"BORDER CABALLERO" WINS UNSTINTED APPLAUSE FROM FIRST NIGHT AUDIENCE

If Tim McCoy, star of Puritan Pictures' Western, "Border Caballero," strolls into the Pitts Theatre Wednesday night when his picture opens, he would experience a pardonable feeling of pride to hear the generous applause that greeted him on the screen. For there is no question about it, the film is what showmen term "a real knockout" and as such it is received and hailed by young and old alike. Not the least of the feature's excellent qualities is the fact that the plot strikes out on original lines, a rather rare occurrence where pictures of open-air adventure are concerned. For one thing, it isn't the West of old frontier days that is portrayed, but the west of more recent times, with McCoy as a Government G-Man, engaged in hunting down and bringing to justice a murderous gang of bank robbers, who successfully defy the local authorities of the communities they ravage, until Uncle Sam steps in and a Federal Agent looms upon the scene.

At the beginning of things, McCoy appears as Tim Ross, doing a sharp-shooting act with a traveling medicine show. It transpires that sometime previous he had resigned from the Government sleuth service. Therefore, when chance brings him in contact with an old friend and coworker, Tex Weaver, still in Federal employ, it is natural that he should volunteer to help Tex with the matter the latter has in hand.

Tex has started his campaign by becoming a member of the bank-raiding gang, and has obtained considerable evidence as to the identity of its leaders, one of which is a bank examiner, another keeper of a saloon and dance hall in the nearby town of Clearwater. Tex falls under suspicion with the gang. One night he steps out of the crowd watching the medicine show and volunteers to hold a coin in his hand while Tim shoots at it. Tim hits his target but at the same time another shot is fired from the crowd's outskirts by Rummyon, one of the bandits, and Tex falls dead. An attempt by the crowd to lynch Tim is foiled by the latter, who holds his assailants at bay and gallops to safety. He rejoins the Government service and takes up Tex's work, determined to punish the slayer and break up the gang.

There is no end to the adventures through which Tim goes on the bandit trail. Thrill after thrill, the smoke of desperate gun-play, treachery and ambush, the love of Goldie, the little dance-hall girl, for the dead Tex, and her co-operation with Tim toward the goal of vengeance—there's a wealth of shock-situations that will satisfy the most rabid seeker after exciting film diet. The final roundup of the outlaw brigade by the Government detective, leading a posse of deputy sheriffs into action brings the picture into a splendid crash-climax of slaughter grim and great.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SHOTS OVER BRIGHT WATERS

Artistic value and extra light combine to help the photographer in scenes that include an expanse of water. Clouds and back lighting enhance this shot.

If you live by the sea, lake or river, or when you spend time by them for health and recreation, don't forget that you are in a snapshotter's paradise.

Always where there is water, by it or on it, there are presented to the amateur picture-taker scenes of charm, beauty, action and human interest, as subject and background for eye-delighting photographs. The ocean surf, the mirrored calm of still waters in bay and inlet, the beauty of shore lines, seaport villages nestling at the water's edge, shadowed wharves, majestically moving steamships, speeding motor craft, graceful sailing yachts heeling to the wind, the men of the sea doing their salty tasks, and, inland, much the same scenes on lake and river—what more in opportunity for the camera enthusiast?

In addition, where there is water, one seldom has to complain of lack of light, even on the stormiest day, for water is a natural, sometimes dazzling, reflector. Indeed, if you will take note, color tones of most everything that composes the scenic frame of bodies of water are more brilliant—bluer, greener, redder, yellower, whiter—than in landscapes. Chances for clear, sharp pictures are the best.

This over-sufficiency of light is something to allow for when you are making pictures over the water on bright days. Beware the large stop opening. Just as you squint your eyes on the water, the diaphragm of the lens generally must be stopped down to a small opening to keep it from letting in too much light.

Cameras with fast lenses and ultra-rapid shutters are decidedly an advantage on the water, as elsewhere, because, when you want a close-up of a racing motor boat or the dive of a bathing beauty, the required extra speed is available, but the inexpensive fixed focus box type of camera does a splendid job with many marine scenes. Its average of clear, sharp pictures over bright waters is high. Good enlargements, too, may usually be obtained from the negatives. The second or smaller stop opening is the one to use where light is so intensely reflected.

Aboard steamships and sailing yachts are wonderful chances with any camera for striking angle shots, up or down, of funnels, sails and rigging, with cloud-studded sky or whitecaps as a background. Again, vessels at anchor in the shelter of a breakwater where outlines of their hulls are reflected in the water's surface often make enchanting pictures if thought is taken of the composition. On the water, too, we find the best opportunities for pseudo-moonlight pictures, shots taken into the sun when it is low (with fairly small lens opening), catching the shining path of its reflections from the dancing waves.

"I will try to keep from grieving Over troubles that are past: I will try to keep believing Things will all come right at last.

"I will try to keep from sighing When I ought to smile, instead; I will try to keep on trying To deserve to get ahead."

FARM ARISTOCRACY

In a recent editorial on farm problems, Mark Sullivan expresses the belief that a "farm aristocracy" would develop the kind of citizenry this county needs. He claims that if people owned their farms for two or three generations we would have an anchorage which would hold America to the best principles and traditions of society.

We heartily agree with him and beg to state that in 1607 when hearty English sought the shore of beautiful Virginia this was exactly their aim.

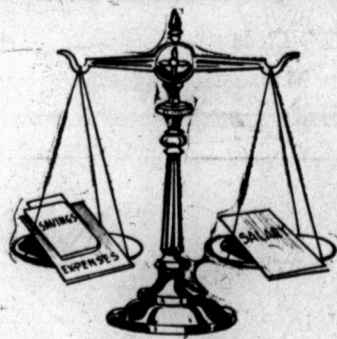

Coming from rural England, many of them, farming was all they knew. And further, land-owners were the aristocratic element of England. So they tilled the soil and nurtured the soil until Virginia spread over the agricultural Southland.

Later, the South was ground under cannon wheels and her traditional rights all but destroyed because the South possessed just this aristocracy.

"Affectionate tenacity to their home acres and qualities of permanence" referred to by Mr. Sullivan are vividly illustrated in Southern ideals. Because of this affectionate tenacity the South is solid today and even during the unparalleled depression of 1932-33, the southern farmer did not go on the rocks because "with roots sunk deep in local soil" they were anchored. Their fathers had withstood that awful ordeal—the Reconstruction.

By all means, farmers, stick to the farm. Own your own acres, be they few or many, and work out your economic salvation as your fathers did.

If ever the South launches a national project other than farming, she will face failure because she will indeed have to dig up her roots.

Puddings Are in Again

By Jane Rogers

FROSTY days bring with them keener appetites—and with keener appetites puddings and the other more substantial desserts come into their own again. When you want to decide upon just the right dessert for some special occasion, you can't make a better choice than a pineapple pudding in which Hawaiian pineapple juice and diced pineapple are the principal ingredients. Both of these are always readily available and both are inexpensive, an important point for the thrifty housewife.

Pineapple Pudding With Marshmallow Sauce
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup canned Hawaiian pineapple juice
1 cup water
Juice of 1 lemon
2 eggs—separated
1 cup canned, diced pineapple
Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt in the top of a double boiler, stir in pineapple juice, water and lemon, and cook over boiling water until tics; Stephen V. Granscay, curator of arms, Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York; F. W. Foster Gleason, of Washington, research student in the ordnance of the Confederacy, and Claud E. Fuller, writer on and collector of historic arms. Cooperating on behalf of the National Park Service will be Arno B. Cammerer, the director, Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the Petersburg National Military Park; and Branch Spalding, acting assistant director, Branch of Historic Sites and Buildings, National Park Service.

The operations around Petersburg began on June 15, 1864, when General Grant tried to take the city by assault. His army was repulsed, however, and then began the famous siege which lasted until April 2, 1865, when General Robert E. Lee was forced to evacuate the city after the defeat by Warren and Sheridan at Five Forks. One week later the gaunt men in gray were brought to bay for the last time and the War Between the States was over.

To commemorate these events, the Petersburg National Military Park, embracing approximately 1,823 acres was established by Act of Congress, July 3, 1926. Jurisdiction of the Park was transferred in 1933 from the War Department to the National Park Service, Department of the Interior.

New York World's Fair Site From 9,000 Feet Up

NEW YORK, (Special).—Photography and ingenuity combine to show about how the New York Fair will appear in 1939 to visitors arriving from the west in planes flying at an altitude of one and three-quarters miles. Cameraman made this "shot" from a plane over the New Jersey meadows. Shown in the foreground is the shipping along the Hudson—Manhattan with its towers grouped about the Empire State building (center) which houses present headquarters of the Fair—and in the middle distance the 1,216½ acre site of the 1939 international exposition. To the right lies Brooklyn and, beyond, the hinterland of Long Island. At the extreme left, spanning the East river, is the new Triborough bridge over which many of the 50,000,000 visitors expected at the Fair will motor to the convenient parking lots. A photograph of the table model of the Fair has been superimposed on the negative of the air view to show the grid of the central exhibit zone, the boat basin being constructed on Flushing Bay and the lagoons that will feature the exposition's amusement zone.

"THE DEVIL IS A SISSY" GRIPPING ENTERTAINMENT PULLS AT HEARTSTRINGS

For the first time, three of the most famous boys in motion pictures are teamed in the same screen story. They are Freddie Bartholomew, Jackie Cooper and Mickey Rooney.

The new picture, "The Devil Is a Sissy," based upon an original story by Rowland Brown, comes to the Pitts' Theatre next week.

"The Devil Is a Sissy" is the story of three boys who become inseparable pals and, strangely enough, features three boys who are boon companions in real life.

Freddie Bartholomew plays a rich English lad who meets his unusual companions by visiting his father's studio on New York's East Side.

Jackie Cooper's role is that of the son of an executed convict, while Mickey Rooney portrays another juvenile product of the sidewalks of New York.

Despite the wide chasm of society that usually separates wealthy children from those of the slums, "The Devil Is a Sissy" emphasizes that neither creed nor race can keep apart boys of different social strata when their lives and friendships are so closely woven together.

The story shows that these three boys, raised in totally different environments, are brothers under the skin; that life must be faced down on the streets, where the battles are fought; that parental mismanagement can wreck a life unless better influences, such as the schools and the courts, save it.

Not only is there action in every scene, the sort of action to appeal to child audience, but there is a tender, romantic love story which will appeal to adults.

Fast-moving scenes include the street-football episodes, the fight between Freddie and Jackie, Freddie's first day in school, his meeting with the "gang," the housebreaking, and such sympathetic episodes as Freddie's scenes with his father, Mickey's attempt to buy the tombstone, scenes between the judge and the boys, and the hospital sequence.

The additional supporting cast includes such well-known names as Etienne Girardot, the school principal; Mary Doran, the school-teacher; Jonathan Hale, the judge; Andy Tombs, the policeman; and Christian Rub, the stone-cutter.

The picture bears the distinguishing touches of that director of directors, W. S. Van Dyke, and comes on top of such of his recent successes as "San Francisco" and "His Brother's Wife."

FOOD MARKET Advice

ECONOMY is usually the note on which most families enter the New Year and there is good news in the food field for economically minded housewives.

Mild weather has encouraged fresh EGG production and this good food is now fairly plentiful and much lower in price. A severe cold spell would of course rapidly change this picture. Seasonal BUTTER production is being maintained for the same reason with prices now lower than at this time last year.

Fresh Vegetables Abundant, Reasonable

The south and far west are providing the rest of the country generously with various fresh vegetables. GREEN BEANS are especially plentiful and reasonable in price. CABBAGE is cheap. BROCCOLI, CAULIFLOWER, PEAS and SPINACH are also very reasonable along with such standbys as BEETS, CARROTS, ONIONS, PARSNIPS and TURNIPS.

Variety of Salad Greens Available

Iceberg LETTUCE is plentiful and cheap. Available to make the mixed green salad are Boston lettuce, ROMANE, ESCAROLE, CHICORY, WATERSALAD and Belgian ENDIVE. Cuban TOMATOES, Florida CUCUM-

BERS and green PEPPERS and California CELERY may be used to add variety.

Oranges and Grapefruit Fine Value

Plentiful supplies of GRAPEFRUIT and ORANGES are being sold at low prices and their quality is very good. APPLES and BANANAS are the two other most important of the winter fruits.

Lamb Best Meat Buy

A large supply of LAMB is available and the price is unusually low. PORK is still reasonable though a little higher and BEEF prices continue to rise.

Fishing weather has been more favorable and ample supplies are expected to be available at moderate cost.

Here is a menu made up of seasonal foods which are reasonable in price.

Tomato Juice Cocktail Stuffed Celery
Roast Lamb Green Peas
Browned Potatoes Tossed Salad
Bread and Butter
Ambrosia Coffee Cake

THE OLD COUNTRY STORE

You could stand before the counter And with practiced hand and eye Reach out for almost anything That you might want to buy.

Above you hung the harness, And brooms, oil lamps, and hoes— Beside you were the crackers (You could help yourself to those) On the counter, under cover, Was a wheel of ancient cheese And a bolt or two of dress goods And a dose for Dobbin's wheeze; There were piles of penny candy Ah! The flavors linger still (You got a bag-full gratis When you paid the monthly bill).

Your shopping, then, was easy When all you ate and wore Came from behind the portals of The Good Old Country Store. But shopping now is different— In fact it's quite a chore— For a thousand stores have sprung up Where one sufficed before And to do that daily shopping Midst the traffic's screech and din Is enough to make a housewife Wear her soles and temper thin. But housewives, there's a method An effective panacea, For that vexing shopping problem Hearken, now, to this idea: You can do that daily shopping From your favorite easy chair By lifting the receiver Of the 'phone that should be there. You can shop by 'phone as easy As you did in days of yore When the answer to your problem Was the Good Old Country Store.

LADIES ISSUE COOK BOOK

Old-time Recipes Attract Much Attention.

The ladies of the Clifton Baptist Aid Society, Clifton Station, Virginia, have issued a very interesting and valuable little publication known as the "Clifton Cook Book," which is attracting more than local attention. From old scrap-books and occasional memoranda handed down from mother to daughter has been compiled a very unique and useful little book which may be regarded as a real contribution to the literature of good cooking.

Mrs. C. Robert Buckley, as chairman of the Cook Book Committee and also as president of the Clifton Baptist Aid Society, was assisted by Mrs. Alice Woodyard, vice-president; Mrs. Fannie Mae Kincheloe, secretary-treasurer, and the following committee:

Mrs. Robena Mathers, Mrs. Annie Adair, Mrs. Ruth Pyles, Mrs. George Kincheloe, Mrs. Julia Riordan, Mrs. Nannie Johnson, Miss Violet Ford, Miss Violet Hart, Mrs. Ruth Mock, Mrs. Alice Mock and Mrs. Milton Johnson.

This unique publication commemorates the sixtieth anniversary of the Clifton Baptist Church, which was celebrated August 30 1936 under the pastorate of Rev. C. J. Sheets.

The book carries a valuable index, a table of weights and measures and abbreviations, and includes the following departments: cakes, candies, desserts-puddings-sauces, fillings and icings, ice cream-sherberts, meats-fish and cheese dish, pickles, pres, rolls and bread, salads and dressings, sandwiches and vegetables.

As advertised elsewhere in this newspaper, the little book may be secured from Mrs. C. Robert Buckley, Clifton Station, Virginia. The sale proceeds are to be used by the ladies in clearing up a church debt.

STAFFORD HERD TOPS STATE LIST

Competition Develops Much Interest.

With 32 cows averaging 39.5 lbs. butterfat for the month of November the Registered Guernsey Herd owned by John Lee Pratt, of Chatham, which herd is located at the Sherwood Forest Farm in Stafford, has set an enviable record for the month of November not only as the highest herd in the local Herd Improvement Association but as highest for the State of Virginia.

The five highest herds for the month of November were:

Owner	Cows on Test	Ave. lbs. FB
J. L. Pratt, Sherwood Forest Dairy	32	39.5
J. S. and Paul Roller, Timberville, Va.	11	38.4
Mobjack Farm, Mathews, Va.	24	37.0
T. G. Elgin, McLean, Va.	36	37.1
Dr. J. S. Andrews, Orange, Va.	23	36.6

The high cow for the month for the Fredericksburg Dairy Herd Improvement Association is owned by W. S. Dickinson and made 70.4 lbs. butterfat. Both the record made by the Sherwood Forest herd with the highest average for the month and Mr. Dickinson with the highest testing cow in the local association are exceptionally good in view of the fact that there were a total of 13,522 cows in the State in competition for milk and butterfat production.

HEALTH NOTICE

Be on the lookout for measles. The usual season is drawing near. There have been some cases reported — enough to indicate that we might have an epidemic this late winter and spring. When cases occur early like this, there is cause for alarm.

Everyone should be suspicious of a cold in anyone who has not had measles. At the first signs of a cold, children should be placed in an even temperature, away from others — preferably in bed — and a physician called.

Every case of measles needs the scientific care of a doctor. The eyes, the ears, the kidneys, the digestion, and especially the lungs, should receive this scientific attention.

STATES HAVE OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW WARES IN HUGE BUILDING AT NEW YORK FAIR

NEW YORK. (Special).—Included in the limited edition book of unusual size and beauty which the New York World's Fair 1939 incorporated has sent to state governors and, through diplomatic channels, to foreign governments, is the following text devoted to.

The Sovereign States of the Federal Union

George Washington, in declaring that the public felicity and prosperity of America depend upon the firm union and the unceasing cooperation of the sovereign American States, divined the future. The prosperity and the greatness of these United States have arisen from the free and unimpeded circulation of ideas and products in the world's greatest consumer market.

The Fair gives to each State the appropriate setting and opportunity to announce to the world its unique and indispensable contribution to America's rich and colorful civilization. The Fair contemplates a Hall of States, in the imposing Government building and flanking the structure which the Fair looks to the United States to build, to house the exhibits of the forty-eight States, and the Territories. Those wishing to participate more extensively will, in addition to their exhibits in the Hall of States, either erect their own buildings or obtain space to display their products and attractions in one or more of the exhibit zones.

The State of New York has naturally taken the leadership in the participation of the sovereign States of the Federal Union. Its total appropriations for Fair purposes may exceed $5,600,000; and the New York State World's Fair Commission, appointed by the Governor, has been active for some time. Other States already are beginning to express enthusiastic interest in participating more extensively than at previous world's fairs.

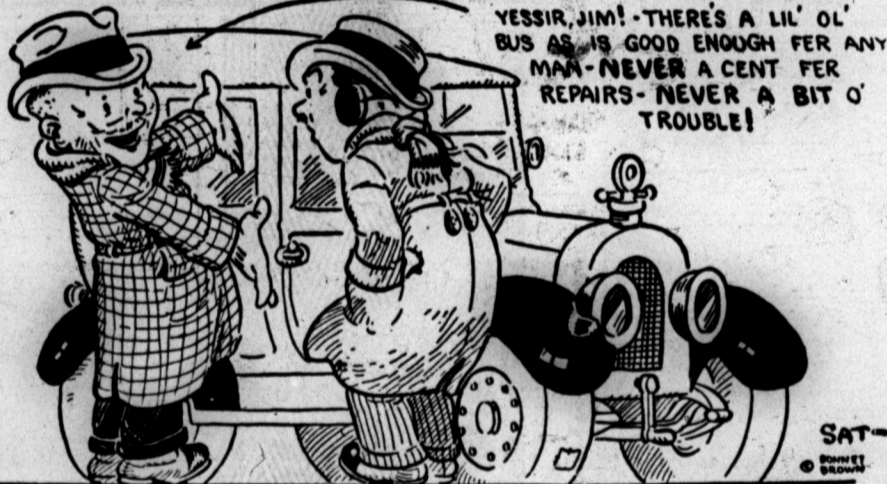

The many visitors will find a fresh cause for pride and enthusiasm in the revealing exhibits of their respective States. But beyond this, the exhibits will enable the States to make a persuasive presentation to all visitors of what they have to offer to the consumer and the tourist.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Elgin celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home south of Fairfax Station on Monday, December 28, where they have lived for forty-seven years of their married life. Mr. and Mrs. Elgin are well-known and loved and a host of friends and neighbors as well as relatives came and went from one o'clock Monday afternoon until a late hour Monday night, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Elgin many more happy years together, leaving many lovely gifts and being served with a bountiful buffet supper. The couple have two daughters, only one Mrs. Robert Pitts of Fairfax of whom was able to be present; four grandchildren, and four great grandchildren. Only one of the original wedding guests was present, Mrs. S. J. Underwood, of Alexandria, a sister of Mrs. Elgin.

Those present from a distance were Mrs. Helen Guttridge, Mr. and Mrs. C. Adams and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hoover and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dyer and family, all of Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Violet and son of Pohick, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Merchant, Mr. and Mrs. William Simpson, Mrs. Louise Carson and Mrs. Henderson of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. John Elgin, Mrs. Annie Adair, Mrs. Helen Buckley, all of Clifton, Mr. and Mrs. James Kincheloe, and Mr. and Mrs.

James Adams, of Fairfax, Mrs. S. Shelton, Mrs. Bernice Shelton and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Byrnes, of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. James Graves, Mrs. Mittie Adams of Alexandria, Mrs. Emma Byngton, Mrs. Blanche Davis, Mrs. Ann Davis, Mrs. Herbert Rice, of Occoquan, Mrs. Minnie Byrnes, of Annandale, Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, of Oakton.

WOMEN SMOKERS

Now it appears that scientists are declaring against the use of tobacco by women. Recently a great eye, nose, and throat specialist said at a convention: "Smoking isn't doing women any good. It enlarges their vocal chords and makes the voice harsh and bitter instead of soft and sweet, and creating a general catarrhal condition." He furthermore declared that the number of persons suffering from throat infections was increased, due largely to dust in the air.

It is the common conviction of serious-minded physicians that smoking lowers the vitality of woman and sometimes releases in her system a poisonous narcotic, robbing her of powers which come from the fundamental nature of her being. God help the young woman who has no more control over herself than to foolishly follow others who think it looks smart to sit at the dining-room table or lounge in the library plying a cigarette.—Northwestern C. Advocate.

"Go forward"

THE divine command voiced by the prophet Moses when the children of Israel were halted by the seemingly impassable waters of the Red Sea, on their way out of the land of bondage, still has power to compel obedience and to put to flight doubt, hesitation, and indecision. The command was, "Speak unto the children of Israel, that they go forward." To go backward meant slavery and submission to hard taskmasters; to go forward demanded courage and faith in a power unknown to the material senses. Speaking of Moses as a leader, Mary Baker Eddy writes (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 200). "Moses advanced a nation to the worship of God in Spirit instead of matter, and illustrated the grand human capacities of being bestowed by immortal Mind."

Along the journey of individual spiritual progress, the encouraging command to go forward can still be heard by those who may be trembling in the valley of decision. To awake from the bondage of enslaving conditions is one step towards spiritual freedom, and to demonstrate the way out of such conditions demands a continual going forward. The Apostle Paul, comparing his spiritual progress to a race in which the athlete keeps his eyes continually on the goal, said, "This one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." Like many of us today, Paul had much to regret, but he wasted no time in looking backward. The spiritual light which had awakened him on the road to Damascus blotted out the mistakes of the past, and he went forward in obedience to the heavenly vision.

The understanding that man is spiritual and not material brings hope and encouragement to those who are struggling against sickness and sin—discord of every kind. In order to advance spiritually we need to understand "the grand human capacities of being," and allow no thought of fear to prevent us from claiming and proving our spiritual dominion. Through the application of the teachings of Christian Science we begin to prove, little by little, that man is the image and likeness of God, and that he has dominion over all the earth.

Various wrong conditions of thought attempt to impede our progress, but we can overcome them through the power of Truth. Among these are fear and self-pity. We may fear that we are unable to work out our problems. We may fear the past or the future. Like the Israelites of old we may believe that an impassable sea stops our progress. But there is always a way through the troubled waters if we are obedient and take the first step in denying fear and obeying the divine command to "go forward."

Self-pity may argue that our problem is more than we can bear, that no one else has such a hard road to travel. Perhaps custom, tradition, love of ease, may whisper, "It had been better for us to serve the Egyptians, than that we should die in the wilderness."

Discouraging thoughts are false suggestions of mortal mind, which try to prevent our spiritual progress, and they can be overcome through the understanding of the illness of God, good, and the consequent powerlessness of evil.

In "The First Church of Christ Scientist, and Miscellany" (p. 232) Mrs. Eddy writes, "The right way wins the right of way, even the way of Truth and Love whereby all our debts are paid, mankind blessed, and God glorified." Every spiritually progressive step glorifies God and blesses mankind; and that which benefits one must benefit others also. We can confer no greater benefit on those around us than to prove our own individual spiritual dominion. The knowledge of such dominion includes recognition of our neighbor's rights, and there can be no friction where there is loving obedience to divine Principle, but the kingdom of God must first be established in our own thinking if we are to be of help to our neighbor. The right way is the way not of self-will, but of obedience to divine Principle. The right way is the way Love points out; and though to material sense it may seem cloudy and uncertain, this way is always clear to spiritual sense. . . .

To those who have tasted the joys of spiritual victory, there can be no turning back. To go forward is the only way.—The Christian Science Monitor.

INDIAN VILLAGE IS PROPOSED

Government Aid for Unique Plan.

Wilbur C. Hall, chairman of the State Conservation and Development Commission, told a conference of Pamunkey Indian Reservation trustees and State officials that he was "confident" a satisfactory plan could be devised for operating a proposed Indian village on reservation property.

The next step toward establishing the village, he said, will be placing the written approval of the Board of Supervisors of King William County and the reservation Board of Trustees in the hands of the Conservation Commission.

Henry G. Fennell of Quinton reported that the trustees already had approved the project unanimously and that the action would be transmitted to the commission at once. Officials said no objection was expected from the King William supervisors.

Backers of the project estimated that the initial cost would be approximately $6,627, including $5,174 for labor and $1,453 for materials. Negotiations are under way with the W. P. A. for securing the funds.

The village would serve as a means of livelihood for the Indians by providing a marketing center for their products and also would be designed as a tourist attraction.

Fennell said it had been agreed to leave the location of the village to Dr. H. J. Eckenrode, director of the division of history and archeology of the Conservation Commission, and the Indians themselves.

He said the trustees recommended that the commission operate the village for a period of about two years, after which it would be placed in the hands of the Indians.
