MANASSAS, VIRGINIA THURSDAY, NOV. 26, 1936

SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 A YEAR

PENSION PLAN INAUGURATED

Postmasters Mail Out Forms to All Employers.

On Monday of last week postmasters through the United States began delivery of a form to be filled out by all employers in business and industrial establishments, and returned immediately. On November 24, 1936, United States Government will begin administration of the Social Security Act which was so widely discussed during the presidential campaign and which is designed to bring old age security to 26,000,000 throughout the nation.

Tuesday morning postmen began delivering applications for the accounts to employees, on the basis of reports their employers were required by law to make by last Saturday night. If an employer reported one or 100 people in his hire, as many forms will be delivered to his shop with a few to spare. The employees have until December 5 to return their questionnaires.

This law has been widely confused with an old age assistance law not yet effective in Virginia and which requires state legislation. The present law is administered solely by the Federal Government from a new agency in Washington known as the Social Security Board with a branch office in 12 regional cities throughout the United States. Virginia belongs to region four which includes West Virginia, North Carolina, Maryland and the District of Columbia with headquarters in the National Theater building in Washington, D. C.

The taxes called for in this law will be paid equally by the worker and his employer. For the next three years beginning January 1, 1937, each will pay one cent on every dollar earned. After three years each will pay one and one-half cents on every dollar. Three years later this will be increased to three cents. Twelve years from now beginning in 1949 each will pay three cents on every dollar earned. The Government collects both of these taxes from the employer and the whole amount plus a three per cent interest will be paid to the employee after reaching the age of 65.

If the employee should die before these monthly payments begin, his family receives a cash payment amounting to three and one-half cents on every dollar earned.

There are other minor provisions of the act and the chief activity at this time will consist of assignment of account numbers to all workers so that there will be no mixup over identifications and to make certain that every worker gets the full amount due. It is stated that there will be no restriction of the freedom of the individual and that he will be able to seek employment as he pleases. It will merely be the concern of the Government to keep a record of his earnings from now on.

It is stated that farm workers, domestic workers in private homes, government employees and a few other kind of jobs are not subject to the provisions of this law. Additional detailed information can be secured from local postmasters and from the Social Security Board, Washington, D. C.

DAISY F. HYDE

Mrs. Daisy F. Hyde, wife of John T. Hyde, died last Saturday morning at her home in Bristow after a short illness. About a week ago she suffered a paralytic stroke, and little hope for her recovery was held from the beginning.

Mrs. Hyde was a native of Fauquier County, the daughter of the late Hugh Watson and Betty Jordan White. She moved to Bristow thirty-five years ago, shortly after her marriage, and has lived there continuously since that time, with the exception of about two years at Calverton.

She is survived by her husband, John T. Hyde; three sons, John P. Hyde of Bristow, William H. Hyde of Alexandria and Joseph R. Hyde of Washington; two daughters, Mrs. Nele Hyde Holmes and Mrs. Charles Humphreys of Manassas; also seven grandchildren and a foster daughter, Margaret Doyle.

Also three brothers, Hugh J. White of Panama, Paul White of Washington and Henry S. White of Manassas; two sisters, Mrs. Lila C. Drowne and Miss Bessie White of Broad Run, Va.

Funeral services were conducted from All Saints Catholic Church in Manassas with interment in the Manassas cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. Joe Rollins, Jennings Davis, Jim Smith, Hunton Tiffany, John Sullivan and Bonham Ayres.

PLANNING EXPERT TELLS METHODS

Gives Kiwanians Many Interesting Facts.

Major C. J. Carlo, of the State Planning Board, was present at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club last Friday evening as the guest of Town Manager Cooke to give the members an insight as to the personnel and program of the State Planning Board. Major Carlo explained the wide scope of the study program which included all types of public works, conservation, soil erosion, flood control and the like.

The speaker explained the make-up of the board as comprising thirteen of the leading civic and business executives connected with the State government.

He also showed how the staff cooperated with the resettlement administration in its advisory capacity and in the work done by which statistics were made available for definite planning.

The speaker showed the great value of interdepartmental planning for the purposes of simplification and economy. He gave one very graphic example, namely the location of the largest educational institutes with regard to the improved highways, showing how mistakes had occurred which could have easily been avoided through close co-ordination of the executive departments in the state.

Mr. Carlo also spoke of the educational work which was carried on and the manner and methods of mapping activities along a number of lines.

He showed how the public works program is being advanced through the efforts of the State Planning Board. He gave definite examples of a number of basic studies which have already been made concerning population, trade, natural resources, county government and other matters of general interest. His conclusion probably contained the most interesting statement of all when he told his audience that an intensive study of all highways is now being made by his board.

Mr. Carlo's talk was well received and regarded as one of the most instructive and interesting among those to which the club has listened in recent months.

STATE CONTESTANTS WILL MEET AT CHARLOTTESVILLE

Miss Hilda Lion who was voted second in the local beauty contest several months ago will represent Prince William County in the State Contest at Charlottesville November 30. The contestants will have a real screen test and be judged accordingly.

Mr. Everett Kline, winner of the Amateur Contest, will also be in Charlottesville to compete for the State Amateur.

Both of these young contestants will be highly entertained during the contest and we all wish them good luck.

WATERS-McGEHEE

The wedding of Miss Lucile Elizabeth McGehee daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William N. McGehee, and Lieut. Dabney Waters, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dabney Waters, of Manassas, Va., took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in St. Alban's Episcopal Church, with the Rev. Charles T. Warner officiating.

White chrysanthemums and white tapers were arranged against a background of ferns and palms. The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, wore a gown of ivory satin made on bouffant lines with a circular train. Her veil fell from a Mary Stuart cap of tulle outlined in orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Her sister, Mrs. James Lemon, as the matron of honor, wore a gown of cinnabar velvet fashioned on empire lines, a twisted band turban of the same material, and carried yellow roses.

Miss Helen Bell, of Atlanta, Ga., her cousin, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of chartreuse velvet and a wreath of yellow roses in her hair and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Waters, Miss Vivian Reed, Miss Betty Crane, Mrs. Joseph Flournoy, Miss Katherine Perry and Mrs. Edward Sullivan. They wore gowns of sea green velvet designed with short full sleeves and voluminous skirts and carried bouquets of talisman roses.

Lieut. Samuel Pemberton Moncure acted as best man. The ushers were Lieut. E. S. Pearce, Lieut. Comdr. J. Conover, Lieut. J. W. Leverton, jr., Lieut. L. M. Hustin, Lieut. J. C. Wylie and Lieut. W. C. R. Robards.

Following the ceremony there was a large reception at the Army and Navy Country Club. The bride and bridegroom, with their parents, received on the sun porch. Mrs. McGehee wore an imported gown of gold lace, with a brown velvet turban and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Waters had on a gown of Dubonnet velvet made on empire lines and a small close-fitting hat of the same shade.

After a wedding trip Lieut. Waters and his bride will make their home at the Northshore Apartments, Norfolk, Virginia.

BANKERS HOLD ELECTION

Forty-two members of the Prince William-Fauquier-Loudoun Clearing House Association held their annual banquet and election at the Prince William Hotel Tuesday.

The group contained practically all of the bank officials and directors in the above named area.

Names of guests and the officers elected will be given in next week's issue of the Journal.

BINGO PARTY

The Odd Fellows will hold a Bingo Party at Independent Hill on the evening of Friday, December 4. The small charge covers the entire evening of play and the refreshments.

Robinson as "Tom Sawyer"

The book exhibit proved of much interest as it was not generally understood what a number of interesting books in different fields the Library already has. "Books to grow on" was the theme for this year's Book Week, and many of this type were to be found in the exhibit.

BUY XMAS SEALS

Prince William County's total Christmas seal and bangle sale last year was $531.46. Of this amount the county received from 70 to 80 per cent.

The seals you purchase helped to supply milk and cod liver oil for many Tuberculosis children; paid for the X-ray of many children; purchased clothing for patients who were sent to the sanatorium, and supplied transportation for patients to and from the clinics.

You will receive the seals in a few days. Will you please purchase all you can? Virginia stands third in death rate from Tuberculosis in the U. S. Please do all you can to help reduce this rate.

ANNUAL DINNER MUCH ENJOYED

Local Masons Gather at Festive Board.

The Masonic banquet which took place at the high school last Thursday night was one of the most portentous that has graced the fraternal boards of Manassas for a long time.

Hon. C. A. Sinclair, the toastmaster, presided over the meeting, with invocation by Rev. Stuard Gibson, of Dettingen Parish. Following the singing of America a sumptuous banquet was served.

After the dinner was complete, Col. R. A. Hutchison gave a very hospitable address of welcome to which Mrs. Sedric Saunders responded in like vein.

Charmie Sinclair, accompanied by Mrs. John Bhoaddus and Mr. Lewis Carper, rendered several pleasing selections.

The speakers were Hon. H. P. Davis, Mayor of Manassas, and Prof. R. C. Haydon of the local school system; W. H. Brown, jr., trial justice of Prince William and Rev. H. P. Baker, the new pastor of Grace M. E. Church, South.

All of these talks were as inspiring as the theme from which they drew their source. Naturally all dealt with fraternalism and the meaning of Masonry in its broadest and truest conception.

CLUB PLAY IS A BIG SUCCESS

Junior Women's Presentation of "Sky High" Well Attended.

The Junior Woman's Club play, "Sky High," which was held last Friday and Saturday nights in the high school auditorium, proved to be a tremendous success, both in a financial and entertaining way. Concluding two weeks of fast, furious work, the able young director, Miss Sarah Jane Jose, and her assistant, Miss Sally Rhett, combined a three-act play, a baby contest and several chorus numbers into an evening of keen interest, fun and comedy.

The actors and actresses, chosen from the young people of the town, deserve much credit for the performance they gave. Having had only a week in which to memorize their parts and practice, and never having practiced on the stage before the opening night, the resulting play which they presented was one to be proud of.

Taking the leading roles were Miss Esther Warren Pattie and Mr. Earl Griswold, who ably enacted the part of sweethearts. Miss Kathryn Luck as the villainess, almost secured the animosity of the audience, so well did she carry out her part. Mr. Frank Staples, who finally won her heart and reformed her, was equally good. The comedy team, Mr. Sedrick Saunders, the correspondence-school detective, and Miss Irma Ball, the hired girl, confirmed their apt ability by the unrestrained laughter of the grown-ups and particularly of the children in the audience. Mr. N. Sillings and Mrs. Aylene Guthrie also lent comedy color to the play by their Irish brother and sister characterization, which rather difficult parts were well acted. Mr. Thomas Kite, looking very handsome indeed in his aviator's uniform, ably portrayed the part of the pilot of "Sky High," the plane around which the play centered. Mr. Stewart McBryde, the colored porter and man-of-all-work provided another source of comedy by his droll actions and sayings. The gypsy girl, Miss Margaret Hottle, lent a bit of mystery to the play as she carried out her part as a fortune teller, dressed in a brilliantly colored costume trimmed with tinkling bells.

Several chorus numbers throughout the evening proved quite entertaining. A group of high school girls, in attractive costumes, tapped through the Troopers, Air hostesses and hi-hat chorus in true chorus style. The Dutch Dance, done by ten junior grade students, was loudly applauded by the audience while Mr. Saunders and Miss Ball in the background clumsily imitated the little dancers as one of their comedy stunts.

Probably the most interesting feature was the contest. About twenty-three merchants of the town sponsored a child, which was voted for a penny a vote by customers of their stores. After the many lovely children, cunningly dressed by their mothers for the occasion, had been lead across the stage and introduced by the play director, it was finally announced that the first prize, a check for $2.00, has been won by Lois Cornwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cornwell. Her runners-up were Betty Miller and Italo and Romana Papa.

The attendance at both presentations of "Sky High" proved the interest of the townspeople in the club of young women which has so distinguished itself in its five years of existence. Having charity as its main objective, the club each year gives several entertainments, the proceeds of which are used for various needy benefits. As a result of the large attendance at its play, the club realized almost $100, which sum will be used throughout the year for charity needs.

EMBREY-EMBREY

A very quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. R. M. Jenkins today when Miss Mary Ellen Embrey became the bride of Virgil Elmer Embrey.

MEMORIES
The Sillouety of an Old House
(Lines on Rippon Lodge)
By LILLIAN BOAZ BRADY
I stand upon a stately hill
And dream of days of yore,
When visitors from far and near
Passed through my open door.
Imprinted well upon my mind,
Are days which interlace,
When powdered wigs and crinolines
Were worn with regal grace.
The ladies curtsied wittingly,
While men would bow quite low:
Abounding culture filled my rooms
Alit with candle-glow.
As hoop-skirts were the fashion then,
My doors were very wide,
So maidens with their gallant beaux
Could enter side by side.
My mantles rare, of ancient wood,
Tell tales we still can hear,
For over them broad mirrors hung
With glass superb and clear,
And ladies, passing to and fro,
Would stop to take a peek
To see if powder had come off
And left a blushing cheek.
My floors have felt the foot-steps
Of guests of high degree,
And all in case of danger
Knew a secret way to flee
I overlook a noble stream
And many a lovely glade,
Where many a swain would plight his troth
In moonlight to his maid.
My panelled walls and fluted halls
My treasures of old time;
My boxwood 'round the trellises
O'er which the roses climb;
My woods of walnut, oak and pine
And giant coffee trees—
All these are seasoned with the wine
Of magic memories.
My owner rides o'er bridle-paths
Which once were carriage roads,
On which occurred, in older times
Historic episodes.
I'm older than Mount Vernon too—
Oh yes, about a score—
And each and every year is filled
With rich, romantic lore.
The Ellises possess me now
And give me tender care,
So I don't miss the Blackburn love,
Of which I had full share.
I've lived beyond two hundred years;
My age I never dodge,
For I'm not only old but proud—
My name is RIPPON LODGE.

MEMORIES
The following poem was inspired by the picture which appeared in this paper at the time of the Battlefield Celebration on July 21 and is supposed to be the words of the drummer boy who is lying on the ground near Stonewall Jackson.
(Dedicated to the U.D.C., Manassas)
Take me home, boys;
My days on earth are nearly done.
I've seen enacted here to-day
The battle of Manassas and Bull Run.
That fight between the Blue and Gray,
Back there in sixty-one.
Our soldiers here to-day
Have played their parts quite well;
I seemed to see my comrades again—
Heard the good old rebel yell.
And the past comes back so close to me
As I stand again where my comrades fell,
And our gallant General Bee.
Oh would that all our battles
Could be fought as this one was to-day!
And loved ones safe from wars' alarms
As were the birds we saw along the way.
Those baby birds that safely lay
Where thousands rode and walked to-day.
It seemed a symbol—something more
Than mortal man could understand
A lesson planted there
By Gods own hand.
You ask me what part I played
Seventy-five years ago?
When upon this very ground
We met the foe?
I was a drummer boy with Johnson's men
Back there in sixty-one—
Just a slip of a lad
Too young to handle a gun.
I was beating my drum quite manfully
When the forces met that day.
I was as eager as the best
To be in the thick of the fray.
But midst the rain of shot and shell,
I was wounded and fell
Close to the place where "Stonewall" Jackson stood.
Firm and brave as a general should.
Forgotten were my wounds that bled;
Forgotten were the foes that fled;
Forgotten was the time and place,
As I gazed on his beloved face.
For I seemed to see a glory there
That no one else on earth could share.
Now take me home boys
A few more days will mean the
journeys end for me.
My beloved Generals again I'll see
In that vast eternity,
Jackson, Johnson, Bee and Lee.
"Forgotten was the time and place
as I gazed on his beloved face."

Take me home, boys;
My days on earth are nearly done.
I've seen enacted here to-day
The battle of Manassas and Bull Run.
That fight between the Blue and Gray,
Back there in sixty-one.
Our soldiers here to-day
Have played their parts quite well;
I seemed to see my comrades again—
Heard the good old rebel yell.
And the past comes back so close to me
As I stand again where my comrades fell,
And our gallant General Bee.
Oh would that all our battles
Could be fought as this one was to-day!
And loved ones safe from wars' alarms
As were the birds we saw along the way.
Those baby birds that safely lay
Where thousands rode and walked to-day.
It seemed a symbol—something more
Than mortal man could understand
A lesson planted there
By Gods own hand.
You ask me what part I played
Seventy-five years ago?
When upon this very ground
We met the foe?
I was a drummer boy with Johnson's men
Back there in sixty-one—
Just a slip of a lad
Too young to handle a gun.
I was beating my drum quite manfully
When the forces met that day.
I was as eager as the best
To be in the thick of the fray.
But midst the rain of shot and shell,
I was wounded and fell
Close to the place where "Stonewall" Jackson stood.
Firm and brave as a general should.
Forgotten were my wounds that bled;
Forgotten were the foes that fled;
Forgotten was the time and place,
As I gazed on his beloved face.
For I seemed to see a glory there
That no one else on earth could share.
Now take me home boys
A few more days will mean the
journeys end for me.
My beloved Generals again I'll see
In that vast eternity,
Jackson, Johnson, Bee and Lee.
"Forgotten was the time and place
as I gazed on his beloved face."

Action—Not Words!
Today school children take part in health programs and understand the how, why and wherefore of preventing such communicable diseases as tuberculosis. They learn by doing. Christmas Seals have done much to stimulate this modern method of health teaching in the schools.

MARINES REACH NEW MILESTONE
(Born: November 10, 1775.)
He is always rather dapper,
But a real two-fisted scrapper,
Eager for a fight or frolic on any foreign scene.
He is faithful, true and steady
And he always has been ready
To uphold his country's honor—the United States Marine.
When the tide of war he's breasted,
Never once has he protested,
Even though the odds against him were enough to make him quail;
When the outlook was the gravest
He has always been the bravest,
For he knows the corps' tradition,
A Marine must never fail!
So his birthday we'll remember
On the tenth day of November,
For the welfare of this country he has been forever keen;
Always fair and open-hearted,
But a whirlwind when he's started,
He's a bulwark of the nation—the United States Marine!

PAMUNKEY RESTORATION
Virginia may have as a historical tourist attraction a reproduction of a Pamunkey Indian village as it stood in King William County at the time of the settlement of Jamestown.
Plans for building the village were discussed yesterday morning by interested State agencies, county officials and Pamunkey representatives at a meeting with Wilbur C. Hall, chairman of the State Conservation and Development Commission.
The conference was held at the request of William A. Smith, Virginia WPA administrator, after the Pamunkies had requested WPA aid in building the settlement.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 18.
The Golden Text was "Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us" (Hebrews 9: 24).
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life. And not only so, but we also joy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement" (Romans 5: 10, 11).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "That God's wrath should be vented upon His beloved Son, is divinely unnatural. Such a theory is mad-made. The atonement is a hard problem in theology, but its scientific explanation is, that suffering is an error of sinful sense which Truth destroys, and that eventually both sin and suffering will fall at the feet of everlasting Love" (p. 23).

IMPOUNDING INCREASES

Improperly parked automobiles in Washington are being hauled off to the impounding lot of the Metropolitan Police Department in increasing numbers these days, because three new crane cars are on duty.

Tales about persons who find their automobiles missing are told next Sunday in The Star by Capt. M. D. Smith, captain commanding the traffic division, and Sgt. John J. Agnew, in charge of the collateral office. All three cars are operating 24 hours daily 29.

and traffic officials hope that rush-hour congestion will diminish as citizens are temporarily deprived of their transportation after taking chances on illegal parking.

Beware The Cough
From a common cold
That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results. Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER
If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

GODLINESS PROFITABLE:
For bodily exercise profiteth little; but godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come.—1 Timothy 4: 8.

"OFFER UNTO GOD THANKSGIVING"

The Hebrew psalmist many centuries ago enjoined his people to offer unto God Thanksgiving. He further instructs that it is not lip service that the Master requires. Reward is promised for a cup of water given in His name.

Thanksgiving means hearts uplifted in gratitude for blessing received and it is worthwhile to note that the Scripture emphasizes the fact that it is more blessed to give than to receive. This fact brings us the message that in returning thanks for mercies received, we should have greater cause for gratitude if we have given in His name to others from the store His love has given us. Even in His bounty the smallest offering of love to His little ones is remembered with blessing.

Thanksgiving is a time for giving unto others with thanks to our Heavenly Father that He has bestowed upon us the power to give.

TOM FRANK

We note with deepest regret the retirement of our friend Tom Frank from the newspaper field. No man in the State of Virginia is more highly regarded for the sterling qualities that make the man and gentleman than Tom Frank.

To the gentleman who succeeds him we offer our felicitations but he's got to step high if he equals Tom.

THANKSGIVING

At this season of the year we have cause to be thankful for many blessings. Among the greatest causes of satisfaction is that which comes from the thankfulness which comes with the knowledge that habits of thrift throughout the year have resulted in a substantial bank balance in a friendly and safe institution like ours.

"Are profits essential to sound banking?"
YES, over a period of time, reasonable profits are essential to sound banking. In other business enterprises.
During recent years banks generally, like other businesses, have found it difficult to operate profitably. Costs have increased and income has decreased. The decrease in income has been due chiefly to less demand for commercial loans, lower interest and reduced yield on Government bonds and other high grade investments. Consequently, banks have found it necessary to practice drastic economies, reduce interest rates on time deposits and to making service charges on checking accounts if insufficient balances or excessive activity caused an operating loss.
A bank's first duty to its depositors—and to itself—is to build up, from earnings, its surplus and reserves.

million March hares mastering the multiplication table. This Universal laugh riot, starring William Powell and Carole Lombard, opens at Pitts Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, November 30 and December 1.

The screen story relates the adventures of William Powell, portraying a butler in the delightfully dizzy Bullock family. One daughter, played by Carole Lombard, falls in love with him. Her sister tries to have him jailed. The maid falls in love with him, too. The mother likes him, but she has a parlor pet of her own.

Amateur cameras blazed away at these two fires. A time exposure of 3 seconds was used for the picture of the night fire (left), with the lens set at f.8; a 1/25 second snapshot speed for the day fire, also at f.8.

FOR drama and action take your camera along to the next good fire in your vicinity. Nothing offers the alert snaphooter a better opportunity for vivid, interesting pictures. Day or night, it doesn't matter, and be at the fire as early as possible. Don't forget a couple of extra rolls of film, else you will return regretting scenes you had to miss for lack of ammunition. Think what you have to "shoot" at. Billowing smoke with its weird formations, the glistening streams of water rising aloft from the firemen's hose, the firemen putting up their ladders or precariously perched on them as they play their hose into windows belching with smoke and flame, the street turned into a lake and reflecting the action, silhouettes of the fire engines, the tangled hose lines, and later perhaps the gaunt ruins. Chances are best, of course, in the daytime, but at night, although you get less detail, your pictures are likely to be more spectacular. You work by the light of the flames.

Their "lurid glare" from behind windows or as they shoot skyward from the roof becomes a reality on your film. You get mostly silhouettes, but just the same they tell you vividly the dramatic story of "Fire!" With a tripod, or with the camera held on some solid support, time exposures of night fires are easy; without a tripod or some support, supersensitive film will be needed if you are to get the spectacle in a snap. With a fast lens (f.6.3 or faster) you can make 1/25 second snapshots of brilliant blazes. Some amateurs are regular "fire bugs." They make a hobby of fire pictures and at every alarm dash to the scene. They climb trees and scramble up porches and roofs for viewpoints, slip through police lines for "close-ups" and do other perilous things in their enthusiasm. But one doesn't have to take chances. There are always good pictures; at a good fire from any point of view. "Clang! It's a triple alarm! Gimme my camera!" JOHN VAN GUILDER.

CATHARPIN

Now that the scarlet fever scare has subsided and the afflicted ones well on their way to recovery and no new cases threatening, the community is again on the anxious seat due to the breaking out of whooping cough in the family of Mr. R. L. Anderson where two of his grandchildren have contracted the malady. Of all things the whooping cough is one of the most pestering things a child has to contend with—so long drawn out and uncomfortable all-the-while.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. L. McCutcheon of Modest Town, Va., were week-end visitors at Oakwood last week, and as is her usual custom, Mrs. McCutcheon delighted the Sudley Bible class, not only by her presence but by teaching the lesson in her own inimitable way so pleasing to her hearers.

We often wonder at the capers and didoes kicked up sometimes by our young people when they fall in love and do things that "we never did when we were their ages," but it really looks as though King Ed and Wally have left them all straggling along by the wayside when it comes to creating real excitement. But, come to think of it, it just takes an American to stir things up properly; and is she doing it?

On last Sunday morning the Sudley congregation engaged in the Retreat Service anent the Week of Prayer, the program of which was sponsored by the Missionary society assisted by the Young People's organization entitled Deepening Our Experiences With God. This program was something new and so well and beautifully rendered that it was a delight and inspiration to all; the program presented being in three parts as follows: I. Quest of God through Silence. II. Quest of God Through Intercession. III. Quest of God Through Working With Him.

Each part being supported by appropriate themes and music expressive of the thought emphasized, and each so well delivered that one could not help being impressed by the importance and necessity of it all. We are more and more impressed with the fact that such programs are of such value and importance to the better understanding of worshipful themes that they should be frequently indulged in. It is a well known fact that anything calling forth the talents of a congregation will always prove a matter of interest; not only to the performers but to the hearers as well, all of which were fully attested by the delightful services of last Sunday.

About the time you are reading this, (if perchance, you read it at all) you will either be "too full for utterance" or else standing around waiting patiently for the feast you have been anticipating ever since Thanksgiving Day 1935. This year, the great feast for which you have been abstaining from culinary activities for the fast few days in order that you may do ample justice, comes on October 26, 1936, or exactly 147 years to the day since it was first inaugurated, for be it remembered that the Hon. George Washington, first president of the United States, did "Under my hand, at the city of New York, the 3rd. day October, A. D. 1789" did ordain and establish THANKSGIVING DAY as a day of thankfulness and prayer for the people of the United States in language in part as follows:

"Now, therefore, I do recommend and assign Thursday, the 26th. day of November, 1789, to be devoted by the people of these states to the service of that great and glorious Being who is the beneficent author of all good that was, that is, or that will be; that we may then all unite in rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks for His kind care and protection of the people of this country."

While enjoying the blessings of the land and the things it produces, it might be well to read the above and stop long enough to give thanks to the Giver of all the blessings we enjoy to-day as recommended by the first president of the United States 147 years ago.

Performance, Beauty and Safety Mark Chevrolet's Completely New Cars

Chevrolet's 1937 engine is completely new, but adheres closely to time-proved Chevrolet engineering principles. It is of six-cylinder valve-in-head type, smoother, more powerful, more economical, and lighter.

A representative model from Chevrolet's new line, typifying its beauty and grace—the Master De Luxe Sport Sedan with trunk. Note the distinctive "speed line" extending back from the side of the hood.

Unisteel construction joins the floor, cowl assembly, panels, and Turret Top of Chevrolet's all-silent, all-steel body, to form one integral structure, welded in all joints, and reinforced and braced for permanent silence and safety.

Luggage capacity in Chevrolet's new trunk models has been greatly increased, as has interior luggage space in other models.

Beauty and utility mark the new Chevrolet instrument panel. The windshield is of greater area, with narrow corner posts, affording better vision.

Chevrolet's fully-enclosed Knee-Action is furnished at no extra cost on the Master De Luxe models; and new Synco-Mesh transmission, and safety plate glass all around at no extra cost, feature all models of both series.

New power, economy, durability, safety and comfort, coupled with striking new beauty, characterize Chevrolet's new models for 1937. They are offered in two series, Master and Master De Luxe, virtually identical in appearance.

The Goblins Can't Get You

A FIREPLACE, a popper-full of corn, a generous basket of apples—liberally surrounded by children—is still the happiest of parties! There's nothing in all this autumn world half so pleasant! Apples bursting with juice and goodness have arrived in all markets from the state of Washington. Hand-picked—washed, handwrapped each in an individual wrapper, the great Jonathans and Delicious which are the pride of that west coast state are also the delight of children all over America. A big red apple, perfect in size, color, and ripeness is perhaps the most alluring of all the foods which children love. Now with the season for apples at hand, these choice specimens will be going off in school lunches, munched between-meals, and serving as the principal occasion for cheer at the fireside party. In addition to their beauty and goodness, ripe apples are a rich source of pectin, are readily digested, and have a beneficial effect on the general processes of digestion. As between-meal luncheons, apples are ideal for children.

A Statement on the Milk Production Situation

Editor, Dear Sir: Due to a rapid growth of under-buying by distributors who purchased milk from producers on a flat price basis or its equivalent and the resulting maldistribution of surplus carried by producers, the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers' Association on June 13, 1936, applied to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for Federal regulation of the Washington market.

After a public hearing, at which all interested parties aired their views on the advisability of a Federal Milk Marketing Agreement or Order, the Secretary of Agriculture submitted to the industry a marketing agreement for approval. The drafted agreement met the approval of the majority of producers but met solid opposition from distributors, thus with the necessary two-thirds producer-approval the Secretary of Agriculture issued an Order that became effective September 21, 1936.

The Federal Order, as issued by the Secretary at that time, provided minimum prices, classification of milk according to usage, and through a market pool resulted in each dealer paying the same price for the same quality of milk used for the same purpose. The Order set minimum prices that were at the previously existing level, the sole purpose of the Order being to distribute the proceeds for milk equitably among producers and to prevent dealers from paying surplus prices for milk that was actually sold as fluid milk or fluid cream.

For the ten day period September 21-30, all the distributors complied with the provision of the Order except two independent dealers, who continued to pay their producers as before without bearing their proportionate share of the surplus on the market.

In the meantime, eleven independent producers applied in the District Court for an injunction against the Order. Why these producers took such action is still a mystery, as the Order would have immediately increased the financial return of seven of them even if the price had not been increased; and with the increase in price, all of those producers contesting would have benefited.

Before the Judge gave a decision on the injunction, the Association applied to the A. A. A. for an amendment to the Order calling for an increase in price of 47 cents per hundredweight and certain other changes in the base-rating scheme. The sharp increases in feed prices and the prospects of low crop yields in the milk shed made it imperative that the general level of milk prices be raised. The A. A. A. held another hearing for the purpose of receiving evidence on the advisability of a price change. At this hearing the Association presented a brief covering the important aspects of the economic conditions of our dairymen, that indicated conclusively that an immediate price increase was justified.

Upon the basis of the information presented at this hearing the Secretary of Agriculture approved the amendment providing for an increase in price of 47 cents per hundredweight. However, simultaneously with the Secretary's approval, a decision was given by Judge Lühring, granting an injunction to the eleven producers who contested the Order.

Thus, on October 27th the Washington milk producer found himself in the position of being deprived of a much needed price increase and a much needed orderly market; all of which was due to the action of eleven, or less than one per cent of all the producers.

However, instead of accepting the apparent effect of the Court's decision, the producers, through the Association, demanded that all dealers purchasing milk from Association members pay 47 cents per hundredweight more for their milk effective November 1, 1936. Not only did the dealers buying from the Association raise their price but the independent dealers did likewise. Again the organized producers saved the market, despite the will of distributors and the unwitting action of a few independent producers. The eleven producers who were in such a hurry to break the Federal Order that had been sponsored by the Association are now receiving four cents more per gallon because the Association refused to stand by idly and see ninety-nine per cent of the producers suffer as a result of the misguided action of one per cent.

For your information, we are setting forth below as briefly as possible, the pricing and base arrangement that is being used by the Association effective November 1, 1936.

Prices Dealers Pay the Association Dealers pay the Association $3.24 per hundredweight (40 per cent f. o. b. Washington) for all milk retained in their plant irrespective of usage, and in addition, pay premiums for Health Department scores on base deliveries of their producers. It is so provided that base deliveries will each month equal ninety per cent of all milk retained by dealers. Thus, dealers will pay $3.24 plus premiums on ninety per cent of what they keep and $3.24 without premiums on the remaining ten per cent that they keep. The average premium on the market is 35c per hundredweight. Thus, 100 pounds of milk used by dealers now costs as follows:

Base deliveries 90 pounds @ $3.59 ($3.24 plus $3.35)—$3.23; Over base 10 pounds @ $3.24—$3.2. Total kept by dealer 100 pounds; Total cost to dealer $3.55.

As indicated above, the price dealers will actually pay averages $3.55 compared with $3.08 prior to the price increase.

Milk that is not needed is returned by dealers to the Association who sells it for manufacturing purposes at the highest possible price either to ice cream manufacturers in Washington or in outside cities.

Thus, the Association has available to distribute to its membership all the money received from dealers for all the milk used by them at $3.55 and in addition all the money resulting from the sale of milk or cream not used by dealers but sold for manufacturing purposes.

Distribution of Money to Producers

The total proceeds from all milk is distributed to members as follows: Producers receive $3.24 per hundredweight plus premiums for base deliveries. As the average premium is 35 cents per hundredweight, producers receive an average of $3.59 per hundredweight ($3.24 plus $3.35) for milk delivered as base. The price for milk delivered in excess of base will, of course, depend upon the amount of money left after payment for base has been made.

As the price for base was formerly $3.02 and the new price only $3.24, the question naturally arises, where is the 47 cents increase? The difference is accounted of the new base-rating scheme as outlined below:

The bases of producers for the remainder of this year will be 90 per cent of their average shipments during October, November and December of 1936. The plan previously in effect only gave a base on 75 per cent of the average shipments during 1935 fall. Thus, the increase in base from 75 per cent to 90 per cent accounts for the remainder of the 47 cent increase.

Bases for the year 1937 will be based on 90 per cent of the average shipments during both the fall of 1935 and 1936.

Producers just beginning to ship on the market must ship at least two months and a fraction of the third at the excess price for all their milk. At the end of this period, they will be placed on a par with all other producers.

As in the past, the base price will be paid for whatever percentage of the bases as set upon the 90 per cent plan that sales will permit. At present, sales just about equal bases so that at present at least the base price can be paid for 100 per cent of bases.

If we can at any time provide you with pertinent information, we would be very glad to hear from you.

Very truly, yours, MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA MILK PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION, INC.

Replacement of Obsolete Trucks Urged to Promote Highway Safety

Robert F. Black, President of The White Motor Company, of Cleveland and director of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, whose White trucks are pioneering streamlined beauty and new safety features.

UNIFORM state laws governing highway travel, the replacement of vehicles built before the development of modern safety features and continued efforts to impress on the driving public that "it's smart to drive safely," are the three chief ways by which America's appalling highway accident toll can be reduced, in the opinion of a leading spokesman for the truck and bus industry, Robert F. Black, president of The White Motor Company and a director of the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

Uniform Code Needed

"Ever since U. S. route markers first began to line important highways the length and breadth of the nation, there has been an obvious need for a traffic code uniform for all states. Federal enforcement would not be necessary or desirable, but certainly what constitutes safe driving in one state is safe in another and from the 48 widely different state codes now in effect, a uniform system embodying the best of each should be drawn," Mr. Black said.

"Highway transportation has developed so rapidly that modern traffic problems are of comparatively recent origin. We are just beginning to have sufficient experience with them to control dense traffic properly. Heretofore, it has been necessary to experiment with regulations and many that looked well on paper, proved an actual hindrance in practice.

"In the past two years, White has devoted the major portion of its large research expenditures to developing safety features. Engines responsive enough to make the truck flexible in modern traffic; four-wheel hydraulic brakes, power-booster operated; automatic air conditioned and fume-proof cabs; easy steering and good road stability are only some of the essential truck safety features in modern Whites.

Obsolete Trucks Costly

"Because they have found it to be economically unsound to try to operate obsolete trucks under today's traffic conditions, more and more progressive operators are replacing them with safe modern trucks. In the first eight months of 1936, White's increase in registrations over the same period of last year was 105%. Most of this large increase was due to the emphasis placed on safety features in the new Whites. Truck and bus operators fully realize that nothing can be as expensive as an accident, and the safest vehicles they can buy are the cheapest insurance against them.

"The truck industry's statistics show that there are over a million trucks in operation today that were built before the development of many safety features now recognized as essential.

"Despite this, trucks and busses have a much better safety record than passenger cars, largely due to the effective educational work done in the past few years by fleet owners among their drivers, which proves the importance of educating the driver to drive safely.

ROBERT COFFMAN

Robert Coffman, age 76 years and eleven months, died at his late residence on November 9 after an illness which extended approximately a year. His funeral took place at Grace M. E. Church, South, with interment following in the Manassas cemetery.

Mr. Coffman was born in Shenandoah County December 9, 1860, the son of Ezra and Mary Coffman. His earliest days witnessed the rigors of the "Valley Campaigns" and the horrible devastation of the county around him.

He came to Prince William County as a young carpenter in 1883 where he settled with his bride of a year, who was a Miss Eliza Johnson. She preceded him to the grave in August 1928.

Mr. Coffman was a devote Christian, having been a member of the local church for more than a quarter of a century. He was one of the charter members of the Junior Order of American Mechanics, later known in Virginia as the Order of Fraternal Americans. The Order conducted the funeral, assisting the local pastor, Rev. H. P. Baker.

His genial personality and sterling integrity made him beloved among the hundreds whom he personally knew and who were all his friends.

He leaves to mourn his loss one step-daughter, Mrs. Mary K. Robinson of Manassas and a step-son, Robert Johnson of Modesto, Calif., one niece, Mrs. W. O. Miller of near Manassas, and several grand-children.

The funeral was conducted by his old confidant and friend, George D. Baker, who like himself was a charter member of the local Order. The active pall bearers were J. M. Bell, William Smith, Grover Evans, Henry Robinson, C. E. Fisher and J. N. Muddiman. Honorary pall bearers were Messrs. James Luck, J. H. Rexrode, Charles Dodson, J. L. Lineweaver, Robert Bibb and T. M. Russell, several of whom are active members of the local Order of Fraternal Americans.

'THANKS A MILLION' FOR MORE THAN A MILLION

America has bought 1,130,000 Chevrolets during the past twelve months, thereby giving Chevrolet the greatest year in its history and the greatest measure of buyer preference it has ever enjoyed.

CHEVROLET The builders of Chevrolet are thankful for many things, but most of all for the warm friendship of the American people.

And so again at this Thanksgiving season we say, "Thank you, America," for you have given Chevrolet a measure of good-will without parallel in the annals of modern industry.

Consider, for a moment, all that you have done to inspire Chevrolet's appreciation during the past twelve months:

You have purchased 1,130,000 Chevrolets; you have made Chevrolet your favorite car for the seventh time in the past ten years; you have given Chevrolet strong preference in every section of the country; you have conferred this same high honor upon Chevrolet trucks by purchasing more than 205,000 commercial units; you have made 1936 the most successful year in all Chevrolet history.

And now, to climax these expressions of friendship, you are displaying even more marked preference for the new Chevrolet for 1937.

It is difficult to express adequate appreciation for gifts so great and so generous as these.

All we can say is, "Thanks a million" for more than a million cars in 1936; and all we can do is offer you the still finer Chevrolet of 1937 in return for the finest friendship ever bestowed upon any motor car manufacturer.
