ANNUAL RED CROSS DRIVE

Rev. DeChant Announces Organization Plans.

Organization plans are nearing completion for the annual Red Cross Roll Call which begins Nov. 11. A mass meeting of county workers will be held in the Town Hall on Friday at 2:30 under the direction of the roll call chairman, Rev. DeChant. Mrs. Fannie B. Ingraham and Mrs. Mary Krimball, volunteer Red Cross workers from Washington, will speak. Workers have been appointed in every district of the county. The work of the Red Cross will be described by speakers in the district high schools as the Roll Call drive opens.

In 1934 Prince William stood 63rd among the 117th chapters in the State. The committee has set a goal of 640 memberships for 1935, the attainment of which will lift the local chapter to a much higher position. In order to reach this goal membership quotas were assigned to the districts of the county as follows: Brentsville, 100; Coles, 20; Dumfries, 150; Gainesville, 50; Manassas, 270; Occoquan, 50.

The chairman pointed out that only fifty cents of every membership is sent to National Headquarters. Thus a $5.00 membership means that $4.50 remains in the county for the use of the local chapter. He emphasized that the local Red Cross is organized on a strictly volunteer basis. Chapter officers, membership solicitors and other workers serve without pay. Miss M. Sabina Neel, the county nurse, who devotes her entire time to nursing activities among the needy, is the only paid worker in the county. To follow her on her daily round is to be amazed at the amount of health work that can be accomplished by one qualified person. Every dollar that you contribute to the Red Cross pays real dividends in health. County health authorities say that the work of the nurse has prevented the spread of contagious diseases that otherwise would have played havoc with our people. This is only one feature of her work, yet it alone is worth all it costs to maintain the county nurse.

The committee is having posters made in the public schools which will depict the wide variety of activities constantly carried on by the Red Cross, such as public health nursing, in which Virginia leads all the Southern States; disaster relief; accident prevention; first-aid training; life-saving and water safety. Franklin D. Roosevelt has rightly said: "Wherever people suffer the Red Cross responds to the call with help and comfort. The Red Cross is not sectional, it is not even national, it favors no race and no creed but goes forth in the face of any obstacle with the sole purpose of relieving human distress."

CLUB LEADERS TO PLAN PROJECTS

The 4-H club leaders of Prince William County will meet on Tuesday, October 29, to make plans for the new year's work. The 1935 project year ends with the achievement program which is being held on October 26, the 1936 year will begin the first of November.

Leaders who have not had experience in 4-H club work are meeting at the P. O. Assembly Room at 10 o'clock on the morning of the twenty-ninth to study club organization.

A part afternoon will be devoted to a study of the room improvement project in which plans will be made for adapting it to the needs of the various communities and different age groups. An interesting feature of the afternoon's program will be a round table discussion on "Problems of the Adolescent" which will be led by Rev. John DeChant.

Among the matters of business interest to come up at this meeting is the election of officers for the County Leaders' Organization. The present officers are as follows: Mrs. E. W. Thompson, Occoquan, president; Mrs. John Sweeney, Haymarket, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Linton, Hayfield, secretary; Mrs. John Clark, Haymarket, song leader; Mrs. Geo. Simpson, Occoquan, recreation leader.

FATHER TEARNEY

Right Rev. Monseigneur Edward M. Tearney, V. F., for twenty-five years pastor Holy Cross Church, Lynchburg, Va., died October 12. Monseigneur Tearney was the oldest priest in Richmond Diocese. He was the first resident pastor of St. James Church, West Falls Church.

EUGENE B. GIDDINGS

Following an invalidism of many years, Mr. Eugene B. Giddings, formerly prominent in the business and social life of Manassas, died yesterday, the anniversary of the day on which his partner, the late Mr. Humphrey Hibbs, was buried.

Entering business here some thirty-five years ago the two partners had formed one of the most congenial and effective association of personalities that had ever engaged in a large business enterprise in the community and the passing yesterday of the surviving partner of the well-known firm was the occasion of widespread sorrow.

Mr. Giddings was born at Lucketts, near Leesburg. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Kathleen C. Giddings, who is the sister of Hon. C. A. Sinclair, treasurer of Prince William County. The surviving children are Mrs. Eloise Alpaugh of Manassas and Mrs. Mary Gill of Orange. A number of relatives reside in Leesburg and in Washington.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday, October 25, at Trinity Church, Manassas, where Mr. Hibbs formerly was vestryman. Rev. A. Stuart Gibson will officiate. Interment will be at Leesburg.

JUDGE TYLER DIES IN OHIO

Was Related to President Tyler and a Native of Prince William.

Judge Harry Taylor Tyler, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, of Belmont County, Ohio, and formerly of Prince William County, Va., died suddenly at his home in Bellaire, Ohio, Sunday afternoon, October 20.

Judge Tyler, the fifth son of the late Captain Robert H. Tyler and Sallie S. Tyler, was born near Hickory Grove, Prince William County, Va., March 20, 1871.

He received his education at the Hickory Grove public school, near his home; Bethel Military Academy, near Warrenton, Va.; the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va.; Georgetown College, Georgetown, Ky.; and Richmond College, Richmond, Va., where he graduated in law, with high honors, taking all of the law courses in one year, and at the same time winning a prize of a valuable set of law books, awarded for outstanding work.

He settled in Bellaire County, Ohio, where he practiced his chosen profession of the law, with such success, that about five years ago he was elected Judge of the Court of Common Pleas by a tremendous majority over the incumbent, who had already received the nomination in a normally Republican county. His career as a jurist, while comparatively brief, entitled him to the high encomiums pronounced on him by the attorneys practicing before him, regardless of party affiliation.

He married Margaret McGregor, of Bellaire, Ohio, who, together with two children, George G. Tyler, an attorney of New York City, and Eleanor Tyler, of Bellaire, Ohio, survive him. He is likewise survived by the following brothers and sisters: Robert C. Tyler, Absarokee, Mont.; Bailey Tyler, Hickory Grove, Va.; Benjamin C. Tyler, Palmyra, N. Y.; George G. Tyler, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Prince William County; Misses Mary A. Tyler, Caroline C. Tyler, Edmonia N. Tyler, Matilda G. Tyler, and Mrs. Grayson Tyler.

Judge Tyler had a splendid heritage on both sides of the house. On his father's side, he was related to the late John Tyler, former president of the United States, and to the late John W. Tyler, Judge of the Judicial Circuit. His mother was a daughter of the late Benjamin Chinn, of Richmond County, Va., and through her he was a cousin of Justice Joseph W. Chinn, of Warsaw, Va., now of the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia.

The interment was at Bellaire, Ohio, Oct. 22, 1935.

CONSECRATION AT BALTIMORE

A large gathering of Bishops and Clergy witnessed the consecration. Father John A. Ryan, of Manassas, was in attendance.

KIWANIS HEAR CONVENTION REPORT

The Kiwanis Club at its regular meeting last week debated on further ways and means of raising capital for the underprivileged child work.

The club also had the pleasure of listening to a splendid report made by Col. Hutchison who was the club's sole delegate at the Danville convention last week and who maintained the immaculate record of perfect representation which the club has had since its existence.

At the end of the business session a very enjoyable program was presented. Mrs. Newman welcomed those present, and Mr. Peters, principal, gave a short talk. Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson gave two readings in a very interesting manner which Miss Borchard sang and gave a violin solo.

This meeting will be for the purpose of stimulating interest in the club and securing new members, as well as for formulating definite plans for future action. Short talks will be made by several of the members of the club outlining the purposes and history of the Young Democratic Clubs. Talks will also be made by older members of the Democratic party.

This meeting will be open to the public and all are invited to attend, particularly the young residents of the county. Refreshments will be served and a very pleasant evening is anticipated. Don't forget the date—Thursday, October 31.

X-RAY CLINIC AT MANASSAS

Advice Given to T.B. Sufferers.

At the tuberculin and X-ray clinic held in Manassas October 7 to 11, fifty-one children and sixteen adults were examined by the State specialist. Twenty-three children showed a positive reaction to the tuberculin test and forty-nine cases were X-rayed. The reports of the examinations have been sent to the referring physicians and all positive and suspicious cases advised to consult their family physician for advice and treatment. Seven were recommended to the State sanatoria. Most of the children were recommended for improved nutrition and good general care at home.

Doctors claim that it is easier to get well at a sanatorium because people at home do as they please and not as the doctor advises. The advice of the family doctor, if followed out in the home, is just as effective as the advice of a doctor at a hospital. People with tuberculosis should realize this when they must remain at home with the disease, act sensibly and obey the doctor. Medicine is not needed. Plenty of rest, good food and fresh air will work the cure if they begin soon enough.

GIRL SCOUTS OFF TO NEW START

The Girl Scouts have gotten well under way for what seems to be their busiest year.

A project of much interest to the girls is the adoption of a first grade child. They have geared to take the responsibility of feeding and clothing the little boy for one school year. Each girl scout will take one week and prepare a lunch every day suitable for a child of that age. Much pleasure is being shown in this project.

The Scouts came forward in their ever ready manner and mended quite a few of worn library books in Bennett School. They devoted one meeting to this work.

BUCKLEY HEADS FAIRFAX DEMOCRATS

Robert R. Buckley, of Clifton and Fairfax, last night was reelected chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee for a two-year term, beginning January 1.

Buckley, who became chairman about 18 months ago, succeeding Commissioner of the Revenue James U. Kincheloe, resigned, has been a lifelong Democrat and resident of the county. He is a former chairman of the Board of Supervisors, and has for years been identified with the civic activities of the county.

DR. PAYNE URGES ELECTRIFICATION

Discussion at Haymarket Increases Public Interest.

Rural electrification was the principal topic of discussion at the meeting of the Gainesville district of the Manassas-Prince William County Chamber of Commerce, which was held at Haymarket, Tuesday evening.

Dr. Wade C. Payne, who presided, stated that from reports that he had received from various parts of the district, there was a great need for electricity in the rural sections of the county. Frank Cox, county agent, spoke on the subject and stated that his office had made a survey for the Virginia State Corporation Commission some time ago and that this information was placed in the hands of the Commission but as yet no action had been taken. Rev. W. L. Carpenter, master of the Bull Run Grange, reported that his organization had also made a survey of the proposed lines and that this information was now available. Mr. J. W. Alvey also reported that some work had been done at Catharpin along this line.

A number of those present discussed the proposed electrification and a committee was appointed to work with representatives from the Bull Run Grange in securing the necessary information from the Rural Electrification Administration at Washington as to just what action need be taken to begin this project.

The people of Gainesville district have displayed an unusual interest in the work of the Chamber of Commerce and a committee will be named within the next few days to make arrangements for a membership drive in the district during November.

CHAMBER URGING SURFACING OF ROUTE 234

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Manassas-Prince William County Chamber of Commerce it was decided to petition the State Highway Commission to take some definite action on the matter of relocation and hard surfacing Route 234. Within the next week or ten days a petition will be presented to the tax payers of the county for their signature and everyone interested in having this road placed in travelable condition is urged to support this movement.

While this road is a part of the primary system the Highway Commission has shown no disposition to make any improvement and it is the opinion of a majority of the citizens in Prince William County that this work should be done at once.

With the reconditioning of this important route the section north of this county would be greatly benefited in as much as considerable south bound traffic that is now going through the congested area of Arlington County to reach Route No. 1 at Alexandria would be able to take Route 234 at Aldie, where it intersects with Route No. 50 and connect with Route No. 1 at Dumfries or Triangle.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1936

Why do we say The New Ford V-8 for 1936?

What is new about it?

Of course, the newest engine in the low-price car field is still the V-8 engine. Since Ford made it available to all car users (keeping it as economical as cars with fewer cylinders) the Ford V-8 has been the newest engine on the market, and remains the newest for 1936.

You may buy a car on minor "talking points"—some specially advertised feature "with the car thrown in"—but after all, it is the engine you buy when you buy a car. Hence we put the engine first.

Other new points about the car make a long list.

Its lines are much more beautiful. The hood is longer and sweeps forward over the distinctive new radiator grille, giving the car a length and grace that are instantly impressive. The fenders are larger, with a wide flare. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New steel wheels.

Ford upholstery—always of sterling quality and excellent taste—is rich and enduring. The appointments of the car have a new touch of refinement. There is no question about the increased beauty of the Ford V-8 for 1936.

In more practical matters, many improvements have been made—Steering is made easier by a new steering gear ratio. The cooling system circulates 5 1/2 gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermosiphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvers permit a rapid air-flow around the engine.

Easier, quieter shifting of Ford gears—The gear shift lever now travels a shorter distance.

The two qualities you want in brakes—Brakes that stop the car with ease and certainty. Ford Super-Safety Brakes of the long-tested, fool-proof, mechanical design.

Safety—as always—in the electrically welded genuine steel body. Safety Glass all around at no extra cost. Handcuffs have written grateful letters because this glass has protected the safety of their families.

A car you can drive without strain all day, if you like, in city or country. Steady, holds the road, responds to the driver's touch like a well-trained horse. You don't have to "push" or "fight" the Ford V-8—driver and car easily get on terms of good understanding with each other.

An engine has much to do with the roominess of a car. Very much indeed. A long engine uses up car space. The compact V-8 engine permits much of the ordinary engine space to be used by passengers.

It really is a great car in every way, this 1936 Ford V-8—the finest, safest, most dependable Ford car ever built. Now on display by Ford dealers.

CATHARPIN

Mrs. A. H. Compton, for many years a resident of the Sudley neighborhood, is reported very ill at her home in Alexandria, where she has resided for the past few years with relatives in that city. Mrs. Compton has many friends in Old Sudley who remember her very kindly and who hope for her early recovery.

Friends in the Catharpin neighborhood have just received announcements of the marriage on October 5, 1935, of Miss Inez Frances Halslip, daughter of William Butler Halslip of Halmead Place, Washington, to Mr. Roger Allen Thorne, also of the capital city.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Robertson and daughters, Ann and Rita, accompanied by Mr. Robertson's mother, Mrs. McCarthy, of Delaplane, motored over the famous Skyline Drive on Sunday last and continued on to Harrisonburg where they visited their daughter, Miss Frances, who is a student of State Teachers College in that city. The Skyline part of the trip was reported very unsatisfactory due to heavy fog and mists which obstructed visibility.

The community was early awakened on Thursday morning last when the Middleburg Hunt Club assembled at McDonald's corner with horses and hounds ready for the chase which had previously been scheduled to start from that point. All horses and dogs had been sent on in large vans and trucks; the riders arriving by automobiles—mostly ladies—with their attendants. Soon things were made ready, the mounts mounted, the hunter's horn sounded, and all were off at 7:30 a.m. riding to the hounds ready for the day's adventures. The morning was beautiful, frosty and clear. The master of hounds led his coterie across Lawn Vale's broad, open fields, from whence the baying of the hounds and the huntsmen's horn, made music sweet to the sportsman's ears. Hearing of the event, a number of nearby residents joined the throng while preparations were in order, meeting many of the participants whom they found most jovial and friendly. The experience was new to most of us and as we viewed the cavalcade as it retreated from view and the last sounds of horn and baying hounds faded into morning echoes, we all just thought "Well, that's pretty nice, isn't it?" And we believe it was.

The fine summer weather of the past fortnight seems to have awakened in the "motoristic breast" a desire for last minute travel while weather was fine and mountain foliage was putting on its latest colorful millinery display especially up on Skyline Drive which is being visited just now by thousands upon thousands before winter closes the season. Traffic was so great on Lee Highway on Sunday last that a car on Pageland lane wishing to cross at Swartz' corner, had to wait a long time before the opportunity presented itself, due to the hundreds of cars, apparently returning from the famous driveway up on the Blue Ridge mountains. Gainesville reports that traffic along the highway on Sunday evening was the greatest ever known.

THE NOVEMBER ELECTION

The approaching election in November places a special obligation upon every loyal Democrat in Prince William County. Many of our officers had no opposition in the August Primary. Others are facing vigorous contests in the General Election. Wherever and whenever Democracy is challenged in Virginia, it is the duty of all loyal members of our great Party to rise to the emergency and discharge the obligation which rests upon them.

Our esteemed sheriff, Mr. J. P. Kerlin, has opposition, and in the several districts, Mr. C. B. Roland, Mrs. Janie Abel and Mr. Lester W. Huff are opposed for the positions of Supervisors. Prince William is a good old-fashioned County with an unusual heritage and it is up to the Democratic voters of the county to see that Prince William is written large and bright in the election returns in November.

NO EXPLANATION NEEDED

A native of Manassas, Va., writes with pardonable pride to call attention to the Piedmont Dairy Festival held there last week when the little town of 1,500 souls entertained 15,000 visitors, ten times its normal population. Could Baltimore, he asks, take care of a proportionate number of visitors and survive? That would be something over 8,000,000. We doubt it. On the other hand, Manassas did even better than that on August 29, 30, 1862, when it entertained no fewer than 65,000. But, of course, on that occasion the town was assisted by a reception committee of 54,000 headed by those two well-known masters - of - ceremony, Robert E. Lee and Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson. — Baltimore Sun, Oct. 15.

FEAR OF THE FUTURE

The older sister of a 17-year-old high school boy who took his own life give this explanation: "He had told me often that he could see no future for himself after high school."

Such despondency regarding the future has been far too common lately. The saddest part of the business depression has been the mental depression it brought, especially the dimming of the natural hopefulness of youth.

Now there is more hope, in America at least. Business revives, employment spreads, life grows more cheerful. The rising generation, it seems, is going to have a chance after all. Boys and girls should remember, in any event, that if they cannot see very far ahead, neither can anyone else. And practical wisdom doesn't try to see too far ahead.

Fortunately one of the few things of which we can all be reasonably sure is this: The future, though it may be less fair than we hope, is usually less dark than we fear. — Covington Virginian.

ADVICE: FREE AND PLENTIFUL

Anybody can tell you how to edit a newspaper or preach a sermon! But editors and preachers, it appears, are by no means the only one who receive a great deal of free advice.

President Fairfax Harrison, of the Southern Railway, in addressing the stockholders of his company in Richmond, Va., last week revealed that he is the recipient of numerous letters advising him just how his railroad ought to be run. He said one man wrote him that only Republicans should be allowed on the road's board of directors.

The only conservative letter that has come was written by an inmate of an insane asylum," the president remarked. At this one of the stockholders remarked, "The only conservatives left in these times are in the insane asylums." — Greensboro Record.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 20.

The golden text was "We are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God" (II Corinthians 5:20).

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith" (Hebrews 12:12).

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed. How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds. Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

New Wheat Contracts.

The new wheat contract places no restrictions on the seeding of other small grains but does specifically require that the contracted acres be set aside for certain purposes. Those who take corn stubble and seed it down to pasture grasses without a cover crop may be certain of having made approved usage of such acreage.

Those who have not signed the new contract and wish to do so should call immediately and find how many acres of wheat may be seeded, how many contracted acres to sow and what uses may be made of the contracted acres.

Corn-Hog Referendum.

Corn and hog growers are voting this week on the question "Do You Favor a Corn-Hog Adjustment Program to Follow the 1935 Program Which Expires November 30, 1935?"

All 1935 corn-hog contracts signers have been mailed ballots to be marked and returned before Saturday, October 26. Non-signers may cast their ballots at the county agent's office on or before October 26.

To our farmers and especially the dairymen of northern Virginia we wish to call attention to a get-together meeting of farmers and bankers at Marshall, Va., on Tuesday, October 29, beginning at 10 a.m.

We hear folks talk about the lack of co-operation between the Bankers and Farmers. This is, so far as we know, the first get together meeting in this section and we want our farmers to meet them more than half way. A closer co-operation will inculcate a better understanding of each other's conditions.

The program is as follows:

Banker-Farmer Relationships. W. T. Daniel, chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the State Bankers Association.

Protecting Investment Values in Land. Dan H. Otis, Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association.

The AAA and the Virginia Farmer. John R. Hutcheson, director of V. P. I. Extension Division.

The Livestock Outlook and Co-operative Marketing. Kenneth E. Litton, V. P. I. Extension Division.

The Dairy Outlook and Suggestions for Greater Profits from Dairying in Northern Virginia. Prof. C. W. Holdaway, V. P. I. Dairy Department.

Each talk will be followed by a discussion and the meeting will adjourn at 3 p.m. All northern Virginia farmers and bankers are invited to attend.

...but, after all is said and done, it's the cigarette itself that counts

...the question is, does it suit you?

Now, when it comes to a cigarette that will suit you . . . you want to think whether it's mild, you want to think about the taste

That Chesterfields are milder and taste better is no accident . . .

The farmer who grows the tobacco, the warehouseman who sells it at auction to the highest bidder, every man who knows about leaf tobacco will tell you that it takes mild, ripe tobaccos to make a good cigarette.

In making Chesterfields we use mild ripe home-grown and Turkish tobaccos.

WITH STONEWALL JACKSON AT CHANCELLORSVILLE

By W. F. RANDOLPH

Captain of Jackson's Bodyguard
From the Southern Churchman, April 11, 1931

It is not the purpose of the writer of this article to give a detailed account of the memorable battle of Chancellorsville, which has been so often described by pens more felicitous than mine, but only to give some few incidents of the first two days leading up to the terrible catastrophe which was the closing scene of one of the most brilliant and successful movements recorded in the history of any war.

The writer was, during these two days, attached to the person of Gen. Jackson and only left his side occasionally as the bearer of orders to his division commanders.

During the winter of sixty-two and sixty-three the army of Northern Virginia was encamped near and around Fredericksburg, and the writer was in command of a company of cavalry and attached to the headquarters of Gen. Stonewall Jackson, then located near Hamilton's Crossing, about three miles below the town.

The battle of Fredericksburg which took place the 13th of December resulted in the defeat of Burnside, and his retreat across the river ended all active operations for the winter. So we settled down in quiet observations, awaiting with anxious expectation the advance of General Hooker, whose artillery crowned the heights on the other side of the river, where the white tents of the Federal army could be seen here and there dotting the same hills.

The spring was well advanced, the country all around us was covered with verdure and the roads had become dry and hard, when we were awakened from our long holiday by the welcome announcement that the Federal commander's long expected advance had at last commenced, and that a portion of his army had crossed the Rapidan at Germania's Ford, and were marching upon Fredericksburg. General Lee at once put his whole army in motion, with Jackson's corps in the front, leaving one division under General Early to prevent the enemy from crossing at Fredericksburg and attacking his rear.

It will be remembered that two of the best divisions of Longstreet's corps had been detached and sent to southeastern Virginia, leaving General Lee with scarcely fifty thousand infantry with which to meet that well equipped and splendidly appointed army of Hooker's consisting of more than one hundred thousand men. After an arduous and exciting march, without rest, the army, frequently advancing in line of battle, was expecting every moment to meet the enemy. The advance column, halted about sunset, within less than a mile of the Chancellorsville House, in the vicinity of which the enemy was evidently concentrated, awaiting our attack. But the impenetrable nature of the thickets, which separated us, prevented any further advance in that direction, and the whole army was forced to bivouac for the night. At this point a road, which was known as the Mine Run Road, intersected about at right angles the plow road along which we had been moving. Here, with no other protection than the spreading arms of an immense oak and without camp equipment of any kind, the two generals, Lee and Jackson, slept for the night, myself and a few of my troops lying within a few feet of them. I was awakened next morning by a light touch on my shoulder and, on jumping up, had the mortification to find that the sun had already risen and General Lee had gone. General Jackson, who was just mounting his horse, turned to me with a kindly word and smile, telling me to follow as soon as possible, and dashed off at a furious gallop down the Mine Run Road, along which his troops had been rapidly marching since daylight. I did not succeed in overtaking the general again for several hours, and when at last I came up with him he was far in advance of his columns, standing talking to General Fitzhugh Lee in the old turnpike road, at a point about five miles distant from Chancellorsville, having made a circuit of fifteen miles, thus putting the whole Federal army between himself and General Lee, and the two divisions of Longstreet's corps which were with him. As the several divisions of the corps came up they were formed in line of battle, and about four o'clock in the evening everything was in readiness for the attack.

While Fitz Lee was talking to the General a half dozen troopers rode up, bringing with them a Yankee lieutenant, whom they had just captured. Lee turned to the officer and asked him, smilingly, what would Hooker think if old Stonewall were to suddenly fall upon his rear. "Ah," said the Federal officer. "Hooker has both Jackson and your great Lee in the hollow of his hand, and it is only a matter of a very short time when your whole army will be bagged." Jackson's lips closed in a grim smile, but he said nothing, and Lee and his troopers rode away, laughing, leaving us alone.

The General turned to me and asked how far behind was the advance of his army. I replied that the leading division ought to be up in an hour. We both dismounted. Jackson, seating himself on a log by the road, studying a map, which he spread out before him. After tying our horses, I took my seat not far from him, and being somewhat fatigued from the long ride, I fell asleep. Waking with a start, I turned and saw the General kneeling with his arms resting on the log in earnest prayer. I was profoundly impressed, and a feeling of great security came over me. Surely this great soldier who held such close and constant communion with his Maker, must certainly succeed in whatever he undertook!

Presently the General, who was still seated on the log, called me to his side and ordered me to ride down the turnpike as far as possible in the direction of the enemy, and ascertain if any of his pickets were stationed in the direction facing our advance, and to gather any other information it was possible to obtain.

Taking one man with me I mounted my horse and galloped rapidly down the road until I came within sight of the camp fires of the enemy. Dismounting, I tied my horse in a thicket near the road, advanced cautiously, expecting every moment to come in contact with some outlying picket, but met no enemy until I came to an opening in the woods overlooking a large field, where I saw a sight most amazing and unexpected. No less than a vast force of Federals in every conceivable state of disorder, without any formation; several batteries of artillery unlimbered; hundreds gathered around the camp fires cooking, some sunning themselves in the bright May sunshine, as apparently unconscious of danger as if they had been encamped around the environs of Washington. City—no sentinels, no pickets, no line of battle anywhere. My heart bounded with exultation and I could have shouted for joy. "Verily," I said to myself, "the God of battles has this day delivered these people into our hands." But I had time only for a brief glance. Hurrying to where I had tied my horse, I mounted, rode with all possible speed to where I had left the General. I made my report. Not a word escaped his lips. He raised his eyes to heaven and his lips seemed to murmur a prayer, and then turning to General Hill, said:

"Order the whole line to advance, General Hill, but slowly, with great caution, and without noise."

And so the movement commenced, slowly, silently, with no sound save the occasional cracking of a stick beneath the feet of the men; those long grey lines, stretching far into the gloom of the forest, pressed on; twenty-five thousand veterans of many a hard fought field, who had never moved save in the path of victory; on and on in the gathering evening, the sinking sun casting long shadows behind them, the frightened birds twittering and chirping as they flew from tree to tree, and an occasional bark of a squirrel as he looked out, startled at the unwonted scene, were the only sound that interrupted the stillness, solemn and oppressive; a strange calm preceding a storm, the like of which has rarely been chronicled in the annals of war.

(To be continued next week)

WEENIE ROAST AT OCCOQUAN

Friday evening, October 4, the Occoquan 4-H Club, Prince William County, had a weenie roast at the old rock quarry across the river from Occoquan. Several groups went hiking and then everyone enjoyed supper which was cooked over open fires. Club members then participated in a candle lighting ceremony. An amateur show was next on the program. The entire group joined in singing a number of familiar songs after which they returned to their homes.

Those present included club members, their guests and parents.
