RILEY TALKS ON CANCER CONTROL

Interesting Program of the Manassas Women's Club

Dr. C. L. Riley, director of Public Health in Prince William and Stafford counties, was the guest speaker at the Woman's Club of Manassas Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Riley spoke on "Cancer Control," and gave a very clear and understandable description of the fountain and growth of the cells, which is the chief cause of cancer. He said, "because cancer is curable in its early stages, it is most important to have an early diagnosis, and treatment by x-ray or radium, administered by a competent physician."

An interesting discussion followed Dr. Riley's talk, and his answers to the many questions were most helpful and informative.

Reports of the recent convention of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs were given by Mrs. C. Wade-Dalton and Mrs. William L. Lloyd who represented the local club at the convention. They reported on the entire convention, but stressed especially the many fine addresses, given by outstanding speakers, representing every field of woman welfare. Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, National President of the Federation of Women's Clubs, opened the convention with a splendid address on "Opportunity begets Responsibility," and urged all club women to take a more active and intelligent interest in community and governmental affairs.

Mrs. R. Jackson Ratcliffe, retiring president of the Junior Woman's Club of Manassas, read an excellent report of the past year's accomplishments of that group. Their work with, and financial support given to, the "Pre-Natal and Well-Baby" clinic being, she said, "the most outstanding." In addition to this splendid work, the young women of the Junior Club have participated in many other civic and charitable projects, and are indeed a valuable asset to the Senior Club, and the community.

This meeting being the first meeting, in the new club year, considerable business and discussion of projects of the coming year were discussed. Mrs. C. Wade-Dalton, president, renamed all her standing committees as of last year with one exception—Mrs. R. Worth Peters will serve as chairman of the committee on Publicity.

A pleasant social hour followed with the hospitality committee in charge.

A lecture and exhibit of "Old Glass" will be featured at the June meeting. Those having rare pieces of old or valuable glass they wish to exhibit are requested to contact the program chairman, Mrs. A. A. Hooff.

MR. CONNER ENTERTAINS DISTINGUISHED GUESTS

Mr. E. R. Conner entertained at a bachelor buffet supper on Sunday from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. in honor of Judge Thomas W. Ozlin, chairman of the State Corporation Commission, Richmond. Miss Elvire Conner and Miss Walser Conner, assisted by Mrs. Jackson Ratcliffe, acted as hostesses for their father.

Judge Ozlin was guest speaker later that evening at the Grace M. E. Church.

The out of town guests included: Mr. Tom Frank, Mr. Roy Larcomb, Warrenton; Hon. Lake Triplett, Hon. Thomas Glascock, Marshall; Mr. Bob Cochran, The Plains; Mr. Ben Pitts, Mr. Rogers Clark and Mr. Billy Cole, of Fredericksburg; Hon. Wilbur C. Hall, Leesburg; Hon. J. U. Kincheloe, Fairfax; Hon. Jim Ashby, Stafford.

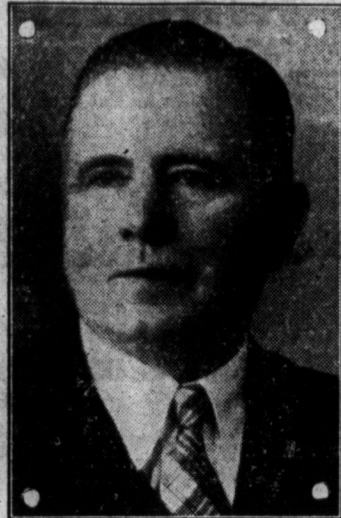

There were more than a hundred guests from this county and other sections of northern Virginia to meet Judge Ozlin and enjoy the fine hospitality of the Conner home.

JOHNSON ADDRESSES KIWANIS CLUB

Wheatley Johnson, supervisor from Manassas District, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club on Friday evening.

Mr. Johnson gave an interesting expose on what he called "district of the electorate" by removal from direct election of so many of its officials, especially those who have direct responsibility in expenditure of public funds.

On Friday next, May 25, the senior students of several high schools will be the guests of the club at the annual entertainment given to seniors.

Hon. H. H. Walton

PRESIDENT NAMES VIRGINIA JUDGE

Byrd and Glass Approve Nomination of Federal Judge for Virginia

On Tuesday of this week President Roosevelt named Armistead M. Dobie, dean of the University of Virginia Law School, to the position of Federal Judge for the Western District of Virginia.

The appointment is said to have the approval of both Virginia Senators, and closes the recent incident wherein the President had sought to make this federal appointment over the disapproval of the Virginia Senators, and which attempt was widely regarded as an obvious attempt to punish the Virginia senators for their temerity in objecting to New Deal Measures.

The Senate refused to consider the President's previous nomination of Judge Floyd H. Roberts, of Bristol, on the grounds that the President's refusal to consult the wishes of the Senate constituted a breach of courtesy.

The new appointment places a native Virginian on the Bench and one with a distinguished record. He is accounted as a personal friend of both Virginia Senators and it is believed that conformation of the nomination will be promptly given by the Senate.

NEW BOOKS AT THE RUFFNER-CARNEGIE LIBRARY

Visitors to the Library just now will find an abundance of material on the World's Fair in New York—pictures, maps and articles of various kinds.

Among the works of fiction recently received are "The Patriot" and "East Wind, West Wind" by Pearl Buck, the latest winner of the Nobel Prize; and Rawling's "The Yearling," the Pulitzer Prize Winner for 1938; Page's "The Tree of Liberty" with Jefferson as its central figure, and "The Fathers," a story of the Civil War period by Allen Tate, the biographer "The Tree of Liberty" with Jefferson Davis. In addition to these there is John Steinbeck's powerful new story, "The Grapes of Wrath," which now heads the list of best sellers, and another powerful story of an earlier day, Emily Bronte's "Wuthering Heights," recently filmed and now running in Washington.

In the non-fiction books the world situation is ably presented in Gunther's "Inside Europe" revised to October, 1938; and in Van Paasen's "Days of Our Years," the vivid autobiography of a foreign correspondent "Which reads like a novel of international intrigue."

Among the other new biographies, there are Admiral Byrd's "Alone," the story of his Arctic adventures; Wayland's "The Pathfinder of the Sea," a life of Mathew Fontaine Maury; and Bertha Damon's "Grandma Called It Carnal" which tells of her Spartan upbringing by her New England Grandmother, a disciple of Thoreau, who loved the beauty of garden and field but despised all the machine made luxuries of the Twentieth Century.

THE WORLD OF TOMORROW (?)

ANNUAL POPPY SALE ON SATURDAY, MAY 27

The American Legion announces its annual Poppy Sale for Saturday, May 27. This sale is a project of the National organization and has for its objective the relief of permanently disabled veterans in hospitals. Locally the sale is put on with the assistance of the High School and the school shares in the proceeds, as well as the local post of the Legion. So, when you buy a Poppy, you are giving aid to three agencies, the Veterans themselves, the High School and the local Post. The cooperation of the community is earnestly solicited in this worthy enterprise.

These boys will be among 250 others selected from High Schools all over the state. They will set up a complete State government with a Governor, Legislature, Courts, Police force, city and County governments, exactly as they now exist in Virginia. In this way the American Legion hopes to give training to the boys of the State on the important subject of Civics and Democratic government. The local Post is very happy to be able to send such fine representatives as the two boys chosen.

FUNDS SOUGHT FOR CHILD AID

Miss Rose Ratcliffe is County Chairman for the Children's Home Society of Virginia

Sixty homeless youngsters found families to call their own this past year, according to recent reports of the Children's Home Society of Virginia.

These children came uncomfortably close to remaining homeless. Most of them had no relatives able to provide homes and family life. Some of them were rejected and unwanted. Placement by adoption seemed to be their one ray of hope for home life and security.

It was obvious that they needed attention desperately. So the Children's Home Society assumed responsibility for them. They were given nourishing food and the best medical care. Their potentialities were determined by sympathetic and expert case workers.

Then came the job of finding adoptive parents with whom each youngster could live and be happy. Of the group placed for temporary care in foster homes, twenty-five were legally adopted later by those same foster parents, who had grown too fond of them to consider separation. Thirty-five others were placed in adoptive homes where, if all goes well, they will be legally adopted in the near future. They were a part of the total number, 547 children, cared for by the Society last year.

At an approximate cost of $400 each, those homeless children, with the help of the society which prepared them for adoption, found homes of their own. The local fund-raising drive for the Children's Home Society of Virginia is now in progress under the supervision of Prince William County Chairman, Miss Rose Ratcliffe, of Manassas.

CATHARPIN

AND VICINITY
(Omitted last week)

Those from this community who attended the Art Exhibit held in the Manassas Gymnasium last week, were delighted with the splendid work done by the school children of Prince William county. We were also brought to a new realization of the patience and diligence of wonderful teachers.

We visited the attractive Home Economics Cottage, of Manassas High School and saw the splendid exhibit of clothing made by the class.

We were delighted with the exhibit of the Industrial Arts Department. We were amazed at the variety of beautiful furniture made by the boys. We visited the work-shop and saw the splendid equipment which makes such work possible, and we came home with a resolution in our hearts to do everything possible to provide a building so that our boys of Gainesville District may enjoy the same opportunities. We have learned that the men of Nokesville community joined forces and erected the building for their boys. Can't we of Gainesville District do as much?

If the School Board could be petitioned to furnish the materials, we are confident that we have enough splendid workmen who would volunteer this services. Why not have an old-fashioned "barn raising," and provide this building for our boys before the next school building for our boys before the next school year?

Master Wayne Pattie, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Pattie, suffered a very painful accident Monday morning when the radiator cap, of the tractor which he was driving, blew off, sending the scolding water and steam over his face, chest and arms. He was rushed to a doctor immediately for treatment, and while his burns are very severe, he is resting comfortably.

Mrs. Paul McDonald returned to her home in Norton last Friday after spending several weeks with Mrs. Charles R. McDonald at "Oakwood."

Mr. and Mrs. Rumsey Light and family, accompanied by their sister, Miss Muriel Ellison, visited relatives near Louisville last week and attended the Kentucky Derby.

Mrs. L. J. Pattie and daughter, Miss Harriett, were guests of Mrs. Douglas Hurlbut at luncheon last Wednesday.

Mr. John Pattie, of Triangle, visited his parents Sunday and was accompanied home by his wife and children who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther E. Miller, of Stone House neighborhood.

Mr. Ernest Riley returned Wednesday from a visit to relatives and friends in Washington, D. C. He was accompanied home by his mother, Mrs. James Riley and his aunt, Mrs. Wilbur Donohoe.

Mrs. Charles H. Munday and daughter, Barbara Lee, of Washington, spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Jennie McIntosh.

Mr. Homer Kidwell visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. James E. Kidwell for the week-end.

Miss Harriett Pattie has recently visited her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, of Gainesville.

FIRST ATLANTIC CROSSING

Literally flying by "the rockets' red glare," a crew of six United Navy flyers blazed the aerial path across the Atlantic 20 years ago which luxurious flying Clippers will follow with passengers and mail this summer.

The story of this flight, in which rockets were used to illuminate the fog, is told in detail a story appearing next Sunday in The Star. The flight was commanded by Lt. Comdr. Albert C. Read and the airplane used was NC-4, less than a third the size of the Yankee Clipper.

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in their youth.

THE ZERO HOUR

Hitler has announced that he will soon secure control of the so called Polish Corridor, a narrow strip of land affording Poland its only substantial outlet to the sea.

Through existing international agreements, this area is dominated by the free city of Danzig, a German community which derives its commercial importance as Poland's gateway to the outside world.

This German population will shortly declare for Berlin protection, and this "protection" will mean the economic ruin of Poland. Because of the anticipated action of the free city of Danzig, Germany hopes to make any defensive action of Poland's appear as an unwarranted attack.

Poland, unlike the other nations which have been devoured by Germany is a proud country, rich in military tradition and in modern fighting equipment. Well informed observers believe that Poland will fight, and that this will precipitate the dreaded world conflict.

Others maintain that Poland realizes her friends will desert her when the crisis comes, and that since she cannot fight both Germany and Italy with any prospect of success, that she will suffer the national humiliation demanded by Germany.

Thus peace may be prolonged, but the time must come when France and England themselves will face the same fearful menace which now confronts the courageous Polish people. This will be the zero hour for European civilization.

HOLLER—KINCHELOE

A wedding of wide-spread interest took place Saturday afternoon, May 13, in Fairfax, Va., when Miss Coda Kathryn Kincheloe, younger daughter of the Commissioner of the Revenue and Mrs. James Ulysses Kincheloe, became the bride of Mr. Orville O. Holler of Manassas, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Holler, also of Manassas.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, before an improvised altar of ferns, white carnations and white tapers, with the Rev. John W. Kincheloe, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Rocky Mount, N. C., and uncle of the bride, officiating. Miss Mattie Miller played the wedding music and Mr. James Gordon Kincheloe, brother of the bride, sang several selections preceding the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding gown, which was made of Swiss embroidery. It was fashioned with hundreds of tucks, and had a square neckline and elbow sleeves. Her finger-tip length veil was of white tulle and was gracefully draped from a pleated crown. She carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses and white orchids.

Miss Esther Marie Kincheloe, who was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, wore an imported gown of white embroidered eyelet pique made with a square neckline, puffed sleeves and a very full skirt. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow daisies.

Judge Lacey Compton, of Manassas, acted as best man for Mr. Holler.

Immediately after the ceremony a buffet supper was served for members of the wedding party and relatives.

When Mr. and Mrs. Holler left for their wedding trip, the bride was wearing a dress of light blue crepe with a darker blue coat and black accessories. She wore a corsage bouquet of white orchids. They will make their home in Fairfax.

The bride is a graduate of Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg, Va., and Mr. Holler was graduated from Bridgewater College.

The ceremony was performed at 10 o'clock by the Right Rev. Francis A. Haas, of Catholic University, in the rectory of St. Michael's Catholic Church in Silver Spring.

The bride wore a beige rose ensemble with terra rose accessories and a shoulder corsage of green orchids. Miss Frances L. Weadon, of Washington, was her only attendant and her costume was aquamarine blue with navy accessories. Her flowers were pink carnations.

Joseph F. Parkhill, of Washington, was best man.

Only members of the families and a few intimate followed. Later Mr. and Mrs. Cullen left for a wedding trip to New York and Florida. Mr. Cullen is a member of the Washington Times-Herald staff. He and his bride will make their home in Washington.

VISITORS MUST PAY GOVERNMENT

Single Trips 25c, Annual Pass Sold for One Dollar

Effective May 15 the beautiful Shenandoah National Forest will be sold to the public at the price of twenty-five cents for each vehicle, and passes good for the season will be dispensed by the practical Uncle Sam at one dollar.

Superintendent J. R. Lasser, of the Shenandoah National Park, made this announcement this week, following receipt by the Interior Department of many protests throughout Virginia and the nation.

There is little probability that the Commonwealth of Virginia would have approved the transfer of these beautiful lands to the jurisdiction of the National Government, if the entrance fee policy subsequently announced by Secretary Ickes, had been anticipated.

The imposition of these fees are widely regarded as a violation of the spirit of the contract under which the Federal Government has secured title to these scenic areas, and the announcement this week of inauguration of the entrance fee system will be a considerable indignation by Virginians everywhere, who will resent keenly the idea of charging them to see their own mountain scenery, made accessible by roads which they have already amply paid for through indirect federal taxation.

Thousands will give practical indication of their resentment of this federal avarice by refusing to visit the Park during the continuance of such lick-penny parsimony.

MODERN IDEAS

A running round and round.
 It seems then such a lot of flaws,
 Mixed with all the good we get,
 Nor have we found salvation yet.

You see when I was a lad,
 'Twas few that education had;
 And to great wisdom we aspired.
 We learned to read and write, and spell,
 So we thought we did quite well,
 But years have passed and changes come

And still our problem is just begun.
 Well Sir, it seems that every day,
 I get new thoughts along the way,
 For things are changing all the time,
 And keep this poor old head of mine.

For now you send a child to school,
 And tell him to obey each rule.
 The teacher for a pattern take,
 And always keep alive, awake.
 Your will soon find out you got a job,

To keep him steady in that mob.
 For then they teach him how to chew,
 And many other things they do.

They told just the other day,
 Of a country school not far away.
 Where their good teachers try to give,
 Instructions how to work and live.
 Then once a week another comes,
 To teach the Bible, not the sums,
 She teaches how to sing and pray,
 And fits them for a better day.

Then next day comes another one,
 To teach them how to dance for fun.
 You see those trustees are not sure,
 There is a God who will endure,
 Sure, they would therefore be more wise.

A better plan they devise,
 They sing for Heaven they hope to win,
 And dance for Hell because of sin.

—Rev. T. M. Bowie.

A BOOK TO READ

by Clarence Wagener

Seventy-four years after the termination of the irrepressible conflict, books about the American Civil War continue to pour from the presses. Offhand, it would seem that the War Between the States as a theme for authors and playwrights would have been worn threadbare by now. But such is not the case. Undiminished is the popularity of books, movies, stage plays and radio dramas dealing with the Civil War.

We of the second quarter of the twentieth century are far enough removed from the happenings of 1861-65 for that strife to begin to take on somewhat of a legendary character for us. On the other hand, we are yet close enough to the days when the continuance of the Union was at stake to make what took place then seem quite real. The Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the War with Mexico and even the Spanish American War—all have drifted way back yonder in to the dim past. But the Civil War and the World War—we think of these as ours, in an intimate way.

Consider a recent best-seller novel. Among the several factors entering into the success of Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind" were these: splendid character delineations and the general acceptability of the theme. Yest, the people haven't yet had enough of the Civil War, especially where the writer is good at depicting action.

But there is always more to a war than the outward physical aspects. There are the deeply penetrating psychological effects, induced by events leading up to the conflict as well as by those that take place after hostilities commence. A worth-while novel of the Civil War which has lots of action in it but which, at the same time, dwells tellingly upon the ways the darksome days affected the inner lives of a group of Northern Virginians is "The Fathers," by Allen Tate (Putnam's, N. Y., 1938; 306 pages).

With the scenes laid mainly in Fairfax County, Alexandria, Washington and Georgetown, "The Fathers" gives a vivid portrayal of Virginia plantation life in the 1850's and depicts ominous conflicts between individuals of a group related by ties of blood, marriage and friendship. The events (or at least many of them) leading up to the Civil War are seen largely as they affect one member or another of the group, with the climax and end of the books coming at the Battle of Manassas.

Hard to get into, "The Fathers" will reward you well if you stick with it. Compared with the general run of fiction, it's strangely written. But once you do catch step with the author, you'll find it a rare treat, if you like your reading to make you think.

MR. GEORGE SMITH

Mr. George Washington Smith died Friday morning, May 12, at his home in Haymarket, Va., in his eightieth year. He was born March 13, 1860, in Haymarket in the old Smith home now owned by Mr. C. B. Roland.

Mr. Smith lived all his life in Haymarket, except eighteen months which he spent in Panama. He married Miss Mildred Foley, whose home was Mt. Atlas and old land-market of Waterfall. In this old home Mr. Smith and Miss Foley were married October 22, 1879. From this union there were two children, Lillian and Hugh. Of these two Hugh survives. Their mother died in 1902.

On December 16, 1915, Mr. Smith married Miss Rose Forsythe whose family also has its traditions of homes long established. For Mr. Smith and Miss Forsythe were married in her life long home at Woolsey. It was Mrs. Rose Smith who comforted and cared for him in this last year of suffering and increasing weakness and to her he turned in his last hours of consciousness.

Mr. Smith was a steadfast member of the Episcopal church in Haymarket another landmark in the history of Prince William County. He was broad-minded and generous in his attitude toward all, as evidenced by his gift of the land on which the Baptist Church now stands. This seems to be a family trait as his father gave the land and the building now used for the Public Library in Haymarket to be used for educational and church purposes only.

As postmaster and assistant postmaster under both Republican and Democratic administrations for many years Mr. Smith earned the reputation of being one of the best Postmasters Haymarket ever had. For a number of years he kept a store in Haymarket and not only made but cherished many friendships, through these contacts with the public.

In these days of unrest and change the world over, it gives one a sense of returning sanity and stability on reviewing the long and useful life of cordial hospitality unvarying southern courtesy and unending kindness to all, is a traditional gem in the traditional setting in which he was born, lived and died.

FREDERICK B. SHIRLEY

Mr. Frederick B. Shirley, a native of Prince William, who resided for many years at Charlottesville, died at his home and was brought to Manassas Wednesday, accompanied by the choir of Belmont M. E. Church at Charlottesville.

Services were conducted at 3 P. M., yesterday at the Baker Chapel by Rev. Barbour, assisted by Rev. Baker, of Manassas, and Rev. Ralph Smith, of Silver Springs, Md. Interment was in the local cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. W. M. Gray, C. L. Lindsay, C. L. Connely, M. E. Tomlin, O. B. Wingfield and Alex Blue, all of Charlottesville.

Mr. Shirley was a trusted employee of the Western Union Telegraph Company and a highly esteemed member of the community in which he lived, and his death at the age of only 57 years was the occasion of much sorrow both here and at Charlottesville.

His is survived by his wife, who was Miss Mabel Kinsel, of Pottstown, Pa., by a son, Wallace and a daughter, Estelle. Also by a brother, Mr. Clarence Shirley, of Manassas, and by two sisters, Mrs. E. L. Robertson, of Greenburg, Kan., and Miss Betty Shirley, of Manassas. There are also two grandchildren.

H. W. SNIDER

Among those that attended the funeral of H. W. Snider on Thursday, Mathias, West Virginia, were Mr. W. W. Snider and Virginia Snider, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shepherd, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bowman and daughter, Gayle, Mrs. M. J. Shepherd and Mrs. J. T. Hale, Mr. Sam Fitzwater, and Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Stultz, and Vada Lee.

Mr. Snider was 82 years old, lived and died on part of the farm that he was raised on in the beautiful hills of West Virginia where he enjoyed so much. He was a son of Billy Snider, who helped to fight the Battle of Bull Run. Just after the Battle of Bull Run, one morning when the family woke up his father's riding horse stood at the gate calling to get through. The family then thought that he had been killed, but some time after that (the writer doesn't remember just how long) he came home all right. His mother died in time of war, while his father was away.

He survived by his wife and six children: Mrs. Will Moyer, of Bergton, Va., Mr. J. C. Snider, of Washington, D. C., Mrs. L. J. Bowman and Mr. W. W. Snider, both of Nokesville, Virginia, Dr. H. W. Snider, of Denver, Col., and Mattie at home.
