ACHIEVEMENT DAY AT BRENTSVILLE

Prof. Haydon and Other Guest Speakers Review Accomplishments of County Home Demonstration

Old Brentsville Court House was the meeting place for old and new friends on Thursday when one hundred twenty-five Home Demonstration Club members, county officers and friends met for their annual H. D. C. Achievement Day.

Mrs. Ambrose Petellat, president, and Rev. J. Murray Taylor offered the invocation.

A delightful chicken luncheon was served by the Brentsville H. D. Club during which music was rendered by Mrs. Nelson Lynn and Mrs. Dennis Baker. Prof. R. C. Haydon in an interesting manner reviewed the history of the county court Houses, and welcomed the group to the old Court House. Mrs. Agnes Cato, Dumfries responded.

Accomplishments of each club for the year were reported in original manner. Aden Club gave its report in the form of a Crystal Reading; Woodbridge Club report was a dialogue between a bride-to-be and her grandmother; Brentsville's report was a radio broadcast; Nokesville—a telephone conversation and Hickory Grove—a dream; Greenwich, Dumfries and Wellington reports were in summary form.

Special vocal music was rendered by the Manassas Industrial School. Special guests included Mrs. Max A. Culp, former Home Demonstration Agent in Charlotte County, N. C. Miss Chase, Assistant State Home Demonstration Agent in Illinois and Mrs. Sarah Johnson, former Home Demonstrator for the Prince William.

Mr. Kirk E. Wallace in his interesting talk on "How to Live" gave good advice on how to enjoy better health by correcting eating and resting habits and improving posture which aids in keeping the desired figure.

Recognition of the club doing the most outstanding piece of work in the Yard Improvement was made by Miss R. Belle Burke, District Home Demonstration Club. This honor was won by the Woodbridge Home Demonstration Club which had each of its 22 members enrolled in the campaign as well as 19 homemakers who are not members of the club and 7 public places. Each of these 48 contestants completed their work.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPERS INTERESTED IN HISTORY

The regular monthly meeting of the Bethlehem Good Housekeeper's Club was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. F. Knox, with Mrs. A. C. Hart as assistant hostess. A large percentage of the membership was present with one out-of-town guest, Mrs. W. H. Smith, of Leesburg.

After the regular business session, a round table discussion of the club's outstanding project was held—the sponsoring of the talks by Mrs. Susan Morton to various history classes in the county schools on early Prince William county history. This work is now under way and the club hopes, with the aid of other organizations, to eventually sponsor the publishing of these historical notes in either book or pamphlet form. The sending of Christmas baskets to several needy families was also discussed and appropriation made for this work.

The club members received a special invitation from Miss Osbourn to attend the Book Week program to be held by the Library and Parent-Teacher Association at the High School tonight, November 17th.

In lieu of the regular program, Mrs. Frank Gue gave a beautiful impromptu reading, entitled, "Thinking." A delicious salad course was served during the social hour, after which the club adjourned to meet in December with Mrs. T. J. Broadbush.

ALUMNI MEET AT OCCOQUAN

Plans Made for Dance on December 23

The Occoquan Alumni Association held its regular meeting in the form of a social, on Wednesday evening, November 9. A comparatively small group was present to discuss the main issue, namely refreshments to be served at a proposed dance at Occoquan School. As this movement was to benefit the Association materially it was agreed upon. Circumstances over which we had no control later developed, which made this movement impossible.

The numerous details connected with the Alumni Dance to be given on December 23 at Occoquan School were settled to the satisfaction of the members present. Two well known orchestras were suggested for this occasion. A large attendance is looked forward to.

Following the business meeting all present participated in a delightful game of baseball. The winning side was presented with a prize. Bingo followed the baseball and again worthwhile prizes were won. After this Herculean endeavor guests were received with tasty refreshments.

P. C. W. ENTERTAINS

The P. C. W. Club met at the home of Mrs. L. L. Lonas, Monday night, November 13th. This date marked the 16th anniversary of the club.

After a short business session the club spent a delightful social hour. The hostess served delicious refreshments.

This club, though a social organization, is most active in the charity work in this community.

SPECIALIZING IN VIRGINIA PRODUCTS

There will be a meeting of the Prince William County Tuberculosis Association on Monday, November 21, at 2 p.m. in the Public Health Office. Miss Fleeman will be here. Plans for the Seal Sale will be discussed.

All members, please attend.

The tubercle bacillus, germ of tuberculosis, is only 1-10,000 of an inch long, but it is far more deadly than the fantastic heat-rays of mythical invaders from Mars, according to J. Vaughan Gary, president of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association.

This is just one fact to bear in mind in the proposed fight on the white plague.

SUPPER AT HAYMARKET

Entertainment for Underprivileged Children Delight Large Audience

The "Womanless Wedding," presented by the Manassas Kiwanis Club on Tuesday night to a capacity house in the auditorium of the Manassas High School for benefit of underprivileged children, was an outstanding success, both in the way of satisfying entertainment and in the achievement of the worthy cause for which a goodly sum was realized.

The stage was tastefully arranged in the aspect of a church altar, and as the ceremony proceeded, the audience gave incessant and vociferous expressions of appreciation.

Owing to the regrettable illness of Col. Robert Hutchison, whose fine impersonation as the bride had been demonstrated at rehearsal, it was necessary at the last moment to find a substitute. Dr. E. H. Marsteller, who always has the welfare of the underprivileged at heart, kindly volunteered to assume this important part and, as Miss Ima Bird, he made a most acceptable partner for the handsome groom, Jonah Whale (Mr. J. E. Bradford).

Judge Wm. Hill Brown, Jr., officiated as announcer, ably assisted by an especially installed microphone and loudspeakers. In addition to appreciating the audience of the identity of each personality, he very entertainingly confided to the listeners many unique and intimate facts about the various members of the wedding party.

Formal opening of the program began with a duet by two lovely young ladies, dressed in most becoming evening attire. The talented Daniel Dogkennel (Mr. L. J. Carper) presided at the piano throughout the ceremony with the skill for which he is widely known. The soloists were none other than Miss Sabina Saliva (Mr. C. A. Sinclair, Jr.), and Miss Nancy Necker (Rev. John M. DeChant). Miss Saliva wore white satin, high neck and very low back. The hat was white crepe de chine with long flowing streamers. Miss Necker wore white crepe de chine, low necked, trimmed with maribou fur, with a large black picture hat. In response to repeated encores, they favored the audience with several popular selections. They were escorted to their places at the piano by ushers Silvester Slabside (Capt. Alan MacKenzie) and Philemon Pillbox (Mr. F. R. Hynson).

The second arrival was the grieving mother of the groom, Mrs. Wilhelmina Whale (Mr. C. W. Alpaugh), who slowly and sorrowfully made her painful way to the stage under the unflattering escort of usher Uriah Umbrella (Mr. R. D. Wharton). The overwhelming grief of the venerable lady, however, failed to bring tears to the audience and the children were quite disrespectful of her aged presence, emitting screams of laughter. Walter Whale, (Mr. C. M. Harris), the father of the groom, by his handsome and manly bearing, gave the audience advance knowledge of the fine, outstanding personality they could expect in his son, the groom, Jonah Whale (Mr. J. E. Bradford). Mr. Whale, Senior, was escorted by usher Oswald Ointment (Mr. A. H. Roseberry).

The bride's aunt, Miss Sophie Soapbox (Mr. D. J. Martin) was a beautiful and statuesque spinster distinctly of the grasswidow type. She was resplendent in black chiffon, a large black picture hat, white pearls and a shoulder corsage of yellow chrysanthemums.

Little Emmy Soapbox (Mr. O. D. Waters) was now ushered in by Philemon Pillbox (Mr. F. R. Hynson). Dressed in pink taffeta, full skirt, with contrasting sash of green and green bows on shoulders, she wore a poke bonnet, and when she was not acting very badly, (which was frequent), she devoted her attention to the consumption of a lollipop.

Little Emmy is one of those delightful personalities who can say and do almost anything and get by with it and her reputation as such lost nothing by her conduct on the stage.

The family pest (Mr. R. L. Sharrett) was escorted by usher Icebad Icebag (Mr. Frank Sigmah). These very bad little boys greatly amused the young folks and they were presently joined by another pestiferous member of the groom's family, Little Junior, the groom's brother (Mr. Hutton Tiffany) who protruded great dis-

This shows the live community spirit of our Colored Friends, and we hope it will be a great success, as they are very anxious to be able to turn a substantial purse over to the Fire Department. They also welcome any of their White Friends who desire to take part. They state they would serve at a different table, take or send suppers to the homes of those who desire this service.

The Colored Folks, of Occoquan and vicinity, had a drive on for funds to finish the inside of Ebenezer Church in Occoquan. They collected to date $111.70; Forty-eight dollars by the men's team and $63.70 by the woman's team.

A notable member of our community passed to her reward; Mrs. George Chinn, (colored), of Agnewville, where she lived practically all her life. She was a member of Agnewville Baptist Church. She was laid to rest in the Church Cemetery near by. Mrs. Chinn was a good neighbor, and a faithful helper when called on in any emergency. May God rest her soul in Peace. Amen.

IN MEMORIAM

To my father and mother,
When the leaves begin to fall and

It brings back sweet memories to me
I can see my dear father and mother

Sitting under the old Oak tree
On a bright Sunday morning sitting

Waiting for their loved ones to come

It brings back sweet memories to me
As they use to sit under the old Oak tree.

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with a remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

KIWANIS STAGES MOCK WEDDING

tances from the antipodes of a cute little Buster Brown suit and worked energetically on a rapidly vanishing lollipop. He was escorted by usher Marmaduke Mug (Mr. R. M. Weir).

Usher Silvester Slabside (Capt. MacKenzie) now urged into the arena the Bouncing Baby (Mr. Bobby Jenkins) who nibbled feverishly at the spigot of a nursing bottle.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Belinda Bird (Rev. A. Stuart Gibson) was now escorted to the platform by usher Sebastian Shoesole (Mr. A. A. Hooff) and received quite an ovation, the characterization being particularly pleasing, although Mrs. Bird remained quite severe and critical of some of her associates of the evening.

Now came the bride's maids, one at a time, in stately procession and resplendent in their formal attire. Miss Lizzie Lopear (Mr. P. A. Lewis) wore powder blue chiffon with large picture hat and carried an arm bouquet of mixed flowers and tulle. The stately Miss Jerusha Joltwagon (Mr. E. R. Conner) was resplendent in French blue point lace and large picture hat. Her arm bouquet was of pale yellow chrysanthemums with tulle to match and "Senator Ed." was easily worth the price of admission alone.

The next bridesmaid was Miss Fanny Funnyface (Professor R. C. Haydon) who was greeted hilariously by the youngsters. In ecru crepe de chine, with neck outlined with pale green, our beloved professor wore a natty white felt hat with large red rose on the side and he carried an arm bouquet of orchid chrysanthemums with tulle to match.

Miss Eleanor Eyebrow (Mr. R. G. Lynch) wore pale blue satin with needlepoint trimming and a white crepe de chine hat. The arm bouquet was lavender chrysanthemums with matching tulle. Miss Eyebrow was followed by the bashful Miss Evangeline Eavesdropper (Mr. Walter Sadd). This coy maid was clad in Chinese blue chiffon with contrasting sash of orange and green. A picture hat of red crepe de chine and an arm bouquet of orchid chrysanthemums with raspberry tulle completed her ensemble.

Miss Keziah Knockknee (Mr. Worth Peters), beautiful in face and figure, was clad in white brocaded taffeta, very long and flowing, very low necked. A large picture hat with contrasting veil and an arm bouquet of orange chrysanthemums and orange tulle enhanced a loveliness never before revealed.

The most agile maid was Miss Octavia Odor (Mr. Dick Hynson). As nearly as could be ascertained as she flitted around, her ensemble consisted of pink chiffon with taffeta sash and a large contrasting rosette of pastel shades at the shoulder and an arm bouquet of pink chrysanthemums with pink tulle.

Sad Miss Drusilla Duckpond (Mr. L. Ledman) wore Chinese blue satin with orange arm bouquet and tulle to match and a large leghorn picture hat. She was followed in due interval by the ushers.

At this point the accomplished pianist brought a fine note of expectancy into his music as the Maid of Honor, Miss Aggie Angletworm (Mr. Carl Kincheloe) very deliberately and gracefully advanced from the doorway to the aisle, at which point there appeared from a doorway beside the stage, the groom's party, consisting of the bashful groom himself, Jonah Whale (Mr. J. E. Bradford) and his best man, Gus Gloomspreader (Mr. T. E. Didlake), clad in formal evening attire and they were preceded by the Rev. Sebastian Splicem (Mr. W. H. Lamb), appropriately attired.

As they reached their positions at the altar, un-announced, the charming Miss Angletworm (Mr. Kincheloe) advanced to the stage. She wore pink Irish point, with pink Grecian fringe edging the hem, a large picture hat, and her bouquet was of orchid chrysanthemums and tulle.

The skill of the pianist now brought realization to the audience that the great moment was at hand and that the bridal party would soon materialize, which indeed they did, preceded by two cute, but not so small, flower girls—the lovely Miss Sallie Sidewinder (Mr. G. Raymond Ratcliffe) and the charming Miss Susan Stiffknee (Mr. W. E. Trusler), who scattered smiles and flowers.

The lovely curls of the Sidewinder child elicited an especial outburst of applause from the audience. She wore a soft green dress with contrasting sash of pink, with full, but short skirt and her sweet face was quaintly half-concealed beneath a poke bonnet. Sally was given quite an ovation for she is very popular and helpful among her playmates. Her charming companion was dressed in orchid, with blue sash, a poke bonnet wedding party now filed from the outlined with primrose and she also carried a basket of roses.

Next came the ring bearer, Master Buster Bluntnose (Col. Ben Jacobson), bearing the golden wedding ring upon a satin cushion. He was dressed in a white satin Lord Fauntleroy suit and was not at all abashed in the presence of his elders. The manly youngster marched right up to the officiating minister and his fortitude throughout the ceremony was most commendable and evidenced the qualities of a soldier in the making.

The bride was lovely beyond description. "She" wore white bride's satin with tunic of needlepoint lace. Her court train was trimmed with rows of ermine. The veil of needlepoint was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms around her lovely brow. Her shower bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bride was led forward by her father, Barnabas Bird (Mr. D. J. Arrington).

The moment of moments had now arrived and the Rev. Sebastian Splicem (Mr. W. H. Lamb) proceeded with great deliberation and decorum to perform the marriage ceremony. His voice carried to furthest listeners without the aid of the electrical announcing system and his interpretation of various aspects of the institution of marriage and his interrogations of the contracting parties were much enjoyed by the audience. The wedding party now filed from the stage in reverse order, permitting the audience a second close-up of the entertaining personalities.

The wedding was immediately followed by a reception where a beautifully appointed table was adorned by a huge cake which was cut with a gleaming sword, in the hands of the capable bride, Mrs. Jonah Whale. The general public was invited to participate in the refreshments at a nominal cost, this apparent departure from customary hospitality having been announced as devised by the bride to aid her in defraying the cost of this gigantic wedding and the miscellaneous expenses incurred by her in "catching her man."

After a few more extremely sociable minutes, adjournment was had by those interested, to the gymnasium to participate in a dance, which was greatly enjoyed.

Mr. Suthard was widely-known throughout the county, and has innumerable friends as evidenced by the large assemblage who came to pay their respects at the burial services.
