SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 A YEAR

FUNDS ALLOWED TO RE-FOREST

Farmers Should Learn About
Plan From County Agent

A new feature of the 1940 A. A. A. program makes it possible for all farmers to earn an additional $30, regardless of the size of their farms or other A. A. A. practices. The extra payment to be earned by reforesting not less than four acres of their unprofitable land.

From the beginning, the A. A. A. program has paid for three planting and forest improvement, but with so many ways to earn credit, the better cooperators have found they qualified for their entire soil building allowance before they got around to the woods. The 1940 program still pays $7.50 per acre for planting, and $3.00 for forest improvement, but in addition it authorizes a special tree planting payment of $7.50 per acre up to $30 per farm, over and above the regular soil building allowance. The requirements are the same as for the regular project.

(1) Plant not less than 1000 trees per acre of an approved species.

(2) Show a survival of not less than 700 trees per acre September 1.

(3) Protect the plantation from fire and domestic livestock.

The cost per acre of such planting, the A. A. A. payment and the cash balance are about as follows:

Cost of 1000 trees (Virginia Forest Service)	$2.00
Transportation from Charlottesville	.50
Cost of planting (one man eight hours)	$1.50
Total Cost per acre	$4.00
A. A. A. payments (both regular and special)	$7.50
Balance, over and above all costs	$3.50

Your county agent will be glad to furnish additional information and help get the trees, but it is urgent that you act promptly. This new provision is sure to increase the demand for trees, and only those who get their applications on file early can be sure of getting what they want. The trees not be shipped until you are ready for them, but applications are accepted as received.

Here is an opportunity to earn an additional $30 and, at the same time, return four acres of idle land to its best use. You should by all means, find out about this forestry work, and get paid for your spare time this winter. In most cases you can earn the $3.00 per acre for forest improvement while getting out your year's supply of wood and do no extra work.

PITTS THEATRE COOPERATES WITH CONFEDERATE MOVIE SHOWING

Through the efforts of Manassas Chapter U. D. C., and the splendid cooperation of the Pitts Theatre, the people of the community will have an opportunity to see the ten minute movie, "Prophet With Honor." It will be shown on the evenings of January 15 and 16 with the picture, "The Cat and the Canary."

The matter contained in the following letter is of interest to the general public and is reprinted by request.

To the Editor of the Evening Sun.

Sir:

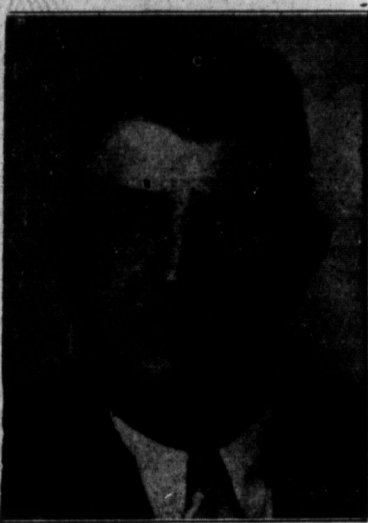

"I understand there is a likelihood that the movie 'miniature' on Matthew Fontaine Maury entitled 'Prophet Without Honor' will return to Baltimore. Students of history are so accustomed to finding fault—for good reasons—with the 'historical' productions of Hollywood that it is an interesting experience to praise this picture as being a glorious exception.

"Briefly this ten-minute narrator-movie covers the career of the great scientist this country has ever produced; yet, strange as it may seem, the narrator's words are to the effect that probably no one in the audience has ever heard of him!

"This story of Maury's achievements, as presented in this sketch, is a tribute to fine dramatic skill on the part of those who provided the script. It is not only 'filler' but even a thriller, from start to finish. Most important of all, it is true to the facts involved."

DENTAL CLINIC HERE NEXT WEEK

All School Patrons Urged To Cooperate

The Dental Clinic, sponsored by the State Department of Health, County Board of Supervisors, the County School Board, and the Manassas Parent-Teachers Association, will begin operation next week in the Manassas Schools.

According to the preliminary examination which was made by Dr. Lyle C. Hedman, State Dentist in charge of the clinic, there is greater need for dental corrections in the Manassas schools this year than ever before. While a good deal of activity is usually centered around the dental work for the under-privileged children too little emphasis is made upon the needs of those who are not classified as under-privileged children but who do need dental care as much as any other.

Mrs. R. C. Haydon, chairman of the P. T. A. Dental Clinic Committee, urges all parents to take advantage of this opportunity which the community has only for a short time each year. It is hoped that Dr. Hedman will be able to remain in Manassas for as much as three months since there is sufficient work to be done, but the response of the patrons in having the work done through the clinic will govern the time that he remains here.

The State Health Department always urges that the local dentist be used to the greatest possible extent rather than the clinic, but the dentists of Manassas highly approve the clinic and express their hope that it will be utilized to the greatest possible degree. With the amount of work that is necessary among the pupils of the schools it is practically impossible for the local dentist to do all of the work. Therefore, it is hoped that the parents of the pupils in the elementary grades will make full use of this opportunity and have dental corrections made through the dental clinic while it is available.

PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY HIGH IN USE OF AGRICULTURAL LIME

The final report on ground limestone furnished under the 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program showed that Prince William County, with 4,572 tons, ranked third in Virginia in the total amount received and applied. Fauquier, our neighbor, was first and Carroll, a Southwest Virginia county, was second.

In addition to the Conservation Program ground limestone obtained without cash outlay on the part of farmers, a large tonnage of agricultural lime was purchased by Prince William Plant and various commercial sources, Triple Superphosphate fertilizer, also furnished under the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program, was used by many local farmers on their pastures.

Ground limestone, for use on any farm land, and Triple Superphosphate fertilizer, for use on grazing land, will again be available under the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program and all farmers will be advised by letter and through the columns of the Manassas Journal when to make application.

To encourage a still greater use of Conservation Program ground limestone and to make it more convenient for farmers with less than carload allotments to obtain the material, arrangements are being made to have it delivered directly to farms by truck from the grinding plant this year.

I Like This Book

One of a series of book reviews by students of Oakburn High School, Manassas—Section 1939-40—in competition for W. C. Wagner Memorial Prize.

"PRIDE AND PREJUDICE"

This novel was written by the English writer Jane Austen in the year 1796, when she was twenty-one years old. Like her other novels, it deals with the love affairs of young women in the upper middle class of English Society in the latter part of the eighteenth century. This particular book was published by the Dunlap-Grosset Company in New York.

Among the characters of the novel "Pride and Prejudice," is Mrs. Bennett, the mother of five daughters, who was indeed an interesting individual. Her entire thoughts were centered around trying to be a high-light in society, and her greatest wish was that her five precious daughters would marry into rich, distinguished families. She was particularly interested in the welfare of the eldest daughter Jane who was considered very beautiful. Mr. Bennett, on the contrary to his wife, was a peaceful, home-loving man, and had it not been for his sound judgment, many times the girls would have been in much trouble from their mother's brilliant schemes. I may also say that these schemes usually dealt with her daughters' various romances. The characterization of Mrs. Bennett, the foolish and complaining mother, of Mr. Bennett, the peace-loving father, and of Elizabeth, the heroine, proud but admirable, is surprisingly capable considering the youth of the author.

Miss Austen's novels, depicting upper middle class life, are delightfully realistic and full of quiet humor. "Pride and Prejudice" is indeed a typical example of these characteristics.

I could not recommend a more interesting or enjoyable book for one to read than this novel.

This book may be borrowed from the Ruffner-Carnegie Library.

SPOOKING AND SPOOFING AROUND IN THE THRILLER

When Paramount's spine-tingling picturization of "The Cat and the Canary" opening next Monday and Tuesday, January 15 and 16 at the Pitts Theatre, it is evident right from the outset that all present reacted just about the way Bob Hope does in a classic scene. Bob gags, "Even my goose pimples have goose pimples," and that remark is a perfect tip-off on the nature of this mystery-comedy which co-stars charming Paulette Goddard with Bob Hope, and adroitly tempers terror with titters at just the right moments and in just the correct proportions.

Speaking of titters, and of the heartiest kind of laughter, too, the natural assumption is that Bob Hope evokes them. The assumption is certainly correct. His role in this picture, that of a radio comedian, is undoubtedly his best; and the material with which he has been provided—the gags, in particular—shapes up as the sort of thing which is right up Bob's alley. Nor are romantic moments for Bob neglected, and this reviewer, along with every other male present, envied him more than a little present, envied him more than a little the moments of tenderness with Miss Goddard.

The story, based on the famous stage play by John Willard, creates an atmosphere of spookiness for the viewer right from the very first scene. It opens with Bob, Miss Goddard and four other potential heirs of one Cyrus Norman proceeding through Louisiana bayous to a deserted, lonely mansion. There they are to hear at midnight the reading of Norman's will. The only other persons present are the deceased's housekeeper, who has lived alone in the house for ten years, and the lawyer who is to read the will.

As the will is being read, the lights dim, and seven bells toll. The housekeeper predicts that of the eight persons present only seven will be alive in the morning! When things have quieted down, Miss Goddard is named as the heiress. But there's a provision in the will. She will remain the heiress only if she is not dead or insane within a month!

tically out of his skin, matters become even scarier with the appearance of a keeper from an insane asylum who says that "The Cat," a murderous, hairy, supernaturally strong creature has escaped from the asylum and is loose in the bayous. "The Cat" strikes almost immediately, throttling the lawyer—the only person who has the name of the second heir—by grabbing him

FENWICK NAMED AREA CHAIRMAN

Will Direct Activities Of State Jackson Day Banquet

The Jackson Day Campaign Committee of Virginia announces the appointment of Charles R. Fenwick of Arlington as chairman of the Eight Congressional District, Mrs. Beulah Goss and J. Maynard Magruder as co-chairmen of Arlington County, with Mr. Elwood Clements, chairman of the Young Democratic Division of the dinner.

The dinner will be held at the John Marshall Hotel, in Richmond, at 1940. It will be $25.00 per plate, and the contributor has the privilege of bringing a lady guest by the payment of an additional $2.00. The affair is being jointly sponsored by the State Central Democratic Committee and the Young Democratic Clubs of Virginia, and it is expected that Northern Virginia will send a large delegation. In many instances clubs are sending representatives; and in a number of cases, individuals have contributed small amounts selecting one of their number of attend.

Mrs. Goss, president of the Arlington County Woman's Democratic Club, and J. Maynard Magruder, vice president of the Democratic Executive Committee, have indicated that chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee will attend in Richmond instead of the Washington dinner. Mr. Clements, president of the Young Democratic club, is urging the Young Democrats to attend so that they may meet party leaders throughout the state. Contributions may be made on the deferred plan, half at the time of contribution, the balance February 8, 1940.

from behind a panel in the library while he is talking to Miss Goddard.

From that point on, the feeling of terror increases. Miss Goddard is frightened to the brink of insanity by "The Cat," dares to tangle with the creature, and the picture progresses to a climax which will startle moviegoers. As for "The Cat"—it would hardly be fair to reveal its identity, but this viewer will wager that hardly anyone will guess its identity until the end.

We wish to thank our various correspondents for sending their notes early this week.

1940 Edition Of Telephone Almanac Now Ready For Distribution To Subscribers

Copies of the 1940 edition of the Telephone Almanac containing useful information on many phases of the communications industry are now available at any Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company office. More than 95,000 of these almanacs have been published for users of telephone service in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

The new edition of this 32-page "blue book," which, for 17 years has been compiled by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, contains "A Rebus Page For Our Young Readers," information concerning the movements and eclipses of the sun and moon, and a month by month calendar listing important telephone and historical information for each day.

The new almanac also contains a chronicle of twelve historical events, each of which illustrates how communication helped shape the destiny of this country, a list of Bell System operating territories, an article on Benjamin Franklin's spirit of scientific research and descriptive matter concerning the Bell System, its workers and the vast equipment necessary to render telephone service.

Facts and figures disclose that the telephone itself represents only a very small part of the total investment in plant and equipment required to enable it to function properly. Of the Bell System's total plant investment approximating $4,500,000,000, cable and underground conduit account for nearly 33 per cent; central office equipment and private branch exchange switchboards, about 29 per cent; pole lines, aerial wire, other outside plant, etc., about 18 per cent; land and buildings, about 11 per cent. The equipment in subscribers' homes and places of business, including not only telephone instruments but wiring and other apparatus, represents only about 10 per cent of the Bell System's total plant investment.

WATERFALL

Those of us who wished for a white Christmas, did not dwell long in disappointment, a real nice snow too, not too deep, no drifts and just right for coasting, which the young folks proceeded to enjoy. Radio reports this snow fell as far south as Tennessee and west to the coastal states. Remember the winter of 1899 when balmy weather lasted until February 12th. Their came the unforgettable blizzard with temperature ten below and drifts that lasted until spring time. In 1904 winter did not begin in earnest until January 24th, with snow and intense cold that lasted for weeks. Mother nature acts queer. A few days before Christmas this winter we gathered around pansies, and failed to notice a hen sitting under the foliage on a nest full of eggs, two weeks later she ventured out with her brood, when discovered most of the little ones had perished in the snow. The survivors are doing fine. Who knows Fried Chicken for Easter, maybe.

The holiday season passed about as usual each home enjoyed the return of the absent ones for the day of days. Don't we all love it? The fire side chats, exchange of gifts, Christmas goodies, tables laden with everything to please an epicure, so much to give thanks for in the many blessings throughout the year.

The teachers and young people of the Sunday School gave a very enjoyable entertainment at the church on Christmas night, a beautiful tree, gifts, candies and oranges for all including visiting children who outnumbered those enrolled.

Mr. Charles Sinclair made a splendid impersonation of Santa, and R. B. Gossom, Jr., gave an impressive talk on Christmas. On Friday evening the little folks enjoyed a party sponsored by Mrs. Susan Morton of Haymarket at the community building. All received toys and a bag of goodies.

We have been much concerned over the indisposition of our pastor Rev. Barnett Grimsley. However he was able to fill his appointment with us on Sunday last. We pray he will continue to improve in health.

Mr. Jesse Vermillion died very suddenly at his home near Hickory Grove last week. Mr. Vermillion was a well to do and highly respected citizen. He is survived by one son and a daughter. His wife died about two years ago.

The many friends of Mr. Walter Pickett of Clarendon are distressed to hear of his fall on Christmas day, breaking his leg. While taking his dog for a walk, somehow became entangled in the leash, causing the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gossom, Jr., and son returned to their home in Sportanburg, S. C., on New Year's Day, having spent the holidays with their relatives here and in Washington.

Here is Your FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

More than four centuries ago, an imaginative Spanish soldier of fortune listened to fantastic Indian tales of a fountain that restored youth. He believed these yarns, and, in 1513, set foot in Florida in his search for eternal virility.

Ponce de Leon was disappointed. He failed to find his magic spring, and died without knowing that he had stood on the land that was to give man a lot more living in the normal span of life... and actually to extend his life by years!

Modern industry... American-born late in the 19th century, is the real Fountain of Youth. Industry has made it possible for men and women to see more, do more, live more in 30 years than their ancestors did in three score and ten.

Mechanical devices have lifted the burden of drudgery so that men and women no longer are middle-aged at 40. Modern Americans turn the half-century with youthful vigor.

The power of advertising has given us these benefits of the modern American Way of Living—the true Fountain of Youth.

THE WORLD AROUND US

By
O. J. Schuster

THE PEOPLE OF INDIA are among the most cultured in the world. The great American philosopher, Will Durant, who traveled from north to south and from east to west repeatedly over India, says that the finest poem ever written was by a Hindu, that Hindu philosophy and Hindu are as fine as any ever produced, that the greatest living poet in the world today is a Hindu woman. But the Hindu people are not warlike, they love peace. That is why a few thousand Englishmen, backed by a big navy and destructive machine guns, can dominate and exploit 350,000,000 Hindus.

WERE IT TRUE that England is fighting for democracy she would end her misrule of India and grant those people their independence and the democracy for which they are waging a great moral war of non-resistance. John Morley, the British historian, says that England waged more than 100 wars during the 19th century in India alone, all of them wars of aggression. In these wars England impressed Hindus into her armies—as the British navy impressed American sailors into her service during the American Revolutionary Period—and thus compelled the Hindus to kill and enslave their own people. The English Lord Asquith declared in 1909 that the Englishmen who were administering the government of India were utterly unfit for such service and that if the English people knew the truth about India it would cause a public scandal.

UNDER BRITISH RULE the public debt of India increased more than 100 fold although the tax had been boosted to 3 times what it was before the British subdued the Hindus. Will Durant tells us that one-third of the people of India have an annual income of not over $5. During the 19th century Indian troops were forced to fight in British wars OUTSIDE OF INDIA. And the people of India had to pay $450,000,000 to support those British wars on foreign soil. During the World War India contributed the enormous sum of $1,000,000,000 to the War chest of the Allies. And 1,200,000 Indian troops and laborers were transported to foreign battlefields to fight in a war "to make the world safe for democracy." Already in the present war England has forced hundreds of thousands of native Indians to serve as soldiers and fight for Britain on foreign soil.

A MEMBER OF THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT, Dr. V. A. Rutherford, declared: "For every poet held in India by Englishmen, it would be quite safe to say there are 5 or 10 Indians qualified to discharge its duties, and at least half the cost." Our own Charles Francis Adams, addressing the American Historical Society, said that in no case in all history has a so-called superior race improved a so-called inferior race by ruling over it. Another prominent Englishman, Sir Wilfrid Blunt, said: "I have come to the conclusion that if we go on developing India at the present rate, the inhabitants, sooner or later, will have to resort to cannibalism, for there will be nothing left for them to eat." England is taxing India (taxation with out representation) so high that, according to Durant, she "is bleeding India to death." He estimates that 10,000,000 Hindus die of starvation each year.

THE PRESENT WAR in Europe is not an idealistic war on the part of any nation involved in it. It is not a war for democracy, or a war against dictatorships. It is the same old greed for wealth, trade, and power that inspires the belligerents. Rich nickel mines in Finland, oil wells in Roumania, resources of all kinds and trade advantages—these are the things over which the politicians are bellowing and for which young men are expected to sacrifice their lives. But the young men in every nation understand this war business better than the politicians realize and they are unwilling to fight for the verbal bunk about democracy and dictatorship and the kind of "righteousness" practiced by the politicians. That is one of the main reasons why this war has not been on the grand scale of the World War. The defeat of imperialism, the defeat of greed, trade rivalry and hatreds, international hi-jacking practiced by all the big nations. Defeat these sinister objectives and world peace will be assured.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Yesterday at noon, Governor Price read his budget message to the Virginia Assembly. To discuss it in full detail is rather difficult. A summary of some of the more important facts is stated herewith.

In the first place, Governor Price revealed the fact that the five million dollars balance to which his administration fell heir has dwindled to only about three quarters of a million. This, he stated, was due to funds expended for old age relief which had not been provided for by the budget for the biennium now nearly at an end. He made it plain that some program for providing increased revenues would be developed later in the session.

Seventy-five million dollars is allowed for in the school and highway budget, the school receiving about one-third that of roads. In this connection, however, Price recommended a minimum state allotment of five hundred and fifty dollars per teaching unit for the next session, with an increase to six hundred and ten dollars at the following school term.

Included in the school budget is an item of seven and one half millions for buildings at institutions of higher learning.

The State Board of Public Welfare carries a budget of nearly eight million. The State Board of Health is allotted well over two million. The State Conservation Commission gets less than three quarters of a million.

More than a million dollars is set up for erection and maintenance of new government buildings in Richmond.

All of these figures, of course, apply to the two year period as the assembly to act on the next budget will not meet till 1942.

TRANSPORTATION AND THE FUTURE

Transportation is the life stream of any civilization, and strong, free circulation is indispensable not only to the continued well being of the suburban and rural areas lying around it.

As Washington goes into 1940 it is encouraging to note that adequate provision has been made for both its present and future needs in transportation facilities.

An interesting and authentic article on these transportation plans—the second in a series by Joseph S. Edgerton on the Washington of the next decade—will appear Sunday in The Washington Star.

WORLD'S FAIR DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS TO GIVE SHOW HERE

On January 15th, at the High School gymnasium at 7:30 P.M., the World's Fair Drum and Bugle Corps of the Marines will give a free concert and demonstration. This unit, with its intricate drill, stirring music, and colorful uniforms, was on the main attractions of the New York World's Fair. Upon the close of the Fair, the Drum and Bugle Corps spent several weeks at the Warm Springs Foundation in Georgia, where it participated in the drills and ceremonies of the President's Guard and performed its unique routine for the President.

The public is cordially invited and we believe that all who attend will enjoy this remarkable demonstration as thoroughly as did the thousands who saw it in New York.

The program offered by this organization is varied and interesting. Audiences have been particularly enthusiastic over the number which through bugle calls and their explanations portrays the typical day of a Marine. The fire section has also appealed to many and has drawn forth generous applause in every city visited thus far. In the thin, clear notes of the fifes, we hear again the music which stirred the boys of '76.

ELEPHANTS EXCEED PHONES IN PROVINCE OF UGANDA

In Uganda, tropical African colony which straddles the Equator, there are more elephants than there are telephones. In fact, in Uganda there is one elephant to about every 175 people, while there is a ratio of about one telephone to every 3,000 persons. This comparison, however, is not entirely fair, since the population of Uganda consists of only about 2,000

Europeans and 15,000 Asiatics in a total population of some 3,700,000. It is this non-native group which directs government, commerce, and other enterprises, and, therefore, this is the group which would have the most use for the telephone. However, there are an estimated 20,000 elephants in Uganda, and they thus outnumber the non-native inhabitants.

Rates Reduced On Overseas Telephone Calls

Rates for overseas telephone calls from the United States to certain countries in South America, the West Indies and across the Pacific have just been reduced. The countries to which rates were lowered are Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Paraguay, Peru and Uruguay, Puerto Rico and the Bahamas, Hawaii, Netherlands Indies (including Bali, Celebes, Java, Madoera and Sumatra) and the Philippines.

Reductions for three-minute conversations amount to as much as $6 in the case of the longest radiotelephone circuits affected by the new schedule.

These are the circuits from New York to Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro and Lima, and from San Francisco to Java and to Manila. In each case the cost of a week day call has been lowered from $21 to $15, and the Sunday rate from $15 to $12.

The new three-minute rate between New York and Honolulu is $15.75 on week days and $12 on Sundays. Other typical new rates for calls from New York are: Valparaiso, $18 and $15; Bogota, $12 and $8.25; Puerto Rico, $9 and $5.75; and Bahamas, $7.50 and $5.25.

Study Shows That Only One Out Of Every 400 Persons Has Trouble Hearing Over Telephone

Bell Telephone Laboratories Announces Results Of Tests At Two World's Fairs

A recent study of more than half a million hearing tests taken by visitors to the Bell System telephone exhibits at the New York and San Francisco fairs, revealed that only one out of every 400 persons has hearing impairment that interfere with the use of the telephone.

About one person in every 155, however, has difficulty in hearing a direct conversation, and one in every 25 has trouble hearing in an auditorium.

In this, the widest survey of hearing ever made, the Bell Telephone Laboratories, who were particularly interested in the findings from a telephone research standpoint, disclosed that women generally hear higher tones better than men. The masculine ear, however, excels in the lower notes. The study included persons from 10 to 60 years of age.

"BAD LITTLE ANGEL"

A little girl who thought she was a jinx is the charmer in "Bad Little Angel," playing at the Pitts Theatre next Wednesday, January 17. Packed with humor, pathos and thrills and leaving a deep sense of uplift, the romance of childhood, rated in Hollywood as the emotional successor to "Boy Town," has, like the former picture, a powerful tug at the heartstrings.

Virginia Weidler turns in a performance equal to those she gave in "The Women" and "Out West with the Hardys." She plays a little orphanage waif who comes to a sleepy New Jersey town. Through her faith and courage she changes the course of life of those about her, solves the employment problem of her foster-father, reforms the town drunkard, and tames the fierce old town millionaire. Amid poignant dramatic moments she has much opportunity for comedy, and with Reynolds and Henry Hull participates in the rescue of Ian Hunter from a blazing building in the thrill sequence. Reynolds, remembered in "Boys Town" and "They Shall Have Music," plays a convincing role as the town bootblack, Hull's son, who becomes Virginia's juvenile protector.

In Hunter and Lois Wilson make very charming foster-parents for Virginia, Guy Kibbee mixes mirth and menace in the role of the town millionaire, and Elizabeth Patterson and Reginald Owen have important roles. So has Toto, the famous little dog in "The Wizard of Oz," who exhibits almost human intelligence.

Artistic photography includes striking sequences showing the blazing paint factory at night, and delicate pastoral effects in the quaint little town park of the early Nineties. William Thiele directed with deft skill.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Sacrament" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 14.

The Golden Text will be "I am the Lord that bringeth you up out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye shall therefore be holy, for I am holy"

(Lev. 11:45.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me. Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation: and uphold me with thy free spirit" (Psalms 51: 10, 12.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The baptism of Spirit, washing the body of all the impurities of flesh, signifies that the pure in heart see God and are approaching spiritual Life and its demonstration" (p. 241.)

STAFFORD WANTS TO KNOW WHAT TO DO ABOUT MR. FOX

The Stafford County Board of Supervisors faced a rather unusual situation this week when they were asked to place a bounty on the fox, which enjoys protection under Virginia law.

The supervisors in seeking a way to deal with the matter recalled that Old Reynard may be hunted in Stafford with dogs the year 'round, but can be hot only during the season of October 1 to January 20. And fox can't be trapped at any time.

Stafford landowners declare that the fox is killing off much of the small game and if the situation continues it will not be long before rabbits, squirrels and other small animals of the woods become scarce.

The supervisors believed it might be wise to start a campaign to encourage the return to the fox hunters, who a decade ago could be seen going out at dawn astride a horse with a pack of hounds racing ahead. But, they decided, this could not remedy the situation enough.

As a consequence they drafted a resolution to the State Game Commission asking that the laws protecting the fox be repealed in Stafford County. Should they be successful, a bounty will be placed on Reynard's head.

However, killing off foxes in Stafford is not going to remedy the situation entirely. The county's lands border Fauquier for perhaps five miles and in that famed stronghold of hunters who still thrill to the call of the hounds, the fox is a sacred animal and is guarded as such. There is a closed season on shooting the fox and the small crafty animal may not be disturbed in his den. They may be hunted by dogs from September to March 31.

If Stafford's resolution is accepted there is likely to be a protest from the hunt country sportsmen for there is no way to keep a Fauquier fox from crossing into Stafford county unless the supervisors set up a border patrol.

LOVE AND PEACE

The Old Year has gone with its Joys and its woes
Like plants that are dead, both the Thorn and the rose
There were blessings last year—there are

Blessings "in store,"
Let thankfulness grow with us
More and still more

Oh think! the vast difference
Europe and here;
We know of God in Heaven
Who's ever near.
Many know not their Saviour
Who loves all men
Are we doing our duty?
Are we telling them?

That both a Saviour of LOVE
And PEACE is He.
Let us do more this year—
Both you and me
For the heathen abroad, and

Too, those at home Let us show our real love in Helping them "Come."

FUNDS ARE GRANTED FOR QUANTICO WORK

Several appropriations for projects at the Quantico Marine Post were among those recommended by President Roosevelt for Navy Public Works Construction for 1941. The recommendations were included in his budget message to Congress today.

The projects include $65,000 for a contagious ward and accessories at the Marine Barracks, $60,000 for a barracks building and accessories; $56,000 for nurses' quarters and accessories, and $100,000 for roads, walks and services for the dispensary area.

The budget message requested appropriations of $50,000,000 for navy construction, a reduction of $7,398,550 from the current fiscal year.

How To Relieve Bronchitis

Bronchitis, acute or chronic, is an inflammatory condition of the mucous membranes lining the bronchial tubes. Circulation goes right to the seat of the trouble to loosen germ laden phlegm, increase secretion and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding that you are to like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

OUR 1939 IMMIGRANTS
(Contributed by Paul O. Peters)

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939, there were 82,998 immigrant aliens admitted to the United States. In the same year 8,202 aliens were deported for various causes.

Of the aliens admitted to the United States in the last fiscal year, the principal races represented were as follows:
