JUDGE HOWARD W. SMITH WINS SMASHING VICTORY

VOTE PRIVILEGE IS DISCUSSED

County Official Presents Excellent Discourse

Two Browns, both Commonwealth Attorneys, addressed the Prince William Young Democratic Club on the night of August 2nd at the Manassas Court House on the same subject. Mr. Paul E. Brown, Commonwealth Attorney of Fairfax County, had been invited to speak on a subject of his own choice, while Mr. W. Hill Brown, Jr., Commonwealth Attorney of Prince William County, had been asked to speak on "The Right to Vote." Consequently, both subjects related to voting, but to different phases of voting, and they proved to be quite appropriate, it being the night before election day.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. P. A. Lewis, vice-president. A program of the state convention to be held at Richmond on the 23th, 26th and 27th was read, which sounded quite inviting. All members who wish to attend the convention are urged to contact Miss Nancy Lynn, Secretary as the names must be sent to Richmond before the 16th of the month to insure the club of voting rights.

Mr. Brown from Fairfax gave an interesting talk on the history of voting and the need of poll taxes, after first having recalled amusing trips to Manassas during his childhood days over muddy back roads in a "tin lizzie." The speaker had a pleasing personality and his talk was loudly applauded by the members.

Mr. Brown from Prince William spoke so eloquently on his assigned subject that a deep patriotic feeling spread to every member. His speech is printed herewith:

The full text of Judge Wm. Hill Brown's address is printed on page 2.

MRS. AMY FAIRFAX

Mrs. Amy Fairfax, of Alexandria, Virginia, died in the hospital at Alexandria on July 31, 1938.

Mrs. Fairfax, daughter of the late John Curtis and Lavenia Cass Simpson, of Prince William County was a direct descendant of one of the first families of Virginia.

She established the first public graded school of Arlington County in her own home at Barcroft, Va. She was employed in the Bureau of Engineering until her retirement in 1920.

She is survived by her husband, Thomas Upton Fairfax; four children: Mrs. Charles Loven, of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Archie Curtis, Miss Hilda Fairfax and Thomas E. Fairfax, all of Alexandria; one sister: Miss Linnie Curtis, of Washington, D. C.; four brothers: Claude Curtis, of Washington, D. C., Merton and Baynor, of Alexandria and Raymond O. Curtis, of Woodbridge, Virginia.

Funeral services were held at the home at 2 p.m. Wednesday with burial at Cedar Hill cemetery.

The many beautiful floral tributes showed the high esteem with which she was held by her many friends.

MOSES WINS OVER REMINGTON

Spain, Moses' hurler won another game Sunday over Remington. Remington was held scoreless until the ninth inning when they got five straight hits scoring two runs. The final score was 8 to 2.

They are back on their home diamond Sunday, August 7. Marshall the second best team will be there.

Come out and help your boys as I am sure they will need you.

MORE FINE VEGETABLES

Last week, the Hoos on the Iden Farm, sent a fine cucumber to the Journal office, weighing the best part of four pounds.

George Hedges, of Hoadly, brought in two summer squashes, one white and one yellow crook neck, both weighing about five pounds.

Nobody has been able to take up Mr. Linaweaver's offer of a dollar to match his exhibit of Irish Cobblers.

SHOULD USE PLAYGROUND

The Playground, operating under the auspices of the local school league, and the Works Progress Administration, has a splendid lot of equipment by which the children can enjoy themselves and is an asset to the community which should be better patronized than at present.

Misses Jessie Mae Conner and Verna Ruth Flory are directing the children's activities. They have both received training under the National Youth Administration and are qualified to see that the children enjoy themselves in a safe and pleasant way.

Unless more children of the community take advantage of this opportunity it may not be afforded another season, or even the remainder of this one.

OPEN LETTER TO SOUTHERN R. R.

Delegate Miller Suggests Schedule Improvement

July 25, 1938

The President of the Southern Railway, 15th and K Streets, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

You will recall that a hearing was held before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington on Friday, July 22nd, regarding the decision of the Southern Railway to cancel commutation fares in the Washington suburban area served by the Southern Railway's main line.

As President of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce and as the Representative of Fairfax County in the Virginia General Assembly, I received the impression at this hearing that the Southern Railway was unaware of the very serious consequences for Fairfax County of the cancellation of these commutation fares.

As you know, the villages which lie along the Southern Railway like Springfield, Burke, Fairfax Station and Clifton are not served by any through primary auto roads to Washington. Their possibility of growth has depended upon the services of the Southern Railway. If those services were adequate, it is reasonable to suppose that in the years to come these delightful villages would increasingly attract residents from the Washington Metropolitan area. The effect of the Southern Railway's decision is the same as if that railroad posted a notice in the waiting room of the Union Station at Washington that—

Home Seekers Avoid Living Along The Southern Railway in Fairfax County

Railway transportation there will cost nearly twice as much per mile as if you lived on the Pennsylvania or the Baltimore & Ohio in Maryland where commutation fares are still in force.

This discrimination is bitterly resented, not only by those who live along the railway, but by all those who, like the members of the County Chamber of Commerce, have the future welfare of the entire county at heart.

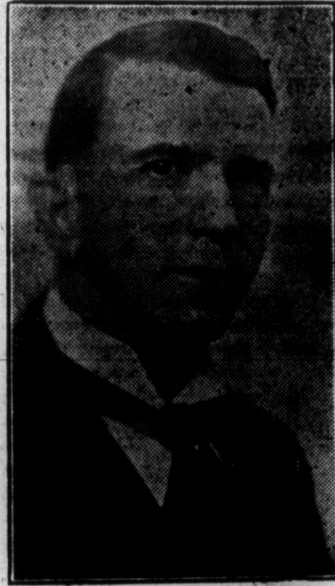

You ask why more persons have not been taking advantage of these trains in the past. Ample reason for that may be found in the evidence given at the hearing. From this evidence one might assume that, if the vermin-infested, filthy, steam-drawn day coaches between Charlottesville and Washington were taken off and one clean and attractive motor-driven coach were put on between Manassas and Washington, there would seem to be a fair probability that your deficit would disappear, particularly if you did a little advertising for this area.

I continue to believe that the Southern Railway is sincere in its motto: "The Southern Serves the South." The least that can be done to justify the further use of this motto is to provide service similar to that suggested above.

Respectfully yours,
FRANCIS P. MILLER,
President.

I take this opportunity to express my heartfelt gratitude to the many personal friends in Prince William County and throughout the District who have labored so diligently, unselfishly and effectively in my behalf in the Congressional Primary of August 2nd. I would fail to reflect the true situation, if I did not also express my thanks and appreciation to those persons who have not heretofore supported me but who were big enough and broad enough to subordinate their personal feelings to the great principles involved. To all who have participated with me in this victory of the people, I express my admiration and personal gratitude. For those who opposed me through honest convictions I have nothing but respect and esteem. For those who sought to capitalize on prejudice, propaganda and misrepresentations, I entertain other sentiments. I have never felt greater pride or pleasure, than now, in being the Representative in the United States Congress of the people of the Eighth District of Virginia.

HOWARD W. SMITH.

PROMINENT DEMOCRAT ILL

We are sorry to advise that on the eve of the Primary, James C. King, chairman of the Young Democratic Clubs of the 8th District, was stricken with appendicitis and rushed to a Washington Hospital.

At the latest report Jim is resting comfortably.

TO TEST SCALES

Mr. J. H. Meek, Director, Division of Markets, at Richmond, Virginia, has just issued a notice to County Agricultural Agents in this section of Virginia, requesting them to send in the names of all farmers or other persons interested in having their scales tested for accuracy in weights.

The rates for testing and inspecting scales having a nominal or gross capacity of 400 pounds or less is 50 cents each. For testing and inspecting scales having nominal or gross capacity in excess of 400 pounds, but not exceeding 2,000 pounds, the rate is $3.00 each. A $5.00 charge will be made for inspection of all scales with a gross capacity in excess of 2,000 pounds.

In order to receive these rates, it will be necessary for several persons to request this service so that traveling expenses may be reduced to a minimum.

Your local Agricultural Agent will be glad to assist you if you desire this type of service.

FIREMEN'S CARNIVAL

The Manassas Firemen's Carnival continues this week. Owing to the rainy weather, the boys have not received the support they so much deserve and if the weather becomes more friendly friends of the fire-fighters should make a special effort to help the boys who help them. There is a strong probability of extending the carnival into next week if the weather continues inclement.

Historic Eighth Presents Almost Solid Front

LOWER COUNTIES TURN BATTLE INTO A VIRTUAL ROUT

The so-called New Deal conflict wound up disastrously for those in Virginia who attempted to ride in on the popularity of President Roosevelt.

In neither the Second nor the Eighth Districts was there any formal acknowledgment of White House support for any candidate. This does not mean that the White House is pleased at the results of the primary, for Howard Smith is noted for his sterling independence in Congress and his alertness to the interests of his constituents, White House or no White House.

There was an ominous atmosphere in the hysterical claims that the White House would substantiate the obviously absurd statement that Howard Smith had made a bid for the removal of his opponent from the Congressional race, but beyond that nothing appeared directly on the surface.

A Washington paper advances the idea that the White House shunted funds over here for the relief of Mr. Smith's opponent. This is just about as funny as some other things that were said, such as the charge that "faked material" was being put out by the "presses at Manassas".

The fact remains, however, that the metropolitan press only at the last minute began to give Mr. Smith a reasonable treatment in its news matter. Their would-be interference in affairs outside of their own bailiwick did not set well with Virginia voters and was distinctly an asset to the Smith forces, just as were Mr. Ickes' rather asinine remarks.

Hon. Howard W. Smith carried every county and both free cities of his district by overwhelming majorities. The ratio was about 3 to 1. In the Second District where the incumbent, Norman Hamilton, was defeated by former Congressman Colgate Darden, the ratio was more evenly balanced because both gentlemen had held the office and were admittedly qualified, the issue being entirely one of supporting the New Deal blindly, or using personal judgment as to the kind of representation the folks at home want.

Unquestionable the failure of the Washington Democratic group to dictate selection of Congressmen has made a profound impression upon the nation and will have a far reaching influence in the remainder of the Democratic Primary elections and in the National Convention two years hence.

There were many outstanding examples of the popularity of Judge Smith. He carried the alleged home-precinct of his opponent by a vote of 179 to 16. Nokesville gave the Judge the remarkable vote of 145 to 9.

The Prince William vote by precincts was as follows:

Precincts	Smith	Dodd
Aden	51	04
Brentsville	31	25
Catharpin	36	04
Dumfries	69	40
Greenwich	35	08

THE RIGHT TO VOTE

Address of Hon. Wm. Hill Brown, Jr., Delivered before the Young Democrats of Prince William County, August 1, 1938.

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: I have been asked to address you this evening on "The Right to Vote". These four words impose upon each and every thinking person this country a serious responsibility which is of vital importance to all citizens of the United States of America during this changing era of history.

The Governments of the United States and the Commonwealth of Virginia do not, as it is generally believed, govern the people, but rather the people govern and operate the Governments. The operation of the Governments, both state and national, is by the people who have an interest in the welfare of their state and country and it is essential that every man and woman should exercise this great and important privilege. The Governments of both the United States of America and of the Commonwealth of Virginia are similar to large corporations, and the voters are shareholders in these corporations. I dare say that each and every one of you who have invested money in a corporation are acutely interested in its welfare and progress, but this condition does not exist in so far as our Governments are concerned. If one would only stop to think for a moment that their investments in their respective national and state Governments far exceed any investment which they may have in any private corporation, they would at all times be alert to protect their interest by exercising their voting privilege. For example, do you realize that each motorist operating a motor vehicle within the State of Virginia pays in the form of taxes 15c per day for the privilege of operating his car. This is only one small manner in which the people make investments in their Governments. It would be useless for me to enumerate the numerous investments made by citizens of this country in their state and national Governments. A very small percentage of the American people realize the amount of their investment and their responsibility to their Governments, which is completely dependent upon them for its continued existence. Should we permit one particular group alone to exercise their voting franchise, we could then only expect a government which would conform to the ideas of those who exercise the privilege of voting. Fortunately, this country has two major political parties, which condition is imperative for the advancement of our nation for by such a means the ideas of the whole populace are expressed and as a result we have in power men who are charged with the duty of carrying out and putting into actual operation the views of the majority of the people.

The men who are elected to high offices of trust and confidence by the voters of this country are trustees for the people whom they represent. It is without a doubt true that when one appoints a trustee to take charge of his property for him he is most careful to select a man who embodies the principals of honesty, integrity and industry. Why should not these same characteristics apply when selecting those who are charged with the duty of managing and operating the largest and most important corporation known to the world? That responsibility rests with the voters and they should at all times be alert to exercise this most important duty. If they fail, then who knows what will be the ultimate result. Our very lives depend upon the continued existence of a strong government by the people, of the people, and for the people. It is most shocking to read the accounts of countries whose citizens do not enjoy the personal liberty of thought and action such as reigns supreme in this land of ours. Neither you, nor I, would ever want to reside under the domination of a government where men are ruled and dictated to those same men actually participating in the operation of their government. That condition will never come to this country if our citizens remain alert to the situation and operate their government by exercising their right to vote. But should we as a whole neglect to perform this important function who knows but that a small well organized group may usurp the control and force freedom such as we enjoy from the American citizen. I can not impress upon you enough the urgent necessity of independent voting. It is by this means alone that our country will remain the one pre-eminent democracy of the world. Our forefathers have given us the torch to bear. Shall we shirk our duty?

During the present day there are groups of men diligently at work in this country whose aim is to usurp the control of the government. Fortunately these groups at the present time are not to a large extent prevalent in Virginia, and I sincerely hope that the day will never come when the people of Virginia or America will be dominated by their governments. If our present enviable condition is to remain, it will be through the unerring efforts of the Young Democrats affiliated with the true Virginia Democrats whose teachings they are chargeable with carrying forward. The people of Virginia have, since its earliest days, enjoyed the distinction of thinking for themselves and I am certain no man or group of men will ever be able to dictate to them. We have since the very earliest days selected representatives who put into practice the wishes of the majority of their constituents and who honorably fulfilled the glorious traditions of Virginians by their independent thought and action.

The voters of Virginia are charged with the duty to at all times see that this fundamental principle is guarded and protected and they can only do so by becoming actively interested in the welfare of their state and nation by exercising their right to vote in each and every election. The day has come when there is needed in public life men who fulfill the requirements of the office and not mere politicians, whose only salvation is their ability to tell good jokes and follow the leader. It has been truthfully said in the past that Virginia is the Mother of Presidents and statesmen and I say that she, without a single exception, is today the proud mother of living sons who are statesmen unexcelled in the world. This condition has not been mere fate for Virginia, but she, through her voters, who are fundamental thinkers, has planned it that way. And will keep in practice, I sincerely hope, her original plan. It is owing to this fact that Virginia has given to her nation more leaders of national and international fame than any other state. My friends, Virginia can only continue to occupy her present position of leadership by the unerring efforts of the Young Democrats who have so ably performed their duty in the past and are ever alert to see that all Virginians actively participate in the operation of their governments, both state and national. You have done a most admirable job, though there were many obstacles to surmount, but you now occupy a position which is an honor and credit to your organization as well as to both your state and nation, for you are responsible, with other Virginians, in furnishing the nation at this most turbulent time with fundamental thinkers and courageous leaders.

The right to vote should be exercised by all Virginians and by the people throughout this nation in a manner of good fellowship. Today, as never before, in our country there should reign supreme a spirit of tolerance. Each and every person should at all times respect the opinions of their fellowmen, no matter how much they disagree with them. If such a view be lacking in the make-up of our people, then in a very short time our Government will become one of intolerance. Therefore, I implore each and every one of you to exercise his right to vote in a most tolerant manner. Is it possible for a substantial and sound Government to result from egotism and disrespect of the views of others? We all know that when a house is built upon stone it stands against the ravages of time but when erected on sand it is soon destroyed by the elements. Likewise, a government which is the result of tolerance on the part of those composing it will survive and endure the elements of a fast changing civilization. But, and I am certain that you will agree with me, a government which does not possess this essential characteristic will soon fade into oblivion and there will be born as a result, one which will be contrary to the principals of our constitution. This doctrine, the greatest known to mankind, was the direct result of tolerance on the part of its framers. The privilege of voting may become most dangerous, if our present form of government is to survive, if it be not exercised most cautiously and in a manner of tolerance.

I charge you as members of the Young Democratic Club of Prince William County to spread forth the thought among the voters and citizens that it is their duty to furnish the state and nation with men who are capable of performing the trust imposed in them in an understanding and unselfish manner. Be careful at all times when exercising your right to vote to look into the back ground of the candidates, for the manner in which one keeps his own house in order will inevitably be the results to expect of him should he be elevated from a partnership to a directorship in the largest corporation known to the American people. By sponsoring this belief you will at least place your county in the most salutary category of being one segment of our great government whose chosen aim is to perpetuate throughout time the teachings of democracy in Virginia and America!

There passed from among us to the world beyond a good friend, Mother and Christian woman, Mrs. Rebecca Williams, of Occoquan, in the 28th year, who was buried in the pretty colored cemetery near Occoquan on Monday, August 1st. Mrs. Williams leaves her husband and child living in Occoquan; also her father and mother, three sisters and two brothers, besides several other near relatives. Her father, Mr. Ogle Harris is a merchant in Occoquan one who is loved by all, both colored and white. Our sincere sympathy goes to the loved ones left to mourn Mrs. Williams' passing away, and we pray that God will help them in their hours of sorrow.

There was another very sad death in this community which shocked us all, in the sudden death of Mr. Robert L. Insko on Monday, August 1st. Mr. Insko had no prior illness, just got sick sudden and passed on almost immediately. Mr. Insko will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery on Thursday, August 4th with full military honors. Mr. Insko served in the U. S. Marine Corps during the world war. He leaves his wife who was Miss Bernice Carter, of Occoquan, and a host of friends. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to his wife and others left to mourn his passing.

The Pohick Branch of the Womans Auxiliary held their regular monthly meeting at the Rectory on Wednesday, August 3rd. There was a large attendance. Excellent refreshments were served, after which various matters of interest were discussed. All enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon.

The Third Corps Area with headquarters in Baltimore are planning to hold extensive maneuvers in Prince William County from September 13 to 23, 1938. Efforts are now being made to contact all property owners and their written permission for the Army to hold those exercises. Certain people have been designated to see the property owners and get their permission. It is hoped that all property owners will willingly consent to the use of their lands by the Army during this period. You will all be benefitted by the contacts you will make with your Defensive Forces. In case any damage should be caused to your property by hold those maneuvers the Army will pay you for any damage they may do. It is certain your benefits will be greater than any damages done. Again, we implore all land owners in Prince William County to co-operate with our National Defense forces in carrying out peace time Manuevers.

SELF-HELP EXCHANGE

Without the use of money the Washington Self-Help Exchange makes it possible for unemployed persons to barter the sort of work they can do for useful articles or services they need. All the jobs for which "work certificates" may be obtained and the success of this enterprise, now several years old, are described in a story appearing in The Star next Sunday.

Clothing, food haircuts, finger-waves, cord wood—all of these things may be secured through sewing, carpentry, painting, making furniture and brooms, beauty parlor work and numerous other kinds of labor.

Mrs. W. K. Caldwell, of Six Acres, is spending most of this week in the Capital City, where she can be with her husband during visiting hours at the Naval Hospital, where he is now a patient.

As we go to press this Monday morning, the whole countryside, from Dan to Beersheba, is groveling in the meshes of a Political campaign which to-morrow must settle. Just how it will eventuate, you will all know before this is even in type; that is to say, you will know which candidate received a majority of the votes cast, which, according to precedent, means election. Nominations therefore, are where factions, isms, grudges, hates, malices and what-nots are brought, full-swing into the open much to the detriment of all concerned. This long, continued abuse so readily heaped upon the men who are to become our official leaders, has long since reached the point of a demoralizing disgrace in the eyes of an intelligent constituency. This is the much touted "Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave," where intelligence is the main concern of our educational institutions, where children are taught that they are to become free to exercise the right of suffrage according to their own independent concept of right and ex-

IN REMEMBRANCE

My dear boy, it has been one year ago the 10th since you were called home with your Savior, but we have never forgotten you for one day for it is a place in our home which never can be filled. We never thought the Sunday morning you went away that you would not come back to us but we know that Jesus loved you best. I know we shall meet again when Jesus comes again to claim His own. We miss you so.

Your Mother and Family.
We never got to thank his friends for their kindness. We do with all our hearts. God bless you all.

"FOUR MEN AND A PRAYER" PROMISES NEW THRILLS

Hollywood has made "Four Men and a Prayer."

And the transition of this popular story, read by millions in book form or magazine serial, promises to provide a number of surprises when it reaches the screen.

Of primary interest, comes the report that the film has not deviated from the original plot.

So when citizens of Manassas visit the Pitts' Theatre during the scheduled run of "Four Men and a Prayer," which opens Thursday and Friday, August 11-12, they will find that this 20th Century-Fox production has passed up all the ultra-saccharine cliches of the love motif for the noblest of he-man instincts . . . the unswerving faith of four sons in their father's honor.

Beautiful gay Loretta Young in practically the only feminine role, is the girl whose love for one of the brothers serves as a shining beacon through clouds of intrigue . . . and even distrust of her.

Her romantic interest is for Richard Greene, which means that Pitts' Theatre patrons will have their first glimpse of the sensational new British star discovery.

Greene however, along with George Sanders, David Niven and William Henry are the four men who forsake everything in their careers to track down around the world, the menace which cashiered their beloved father, C. Aubrey Smith, out of the army in disgrace and then brought death to a great soldier.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey; whether of sin unto death or of obedience unto righteousness?—Romans 6:16.

A WORD OF THANKS

To paraphrase a famous Christmas editorial, we would say "There is no editorial today".

We wish to add our thanks to those extended by Judge Smith in this issue and to say further that his words more aptly fit the situation than any expression we might give.

Arlington, Va.
August 2, 1938

Dear Mr. Wharton:

As a purely personal expression, want to tell you how very much I appreciate the service you are doing the entire Eighth District—and the State, by your support of Judge Smith. Here in Arlington County it has been amazing to learn how many people and the class of people—have been swept off their feet by Huey Long tactics of mere noise and publicity. Of course we are constantly reminded, and realize, that Arlington County is not Virginia, and certainly hope that in the real Virginia Counties there is still sufficient sanity and appreciation of real values to rate a splendid eight years' record by a man of whom we can well be proud, as meaning more to the District, and the State, than a sound truck and vague radio ramblings by an unknown showman whose affiliations and backing are certainly most questionable.

Sincerely yours,
Katherine B. Holmes.

STATEMENT BY JUDGE SMITH, ISSUED TUESDAY NIGHT

"This campaign has been waged around the issue of whether the member of Congress from this district should follow the dictates of his own conscience and reflect the wishes of his own constituents or yield his honest convictions to the will of others. As a part of this issue the people of this district have been called upon to decide whether they would elect their own Congressman or be influenced by pressure and propaganda brought to bear from beyond the borders of our Commonwealth. You have given the answer in no uncertain terms and that answer is that you expect your Congressman to exercise some independence of judgment and that you propose to elect him yourself without outside interference.

I have always been proud to say that I represent the people of the district of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe, James Madison, John Marshall and George Mason, and I am prouder than ever tonight to know that the spirit and inspiration of the founders of our Nation still lives and breathes in the breast of Virginians.

I again repeat to you my solemn promise to exercise my soundest discretion and endeavor to reflect your wishes in dealing with the problems that confront us, fully realizing that your verdict today is not based upon any personal popularity of mine, but upon our common belief in the fundamental principles of our American system of government. I realize that you have said today that the issues presented are greater than any regard for the personality or popularity of any man. I take this opportunity to express my heartfelt gratitude to the many personal friends throughout the district who have labored so diligently, unselfishly and effectively in my behalf in this campaign. I would fail to reflect the true situation if I did not also express my thanks and appreciation to those persons, many of whom I could name, who have not heretofore supported me but who were big enough and broad enough in this campaign to subordinate their personal feelings to the great principles involved. To all who have participated with me in this victory of the people, I express my admiration and personal gratitude.

For those who opposed me through honest convictions I have nothing but respect and esteem. For those who sought to capitalize on prejudice, propaganda and misrepresentations, I entertain other sentiments. I have never felt greater pride or pleasure than at this moment in being the Representative in the United States Congress of the people of the Eighth District of Virginia."

TROJAN ERRORS HELP PANTHERS WIN 11-4

The Trojan infield collapsed in the second and fourth innings, thus paving the way for four unearned runs for the Panthers, which proved too much of a lead for them to overcome.

With A. Fields, Jr., pitching hitless ball for five and one third innings, also getting five out of five at the plate, he and his Panthers soon collected enough runs to put the game out of danger for him. Although A. Fields struck out ten batters, he ran into danger in the eighth inning, when the Trojans greeted him with three singles, a walk and a double to score four runs before his older brother, M. Fields, came to his relief by striking out Brown with a man on second. He retired the Trojans by striking three of them out in the ninth.

Although B. Johnson pitched a creditable game, his supporters were too shaky to cause him to put up a good performance. He was the only one of his team to be able to collect two hits. Wells, of the Panthers, handled eleven chances without an error.

Sunday, August 7th, the Panthers play Warrenton here on their local diamond. Come out and see a team that is going places and doing things in the line of baseball.

IN MEMORIAM

James T. Speake departed this life Friday, July 15th, 1938, at 2:15 a.m., at his home near Manassas, after an illness of three years. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, who was before her marriage, Miss Alice Bell, daughter of Mr. George W. Bell, of Manassas; two sons, Hilleary and Everett Speake; adopted son, Harold Speake; and one sister, Mrs. E. R. Thomasson, of Haymarket. His age was 70 years, 4 months and 13 days.

Surrounded by friends I am lonesome.
In the midst of pleasure I'm blue.
A smile on my face and a heartache.
Always thinking, husband dear, of you.

A loving husband, true and kind;
What a beautiful memory he left behind,
Upright and just in all his ways,
Wonderful character to the end of his days.

There is one who still will linger,
At the spot where you are laid,
Who will come and scatter flowers,
On the grave that Christ has made,
From Wife, Children and Sister.

DEPICTS LIFE OF MEN WHO LIVE ON "BORROWED TIME"

The most modern of heroes, airplane test pilots, are glorified in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's first aviation picture in more than two years, "Test Pilot," which stars Clark Gable, Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy, with Lionel Barrymore hedging a major supporting cast. It opens at the Pitts Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, August 8-9 for an engagement of two days.

The picture, based on an original story by Frank Wead, and giving an intimate insight into the lives of men who dare death to pave the way for future generations, has been acclaimed by aviation experts, military and civil, to the truest picture of aviation ever produced.

Gable appears as a test pilot, taking off for a record-breaking attempt in a transcontinental flight. Enroute, he develops engine trouble drops down in the middle of a Kansas wheatfield, meets unsophisticated Myrna Loy and carries her off as his wife. Fired from his job with Lionel Barrymore, aircraft manufacturer, because he insists on a honeymoon, he finally resorts to piloting an unknown ship in the Cleveland Air Races. Winning, he gets his job back. Miss Loy finds that she must fight a new kind of rival, the love of flight, whose hold on Gable is unbreakable. Finally, when Tracy is killed in a plane test, Barrymore persuades Gable to give up the business, go back into army from whence he came and put talents to work for his country.

"Spirit" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 7.

The Golden-Text will be "The fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth" (Eph. 5:9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling; One Lord, one faith, one baptism, One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all" (Eph. 4:4-6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science reveals a necessity for overcoming the world, the flesh, and evil, and thus destroying all error" (p. 10).

HOME TOWN OF A DISTINGUISHED U. S. SENATOR

Jackson, N. C.
July 27, 1938.

This is the county seat of Northampton County. It is a very old town and is situated in the midst of an extensive farming area—the principal crops being cotton, corn and peanut. A few years ago tobacco was one of the leading crops, but now practically no tobacco is grown in this section of the State.

This year there is a crop failure in the Northern tier of counties bordering the Virginia line from Roanoke Rapids to the seaboard. The crops in Northampton County, it is estimated are cut off one-half and on some farms I passed in a hundred-mile ride, the corn seemed entirely ruined and the cotton small and unpromising. Many of the small farmers will not make enough corn for their bread and feed for their live stock to carry them through the coming winter, and unless State or government agencies come to their aid there is likely to be suffering among the farmers in this section next winter.

Outside of the towns, as a rule farm houses are unpainted and little or no repairs is noticed in passing along the highway. It is noticeable, however, that nearly every home, large or small, is covered with sheet metal roofing, showing that the once abundant supply of cypress shingles is exhausted and the activity of agents for roofing material.

I rode a hundred miles over a hard surface main highway, across six counties the other day and saw only one new house going up and no new barns or out-buildings—sure indication of a lack of prosperity, caused by poor crops and low prices received for farm products.

This place was the home town of the late Senator Ransom, who was a U. S. Senator from this State and later Ambassador to Mexico. He owned a 25,000 acres plantation four miles from town, most of it rich bottom land extending for several miles along the Roanoke River. His two sons now own most of this land on which is settled a whole colony of negro tenant farmers. The old Ransom home is built on the style of Jefferson Davis' old home at Biloxi, Miss.—a large bungalow with brick basement, all set in a grove of oak and elms. I visited the house some years ago while it was in charge of a caretaker, when I noticed in a corner of the unfurnished drawing room a bunch of handsome gold-headed canes, half a dozen or more given, according to the inscription, by grateful constituents for some public service he had rendered. The Senator was a General in the North Carolina Militia during the War between the States and an old mill near Jackson is still pointed out as the site of an engagement with the enemy in which he put them to rout.

When a boy, I remember seeing Senator Ransom in Portsmouth while on his way to a session of the Congress. He was a strikingly handsome man, well dressed and of distinct military bearing. In fact I believe it was generally understood at that time he was the best dressed member of the Senate. I am told that at home and among his neighbors he never wore his best clothes, but went around garbed as a working farmer. It is said that often drove to town behind an old horse hitched to a disreputable

A RESOLUTION BY THE FAIRFAX YOUNG DEMOCRATS

WHEREAS, the Evening Star of Monday, July 25, 1938, states that Mr. William E. Dodd, Jr., a candidate for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the Eighth District of Virginia, before leaving on a speaking tour, claimed backing from "a large group of prominent citizens", including among others, Mrs. St. George Tucker of Culpeper, described as Secretary-Treasurer of the Young Democratic Clubs of the Eighth District, and Rosser Brockman, described as President of the Orange County Young Democratic Club; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. St. George Tucker is not the Secretary-Treasurer of the Young Democratic Clubs of the Eighth District, and Mr. Rosser Brockman is not the President of the Orange County Young Democratic Club; and

BE IT RESOLVED by The Young Democratic Club of Fairfax County, Virginia, that it desires to correct the erroneous statements with respect to the offices alleged to be held by Mrs. Tucker and Mr. Brockman in The Young Democratic Clubs and that it expresses its disapproval of the practice on the part of any candidate in a primary of referring to the offices held in The Young Democratic Clubs by his supporters.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM EXHIBIT
PLANNED AT NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR

Unusually Attractive Display Being Arranged For 1939 Exposition
By A. T. & T. Company

Architects' model of the buildings which will house the Bell System exhibit at the New York World's Fair. They were designed by Voorhees, Gmelin and Walker.

An unusually attractive group of buildings, set upon three beautifully landscaped acres, will contain the exhibit of The American Telephone and Telegraph Company at the 1939 World's Fair, to be held on Long Island next year, beginning February 18, 1939.

The exact nature of the exhibits has not as yet been announced, but it is known that they will demonstrate and display the latest in telephony as well as the part the telephone plays in the world's affairs. The buildings are conservatively modern, surrounded by groves of trees and are expected to be a mecca during the busy days of the fair.
