Her tulle veil was held in place by a halo of orange blossoms and she carried her mother's prayer book with an orchid on it and a shower of lilies of the valley.

Wilcher, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a gown of eggshell net, made with fitted bodice, puffed sleeves and a hoop skirt, trimmed in light blue velvet ribbon with shoes of matching blue. ## SHOP EXHIBITS AT LOCAL SCHOOL

Display Will Be Open Through Tomorrow Night

The Industrial Arts department of the Manassas High School is holding the Fourth Annual exhibit in the high school auditorium on Friday, May 5. The exhibit will open on Friday at one p.m. and continue thru Friday night until 9 p.m.

There will be on display projects that were made by the boys in the Industrial Arts department throughout the year. The projects will be work done in woodworking, art metal and Mechanical Drawing.

The shop is looked upon as a place for making things rather than a place for learning things. The shop and shopwork should be regarded as an interesting, effective, and economical means of attaining a number of objectives other than skills. However, experiences in the use of tools, and in the development of skills in the making of things, are to interesting that the things to learn are often neglected.

Interest in a beautiful and serviceable product obscures the opportunity for developing other desirable habits. The fact that a shop, like the ordinary classroom has in it certain possibilities in the developing of other objectives does not assure as that these others will be developed. They must be made a definite part of the school teaching plan or these objectives will be neglected.

The Industrial Arts department with the cooperation of the Agriculture department, the Home Economics department have worked hard to make this exhibit possible. The shop and the Home Economics Department shall be open for inspection.

Mrs. R. W. Adamson, Mr. R. R. Fishpaw and Mr. C. J. Litwin on behalf of the Vocational Department extend this invitation to attend the exhibit to one and all. We shall be most happy to see you at the exhibit. Come and see what the boys makes and what makes the boys.

MANASSAS HIGH SCHOOL WINS FOUR STRAIGHT

The Manassas High School baseball team traveled to the shores of Occoquan on Monday and scalped the Indians 6-3. This was the fourth straight victory for the Manassas Bombers.
 The Manassas boys have hit their mid-season stride and displayed a fine brand of baseball both on the field and at bat. Maury Wells, recovering from a sore arm from the Aldie game, came thru in good shape. He pitched hitless ball for three full innings and then allowed only four hits for the entire game. The boys on the field gave excellent support to Maury's pitching. Caton Merchant played an excellent game at short-stop by not allowing a single ball to go by him. Dee Vetter, Semarin Payne, William Miller and Kite Roseberry played tight ball in the infield while, Bowers, Grady, Bolding and Parrish did a good job in the outfield. Bowers twisted a muscle in the 5th inning and had to be taken out.
 The team collected eleven hits with everybody on the team getting at least one a piece. Wells got two singles, Vetter a single and a double and Miller a triple.
 The next home game will be on Friday, May 5th at 3:00 p.m. with Haymarket. Come out and give the boys a little support, they deserve it.

Green for their most worthy rendition of "Sweet and Low" by Barnby, the contest selection. Honorable mention was made by the judges of the summit school elementary chorus under the direction of Miss J. J. Alexander.
 The high school trophy was awarded to the mixed chorus and other musical groups of the Culpeper county training school under the direction of Mrs. L. L. Barber.

HITLER'S REPLY TO ROOSEVELT

It was with a distinct feeling of inquietude that the United States waited for Hitler's reply to the Roosevelt message last week. There was an unmistakable feeling throughout our great country that the President had "rushed in where angels fear to tread," and that actually he was attempting to recover in the international situation the prestige which he has undeniably lost in his management of domestic affairs.

These apprehensions were somewhat justified, as Hitler's harangue came in over the short-wave radio, and was truthfully and accurately translated into English by the very Press which he excoriated so unjustifiably. Discounting all of Hitler's assurances as meaningless in the light of his past dishonesties, there is still the undeniable fact that his assertions as to our unfitness to act as an intermediary in the present crisis cannot be denied. The resulting exposure of our own moral weakness as a nation has not strengthened our international prestige.

One of the most difficult situations to deal with in arguments among men are those circumstances where liars tell the truth, and—through Hitler's braggadocio runs such an unbroken thread of undeniable truth as to convince any disinterested nation that Uncle Sam, himself, does not have the cleanest hands in the world in the matter of unprovoked aggression and recourse to the sword, rather than to peaceful solution.

Our treatment of the Indian; the way we secured our vast southwest from Mexico, and our method of acquiring the Panama Canal, and the unbridled aggression of our national government against the South, all corroborate Hitler's shrewd intimation that when it has suited our national aims, that we have been no better than other aggressor nations.

In justification of Hitler's contention that the United States has not itself practiced what it now is preaching, it could readily be cited that once upon a time, with the peace of a great nation hanging by a thread, one of the most distinguished peace commissions that ever assembled, both in statesmanship and patriotism, and even numbering in its personnel a former president of the United States, was kept waiting for weeks in Washington, and would not even be received at the White House. And passing from these Northern aggressions to the more recent World War period, our Nation certainly rejected the councilable methods proposed by the League of Nations; refused to subscribe to the Versailles Treaty and made a separate peace with Germany, permitting our Allies to repudiate the terms proposed by President Wilson upon which the armistice was secured and hostilities ended.

Thus Hitler, bloody-handed liar that he is, has been afforded an undeserved opportunity of exposing our unfitness as an intermediary, and has been permitted by a blundering diplomacy, to place us in an unenviable position as a promoter of world peace and the rate of progress toward World War, has probably been accelerated rather than diminished by our unwarranted intrusion into the difficult affairs of Europe. As the immediate result we see England calling for conscription, and Germany repudiating the 1934 treaty with Poland and the 1935 naval pact with Britain. Undoubtedly Hitler was only waiting for a pretext for these abrogations, but our President certainly has not promoted World Peace in affording him this opportunity.

A TWO-CYLINDER CAR

Marked interest surrounds the current introduction of an inexpensive two-cylinder automobile to motor-conscious Americans by Crosley radio interests. From an automotive standpoint, the venture will represent a significant test of the sales possibilities said to be inherent in the untapped reservoir of wage earners who cannot now afford the luxuries of individual transportation facilities. On the other hand, a two-cylinder car capable of fifty miles to the gasoline gallon may meet family demands for two cars, one for office commuting, the other for the rest of the family.

Introduction of the low-priced car at Indianapolis Motor Speedway, April 28, has revived debates current in automotive circles for the last decade concerning the possibilities of a new car breaking into the existing used-car price range. Some experts feel that a new $400 car may kill the used car business. Yet manufacturers have avoided building under-sized cars because the used car had been found too efficient to justify competition.

A big factor in favor of a very light car as opposed to used cars in the same price range is its economy of operation and up-keep. The most difficult hurdle is the educated American taste for engine power, roomy bodies and streamlined designs. A car must be good to make a permanent niche in a competitive automobile market which today has only twenty-seven survivors from a list of 1,000 automobile manufacturers who have tried their hands at satisfying American motorists.

FARMS LOANS ASSURE
LAND VALUE STABILITY

Farmers in Prince William county continue to keep faith with their agricultural resources, judging from their investments in the land, says M. Bruce Whitmore, secretary-treasurer of the Prince William County National Farm Loan Association.

At the end of 1938 farmers in this county had 247 loans outstanding that were obtained through the cooperative land bank system, aggregating $711,000.

Mr. Whitmore said that the association does not encourage farmers to go into debt, but that it does provide money to good farmers who can profitably make use of borrowed capital, by lending money at low interest rates, which is repayable on an amortized basis over a long term that is adjusted to actual farm requirements.

In recent years, he said, much of the money loaned by the local association has been used to purchase farm land, which shows that people still have confidence in the farm land of this area as a source of sound investment. Many farmers have been able to borrow enough money to add to what they already had and to pay cash for a farm, and have a home on it and work it while it is being paid for.

Other farmers have used borrowed money to refinance their farm debts at lower interest rates and on more convenient terms, while still others use the money as operating capital or to finance permanent farm improvements such as terracing, buildings and fencing. All of these activities are an expression of faith in the agriculture of this county, declared Mr. Whitmore.

HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire, evidently starting from the kitchen stove, completely destroyed the home and most of the personal effects of Mr. C. L. Jacobs, Manassas, on Wednesday night about 8:00 or 8:30. Only a desk was said to have been saved, as the fire had made such headway when discovered that it was completely out of control and all that could be done was keep it from spreading to other buildings.

LOCAL LEADERS START DRIVE TO AID CHILDREN'S HOME

Forty-five youngsters were re-united with their own families this past year, according to recent reports of the Children's Home Society of Virginia, which is planning its annual fund-raising campaign to begin in Prince William County during the week of May 1st.

It wasn't that the families didn't wish to keep their children. Nine cases out of ten they loved them very much. But there were difficulties, obstacles (financial and otherwise) which seemed for the time being too great to overcome.

Finally they asked for aid. Convinced that it was the best solution, those families gave their youngsters over to the care of a child-placing agency. But due to the fact that they were encouraged by the agency to hope and plan for the time when they could shoulder the responsibilities of their children and take them home again, the partings were less tragic.

Through funds contributed to the agency by generous Virginians, the children were cared for along with hundreds of other homeless youngsters, by the Children's Home Society of Virginia. They were given good food, medical care, and the attention of expertly trained case workers in the Society. Then each individual family was advised and guided. After a period of adjustment, with the help of the Society, those families were able to work out suitable plans to prevent permanent separation from their babies. Twenty-nine children were re-united with their mothers. Sixteen returned to other relatives.

Miss Rose Ratcliffe, of Manassas, is chairman of the local campaign, which is a part of the State-wide campaign to raise funds amounting approximately to $90,360, so that the Children's Home Society may continue to care for homeless children in the State of Virginia. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Dennis Baker, Mrs. Harcourt Dickens, Miss Walser Conner and Mrs. Stanley Owens.

GREENWICH

See them in person! George Wade and his caro-Ginians will be presented on Tuesday, May 9, 1939, at 8:00 p.m. in the Greenwich school auditorium. They will entertain us with Hawaiian music on electric guitar, Hillbillie music, singing, musical novelties and a sensational new original comedy, "The Teacher's Hair Was Red."

The Greenwich Students Cooperative Association is sponsoring this program to help finance the landscaping of the school grounds.

Come! Enjoy an evening of fun.

The "Greenwich Wildcats" were defeated last week by the "Haymarket Yellow Jackets" in games of hard and soft ball.

Last week Mrs. Hooley, the principal of the school, had the misfortune to fall fracturing a rib.

The majority of the pupils participated in the Brentsville District Music Festival held at Nokesville Thursday evening.

FROST, FOG AND UNCLE FINKS
(Madison Eagle—April 2)

We're going to have two frosts in May. This comes from no less authority than Uncle Finks Gordon who says there are the same number of frosts in May as there are fogs in March—and there were two. Furthermore, says Uncle Finks, there are as many snows through the winter as there are fogs in August. Keep count next August and see whether he's right.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

I hate to be a kicker;
I always long for peace;
But the wheel that does the squeaking
Is the one that gets the grease.

It's nice to be a peaceful soul,
And not too hard to please,
But the wheel that does the squeaking,
Is the one that kills the fleas.

I hate to be a kicker—
Means nothing in the show—
But the kickers in the chorus
Are the ones who get the dough.

Let me not put any notions
That are harmful in your head,
But the baby that keeps yelling
Is the baby that gets fed!

COLORED YANKS LOSE
SEVEN INNING GAME 2-1

The Yanks lost their first game of the season Sunday, April 30th, to though they lost, they played the best game of their entire career, which covers a period of five years. The two runs made by the visitors were unearned, however, the local team earned their run on a base on balls, a stolen base and a single.

L. Johnson, of the visitors, was the star of their team, turning in several beautiful running catches. Pete and Paul Wells were the local team's defensive start.

M. Fields allowed the visitors five hits, while J. Johnson allowed the local boys only four.

Sunday, May 7th, the Yanks play Quantic here. Come out and see a game that promises to be a thriller from start to finish.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Adam and Fallen Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday May 7.

The Golden Text will be "As in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall be made alive" (I Cor. 15:22).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind, Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart" (Eph. 4:17, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The eternal Truth destroys what mortals seem to have learned from error, and man's real existence as a child of God comes to light. Truth demonstrated is eternal life. Mortal man can never rise from the temporal debris of error, belief in sin, sickness, and death, until he learns that God is the only Life" (p. 288).

OCCOQUAN AND VICINITY

Mrs. Ward Simmons and son, of Roanoke, Va., are visiting Mrs. Simmons' sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey M. Janney, in Occoquan.

Miss Lorraine Dove, of Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Va., spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dove, in Lorton.

Mrs. Frank W. Hornbaker, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilcher, of Occoquan, attended the Sinclair-Bradford wedding in Manassas.

At a dinner given by the ladies of the Alexandria Rotary Club at the home of Mrs. Thomas Fannon in Alexandria on April 26th, the following ladies from Occoquan were invited and attended: Mrs. Fred A. Barnes, Mrs.

B. W. Brunt, Mrs. Paddison and Mrs. Thomas F. Joyce. They reported having a most delightful afternoon.

The Pothick Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary met at the lovely summer of Mrs. Sam Davis in Lorton on Wednesday, May 3rd. There was a very large attendance and all had a very pleasant and entertaining afternoon. This Auxiliary is unique in that members of nearly all denominations are members; including Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist, Congregational, Presbyterian, Roman Catholic, and others too numerous to mention. They do excellent work in helping poor people who are in need. Tolerance reigns supreme among those ladies.

Now that the milk question in the District of Columbia is receiving so wide a publicity and the possibility of a reduction in the retail price, it would be well for those in Prince William County who have to pay 14c a quart for milk to bring it to the attention of their elected representatives. This was mentioned before a few weeks ago, and it is hoped those who have to pay this exorbitant price will not rest satisfied until the price is reduced. Why should those in the lower section of Prince William have to pay 4c a quart more than those residing in Manassas and vicinity? Just because of the decision of the MILK DICTATORS in Richmond. Our poor children have to do without necessary quantity of milk because those Dictators say they have to pay more than they are able to pay. You milk consumers get together and HOLLER to High Heaven until you get your just rights.

Members of Pothick Church and other many friends of Rev. C. A. Langston gave him a surprise birthday party on Monday evening, May 1st. There was a very large attendance, an indication of the many friends Rev. Langston has in the community. Everything was arranged by some of the Ladies at the Church Hall, and at about 7:45 Rev. and Mrs. Langston were prevailed upon to go to the Hall on some pretense. What a surprise they both had when they saw tables loaded with good things to eat, and a large birthday cake with eighteen lighted candles. Rev. Langston is eighteen. Rev. Langston was also presented with a beautiful lounging robe from his many friends. ### MANASSAS JOURNAL ADDS COMMENTS TO JESSE JAMES STORY

Ford, killer of Jesse James, was said to be a native of Fauquier county, his family living near New Baltimore.

The late Dr. Joseph A. Jeffries Warrenton told of his school days with Ford, known as a "bully" who "picked on smaller boys". On one occasion Ford was caught by his school mates and hanged to a tree. Timely arrival of the faculty prevented a tragedy.

It is also reported in Warrenton that the late Thad. N. Fletcher taught the James boys in Orange county, possibly Jesse.

S. F. Jackson, Warrenton, well known locksmith and jeweler, is said to have kept the pistols of Jesse James in good condition for the trigger work for which James was noted, when James and Jackson were residents of Kentucky. (Fauquier Dem.)

The Manassas Journal publishes the above account from the Fauquier Democrat which is highly corroborative of other information available.

The James boys originated from the wide-open spaces of either western Fauquier nor Northern Culpeper county. Just what time their family went to the southwest is not definitely known but neither Frank nor Jesse seem to have volunteered in the Confederate Army from Virginia.

James City, now known as Leon, in Madison County, is west of Culpeper, located directly on the road from that town toward Madison, and close to the Culpeper line. It was from here that most of the Virginia James spread out.

They were a colonial family, high spirited and freedom-loving. When the Federal Government decided to attack private homes, as it did through the Pinkerton agency, killing a member of the James family (not the mother), both boys saw red. Neither was at home on either occasion.

Prior to the close of hostilities, their home had been raided and their women handled in a most dastardly manner. This incident, plus the raiding referred to, turned the James brothers into avenging demons, sworn to settle the account with everything that represented the Federal Government.

The railroads, and the express agencies in particular, thus became the chief objects of their attacks. Some of their higher objectives seem to have sagged a bit but in the main they stuck to this one line of attack.

They were very generous. On one occasion they took the entire profits from looting the baggage and express cars and gave it to a Confederate woman who had been swindled by "carpetbaggers", thus saving her home. She happened to be on the train at the time and they learned her story.

Western Fauquier country is productive of other history. Any reader of the biography of Abe Lincoln will discover that Abe's mother came from this area somewhere, possibly not directly from within the present confines of Fauquier county.

THIEVES ACTIVE IN MANASSAS

On Wednesday a group of thieves descended on Manassas and concentrated on offices locked during the lunch period. A number of thefts were committed, the most conspicuous being from the Trial Justice's office. Here, after forcing an entrance, the thief walked out with a fine typewriter. He was observed by several bystanders who presumed that he was a legitimate repair man, and let him pass unmolested.

TO COMMEMORATE CLUB WORK FOUNDED

Radio programs celebrating a quarter-century of Cooperative Extension Work will be broadcast on May 6 and May 8 from 11:30 to 12:30 over station WMAL. On May 6 the broadcast will cover 4-H club work for the past 25 years. On May 8 the program will be commemorating the signing of the Smith-Lever Act, May 8, 1914.

Club work in its first stages were called tomato clubs and later canning clubs. In 1914 the Smith-Lever Act was passed by Congress providing funds for Cooperative Extension Work in Agriculture and Home Economics. In the state of Virginia from 1914 to 1917 home demonstration work made a steady growth. When war was declared in 1917 agents lead the campaign for increased food production and conservation. In 1920 girls and boys work was separated from the adult group and called 4-H club work. In 1922 the Virginia Homemakers Association was organized, its membership being members of home demonstration clubs throughout the state. Then in 1929 when the crash came, agents work was devoted to production of the home garden, canning and storage of foods took first place with the remodeling of clothing second. The relief agencies called for help in directing the management of subsistence gardens.

It was at this time that the State really profited by the training home-makers had received through home demonstration work. By 1934 home demonstration forces directed their efforts to a forward moving educational program.

Work in Prince William County began in 1911, three years before the Smith-Lever Act was passed. This work was started by Miss Emily P. Johnson. The work then dealt with girls only. These girls were organized in what was called "Tomato Clubs." They raised tomatoes and then learned how to can them. Miss Johnson continued the summer time work until 1914 when full time work began. Gradually the work broadened from canning to other phases such as poultry, cooking and sewing. Miss Johnson resigned in 1916 and Miss Lillian Gilbert was appointed agent. In 1926 Miss Mary Fred Claytor was appointed; 1930 Miss Sara Pitts; 1936 Miss Sara Thomas was appointed and in 1937 Miss Alice Webb became agent.

During this time the program has broadened from four 4-H clubs to 13 clubs and the program is called "4-H Family Activities Program." There are 8 Home Demonstration Clubs organized now. There are 21,136 members in Home Demonstration Clubs in Virginia; and a total of 18,655 4-H members enrolled by the 65 white and negro home demonstration agents. The future aim of Home Demonstration Work is the development of rural family life in attaining a higher plane of profit, comfort, culture, influence and power through a continuing program of education.

Virginians will share the country-wide recognition of the quarter of a century of progress in Agriculture and Home Economics on May 8 by listening to a pageant celebrating 25 years of Extension Work called "Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow," over station WMAL from 11:30 to 12:30.
