ROAD LEAGUE CHOSEN TO VOICE PRINCE WILLIAM HIGHWAY NEEDS

Joint Meeting Urges Completion of Route 234

The Prince William County Chamber of Commerce, the Citizens Road League and the Battlefield Trail Association held a joint meeting last Monday night as per call of their officers.

Mr. C. C. Cloe, representing the Trail Association and the Chamber of Commerce called the meeting to order.

Mr. G. Raymond Ratcliffe, chairman, and Mr. W. F. Cooke, vice-chairman, of the Citizens Road League of Prince William County, spoke on the objectives of the League and Mr. A. S. Boatwright read a report on the League's activities, emphasizing the fact that petitions had been placed before the Governor and the budget committee on the use of highway funds.

Mr. Cloe opened the discussion on Route 234, stating that strenuous action was needed to promote the improvement of this road.

Mr. Frank P. Moncure, delegate for the General Assembly, promised his aid in promoting this movement. In connection with the use of highway funds, he expressed the opinion that convict labor should be used particularly if this would reduce competition in private interests. He further declared that no highway funds should be used in schools.

Mr. Moncure moved further that the expenses of two delegates to Lynchburg be paid to represent the Citizens Road League of Prince William County at the Annual Membership Meeting to be held on Friday, the funds being provided by the Battlefield Trailway Association.

Mayor Davis questioned the purposes and objects of the Citizens Road League, expressing the fear that the money would not be spent for road purposes in this County. However, detailed explanations were then made by members of the League, calling attention to the fact that small groups of citizens had very limited influence in Richmond and that even local membership in the Road League, by themselves, could do very little, but that, when working through their membership in the Citizens Road League of Virginia, they secured endorsement of the State Organization of their local needs, then they had a truly influential voice which would be listened to respectfully by the General Assembly and by the Highway Department.

Professor Haydon stated that the school system was making no attack on highway fund allocations. The position that they took was that they had a budget for which funds should be approved annually.

Mr. Dudley Martin claimed that Commissioner Shirley had stated that this county was not sufficiently populated in the lower section to need improvement on Route 234 and that in comparison with its population the county already had a just share of paved roads.

Engineer Hubbard stated that bids for improvement of a portion of 234 were being opened on November 4.

Others who made brief talks were Supervisor Wheatley Johnson, Town Manager Cooke, Dr. Wade C. Payne and Messrs. C. W. Alpaugh, R. S. Hynson, T. E. Didlake and Walter Wine.

A temporary committee was formed by the chairman of the meeting to encourage representation at the Lynchburg Meeting from Prince William, consisting of Mrs. Janie Abel, and Messrs. A. S. Boatwright, Dudley Martin and G. C. Russell, and subsequently the Citizens Road League and the Battlefield Trailway Association designated delegates.

From two until five o'clock on that day, and on every Saturday thereafter, there will be a doctor or a nurse and at least three club members at the clinic. A club member will weigh the baby and a doctor or a nurse will examine him and then suggest to the mother ways in which she can improve her baby's health. The club can not treat sick or physically defected babies, but it will try to offer a possible source of help to them if necessary.

Records of the baby's weight and general condition will be made at each visit by the club worker so that the baby's progress will be watched closely and advice can be better given. The Junior Woman's club wants to help keep well babies happy, and in that way to help give them happy, useful lives.

He Gave Us Schools

What great American do you admire most? If you were asked to name only five leaders, whom would you include? George Washington, our first president, would probably head your list; then Thomas Jefferson, who helped the people, take an active part in their government; and Susan B. Anthony, who opened new doors of opportunity for women.

But there is another leader beloved and admired by young people because he gave us schools. His name is Horace Mann and he is called the "Father of Public-School Education." Horace Mann's service ranks with that of Washington, Jefferson, or Anthony. Could the new government established by the Founding Fathers have survived if Horace Mann had not built under it the firm foundation of the public school?

During 1937 the United States is celebrating the Centennial of Horace Mann's service. American Education Week, November 7-13, is the climax of this year-long observance. On November 9, "Horace Mann Day," citizens will honor his memory and read the story of how he gave us schools.

To understand this story, we must go back over a hundred years to the beginning of Horace Mann's service with the Massachusetts Board of Education.

At this time the people were hard at work building up the country after the long years of the Revolutionary War. The Constitution had been adopted but many people could not even read it! Over half the children of the nation had no chance to attend school. The public schools were open only a few weeks each year and were regarded as pauper schools.

Most people accepted the view that education was the privilege of the wealthy. They saw no need to educate future citizens to take part in the government. "The right to vote ought not to be given to everyone. Only the wisest should govern and the

ACHIEVEMENT DAY IS CELEBRATED

Exhibits Are Admired by Many Visitors.

The Home Demonstration women and friends observed their Annual County Achievement Day with exhibits in the Episcopal Parish Hall and the luncheon and program in the Eastern Star hall. One hundred women assembled from nine communities in the county to renew old acquaintances and tell of their accomplishments for the year. A brief meeting of the Homemakers' Association, presided over by Mrs. Wallace Dawson, Woodbridge, opened the program. A report was given by Mrs. Joe Hale on the State Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs' meeting and a brief talk given by Miss Maude E. Wallace, Assistant Director of Extension Service, Blacksburg, on "The National Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs."

A lovely luncheon was served by the Eastern Star Women in the Eastern Star Hall. Following the luncheon, a program presided over by Miss Alice Webb in the absence of Mrs. E. C. Spittler, featured a reading by Mrs. Earl Squires, special music by Wellington and Dumfries clubs, reports, the summary of the year's work by the Home Demonstration Leader, skit by the Bethel Club and group singing led by Mrs. Eloise Trimmer. The guest speaker was Miss Maude E. Wallace, Assistant Director, Extension Service, who discussed "Program Planning." She stated the purposes of Achievement Day as being an opportunity to bring together women from all sections of the county to be neighborly, to have friendly rivalry and to find out things about other parts of the county and other club accomplishments. "Only those counties who are proud of the year's work should have achievement days." Challenging questions were: "Have we planned programs in the past for ourselves or for the women of the community as a whole? Do we plan one-half of our programs to interest those not in the clubs? Do we have definite objectives for a long-time program? Do we all know the background material of our communities such as, the number of pressure cookers added during the past five years, how many good citizens, the number of farms in the county, the number without gardens, etc."

"Sometimes we find people who think they know everything. My wish is that everyday we try to learn something new. This is growth. As long as we are green we grow. When we cease to grow we are dead."

The prize winners for the exhibits are as follows:

Butter Cake with Icing—Mrs. Goldie Brawner, first; Mrs. John Ellis, second and Mrs. E. W. Thompson, third.

Light Vote Reveals Normal Democratic Preponderance

Hon. James H. Price was swept into the Governorship of Virginia yesterday by majorities which reveal that the Democracy of the Old Dominion is undisturbed by recent events. The election contained no surprises to experienced observers. The Democratic lead throughout the state ran from five to one to seven to one against Republican opponents. There were no local issues at stake and with Republicanism at the lowest throughout the nation, the extent of the Democratic victory was only limited by the lightness of the vote.

Saxon W. Holt, elected to the Lieutenant Governorship, and Abram P. Staples as Attorney General, were endorsed by similar overwhelming margins, and they will be inaugurated on January 19.

Nationally the election was inconsequential in its significance, the chief interest centering in the victory of La Guardia for Mayor of New York and the defeat of the C. I. O. candidates in the industrial centers, indicating widespread disapproval of their recent sit-down strikes.

The vote in Prince William County was similarly light, their being merely the task of confirming the August primary. The vote by precincts for Price for Governor and Moncure for Delegate to the General Assembly was as follows:

Aden	21	18
Brentsville	26	26
Catharpin	16	16
Dumfries	41	41
Greenwich	13	13
Haymarket	58	57
Hickory Grove	16	16
Hoadly	12	12
Horton's	4	2
Ind. Hill	22	20
Joplin	9	9
Manassas	189	189
Nokesville	35	34
Ocoquan	74	60
Potomac	57	55
Token	10	10
Waterfall	7	7
Wellington	11	8
Totals	621	593

The ratio of the vote in Prince William County was approximately that for the state (seven to one), the total Republican vote being 68 for Governor and 83 for the Republican candidate for Delegate.

The dinner will be served promptly at 7:30 o'clock, and the ladies of the Parent - Teachers' Association have promised an excellent meal with all the "trimmings". Tickets are on sale at the various business establishments throughout the town.

Hon. Otho D. Wearin, Democratic Congressman from Iowa, who with his keen wit and refreshing humor so delightfully entertained the Club at a meeting last fall, has been invited to make the address of the evening.

Although not yet officially announced, it has been stated that President Roosevelt will extend a message of greeting to the Young Democrats throughout the nation over the radio. The local Young Democratic Club extends an invitation to all Democrats, both young and old, members and non-members in the county to attend, and asks that you will notify Mrs. Nelle Hyde Holmes or Mrs. Elizabeth Pope Taylor at once, so that reservations can be made.

The trials will be run on Mr. Fred Sharp's Old Tavern Farm. This is an ideal tract for laying out a course, as it has plenty of cover and a small hill affords the spectators a good view of the entire course. Through the courtesy of Mr. Carl Nolting, Chairman of the State Game Commission, fifty birds have been obtained and will be turned out on the days of the trial.

Horses will be furnished on the grounds for handler and spectators. For further information and entry

RED CROSS ROLL CALL NOV. 11 TO THANKSGIVING

Plans for the annual Roll Call of the Prince William County Chapter of the American Red Cross were the chief topic for discussion at the meeting of the chapter on Tuesday of this week.

The Roll Call will as heretofore be held from November 11th, Armistice Day, through Thanksgiving and will be conducted by a group of volunteer workers throughout the county under the supervision of the Rev. John M. DeChant, of Manassas, Roll Call chairman. Special emphasis will be placed this year on increased membership and additional workers are being added that a more thorough canvas may be made.

Local funds derived from Roll Call are used largely to defray the Chapters expenses in connection with the Nursing Service, which is a county wide one.

Every one is invited to join and it would be a great help to the workers, if those wishing to renew memberships or make new ones, would contact the workers. Remember these workers are giving of their own time, and traveling at their own expense, and appreciate greatly your thoughtfulness in getting your membership to this. We need your partnership in this enterprise.

A complete list of county workers will appear in next weeks issue of this paper. Join now and help keep your local nurse and volunteer workers in the field.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

Mrs. Thos. Broadus entertained the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in October at which time a "Dues Social" program was given. Rev. Mr. Graham, guest speaker, gave an interesting scientific talk on the ancient discovery of the alcoholic content in fruits and grain, and the disastrous effect of its use as an intoxicant on the nations whose peoples used it as such.

Objectives for the new W. C. T. U. were given by the president and the secretary read the names of the directors for the different departments for the next 12 month. Over $30 in dues was received.

The November Meeting is "State Red Letter Day" with Mrs. O. R. Hersch and Miss Agnes Thomasson leaders.

The meeting closed with the Aaronic Benediction after which our gracious hostess served refreshments.

PARENT-TEACHERS' CONVENTION

A feature of the Convention was the address of Hon. E. Lee Trinkle. Attacking the notion that Virginia has too many Teacher's Colleges, he stated that the annual turnover among public school teachers is between 1300 and 2000, and that it keeps the colleges busy supplying sufficient teachers to meet this need. He spoke at length on the Three Point program of free text books, higher salaries for teachers, and adequate pensions for teachers. At its business session, the Convention unanimously adopted the three point program.

The Adult Group conference discussed the possibilities for the public forum as a method of adult education. "The enemy of Democracy is civic ignorance," said Aubrey H. Straus, Chairman of the Richmond Forum, as he urged the public forum as an opportunity for citizens to gather and discuss the important topics of the day.

The Character Education conference heard facts like the following, that made it plain that Virginia is illiterate in Religion. 84,600 jail commitments in 1936; average age of criminals 21 years; Virginia stands 8th in crime among the states, and 43rd in the amount spent per child for education; in a recent Bible examination 18,000 high school students made an average grade of 43; in seven counties where the greatest increase in crime occurred in 1936, only 15 percent of the people are enrolled in Sunday School. Dr. R. P. Montgomery, Pres. of Lynchburg College, said in discussing these matters, "We have educated for efficiency, we have taught facts, but we have omitted to build character, and yet Religion is indispensable to the building of character."

Child Health, Child Study Groups, the Adult Education Movement in England and America, were among the problems discussed in the group conferences.

DAILY TOPICS FOR NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

The general theme for the 1937 observance is "Education Our National Life." The daily topics are:

Sunday, November 7—"Can We Educate for Peace?"

Monday, November 8—"Buying Educational Service"

Tuesday, November 9—"The Horace Mann Centennial"

Wednesday, November 10—"Our American Youth Problem"

Thursday, November 11—"Schools and the Constitution"

Friday, November 12—"School Open House Day"

Saturday, November 13—"Lifelong Learning"

HE GAVE US SCHOOL

rest of the people should follow the advice of those who know best."

Horace Mann differed with them. He said: "The theory of our government is, not that all men, however unfit, shall be voters, but that every man, by the power of reason and the sense of duty shall become a fit voter." Do you agree with him? How do you think wise voters could best be provided?

Horace Mann began to study conditions. He talked with the people and was shocked at the large number who could neither read nor write. What chance had they of becoming good citizens?

"We must have free schools, open to all," he reflected, "for poor as well as rich." He came to believe that the future of the country depended on the schools. He laid everything else aside, gave up a career in the law, and devoted the best years of his life to building up the schools.

Earlier leaders had seen the importance of education in our national life. But Horace Mann was the first to see the common school as the instrument of universal education in a democracy.

From Horace Mann's day to our own it is but a brief hundred years. Yet in that period there has been more progress in public education than in all the years before. Today there are thirty million young people in our schools. How did Horace Mann achieve this "great victory for humanity"?

CATHARPIN

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Onley of Modest Town, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Onley and daughters of Arlington, were Oakwood visitors on Saturday last.

Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Pattie, of Belle Farm, was sufficiently recovered from his broken leg affliction to spend the week-end with his sister, Mrs. R. L. Briggs, of the Capital City. He will soon be able to resume his studies at the Haymarket high school.

There seems to be something always ready to take the joy out of life. If it is not one thing it is sure to be another. This time it is rain. You know it is one of the peculiarities in Nature that things have the power of being either a curse or a blessing just as they may be applied. Sloan's lineament, for instance, might be a blessing to a weak back but a curse in your oyster soup; thus it is with rains. During a drought they are a blessing; during seed time, they are a nuisance, especially if they insist upon forcing their attentions upon one when he is trying to plant his wheat. Thus while the Agriculturists are rejoicing over their abundant corn crops, they are shedding tears over their belated sowing due to Nature's abundant supply of "aqua pura" just when they did not need it. However, as we write this morning, the sun is doing his level best to atone for the misconduct of the rain clouds of the past two or three weeks and, maybe, when this is being read by an anxiously awaiting public, the scenes may be shifted and the harrows, drills and tractors merrily engaged in making up for the lost motion suffered during the time we were all growling.

This community is now up against a very serious situation. For so long back that no living person can remember, the roads were the ever stock-in-trade complaint and an ever present excuse for doing or not doing something which our little sub-conscious feelings told us we ought to do. Now, however, the long-awaited time has arrived when our travelways are 100 per cent negotiable; wet or dry, cold or warm. They are completely surfaced with shale practically in all directions from the Catharpin metropolis to all important points of the compass; so that one may travel with-er-so-ever he will, and at all times. Now mind you; That little thing that is always taking the joy out of life is present even here. What can we now employ as an excuse for not attending church?

Sudley's annual event, the bazaar and supper, held in the church on Friday of last week by the ladies of the Missionary society, was of the usual order and attracted the usual large number of patrons for which these occasions are becoming noted. About 340 dinners were served and all seemed satisfied and apparently enjoyed the experience. One feature which seems to excite comment is the number of people outside of the immediate neighborhood who regularly attend these "functions" and feel at home. This is Sudley's chief delight. People have often wondered at the low prices charged for the services rendered. This may be explained in part at least by the fact that 90 per cent or more of the supplies needed are produced on the farms and donated for the occasion. This, of course, differs from the town and city entertainments where all supplies are purchased in the open market at prevailing prices, thus necessarily commercializing the project to the extent of higher prices and a nearer approach to hotel portions.

The Sudley Missionary ladies have always sponsored this annual dinner and they are still imbued with that old spirit which long ago gave rise to that beautiful though and poetic phrase which is so pleasantly suggestive and known as "Southern Hospitality." This sentiment, while, perhaps, is in a somewhat diluted state as compared with the original, is yet strong enough in their minds and hearts that they are satisfied with a reasonable income if, by so doing, they may promote a good, social spirit among the people who attend. This has always been their aim, and since the attendance has been on the increase ever since it was inaugurated some 15 years ago, is the finest evidence that their plan has been successful. The ladies as well as all Sudley, appreciate the patronage tendered and shall ever try to show every courtesy to her "clientel."

Ever and anon, the old question as to the origin of the name "Sudley" comes to the fore by some historically minded person propounding this oft repeated question which, to date, has never been satisfactorily answered. The latest is a letter from a lady in the New England states whose middle name is "Studley" and who is of the opinion that originally it was "Sudley" and that the name is English. She also states that the name "Sudley" and "Studley" are also known in England and opines that the name as we know it to-day is a derivation of these forms.

It is now known that Sudley church received its name by inheritance since the name was familiar in that locality long before the church was built; the "Sudley Springs", from which—Sudley Springs and Sudley mill, have entirely disappeared and nothing but their names remain. Since Sudley is the youngest to carry the title, and since she is well along in her "One-hundred-and-thirties" it is a matter of much interest to the present generation who find the name so shrouded in antiquity that but little is known except the fact itself and probably never shall be. If any who may read this could add something to what little is known, it would be very highly appreciated indeed.

This week as the people of America once again pay tribute to the Unknown Soldier who lies enshrined in Arlington National Cemetery the fear of war grips every corner of the globe.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee; when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee. —Isaiah 43:2.

CITIZEN'S ROAD LEAGUE.

No public meeting in recent months has so forcibly demonstrated the value of organized effort as the joint session of the Citizens Road League, the County Chamber of Commerce, and the Battlefield Trail Association, held in Manassas this week.

To secure legislative action or allocation of state funds, organized expression not only is imperative, but that expression must come through the association recognized as the logical group to voice public opinion on that particular subject.

Undeniably, public interests overlap among civic organizations. Where this occurs, the various groups should consolidate their wishes through action of the association chiefly concerned.

The value of such procedure is being demonstrated at this time in Prince William. We have an important road need—Route 234. Through cooperation of various groups concerned, the Citizens Road League is urging our needs at the Lynchburg meeting this week and through endorsement secured there will undoubtedly give Route 234 a chance to be heard in Richmond.

All who are interested in the development of Prince William Highways should become affiliated with this splendid organization. It is an important spokesman for our county in road matters and its membership should be so large that its expression will truly represent the majority thought of the county. Its membership fee is so low that all who own a motor vehicle can readily join, and aid in the development of our highway system.

GRAMMAR BEE HELD BY MUSICAL AND LITERATURE SECTION

At the home of Mrs. Dennis Baker, the evening of October 26th, the Music and Literature Section of Manassas Woman's Club held their regular monthly meeting. A Grammar Bee for the members was given, with Mrs. Baker presenting the questions. Where it is generally considered that the Spelling Bee has given much interest in former times, it is now appreciated by the intellectually curious to have Grammar Bees before the educational groups, and make everyone more conscious of correct speech.

After an interesting hour of questioning Mrs. Louis Carper won first prize, with Mrs. John Broadus winning second honors.

A musical contest was given when Mrs. Thomas Broadus presented a short Love Story, created by having Mrs. Baker executing several chords on the piano of interpretive music, expressing the name and character of the song befitting the part in the story. The songs were taken over various periods, and after much thought and appreciation, we found Mrs. Carper again first, with Mrs. Paul Cooksey making a very fine story in naming most of the musical characters, and winning second recognition.

At the close of a delightful meeting, Mrs. Baker, assisted by Mrs. Cyril Wade Dalton, served delicious refreshments.

Visiting members were: Miss Ann Bradford, Manassas, and Miss Courtney McCullum and Mr. Arthur Sinclair of Manassas, and Mr. Harold Wilcher of Occoquan, and Mr. Charles, Petelet of Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Brunt of Occoquan were hosts to a supper and Halloween party on Friday evening, October 29, at their home. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Janney, Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Hazlett, Capt. and Mrs. T. F. Joyce and Mrs. F. W. Hornbaker, all of Occoquan, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnes of Washington, D. C., and Occoquan, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V. McClasky of Belle Haven, near Alexandria. After the supper several games were played. All the decorations were in Halloween style. All had a very pleasant evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Barnes of Washington and Occoquan left for New Orleans, La., Saturday morning, October 30, where Mr. Barnes will represent the Interstate Commerce at a four-day meeting on various subjects.

The Misses Mamie and Helen Davis of Occoquan spent several days vacationing in New York, New Jersey and points North. They visited New York City, also West Point, and other points of interest, and report having a lovely trip.

Halloween passed off in Occoquan without any material damage being done. It is hoped that next Halloween will be passed without any pranks that will cause anyone any trouble, etc. Pranks for fun are to be expected, but when there is property damage, it is an indication that those who take part lack proper home training and proper respect for the property of others.

The Citizens Road League is going strong in the State of Virginia now, and it is hoped that every automobile owner will become a member. We hope all owners in Occoquan will join. This league is for good roads and the use of aut tax and gas tax moneys on roads only.
