TB IN CHILDREN HARD DIAGNOSIS

Family Physicians will Advise on Request.

It is now a well known fact that most people who develop tuberculosis, get the germs in their bodies when they are children.

Most children who have gotten the germs in their bodies will not become sick if properly cared for in the beginning. But to be able to tell whether this has happened, it is necessary to give the tuberculin test, which is not painful and absolutely harmless. If the test shows that the child has the germs in the body, it is necessary to x-ray the lungs to see how much, if any, the disease has developed, because this disease in children can rarely be found without the x-ray.

Since tuberculosis usually runs in families, although it is practically never inherited, it is necessary to examine every member of the family, so that none may die for lack of treatment in the early stage when it can be cured.

During the week of July 13 in the Court House at Manassas will be held a free clinic for the diagnosis of tuberculosis in children, by a specialist of the State Health Department. This clinic will be under the auspices of the County Board of Health and in co-operation with physicians of the county.

On Monday, July 13, children who have been in contact with active cases of tuberculosis, and others sent in by physicians, will be given an examination and the tuberculin test for the disease.

On Tuesday, July 14, a clinic will be held for suspicious and contact cases among grown people recommended by the doctors or by the nurse, with the family physician's approval. Adults will be x-rayed on this day if found necessary.

On Wednesday, July 15, the children tested on the previous Monday should return for a reading of the test and for an x-ray of the chests of those who are found to show signs of the disease. Two x-ray plates of the chest are made. The x-ray pictures are not free, but the cost is very low. Another test will be given those who do not show tuberculosis on first test; these will be read on Friday and the chest x-rayed if necessary.

On Thursday morning adults will be examined by appointment, and consultations held with local physicians in regard to their patients. No patients are admitted on Thursday afternoon, as this time is all consumed in studying the x-ray films.

This children's clinic can come to the county only at infrequent intervals. The opportunity to discover hitherto unsuspected disease among children who have been closely associated with active tuberculosis, is a rare one and should be utilized.

Since all cases are referred to their physician for treatment, all who desire to have this examination must consult their physician and bring a written request signed by that physician, or make arrangements before the day of the clinic with the visiting nurse; otherwise they cannot be examined. The purpose of these clinics is to show the people how to prevent the development of active tuberculosis.

"REHAB" MONEY NOW AVAILABLE FOR FARM CO-OPERATIVE ENTERPRISES

Farmer co-operative enterprises now may be organized in Prince William county with the aid of funds loaned to such organizations by the Resettlement Administration, Percival A. Lewis, county rural rehabilitation supervisor, announced today.

Funds have been made available for loans to community and co-operative associations and to farm families for participation in such associations as well as in existing co-operatives. This is one of the means by which the federal government is helping farmers to gain new economic security.

Loans will be made to co-operatives that submit sound plans on a basis of a real community need for the service. There must be assurance that such an enterprise will be able to operate on a self-sustaining basis.

Mr. Lewis said he will be glad to receive the suggestions of Prince William county farmers at his office, Manassas, Virginia.

WILL HOLD COMMUNION

Rev. O. R. Kesner will hold communion at the Calvary U. B. Church next Sunday morning at 11:00 a. m.

KIWANIS HOLD REGULAR MEETING

The Kiwanis Club held a "prespent" meeting last Thursday evening, to accommodate the holiday seekers and mountain climbers.

After Ted Didlake and Bill Leachman laboriously explained the peregrinations of their program, it suddenly bounced back on their hands when Tommy French, of the Arlington Club rose to hold up the laurels of his group as extemporaneous orators (page Amos Crounse).

Tommy gave a real nice little exposition of his love for Virginia and all that therein lies, including present, past and future.

President Dick gave a pleasing report on the interclub meeting at Fredericksburg and explained why Albert Mylander left his wife at home.

Senator Conner made a splendid progress report on the battle celebration on the 21st and was loudly applauded.

MOTORCADE FORMS AT MANASSAS

Annual Tour Starts at 9 A. M., July 22.

Plans for the annual motorcade over the Skyline Drive by the Skyline Drive National Battle Field Park Tour Association on July 22 were approved by the board of directors at their last meeting, according to a statement issued by C. Archer Smith, president of the association.

Plans call for the formation of the motorcade at Manassas on the morning of the 22 at nine o'clock. Cars from Fredericksburg, Culpeper, Warrenton, Gordonsville, Orange and other communities will arrive in Manassas in time for the trip and will proceed from that place to Leesburg after going through the Manassas battlefield. The Leesburgers will join the party as it passes that point and will stop at Warrenton for lunch.

Immediately after lunch the party will leave for the drive, entering at the north end. Several short stops will be made on the drive after which the caravan will visit Standardville, Gordonsville, Orange, arriving in Culpeper for dinner after which the tour will disband.

This will be the second annual tour made by the associations, which was organized in an effort to attract visitors to the section of Virginia east of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Thirty-five cars made the trip last year and a greater number is expected to join the group this year. Manassas, Remington and Standardville are new members of the association, having joined this year.

Many prominent state officials have been invited to make the trip and it is expected that a number will accept. John Q. Rhodes, director of Motor Vehicles, has been requested to furnish a police escort for the tour.

JACKSON SHRINE GIVEN TO U. S.

House in Which Leader Died Is Donated by R. F. & P.

The Jackson Shrine at Guinea, scene of Stonewall Jackson's death, has been donated to the Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania National Military Park by the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad Company.

Jackson was wounded at Chancellorsville, near the present contact station of the park, on May 2, 1863, and his arm was amputated in a field hospital near the Old Wilderness Tavern soon afterward. He was taken to Guinea, then spelled Guineys, a station on the R. F. & P., on May 4, where he died of pneumonia, May 10. The house in which he died was one of the outbuildings on the Chandler Farm and is the only building still standing on the once extensive plantation. It has been maintained by the railroad for a number of years as a shrine.

The railroad has forwarded deeds to Washington, and only formal acceptance by the United States remains in order that the shrine may become a unit of the National Park service.

Her death is the occasion of much sorrow.

C., Major Stonewall Jackson, and Lieutenant Colonel J. G. Ord, of Fort Washington, and other modern army officers.

It will be a strange and interesting sight to see the present commanders in the roles of the famous military officers of '61 with Major Stonewall Jackson acting in the role of his namesake. The re-enactment will consist of exact reproduction in miniature of salient features of the first battle of the War Between the States. Infantry, artillery, and cavalry will be involved. Special uniforms will be worn, according to present plans.

The program will begin at 11 o'clock with a luncheon, served by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, for the honor guests. Lee," will begin at one o'clock, followed by the maneuvers which will last an hour or an hour and a half. After the re-enactment of the battle, the Fort Myer cavalry drill program will be on the same ground. The program will continue until 4:45, when a fleet from the Marine Corps will perform aerial combat over the field of Bull Run. Announcers will be at the loud speakers to explain the actions as they take place.

Provisions for easy movement of traffic and parking, for seating, and eating and drinking comfort will be arranged for visitors.

Recent improvements noted since last report:

Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Slack are installing improved bathing facilities and running water in their home at Occoquan.

Mr. and Mrs. John Powell of Woodbridge have started the foundation for a new home on the outskirts of Occoquan. We welcome them to our midst.

Mr. Ogle Harris is building a new porch on his home at Occoquan, nearly completed.

Mrs. Saluka Fitzgerald of Long Island, N. Y., who before her marriage was Miss Saluka Harris, is remodeling her home at Occoquan recently purchased from Mrs. Harry F. Slack. The old stable mentioned by scribe last week was also purchased by Mrs. Fitzgerald and will be repaired and remodeled; a decided improvement in this section of our town. The old town is on the upgrade from week to week, thanks to the New Deal in financially assisting the long forgotten man.

There were a large number of Motor Boats anchored off the own during the holidays, and some moored alongside the wharves. We are always glad to see those motor boat owners visit our town.

Mrs. Adelia P. Starkweather entertained several ladies at bridge on Tuesday, July 7. Excellent refreshments were served during an intermission.

ISSAC THOMAS CULLERS

Issac Thomas Cullers passed away at his home near Nokesville, Va., July 1, 1936, at the age of 72 years, 6 months and a few days. He was married to Miss Mattie Bell Griffith November 25, 1886. This November would have been their 50th wedding anniversary.

His sudden death was a great shock to all his friends and neighbors. He was a good man and a loving husband and neighbor. He leaves to mourn his lost, his dear wife, who has been an invalid for over six years, who has been a true and faithful wife as well as a friend and neighbor, always looking on the bright side of life.

Mr. Cullers will be greatly missed by all who knew him, "To know him was to love him."

The funeral was held in the Methodist Church at Luray, interment being in the Green Hill cemetery at the same place.

"I miss thee from my home, dear Husband.

I miss thee from thy place
A shadow over my life is cast
For I miss the sunshine of thy face.
I miss thy kind and willing hand
Thy fond and earnest care
My home is dark without thee
I miss thee everywhere."

Written for his dear wife by a friend of both.

TODAY In Politics . .

by Geo. Dent

On the farm, in the factory, student in high school and college, Argue pro and con with mooted knowledge:

"If we destroy 6,000,000 pigs, plow under cotton, corn and wheat. What are we going to wear, what are we going to eat?"

But alas! The noble experiment, the triple A Twitched and kicked and passed away;

In black robes the nine old men Said: "Ashes to ashes and dust to dust—Amen . . ."

The New Deal has tried "Just as I planned it" and still we have 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 out of work, and billions of 59 per cent dollars are being scattered by political economists . . . We seem to be a nation looking for the mythical pot of gold at the far end of a New Deal rainbow . . . Mr. Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, handed in a solar plexus jolt the other day to the tune of $33,750,000,000, on the debit side of the chest . . . This shatters all records . . . One year's spending $8,500,000,000; an excess of expenditures over receipts of 4,400,000,000 . . . After the sun goes down what are we going to use for money?

Beyond the dark cloud, Secretary Morgenthau claims he can see a rift, and far beyond the rift a bright patch of clear blue optimism and upon this transparent nebula he reads these words: "National income is rising; as a result Federal revenue is increasing; Federal expenditures are on the decline, and the National business is continuing to show steady improvement . . ."

Comptroller General John Raymond McCarl, watch dog of the Federal money bags, who has held down a non-political office for 15 years, walks out because his time is up; issues a warning, "Resists the powerful and resourceful forces which appear to be seeking broader administration discretion and wider latitude in the spending of public moneys . . ."

But after all is said and done—that particular thing that we call money is not wealth; it is true, we may exchange it for wealth; for instance, millions of new automobiles, electric and gas refrigerators, rugs, furniture, clothing, etc. . . The comforts of life that money buys is true wealth.

Humanity, (man, woman and child) is far more important in our golden link of society than gold bars at $35.00 per ounce . . . We own a great big piece of old mother, and if it is true that "Economic Royalty" is sapping our strength, depriving us of our birthright and handing us a mess of pottage in return; what man or woman among us but is willing to call a halt and help drive the money changers from the temple? To change our economic and political set up and make these states over into a "Promised Land," we must not close our eyes and pull the pillars of the temple down upon us, we must work and plan for safety, not building a visionary temple on a foundation of sand to be washed away; a wrong move in the dark will leave us with a burden of taxation entirely too heavy for future generations to carry . . .

Mr. Lemke, of the Union Party, says that he can see a way out, and Mr. Coxey, of Coxey's Army fame, dittoes Mr. Lemke's vision . . . Congressman Lemke, as you know, is Father Coughlin's presidential candidate, better known as the third party . . . The third party is perfectly willing to give you cream and sugar in your coffee . . . But they do not tell us how we are going to get the coffee, much less the cream and sugar.

The New Deal is willing to give to the farmers one bounty; the Republicans two, one like the New Deal bounty and one as an export subsidy . . . The third or Union Party, goes the two old parties one better and is willing to guarantee all of the horny handed sons of toil a profit.

The New Deal threw a bait to some 6,000,000 workers in industry, this bait consists of "Old Age Insurance" . . . Mr. Landon, the Republican top man in his Cleveland platform critizes the New Deal because of such short sightedness . . . and promptly raises the ante to 8,000,000 that should receive old age pensions . . . Mr. Lemke and Father Coughlin, of the Union Party, seem to say "Pfft!" and just as promptly raises the ante to Dr. Townsend's $300.00 around and around pension.

There you are dear voters . . . Take your pick . . . Yes, we have red lemonade when the circus comes to town.

We are not against the Social Security Plan; such a plan in one form or another is absolutely necessary to ward off Mussolini-ism, Hitler-ism and Lenin-ism . . . If the great masses of the people fail to see, feel and actually have social security in their old age, regardless of a job for every one when the spirit is willing and the flesh is young, there will be a reckoning, and on that day the clouds will be dark and our democratic form of government will be flying a new flag in place of the stars and stripes.

Custom still demands that a man 50 or 60 years old adorn himself with shirt, pants and shoes; and meat and bread is necessary to satisfy his hunger . . . At this age the doors of employment are locked against him . . . A practicable set up, whereby, Social Security is assured is just as necessary to the salvation of our country as water is to a Louisiana bullfrog . . . It is the drop by drop that wears away the great stone . . .

Mr. Norman Thomas is still bidding for a change; (You say there isn't a chance for Mr. Thomas—I'll agree, not at present) and who knows but what our blind and unreasonable treatment of the masses is not hurrying us headlong into Socialism or Communism? Mr. Earl Browder is a Communist Presidential bidder and the second candidate from that most Typical Prairie State of Kansas . . . He has been described as of the John Brown type; and for good count, onery and snarlish; yet, there are some 30,000 communists and more joining up every day.

Let not your hearts be troubled, we are still on top; we still have majority rule, not only freedom of that, but freedom of speech, press, and in a great many cases free to vote for and support a candidate of our own picking . . .

REMINISCENT

Mr. Editor: On one of many tempest-tossed hills which environ this picturesque little hamlet, are interred, the remains of five generations of our family. In 1782 when the immigrant Henry Seligman of Rotterdam, Holland, and his wife, Margaret Harmon of Germany first trod the soil of Prince William they established their home on "Rolling Farm" one mile distant from Occoquan and the burying ground of the family was but a few yards from their home. It has been, until recently, the burial place of all the family lineal and collateral. Henry Seligman found so much difficulty in hearing his name correctly pronounced that he changed it to its equivalent in English, Selectman, but the latter "t" was left out.

The German pronunciation is "Say-lick-man." Henry Selectman was a master iron forger. A path led from the old forge where he worked to his home at "Rolling." An old lady, Eliza Reeves, when I was a boy of ten, used to regale with stories of Henry Selectman. She was born in 1795 and he died in 1815. Mrs. Reeves described him as a man of prodigious strength, a neck like a bull, broad shoulders, and very fond of children, of whom he was the father of nine.

Among those who brought iron over to this old forge, part of its masonry may be seen today, was Daniel Morgan who later played a conspicuous part in the American Revolution. He organized a company of sharpshooters and later rose to a colonel. He was present in company with Aaron Burr and Benedict Arnold and General Montgomery in the American's attempt to take Quebec. General Montgomery was a highly cultured north of Ireland fientleman. He cast his fortune with the infant colonies. The State of Maryland detached part of Frederick county and named it in his honor—Montgomery county.

DEATH TO THE BEETLE

War against the invasion of Virginia by the Japanese beetle was launched this week by state botanists and entomologists. Crews of three men each will be sent in search of the beetle in areas of the Old Dominion where the insect has become established in such numbers as to present a risk of spreading to other sections.

These crews will operate in the following five general sections: Northeastern section: Loudoun, Fauquier, Culpeper, and Stafford counties.

Richmond area, including the city: Henrico and Manchester districts of Chesterfield county.

Elizabeth City county, including Hampton and Newport News.

Suffolk area: Sleepy Hole district of Nansemond county.

Eastern shore: Northampton and Accomac counties.

Commercial growers and private gardeners are prohibited from shipping their products of transporting soil, manure and other materials from infested or regulated areas under Japanese beetle quarantine imposed by both federal and state authorities.

The Word of God
If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

THE GREATEST VICTORY:
He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty and he that ruleth his own spirit than he that taketh a city.—Proverbs 16: 32.

HISTORY AND WHISKY

One of the better whisky distillers has blossomed out with a powerful sales appeal in full-page advertisements appearing in the glossy paper magazines. The gifted individual who concocted the copy, sought to make a great splash by linking the brand of usquebaugh in question to Thomas Jefferson, apropos of July 4.

The page, in colors, bears in large lettering the caption "A Masterpiece of Leadership," and shows Jefferson sitting at a desk with a quill in one hand and a document in the other. The reader is a bit puzzled as to the relationship between the master of Monticello and the brand of wet goods in question, until he learns from a line under the picture that it shows "Jefferson Drafting the Constitution." Then comes the text, in which the distiller's public is further advised that Jefferson "gave to his country the Constitution which not only guided its destiny during the early years of confusion, but survives today, truly a masterpiece of leadership."

The idea is that just as Jefferson's drafting of the Constitution was a "masterpiece of leadership," so the whisky whose sales appeal is entwined with this patriotic message, also is a masterpiece of leadership.

The only trouble about the business is that Jefferson didn't have anything to do with drafting the Constitution. He happens to have been in France at the time that task was in progress. Maybe the party who wrote the ad was so sold on his own whisky that he consumed large quantities before seeking the afflatus. At any rate, he seems to have become badly befuddled and to have confused the Constitution with the Declaration of Independence. It reminds us of the time we saw George Washington described in another magazine advertisement as "The Great Emancipator."—Times-Dispatch.

FLOWERS TO THE LIVING

There are some who would have us believe that men who run factories or business think only of themselves; that they have no consideration for people who work for them. The 30,000 inhabitants of Middletown, Ohio, apparently think otherwise.

This month, the whole town turned out to celebrate the 71st birthday of George M. Verity and the 36th anniversary of his connection with the American Rolling Mill.

Five thousand people walked in a parade on "George M. Verity Day." Delegations from Zanesville, Ohio, Ashland, Ky., and Butler, Pa., attended a luncheon in his honor. The 4,700 employees of the Middleton plant put on a free party for the entire town. Assessing themselves $1 each, they gave a vaudeville show, put on a spectacular fireworks display, and supplied free "eats"—sandwiches, lollipops, popsicles, ice cream, soft drinks. Even the merchants gave up their best day's business by closing on a Saturday afternoon and evening for the festivities.

That celebration was not staged because Verity had been a dogmatic and thoughtless employer, it was simply a case of giving "flower to the living."—Exchange

PIG CROP IS 413,000, RISE OVER LAST YEAR'S

The Virginia spring pig crop was 413,000, an increase of 12 per cent over the spring of 1935, but still below the average of 438,000 for the two years, 1932-33, according to the estimates of the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

The number of sows expected to farrow this fall is estimated to be 72,000 or 11 per cent above the number in the fall of 1935. This will be the largest number since the fall of 1927.

There was an increase of 17 per cent in the number of sows farrowing this spring, but owing to the unusually cold weather during February and March losses of young pigs were unusually heavy, so the average number of pigs saved per litter was only 5.9 compared with 6.17 in the spring of 1935.

HYMN FOR FARM WOMEN

Great God of all the nations,
From whose Almighty hands
The seed-time and the harvests
Bless all the waiting hands
For we are all Thy people,
Country women of the World.
From the homes of every country
Peace and friendship's flag unfurled.

Great God of all the nations,
From Thine all gracious hands
We ask Thy richest blessings
On homes of all the lands
For we are Thine own people.
Bless each lintel, flower and tree,
Bless the children of our households,
Lord, we put our trust in Thee.

Great God of all the nations,
We come a mighty throng.
With hand clasped hand in greeting
We sing a glorious song
A prayer for faith and courage,
Peace and friendship's flag unfurled,
From the homes of every country,
Country women of the world.

A HOME MANAGED BANK FOR HOME PEOPLE

(Questions That Are Asked About Banking)

"What does a Bank statement of condition show?"

BANK statements are divided in two parts, "Assets" and "Liabilities." The most important item in the statement is the amount the bank owes to depositors. The next, in importance, is the assets the bank has to meet these obligations to depositors.

The chief debt of a bank is the amount of deposits of its customers. Its chief resources for paying these debts are usually cash, deposits in other banks, loans, government bonds and other readily marketable securities. A bank's next obligation is to its stockholders for the money they have invested in the ownership of the bank. This item is listed on a bank statement as "Capital." Capital, surplus and undivided profits constitute added protection to depositors.

We invite you to read our latest statement of condition. A copy will be sent you on request.

CATHARPIN

A number of our people went to Skyline Drive on Friday of last week or tried to get themselves advantageously located some place along the route in order to see the President and the First Lady of the Land as they journeyed to that very interesting part of Virginia where the great Scenic Driveway was to be opened to the public; a great occasion indeed, for the Old Dominion.

Mrs. Gussie Lynn Webb of Chicago, Illinois, is spending her vacation with her mother, Mrs. Etta P. Lynn of this city. Mrs. Webb is employed in the Revenue Department of the Government and was sent to the "Windy City" from Washington some three years ago.

Mrs. Chas. R. McDonald of Oakwood, gave a Monopoly party for two visiting ladies in the neighborhood, Mrs. E. S. Clary of Lawrenceville, Va., and Miss M. Tima Latham of Charlotte, N. C., both ladies spending a seasonal vacation among friends and relatives in the community. Strange as it may seem, both the visiting guests left the game utterly bankrupt.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Willis and son and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sanders of Clarendon, Va., were visiting relatives in the neighborhood on Sunday last.

Miss Ann Robertson of Lawn Vale and Miss Anne Piercy of near Gainesville, spent the past week with Miss Louie Strother of Delaplane, Va., and other friends in that neighborhood. While there these young ladies being chaperoned to the Capital City on Friday by their hostess, seeing the Presidential party approaching, immediately "detained" and standing at attention by the road side, received the Executive smile and salute much to their youthful delight and enjoyment; an experience they will long remember.

But what was true of the young ladies, however, was not true of all who wished to enjoy a vision of our President. A gentleman from this immediate community, went to Warrenton to make sure of a much coveted opportunity of seeing the F F A, (First Family of America); was very conveniently located for a good view, but just about the psychological moment, when things were just about to happen, an old lady who was standing on the fender of her car, fell off into the gutter. Immediately the aforesaid gentlemen rushed to her rescue and while so, gallantly trying to restore the lady to an upright equilibrium, the Presidential party passed out of sight so that neither one, either rescued or rescuer, were privileged to enjoy the much coveted sight. Well, if that was not the perversity of things, what would a perversity of things be?

Another very enjoyable Monopoly party was given on Monday night by Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson at Lawn Vale to a number of neighbors and friends who seem very much interested in this fascinating financial experiment from which some left the game in high glee, rolling in riches of houses and lands, while others were left penniless without even street car fare home. But as is usual upon such occasions, along among the "wee sma' hours" of early morning, the salad-ice tea-sandwich course makes its appearance which goes far toward healing the broken hearted unfortunates of the game. A very pleasant evening, indeed, was the delightful experience of all.

Well, if it isn't something else it's sure to be some other darn fool thing, so why worry? The latest in the entertainment line is a game called "Monopoly" and if ever a game was called by its proper name, this is it. At first the term "monopoly" is not conducive to great acclaim since its association with some business affairs where one gets the "buge" on some one else, or where somebody monopolizes the evening with a supposed glibness of tongue; but this is different. If it is "time" that one wishes to monopolize, this game will do it to the Queen's taste. However, if we were called upon to rename the thing, we should like to call it "The Poor Man's Paradise," because he may sit in on the game and have the privilege of counting his money by the hundreds of dollars; he gets rich sometimes, then in debt, then out again (maybe); buys hotels, improves property, builds houses—all in such a fascinating way that for the moment he almost visions himself a millionaire. As a child experiences as much thrill with her broken dishes as though they were whole, so one can almost forget his poverty, imagine great wealth and soar away in the realms of high finance, handling much and experiencing a thrill not often found in daily life; but in contradistinction to this beautiful idealism one often finds himself in jail, or, penalized for certain infractions of the "law" and always taxed at an unexpected moment to an extent equal to the New Deal's requirements as prophesied later on. So taking it all in all, the game might be classed as "A Preparatory Course in High Finance" to prepare one for future eventualities, either pleasant or otherwise; all done in such a happy-go-lucky way that it is both entertaining and amusing. It portrays Wall Street in all its fullness because when the game is over, some of the players are bankrupt beyond recovery while others are basking in the delightful atmosphere of accumulated wealth gained by "shearing the lambs" who now are groveling in misery and poverty. So this is "Monopoly."

Mr. C. L. Reading, County Officer, was in the Catharpin neighborhood recently checking up on losses caused by the depredations of sheep-killing dogs which have been infesting this community of late and which have caused loss and daage to flocks both of sheep and fowls. It is quite unfortunate that losses of this nature have to be sustained, more especially since in most cases it is done by dogs owned by people unable to properly feed them so that they soon find their way to sheep pastures or contact turkeys on the range. The worst feature of it all is that these depredations so demoralize the various kinds of flocks that what is left hardly pays to continue the activity. True, the dog tax from the county is an easement but people would much rather have their flocks intact. Mr. C. L. Reading is certainly doing his official duty in every respect to help these unfortunate situations and to rid the community of worthless dogs.

BOY SCOUTS TO HAVE BIG YEAR

National Jamboree at Washington Next June.

Nearly a half million boys will enjoy camping experiences in Boy Scout camps this summer, according to the National Camping Service of the Boy Scouts of America. For most Scouts it will be training for the first National Scout Jamboree to be held in Washington, D. C., late in June and early in July 1937.

Camping has been one of the principal year-round activities of the Boy Scouts of America since its inception in 1910. There are some 542 permanent summer camps maintained by the local Boy Scout Councils.

These camps a total area larger than Rock Mountain National Park. Swimming is conducted under the supervision of experts at the Scout camps throughout the nation. Non-swimmers are taught in shallow water and usually they have become proficient in swimming before they leave camp. Last summer 16,290 Scouts were taught to swim in Council Camps alone, bringing the total in the past twelve years to 216,038 taught in Council Summer camps.

Since Health and Safety are two subjects uppermost in the minds of those giving leadership to Scout camps, periodic surveys are made of the camps, their sanitary facilities, their kitchens and their programs. Larger camps have hospitals with regular physicians in charge; in all camps there are men trained in medical care. Daily inspections are made not only of the Scout's personal health but of diets, food preparations, cleanliness and sanitation.

Each boy is required to fill out a health history blank, certified to by his parents and family doctor, and is given examination before he is accepted as a camper. The procedure not only protects the Scout but his fellow campers.

Summer camps afford abundant opportunities for Scouts to become more proficient in Scoutcraft and progress to higher Scout ranks. Nearly every camp has its nature museum, many of which are the summer homes of small animal life. Nature trails enable Scouts to study the trees, birds and animals.

All Boy Scout camps arrange for a boy's fulfillment of his religious duties. The twelfth point of the Scout Law says, "A Scout is Reverent" and goes on to explain that he is "Reverent to God." He is faithful in his religious duties and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion.

Emphasis is placed, nationally, on Troop Camping within the Council camp, because it recognizes and strengthens the Troop as a Unit, enables more Troop leaders to camp with their boys and take an active part in the camp program, trains individual Scouts in Troop leadership by the Scout method of "learning by doing" and results in a greater camping experience by more boys from each Troop. Through these Troop camps the local Scout officials are enabled to observe closely the methods and leadership ability displayed by each Troop under ideal Scouting conditions.

QUIET TALKS ON RELIGION

By Dr. James T. Marshall

In His Hands

The scene is laid by the shore of the Sea of Galilee. Jesus forgives Peter for his cowardice on the night of the trial and restores him to his full apostleship. The Master also forewarns him of the roughness of the road which lies ahead of the violent death which would be his lot. Noticing John standing by, Peter asks, "Lord, and what shall this man do?" The Master's reply is a rebuke, but it is administered with such gentleness that it carries no sting, "If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? Follow thou me."

Each one of us is kept safe in the hollow of God's hand and we should implicitly trust Him. Peter was not to worry about what might happen to John. His only legitimate concern was about himself and his own fidelity.

We are assured that "the steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord, that He is with us" all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to His purpose."

Life would be intolerable without such an assurance, and faith in the guiding hand of God finds daily confirmation in our personal experience. "In each event of life how clear Thy ruling hand I see, Each blessing to my heart most dear Because conferred by Thee.

In every joy that crowns my days, In every pain I bear, My heart shall find delight in praise Or seek relief in prayer."

Such a faith should lift us above discontent and envy of others. Half the world's ills spring from discontent with our own lot. The average rich man is unhappy because someone else has acquired a greater fortune than he has. Raise a man to political power and he immediately begins to grasp after more power. All this leads to personal unhappiness and wrong doing, and often to deeds of crime.

No one can consider himself poor if he possesses Christ and all discontent should be displaced by profound gratitude. Do not worry about what other people have. Live in the consciousness that you are one of the world's truest millionaires, and get into the habit of saying each night before you close your eyes, "My times are in Thy hand; My God, my friend, my soul I leave Entirely to Thy care."

W. P. A. TO ISSUE TOURIST'S GUIDE

To show Virginians the romance, resources, history and progress of their own state is one of the objectives of a guide book now being compiled by the Federal Writers Project of W. P. A., according to Dr. H. J. Eckenrode, state historian and director of the project in Virginia.

The Virginia volume will be one unit of a nation-wide tour book, "The American Guide," which will be issued from editorial headquarters in Washington.

"Much of the information for the American Guide," Dr. Eckenrode said today, "is from scattered sources not conveniently available to the general reader. The 500-page book on Virginia, like those prepared in other states, will be a kind of American Baedeker, and will present the most comprehensive survey of Virginia and Virginia life ever published within the covers of a single volume."

About 76 research workers, writers and editors are employed in the project. Some sixty of these people are on relief. They collect material in the field or in the libraries of Richmond, Norfolk, Roanoke, Fredericksburg and Charlottesville and are working under the direction of supervisors.

RUSSIAN ENVOY AT HANOVER

President Designates Bullitt to Represent Him.

Designation by President Roosevelt of Hon. William Christian Bullitt, American ambassador to Russia, as his personal representative to open the Patrick Henry bi-centennial celebration at Hanover Courthouse, Wednesday night, July 15, gives national interest in the exercises. Accompanied by Hon. R. Walton Moore, assistant Secretary of State, Mr. Bullitt will make a brief talk on "Patrick Henry" which will be followed by the presentation of the pageant-drama "Liberty or Death," a spectacular presentation of incidents and episodes in the life and time of Patrick Henry, patriot, statesman, and first Governor of Virginia.

James Bell, star of "Tobacco Road" and other Broadway successes, will play the role of Patrick Henry; and will be supported by cast of upwards of 1,000 persons, each of whom has received rehearsal instructions from Dr. Howard Southgate, pageant director, and T. Beverly Campbell, playwright and author of the script.

Governor George C. Peery has issued a proclamation designating the week of July 12, as "Patrick Henry Week."

SHOULD GIVE HORSES REST AT PERIODS

Because of the scarcity of work stock, there seems to be a tendency this year to over-work farm animals. An animal can stand up under a great deal of hard work in summer, provided it is in good condition, well fed, fairly free from parasites and in good general health. Animals in excess flesh during hot weather do not stand the heat well. When the weather is very hot, teams should be stopped frequently with their heads pointed toward the wind, and preferably in the shade. In any event teams should be stopped frequently enough in hot weather so that the driver can study his team to determine its distress. If no horse in the team is in distress the team may proceed with the work. Short, frequent stops are always a safeguard. Watering in mid-morning and afternoon is also advisable.

"Scottie Demonstration Car"

See the New Gasoline Economy of the FORD V-8—demonstrated before your eyes!

WE have painted up a "Scottie Car" simply to demonstrate the increased mileage of this new 1936 Ford V-8.

It is not a "special" Ford car. It is a regular 1936 stock model Ford V-8 with distinctive exterior decoration and a glass gallon jug connected with a Zenith tester. No adjustments have been made to make it perform differently from any new stock car. The jug is added so that you can see a measured amount of gasoline used with your own eyes, instead of having it come from the tank at the rear.

Take a ride in a "Scottie Car." See for yourself that a Ford V-8 is just as economical on gasoline as smaller, less powerful cars. You can arrange it without cost or obligation. Call YOUR FORD DEALER 20 miles per gallon at 40 miles per hour constant driving speed—see it for yourself with this glass measuring tank.
