CONTESTANTS FOR CLUB PRIZES

Delegate Moncure Addresses Democratic Club This Week

The Young Democratic Club of Prince William County met Tuesday night, April 4th, at the Quantico School, with president, P. A. Lewis, presiding. In the absence of the secretary-treasurer, Miss Nancy Lynn, the minutes and the treasury report were read by Miss Walser Conner.

Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, chairman of the Membership Committee announced the following contestants had entered the membership campaign contest: Mrs. Elizabeth Brower, of Gainesville District, Mr. George Purvis, of Quantico District, Mr. Bonham Ayres, Mrs. Nell Hyde Holmes and Miss Walser Conner, of Manassas District, and Mrs. Mamie Sisson, of Dumfries District.

A trip to the World Fair in New York has been offered as first prize in the contest, with second and third prizes of $15.00 and $10.00. Over two hundred members have already joined the club for 1939. The contest will close May 31st. Mrs. Taylor advised the members that the Young Democrats of Virginia have planned a ten-day trip to Nassau in August, low rates having been secured for the occasion, ending in a week-end spent in New York at the Fair, and urged that as many of the Prince William members as can do so take advantage of the fine opportunity for a summer vacation. She also said that the winner of the campaign contest may apply his prize money on the Nassau trip rather than spend a week at the Fair if he so desires.

Mrs. Taylor announced that the Eighth District Young Democrats are planning to hold their annual dance at the Haymarket Gymnasium on the night of May 26th, and that she and Mr. Lewis have been appointed on the committee to prepare for the event. She also announced that the Young Democratic National Convention will be held August 10th in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The guest speaker, Hon. Frank P. Moncure, of Stafford, Va., a member of the House of Delegates, was introduced by Mr. Roy Kelly, of Quantico. Mr. Moncure first stated that he was temporarily retiring from political life in the county, and expressed his appreciation to all the people of Prince William and Stafford who have supported him, reminding them, however, that their interests are his own and that he will continue to be of help to them whenever he is called upon. Mr. Moncure said that, in his opinion, the all-important work for the Young Democratic Clubs is to contact voters and see that they express themselves by the ballot, and to especially bring the importance of voting to bear in the minds of the young people who have not yet realized the opportunities and advantages of their vote. He reviewed the turbulent situation in foreign countries where, he says, the governments have such stifling control of the people that their initiative is gone, their children are taught to glorify arms and conquests, and their main objective seems to be to broaden their power so that they may be a threatening aspect to other countries. He asked if the individuals present realized the sacredness of their own homes where they are "lords of their castles," and the privilege they have in this country of having no government interfere in their home life. Mr. Moncure said, "To my mind this is the most glorious country on the face of God's earth, but eternal vigilance is necessary to keep it such." He added, "This country is being invaded by hordes of foreigners and it is up to us to take upon ourselves the personal responsibility of Americanizing newcomers to this country, instead of letting them come in with the idea that they can undermine our government and eventually overthrow it."

He said that the newcomers to this country should be encouraged to adopt this form of government and adhere to it, and he concluded with the opinion that the Young Democrats could do no better work than to impress upon all citizens the beauty and the meaning of the American flag and the American form of Government. The next meeting of the club will be held at Nokesville on the night of Tuesday, May 2nd.

The Margaret Barbour Bible Class will meet on Thursday, April 6, at 8:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Worth Peters.

WILLIAM KNOX NAMED PRESIDENT

Student Association Closes Exciting Campaign

William Knox was yesterday elected president of the Manassas High School Student Cooperative Association.

For the past week the campaign has raged, with platforms, banners, soapbox speeches, and the campaign managers very much in evidence.

Regular voting lists, polls, and election judges were used. The atmosphere was as near to the "real thing" as it was possible to secure.

Other officers elected were: Guy Bowers, vice-president; John Broadus, secretary; Maury Wells, treasurer; Violet Mae Kane, stenographer. The Student Council yesterday elected the Senators for next session. Kite Roseberry, Leonard Lonas and Caton Merchant were selected for Senior Senators. Peggy Tipton and William Grady were chosen for Junior Senators and Edward Jasper for Sophomore Senator.

ECONOMIST ADDRESSES KIWANIANS

Mr. Paul Peters, research expert and statistician from Washington kept the floor for 45 minutes last Friday evening but at the finish most of the Club was still sticking by to hear about the doings of Congress, or rather the non-doings of the same group.

The speaker mixed in quite a bit of funny stuff and kept his talk from getting the least bit tiresome. It showed a situation fraught with many perplexities, shortcomings and misunderstandings.

An invitation to take part in an interclub meeting with Fredericksburg on Tuesday evening next but the same was discouraged as an invitation to go Sudley on Friday evening of the same week had already been accepted. A delegation is expected to attend, however.

Erle Kirby, of the Arlington Club, was also present.

WELLS STARS AS MANASSAS WINS

Roseberry Scores Both of Local Team's Runs

The Manassas High School baseball team opened the season with victory. The Manassas lads won from Occoquan in a close game. The final result was 2-1.

The score was very close throughout the game. In the first inning Roseberry hit a home run to make the score 1-0. In the third inning Adimon hit a triple and then scored on an error. The score remained 1-1 up to the last of the seventh inning when Manassas put three men on base with two hits and an error. Miller singled with three men on scoring Roseberry and winning the game 2-1.

Wells made a successful debut as a pitcher. He allowed only four hits; one triple and three singles. He struck out eight men and allowed no base on balls. He used a very effective ball, as a result he had to pitch only two or three bases to a man. Adimon, of Occoquan, did a fine job too, striking out seven and giving the same number of hits.

Roseberry started at bat getting two out of three at the plate. He hit a home run in the first inning that was one of the longest ball hit on this field. He had rounded second base before the ball hit the ground. The scored the only two runs for Manassas. Vetter, Wells, Merchant and Miller also added to the hitting power by collecting a single a piece.

The next home game will be with Haymarket on May 5.

ROLFE ROBERTSON DIES OF GUNSHOT WOUND

Rolf Robertson, prominent farmer and sportsman of the Haymarket community, critically wounded his wife, Ann Peyton Robertson, and inflicted a fatal wound upon himself last night. He died a few minutes later, and the condition of Mrs. Robertson is said to be very critical.

The shooting followed an argument in which it is stated Mrs. Robertson refused to consider his plea for a reconciliation of their differences, which lately had become very acute. It is stated that mutual friends have been laboring for some time to bring the couple together but that a legal separation had been contemplated.

The tragedy came as a great shock to their many friends, as both were prominent in County affairs and highly esteemed. Only yesterday Mr. Robertson was in Manassas and attended the Field Trials which took place on Wednesday on Bull Run. Friends noticed at the time that he seemed greatly agitated and preoccupied and did not stop for his usual genial conversations.

Mrs. Robertson could not be moved immediately after the tragedy on account of the grave nature of the wound near her heart, but later she was taken to Georgetown hospital, where her condition is undetermined, but regarded as extremely critical. The body of Mr. Robertson is at present at the Baker Funeral Home and arrangements have not yet been completed for the funeral.

DANCE ON HAYMARKET

JUDGE BROWN ADDRESSES F.F.A.'S

Interesting Session Held at Father and Son Banquet

The Future Farmers of America of Prince William County, Nokesville Chapter, held a most successful Parent-Son banquet in the Nokesville High School auditorium Wednesday, March 29th. For the first time in the history of this chapter the mothers were invited, and showed their appreciation by attending almost one hundred per cent.

After an invocation by Mr. Davis Nolley, local pastor and president of Parent-Teacher Association, the one hundred guests were seated around the beautifully arranged table. The F. F. A. color scheme of blue and gold gave a very colorful note to the attractive decorations. A most delicious dinner was served by the Home Economics girls under the direction of Miss Hazel Ritchie, Home Economics instructor.

The guests were heartily welcomed by Freddie Harpine.

Mr. George Herring responded to the welcome on behalf of the fathers, mothers and guests.

After dinner a program was given by the members of the local chapter and the Junior Farmers Club.

A quartette composed of George Herring, Jr., Gerald Herring, William Crawford and Billy Harpine gave evidence that the farmers have fun with their work.

Elwood Long, toastmaster, gave each member of the chapter an opportunity to introduce his parents and guests. Eugene Flory introduced the Junior Farmers who have already begun their careers as farmers.

Mr. R. W. Beamer, agricultural instructor for the chapter, gave a report of the Arcadian Nitrate of Soda Contest. He presented to Minter Squigg a fountain pen and pencil set which was a prize for the best individual record on a crop enterprise and an essay on practices carried out in connection with that enterprise.

The members of the school faculty were introduced by the principal, Mr. C. O. Bittle after which a fitting toast to the fathers and mothers were given by Miller Whetzel. The F. F. A. Creed was recited by Raymond Forster, a beginner in the department.

The supervised practice program for the year 1937-1938 was summarized briefly by Leo Earhart. Cleveland Flory discussed the purposes and objectives of the Junior Farmers Club.

Mr. V. W. Zirkle, cashier of the local bank, gave a very interesting talk on thrift. After which Prof. R. C. Haydon, superintendent of schools, complimented the chapter on the good work of the year, and introduced the speaker of the evening, Hon. W. H. Brown, Commonwealth's Attorney of Prince William County, Manassas, Virginia. ## OPPORTUNITIES FOR LENT

A time for quiet thought and prayer For sweet communion with our Saviour dear.

For hours, each day, for sins He'll wash away, though grievous to His heart, so pure.

Though countless they be! For loving deeds and self denial great, He'll courage, give, To follow Him along the "Narrow Way"

Removing the Tempters power that keep us all from victory!

To daily kneel in prayer That we may bear the Cross, He sends, with courage, brave That we may gladly imitate His Holy Life, of Sacrifice then radiate His Love, each day with earnest prayer,

That wars, and strife, and greed may forever cease

From years of pain, and loss of loved ones precious in God's fight, His peace, which passeth understanding

May torch each soul to climb upward, onward, Heavenward

To reach the Saviour's goal planned out for us

That all nations, near, and far May follow in His footsteps

Bringing in our gathered sheaves for our Lord, and God, and Saviour dear.

LEGISLATIVE IN-TRANSIGENCY

The Congress of the United States may now be said to have reached what Webster would define a state of intransigence. This condition is defined as an irreconcilable deadlock between two contending forces, neither of which will recede from pre-conceived ideas.

Apparently this static situation may be expected to continue until these great contending forces receive endorsement or repudiation at the polls two years hence or possibly sooner in the National Conventions.

The New Deal has definitely lost its initiative and no longer proposes new experiments to replace those which have admittedly failed. Instead it is merely endeavoring to preserve the surviving portions of the New Deal program. Obviously the President has become fearfully conscious of the changed mood of the Congress. He has not seemingly altered his political philosophy at all, but seemingly will not initiate new legislative proposals in view of the danger signals now broadly visible on Capitol Hill as the result of the dismal failure of his recent "purge" and the unqualified victory achieved by Democratic Conservatism.

In view of these facts, and with an ever increasing threat of World War, it is more than likely that the remainder of the present session of Congress will not be wasted in futile efforts of the Executive to coerce the legislative branch of government, but will, and should, be devoted to putting our national affairs in the best possible order to preserve and defend our system of government from the almost certain shock of the new World War, which almost all well informed observers predict may soon take place.

EVA LILLIAN M. MERCHANT

Eva Lillian Maddox Merchant died suddenly about 3 a.m. on March 29, 1939, while visiting at "Winter set Farm," the home of her son, Richard, near Boothwyn, Penna. So silently did she slip away, that her granddaughter, asleep by her side, was not cognizant of her passing until the dawning of the morning. Mrs. Merchant retired at night in her usual happy mood, not complaining of any illness, though a diabetic condition had existed over a period of years.

Mrs. Merchant was born at Neabco Mills, Prince William County, Va., May 30, 1880, the second daughter of the late George E. Maddox and Laura V. Maddox, of Takoma Park, Md.

Mrs. Merchant belonged to the Maddox family, which, in America, dates back to Samuel Maddox, the emigrant, who came from Wales shortly after the fall of Charles I and settled in St. Mary's County, Md., and who, in 1676, as lieutenant, distinguished himself in the war with the Indians and received 900 pounds of tobacco for his services. He married Margaret Townley. Thomas Maddox, Mrs. Merchant's grandfather came from Maryland to Prince William County early in 1800 and married Margaret Hammill, of Occoquan. Mrs. Merchant, when twelve years of age, moved to Manassas with her parents. Here she received her education in the public schools and the Manassas Institute. After her marriage to Mr. Richard Haydon Merchant, of Manassas, forty-one years ago, most of her life was spent in Fairfax County, N. C. She was associated with the Junius Daniel Chapter, United Daughters of Confederacy of Weldon in which she held important offices, being past president, past director of the Junior Chapter and member of Halifax Chapter, Order of Eastern Star.

For the past few years, Mrs. Merchant had lived in Maryland and Pennsylvania where Mr. Merchant is employed in the Baltimore and Ohio Railway Company. It was first feared that Mrs. Merchant's third son, George Maddox Merchant, chief quartermaster aboard the Merchant Ship Lake Oswego, on the high seas, could not be reached. However, by radiogram the message was picked up, the ship docked at Jacksonville, Fla., and by plane from Jacksonville to Raleigh, N. C., thence by train to Weldon, he arrived in time for the funeral.

The impressive funeral services were held in Grace Episcopal Church, Weldon, of which Mrs. Merchant was a member, conducted by the rector, Rev. D. P. Moore, assisted by Rev. F. H. Craighill, rector of the church of the Good Shepherd, Rocky Mount, N. C.

The pallbearers, all of Weldon, were Messrs. E. H. Smith, Camm Tilghman, E. S. Parker, C. R. Turner, Leade Mitchell and S. B. Pierce.

The Daughters of Confederacy and the Juniors attended in a body, tenderly bearing the profusion of lovely flowers, which attested to the love of friends and relatives and the high esteem in which she was held. Mrs. Merchant was a devoted mother, not only to her own but to those with whom she came in contact. She unselfishly administered to the needy and the distressed; a beggar was never turned empty handed from her door and she received two fold in return.

Interment was made in Woodlawn cemetery, Weldon. Mrs. Merchant is survived by her mother husband, four sons, Richard Ellis, Boothwyn, Pa., Paul Emerson, Weldon, N. C., George Maddox, Norfolk, Va., Benjamin Dyer II, Chester, Penna., two daughters, Mrs. Lucile A. Rose, Rocky Mount, N. C., Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hall, Norfolk, Va.; seven grandchildren, Richard Ellis Merchant, Jr., Randolph Haydon Merchant, Mary Agnes Merchant, of Boothwyn, Pa., Stringer Merchant, Weldon, N. C., Leslie William Rose, Jr., of Rocky Mount, N. C., Nancy Dyer Merchant, Chester, Penna.; three sisters, Mrs. Margaret M. Finch, Takoma Park, Md., Mrs. Ethel M. Byrd, Manassas, and Mrs. Nellie M. Bailey, Kinsale, Va.

Those attending from a distance not herein named were R. L. Byrd, Manassas, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Bailey, Jr., Kinsale, Va., Leigh Mead Hammond, Arlington, Va., and Mrs. Sue Morris, of Baltimore, Md.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL CHOIR
COMES TO MANASSAS

The pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Rev. Harry Paul Baker, is announcing this week the visit to the Sunday Evening Forum, of his church,
April 16, 1939, of the most outstanding musical organization of Washington, D. C. The people of Manassas and of Prince William County are to be congratulated on this great privilege, and the church auditorium should be packed to its capacity on that evening with appreciative music lovers.

The National Capital Choir, of approximately forty voices, was organized in 1925 by the late Dr. Albert W. Harned of Washington, D. C., composed of singers chosen from a larger chorus of which he had been the leader. It is today recognized not only as one of the outstanding choral organizations of the Nation's capital, but "has taken a place in the lead of the smaller choral groups of the country." (Evening Star.)

Through radio broadcasts this choir has also become nationally and internationally known, and has received commendations from listeners
in Bermuda, South America, South Africa and Europe.

It is the express object and function of this group of singers and their Director, Jessie Masters, to magnify
the ministry of music and to interpret with intelligence and proper feeling the real message and inspiration of the compositions they render.
To this end, the personality of every soloist and member is completely submerged in a unity of thought and spirit which reflects the beauty of choral music.

It is significant that critics have often made special mention of this choir's unusually clear articulation and tonal excellence in their renditions, which have "been developed to a fine art, the most perfect we have heard in America." (Christian Leader.)

The programs of the choir are arranged with a view to the selection of not only the kind of music toward which every organization of this type should strive to advance, but as well
some of the less difficult compositions which the average choir may use.

The National Capital Choir is a purely non-sectarian organization which makes its home at Universalist National Memorial Church, 16th and S St., N. W. Washington, D. C.

The director of the choir, Jessie Masters, has ably maintained the standard and training of the earlier days of the organization and brings this choir and its accompanist, the well known organist, H. Jermonie Graham, for a concert of sacred music, at the Methodist Church on Sunday evening, April 16th, at 7:30 o'clock.

HOW DO I KNOW?

How do I know that I shall live forever? This is the greatest question which has ever crossed the human mind. For myself would say that I believe in my immortality because I cannot help it. I was born with this belief, and cannot recall a day when I felt any need of arguing myself into it. All my experience has confirmed the correctness of this innate faith. I was impressed by the simple piety and exemplary lives of my parents who taught me about God and the world to come. After all immortality finds one of its strongest confirmations in those who live like immortals.

With increasing years and experience I have been more and more impressed with the wonderful care which God takes of His children as individuals. Indeed this is the one truth about which the whole teaching of Jesus centers. It is prominent in the Sermon on the Mount. The God, who clothes the grass of the field, adorns the lilies with their glory and feedeth the fowls of the air will much more care for us. (Matt. 6:25-34) If God is so interested in me during my earthly life, it is impossible for me to think that He will abandon me at death, and cast me aside as one might discard a worn-out fountain pen.

The divine care of the individual is at once the most profound and the simplest truth in the world. It is hard to comprehend how the great Creator, who has called the vast universe into being and holds the stars in His hands could have any interest in a single human life out of the many millions who inhabit the globe. But it is the illimitable love of the infinite and eternal God that we are talking about,
not that of a weak and finite man.

It should be remembered also that man is the finest piece of God's handiwork. One human soul is worth more than the whole material universe.

God longs for fellowship, and man is the only creature capable of entering into communion with Him and of working with Him in the carrying out of His great spiritual designs.
We may be enraptured by the glory of the sun, moon and stars, but after all they are nothing but inert matter and have no power to think or feel.
Far greater is the man who can study these heavenly bodies measure their size, determine their weight, analyse their contents and calculate their age.
Jesus calls upon us to stand on our dignity as sons of God, and to recognize the possibilities of character and achievement which are ours as citizens of heaven. "He that loveth Me shall be loved of My Father, and I will love him and will manifest Myself to him." This divine love is the natural love of a father to the members of his own family.

The size of the family has nothing to do with the intensity of the love to each child. Monica concentrated her love on her one child, Augustine;
but Susannah Wesley distributed her love among the thirteen children in her home. The love of God is full and deep enough to be bestowed on many millions of His children without becoming exhausted.

For the love of God is broader
Than the measure of man's mind,
And the heart of the Eternal
Is most wonderfully kind.

There can be no such thing as death to those who are the objects of the Heavenly Father's love. Alas for him

Who has not learned in hours of faith
The truth to flesh and sense unknown
That life is ever lord of death,
And love can never lose its own.

VISITOR TO MANASSAS

It happened on Quarry Road. Quarry Road, you know, is the street that crosses Prescott Avenue and leads into town past the County Garage.

A young Washington couple had been directed to the Court House. While driving along Quarry Road they ran into a chasm. I call it a chasm because the next nearest thing it resembles is a gully and the word, "gully" lends a harsh note to ones ears. Anyway, to be specific, at a certain point on this street your car suddenly drops out from under you. Without any warning you become the victim of an exciting plunge at a remarkable angle.

This is just what had happened to the young couple. Shaken and bewildered, they called me. Would you be so kind as to notify the authorities that the road bed had dropped out? Somewhat embarrassed, I tried to explain that this was merely an "over-drain," a feat of advanced engineering which eliminates the cost of installing a pipe to carry water under the street.

I warned them of the dangers of the "single dips" and the "double dips" which characterize our streets. The "single dips" I explained, they would encounter at the intersection of Church and Main Streets. This type dip is what the man of average intelligence calls a "bump," if in town, or a "rut" if found in the country. It is about four inches deep, twenty feet long, and usually well camouflaged. Its chief value lies in shortening the life of a car.

The "double dip" I continued, was merely a series of "single dips." It is employed largely as a speed checker. A motorist often striking the first dip—if he is able to continue—will usually get out and examine the next dip. This type dip is found in places where traffic is heaviest—around schools, Courthouses, Post Offices and GARAGES, for there it takes its heaviest toll.

I was thanked heartily for my information. The young lady cried jokingly as the car pulled away that she could picture the day when roller coaster glided up and down over our waving streets. I tried to form that same picture in my mind. Maybe I am not so fantastic but the picture I saw was that of our streets being leased by some giant truck factory as a testing field for the stamina of their machines.

RUFFNER-CARNEGIE

LIBRARY NOTES

Visitors to the Ruffner-Carnegie Library will enjoy the new books that have been received lately, not only among the recent best sellers, but including many others also. An outstanding collection is the new loan of one hundred books from the State Library, which is usually sent here four times a year. The Library has also received some valuable gifts of its own lately. A collection of thirty-two volumes has been presented by Father Widmer, Rector of All Saints Catholic Church of Manassas. This list includes a Hammond Atlas, a large volume on "Birds of America" illustrated in colors, a volume on famous Virginia homes and a number of other books of travel, biography and fiction. Other interesting recent gifts have been Rolfe's "Boyhood of Shakespeare" from Mr. Edgar Parrish, "The Pathfinder of the Seas," a life of Matthew Fontaine Maury, from Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, and the "Cathedrals of England" with reproductions of etchings by Joseph Pennell, from Miss Frances Johnson of Warrenton. Mr. C. Wagener, of Baltimore Sun also continues to send copies of the books he reviews in the Manassas Journal.

A unique recent gift has been a complete reprint set of the McGuffey Readers from the Dearborn Office of Mr. Henry Ford of Automobile fame. Mr. Ford, as everyone knows, has developed a strong interest in early American life and is building a whole village to illustrate it. So as an additional means, perhaps, of satisfying his nostalgic yearning for the far off America of his youth he has had reprints made of these famous old readers that played so large a part in the cultural life of earlier generations of America and had distributed them under certain conditions to libraries through the country.

The Reading Circle organized this year by the educational committee of the Manassas Woman's Club continues to meet at the Library the second and fourth Thursday afternoons of the month from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock. A book review is usually given by someone and there are many interesting discussions of books new and old. The group welcomes to the meetings anyone who is interested in book discussions.
