YOUNG DEMOCRATS CONTINUE ACTIVE

A very interesting and instructive meeting of the Young Democratic Club of Prince William County was held last Friday night at the Court House. The meeting was presided over by Mr. William T. Sweeney, vice-president.

Mr. R. C. L. (Dick) Moncure, president of the Falls Church Club, was present, and gave a very helpful and interesting resume of his club's history, and of the methods employed in increasing membership and raising funds to carry on their political, social, civic and athletic activities. He explained how they co-operate with the Parent-Teacher Association and stated they had sponsored bas the l. basketball and boxing teams, and iastalled a furnace and athletic equipment in their school gymnasium.

Senator John W. Rust was a guest of the club, and introduced Hon. Chas. H. Brough, former Governor of Arkansas, who is now Chairman of the District of Columbia-Virginia Boundary Committee.

Governor Brough extolled the vi tues of his native state and delighted the club with his witty remarks about that great baseball trio, "Dizzy and Daffy" Dean, and "Schoolboy" Rowe, all of whom he knew personally back in Arkansas

In appreciation of Governo Brough's fine address and Senator Rust's interest in the Prince William Young Democratic Club, it was voted that they both be made honorary members for life.

In an effort to build up the club and increase membership, it was voted to hold regular meetings at various places in the county, and appoint precinct committeemen to take care of the arrangements for such meetings

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the club at the Court House on Wednesday, October 23, at 8 o'clock.

FESTIVAL PARADE SCENIC DISPLAY

The Fifth Piedmont Festival pass ed into history last Friday with the plaudits of Northern Virginia and Washington City.

The parade was certainly as good as any which we have had and both the arrangement and mangement of the procession reflected unusual credit on the festival organization.

The line-up of the parade last week was followed very closely and effectively. The Journal hopes to produce some photographs in the near future showing several views of the procession, whose most interesting features were made possible by the co-operation of our laboring counties.

Probably the most intensive representation was from Culpeper County which had two marching contingents, a band and fire apparatus.

The early morning saw the second annual dairy judging contest in which approximately a hundred boys took part. Nokesville, Manassas and Fairfax captured the first three prizes respectively. Other individual herewith.

OBSERVATIONS ON HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENTS

The primary patrolmen are No. 1, F. S. Mohler; Patrol No. 2, L. Harvey; Patrol No. 3, E. Burke; Patrol No. 4, E. DeGrange. Of these Mr. Frank Mohler has the largest mileage, something less than 40 miles. The others average fifteen miles. The patrols, numerically speaking, start in the north end of the county without regard to magisterial district lines and reach across the county with boundaries adjusted to equalize as far as practical the work and the mileage. All of this has required the consistent study and constant sensitiveness to necessary change and improvements in the work and its setup.

Comparatively speaking, little had been done by the State for the sec-ondary roads prior to July 1, 1934. Since that time the county has witnessed such construction work as the John Marhall Highway from Gainesville through the Gap, and the erection of several splendid bridges and numerous items of change in grade and alignment that have actually made it possible for the local people to travel under conditions where they could not before.

It would be difficult to list all of the many advantages which accurate booking has been possible for the county. Few people may realize that our local engineer, while more busied in guarding our less fortunate roads, is a concrete designer of unusual ability.

Most of us can remember in the scope of only a few years past when we have been trying almost any type of concrete that could be put together and turned out in a mixer. More recently has it become evident to students of structural engineering that mathematics enters to even a finer degree in the design of con-crete than the earlier road builders could imagine.

If one will notice on his next trip to Washington the two-mile cut-off of concrete north of Fairfax which has now been in use for about three years that there are comparatively few of the distress signs which would appear in concrete roads of less age in the past.

This road, with its comparatively narrow section, gets all of the heavy thumping of the combined traffic of Lee-Jackson and the Lee

In short the same advice might be given to the visitors to the Piedmont tween festivities and get a better idea of what is being done.

By way of forecasting some of the results that may be expected by the first of July next year we may, in conclusion, briefly sum up what was done between July 1, 1934 and July miles of road were constructed, con-"spot work" by engineers, were imfaced or resurfaced with local materials; 8.6 miles were treated with bituminous surface; 61.93 miles of weak places, or what is termed as "spot work" by engineers, was im-proved, making a total of 93.81, all of which is in the secondary system. In addition to this five other bridges were constructed with a total length of 120 feet and one with a total length of 238 feet. Six other bridges were repaired with a total of 159 feet and four steel bridges with a

CONFERENCES

District "H" of the Virginia Education Association, which is the northern Virginia district, will hold conferences in Leesburg Friday and Saturday, October 18 and 19. Since all teachers are required to attend these meetings, the public schools in Fairfax County will be closed on Friday, October 19. This is an annual conference for the purpose of considering improved methods of the revised curriculum and the meetings are divided into selective groups.
