CLUB DISCUSSES THE FALL GARDEN

Mrs. Cooksey Presents Excellent Paper On Autumn Suggestions

The Garden section of the Manassas Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. C. C. Lynn on Monday, October 2nd at 2:30 P.M., with Mrs. Ayleene Guthrie as assistant hostess.

After the business session Mrs. Paul Cooksey read a very interesting and instructive paper on "What to do in the Garden in the fall." She said in part "work done in the fall brings better results than at any other season. Take advantage of fall planting. Fall is the time to check up on our mistakes and plan for next year what we want to grow more, and what to leave out. Save seed, gather well matured pods, dry, and work for next spring's planting.

Pot your house plants now, and set outside in a sheltered place to get over the shock of transplanting before bringing inside.

Feed your shrubs and perennials with a slow fertilizer with mostly potash. Wood ashes and bone meal are best. Sprinkle lime around your lilacs, but bone meal is better for bulbs, peonies, iris and evergreens. Divide perennials now, this is the best way of propagating. Move evergreens now so they will get good root growth before the ground freezes.

For planting new beds and shrubs and trees, October 15 to November 15 is the ideal time. Don't neglect watering during cool weather.

After frost has played havoc with your garden give it a thorough cleaning, burning all dead foliage that holds disease germs.

Dahlia and gladioli bulbs to be dug after tops are frosted, and packed in boxes of sand or sawdust.

The wise gardener who worked in the fall says, "Spring is the time for enjoying work done the fall before." In conclusion she added: When I at last depart this earth For that, dim, distant place I pray the Lord will have for me a tiny space

Where I may cultivate and grow to tallest perfection Those flowers, so temperamental That drove me to dejection, No crown of gold I ask no harp, For that might be presuming, But just a garden, fragrant, bright, perpetually "blooming."

The social hour followed and a delicious fruit salad course was served by the hostesses.

The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Richard S. Hynson the first Monday in November.

JUDGE SMITH ADDRESSES KIWANIS CLUB

The local Kiwanis club had a pleasant surprise last Friday evening when Charlie Alpaugh ushered in our friend and neighbor, Judge Howard Smith, Congressman from the 8th Virginia District.

Except for a brief discussion of the Baltimore convention next week, the order of the day was a timely talk by the honor guest on the "neutrality" bill. He made the whole thing much clearer to all than it could possibly have been before.

The members felt that his views were most sensible and practicable and so expressed themselves.

FIFTY MILLION FOR ROAD WORK

Chairman Shirley Announces Plans For Highways

The governor's advisory commission on the budget closed its week of hearings here after receiving a report that approximately $56,000,000 will be available for road work in Virginia during the next biennium. Henry G. Shirley, state highway commissioner, announced that highway funds will amount to $27,710,000 for the first half and $28,362,000 for the second half of the next biennium. He added that, during the current year, the road fund total, including federal and all other funds will reach $26,769,000.

The proposed highway department budget laid before the commission calls for an increase of $328,898 in state fund expenditures for the first year and an increase of $1,002,421 for the second year.

For the biennium, Shirley suggested that the maintenance funds be increased by $2,000,000 and construction allotments be reduced the same amount.

He explained that the total for the biennium is the estimated revenue from licenses and gas taxes, and added that federal aid has been decreased somewhat.

The commissioner further reported that approximately 19,000 men, including 3,900 regular employees, 800 men paid on an hourly basis, 4,800 laborers, about 5,000 persons on the payroll of contractors and 2,800 convicts, now are employed in the state highway system.

He said that the WPA has spent $2,541,000 on Virginia roads and the state $1,210,000 on WPA projects.

BIRTHPLACE OF THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER TO BE VIEWED BY KIWANIANS

Boarding the steamer Mohawk on Friday, the 13th of October, delegates and visitors to the Kiwanis Club District Convention in Baltimore, Maryland, will view the historic Baltimore harbor on a half-way cruise. Included in the itinerary will be views of Fort McKenry, now a National Shrine. Kiwanians and their guests will also see the great Baltimore airport which serves as port and operating base for the trans-Atlantic and Bermuda flyers of Pan American Airways. Also the great Sparrows Point export mills of Bethlehem Steel Company, located on Baltimore's harbor, will be seen. REVIVALS CLOSE WITH DEEP SPIRITUAL FERVOR

The Cannon Branch, Church of the Brethren Revival Meetings being conducted by Pastor-Evangelist Rev. W. S. STATE BOARD SEEKS FACTS

Planning Group To Study Marginal Population

Officials of the Virginia State Planning Board have invited sociological leaders in the State to study "a large and increasing marginal population."

The conference will be held at Roanoke on October 24-25. Reports will be made by the Rural Sociology Division of the Virginia Agriculture Experiment Station in co-operation with the State Planning Board, WPA and other agencies.

A preliminary summary of the marginal situation accompanying the invitation disclosed that 165,000 families, or more than half the rural population of Virginia, average an income of less than $600 a year.

Of the total, 100,000 families are white.

The white families have at least a third more children than a parallel number of families of higher standards, the summary showed.

A check of property values of 194-096 white and 42,321 Negro men on tax rolls for 1936 in 37 counties showed that 42 per cent of the white and 58 per cent of the Negroes were assessed 2.50 or less.

Other facts in the digest were that 15 rural children are growing up in homes valued under $500 to every child in a house valued at more than $5,000, and that about one-third of rural white children starting in the first grade reach high school. About one-fifth finish high school.

Physicians and other sociological authorities agree that a high percentage of the marginal families have inadequate nutrition.

OFFERS PRIZE FOR BOOK REVIEW

Plan Is Outlined For Student Competition

To encourage greater use and appreciation of the Ruffner-Carnegie Library by high school students and the community in general, Clarence Wagener, who reviewed twenty books for the Library in The Journal during the past school year, now offers a prize for the best book review written by a member of the third or fourth year class of the Manassas High School and printed in The Journal between November 2, 1939, and May 9, 1940.

Because of the limited number of publication dates available, not more than twenty-eight students may compete. It's a case of first come, first served. But there must be not less than fifteen competitors, else the prize offer will be null and void. Closing date for entries is Friday, October 20.

Books reviewed must be obtainable on loan from the Library. No book review is to exceed 400 words. Three judges are to be selected—one judge each by Prof. Worth Peters, Principal; Miss Eugenia Osbourn, Librarian, and Miss Nancy Weir Waters, Teacher of English, of the Manassas High School.

The winner, to be announced at the 1940 banquet of the Manassas High School Alumni Association, will receive the W. C. Wagener Memorial Prize — Unrestricted choice of $10 worth of books at a Washington, D. C. book store, and a Certificate of Achievement.

Mr. Wagener also make a supplementary prize offer. He will give a copy of the fascinating and popular "Wonder Book of History, Science, Nature, Literature, Art, Religion, Philosophy," by Henry Thomas, to the student of the first or second year class of the Manassas High School who writes the best book review (a minimum of twelve such students must compete) submitted on or before Friday, April 12, 1940. No book reviews written by first or second year students can be printed.

Mr. Wagener, in a letter to The Journal, expressed his gratitude for the promise of space for the projected reviews, and to Prof. Worth Peters, Miss Eugenia Osbourn and Miss Nancy Weir Waters for assurance of assistance without which the offer could not be made nor the plan put into operation.

THE WORLD AROUND US

O. J. Schuster

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS to Congress last Thursday was decidedly militant in nature. Ardent supporters of the administration's domestic policies, as represented by the New Deal, are definitely opposed to the war-like attitude of Roosevelt's foreign policy. It is quite evident that the president is inadequately informed regarding history, even American history, as is clearly manifested by this passage from his message to Congress:

"The single exception (to the trade policy of the United States in war) was the policy adopted by this Nation during the Napoleonic Wars when, seeking to avoid involvement, we acted for some years under the so-called embargo and non-intercourse acts. That policy turned out to be a disastrous failure—first because our own Nation was brought close to ruin and, second, it was the major cause of bringing us into active participation in European wars in our own war in 1812. It is merely reciting history to recall to you that one of the results of the policy of embargo and non-intercourse was the burning of a part of this capital in which we are assembled."

COMPARE THIS STATEMENT made by the president with the facts of history. The American historian, D. H. Montgomery, on page 234 in this STUDENTS AMERICAN HISTORY, a text quite generally used in high schools and colleges some years ago, says:

"THE 'SIXTY DAYS' EMBARGO; the Jay Treaty.—The excitement over the action of England was so great that Washington feared the country would drift into war. To protect our vessels from seizure in case hostilities should be suddenly declared, he induced Congress to declare a sixty days' embargo (in 1794). Before the embargo expired Washington sent Chief-Justice Jay to London to negotiate a treaty of amity and commerce with Great Britain.

"The five point we especially wished to secure were: (1) the renunciation of the assumed right of search and impressment; (2) the surrender of the frontier ports held by the British; (3) the grant of unrestricted trade with the West Indies; (4) the recognition of the right of neutrals to claim, as we did, that free ships make 'free goods' and were therefore exempt from seizure; (5) damages for negroes carried off by the British armies at the close of the Revolution (1783), and compensation for the injury our commerce had since received.

"Jay succeeded in making the treaty; but it only partially covered the ground, and the commercial articles in it expired, by limitation, in 1804. The treaty as Jay signed it, provided: (1) That Great Britain should (by June 1, 1796) give up the posts she held on our frontier; (2) that she should make compensation for all American vessels which she had seized unlawfully. Under this clause our merchants eventually received more than $10,000,000 in damages; (3) Great Britain agreed to open her ports in the West Indies, but only to vessels of less than 70 tons' burden."

OUR SECOND EMBARGO (or "exception") was recommended by President Jefferson and continued in operation from 1807 to 1809. "Congress then passed a Non-Intercourse Act, or partial embargo, which opened our ports to all nations except England and France (then at war)," Montgomery. A third embargo was declared a few years later under President Madison's administration, but it was limited to ninety days, serving merely as "a preliminary to hostilities" in the war with England

THUS THREE EMBARGO ACTS, and a fourth partial embargo, were put into effect by the founders of this Nation—Washington, Jefferson, and Madison. The facts of history are sorely needed at this time when deceptive propaganda floods the country. These embargoes did work hardships, as war measures always do, but historians believe that the beneficial effects outweighed the hardships.

From sun suits to sweaters all in a day. But we have the much needed rain, and a reminder to move in the potted plants, and to watch out for Jack Frost, whose coming will be the death blow to the vegetable gardens and the beautiful annuals. Well, we can't have everything. So we can enjoy the open fire place or the kitchen stove, get out the popcorn, think over the doings in this war torn world, and offer up a prayer of thankfulness, that we live in the U. S. A.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hunt and little son are expecting to leave next month to spend the winter in California. Mr. Nim Lightner and family will occupy their residence during their absence.

We wish Mr. and Mrs. Hunt bon voyage, and are happy to have our good friends the Lightners with us again.

Mrs. W. W. Wright was recently called to Alabama, to be with her sister who was critically ill, and who passed away shortly after her arrival.

Mr. R. R. Smith and son, Preston have recently been making more improvements to his property at Park Lane, Arlington County.

Mrs. J. B. Ashby who has been with her daughter in New York City for several months, spent two weeks recently with relatives here. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. James Polly and son, Peter.

Piedmont, the home of the late J. W. Smith and once owned by Jesse Tyson of Baltimore, has been purchased by Mr. Frank Littleton, Jr., of Loudoun County. This is a splendid farm and Mr. Littleton who recently married a Miss Montague of Charleston, S. C., is planning on making extensive improvements there. His manager, Mr. Davis, temporarily occupying the bungalow of Mr. G. A. Gossom at Waterfall. We still have a few more acres in different locations, that needs what it takes to make this section seemingly a paradise. Like the desert sands ever shifting, so the changes come to us. The few old set fast, boulders, remain here for generations, we pray remain to mark the spot that bus, Ohio, also spent the weekend with Miss Smith. The elder, Mr. Berry having made the trip by air plane from his home, to Washington in one and one half hours.

Mr. R. B. Gossom, Jr., of Spartanburg, S. C., with his wife and son recently visited his parents at M't Atlas and spent several days in Washington with Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Herrel. His work with the S. C. S. necessitates much travelling through the South. His impressions of the country and people do not inspire any favorable report. Of one thing, he is convinced. There is one thing in the old South that did not "go with the Wind", the old South still lives.

Mr. Frank Mayhugh and family visited his brother, Lee Mayhugh recently. Frank, a former resident here has made his home in Pittsburg, Pa., for many years, where he is an honored citizen.

"ROSE MARIE" STES A NEW HIGH FOR SCREEN MUSICAL

No matter how much you liked "Naughty Marietta," that musical sensation of 1935, you're sure to like "Rose Marie" even more. Again co-starring Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production at the Pitt's Theatre next Wednesday, October 11.

Like its forerunner, "Rose Marie" was directed by W. S. Dyke and produced by Hunt Stromberg, who again combined their talents to give this picture one of the finest productions to come out of Hollywood in a long time.

Replete with haunting music, a tender love story, magnificent photography and backgrounds, it is truly the film sensation of the year.

Miss MacDonald plays the name role, an opera star who travels disguised into the wilds in search of her dissolute brother, a criminal from justice.

Nelson Eddy portrays Sergeant Bruce, as fine a "Mountie" as ever rode a horse. Assigned to bring the criminal to justice, there is the thrust of personal duty when these two meet and fall in love.

With all its outdoor scenes made against natural backgrounds of surpassing beauty in the mountainlake country of the Sierra Nevada, "Rose Marie" is a pictorial work of art.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in their years.

—I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, my soul shall be joyful in my God; for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decketh himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herself with her jewels.—Isaiah 61:10.

BLITZKREIG!

As the war goes into its second month and a dazed world wonders at the quick subjugation of Poland and the apparent deliberated inaction on the west front, it begins to become increasingly evident that those who crave action will shortly have their fill.

We may not be very conversant with the native language spoken so harshly by Herr Hitler over the radio, but our shortcoming in this respect may soon be fully remedied so far as the word "blitzkrieg" is concerned.

After a final peace proposal on the basis of full acceptance of the recent German conquests, demanding that England and France immediately disarm, Hitler will probably proceed to invoke his much advertised and long delayed "blitzkrieg," or "lightning war."

There are increasing evidences that Hitler is planning to hurl the full power of his great war machine against France and England in a mighty effort to achieve an immediate victory at whatever cost.

The importance of an early German victory is stressed not only by the apparent inability of that country to sustain a prolonged contest and by the fact that Mr. Stalin is gormandizing himself too rapidly to suit Hitler's aspirations of eastward expansion.

A prolonged debate on our present unfortunate arms embargo will also encourage infliction of the "blitzkrieg." Despite the feverish activity of Nazi agents here, the United States is slowly but surely awakening to a realization that despite our democratic sentiment, we are acting in Germany's unquestioned interest in our present definition of neutrality. A terrifying German attack at this time might intimidate our country into prolonging our unfair arms-embargo.

For these outstanding reasons England and France are steeling their nerves and mobilizing their fullest power to withstand an onslaught calculated to destroy civilization itself, but which, we confidently predict, will fall far short of its avowed objectives.

EXPLODING THE MYTH ABOUT
"Short Banking Hours"

If you think that bank employees work only five or six hours a day, you're wrong.

Most banks, including ours, work as long as other types of business. Before we open in the morning we prepare for the day ahead. After we close our doors in the afternoon we are busily engaged for some time balancing books, making records, counting money, doing a hundred-and-one essential tasks.

Remember that the next time someone says "I wish I had bankers' hours!"

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Shumate have been attending conference this week in Roanoke, Va.

The Women's Home Demonstration Club held their annual flower show in the library of the new school on last Wednesday evening. The many beautiful exhibits which were so artistically arranged made a most impressive scene for the visitors.

Among those to receive honorable mention was Mrs. Agnes Cato's beautiful bush which was arranged in a pot block vase, causing this exhibit to be most outstanding. Mrs. Warfield Brawner exhibited quite a novelty, it being a last year's gourd painted and made into a wall vase in which was a selection of flowers. Also much made over was a beautiful bouquet of dahlias exhibited by Mrs. M. L. Keys.

Prizes were awarded on points for various types. First place went to Mrs. M. L. Keys with 45; second to Mrs. Kerchiffer with 24; third to Mrs. Agnes Cato with 23 and Mrs. Nellie Brawner and Mrs. Warfield Brawner tied for the fourth with 14 points each.

Doctor Herman Jennings, our congenial Occoquan Druggist has installed a nice neon light in front of his Drug Store in Occoquan. This is another decided improvement.

An invitation to all you automobile drivers who try to see how fast you can go through our town; is to slow down and see our pretty town. Also remember that there are Speed Limit Signs at the entrances to Occoquan. Read those signs before entering. It may save you time and trouble.

DUNNE, MacMURRAY STAR IN GREAT LOVE STORY

One of the greatest love stories to reach the screen in many a year comes to Pitt's Theatre next Thursday and Friday, October 12 and 13 where Paramount presents "Invitation to Happiness," co-starring Irene Dunne and Fred MacMurray, and featuring Charlie Ruggles, Billy Cook, William Collier, Sr., and Marion Martin.

Fred Ma. Murray is cast as a prize fighter who is managed by Charlie Ruggles. When Charlie goes to William Collier, Sr., for backing for his boy, Fred meets Collier, Sr.'s daughter, Irene Dunne, a society girl who is more or less accustomed to having her own way. And so, Fred marries Irene.

They are happy for a while, but their happiness soon yields to heart-break. Fred is determined to become champion of the world, and must leave Irene alone so that he can barnstorm around the fight circuit. While he is away on one of his trips, a boy is born to the couple. As broken up as any woman would be at the absence of her husband at such a time, Irene manages nevertheless to forgive him because she loves him so dearly.

As the boy grows up, he comes to hate his father. He realizes that his mother does not relish his father's continued absence. Fred cannot understand the boy's hate for him.

Despite their separation, Fred and Irene love each other. Fred's efforts to win the boy's affection leads to a dramatic conclusion of the narrative.

Irene Dunne brings charm, vivacity and a lovely tenderness to the role of the wife, while Fred MacMurray is virile in the fighter half of his role, puzzled and eager as the father who wants to win over his son. Charlie Ruggles plays a straight dramatic role with understanding.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 8.

The Golden Text will be "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases" (Psalms 103:2, 3).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And these signs shall follow them that believe;
In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; They shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover" (Mark 16:17,18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "The days of our pilgrimage will multiply instead of diminish, when God's kingdom comes on earth; for the true way leads to Life instead of to death, and earthly experience dis-closes the finity of error and the infinite capacities of Truth, in which God gives man dominion over all the earth" (p. 202).

HOME-COMING AT ALL SAINTS

mond, Va., will deliver a short address on this occasion.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my dear wife, Sarah G. Bettis, who died one year ago today, October 4, 1938.

Surrounded by many friends I am lonesome,
While they are happy, I am blue, Behind my smiles there are heartaches,
For I am always thinking of you.

I am always thinking of days gone by,
When we were both together,
And, oh, what a difference it is now,
Since you are gone forever.

A lonely husband, a vacant chair,
A silent voice, a saddened home,
Both your presence is ever near me,
No matter where I roam.

God above knows how I have missed you,
He alone our tears can dry,
But there will be an understanding,
In that land beyond the sky.

By her loving husband,
Mitchell Bettis

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of a dear friend, Sarah G. Bettis, who departed this life one year ago today, October 4, 1938.

Although you are gone we still miss you,
Your friendship will always linger near,
But we know God is your protection,
So there will be no need to fear.

We are looking forward to that great meeting,

In that land beyond the blue,
Where there will be a great reunion,
With the friends we loved so true.
By ones who loved her,
E. B. A. and F. E. H.

"THE ADVENTURES OF SHER-LOCK HOLMES" PITS MASTER-SLEUTH AGAINST HIS ARCH-ENEMY

So well was this film received that Darryl F. Zanuck now has another Holes story on the way—"The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," with Rathbone and Bruce again in the leading roles and Ida Lupino and Alan Marshal also featured. Based on the play, "Sherlock Holmes," by William Gillette (with the permission of the executors of the late Conan

Doyle's estate), the picture pits the foremost detective against a criminal genius worthy of his talents—the notorious Moriarty. Moriarty, Holmes' constant enemy, is also Doyle's creation, and as a lawless master-mind ranks almost with Holmes in cleverness and ingenuity. The glow in the film is portrayed by George Zucco, included in the cast with Terry Kilburn, Henry Stephenson and E. E. Clive.

The screen play by Edwin Blum and William Drake unfolds the solution of a series of murders plotted with diabolical cunning and the incredible super-crime of the Tower of London. In addition a powerful love story runs through "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," plus many laughs by Holmes, Watson and other rare characters. The film was directed by Alfred Werker, with Gene Markey associate producer.

Manager Hibbs reports that "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes" will
