LUNCHES SERVED IN LOCAL SCHOOLS

Parent-Teacher Place Attractive Menu

The Parent Teacher Association of the Manassas Public Schools will begin on Monday, January 10, serving a complete lunch to the school children at a cost of from five to fifteen cents. The Association will continue to serve the lunches to the under-privileged and under-privileged children of the school.

Since September 27, soup or some other hot food has been served to over one hundred children in the Bennett School each day; and since November soup has been served to about seventy children in the High School. It is hoped that the present plan will provide complete lunches for over two hundred fifty children in both schools.

The Health Committee of the P.T.A. has arranged a very attractive menu for the week of January 10, and is urging all parents to take advantage of the opportunity offered so that enough children will be served to make the project a success.

The W. P. A. workers will continue to prepare the food under the direction of the Health Committee and with the assistance of Miss Adelaide White, the home economics teacher. N. Y. A. aid will be available to help in the serving of the lunches.

In preparing for this enlargement of the lunch room it was necessary to obtain an additional stove and build more cabinet space and table seats. Mr. Fred Hynson made it possible to purchase a new stove by giving the actual wholesale price to the school; the School Board purchased the stove, with some help from the P.T.A., and built the cabinet space. Seating for all children will be provided if the project is a success.

The menu each day will consist of three parts, each part to be sold for five cents to those who buy, and, as usual, given to those who need. Soup will be served on alternate days with hot dogs or wieners; a plate lunch consisting of a meat, or meat substitute, two vegetables, bread, and occasionally a glass of milk, will be served each day; a salad will be served (Continued on page 8.)

DATE OF DIOCEAN COUNCIL CHANGED

In order to make it possible for Bishop Tucker to attend the meeting of the Council of the Diocese of Virginia, Bishop Goodwin has announced that the date will be moved forward to May 4, 1938.

The usual date would have been May 18th. Bishop Tucker is now presiding Bishop of the General Church and his multiplicity of engagements makes it impossible for him to come to Virginia on the latter date.

CLUB INVITES FAMOUS PIANIST

John Powell Concert to be Given April 7

The Music and Literature Section, of the Manassas Woman's Club, met at the home of Mrs. Fred Hynson on Tuesday, January 4th.

Plans were presented for the John Powell Concert to be given Manassas the evening of April 7th, in the High School Auditorium. Mr. Powell is nationally recognized as a very famous pianist, living in Richmond, Va. Mrs. W. F. Cooke is chairman of the committee which secured Mr. Powell.

Rev. R. M. Graham gave a very instructive talk on the literature of the Bible. He carried his talk throughout the different books of the Scriptures and made a narrative form of the various periods. He created his subject around the relative forms, putting emphasis along the lines of Epic, Lyric, Dramatic and Allegoric phases, making each an instructive feature.

Another delightful number was rendered when Mrs. Fred Hynson, chairman of the club, presented several hymns, with a study of the composer, in the period they were written and what inspiration prompted the composer. Mrs. Hynson was ably assisted by having Mrs. Dennis Baker play several tanzas of each hymn on the piano with group singing by the club. It was regretted that Rev. John M. DeChant could not present this hymnal program on account of having to be out of the city, and Mrs. Hynson very graciously substituted for him.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Miss Margaret Lynch and Mrs. W. L. Lloyd.

BRENTSVILLE GROUP ELECTS OFFICERS

At the January meeting of the Brentsville District Association at the high school at Nokesville Tuesday evening, M. J. Shepherd was elected to serve as President for the coming year. Other officers elected at this time were Mrs. E. S. Hooker, 1st Vice-President, Mr. W. D. Nolley, 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. L. J. Bowman, Secretary, and Mrs. W. R. Nelson, Asst. Sec'y.

The election of other officers and all committee chairmen was postponed until the next meeting on the first Tuesday evening of February.

In its report, many constructive recommendations were made by the nominating committee. Among these were that additional vice-presidents be selected, each to be responsible for one of the monthly programs, and that a general treasury be set up for Association. Mrs. Hooker as 1st Vice-President was asked to accept the responsibility of arranging for the February program.

The 1938 meetings are scheduled for 8:00 P.M. on the first Tuesday of each month.

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE MARKS MANASSAS BATTLE FIELDS

Researches of Major Hanson of Permanent Value.

Encouraging evidence of progress in the development of the Manassas National Battlefield Park appeared in Manassas on December 9, when the first of the historical markers commemorating the important events and localities of the battles of 1861 and 1862 were set up in this city by employees of the National Park Service. Since that date additional markers have been going up at the rate of six or more per day, in Manassas, along Bull Run and the roads leading to Centreville, and in and around the latter place. It is hoped by local representatives of the National Park Service that the entire first lot of historical markers so far completed, sixty-two in number will be in place on the field before January 1, if unfavorable weather does not interfere with the work of erection.

It was considered particularly appropriate that the sequence of markers should begin at Manassas and thence extend to the battlefields because, although no town existed here in 1861-5 or for some years thereafter, the extraordinary strategic importance of Manassas Junction with its railway connections was a prime factor in bringing about the conflicts of armies which occurred in its neighborhood during the war years. The markers which have been placed in Manassas call the attention of visitors to such points of interest as Manassas Junction itself, where the track of the Manassas Gap Branch joins the main line of the Orange and Alexandria, now the Southern Railroad; the site of the supply depot of General J. E. Johnston's army in 1861-2; and that of General Pope's army in 1862, and the point of departure from the main line of the military railroad built under the direction of General Johnston to carry supplies to his troops when they were encamped near Centreville. This short spur line, about five miles in length, was the first railroad, so it is stated on one of the markers, ever built exclusively for military purposes.

The markers established in the country between Manassas and Centreville identify and briefly explain the significance of such places as Fort Beauregard, the conspicuous earthwork west of Highway 28 in the pasture of the Portner Estate, and the fine old brick house, now the residence of Mr. A. H. Roseberry, which was built for a home by William J. Weir on his estate, "Liberia," and was used by General Beauregard as headquarters in 1861-2. Others show the locations of McLean's, Blackburn's, and Mitchell's troops on Bull Run, and indicate the positions of bodies of troops and batteries on both sides of that stream during the engagements of July 18 and 21, 1861.

Around Centreville the situations of the important strong points in the Confederate line of earthworks east and north of the village are identified, as are also other troop positions of July, 1861. In Centreville itself several of the historic buildings, or their sites, are marked, as well as the course of the old Warrenton Turnpike, the pre-Revolutionary Braddock Road, and other features worthy of attention in this little community, which probably contains as many points of historic interest crowded within a limited area as any place of its size in the country.

It is the plan of the National Park Service to carry the series of historical markers westward from Centreville to and over the battlefields themselves as rapidly as will be consistent with the necessary careful research, the preparation of texts, and the mechanical work of construction. Unlike some of the battlefields of the War between the States, those of Manassas have few commemorative monuments erected within the first few decades following the close of the conflict. It is therefore both practicable and desirable to employ on the two fields a uniform system of historical markers which will clearly identify and explain the various points of interest in such a way that they may be understood and appreciated as well by the casual visitor as by the military student.

To this end the completed series of markers for both battlefields will probably number several hundred, distributed over the country all the way from Manassas on the south to the vicinity of Sudley Ford on the north, and from Centreville westward to Groveton, Stuart's Hill, and the old railroad grade made famous by Stonewall Jackson's men in the second battle. The site of these various markers will eventually be joined together and rendered accessible by the system of restored historic roads and park driveways, bridge trails, and foot-paths which are being developed under carefully matured plans by the National Park Service through the W. P. A. enterprise known as the Bull Run Recreational Demonstration Project, under Project Manager W. D. Goodale. When this system of communications, with various collateral features, reaches completion, the Manassas National Battlefield Park will certainly become one of the most intelligible and interesting, as it is by nature one of the most diversified and beautiful, historical parks in the world.

The markers now being installed are of a dignified and graceful design lately approved by the Fine Arts Commission. Each is substantially constructed of two cypress corner posts supporting in a frame between them a panel of heavy composition board, dark brown in color, on which the text is painted in buff lettering. The whole is thoroughly weatherproofed and it is confidently expected that they will last without deterioration for many years. An innovation, devised by the historian in charge, has been introduced in some of the markers. A contemporaneous photograph, taken from the spot on which the marker stands, is set in the face of the latter, so that the reader may observe the scene as it is today and compare it with its precise appearance during the war years. This device will be used in other markers when suitable photographic material can be found.

The subjects for the markers were selected, and the texts for them written, by Major Joseph Mills Hanson, Litt. D., Assistant Historian, National Park Service, who has been in charge of the historical work on the Manassas battlefields since its inception. He has also supervised the construction of the markers and their erection on the field, and is now engaged in the preparation of additional groups of markers for use on other parts of the fields. As in the other national battlefield areas of Virginia, the work is done under the direction of Mr. Branch Spalding, Assistant Director, Branch of Historic Sites and Buildings, National Park Service, while the Manassas markers are prepared in consultation with Dr. H. J. Eckenrode and Colonel Bryan Conrad, for the Virginia Conservation Commission, Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, and Dr. E. G. Swem Librarian of the College of William and Mary.

ASSEMBLY WAS VERY ENJOYABLE

Christmas Program was Spon- sored by Woman's Club

Outstanding among the many parties and social events of the recent holiday season, was the Christmas Assembly sponsored annually for the younger set, by the Woman's Club of Manassas.

The Assembly was held on Wednesday, the 29th, in the Gymnasium of the High School, which had been beautifully decorated by Mr. Joseph P. Lyon and a committee of young men. A large and brilliantly lighted Christmas tree, which practically filled one end of the dance floor and gave a very festive air and real Christmas atmosphere to the whole place, was the predominating feature, with tall pines and varied colored light arrangements used to carry out the Yuletide effect in the rest of the gym.

The Assembly was a veritable "old home week." Among the dancers one noted many former young folk, who had returned for the occasion, as well as a large group of college students who were at home for the holidays.

Assisting Mrs. Allison Hooff, general chairman of the dance, in receiving the guests were: Mrs. W. L. Lloyd, president of the club, Mrs. J. P. Lyon, Mrs. Dennis Baker and Mrs. F. R. Hynson. The floor committee was Messrs. Edgar Parrish, Dennis Baker and W. L. Lloyd.

In every way this was one of the most successful and enjoyable dances ever sponsored by the Woman's Club, and while it is not given as a money making event, a very nice sum was realized and will be used to further the charitable enterprises of the club. To all who worked to make this such a success, the club extends thanks and sincere appreciation.

AND VICINITY

Miss Francis Hale gave a New Year's party at her home on Friday night. A large number were present and an enjoyable evening spent.

Miss Helen May spent several days the past week with her sister, Mrs. Lester Huff. Guests at the Huff home over the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Oathor Bates, Misses Nana, Nettie and Helen Bates, Messrs Ralph, Jr., and William Bates.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodecap of Meyers Cave spent the week-end with their daughter, Mrs. Walter Flory.

Miss Virginia Hyde spent Thursday night with Vada Lee Slutz.

Mr. Claude Smith returned to his home here from Lebanon, Pa., where he has been employed the past several months.

The Young Peoples Organization of the Valley Church went to Midland on Sunday night and put on a program.

Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Stulz were Mr. Elcany Harless, of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Bender, and daughter, Jacquill, of Alexandria, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shepherd, and daughter, Constance.

Quite a few members and their families were at the Oyster Supper at the school house on Friday night sponsored by the Woman's Club. Some of the ladies were "mighty good looking" and we are now convinced that rouge and lipstick does add to one's appearance sometimes.

Mr. Lloyd Diehl returned to Bridgewater College after spending the holidays with his parents.

Miss Thelma Swank of Manassas spent the week-end with Miss Winifred Swank.

Mrs. David Wright is still a patient in the Alexandria Hospital and by all accounts will be for a number of weeks, although we are glad to say she is doing as well as can be expected.

Since the year of 1937 has just closed its pages we know that many of us have somewhat a sense of failure as we cast back over the things we did and the things we did not during the year, we ran across this prayer for the New Year and we wonder if it does not express the sentiment of many a father and mother.

Dear Lord in all humility.

These things, pray thee, give to me:
A sense of humor, bright and gay,
To carry through the darkest day,
Serenity—A clear, fair mind—
And make gentle, tender, kind

Grant when nerves jar, and tempers rise
I shall not dim my children's eyes
By taking out on them my spite
For business tasks that won't come right.

Grant me the gift of memory,
In my own childhood day to see
The need of understanding true
Of queer things that my children do.
Lord, grant these, through tears I pray—
I failed in everyone today.

WONDERFUL NIGHT (Margaret Lunsford)

Near Bethlehem, on that wonderful night,
As the shepherds tended their sheep;
They noticed a star that shone so bright.

It kept them from falling asleep.
They dreamed not the joy
The night would bring.
That the star was the sign
Of the birth of a King.

As the shepherds rested that night,
Upon the green clad ground;
They saw a glory in the sky
And heard a joyful sound.
"And the angel of the Lord came upon them
And the glory of the Lord shone around."

"Fear not, trembling shepherds," the angel said;
"For joyful news I bring."

"In the city of David in Bethlehem,

Tonight has been born a King"
And to the angel a multitude came,
Of the Heavenly Host,
And they praised God's name.
"Shepherds, go follow the star in the east.

Its light is a guiding sign.
It will lead you to Jesus this wonderful night.
To Mother and Baby divine,
As they hastened, sweet music rang in their ears,
Such Heavenly music that banished All their fears.

Oh, sweet! How sweet that Baby Boy!
Mary's heart was filled with holy joy.
And the souls of the shepherds were humble indeed,
As they gazed upon Jesus,
The sinner's great need.
And such joy the wise men had never forseen,
As they worshipped the little Nazarene.

As the shepherds turned on their homeward way,
They tarried a while and knelt to pray,
And gazing at the star in the east so bright,
They thanked God for the wonderful First Christmas night.

New York's New Elevated Highway Ends Traffic Jams

Underwood & Underwood

A section of New York's new West Side Elevated Highway (shown at top) at a point which once marked the worst traffic jams in the world. Pictured at the bottom is an approach and exit of the great, eleven-mile express road, while at the right is shown the kind of traffic tangle which the new highway has ended. Engineers have proclaimed the elevated highway the only solution for our larger cities of the serious traffic congestion, which causes thousands of accident deaths annually; slows business almost to a standstill, and severely injures both urban and suburban property values by preventing free passage into, through, and out of our cities. So serious has the problem become that the American Institute of Steel Construction has recently offered prizes for the best elevated highway designs.

LETTER TO SPORTS EDITOR
(Reprinted by Request.)

Mr. Jack Tulloch, Sports Editor,
The Alexandria Gazette,
Dear Friend Jack:

Henry Douglas Merchant was a member of the Engineer Corps, American Expeditionary Forces, in France, during the World War; also was the star first baseman for the Engineer Corps baseball team in France. "Doug Merchant needs no tribute as a great baseball player hereabouts, his wonderful playing is known to everybody. From the battlefields of France, by permission of his superior officers, and the A. E. F. censors he had forwarded to: Sylvester A. Breen, president, Cardinal Athletic Club, Alexandria, Virginia, U. S. A."—addressed as above—two massive copper shells that had been used in warfare in France. This poem pertains to himself.

I remember the Christmas in France
Wearing the A. E. F. cap, coat, and pants;
My buddies were not very gay—
Longing for home in America far away!

For dinner no turkey and cranberry sauce—
The meat was as tough as an Army horse;
But my buddies giggled in glee—
Thinking of dear folks over the sea!

My dinky engine ran day and night—
Over rough rails without headlight;
Dinky could side roll and swirl—
As graceful as any society girl!

We moved brave laddies to and fro—
In bad weather—rain, sleet, and snow;
Never knowing where bombs would drop—
From starting out until we would stop!

True our monthly pay was not great,
For working long hours early and late;
Thirty dollars a month is what we got—
For risking our bodies to be shot!

This Christmas will be very gay—
With our loved ones at home to stay;
Though we may be saint or sinner—
All can enjoy a big turkey dinner!

MODERN FILM HIT IN
"WIFE, DOCTOR AND NURSE"

Drama with a twinkle in its eye and a catch in its heart for every wife whose husband works with other women; for every husband whose wife wonders about his absence; for every girl whose boss is handsome—and married—is found in "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," wise and witty Twentieth Century-Fox picture starring Loretta Young, Warner Baxter and Virginia Bruce, which opens on January 10 at the Pitts Theatre.

All that audiences ever loved in these three great stars are blended in the romantic drama of three modern people who know less than they think they do about the tricks love can play—the wife, modern, but not quite modern enough to share her husband—the doctor, who has two women in love with him and can't give up either one—and the nurse, so intimately a part of this man's life.

Doctor Warner Baxter has little time to notice the beauty and charm of his efficient nurse, Virginia Bruce. Called on an emergency case in which a beautiful girl, Loretta Young, has dislocated her arm, he falls in love with his patient and they are married.

When he falls asleep after a major operation which had consumed the greater part of a night, Virginia impudently kisses the doctor. Then she realizes that under the circumstances she cannot continue working for the man with whom she is in love. This departure of his most indispensable aide causes Baxter to become restless and irritable. Suspecting that something is wrong at the office, Loretta goes to Virginia and, after hearing her story, tells the nurse that under such circumstances she could not wish her to return to her position. Virginia, however, decides to return and fight her emotions.

With Virginia back, Baxter is once more the contented doctor. But when he explains to his wife that he needs his nurse only because she is essential to his work, and that he really loves only her, Loretta believes he is being unfair to himself, and plans to go to Reno for a divorce.

WATERFALL

There was everything to make a real Christmas among us, but the snow, which to this writer has always seemed so essential at this time, possibly impressed upon our minds in childhood by fear that Santa Claus could not drive his sleigh with the reindeer without it. But as he could easily charter an airplane these days, youthful minds are satisfied that he will be sure to arrive. Peace and good will seemed to reign and we spent a joyous time with the loved ones, who all returned to the family hearth-stone to be once more at the hallowed fire-side of home.

A large crowd attended the Christmas entertainment at the church on Monday evening. A beautiful program was rendered by the teachers and children of the Sunday School assisted by the pastor, Rev. Grimsley and Miss Frances and Charles Lee Howdershell of the Plains. An impressive address by R. B. Gossom, Jr., "The Greatest Christmas Gift of All" followed by song, "Wonderful Gift of God's Love" by Rev. Grimsley and Mrs. Thornhill. Then the pageant by the older children, "Silent Night." We seemed to hear again the angel voices on the Judean hills and the mingling of Heaven with earth.

Members of the Bull Run Grange gave a party at the Masonic Hall at Haymarket on Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Thomas, newly wed members of the order. There were delicious refreshments in abundance, beautiful music and old fashioned folk dancing throughout the evening.

Mr. Louie Thomas and family who have spent the past eleven years in this community have bought the property of Mr. Andrew Robertson near Wellington and are now domiciled there in. These splendid young people will be greatly missed from the neighborhood. We extend our good wishes for success and happiness in their new home.

Mrs. G. A. Gossom is spending this week with her daughter, Mrs. Charles D. Sinclair, of Aurora Hills, who underwent a minor operation in a Washington hospital on Monday, December twenty-seventh, and is convalescing nicely at her home.

Mrs. T. B. Thomas was called to the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Barbara Colbert on Saturday who is very ill at her home in Gaithersburg, Md., and on Tuesday, Mrs. Thomas attended the funeral of her brother, Mr. Gilbert Hutchison, who died on Sunday at his home in Washington.

Mr. Billy Wright who is attending the University of Virginia spent the Christmas holidays with his father at the home of Mrs. Alice Wright at Antioch.

Mr. R. B. Gossom, Jr., and wife and son left on Sunday afternoon for their home in Danville.

Miss Margaret Shirley and Elizabeth Payne spent Christmas Eve on a shopping trip and visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thomas at Fort Myer Heights. Having Christmas dinner with them, the family returned with her to be here for the church entertainment.

Mrs. Pauline Thornhill, Mrs. Alice Wright, Mr. Barton Padgett, Mr. Preston Smith and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gossom, Jr., attended a New Year's party in Washington on Friday night.

Among the week-end visitors to the neighborhood who attended services at Antioch on Sunday, were Mrs. E. E. Pickett, of Seat Pleasant, Md., Mr. and Mrs. George P. Fish, Miss Marion Torbert, Herman Smith and Irvin Gossom of Washington.

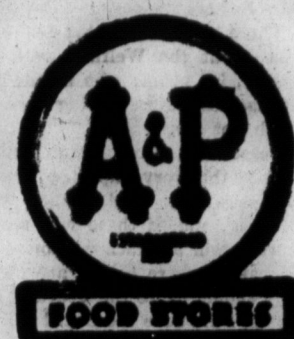

BE PATIENT WITH THE AGED
Reprinted from the Manassas Gazette

Be patient with old folks
If they should seem to fret,
We know not what the years may bring
For us, who're coming yet.
They've seen the storms of life descend
And heard its thunders roll,
Beneath its load, they've had to bend,
Surpassing their control.

Be patient with the old folks
If they should not seem gay,
To us, perhaps the time will come
When we shall be as they.
They've seen the ups and downs of life
And bitter anguish known,
Within, the gnawing pangs of strife
Which outward, ne'er was shown.

Be patient with the old folks,
Complaining, though they be,
Long years ago, when we were not,
Their laugh was light and free.
Through all the many years that've gone
Since they were young and gay,
How many loved ones, one by one
They've seen to pass away.

Be patient to all the old folks,
They need our kindness now,
Spread roses for their weary feet,
Unto their wishes bow.
Let every deed, and action show
The gratitude we feel,
May all our sweetest accents flow

Dear Sirs:

I will see if I can get some one here to send in the Joplin news. There really is not much to send, as we are a very quiet crowd here at Joplin.

You know, Mr. Wharton, the Journal has been coming to my house so long that I just cannot make up my mind to give it up, you know there is an old saying, Old books, old wine and old friends are the best, so it seems to me that the Journal is my old friend.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

ROBBING GOD: Will a man rob God? Yet ye have robbed me. But ye say, Wherein have we robbed thee? In tithes and offerings.—Malachi 3:8.

LIMITING THE LENGTH OF TRAINS

A bill passed the Senate at the last session of Congress, and is now before the House, limiting the length of all trains to seventy cars. The measure is proposed as a safety regulation, but is readily recognizable as an ill-concealed attempt to create additional employment in a special group, at expense of the overburdened railroads, and in the end to be paid by the shipping public.

Burdened with ever increasing motor-truck competition and onerous governmental regulation, the railroads are being pushed nearer and nearer to the wall. Too many are already in receivership. In times of peace and national tranquility, this is an undesirable condition, but in times of war or internal disorder, such situation becomes a matter of great concern. After all the railroads constitute the backbone of the national defense. If through log-rolling legislation their efficiency is gradually destroyed, their roadbeds and rolling stock deteriorated, they will break down in a national crisis, and no amount of governmental operation will restore years of unmaintained depreciation.

We are not certain about the fairness of the new law which will require automatic stoppers on all coal-burning locomotives. This may be justifiable, but it certainly places a heavy burden upon the carriers. In any event, this has been done, and it would seem that this heavy enough of a shock for a tottering transportation system, without this latest regulatory blow—even if it were meritorious. But all evidence points to its being an iniquitous proposal calculated to mulct additional millions from the railroads for the benefit of a limited working group, already well paid.

Mr. Editor:

There has been a great deal of loose talk about the Welfare work in the county, by people who should inform themselves before giving vent to so much hot air.

Personally, I not alone justify my part in this very important work, but am proud of what Prince William is doing, and, if those who see fit to to complain so much will bring specific cases, where things are not what they should be, to the Board of Supervisors, I am sure the Board will thank you and correct the wrong at once.

"THIS WAY PLEASE" HAS FOUR HIT TUNES

Among the numerous attractions offered by the new musical, "This Way Please," which opens 13th at the Pitts' Theatre, are four new songs, destined to be nation-wide hits. The music for "This Way Please" goes a long way to add to the splendid entertainment afforded by the film, which is the lightest and gayest of the season's new musicals.

The songs are essential parts of the story, and are spotted all through the picture, being sung in and around the theatre in which most of the action takes place.

"Is It Love or Infatuation," a ballad by Sam Coslow and Frederick Hollander, is presented first in an informal rehearsal, sung by Buddy Rogers and a chorus of girls, and also played by Rogers on a low clarinet, while the girls sing. Guitar accompaniment supports the number in this scene.

This song is used again by Betty Grable, when she begins singing it in an audition, when the theatre manager has a brilliant idea. The shot suddenly fades to an actual stage show in the theatre, with Betty Grable singing the song accompanied by the orchestra. A second chorus is sung with sixteen chorus girls made up to look like Miss Grable, giving the effect of seventeen Betty Grables singing "Is It Love or Infatuation."

"Delighted to Meet You," a fox trot by Sam Coslow, is sung by Betty Gra-

ble at a rehearsal. While she is singing, Buddy Rogers walks in and tells her to continue. Rogers goes to the piano to accompany her, pushing the pianist off the bench, and she finishes the song. Miss Grable does a dance to the song while Rogers plays the piano for her.

Mary Livingstone does her musical bit in an impromptu show when an orchestra plays a medley of "This Way Please" and "Delighted to Meet You." A group of chorines form a background for Mary while she sings "Delighted to Meet You," accompanied by the orchestra.

CONSERVING SOUTHERN FORESTS

Atlanta, Ga., December — "Southern Railway System—The Pioneer Railroad in Forestry" is the title of an attractive leaflet issued by the System and illustrated by views in the Southern Railway Demonstration Forest.

The leaflet tells of the continued interest of the management of the railroad in preserving a perpetual supply of forest products in the territory served by its lines, urging as annually have almost completely eliminated fire losses.

There were on the land on June 1, 1925, 1,775,959 pine trees four inches or more in diameter at breast height. Up to September 1, 1937, 81,011 trees have been cut for lumber and poles and 3,886 cords of pulpwood were salvaged from their tops. Longleaf trees nine inches and over in diameter are being worked for naval stores prior to being cut for poles and pulpwood.

Slash pines have been planted in the cleared fields and in areas with sparse stands. The illustration shows trees over 35 feet high and 6 to 10 inches in diameter at 11 years from the seed. As a result of fire prevention natural reseedling has taken place in all parts of the forest. There are now 3,923,000 pine trees in the forest and its value has been increased by 2,231,000 trees added by plantings and natural reseedling, plus twelve years' growth on the 1,697,048 trees of the original stand remaining in the forest.

This forest is accomplishing its purpose of demonstrating the practicability of growing pine trees profitably on large tracts or on farm woodlands in the South by showing that a properly managed forest will yield an annual profit and continually increase in value. It is constantly being visited by foresters, timber operators, students and others interested in the problem that have been worked out. Visitors are always welcomed.

In connection with Dr. Charles H. Herty's demonstration that many kinds of paper and superior rayon can be made from southern quick-growing pines, Southern Railway Demonstration Forest is of particular value as showing that paper makers can depend upon an abundant and perpetual supply of pulpwood in the South.

all owners of timber lands to practice conservative forestry. Southern Railway System has not merely advocated sound forestry by others, but, since 1925, has been operating a demonstration forest on 11,043 acres at Peggall, S. C.

On this land, which has been owned by the Company and its predecessor companies for more than a century, there was a thrifty stand of pine, principally second-growth. Fire lines plowed around and cleaned throughout the forest and cleaned

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Sacrament" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 9.

The Golden Text will be "The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?" (I Cor. 10:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "If ye love me, keep my commandments. He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him. Judas saith unto him, not Iscariot, Lord, how is it that thou wilt manifest thyself unto us, and not unto the world? Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him" (John 14:15, 21-23).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him, and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done" (p. 4).

FLORIDA FISHING

Thousands of persons in this section of the country are now laying plans for a fishing trip in the next few months to the stubby finger of Florida, where fighting fish swarm and where no man goes without getting a full quota of thrills battling the scrappy fighters of the reefs.

The kind of fish to be found there—600 species—and where they are encountered in greatest numbers, is described in a story appearing next Sunday in The Star.

Some very important business will be discussed and attended to.

CATHARPIN

My O My! "How time do fly?" As we write this morning there are only 363 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 49.2 seconds left of the year 1938.

The Holiday Season just closed has been one of enjoyment and good will. Many dinners, meetings and social affairs have been held and for the time being disregarded the "Recession" now so vigorously debated and just had a good time. Sudley had her usual program and treat for the children; the program being of its usual high order and the music much enjoyed by the large congregation assembled. Many goings and comings were indulged in and many a happy hour spent with friends in honor of the season. We would that we could have more of them.

A wedding of interest to many in this community took place at high noon on Wednesday, December 29th, 1937 at the home of the bride in Lynchburg, Va., when Mr. B. Lynn Robertson was united in marriage to Mrs. Meredith of that city. After spending a few days among friends and relatives in this neighborhood, the happy couple left for New York city where the groom is employed and where they will make their future home.

Our three young community lady students, the Misses Marguerite Latham of Snow Hill, Ann Robertson of Lawn Vale and Anne Piercy of near Gainesville, have returned to their studies; Miss Latham to Mary Baldwin, Miss Robertson to Fredericksburg State Teachers College and Miss Piercy to Richmond where she is taking the nursing course in one of the hospitals of that city. The return home of these young ladies at vacation times is always a matter of interest to their parents and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson of Lawn Vale, had as guests during the Holiday week Mr. Reginald Morrison and sister Edith of Berryville, and Mrs. Meredith of Lynchburg, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Piercy, of near Gainesville, had as guests during the week the Misses Marion Karstan and Ruth Elmer of Fredericksburg and Miss Ann Dorsey Marsteller of Gainesville, Va.

Miss Halley Dorsey has returned home at Lawn Vale after spending the holidays with friends in Berryville, Va.

Mrs. Gussie Lynn Webb, of the Capital city, is spending the season with her mother, Mrs. Etta P. Lynn, of Catharpin.

Mrs. E. S. Clary, of Lawrenceville, Va., was a guest in the Alvey home during the past week where she was joined by her husband over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Onley and daughter, Joan, of Arlington, Va., and Mr. Henry Maddox, of Tumcumseh, were Oakwood callers recently.

Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Brower, of Lone Oak, spent Christmas week with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Brower, Jr., in Purcellville, Va.

The Misses Betty and Frances, young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Brower, spent last week-end with friends in Washington.

Mr. R. A. Collins of Marble Hill, Mrs. J. M. Allison and son, Paul, of Manassas, spent Christmas week with the Hogseds in Gainesville, Georgia, the parental home of Mrs. Paul Allison who had already preceded them to that city. All returned home on Friday of last week. It was the first time in 49 years that Mr. and Mrs. Collins had been separated on Christmas day.

The Catharpin Good Housekeeping Club spent Wednesday of last week at Oakwood where breakfast was served at 10:00 a.m. to all its members and invited guests. This was somewhat of an innovation or departure from the usual custom, but all seemed to enjoy the experience. The club, as has been its habit, during this season of the year exchanged gifts, one with the other as per previous drawing of names. This is always an interesting feature. The day was spent in a general social way such as this club knows so well how to do until about 3 p.m. when an oyster soup course was served. Meeting adjourned with many hearty good wishes for each other's happiness and prosperity during the New Year.

DISTINGUISHED COMPOSER TO APPEAR WITH MUSIC GROUP

The appearance of Percy Grainger, distinguished composer-pianist, as soloist, and the presentation for the first time in Washington of music by an outstanding modern American Composer will distinguish the first program of the New Year by the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D. C., under the baton of Dr. Hans Kindler. The concert will be given, Sunday afternoon, January 9, in Constitution Hall.

The American composition is the ballet music written for Lorence de Azertis' play, "Casanova," by Deems Taylor, widely known as a radio commentator on music as well as a composer. The music was composed over 10 years ago for the production of the play in which Katharine Cornell and Lowell Sherman were the stars in the Empirt Theater in New York. However, it was not published until late in 1937 as Opus 22. It embodies the spontaneous gaiety and rhythmic vitality typical of Mr. Taylor's better known works.

Mr. Grainger, who is appearing for his second consecutive season as soloist with the National Symphony, will play Tchaikovsky's B-flat Minor Concerto for Piano and Orchestra. Other compositions to be heard on the same program include Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 3, Dvorak's "Carnival" Overture and the Entr' Acte music from Schubert's "Rosamunde".

Following Sunday's concert the National Symphony embarks on a brief tour that includes five concerts in four cities. On Tuesday, January 11, there will be a matinee for children and an evening concert in the Mosque in Richmond, Va. Richard Horner Bales, native of Alexandria, Va., and conductor of the Virginia Unit of the North Carolina WPA Symphony Orchestra, has been invited by Dr. Kindler to take over the baton for the Richmond afternoon concert. On January 12, Dr. Kindler will conduct the National Symphony in a concert at Pennsylvania State College, on January 13, at Olean, N. Y., and on January 14 at Penn Hall, Chambersburg, Pennsylvania.
