenment." Of course during these periods of transition from the brutal, savage state to the present day, much had taken place, which if we could-but know, would probably be the most interesting piece of literature ever written; but through it all, the people always needed clothing and this clothing ranged all the way from "Nudism" in the tropics, up through the different zones of temperature with consequent increase in wearing apparel until he reached to Polar regions where nothing but the heaviest furs and skins would suffice.

We find that in his later periods of development, mankind was not just content to be comfortable only, but in his comfort he began to have an eye for the beautiful; he began to hang strings of animal teeth around his neck, strung on strips of bark, and the more he had of these the higher his appreciation of himself became; so it appears, that away back there some place, "style" came into vogue though he knew not just what to call it, but he had it and it has continued to increase in its intensity, quantity and quality from that time on across the centuries up to the moment you are reading this. So then it is "style" that confronts us, both during our waking hours and in our dreams; style—that ever predominating influence which it is claimed, has caused more financial distress to mankind than all else put together.

Now then, just what is "style"? Well, you will have to help answer. What is it that compels a woman to wear 3-inch-high heels on her shoes? Why does she discard a perfectly good garment, when by edict, some designer declares it 2" too short or 2" too long? Why does she get a new hat so frequently? Why does she wear short sleeves one time and long ones another? Why must you not use the knife to feed oneself at the table? Why do women wear furs on a hot summer's day? Why do men crease their trousers? Why must they have four buttons on the sleeve where buttons are not needed? Why do they wear a handkerchief in their upper left-hand coat pocket? Why do they wear "spike-tail" coats when shorter ones or none at all would be more comfortable? Why do ladies discard the entire backs of their dresses? Why do they wear great, long trains when short skirts would be so much easier manipulated? Why do men and women have to have certain kinds of suits for certain occasions? and so on ad infinitum? Well all we can say about it all is that it must be to conform to that innate something in our natures which impels us to do things we don't want to do; things that we know are overt, out of reason and oft times beyond our means, yet we do it anyway if for no other reason than to "keep up with the Joneses" even though we know the "Joneses" are on the way to bankruptcy.

Style—did you say? Well what of the nudists? They wear no clothes at all hence are not bothered with such things; probably just trying to be comfortable and saving on the pocketbook, or is it notoriety they are after just like the balance of us? When we analyze some of our most stylishly dressed ladies, how much of them may be classed as "nude"? Not long ago at a function when a stylishly dressed lady was retreating, an observer remarked: "They might call her stylishly dressed but to me it looks like stylishly undressed." So now the case is before you and you are the jury. Decide it to your own satisfaction, but call it what you may, style is the most expensive thing to keep up with that man ever fell heir to and about 99 per cent of the people are unable to follow it in all its ramifications. Yet how many of us try to do it?

We were delighted recently to receive a letter from Mr. C. E. Jordan, who is now convalescing among friends in Charlottesville, Va., and who never tires in his devotion to Home and Country. He is a constant reader of The Journal and sometimes commends this column for its sentiment along various lines and sends us the following little poem by Longfellow—Ship of State—which he thinks "should strengthen the faith and patriotism of all who read it." It is therefore with much pleasure that we pass it on for publication. As will be remembered, Mr.

Jordan is one of Haymarket's oldest and most respected citizens and business men of other years and this little message from him will be appreciated by all.

SHIP OF STATE

"Thou too all on, O Ship of State!
Sail on O Union, strong and great!
Humanity with all its fears,
With all its hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on its fate!
We know what Master laid the keel,
What Workmen wrought thy ribs of steel,
Who made each mast and sail and rope,
What anvils rang what hammers beat,
In what a forge and what a heat
Were forged the anchors of thy hope!
Fear not each sudden sound and shock,

'Tis of wave and not the rock,
'Tis but the flapping of the sail,
And not the rent made by the gale!
In spite of rock and tempest roar,
In spite of false lights on the shore,
Sail on nor fear to breast the sea,
Our hearts our hopes are all with thee,
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers,
Our tears
Our faith triumphant over fears
Are all with thee, are all with thee."

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

PERFECT GUIDANCE:
Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths.—Proverbs 3: 5, 6.

JUDGING AND BEING JUDGED

A lady died some time ago in a midwestern city, and it was remarked of her that she never said an unkind thing about any of her neighbors and friends. She had strong opinions, but when it came to discussing the personalities of her home town, she disliked to condemn them with harsh words. She was apt to find mitigating circumstances for people's mistakes. The result was that she had many friends, and people would follow her leadership, and she was thus able to accomplish many useful things.

We can all name other people who are more critical. They almost feel that it is kind of duty to pass judgment on their neighbors. But frequently, it happens that though they condemn others unsparringly, yet they have pet faults of their own to which they cling.

The person who goes through life treating everybody fairly and squarely is the most powerful influence for good that there can be. He is far more effective than someone who is always calling for condemnation on the faults of others.

The trouble with condemning other people is that we do not know the temptations and difficulties under which they labor, nor do we know the whole story of their acts. When people do wrong, life usually punishes that we must organize sentiment against them.

It is not desirable to justify people when they do clearly dishonest or immoral things. But if people would learn to speak kindly of each other, bitter personal feuds would be saved, and people could work together more harmoniously for the general good.

Editors, Manassas Journal.

Dear Sirs:

For the past 35 years I've returned for summer vacations to my old home near Haymarket. I'm back this summer from Gary, Indiana. I came expecting to find Prince William and Haymarket participating in our Federal Govt. program or road building which promised to get Manassas and Haymarket "out of the mud." Instead I find nothing being done. The Carolina Road through Haymarket and the roads leading into Manassas from north and south—unfit for auto use for six months of the year—and at all times with the first rainfall.

The failure of local and state governments in Virginia to have these road building programs under way is an indication of the poor leadership Virginia has had in the matter of representation in the State Capitol and at Washington.

When we in Indiana read of your Congressman and Senators Glass and Byrd voting in Congress with Republican reactionaries (and Huey Long) to defeat our President's relief measures and provision for work to the unemployed, it is no surprise to me to come here and find Glass, Byrd, Smith and the others doing nothing in the matter of assisting my family to get a decent road built—my relatives about Haymarket unable to have mail deliveries a whole week at a time on account of impassable roads.

Senator Glass has announced that he will again ask the Democrats of Virginia to send him to the Senate. Senator Byrd, I suppose, claims to represent Virginia as a Democrat. I feel that it should be helpful to both of them to be advised how my relatives in upper Prince William feel about matters. And confidentially I can say to them that out in Indiana folks have rather a sneaky suspicion that your Senators are more often solicitous of "the rich" than they are of our relatives who live on mud roads or of the poor who ask for work, and a chance to live.

Please publish my letter. I think it will do some good. Make people think. Also make those who oppose our President in his relief measures know of the way some people feel about those members of the administration, who through their voice and vote in Congress have given aid to the Republicans—and those who would attempt to interfere when the battle was on and human life at stake.

Sincerely yours,

EMMET N. WHITE,

Juvenile Judge of Lake County, Ind.

The young couple will make their home in Haymarket.

A CARD OF APPRECIATION

I take this opportunity to acknowledge my gratitude for all the many expressions of sympathy and kindnesses from those who have come to me in my hour of need, and especially to the many persons who contributed blood in an effort to save my husband's life, and also to those who offered to give of the same to him. ### RHODES DETERMINES TO STOP RECKLESSNESS

Deputy Motor Vehicle Commissioner, John Q. Rhodes, in response to popular demand and to offset the increasing number of terrible accidents on the Jefferson Davis Highway, has posted his men from Petersburg to Washington, operating at ten-mile intervals from 12:00 to 12:00. The entire force is carefully checking all heavy loaded vehicles that are going much over forty-five miles; is taking up speeding drivers of all types of vehicles, and those who carelessly pass other cars at points where it is plainly dangerous to do so, and other forms of reckless driving.

This special highway control situation will be kept up with constant vigilance until the situation is brought within bounds. The Prince William County section is being patrolled partly by Officer James W. Clarke who works from Accotink south and partly by the deputies who are operating northward from Quantico and Stafford. Local police are giving their aid and co-operation at all points along the line.

Four long years ago today
Since my darling boy was called away
To dwell up in heaven above
Where all is peace and joy and love.

Another sad year has ended,
Another sun has set
On the grave of my little darling,
The one I'll never forget.

With every ounce of mother's love
God has given me.
I'll cherish your image in my heart
Till God has called for me.

VELOZ, YOLANDA NAME
NEWEST "VIOLA WALTZ"

Dancing America soon will be whirling and gliding in the alternately languorous and cyclonic rhythms of a new waltz, just originated by Veloz and Yolanda, reputed to be the highest paid team of ballroom dancers in the world.

Called by them "The Viola Waltz," the dance is introduced in the Paramount film, "Many Happy Returns," coming to the Dixie Theatre in Manassas next Monday, in which they are featured with Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians and George Burns and Gracie Allen.

"This dance is modern in that we pattern it after the latest thing in automotive design—airflow lines, knee-action springiness, balanced power and weight, and controlled speed," says Veloz, male member of the team.

"In this dance every movement of the waltz, fox-trot and tango is combined. It ranges from slow walks to fast whirling lifts, but always grace and poise are the things emphasized.

"The Viola Waltz" should be accomplished by the movement of the head, shoulders, arms and upper body. The steps taken by the feet are incidental but rhythm is a matter of arm and shoulder movement. That movement should be counter to the rhythm of the orchestra. The feet only "keep time."

A NOVEL OF THE OLD SOUTH

By H. J. Eckenrode

The story of Buck Musgrave, Southern gentleman, who devoted himself, before the Civil War, to the serious pursuits of life, particularly horse-racing, cock-fighting and hard drinking. The searing changes which the War brought to this son of the Old South, and his changed outlook in the Reconstruction period are presented with dramatic force.

The author is State Historian of Virginia. He knows and understands the people of whom he writes, and he treats of the Musgraves as well as the "poor whites" with honesty and vigor. The manners and customs of the time just before and after the Civil War are presented from a fresh viewpoint in this fine novel of the life, loves and adventures of Buck Musgrave, who betrayed his traditions, but found a renewed and finer life under a new code.

HISTORIC FAIRFAX COURT- HOUSE TO BE REMODELED

The interior of the old historic Fairfax Courthouse is to be remodeled. For the past five years a movement to have much needed repairs and furnishings provided has been under way. Recently new impetus has been given the project by the efforts of the Fairfax Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Garden Club of Fairfax. Indorsed by Judge Walter T. McCarthy of the County Circuit Court, the plan has now been approved by the County Board of Supervisors who appointed Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson Farr and Deputy County Clerk John Whalen as a committee to have the work done at once.

The interior of the old courtroom is to be redecorated. The uncomfortable chairs now used by the jury, counsel and court officials are to be removed and new, comfortable, revolving chairs will be purchased. The collection of interesting portraits and paintings of men famous in the annals of Fairfax County will be cleaned and rehung under the supervision of a committee of women from Fairfax clubs. Among these is the portrait of Thomas Lord Fairfax after whom the county is named and that of the illustrious George Washington, a copy of a Stuart portrait. A passageway will be cut leading from the county office building to the courtroom. This will mean that entrance can then be made into the courtroom without passing through the private office of the judge or between the judge's bench and the jury box.

At the right of the judge's bench part of the counsel table will be cut away, and the witness chair will then be placed in a position nearer the jury and counsel. The advantage of this change can easily be seen. More space will also be allotted to members of the bar. Certain repairs will be made to interior walls and sills which are badly in repair of attention. The funds needed to make all these repairs and improvements will be taken from the General County Fund by authority of the County Board of Supervisors.

This project of remodeling the old courthouse brings to mind many interesting incidents connected with this building. It is said that very little change has been made in the interior of the building since it was erected. Since 1800 Fairfax Courthouse has been the county seat. Previous to that it had been moved from Vienna to several other points in the county. Begun during the last year of George Washington's life, the court house, which was to play such an active part during the war days of the sixties, was used for the first time by the January Court of 1800. Rumors still persist that Mr. Washington made a couple of trips to the courthouse during its construction.

All school children of Fairfax County know that Mr. Washington's original will, written by his own hand, may be seen now where it hangs on the wall in the Clerk's office in the court house. Dated July 9, 1799, at Mt. Vernon, the Washington will was offered for probate on January 20, 1800. On June 21, 1802, the will of Martha Washington was offered for probate. The records of the county, organized in 1742, contain other interesting facts and documents.

During the War Between the States, while the federal armies occupied the little village of Fairfax, the old courthouse was the scene of many wartime activities. It was used as a hospital, as troop headquarters, and in the cupola the northern army located a lookout looking in the direction of Centreville. At the top of the building too there was a telegraph station. The story is still told by some of the town's "old-timers" that when a report was sent from this telegraph office to President Lincoln in Washington to the effect that a brigadier-general and twelve army mules had been carried off in a Confederate raid, the reply came back over the wires, "How unfortunate. Those mules cost us two hundred dollars apiece."

A number of trials have been held in years past in the old courtroom which attracted unusual attention. One was the Boersig murder trial which ended in the sentence of electrocution. Previous to that there was the trial of Jim Lewis, a negro, charged with criminal assault on an aged white woman. At the time the verdict was given for hanging, it is reported there was a mob present in the court room. Recently an old resident of the county told one of the courthouse officials that he was present on that day. He said he was a very young boy and had come to town with his father. At noon he had gone out and bought some cakes. Working his way back through the crowd, he ate his cakes out of the bag. When he had finished, boy-like, he blew up the bag, and not realizing what a disturbance he would create, he hit the bag with his fist. With a bang that sounded like the explosion of a cannon, he said, the bag burst to his consternation, the fright of the prisoner who, despite his chains, rose high in his chair, and to the amusement of the crowd.

The old courthouse at Fairfax is surrounded by tradition and history which should be preserved for future generations. The repairs authorized by the County Board of Supervisors are much needed and the citizens of the county may well be pleased that the Board is taking this step to preserve and improve this interesting old landmark.

Have you read the Clark and Arrington History of Prince William County? Every citizen who takes pride in local institutions should possess a copy of this charming book, which is on sale for 40 cents at the office of the Prince William County School Board, Manassas, Va., or will be sent postpaid for 50 cents.
