GOVERNOR SPEAKS TO KIWANIS

"Cy" Carruthers Makes Interesting Talk.

"Cy" Carruthers, former Governor of the Capitol District, was an honor guest of the Kiwanis Club last Friday evening. "Cy" made an impromptu talk on the principles of Kiwanis as applied to character building in which he gave some very graphic examples. It was a fine talk, such as "Cy" is noted for.

With Arthur Boatwright as spokesman, the Club heartily welcomed back to the fold, Percival Lewis. Arthur was called on in an hand manner, just like "Cy" Carruthers, and he battled pretty near as good. Arthur got a hand on some of his expressions, and may have given "Cy" some of the inspiration for his subsequent remarks.

Percival also had good delivery, and made the Club wonder how they had allowed him to remain loose so long.

A letter from Mrs. William Lloyd was read, reminding the Club of the Red Cross drive which started this Wednesday. Also an invitation noted for an interclub meeting at Fredericksburg on Tuesday evening to which a small crowd of the local Club journeyed.

A Red Cross program is in order for tomorrow evening and will likely be in the hands of the Roll Call chair.

A WORD FROM THE 8th DISTRICT CHAIRMAN OF THE YOUNG DEMOCRATS

Fairfax, Virginia, November 9, 1936
Messrs. W. H. Lamb and Roger Wharton,

Dear Mr. Lamb and Mr. Wharton: I wish to take leave to express my appreciation of the splendid work which you performed for and in behalf of President Roosevelt, Senator Glass and Judge Smith in the campaign just ended.

More particularly do I appreciate your loyal co-operation with the County Democratic Committee and Young Democratic Club of our County. Your loyal support meant a great deal in the re-election of our Nominees by a vote which greatly exceeded that of 1932.

With kindest personal regards, I am,
Sincerely,

EXPERTS TO DIRECT SOCIETY SHOW

Junior Women in Promoting Charity Affair.

Misses Sara Jane Jose and Sally Rhett arrived in Manassas on Sunday, November 8, to direct a big community entertainment which will be given under the auspices of the local Junior Women's Club for the benefit of charity. The play, "Sky High," will have approximately fifty characters; it will be presented on Friday and Saturday, November 20 and 21, at exactly 8:15 p. m.

Miss Jose comes to Manassas highly recommended. For the past four years she has taken an active interest in dramatic art. She has studied at the University of Missouri where she was a member of Workshop, the experimental theatre of that school. While in the university Miss Jose directed a one-act play, "Last Flight Over," which won first place over plays entered from thirteen states in a Midwest Folk Play contest. She played a number of character roles in the production given by Workshop.

Last winter Miss Jose was instrumental in establishing a Little Theatre in her home town and was head of that organization. At the same time she conducted a private school of Practical Dramatic Art for children. She is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity.

Assisting Miss Jose is Miss Rhett, whose home is in Bedford, Va. Miss Rhett has been very prominent in the dramatic activities of her community.

F. E. ROLLINS

On Wednesday, November 4, 1936, Frederick Early Rollins died in his 68th year of his life. He was born in Prince William County, Va., October 4, 1868.

He married Gertrude E. Breen of Gainesville, Va., who survives him.

Besides his widow, he is survived by seven daughters and four sons; Mrs. Katie Griffin of New York; Mrs. Marie Ingold of New Jersey; Mrs. Lillian Twombly of Herndon, Va.; Misses Carrie and Emma of New Jersey, Helen and Regina of Falls Church, Va.; and Leo of New Jersey, Shackelford, Ray and Robert of Falls Church, Va.

Also three sisters and three brothers and eight grandchildren. He was laid to rest in the Rollins cemetery of Wellington, Va.

Mr. Rollins will be very greatly missed in both communities by his unflinching courtesy, kindness and affability he had won a host of friends.

And let this be said of him, that he was a true friend who loved his God and his neighbors as himself.

"On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets."

May he rest in peace.

His life was short and happy. His sorrows were but few.

May he gain that home in heaven? Now that his earthly tasks are through.

WOMAN'S CLUB PEACE PROGRAM

Eminent Guest at Armistice Day Meeting.

The Woman's Club of Manassas at their regular monthly meeting Wednesday, November 11, had as its guest speaker, Dr. Esther Brunauer, Secretary of International Relations, for the American Association of University Women.

Dr. Brunauer spoke on "The Significance of Armistice Day" and gave a most interesting and comprehensive outline of war and the cause of war, through the ages. She began her discourses by telling of the reasons and methods that the people of the Barbarian ages had used to settle their disputes and differences, and of how each succeeding age and generation had improved and made use of the weapons and more deadly methods of warfare until at the present age not only the combatants, but all people were in danger of being annihilated by air forces, gases, control of food supplies and necessities of life.

Dr. Brunauer further urged that today we must look more calmly at the situation and remember the past wars, which have followed them, and the revolutions and economic conditions which have followed them, to weigh carefully the loss in human life, commercial stability and economic security.

This splendid address was most fitting, followed by a beautifully rendered solo "Recessional" by the Rev. John M. DeChant of Manassas, the theme of "Lest We Forget" being most appropriate and fitting.

The Club was most happy to have among those present a number of former members, and invited guests, members of the Haymarket Club, and the Kiwanis Club of Manassas.

It is the hope of the Club to bring to these monthly meetings outstanding speakers on subject of interest, and to make the meeting a forum for the discussion and pleasure of the community as a whole.

The club in its business session, voted to hold its annual Christmas Assembly for the young people of the town, and adjacent counties. Mrs. A. A. Hooft was selected as General Chairman to head up the most important occasion.

A donation was made to the Health Committee of the Bennett School to assist with the Dental Clinic.

Three new members were received into the club, Mrs. Conway Seely, Miss Sue Ayres and Miss Ruth Smith. Committee reports indicated considerable activity along the lines of promotion of music, gardening, literature, and civic work had been going on along the past month and many interesting and worthwhile projects were being planned for the coming months.

The social hour and refreshments under the direction of Mrs. C. Wade Dalton assisted by Mrs. Mamie Lynch Delaney, Mrs. W. A. Duling, Mrs. J. B. Tavenner, Mrs. David Ferguson, brought to a happy ending, another "perfect day" for the club.

At three o'clock there will be a joint meeting of the High School and Bennett Community Leagues at the High School which will be held for the purpose of observing Educational Week.

An Educational program will be given and it is urged that patrons make a special effort to be present. This will take the place of the regular monthly meeting.

UNFORTUNATE ACCIDENT

The many friends of Mr. Paul Cooksey, Jr., were shocked and grieved this week to learn of his accident in Richmond on Monday.

It seems that a piece of heavy highway machinery mashed a foot so badly that a portion of the foot had to be amputated.

Mr. Cooksey is said to be recovering very nicely at the hospital, except for the shock of the accident. His father and mother went to Richmond on Tuesday to see him.

COMPETITION FOR U. D. C. PRIZES

State and Local Announcements Made at Last Meeting.

The November meeting of the Manassas Chapter U. D. C. was held at the High School on the afternoon of November 4. Mrs. M. M. Washington led the Lord's Prayer and Mrs. R. A. Hutchison the salutes to the Confederate and United States flags. During the historical period, Mrs. T. J. Ashford gave an interesting talk on North Carolina, the 10th State to secede. She read articles on the lines of Daniel Boone and Wilbur Wright.

The usual reports from officers and committees were heard. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $298.85 in building fund and $26.26 in checking account.

Mrs. C. E. C. Johnson solicited old clothes and shoes for the relief work.

Mrs. W. A. Newman told of having recorded the deed to the new lot.

The chapter was honored by a guest from the Old Dominion Chapter in Lynchburg, Mrs. J. W. Johnson, who now lives in Washington, D. C. She expressed much pleasure at being in Manassas. Mrs. Barbour from Fairfax sent word to the chapter that the day she spent here July 21 was one of the two high points in her life.

Mrs. Ashford, Mrs. Hutchison and Miss Speiden were named a committee to select a subject for the eighth grade this year. The Eloise Armstead Sinclair Prize goes to the eighth grade.

Miss Speiden spoke on State prizes offered this year and was very pleased to learn that Mr. Peters of the Manassas High School was interesting the senior and junior classes in competing for the State prizes of $25 and $15.

To stimulate this interest, Mrs. R. L. Byrd offered a motion that this chapter give yearly prizes of $2.50 each to these two classes on the same subjects used in the State contest. The motion was seconded by Mrs. R. A. Hutchison and carried.

The following hostesses served delicious candies: Mrs. E. Spitzer, Mrs. B. F. Knox, Mrs. R. A. Hutchison and Mrs. R. S. Hynson.

The December meeting place will be announced later.

MRS. CHAPMAN HONOR GUEST AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

ANNUAL DINNER OF LOCAL FIREMEN

Many Distinguished Guests Attend Function.

The annual firemen's banquet was held at the Prince William Hotel seven o'clock Monday evening, with President George B. Cooke officiating as toastmaster. Dr. Cooke made a warm little speech of welcome after which Rev. John DeChant pronounced the blessing.

Following an excellent turkey and ham dinner, Mayor Harry P. Davis made the formal speech of welcome. In his remarks Mr. Davis warmly lauded the co-operation received from the neighboring towns and larger cities which he declared was available at all times and whose help was a strengthening factor in the work of the local department.

Dr. Cooke then introduced the guests, all of which followed in due form and in a few moments everybody knew the other one.

Hon. M. C. Hazen, chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Washington, gave one of his usual humorous little talks, assuring the local group of the co-operation of the Washington Fire Department. He then introduced the 1st speaker, Battalion Chief, O'Connor who addressed the meeting on "The Value of a Volunteer Fire Department to a Town." He explained in a rather dramatic way what would be the fate of any large city without a highly trained fire department, and what the effect would be on society in general.

The epitome of Chief O'Connor's talk was built up around the matter of the operation of the fire equipment itself and the risk of life involved.

The speaker declared that more firemen are injured responding to calls than are actually injured at the fires.

He spoke rather slightly of many of the speed tests, asserting that such matters proved very little and often resulted in serious injuries to the participants. He stated that the slogan of any company could be expressed in three things. First, "no accidents"; second, "no failures"; and third, "smaller fire damage."

He closed his remarks by urging the firemen to have the greatest patience with the occupants of the premises where fires were being extinguished.

Mr. Hazen then introduced the second speaker, Major Daniel J. Donovan, fiscal officer of the District of Columbia. Both the remarks of the introducer and the introduced were mutually in a high degree of compliment. Mr. Donovan made the dramatic statement that, although he had been employed in the District of Columbia since the 1890's and a life long resident of the Capitol City, he could never remember a volunteer fireman of any portion of the District of Columbia. He briefly touched upon what he called the second line of defense of the National Capitol and declared that the rural fire departments had been called on a number of times to help in a serious conflagration.

Mr. Donovan gave a very interesting discussion of the Washington Fire Department and placed it as one of the most efficient fire fighting groups in the United States today. He informed his audience that it now cost two and one-half million dollars per year to maintain this department.

Reverting to a recent affair, of which everyone is familiar, Major Donovan quoted President Roosevelt in the remarks that the latter made upon his return to Washington last Friday morning when he said, "I am very proud and happy as an American in this wonderful Capitol of ours, for it's not only the most beautiful city in all the world, but I think it is one of the grandest cities to live in, in all the world."

Mr. Donovan gave many interesting facts, one of which was a matter also touched upon by Mr. Hazen and that was the portion of the cost of maintenance of the Capitol City now being borne by the Federal Government. He showed the declining ratio from 1878 when the Federal Government paid one-half of all the expenses down to 1933 when it was reduced to a flat jump sum of five million dollars. He declared that the native Washingtonian felt that this was not a just and equitable discharge of the Federal obligations toward the Nation's Capitol and that the amount was inadequate to continue and maintain Washington as the most beautiful City in the world.

In conclusion Major Donovan quoted another President, Mr. Coolidge, citing remarks made to the open session of the 69th Congress in December, 1926.

Where a NUMBER appears following a name, it is to indicate the PARTICULAR farm upon which the higher score was attained.

REMARKS: ANOTHER MONTH HAS ROLLED around—a month filled with all sorts of action—from public hearings on the cost of milk production—to the National Election—thank goodness it is all over for a while and we can all get down to our job once more.

The honor roll shows its usual number of changes—some fall from their pinnacle of fame, and others step out from the ranks and take their place. Our old friend Fred falls from first to fourth place, while Middleton and Brogden, who in the last announcement received only "Honorable Mention" comes right up from the ranks and takes first place. Clinton Ballenger moves up from third to second place. H. A. Pancoast also comes from "Honorable Mention" to second place. John R. Clemens from fourth to third—W. D. Sharratt of Bristow and Mrs. Martha Ely of Leesburg, Virginia were not satisfied with just "Honorable Mention" so they join forces and came up for third prize.

We have five winners in the fourth prize class this month, which is quite unusual—S. H. R. Fred, Middleburg Virginia—William U. Waters, Mt. Airy, Maryland—John H. Blakely, Conowingo, Maryland—Ira L. Burdette, Monrovia, Maryland—M. C. Graybeal, Bel Air, Maryland. The number of producers receiving "Honorable Mention" for October is nearly twice that for the month of September, this is a good healthy sign as it shows a proper fighting spirit—Keep it up—don't stop till you are in first place. With best wishes for continued progress, I am,

Very Truly Yours,

A CARGO OF CULTURE

A vast cargo of culture is daily carried over the ether waves of the United States. Loaded in Washington, the cargo is delivered through the radio loud speakers to thousands of American citizens, reaching those in the most remote outposts of our national life.

Behind this, the most famous school of the air, is the enterprises of the Federal Government. Making use of the discoveries of its vast research staff, the Government, through the Office of Education, is disseminating information and instruction on a scale never before attempted. The story of the venture, one of the most novel ever undertaken in the field of education, is told in an illustrated article in the feature section of The Evening Star, Saturday, November 14.

COALS OF FIRE—If thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink; for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head.—Romans 12:20.

VINDICATED AND CONFIRMED

x x x x The great fact nevertheless stands out. Mr. Roosevelt made few promises for the future and conceded nothing to compromise the New Deal. He ran on his record, and by his record he is justified. His New Deal not only is vindicated but also is confirmed. Over the new seventy-fifth Congress, his influence probably will be as great as it was over the Congress that ends its official life in January. This is assured by the fact that few changes in membership have occurred, and those, more often than not, in the defeat of enemies rather than in the loss of friends. x x x x.

x x x x Behind the immense majority given Mr. Roosevelt yesterday there lies the determination of millions that government shall not be controlled by a small, wealthy class. The average American detests violence. He proved that during the first years of the depression, which passed without bread riots. He demonstrated no less plainly in the election yesterday that he distrusts men of the Coughlin-Lemke type. Demagogues were discredited and disdained. Yet the campaign undoubtedly witnessed the definite development of a more positive liberalism. x x x x.

It may be taken for granted that the New Deal will postulate taxes, personal and corporate, that will make impossible the creation of another Rockefeller or Ford of Mellon fortune, or the bequest, tax free, of such a fortune to the second generation. National recovery and the diffusion of economic well-being will however, permit the development of industries of moderate size and of fortunes ample enough to protect a man against anything but the lust of money. For the rest, who can deny that the limit of ability of government to improve the economic life of depressed classes will be in direct ratio to the speed of recovery? If the national debt increases more rapidly than the nation regains lost wealth and creates new wealth, then there will be not only fiscal bankruptcy but likewise the wreck of all our hopes for a large diffusion of economic advantage. On the other hand, if federal expenditures are wisely adjusted to the rate of recovery, then we believe the tax revenues of the country, without oppressing industry, will suffice for such an enrichment of life as would a decade ago have seemed impossible.

It is here that Mr. Roosevelt will face his greatest difficulty. By no means all his advisers are politically wise. Some are too impatient, some are too short-sighted. These men and women will tell him today that America has made him a dictator, and that he can press his program as rapidly as Mr. Hitler or Mr. Mussolini has pursued a contrary course. For the present, at least, the most unreasoning element in Mr. Roosevelt's circle will be the most aggressive.

Against its injudicious counsel, the President must steel himself. More than ever, he must realize that his political power is a national trust. He has no such latitude as was his, ere the national debt was doubled, to spend lavishly wherever there seemed promise of even momentary gain. There must be the most careful discrimination between those enterprises that are opportunistic or extemporized and those that promise enduring return. His place today is not on the front porch of his home at Hyde Park but on his knees in his closet, there to pray God that he may not go forward so slowly as to disappoint the nation's reasonable hope or so fast as to destroy the nation's enduring ability to achieve its future. His second administration thus will present a greater test than his first four years. It is for those of us who believe in fiscal sanity to seek, as best we may, the balance between haste and tardiness, between waste and investment, and then to give the President all the support in our power to time the advance wisely. x x x x

"What does 'liquid' mean in banking?"

THE term "liquid" in banking, is used to denote assets in the form of cash or readily convertible into cash.

A bank does not keep all of its depositors' money in currency and coins, for such money would stand idle. Some is used to buy Government or other bonds and commercial paper, and some to make short-term loans. These are liquid, because they may be quickly converted into cash. Long-term investments, such as mortgages, are not considered as liquid because they cannot always be turned into cash promptly and without sacrifice—even though they represent sound value.

One of the banker's problems is to keep his bank liquid enough to satisfy all probable demands of depositors for funds, and yet participate, by sound loans, in the constructive development of the community.

CATHARPIN

O K AL!

The report is going the rounds out this way that there was an election on Tuesday, November 3, 1936. Did you hear anything about it? Some one even said that Roosevelt was elected president.

Well, at any rate, every thing is all over but the shouting and the shouters are feeling so sorry for the non-shouters that their modesty regards their enthusiasm so much they hate to do it.

We don't see why Maine and Vermont don't just rise up and make it unanimous. But what are 8 little electoral votes between friends anyway?

Never-the-less we are ahead of the Literary Digest. We, long ago, prophesied that Catharpin would go Democratic and she went. Whenever we say anything you better be "looking a leedle oud," it might be true.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sanders and Mr. W. L. Sanders, jr., of Arlington, Va., motored to the city of Catharpin on election day to exercise the right of suffrage which is vouchsafed to every citizen and which right every citizen should exercise.

You know elections always bring surprises. One is often surprised at the distance some will travel in order to vote; and again one is surprised at the number of people living almost under the eaves of the voting booth who fail to pay their poll taxes in order to qualify for that privilege. This condition, oft times, proves embarrassing to the election officials who, of course, have nothing to do with it, but who seem to be looked upon as partly responsible for the situation. It were far better if all would see to it that this necessary requirement be fully met as per the laws of the State and thus save disappointment and sometimes chagrin.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dorsey and daughter, Louise, of Berryville, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. James Dorsey and Mr. and Mrs. Deuterman of Arlington, Va., were election night visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson listening in on the returns.

A meeting of all official members of the Sudley congregation will be held immediately after Sunday School next Sunday to discuss matters of improvement to the church building. This was not known in time for announcement from the pulpit at last services. A full representation is greatly desired.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lynn of Catharpin served a delicious birthday dinner at their home on Sunday last in honor of Mrs. Lynn's mother, Mrs. Metz, of Manassas, who has just turned her 85th mile stone. Sixteen relatives and friends including sons, daughters and grandchildren were present to enjoy the feast and to wish the guest of honor still more returns of this always happy, annual occasion in the Metz family.

The Catharpin Good Housekeeping Club met this month with Mrs. J. W. Alvey of Catharpin for its regular meeting on Thursday of last week. A recent acquisition to the club's membership was Mrs. Hamilton Latham of Snow Hill, a recent bride in the neighborhood, who is thus early seeking knowledge along the lines of culinary arts with special references to good dinners for which this club is noted. We wish her unbounded success.

If you ever sat on an election board, you no doubt, felt that time hung heavily on your hands during the long intervals between votes. Bad as this is at a general election, it is worse at a primary when but three men are on duty and the intervals longer. But this one was different. The members of the board, realizing the heavy responsibility resting upon them as the "Representatives of the People" proceeded to follow the example set by that august body down in Washington known as the "House of Representatives" where they draw down ten thousand per year; so this board organizing for business by electing the Hon. W. Holmes Robertson of the Lawn Vale District, Va., as the Democratic Floor Leader and the Hon. R. A. Collins of the Marble Hill District as the Republican Floor Leader. It was early realized that it were useless to elect a Speaker since all five members of this dignified body "spoke" both in turn and out of turn thus filling that office so full that an elected Speaker would have had no chance whatsoever of functioning in an elective capacity.

The session lasted continuously from sun-up until sun-down and Man, O Man! If our officers were not qualified to lead their respective clans to battle, we would not know where to look for them; "All day long the debate went on." Sometimes one was ahead and sometimes the other; all going gloriously until some one came in to vote when things would simmer down and all assume a dignified air of importance especially if the voter were a lady. If the voter were of the masculine gender, the fun and confusion would go on with added alacrity until the tin roof over head would cry out for silence and order.

But the nice part about the whole was that all was said and done in such a jolly good humor, and (strange as it may seem) had a whole lot of good sense and wit mixed with it so that the whole thing constituted a fairly well balanced ration. Some of the voters were so interested in the "House proceedings" that they were loth to leave the sacred precincts of the polls in the proscribed limit until notified by the "Sergeant at Arms" that time was up. A sack of apples and a "poke" of candy supplied by two of the other "Honorable" served to lubricate and sweeten things as the debate wore on with its wit, humor, pathos and logic until the "House adjourned" sine die when all members expressed themselves as having had a mighty good time. One voter upon leaving the polls called back and said: "Roosevelt will carry everything except Maine and Vermont." We are sending his name to the Literary Digest as a prognosticator worth having around.

But, here's a pretty good one for our lady politicians to wind up the campaign with. In an old paper, now constituting a part of an old dress pattern, this remark by Hetty Green, the richest woman in the world, was found: "A woman hasn't any head for politics—The happiest woman is the one who sits by the fireside and says 'yes dear' to every stupid remark her husband makes." Now mind you.

FIREMEN

"If our Country wishes to compete with others, let it not be in the support of armaments, but in the making of a beautiful Capitol City. Let it express the soul of America. Whenever an American is at the seat of his Government, however, travelled and cultured he may be, he ought to find a city of stately proportion, symmetrically-laid out and adorned with the best that there is in architecture, which would arouse his imagination and stir his patriotic pride. In the coming years, Washington should be not only the art center of our own country, but the art center of the world. Around it should center all that is best in science, in learning, in letters and in art."

The members and guests present included J. E. Rector, R. L. Leith, Raymond J. Davis, A. G. MacMillan, J. A. Vetter, chief; John M. DeChant, George B. Cocke, Edmond O'Connor, Wash, D. C.; Harry P.
