FREDERICKSBURG TAKES R. E. HALL

Chamber of Commerce Secretary Elected to Larger Position.

Mr. R. E. Hall, secretary of the Manassas - Prince William Chamber of Commerce, has been elected secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of the City of Fredericksburg. During his brief term of office in Manassas Mr. Hall has made many friends who will regret his departure but who will be pleased to note his professional advancement. Mr. Hall will succeed James A. Payne who goes from the Fredericksburg position to Staunton to become secretary of the Staunton-Augusta County Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. C. C. Cloe, president of the Manassas - Prince William County Chamber of Commerce, has called a meeting of the Board of Directors to be held in the Town Hall at Manassas, Friday afternoon, at 2:30 p.m., to select a new secretary.

Mr. Hall, who has served as sec'y of the local Chamber since September 1, was at one time connected with the Richmond (Virginia) Times-Dispatch and later with the Hopewell (Virginia) News, coming here from Hopewell. Mr. Hall stated that he would take over his new duties on January 15 but would not move his family to Fredericksburg until February 1.

Mr. Hall, who is 32 years of age, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hall, of Richmond. He will bring with him to Fredericksburg his wife, Mrs. Cecil Britton Hall, and their ten-month-old daughter, Betty Jane. A native of Botetourt County, Mr. Hall received his early education in the schools of that county, later graduating from John Marshall High School in Richmond and from the Virginia Mechanics Institute in Commercial Law.

From 1925 until 1934 Mr. Hall was engaged in newspaper work in Richmond and Hopewell and since September 1 of last year he has been the secretary of the Manassas-Prince William County Chamber of Commerce. He is active in Kiwanis circles in Manassas and is a member of the Methodist church.

CHRISTMAS DANCE A BIG SUCCESS

The annual Christmas Assembly Ball of the Woman's Club held in the high school gymnasium last Friday night was one of the most outstanding ones ever given.

The gym was beautifully decorated with many colored lights and a setting of evergreens.

The music was furnished by a popular orchestra from Clarendon. The "younger set" home from college and their visitors turned out en masse and friendly greetings seemed almost as much in evidence as the rhythm of dancing feet.

The occasion also featured several delightful parties including a buffet supper given by the Misses Cocke before the dance and intermission parties both at Swavelly School and the home of Miss Mary Lynch.

BOARD WILL ORGANIZE

The County Board of Supervisors will hold its organization meeting at the court house at 10:00 o'clock Thursday morning. The first order of business will be the election of a chairman after which appointment of committees will be in order and routine business will be exposed of.

CUPID STEPS UP A PACE

In 1935, Deputy Clerk Ledman reports, 104 marriage licenses were issued in comparison to 101 in 1934.

IMPORTANT MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Manassas - Prince William County Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Town Hall at Manassas on Thursday evening, January 9, at 8:00 p.m. C. C. Cloe, president of the local Chamber, stated that matters of great importance will be discussed at this time and urges that every member attend.

SEED SHOW AT WARRENTON

State Event to Feature Interesting Program.

The State Seed Show is held in a different part of Virginia each year in order that over a period of years as many people as possible may have the opportunity to see this large collection of quality grain, potatoes and other farm seeds. We are fortunate this year in that it will be held at Warrenton on January 30 and 31.

Not only are the exhibits, which come from this and other states, of educational value but the accompanying program is built around strong agricultural leaders and speakers.

Director John R. Hutcheson of the extension division will appear on the program with a subject yet to be determined. T. B. Hutcheson will discuss the adjusting of farm operations to present day conditions from a farm management standpoint. S. S. Obenshain who has been doing soil survey work for many years will discuss the value of soil survey and testing work to the farmer. "The Effects of Our Liming and Underliming" will be shown by H. L. Duntun. Lyman Carrier will speak on "Soil Erosion and Its Control." A talk on "The Value of Certified Seed in Profitable Dairy Farming" by C. W. Holdaway is scheduled. D. J. Howard, acting supervisor of Agricultural Education in Virginia, will discuss "The Future Farmers and Their Responsibility to the Crop Improvement Program." This discussion will be of special interest to the numbers of vocational agricultural students and 4-H club members who will attend the show. W. H. Byrne will answer the question "Why Use Certified Seed?" The annual banquet will be held on the evening of January 30 from 6:30 to 9:00.

JACKSON BANQUET IS PLANNED

Reservations Must Be Made At Once.

Acting on advice from John A. Currie of Richmond, it has been tentatively decided to hold a Jackson Day banquet in Prince William County, January 15.

The matter is contingent upon the number of reservations which are made by next Wednesday. The covers will be $1.50 each, the profits from which will be sent to the National Democratic Organization as a war chest fund for the campaign this year.

Final announcement will be made in the Journal next week if the plan seems advisable. Further information may be secured from this office where reservations may be listed, or from Trial Judge W. H. Brown, Jr.

Check should accompany the reservation and such will be returned promptly in case not enough applications are received. The date has been selected so as not to interfere with many other affairs being held on the 8th.

Anyone interested should not delay in taking some action, for the reaction must be spontaneous or the dinner will not be a success.

Details of a floor show are being arranged but are not in shape for announcement this week.

"CONSERVATION OF VIRGINIA'S RESOURCES"

Address of Wilbur C. Hall, Chairman of the Virginia State Commission on Conservation and Development before the State Teachers College, at Harrisonburg, Va., November 13, 1935, at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

Much of the lands in these parks was donated by public-spirited citizens and some was acquired by purchase. The total area of the State Parks is now approximately 18,000 acres, of which more than two-thirds was given to the State through the activities of the State Commission on Conservation and Development. Chesterfield Park, when added to the system, will probably contain an additional 7,600 acres.

The parks have been carefully chosen in regard to their natural attractions, accessibility, and suitability for rest and recreation. Two of the parks—Seashore and Westmoreland—front on unsurpassed natural bodies of water. Lovely lakes will be developed in Douthat, Fairystone, and Hungry Mother Parks, due to the splendid services of young men in the CCC camps. Douthat and Hungry Mother parks are not far from main-traveled State highways yet are in the midst of bold mountains. With the exception of seven or eight counties, some State Park is within 50 miles of every resident. Ample recreational facilities, trails, camp sites, cabins, and other structures are being constructed in the parks. All of these activities are under the supervision of the Park Division of the Commission.

In the well-ordered conservation of these natural resources for the benefit of this and of future generations, many young men through the CCC camps are being conserved and given valuable new contacts with Nature.

In many ways this conservation and rehabilitation of our young men will aid also in the prompt conservation of natural resources. The educational values of that work are apparent.

Our forests are one of our most perishable resources. The Commission through the Virginia Forest Service is constantly on the alert to safeguard them as much as is possible. A most important activity is the prevention of forest fires and the rapid suppression of fires before they cause great losses. In co-operation with 61 counties a group of 1,600 part-time forest wardens and fire-fighting crews of 3,000 men have been established. Nevertheless, carelessness by brush burners, hunters, campers, and others annually result in large losses to individual property owners and to the State. Many miles of trails and roads have been made and scores of look-out towers erected. The Forest Service has a fine nursery at Charlottesville, from which young trees for reforestation are distributed in quantity at a nominal cost. The steady work done by this Division adds not only directly to the wealth of the State but also adds much indirectly in the control of floods, water supplies and soil erosion and in providing areas for wild life to propagate. The recreational and aesthetic values of our forests are priceless.

The work of the Geological Survey is primarily to investigate and inventory all of the mineral resources of the State and to publish the results in the form of bulletins and maps. Developed mineral resources have become more and more a vital necessity of our mode of living. Most of our daily activities depend in some way upon the development of very old mineral deposits. Even the most common minerals are not found in stock to be ordered as needed, but they have been stored in the rocks by geologic processes for millions of years. The Geological Survey applies the known principles of mineral occurrence and distribution in making its surveys of various parts of the State. It has published 43 bulletins and numerous maps. A few of the publications, like "Caverns of Virginia," have been written for use in schools and by the general public.

Much assistance is given also to property owners in the determination of mineral deposits on their lands and in advising them as to their commercial possibilities.

One of the projects of the Geological Survey of wide general importance is the making of a topographic map of the State. Such topographic maps show all of the surface features of the mapped area; that is, the contour of the land, the drainage features, and all of the structures built by man, even the trails and individual houses. Hence they are indispensable for many projects. This work is being done, section by section, in co-operation with the Federal Government. In view of the prime importance of these maps, the work is progressing too slowly.

The water resources of the State have always played an integral part in the civic and industrial development of the State. It is sometimes overlooked that the routes of migration across the State were largely controlled by water supplies, whether used for transportation, mill sites, or the daily occupations of the settlers. The Water Resources and Power Division is making daily measurements, by means of gaging stations on the principal rivers, of stream volumes. These data are vital to industry and to towns and cities depending upon a minimum flow. Thus the power resources of our streams are being accurately determined. Unfortunately, these investigations did not start until 1925, and it is imperative that the data cover as long a term of years as possible. This Division also studies the springs of the State. It has published bulletins on them as well as on stream measurements. Included in its recent work has been the survey and location of adequate water supplies on top of the Blue Ridge in the Shenandoah National Park area.

The results of some of the work of the Division of History and Archaeology are evident along all of our primary highways. It is a relatively small matter, though not an inexpensive one, to have a history marker made and erected. Each of those succinct inscriptions, which brings history forcefully to the motorist as he travels, has required long and patient research to make it accurate. Some 1,200 markers have been placed and other historic spots are yet to be marked. They are the wonder and delight of history-minded tourists and the lead of Virginia in this work has been copied by several other states.

The Division is constantly searching out old records, in the libraries and in the field, in order to catch up numerous priceless threads of Virginia history before they are lost forever. It has been making a photographic survey of the old Colonial houses in the State, that these types of architecture may be preserved for future generations. The State Historian has prepared an outline of Virginia, for use in schools and by the general public when funds are available for its publication.

MEETING OF DAUGHTERS OF CONFEDERACY

The January meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will be held next Tuesday, Jan. 7, at 2:30 p.m., at the Prince William Hotel.

The hostesses are Mrs. James R. Dorrell, Mrs. R. S. Hynson and Mrs. Howard Jameson.

KIWANIS BEGINS ANOTHER YEAR

Continued Civic Work Expected.

The Kiwanis Club rang down its 1935 curtain at the meeting on Friday evening.

From every angle, President Hutton closed a successful year. He and his cohorts have gathered several new members and the orthopedic work conducted in co-operation with Dr. Marsteller has been an outstanding achievement, not to mention the Christmas Club activities, Dairy Festival float and other usual performances marked the twelve-month period just closed.

President Dick, who takes charge tomorrow night, has already demonstrated the fact that business management of high quality is expected during 1936.

Due to the activities of Ray Ratcliffe a section of the young carolers led the club in a number of good old hymns and Christmas carols.

One of the pretty scenes of the evening was the presentation of Christmas gifts to the sponsors of the club, Bish Gibson officiating as master of ceremonies.

Franklin H. Kean, of Washington, was present on the special visitation and gave the club a rousing talk on Kiwanis ideals in which he congratulated them of their past and present deeds.

POPULAR COUPLE MARRIED HERE

Owens-Trusler Wedding Attended by Many Distinguished Guests.

In a ceremony of beauty and charming simplicity, Miss Janet Rebecca Trusler and Stanley Albert Owens were wed, Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, December 28, at Trinity Episcopal Church. Reverend C. Byron Jones, assisted by Reverend T. D. D. Clark, performed the nuptial rites.

The beautiful chancel, artistically decorated with Southern smilax, ferns, baskets of white chrysanthemums, and a myriad of cathedral candles, furnished a lovely setting for the bridal party.

A program of nuptial music was beautifully rendered by Miss Virginia Nelson Speiden. She played "Tranmere" by Shumann; "Salut d'Amour" by Elgar; "To an Evening Star" by Wagner. Mr. Weston Knox, baritone soloist of Washington, accompanied by Miss Speiden, sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly." The Wedding March from "Lohengrin" was rendered for the professional and Mendelssohn's March for the recessional.

Entering first was Mrs. D. L. Barnes of Royston, Ga., sister of Mr. Owens, wearing an afternoon gown of black chiffon velvet with matching turban. She wore a shoulder corsage of gardenias.

Preceding the bridal party, Mrs. W. E. Trusler, the attractive mother of the bride, entered, wearing an afternoon gown of black chiffon velvet with hat and accessories to match. She wore an orchid.

The groomsmen were Messrs. Robert Ridgway of Madison, Ga., William Newman Trusler of Manassas, Jack Holt Merchant of Manassas, Denean Stafford of Baxley, Ga., Jackson Ratcliffe and Judge William Hill Brown of Manassas.

Entering the church singly down the aisle were the senior bridesmaids, Misses Margaret Plummer of Gaithersburg, Md., Connie Fowler of Houston, Tex., Wilberta Buswell of Mt. Holly, N. J., and Walser Conner of Manassas, Va.

Their gowns were of pale pink velvet fashioned with fitted jackets, puffed sleeves, and skirts falling in slight trains. They wore turbans of silver and velvet, silver slippers and carried quaint velvet muffs with old-fashioned shower sprays of talisman roses.

The junior bridesmaids, Misses Janet and Virginia Newman, were attractive in opaline rose velvet dresses, wearing silver sprays in their hair and carrying muffs similar in effect.

VIRGINIA DOES WELL IN 1935

Richmond Editor Predicts Healthy Democratic Majorities.

Throughout the depression, Virginia has had less unemployment and less acute suffering than any of the States with perhaps three exceptions, Dr. Douglas S. Freeman asserted in his contribution to a Review of Reviews symposium in which six editors reported the South is still solid for Roosevelt.

Virginia's fortunate position, Dr. Freeman wrote, "has been due primarily to the diversification of her agriculture and to the nature of her urban industries."

"Federal crop control undoubtedly has been a third factor in relieving the depression in Virginia. The basic theories of AAA have not been accepted without reservation by a majority of Virginia farmers, who are essentially individualistic and have never made a success in the past of any long-continued and large-scale system of co-operative marketing. They may doubt the wisdom of AAA now, but they gratefully cash its checks."

"Fiscal conservatism has contributed to relief. Most Virginia counties and cities have cut their tax rates. The State government has lived within its revenues and probably will end the fiscal year without a deficit."

"Behind these four factors have been a fifth—the memory of old adversity. If it be true, as many visitors affirm, that Virginians have accepted hard times with stoicism, it must be in part because they realize that their woes are less than those of their fathers in the years after the War Between the States."

"Virginia is recovering fast. Barring some new world calamity, there is no reason to doubt the emergence of Virginia from her distresses."

"Most of the political leaders of the State, as well as the industrialists, regard the President as radical and extravagant; but the business men have no candidate to offer against him; and the politicians, were they bold enough to oppose him openly, would consider a denunciation of the New Deal a repudiation of the Democratic Party."

"A popular Republican candidate for the presidency will receive a good vote for the conservative, well-to-do element, but Mr. Roosevelt will carry the State."

CONFEDERATE YOUNGSTERS HAVE SOCIAL SESSION

On Friday, December 20, Roger Cross, assisted by his mother, Mrs. Roger Cross, entertained the Children of the Confederacy at their December meeting.

This was more of a social than a business meeting, but some small business matters were transacted.

The organization, at the suggestion of Nancy Marsteller, voted to send some sort of a remembrance to Mrs. Bob Weir, whom they are sorry to know is ill.

At some future date, probably St. Patrick's Day, the club has decided to have an entertainment to raise funds.

The program under the direction of the historian, was a most interesting one. A very entertaining article was read by Mildred Parrish, about Joel Chandler Harris' writings, and a poem, "Christmas Night in '62" was also read by Margaret Blakemore. The girls sang two Christmas carols, "Silent Night" and "Joy to the World" accompanied by Molly Leachman and Elizabeth Davies on the violin.

Two guests of honor were present at this meeting, Mrs. Robert Hutchison and her granddaughter, Mary Louise Wine.

After the business meeting, many interesting games were played. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Cross which were immensely enjoyed.

Decorations for the occasion were quite charming in the nature of Christmas greens, candles and Confederate flags.

FEED THE BIRDS

We urge all who can to remember that while the ground is covered with snow and ice the birds suffer and die in great numbers. Some small grain or even bread crumbs placed in accessible places will be greatly appreciated by our lovely little feathered friends.

"I will pay my subscription," is a good New Year Resolution.

LAST OUTPOST WORTHY SUCCESSOR TO "LANCER"

A worthy successor to the famous "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," Paramount's newest contribution to the courage and loyalty of British officers in the face of grim warfare in the Arabian deserts and jungles during the World War, "The Last Outpost," which will open next week Wednesday and Thursday at the Dixie Theatre, bids fair to becoming one of the most spectacular cinemas of the season.

Claude Rains, in one of the leading roles in this courageous and magnificent drama in the fascinating Sudan country, delivers a vivid, outstanding performance as a British secret service agent. A notable portrayal as his brother officer and rival for the affections of the same woman whose love for one breaks up their friendship only to reunite them in a stronger spirit of comradeship, is given by Cary Grant. Gertrude Michael as the woman both men love is laudable and appealing in her part.

The story is an impressive, authentic picturization of the conflict arising between the Turks and the British army in Mesopotamia during the World War. Two British officers, one in the British Intelligence Service, the other attached to the armored car division, meet under strange circumstances. Their adventures lead them into many dangers, dangers touched with thrills and romance. Unaware that he has fallen in love with his friend's wife, Gertrude Michael, who acts as his nurse in a Cairo hospital, Grant takes steps to find the man she does not love and hasn't seen nor heard from in three years. Rains resolves to track him down and kill him. They meet again in a deserted fort in the interior, and there, in a tense, dramatic sequence, Rains decides whether he should leave his friend Grant to the mercy of the natives or to die in a seething forest fire, to avenge the memory of his wife.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and so societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 22.

The Golden Text was "Every house is built by some man; but he that built all things is God" (Hebrews 3:4).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God. But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him; neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned" (1 Corinthians 2:12-14).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "The true theory of the universe, including man, is not in material history but in spiritual development. Inspired thought relinquishes a material, sensual, and mortal theory of the universe, and adopts the spiritual and immortal" (p. 547).

WATERFALL

Here we are all huddled around our fires, wondering if we are in for one of those old time winters, one of the kind our grandfathers told about. When winters were winters, cold and snow came, and stayed, when not less than forty loads of fire-wood was considered a sufficient woodpile, and everybody had a sleigh. In the late seventies and through the eighties, when the writer first remembers, winter meant snow, coasting, skating, sleighriding and last but not least snow-balling. Oh! the jingling of those bells and the singing of the runners over the frosting snow was sweet music to my childish ears. In fancy I seem to hear them now. Young men would come for miles in thin sleighs to take the girls sleighriding to parties and to church. It seems to me that most everybody went to church regular those days, regardless of distance wind or weather and our church was more than a mile from the nearest home. I am sure my paternal grandfather never missed a service or our old school master, and many others, and there was old faithful uncle John all ways on time, who built the fires, and kept the lamps trimmed and bright with the coming of the Gay Nineties, things began to change. Little boys no more wore long trousers stuffed in brass toed boots nor little girls red wool home-knit hosiery. There were winters we rode horseback on Christmas day without wraps, and several Christmas days we played croquet. Sleights were stored in out way corners in the barn. A few old fence rails and discarded bean poles would last a week for fire-wood. Wise ones said the Gulf Stream had changed or was it the stars. So much the weather or there will be no room for anything else.

Our regular correspondent has left us to spend the winter in the tropics, among the palms and orange blossoms, we are sure she will be expecting to see a few lines from home when the Journal reaches her.

Maggie, what would you give right now for a snow-ball, your boss man let the fire go out and the cold crept in and bit your flowers, but not to the bone, says he, "yes mam, it turned cold sudden-like, and I hadn't fired up as I should, it was so cold even a poor little mouse froze to death in my meal barrel."

Many of us are sitting up late, not to keep the wolf away from the door, but tending fire to keep the water-pipes from freezing and to save a few-blooms for next summer.

Most of our folks residing else were at their respective homes here for Christmas day.

Miss Kate Belches has returned to the home of Miss Florence Smith, after spending Christmas with her sister, Mrs. Stuart Breesee, at Rapidan. Also Mr. Wade Smith has returned from a visit to relatives in Washington.

A son, Richard Herrell, was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gossom, Jr., at Garfield hospital Dec. 17. Dick, who has been with the State Highway Dept. for several years, is now employed by the Federal Government in S. C. S. and is stationed at Rocky Mount, Va., paid his wife and young son a brief visit Christmas day.

Mr. L. B. Thomas and family, who have resided at Evergreen for the past nine years, have moved to the Torsyth farm at Woolsey. Mr. Buck Owens has rented Evergreen.

Two of our neighborhood abandoned farms have at last been sold. Years ago they were owned by the late Benoni Harrison, who left the will of a feudal lord. We hope the present owners will restore them to their former grandeur.

NICK LONG, JR., INTRODUCES FAMED "FURNITURE DANCE"

Nick Long, Jr., the first to introduce "furniture dancing" on the stage, makes his screen debut in a combination dancing and acting role in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Broadway Melody of 1936," currently playing at the Dixie Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

After working in Broadway musicals with Clifton Webb, John Boles, Beatrice Lillie, Ed Wynn and others, Long, Jr., went to Europe and gave command performances for English and Spanish nobility.

In the new musical extravaganza, he is featured with June Knight in several numbers in which he leaps over seven girls and disappears from the stage. He also performs his "furniture dance."

American Opera Star on Magic Key

ROSE BAMPTON, operatic, concert and radio contralto who made her debut in the Metropolitan Opera House in New York when she was twenty-three, just three years ago, will sing for the radio audience on the Magic Key of RCA broadcast over an NBC-WJZ network Sunday, December 15, at 2:00 P. WILL IT WORK?

As far as the first century in the reign of Nero, this question was asked. As a conclusive affirmative to that question, witness that little circle of martyrs in the vast coliseum of Rome, men and women kneeling. In their midst a venerable patriarch with flowing locks of grey, with up lifted eyes, extended arms, beseeching them to stand firm. It is the crucial test. To their right are the gates separating, by a few feet, the devouring lions. Christianity triumphed then as it ever will. Those composing that little group were among the first, if not these first, to testify with their lives their belief in our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. This was about 35 years after the Crucifixion, or 69 A. D.

Among the many historic paintings extant not one could possibly convey to the believers a truer testimonial of their Faith. The artist who executed this painting was Geronimo. Yes, it will work. Today, Science and the Christian faith are in closer accord than for many years. When our Savior predicted the destruction of Jerusalem it was 37 years after this body was removed from the Cross that His prediction was verified. 70 A. D. and from that date there has been no Jewish Nation. I have searched Josephus, the Jewish historian who was 30 years of age at the time of the destruction of Jerusalem by Titus and who, though a captive of the Romans, had fought valiantly against them. He mentions Christ twice in his "History of the Jews." I remember years ago in reading Cardinal Gibbons "Faith of our Fathers." "A fool could ask the wisest theologian a question unanswerable."

The Cardinal then was Bishop Gibbons of Richmond, Va. Again, yes, the belief in our Savior, Jesus Christ, will live, "It Will Work."

In the time of the French Revolution, beginning the 14th of July, 1789, when the Bastille was destroyed until 1794. France ran in streams of Christian blood. The three arch-demons of these atrocious crimes were Morat, Robespierre and Danton. A patriotic Norman girl, Charlotte Corday, with a dagger, dispatched the former while he was in his bath.

Robespierre had Danton beheaded and the latter's friend had the same punishment inflicted upon Robespierre. The churches were destroyed, the priests guillotined and a decree issued "there is no God" and a French Countess installed as the "Goddess of Reason" in place of God.

Despite all this the Christian religion has survived.

HEAVY SNOWFALL

Virginia is blanketed with the heaviest snowfall of the season, ranging from six to twelve inches, a record for so early in the season. The storm swept up from Alabama, sweeping into Virginia from the Carolinas, leaving the heaviest blanket in the southern sections of the State. There were relatively few accidents and the State Highway Department has been laboring effectively to open the roadways. Many trains and buses were running behind schedules. The "weather man" is said to be predicting warmer weather and a early disappearance of the snow.

FOOD MARKET

Advice-

THE holiday season continues and with it the desire for feasting. Holiday poultry is being offered at attractive prices and if you are tired of TURKEY there are CHICKENS, DUCKS and DUCKS or if you are tired of all poultry, Fresh HAM may be chosen with very little pain to your pocketbook.

BEEF prices are reasonable should you wish a steak or a roast, chopped beef or a stew. LAMB legs are a little cheaper and chops a bit higher. FISH is not as cheap at this season as it is in summer but there are excellent ones available.

Eggs Still Lower
The decline in EGG prices has continued in the face of increased production meeting increased demand. Fine quality storage eggs are still available as fresh eggs are not yet in sufficient supply to be featured in all grades.

Texas Source of Vegetables
Many of our fresh vegetables are now coming from Texas including BEETS, BROCCOLI, CARROTS, new CABBAGE, PARSLEY, RADISHES, GREENS, PEAS, PEPPERS, SPINACH and white TURNIPS. Green BEANS are again very high due to another freeze in Florida. Lima BEANS from Cuba are comparatively moderate. TOMATOES from the same source are more plentiful and lower in price. Summer SQUASH from Florida is cheaper but Hubbard Squash is unusually high. Other "hardware" or winter vegetables are very moderate in price. Western iceberg LETTUCE continues to be reasonable.

Citrus Fruits Outstanding
Cheap GRAPEFRUIT and big ORANGES are the news of the fruit market. Just as good a value are McIntosh APPLES packed in cartons. Navel oranges are more plentiful and moderate. New Year's will see the end of the CRANBERRY season as there was a short crop.

An advance in the price of LEMONS at this season is unusual but the demand for them has been great enough to bring it. The quality of BANANAS is now varied—due to fall hurricanes the experts say.

Here is a menu for a New Year's dinner made up from foods which are reasonable.

Tomato Juice Stuffed Celery
Roast Fresh Ham Apple Sauce
Browned Yams Buttered Spinach
Green Beans
Bread and Butter
Peach Melba
Coffee

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

MADE STRONG: It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect.—Psalms 18:32.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Friday evening at 9 o'clock, President Roosevelt will appear before a joint session of Congress and personally outline his recommendations for legislation.

The dramatic night session appearance of the President has aroused considerable opposition among Republicans and also anti-administration Democrats.

However, since the purpose of the Presidential message is to advise the country as to the national welfare, it is only logical that he should make this address at a time when the largest possible number of radio listeners are available.

The only previous appearance of a President at a night session of Congress was the war message of President Wilson. There is, however, no reason why he should not do this in the light of the radio situation and the general public, regardless of political affiliations will welcome the idea of a night message when we all can listen.

ELECTRIFYING FARMS

In spite of the depression, continued progress has been made in rural electrification. For example the Alabama Power Company recently announced that it is spending $800,000 this year for the extension of rural lines, which already serve more than 38,000 rural customers.

Except in rare instances the "horse and buggy" age passed from the farm with the advent of the low priced automobile, but the "oil lamp" age still lingers on. Electricity, however, is rapidly changing that situation also.

Electricity will restore the attractiveness of the farm as a place to live, and may well reverse the farm-to-city migration that has gone on since the turn of the century.

The farm home has many natural advantages. It has the fresh and clean air, the uncrowded spaces, the fields and gardens and orchards that sustain life and give health.

Given now by electricity the common comforts of cities, including lights, hot water, washing machines and ironers, the country dweller may yet become the envy of urban cousins who so long have pitied his lot.

MODERN ENGLISH HOMES

There seems to be some sort of revolution going on in Great Britain. A representative of a London building organization has been consulting American manufacturers of electrical goods, heating and air-conditioning equipment, and bathroom and kitchen fixtures, with a view to incorporating some of these products in apartment house and dwelling units to be built in London, Manchester, Liverpool and other cities next year.

American tourists have maintained for some time, and not too politely, that this country is "well in advance" of England in the use of labor-saving devices in the home and of general residence equipment. But they didn't expect anyone in England to do anything about it so soon.

The British, on the other hand have done more than we have in the promotion and sound financing of low cost homes and garden cities. If they can now add modern American equipment to their houses, and keep the prices moderate, they will effect a social change in British living conditions and may set us a worthy example. — Covington Virginian.

HIS RESIGNATION SHOULD BE ACCEPTED

Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, the Columbia University professor, who left his professional duties in order to turn statesman and reconstruct the nation, yesterday offered to resign his post as Undersecretary of Agriculture and Resettlement Administrator so as not to be a menace to President Roosevelt's chances of re-election. For the very first time we are in thorough accord with the professor and sincerely hope that his resignation will be quickly accepted. Dr. Tugwell has been a distinct liability to the President, and the country will be more than pleased to have the learned professor return to school teaching.

A high official in the Administration described the Tugwell-Roosevelt relations in the following manner:

"The President likes to have Rex around just like you would like to have a pup around. He talks to the President who doesn't pay any attention to what he says."

Although his influence has been diminished, his position as a high government official is anathema to all but the extremely radical element.

fect to the senior bridesmaids.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Warren Keith of Rock Hill, S. C., and the maid of honor, Miss Hilda Moser, were lovely in velvet gowns similar to those of the bridesmaids but of a deeper tone of American beauty. They wore turbans of silver and carried muffs with shower sprays of tulle and roses.

The bride, accompanied by her father, Mr. William Trusler, was awaited at the altar by the groom attended by his brother, Professor Hubert Owens of Athens, Ga. She wore pearl satin, fashioned princess style with a court train, the edge of which was bordered with seed pearls. From her cap of exquisite rose point lace, held to her head by clusters of orange blossoms, hung her illusion veil, a family heirloom, which was gracefully held to her train by tiny sprays of orange blossoms. She carried a showier bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. Owens is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Trusler of Manassas. She received her education from the local schools after which she finished Marjorie Webster in Washington. She is a most charming young lady and is popular with the younger set.

The bridegroom is the youngest son of Mr. Albert Justus Owens and the late Mrs. Lettie Bond Owens of Canon, Ga. Mr. Owens is a graduate of South Park College of Beaumont, Tex. He is a member of the Virginia Bar, having obtained his legal education at Emory University in Atlanta and the University of Georgia.

He is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha social and Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternities. At present he is an attorney connected with the National Park Service of the Interior Department in Washington.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on South Main street to which two hundred guests were invited.

Greeting guests at the doorway were Mrs. Samuel Palmer, Sr., of Bridgeport, Conn., and Mrs. R. B. Sprinkle of Manassas, who introduced to the receiving line composed of Mr. and Mrs. William Trusler, Colonel and Mrs. D. T. Barnes of Royston, Ga., and the bridal party.

Entertaining in the dining room were Mrs. Luther Moser and Mrs. Robert Newman. Presiding over the dining table were Mrs. Cleveland Gaines of Canon, Ga., and Mrs. C. M. Newman of Bridgeport, Conn.

The dining room table was most artistically arranged. Overlaid with an imported lace cloth it was centered with the lovely three tiered bridal cake on a reflector which was bordered with bride's roses and fern and surrounded with silver candelabra holding white candles. Over the table hung a shower of wedding bells tied with misty bows of tulle. Delicious block cream, cakes, nuts, mints and punch were served.

MAY AWAIT WINTER'S
END ON SKYLINE WORK

The southern extension of the Skyline drive may not be built until spring, it was said at Luray. The first 10-mile stretch from Elkton to Waynesboro, which has already been let twice, and twice held up, once because bids were too high, and once because of difficulty in securing rights of way, may yet be delayed again, although nothing official has been made public on the matter.

The reason for the delay, according to information, is because the contractor hesitates to begin work in the winter time. In the construction of the entire drive it has been necessary to stop work occasionally during the winter, but on the whole little time has been lost. In constructing the northern extension, however, the contractor for the middle 10-mile stretch did no work at all last winter, waiting for the winter to break.

'OATS EXCELLENT IN PICTURES'
IS CLAIM OF TRAINED HORSES

Four star horses, 16 special horses, 75 extra horses.

During the production of Columbia's "Riding Wild," starring Tim McCoy, which will open next week Friday and Saturday at the Dixie Theatre, this order appeared on the same call sheet as the order for the star, the featured players, the "bit" players and the "extras."

Horses are accorded a certain definite dignity when they appear in motion pictures, it was revealed by studio executives. Properly screened horses are a rarity and their owners are paid as much for their services as the ordinary small fry screen player receives.

The lowest possible wage for a horse is paid when he is shown grazing in a field. His owner receives three dollars for this. When he is in a stampee with hundreds of others he receives five dollars. The lowest for a saddle horse is seven-fifty. Star, or highly trained horses, receive as much as fifteen a day while special trick horses may go as high as $100 daily. A good bucking horse, such as are used in rodeo scenes, receives fifteen dollars.

In "Riding Wild" Col. Tim McCoy was so careful of his mount that he brought six of his own horses from Montana to use in the picture. In support of the cowboy star in the film are Billie Seward, Niles Welch and Richard Alexander.

Now then don't forget to make it 1936 when you write.

Miss Eleanor Brower, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Brower, jr., of Purcellville, Va., spent Christmas with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Pattie of this city.

Master Gordon Pattie, young son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Pattie, was a week-end visitor of his sister, Mrs. R. L. Briggs, of Washington.

Mrs. Etta P. Lynn of Catharpin entertained at dinner on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Akers of Rock Hill, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Pattie of Belle Farm and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Akers and daughter Elaine of the Capital City. There's nothing so attractive as good, big, fat turkey.

Mr. Reginald Morrison and sister, Miss Edith, of Berryville, Va., were holiday guests of the W. Holmes Robertson family recentup.

Oakwood had as dinner guests on Sunday last Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Onley and daughters, Jean and Joan, and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Feuchsel and sons, Jack and Robert, all of Clarendon, Va.

The Catharpin Good Housekeeping Club met with Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson on Friday of last week where its members enjoyed a program of stunts suitable to the occasion. As a fitting climax to a very enjoyable afternoon, the hostess served a delicious turkey dinner and all its "fixins" to the delight of all concerned.

Mrs. E. S. Clary of Lawrenceville, Va., is spending the holidays with her sister, Mrs. J. W. Alvey, of Catharpin.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Caldwell of Six Acres were Christmas dinner guests at Oakwood on the great day we celebrate.

History seemed to be repeating itself last Monday morning when cattle from the Polen, Pattie, Alvey and Brower farms were driven or trucked to Gainesville for weight and shipment. This is somewhat of an innovation in this section since during the past few years the custom was to truck cattle direct from the feeding lots to market and take what was offered. Cattle buyers have visited this section frequently of late which seems to indicate that voluntary deliveries are not keeping pace with demands.

Mrs. Jane Elizabeth Compton, widow of the late Alexander H. Compton, died at her home in Alexandria, Va., on Friday, December 27, after a lingering illness of many weeks. Long a resident of the Sudley neighborhood but late of Alexandria, the deceased was always interested in the welfare of Old Sudley and the various activities of the community in which she lived. Funeral services were conducted from Sudley church at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon by the pastor, the Rev. A. B. Sapp, and interment in the family lot in the adjoining cemetery. The deceased was in her eightieth year and in departing leaves many a friend to mourn her loss. The funeral day was a sad sequel to a useful life. A heavy snow storm accompanied by high winds and almost zero temperature kept many from showing their respect to a departed friend.

Catharpin is now realizing that old adage that "The darkest hour is just before the dawn," however her experience is not with darkness but with State route 621. This route is now graded and surfaced from the Carolina road to Catharpin where it junctions with route 234 with the exception of about 1000 feet which had to be temporarily abandoned on account of weather conditions. About one week more would have finished the job to the satisfaction of all concerned, but its abandonment at this particular time left the road bed very rough and the big hill almost out of the question; travelers can get down but hard to get up again. So just now transportation is bad but the one redeeming thought is how nice it will be when the dawn arrives.

The first real winter arrived on Sunday when the winds toyed with snow flakes in a temperature of 6 above and leaving in its wake some 6 inches of the beautiful to make life either happy or miserable, according to the one whose opinion is sought. While carrying in wood and coal and trying to thaw out the old pump in the back yard and shivering in every joint, we look up and see the youngsters with their sleds having the time of their lives; the little, old stock-inkettes full of snow and bare legs dangling in the air as they, one and all, go walking up and sliding down in utter disdain of either snowflakes or temperatures. Well, you were a youth once yourself so we need not try to philosophize or explain it all way; my, but wasn't it great though? Happy, happy youth.

Mrs. W. S. Brower and children, Betty, Frances and Billy, spent Thursday in Washington trying to salvage some of the things Old Sandy had left in that neighborhood the day before.

Mrs. R. A. Collins and son, Fred, motored to Hampton, Va., on Saturday last returning on Sunday during the snow storm which just about upset Mrs. Collins' nervous system. She reports snow in that part of Virginia as much deeper than "up here."

The latest reports on the turkey question indicates that this neighborhood ate more turkeys this year than ever before. Every time one called his neighbor it was to learn that they were over at So-and-So's eating turkey. It seems as though about half of the population was over at the "other half's" on Christmas day, and the "other half" returned the visit some time during the week to even the score; thus while celebrating this great Holiday Season according to "Jolly Good Fellow" ideas and having the time of their lives, the "Old Turk" was footing all the bills. May his shadow never grow less.

CHARACTER STUDIES

With a selftimer on your camera, you can make "character" snapshots of yourself.

Did you ever stop to think that all of us have had a desire at some time to be a stage or screen star? deny it or not it is still true that we like to see ourselves in pictures although it may be just a snapshot.

Way down deep in everybody's nature is that feeling that we have certain points of similarity to some noted actor or actress. Then too there are certain facial expressions that we have cultivated which seem always to amuse our friends.

Now if you want to convince yourself of your ability—or failure—as a comedian or a tragedian you can do so quite effectively with your own camera. Put yourself in pictures.

Few properties are needed for these personal, informal character snapshots. Special costumes are not always necessary, for in many instances it will be the facial expression that tells the story. In the two pictures shown here, however, the costume plays a rather important part. A burnt cork, sharpened to a point, will help accentuate the features of the character you wish to portray.

You may find it difficult to hold a certain expression for more than a few seconds so have your camera-man have his camera properly fo-

THE HAPPY PRISONERS

Now in the brook
The trout lie low:
Under the ice,
Under the snow,
Silver in-silver,
Sheathed by cold,
Their skins still glitter
In speckled gold.
They swim idly
Up and down
Between the banks
Of withered brown,
They know surely
As man, by rote,
New songs will ripple
The water's throat,
Spring return
When the moss is green
Mirrored within
The water's sheen.
Up and down
Under the roof
Of frosted glass.

MAYNARD'S NEWEST PICTURE CONTINUOUS GRAND BATTLE ROYAL

The long trail suddenly ends—one against the mob—a young giant defending himself from the concerted attack of an organized gang of north-woods desperadoes—slashing blows of strong arms and iron fists—the whistling breath of muscular fighting men as they attempt to beat down the defenses of an intrepid Canadian "G-Man"—a magnificent battle-royal between the law and the lawless. Victory for the law. And then? What price justice? The thief he sought was his own brother. The trap had been sprung and the weakling he had sworn to protect was his first victim!

Such is the engrossing theme of James Oliver Curwood's "His Fighting Blood" which will be the featured attraction at the Dixie Theatre Friday and Saturday. Kermit Maynard is the star of "His Fighting Blood" and his portrayal of the Canadian Mounted Policeman who has already spent many months in prison for a crime committed by his younger brother is one of the finest this screen stalwart has ever given.

In his previous James Oliver Curwood action pictures, Kermit Maynard has had many opportunities to display his unique talents as a two-fisted scrapper, a master of horsemanship and lariat-caster, but none of such magnificent proportions as his role in "His Fighting Blood," that of a strong man protecting a weakling from the results of greed and youthful folly.

MONTHLY REPORT ON MARRIAGES

Old System of Annual Reports Regarded as Unsatisfactory.

Effective January 1 the new system of reporting marriages monthly to the Bureau of Vital Statistics in Richmond went into effect over the opposition of many county clerks who are said to favor the old system of reporting annually.

Dr. W. A. Plecker, State Registrar of Vital Statistics, has replaced the old system because of the difficulties occasioned by allowing the records to accumulate over so long a period. "The reports," he says, "are not all in at Richmond until spring, and then the tedious task of indexing them has to be completed before the information can be given out. If a runaway couple were married somewhere in Virginia in January, it would be impossible under the old system to give out this information, with the county unknown, until some 20 months later."

In Prince William County, where records are kept up to date, the new system is said to have been welcomed. "We like to clear these things out promptly," Deputy Clerk L. Ledman stated this morning.

PENDER

Mr. Roy Croson, who has been sick for about twelve months, passed away at Georgetown hospital on Christmas Eve. He leaves a wife and little boy a year old, one sister and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Croson of Pender.

Rev. Donovan conducted the services at Pender Church Friday and burial at Oakton, Va.

Guests of Mrs. F. Alder for Christmas were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Adams and children, the Cross children, Mrs. Helena Herrell and son of Luckett, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Alder and son, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Alder and little girl, Bettie May, Mrs. R. P. Gooding, and Miss Rachel Tinder.

Snow is getting deeper each hour and the men were out scraping the roads Sunday night.

Miss Dorothy A. Alder was visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Alder, on Sunday.

Alliene, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Adams, fell on the furnace and burned her arm and knee right badly. At this writing she is some improved.

It will be dreadful travelling for mail carriers until the roads are opened up.

Mrs. Greene of Jermantown will entertain Pender Ladies Aid on Saturday, Jan. 4.

Mr. George Beach of Jermantown has gone to Washington, D. C., to make his home with his daughter, Miss Mattie Beach, for the winter.

Mrs. Stokes, who was housekeeping for Mr. Beach, is now with Mrs. L. R. Sherwood, below Pender.

Mr. Sylvester Fox is quite poorly. He is 82 years old but able to be up and around the house.

Nell and Amelia Cross will entertain their S. S. social Saturday night, providing the weather isn't too bad.

Mrs. Florence Swart of Jermantown has been on sick list for several weeks.

A. E. ROSENBERGER

Allen E. Rosenberger, well known electrical engineer, died at his home in Alexandria, Va., Wednesday night, December 17. Funeral services were conducted at his home on Saturday afternoon by the Rev. William B. McIlwaine, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Alexandria of which Mr. Rosenberger was a member; and burial was in Culpeper, Va.

Mr. Rosenberger, the son of George Worthington Rosenberger and the former Kate Button McDonald, was born on February 19, 1881, in Culpeper County, Va., and lived for a number of years in Prince William County. He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Clara Ball King; a son, Clyde K. Rosenberger; a daughter, Dorothy Allen Rosenberger; a brother, George L. Rosenberger, and three sisters, Mrs. George W. Wilson, Mrs. Raymond C. Bailey, and Mrs. Guy W. Pelton.

Mr. Rosenberger's first electrical work was with the Western Union Telegraph Company. In 1908 he became associated with the Norfolk-Portsmouth Traction Company, and in 1912 and 1913 he was connected with the Appalachian Power Company of West Virginia. The following year he became superintendent of construction of the Virginia Electrical Power Company of Norfolk.

Mr. Rosenberger became associated in 1922 with the then newly organized Fairfax-Loudoun Light and Power Company; and since that year was intimately connected with the electrical development of northern Virginia. When this property was purchased by the Virginia Public Service Company

Mr. Rosenberger became district manager.

Mr. Rosenberger in 1932 became assistant superintendent of construction of the Virginia Public Service Company at Alexandria, which position he held at the time of his death.

JOHN LUTHER KEYS

John Luther Keys, eighty years old, died at his home in Manassas Wednesday evening after an illness of about a month. He had been a trusted and highly esteemed employee of the Southern Railway for fifty-two years.

He was born at Brentsville, Va., March 14, 1856, and is survived by two brothers, Robert of Brentsville and Edward of Cherrydale; a half-brother, William Arnold of Manassas, and a half-sister, Julia Arnold of Manassas; a daughter, Mrs. Maud Jenkins of Manassas and a son, Robert of Albertain, Md., and five grandchildren. Mr. Keys was the son of Jack and Margaret McCuen Keys.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday from All Saints Catholic Church at Manassas.

Mr. Keys had enjoyed especially good health all of his life and in earlier years enjoyed a reputation locally as a man of powerful strength. His record of faithful service during the fifty-two years of his employment with the Southern Railroad and his fine qualities, had endeared him to a large circle of friends.

THE WORLD AROUND US

By
O. J. Schuster

ALL THE WORLD IS QUEER except—you all know the conclusion. The old saying simply expresses the fact that every person is a separate individual who looks on the world around us thru his own eyes and sees it somewhat differently than any one else sees it. That's what makes life interesting, provided all the different viewpoints are free to express themselves fully and frankly as is the case in a real democracy.

MANY PEOPLE FEAR that when the Federal Government stops its spending for relief it may bring in a social convulsion or revolution. On this point Congressman James P. Buchanan of Texas, chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations, is quoted as saying:

They talk of convulsion when relief is stopped. The sooner we have it and get it over with, the better for the country.

A LETTER TO PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, signed by 45 nationally prominent ministers, commends the President for some things and criticizes the Administration for other things. We quote what seems to us the most vital statements made in the letter, regretting that space does not permit giving all of it:

Dear Mr. President: You have invited the clergy of the nation to offer counsel and advice relative to the ways in which our government can best serve our people.

The National Religion and Labor Foundation has just completed a survey of the social theory and action of religious leaders in the nation, in which 4,700 clergymen, representing 22 major faiths and denominations, responded. The facts gathered from this study give us a basis for reply to your request.

Thousands of ministers throughout the United States respect your purpose to change the economic situation for the benefit of the working people. They are willing to grant that you have done far more than any previous administration but they are convinced that you have not gone far enough. They deplore the fact that billions of dollars, necessarily appropriated for relief to the victims of injustice, have been spent without making any basic change in our social order. They know that conditions are still fundamentally unsound.

According to conservative estimates, 10,000,000 are still unemployed. No fewer than 20,000,000 people are still on relief. Official figures disclose that 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 young people, aged 16 to 25, have absolutely no constructive employment. Nearly 3,000,000 of these are on direct relief.

We hold that there can be no permanent recovery as long as the nation depends on palliative legislation inside the capitalistic system. The Social Security Act, however, noble its purpose, nevertheless fails to meet our need, and places a disproportionate burden on the workers.

We commend you for your loyal support of the Tennessee Valley Authority. True you made an effort toward more drastic regulation of the utilities, but the compromise you accepted is utterly inadequate. People are being denied the bare necessities of life, while an economy of scarcity to protect the profit system development of our national wealth would afford an annual income to be encouraged.

Studies of our potential productive capacity reveal that a socially plan-

Conservation and development of the States resources would fall far short of its complete objective if we were content only to make surveys and inventories of our forests, mineral deposits, water supplies and historical records and to develop parks for the preservation of selected areas for the use of our own people. As richly as Virginia is endowed with a genial climate, natural resources, scenic beauty, historic traditions, and charming hospitality, all of these would be of relatively little worth unless advertised beyond our borders. Through the Division of Publicity the Commission is striving to reach the traveling public and to inform it accurately and appropriately of the pleasures and profits that await it in Virginia. Our resources are publicized by means of attractive advertisements in periodicals having national circulation, by publications distributed by all of the divisions of the Commission, and by replies to an almost endless stream of inquiries. The educational value of this work is manifest. The commercial value may be simply expressed by the fact that tourists now annually bring $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 to the State and leave it widely distributed through all parts.

Each resident of Virginia is in a sense a participant in the work of the State Commission on Conservation and Development as he is in the State government. Much of the basic information passed on to our rising citizens depends upon the teachers of the State. Many of the impressions of Virginia's beauty and charm and hospitality depend upon what we as individuals do to make those things attractive and imperishable and cause them to linger long in the memories of our passing guests.

(THE END)

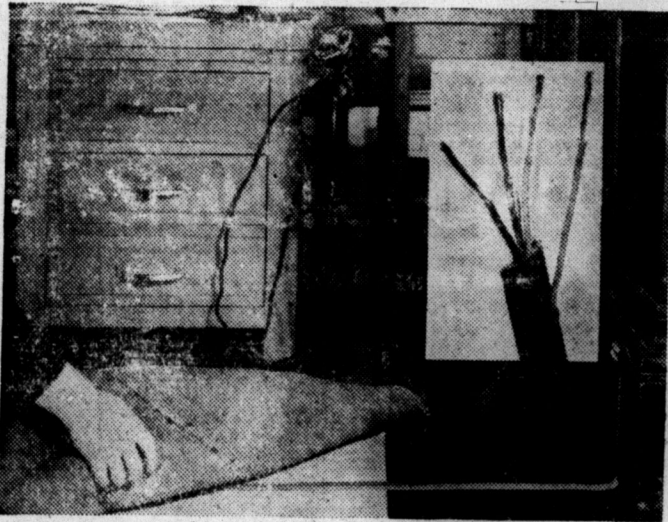

SHENANDOAH PARK ESTABLISHED

The Shenandoah Park in Virginia became the Shenandoah National Park, when Secretary Ickes accepted deeds to the 190,000-acre area, on Dec. 26.

The deeds were tendered in behalf of the state of Virginia by Wilbur C. Hall, state conservation and development commissioner. The federal action today consummated nearly ten years of effort by the state for the establishment of a national park in the heart of the Blue Ridge Mountain area.

Secretary Ickes expressed satisfaction that the Virginia "National Park has been brought to a consummation." Commissioner Hall said that "When fully developed, the new national park will constitute one of the greatest national recreational areas in the world."

Bell Laboratories Develop Under-Rug Telephone Cable

Use of under-rug telephone wires, displayed above, and (insert) the type of wires and insulation.

Telephones placed in service in buildings where conduit has not been built into the walls and floors to conceal the wires may now be installed by the use of a special type of inside wire designed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories for use under rugs or carpets.

This new type of wire is designated as a flat rubber cordage approximately one-eighth of an inch in thickness by seven-eighths of an inch in width. It contains four stranded wires, each insulated with rubber separate and distinct from the other, all wires being imbedded in a strip of brown rubber with bevelled edges so that when laid under a rug or carpet it is almost unnoticeable.

Each wire is enclosed in a separate rubber insulation of a different color so that the proper connections may be made at the connecting block or building terminal and at the telephone without loss of time by testing. This type of under-rug wire is giving splendid satisfaction and according to telephone engineers is filling a long-felt want.

More and more architects, builders and home owners are coming to realize the advantages of equipping buildings with conduit so that telephone wires may be concealed. The placing of such facilities during the construction of buildings results in concealing the wires and in making it possible to install additional telephones when desired at convenient locations without the use of exposed wires or the possible marring of the walls and woodwork. Use of conduits also protects the wires from interferences that might under certain conditions cause interruptions to telephone service from dampness, chafing by furniture or similar causes.

Telephone company engineers are always glad to cooperate with architects, engineers, builders and owners at the time that buildings are being planned to offer advice as to the proper installation of telephone conduit and receptacles for the installation of telephone apparatus.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

of at least wealth has not been substantially changed.

A sound economic order that would use our resources for the masses, free would lead to drastic reductions in armaments.

THIS LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT is at least worthy of the most careful consideration representing as it does the views of thousands of ministers as well as the 45 outstanding clergymen whose signatures are attached to it.

Ottawa, Canada . . . Construction projects contemplated by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, according to Commercial Attache H. M. Bankhead, of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in "Foreign Communications News," will involve expenditures of between four and five million dollars. The projects include the extension of long distance and exchange lines and the installation of dial service. A new building is estimated to cost between $750,000 and $1,000,000 and the dial central office apparatus, $3,000,000. Ottawa, a city of 190,000 population, is served by 35,300 telephones.

Sydney, New South Wales . . . Resourcefulness of a telephone operator brought medical aid to a sick man who was able to do nothing more than lift off the receiver of his telephone. Responding to a call on her switchboard, the operator heard only the ticking of a clock and the sound of heavy breathing. She transferred the call to a doctor, who decided that someone was ill at the other end of the line. Given the address by the telephone company, the doctor rushed to the house and found Robert McKay in a state of collapse beside the telephone.

THE WELL

For thirty years I've had something to tell About the merits of a good drilled well, My wells are made good and tight, Cased with the best of standard pipe, No surface water can enter there, That gathers filth from everywhere; Secure from rats, toads and snakes, Which often cause pains and aches. Don't be afraid a few dollars to spend—

The best is the cheapest in the end. My terms are easy and my prices are low, So don't hesitate, I can please you, I know.

When once it's done it always will last, And you will be happier than you were in the past.

Stock well watered will do with less feed. Let me drill your well and you'll have more 'n you need.

You may say what you will, but this I do think, Your health will be better if pure water you drink,

So take my advice of a very good plan, And come and see me as soon as you can.

A NOVEL OF THE OLD SOUTH

By H. J. Eckenrode

The story of Buck Musgrave, Southern gentleman, who devoted himself, before the Civil War, to the serious pursuits of life, particularly horse-racing, cock-fighting and hard drinking. The searing changes which the War brought to this son of the Old South, and his changed outlook in the Reconstruction period are presented with dramatic force.
