HOLDS FURNITURE CLINICS SOON

Home Demonstration Clubs Invite Public To Attend

Home Demonstration Club members and their neighbors are busy selecting pieces of furniture that need repairing, remodeling or refinishing to be taken to the Furniture Clinics in February. Unusable furniture that homemakers have been sweeping around for many years as well as lovely old pieces of furniture stored in the attic or barn are being made ready for clinics by removing the old finish, by an approved method suggested by Miss Alice Webb, Home Demonstration Agent, at the January meetings.

At the clinics furniture of poor design will be remodeled such as oak bed with headboards too high for convenience or beauty and bearing poorly designed ornamentation will be brought up to date by cutting down the headboard and refinishing the wood, leaving a bed with pleasing simple lines; old unattractive dressers which are over ornamental and heavy looking will be remodeled by removing elaborate portions of frame around mirror, and replacing cheap brass handles with wooden knobs; old washstands will be changed into attractive desk, dressing tables, or end tables.

Loose furniture needing minor repairs, such as glueing, bracing, etc., will be repaired.

Chest of drawers, sofas, tables, chairs, etc., of fine woods such as mahogany, walnut, cherry, maple and pine will be refinished in the correct way.

Chairs will be reseat with cane, fiber or grass, and overstuffed furniture will have springs retied and will be reupholstered.

The public is invited to attend the clinics providing they bring a piece of furniture to work on, plenty of old rags, newspapers and small change for other materials needed. ## TAKES OFFICE AS MEMBER OF CAPITOL ABC BOARD

Early this week, William Payne Meredith, a native of this county, was sworn in as member of the ABC Board of Washington City, succeeding the late Isaac Gans who had previously retired from the Board.

Mr. Meredith, who was born Brentsville and reared in that vicinity, is widely known throughout the county. For a number of years he resided at Manassas. He is the son of Elisha Meredith, commonwealth's attorney, state senator and later the only Prince William man to represent the 8th District in Congress since the War between the States.

Old timers are naturally well acquainted with the Meredith family, and all of them wish Mr. Meredith the best of luck in his new position. (Ed. note: Recently this paper ran a story clipped from a bulletin published in Washington. By error of some sort we referred to Mr. Meredith as a "Gainesville" man.)

acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act. Weaver, Vaden, and Wright. Committee on Roads and Internal Navigation.

LET HIM IN!

KIWANIS CLUB RECEIVES TWO MORE MEMBERS

Delegate Ed. Conner was the headliner at the Kiwanis Club last Friday evening, with his take-off of doings in Richmond.

A brief course for Kiwanis officers was ordered for Monday evening at President Dave's, with Governor Art Stickley attending.

"O. D." then inducted Sheriff John Kerlin into the mysteries of Kiwanis. Incidentally he reviewed considerable of what the club had done for the community in the past fifteen years. O. D. welcomed Charley Lynn back into the fold.

On a grievance claim, Dudley Martin got a nice new pin which he claimed was the first and only he had ever received. John was given his also at the same time, Vice President Frank officiating in the deed.

Mr. Alpaugh then introduced Mayor Davis who gave a talk on a recent sanitary ordinance which, it is claimed, is to severe for certain communities to comply with. As a result, a committee was appointed to appear before the Board of Supervisors today and inquire further.

Father Jim Widmer was in attendance by permission of his physician having only the night before fallen on the ice in an effort to assist a parishioner who had just fallen in front of the Rectory.

DANCE FOR PARALYSIS FUND IC SUCCESSFUL

The President's Birthday Ball, for the benefit of the Warm Springs Foundation Fund, was held last Friday evening at the high school gymnasium. The slippery streets and intensely cold weather depressed the size of the crowd, but not the spirits of those who attended, everyone reporting a splendid time.

Judge Brown had secured a fine orchestra and the lovely flowers donated by Milton Comley, and Rector's, two florists establishments in Arlington County, being especially appreciated.

The committee on arrangements, with Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, Chairman, and the committee on tickets, with Mrs. Edgar Parrish, Chairman, are to be specially commended for their splendid services. All other committee chairmen are to be equally congratulated.

As this goes to press no definite figure has been given for the net proceeds but it is thought to be around $100.

CONTINUES AS BLOSSOM FESTIVAL DIRECTOR

Tom Baldrige

A precedent is being established this week in naming as Director General for The Seventeenth Annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival, Tom Baldrige, young Caverns head and civic leader. Although previously the limit has been two years, Mr. Baldrige will this year serve for the third consecutive season. The formal announcement was made today by H. Clay DeGrange, Chairman of The Festival Executive Committee following a final meeting this morning of the Director General Selection Committee. The Committee consisting of J. Victor Arthur, Chairman, Garland R. Quarles and Harry F. Byrd, Jr., received and expressed their thanks for a communication from the Board of Directors of Skyline Caverns of Front Royal, granting permission for Mr. Baldrige, their General Manager, to again this year handle the direction of Winchester's annual outdoor extravaganza.

"Tom" as he is known here in Winchester and throughout the state has for the past several years been identified with practically every civic and charitable movement of a general nature staged in Northern Virginia. Mr. Baldrige, who resides in Winchester and maintains offices at the Skyline Caverns, near the Front Royal Entrance of Skyline Drive, is an active member of a number of organizations. He is currently President of The Virginia State Junior Chamber of Commerce, a member of The Board of Directors of Shenandoah Valley, Incorporated, and is also serving on a state advertising committee for The Virginia State Chamber of Commerce.

When contacted today, the new 1940 fete head said that he had no statement to make at this time except that he and several of the Executive Committeemen, since last fall, have been quietly working on several basic activities of the Festival and that the Festival office would be officially opened within a week or ten days.

The County Game Warden is repeating his plea that everyone secure their dog tags at once. Due to the recent bad weather, he has been rather lenient in his enforcement of the law but now that traveling conditions have improved and the weather is much better, he will begin immediately to canvass all dog owners to see if tags have been purchased.

ASK LEGISLATIVE AID FOR T. B. WORK

Extension Among Negro Patients Especially Needed

In the light of Virginia's progress toward the control of tuberculosis, the continuing need for still further advances looking toward the eradication of the disease are being pictured before the State's lawmakers, now in session here, according to a statement made yesterday by Thomas C. Boushall, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association.

Appearing before a joint session of the Senate Finance Committee and the House Appropriations Committee, Mr. Boushall explained that the most pressing need in the Old Dominion's war against the white plague was for more beds for Negro patients, and additional funds for the extension of surgical treatment.

Most sanatorium patients who receive pneumothorax treatment at one of the 47 stations established in the State with funds appropriated by the last General Assembly, Mr. Boushall pointed out, are thereby enabled to return to their homes and consequently release sanatorium beds for other patients.

Indicating the progress made in reducing tuberculosis among the whites, J. Vaughan Gary, President of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, emphasized Virginia's death rate had been cut from 116.7 per 100,000 population in 1915 to 48.0 in 1938.

But the picture of the ravages of the disease among the colored population was quite different, Mr. Gary said. In 1915 the Negro death rate stood at 328.0, and, while the methods of control had brought about a large reduction, the Negro death rate in 1938 stood at 146.1, far higher than the mortality among whites was twenty-five years ago.

According to Mr. Boushall and Mr. Gary, the chief need at present is for the addition of 100 more beds at Piedmont Sanatorium for Negroes. They pointed out that the number would only provide a fraction of the number actually needed.

TRI COUNTY PHONE COMPANY IMPROVES ITS LINES

According to announcement by C. B. Roland, manager of the Tri-County Telephone Company, the new rates allowed by the State Corporation Commission have gone into effect and subscribers were notified of this fact within the past week by Secretary Stanley Owens. This will not apply to Loudoun County as yet, and also has certain exceptions among its subscribers.

This company, which centers about Haymarket, extends into lower Fauquier and Loudoun Counties. It was largely put into its present form by the work of Mr. Roland who took over the old, outmoded system and introduced the magneto style and established much better lines.

One of the subscribers near Buckland, who has four phones, only recently praised the service as on a par with metropolitan centers.

Three operators work at the Haymarket switch board which may be the eventual center of all the lines. Twenty four hour service there is now being used.

W. S. Jenkins, president of the Peoples Bank at Leesburg, is president of the corporation.

NEW HEALTH OFFICER ASSUMES DUTIES

Dr. J. Melver Jackson, formerly assistant health officer of Fairfax County, has taken over the work of county health officer of Prince William, succeeding Dr. Garnett Sneed on the first of this month. He and Mrs. Jackson have already moved to Manassas, locating on Lee Avenue near the Court House.

SCHOOL RATING IS ENDANGERED

Board Requested To Defer Enforcement Of New Regulations

The County School Board held its regular meeting yesterday, having previously authorized the presentation of the annual budget to the Board of Supervisors at a special meeting held for that purpose.

Plans for the addition to Occoquan High School were ordered to be completed and the Clerk of the Board given authority to advertise for bids as soon as said plans are ready.

A matter of particular moment to the citizens of Gainesville District came up at this meeting. Attention was called to the fact that at the present time Haymarket High School does not meet the requirements as set up by the State Board of Education, to become effective after this term.

Briefly, some of the requisites are a minimum average attendance of 75 or more in the high school department, and teachers with certain qualifications, including a librarian.

In order that the Board may have another school term in which to operate before all of these conditions become effective, the State Board was requested by resolutions passed yesterday, to allow the Haymarket High School to operate under present requirements for one more session and thus allow the County School Board this additional time in which to make a thorough study of the situation.

The Board will meet again on March 6th, at which time principals will be elected for the next session. Teachers in service will be elected at the regular meeting on April 3rd.

CLUB OFFICERS MEET WITH PRESIDENT ARRINGTON

President D. J. Arrington had a meeting at his house Monday night for the officers, board of directors and chairman of the committees of the Kiwanis Club. The purpose of the meeting was the education of these men in their new positions.

R. C. Haydon, a former president, and chairman of the Committee on Kiwanis Education, was asked to conduct the meeting. He outlined the Kiwanis method of functioning through its committees and more particularly through the chairman of each committee.

Each chairman is given a comprehensive outline of his duties by Kiwanis headquarters and such additional material and suggestions as he may need. In this way, he is able to accomplish the objective of his particular job and contribute to the club's ideal of serving the community.

R. A. Hutchison outlined the procedure necessary when a matter of public interest is referred to the club for action. As all the members may not be fully conversant with all the facts. It is referred to the committee that has jurisdiction in order that the club may take proper action.

Kiwanis is desirous of serving Manassas and Prince William to the best interests of all concerned and feels that if its officers, directors and committee chairman are fully conversant with all their responsibilities, that the club can do so.

Those attending were R. C. Haydon, C. M. Harris, R. A. Hutchison, W. L. Lloyd, R. W. Peters, G. R. Ratcliffe, A. H. Roseberry, F. G. Sigman, H. Tiffany and Rev. J. J. Widmer.

RELIGION TALKS ON QUIET

By
DR. JAMES T. MARSHALL
GOING TO CHURCH

The greatest need of our time is a spiritual awakening. The church is the only institution dedicated to such a cause. In framing our New Year resolutions for 1940 we would do well to include a determination to be more loyal in our church attendance.

We owe this to ourselves. We have souls which need to be fed as truly as our bodies. St. Luke says this of Jesus, "as His custom was, He went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day." If the Son of God felt the need of associating with His neighbors in public worship, how can we get along without such spiritual aid? We all need to offer the prayer of the Psalmist, "Lord send us help from the sanctuary and strength out of Zion." However good we imagine ourselves to be, we would be better for spending an hour each week with the people of God, who assemble to get in touch with those things which are unseen and eternal.

We owe it to our children. People, who live like Pagans themselves rarely, feel comfortable about letting their own children grow up without any religious instruction. There are all too many men, who try to shift this responsibility upon their wives but no man will get into heaven on his wife's ticket, or on the plea that he sent his children to Sunday School. Don't send them; take them.

We owe it to the community in which we live. Those of us who live in religious communities desire to keep them such. It is there we find the finest people and the highest standards of life. Oliver Wendell Holmes says, "As a peace officer the church has no equal. Neglect the church and put on more policemen." Good citizenship alone should be sufficient argument for our obligation to support the church in our respective communities.

We owe it to our nation. The Americans are instinctively religious. Even the old philosopher Plato said that the state could not endure without religion. Woodrow Wilson said, "Our civilization cannot survive materially unless it be redeemed spiritually," and Calvin Coolidge said, "The strength of a country is the strength of its religious convictions."

We owe it to the world at large. Nobody disputes the fact that the world has fallen into spiritual bankruptcy. Millions of distressed souls are crying for release from the horrors of war. Nothing can be more absurd than the talk about wars to end war. It never works that way. History has demonstrated the sanity of the declaration of Jesus, "They that take the sword shall perish by sword."

There can be no cure except by bringing the world back to God and righteousness and love. If we are interested in making a better world in which the Golden Rule will supplant the rule of gold, kindness shall displace greed, and the good neighbor policy take the place of international rivalries and quarrels, we will do well to ally ourselves with the forces which represent the Kingdom of God. These forces are represented by "the church of the Living God, the pillar and ground of the truth." Let us yield to the Church our full loyalty, and join those who say, For her my tears shall fall, For her my prayers ascend; To her my toils and cares be given Till toil and cares shall end.

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to loosen germ laden phlegm, soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. ## Scouting Beckons All Boys

When the Boy Scouts of America celebrates its 30th birthday on Thursday, February 8, all of the 1,330,000 Scouts, Cubs and Scout leaders will re-dedicate themselves to the service motive which has characterized the Movement for three decades. Scouting offers adventure, fun and achievement—attractive to all boys—through the democratic life of the Scout Troop and Patrol, as essential ingredients in its character-influencing program for the boys of America. Drawing on the rich experience of the Movement, local and national Scout leaders anticipate the opportunity to serve more boys annually.

The Boy Scout Movement was founded in America thirty years ago this week. Most of us have watched it grow and gain in influence, with great satisfaction. It is something vital to "The American Way" and through three decades, its service has gained the confidence of all people.

It would be difficult to point to any single quality of the Movement and say with positiveness, "Here is what makes Scouting great." But in our judgment one of its outstanding contributions to the nation, particularly in these times of world travail, is its simply-worded Twelfth Scout Law. It epitomizes all that we as a people stand for; all that our forefathers pioneered for when they were fashioning a safe homeland out of a wilderness.

Read its stirring words. They are worth memorizing and, more than that, they should be lived by all of us who have the high privilege of being Americans.

Here is the Twelfth Scout Law: Scout is reverent.

He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties, and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion.

All Americans worthy of the name, all who believe in the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and the Constitution of the United States have an abiding faith in such a principle because it is their very guarantee that so long as it is a living thing they will always be free and independent.

DOWN OUR WAY By Algia A. Martin

I think the sky looks bluer,
And the water seems purer,
Down our way.
I think the sun is brighter,
And the snow seems whiter,
Down our way.
I think the hounds bray louder,
And thoroughbreds walk prouder,
Down our way.
Also the grass seems greener,
And the air smells cleaner,
Down our way.
But I may be selfish,
Yes, I think I may,
About the things I love,
Down our way.

NEW EXHIBITION METHOD

Glittering with the brilliance of precious stones in a jeweler's window, commonplace insects, vegetables and everyday agricultural products are being displayed with astonishing new effectiveness by the Department of Agriculture, the result of the latest discovery of "Uncle Sam's" chemical laboratories. These displays, shown first in Washington and now in Philadelphia, are made possible by new agricultural preservation methods just developed by Dr. Charles Sando of the Bureau of Agricultural Chemistry and Engineering. They are described fully in an illustrated feature article appearing next Sunday in The Washington Star.

M. M. RUSSELL

M. M. Russell, better known as "Buck to his constituents and "Grandpaw" to all his younger friends, was taken to his reward, early Tuesday morning, January 30th, after an illness of three months.

He was a life long resident of Prince William County, his boyhood and married life having been spent on his farm near Independent Hill. Since the death of his beloved wife, Jeannett Keys on December 30th, 1923, he has lived with his sons, James and Cleveland, having lived with the latter for the past eleven years, and at which residence he died.

The deceased would have celebrated his 85th birthday February 9th. He was cheerful, quiet, and of an unassuming nature, speaking evil of one. A lover of his home, industrious and a successful farmer.

He is survived by three sons, Thomas M. of Manassas, James M. of Canova, and Grover Cleveland of Agnewville, ten grandchildren and several great grandchildren. His only daughter, Ruth Russell, died suddenly July 3, 1939.

Funeral services were held from the Methodist Church at Bethel, Thursday, February 1st, by Elder L. L. Lefferts of Leesburg, burial was made at Oak Grove cemetery beneath a lovely mound of flowers. The large concourse of friends who attended the burial services is attributed to the high esteem and affection in which the deceased was held.

Pallbearers were Messrs: Harry P. Davis, Robert Cornwell, Ollie Collins, E. L. Herring, Raymond Curtis and Claude Yates.

STARLETS, COMICS BRING SWING-HULA ROMANCE

Announced as a glamorous picture of the tropics, with melody, laughter, romance and native dancers in new swinghula routines, Universal's latest musical film, "Hawaiian Nights," comes to the Pitts Theatre next Wednesday, February 14.

Featured in the cast nimble-footed Johnny Downs, Constance Moore, Mary Carlisle, Eddie Quillan, Samuel S. Hinds, Etienne Girardot and Prind-cess Luana.

Two noted musical groups, Maty Mainek and his Orchestra and the Hawaiian string band of Sol Hoopii provide liting harmong for the gay romantic drama. Already well known for their recordings and radio work, the orchestras will introduce four new song hits especially written for the picture.

Downs and Miss Moore play the leads in the story which, as outlined, revolves about the adventure and romance of a handsome young orchestra leader in a South Sea Island paradise. Mary Carlisle will be seen as "the other girl" and Eddie Quillan sets the pace in gay comedy scenes.

Advance reports stress the appearance of Princess Luana, world famed hula queen and winner of the "Miss Honolulu" title who leads a large group of Island beauties in native dance scenes for the picture. Said to capture the enchanting allure of Hawaii and the romance of modern youth, "Hawaiian Nights" was directed by Albert S. Rogell and produced by Max H. Golden. Stanley Cortez was the photographer.

HAYMARKET HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Spirit" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 11.

The Golden Text will be "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling; One Lord, one faith, one baptism, One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all" (Eph. 4:4-6.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scripture," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The belief that Spirit is finite as well as infinite has darkened all history. In Christian Science, Spirit, as a proper noun, is the name of the Supreme Being. It means quantity and quality, and applies exclusively to God. The modifying derivatives of the word spirit refer only to quality, not God" (p. 93.)

A RECIPE
By Algia A. Martin

To a cup of kindness
Add a spoon of charity,
And a cup of understanding
Mixed well with humanity.
Sprinkle thick, with trust
And mold with hands of love,
Then you will also taste
The same from God above.

ITS UP TO YOU
By Algia A. Martin

Fussing about the weather
Will not drive it away,
Nor fussing about the snow
Won't give us the sun of May.

And if you need more money
Grumbling no good will do,
You have to get down to it
As its mostly up to you.

ROOSEVELT WILL RUN AGAIN

We offer it as a deeply seated conviction, and not as idle prophesy, that President Roosevelt will seek and will secure the Democratic nomination at Chicago for a third candidacy for the high office of President of the United States.

We would hesitate to state that he could be elected, and would not be able to envision the turmoil which may eventuate and the resulting political alignments which must evolve from such a situation.

We base our prediction purely upon the irrefutable appeal which the Third Term Issue must have to the President himself, and to the New Deal generally.

Here is a glamorous new issue, untarnished and untried. In it the present Administration will find relief from the embarrassments which accompany attempts to explain the vast chasm existing between campaign platforms and actual accomplishments.

The Third Term Issue would overshadow all other aspects of the campaign. In the heat of such a contest countless millions would forget any real accomplishments of the New Deal, and likewise would fail to consider that the national debt has doubled under Mr. Roosevelt. They would pass lightly over the fact that the New Deal has spent practically as much money as the sum total spent by all Presidents back to George Washington.

Only on the third term issue can the President hope to keep separated the three great schools of thought which will contend in the next national election, and on this bright new and untried issue he may well be excused for believing that he might be elected, even if failing to receive a majority of the popular vote.

LET US ACT TO PRESERVE OUR WILD LIFE

There is fast growing concern of Virginians over the precarious situation of the Game and Fish resources of their state. This situation has been known for years by the farmers, the sportsmen, and lovers of wild life who have been doing their utmost to arouse the public to its increasing seriousness.

Two years ago the Governor appointed the Bustard committee to investigate this situation and report to him prior to the opening of the present General Assembly. Hearings were held by this committee throughout the state and the reports and recommendations were submitted.

There were two reports submitted by the committee. The recommendations of these reports are practically similar, with one vital exception, viz: the majority report recommends that the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries be reorganized four years hence, while the minority report recommends its immediate reorganization. The licensed hunters—the people who pay for the support of the Virginia Game and Inland Fisheries Commission—felt that this reorganization should be done now.

The record of the present Commission is replete with incompetency, and another four years of the guardianship of the state's wild life resources under the present regime cannot be tolerated.

Every farmer, every sportsman, and every lover of the "great outdoors" should contact their Delegate and Senator immediately, and urge them to see to it that all the reforms, found to be necessary by the Bustard committee, are carried out at once, and not four years hence. We cannot afford to delay.

N. R. L. B. PROBE SHOULD CONTINUE

Announcement by Hon. Howard W. Smith that fifty thousand dollars additional appropriation is needed to extend the life of the Committee investigating the National Labor Relations Board will bring the hearty hope throughout the country that Congress will see fit to grant this appropriation. Quietly and courteously this Committee is making a most valuable contribution to public understanding of the inexcusable inconsistencies incorporated into the Wagner Labor Act, revealing the most patent bias and partiality in the conduct of the Labor Board, and bringing to light the unquestioned fact that too much of the high handed practices of this Board are actually Constitutional under the wording of the present law.

Radical Labor has been treated as a gentleman in this inquiry and much better than its own conduct has deserved, and out of the investigation will develop far reaching accomplishments, both for Labor and for the Employer. To stop the investigation in the very midst of its disclosures would greatly minimize the lasting value of its labors. Like the Dies Committee, the Howard Smith Committee has earned and deserves continuation of its activities and all fair-minded and truly American folks will be glad to see Congress extend its life.

Careers in Engineering

By R. T. Strohm

Dean, International
Correspondence Schools

THE most successful engineer is likely to be creative, imaginative, and able to break down a big problem into smaller ones and solve them separately. His next step would be to put them together again. It is easily understood that a nervous and impatient individual would find engineering work irksome even if that person had the mental qualities necessary for research, design and administrative tasks.

Any young man with eyes on the varied field of engineering should have an aptitude for mathematics. Many vocational counselors point out that the first requisite for prospective engineers is the ability to learn algebra, trigonometry and higher mathematics. If the would-be engineer finds these subjects difficult and uninteresting, it is likely that engineering as a profession is not for him.

There are other qualities than that of the ability to grasp a mathematical problem, however. A successful engineer should be able to demonstrate a certain manual dexterity, ability to draw and sketch, an understanding of physics and chemistry, and the ability to express ideas clearly, orally and on paper.

It is wise to see that the prospective engineer, while a student, finds a job which has some relationship to engineering, so that he may learn whether the work stirs his imagination and interest. There is no test like that of immediate contact with the work which he might ultimately be called upon to do.

Governor Price And Other Notables At Exercises

"The fulfillment of a dream." Such was the characterization of the picture drawn on Sunday afternoon by Professor Gordon Smith, principal of the Fairfax High School, at the dedication exercises of the new auditorium, on Sunday afternoon. Incidentally, this structure is the last in the present building program.

Professor Smith briefly ran over the progress of education in the past century and what it is trying to do today. The speech was a very sincere and sweet little address, which certainly had the effect desired in any welcoming remarks.

President Harry Carrio, head of the Fairfax P. T. A., and presiding officer, next called on J. E. Brunner, formerly resident engineer of North Virginia P. W. A. This gentleman expressed delight at any part he had had in the project and in turn introduced Col. E. W. Clark, acting commissioner of the P. W. A.

Col. Clark gave some very interesting statistics regarding capital invested under the P. W. A. He praised the local work, citing the amount of work-hours it had furnished.

Herbert Williams, veteran school official and trustee of Providence District, in which the school is located, stole the show with his usual cheery manner and the unique facts quoted.

He complimented Dr. Woodson, and the preceding superintendents, M. D. Hall and Col. Farr, father of the present Mayor of Fairfax, to whom he gave credit with acquiring the land on which the first Fairfax Town school was erected.

The speaker somewhat surprised his audience by stating that his connection with schools went back to "1816." Later Professor Woodson stated that he did ask Mr. Williams to "reminisce" but he didn't realize that he would go back that far.

Early school budgets ran to $20,000, with men teachers receiving $29 per month to that of $24 for the ladies. The schools were mostly logs, with clappingboards. In contrast to that he cited the fact that very few books were purchased for indigent children. He told of the difficulty experienced when the salaries of teachers were raised from $35 to $40 a month.

The whole address was plainly contemporaneous and came from the wealth of knowledge and experience that he possesses.

Dr. Woodson was quite graceful in expressing gratitude to all those who had assisted in furthering the interest of the school program. He voiced the hope that the present schools would serve their generation well.

Dr. Sidney Hall, state superintendent of public instruction, made a series of humorous remarks, followed in a more serious vein. He told of the advantages of education, winding up by reading a poem, illustrative of the use of the schools.

Delegate Wilbur Neff, of Abingdon, newest member of the Board of Education, gave a brief address, complimentary to the county and to the Board. He claimed that Fairfax County is one of the best governed in the State.

Delegate Miller, who was called on to introduce Governor Price, first extended greetings from Senator Medley. One fact, which he claimed was pertinent, was that locally-educated Virginia boys go else where to earn their livelihood and in that way do not return the investment made here in the State. One exception he noted was Governor Price, who went to Washington and Lee, a school originally endowed by a Fairfax man, George Washington. He humorously stated that it was quite apropos for the Governor to come here and thank the county. He claimed that the present Governor is the only one on record to present a budget built up around the school system.

After receiving quite a little ovation, the Governor proceeded with a "school" talk, explaining the three point program in some detail.

Referring to Delegate Miller, the Governor termed him as one of his best friends and an outstanding member of the Legislature.

During the exercises music was furnished by the Glee Club under the direction of Miss Jeanne Johnson and a vocal solo by Tommy Adams, of Class of '36. Miss Rebecca Rice was accompanist. Group singing was led by George B. Robey and both the invocation and benediction were given by Rev. Peyton Williams, Rector of St. John's, McLean.

By
O. J. Schuster

A NATIONAL ELECTION is approaching. In this 1940th year of the Christian Era we shall witness another sham battle between the two leading political parties. A nation is supposed to be one bing and united family, all its members cooperating to achieve equality of opportunity, economic security, and happiness. Considering the fact that we have 10 or 12 million unemployed, that our annual crime bill is more than $15,000,000,000, three times the cost of the federal government, that the two bing political parties are bitterly assailing each other, each alarmed and frightened by the destructive activities of the other, we may seriously question whether this really is "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

IN A PRIVATE FAMILY prosperity and happiness depend on united and intelligent leadership of mother and father. When a family is divided, the parents headed for different goals and divided allegiance among the children, family security and happiness are as remote as Herbert Hoover's turning communist and supplanting Earl Browder.

OUR TWO-PARTY SYSTEM is as destructive of national unity as competition between two groups within a private family is of that family's success. Nebraska's one-party and one-house legislature—a noble and enduring monument to Senator George W. Norris—has made practical demonstration of the superiority of non-partisan government. It has passed beyond the experimental stage and should be adopted in national government. To bring about such a non-partisan national government there should be submitted to the voters a non-partisan platform so unselfish and so fundamental and so just as to leave no room for bitter competition and mud-slinging. It might contain planks like these:

Section 1. The people of the United States demand a government in which every executive, legislator, and judge shall be as free from personal ties to party, class, and economic group in the performance of his public duties as are the father and mother in an intelligent, cooperative, and happy private family. The one all-essential qualification of a public servant is that all other ties will yield to his steadfast allegiance to truth.

Section 2. The drafters and promulgators of this platform pledge to the voters that not one of us will either seek or accept public office; that individually and collectively we will never knowingly betray truth or fail to promptly expose such betrayal by every agency of publicity available to us. We pledge eternal loyalty to the injunction: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

Section 3. We believe the American people share our faith in the character and public service of Lincoln and Lee and that they recognize, as we do, that these two were kindred spirits. This kinship was manifested when Lee surrendered to the Union Forces and explained that he was surrendering quite "as much to the goodness of Lincoln as to the Artillery of Grant." It was again manifested when Lincoln was assassinated and Lee refused to believe that so dastardly a deed could have been done by any man in the nation. That spirit, the spirit of Lincoln, was demonstrated day by day thruout the rest of Lee's life. No American did more than Lee to translate into living deeds the words that laid bare the noble soul of Abraham Lincoln and were a part of Lincoln's second inaugural address:

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphan, to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

We ask for and confidently expect full endorsement by the electorate of the spirit of leadership as symbolized in the character of these two great Americans and we believe the voters will measure public service by the extent to which that service exemplifies the characters of Lee and Lincoln.

FEBRUARY THE SECOND

There is a little animal
This season we hear about,
He has two sharp little eyes,
And, too, a sharp little snout.

He leaves his home, looks around
But when his shadow he sees
Does he act as other beasts?
No, back to his home he flees.

It the day be all cloudy
And no dark shadow he spies,
He goes, then, hunting for food
With his two, sharp, little eyes.

Whether February the second,
Be bright, dark, or there's a fog
"Some how" we thing of,—
The little ground hog.

Do You Long For The "Good Old Days"?

The "good old days" had much that was quaint—and much that we would laugh at today. Ask your grandmother to tell you something about the "good old days"—about a shopping trip, for instance.

She'll recall how she trudged to the store with a basket of eggs. How she traded them for barrel sugar and whole-bean coffee. She can tell you about Shiftless Joe who could squirt "tobacco juice" 10 feet to the sawdust box around the pot-bellied stove . . . and about the cat that slept in the cracker barrel!

Would you want to buy the family food from the old cracker-barrel store?

Answer that question for yourself next time someone tells you that advertising is costing the American household millions of dollars a year. Answer it with careful deliberation, remembering that without national distribution, made possible by advertising, modern stores and tested goods in sanitary packages would no longer be sold. As sure as a cat slept in a cracker barrel, we'd be back in the "good old days."

How about the cost of advertising? Actually advertising costs only a small fraction, often only 1/50 cent, on an article.

That, however, is not the way to judge advertising cost. What of the cost of advertising as long as the goods we buy cost less? And it is a fact that most of the pure, clean, high-quality foods of today cost less than the unbranded, doubtful-value goods of yesteryear.

"BEAU GESTE"

by Percival Christopher Wren

Major Henri de Beaujolais of the French Foreign Legion was called to Fort Zinderneuf to repulse an Arab attack. On his arrival he found an extraordinary sight, a sight drenched in mystery, a sight which, to the awe-stricken beholder, would make chills traverse his spine and his hair stand on end, a sight which would mutiny a regiment and make them go frantic with fear. Such was the sight beheld by Major de Beaujolais. Fort Zinderneuf was manned by the bodies of dead French soldiers.

Michael (Beau) Geste and his brothers, Digby and John, were three inseparable friends who lived, orphaned, but under the care of Lady Brandon of Brandon Abbas near Exeter in England.

These three lived a merry life till a happening came that changed their lives and sent them out into the world to danger and adventure. The happening came when the Blue Water, Lady Brandon's famous sapphire, was stolen, and the blame fell on one of the three "Gestes." The brothers disappeared from Brandon Abbas, leaving no word, and joined the Foreign Legion. Beau and John were commissioned to Fort Zinderneuf. Digby departed.

Then like a quick volley of musketry, events pile up: Mutiny at Zinderneuf, the attack of the Arabs, the message of Geste, the appearance of the Blue Water. Then as the volley dies out, a fort lies forsaken but for a lone survivor and the sentinel corpses of the defenders of Zinderneuf.

The novel, "Beau Geste," is a story of three adventurous youths who joined the Foreign Legion; however, it is more even than this. It is the romantic biography of three orphaned brothers, who loved each other, even to death.

They were no routine soldiers but the adventurous spirits one associates with the Foreign Legion.

In most stories one reads of a young man and a young woman falling in love, and then after many adventures, they finally reunite. Most authors use this as their theme, or that of the love of mother and son, or father and son, but seldom pure God-given brotherly love.

The adventures of this merry trio and their faith and devoted love tug at the heartstrings with an intensity rarely achieved in other books.

The author has written upon a theme with which few other authors have dealt.

"Beau Geste," by Percival Christopher Wren, was published in 1926 by Grosset and Dunlap.

This book may be borrowed from the Ruffner-Carnegie Library. —Richard Harris.

COUNTY AGENTS COLUMN

CHANGE IN CLOSING DATE OF 1940 AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROGRAM

The 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program will close on August 31, two months earlier than have previous programs. This will make it necessary in most cases for farmers to carry out additional soil building and conserving practices this coming spring and summer in order to earn their maximum farm payment.

1940 AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROGRAM GROUND LIMESTONE

Ground limestone is again available as a grant of aid under the 1940 program. It will be delivered directly to the farms by truck from the grinding plant and the entire cost deducted from the farm payment, thereby requiring no cash outlay on the part of farmers who comply with the provisions of the conservation program.

Recent experiments have shown that just as good results may be obtained from February and March as from later applications of ground limestone and farmers are urged to place their orders for early delivery whenever possible to avoid the later rush. Applications are now being taken at the County Agent's office.

NEED FOR LIME

7,335 tons of ground limestone were used by Prince William farmers participating in the Agricultural Conservation Program in 1939, showing that the need for lime is generally recognized in the county.

The maximum efficiency is obtained from an automobile or any other machinery only when it is properly lubricated. The use of lime on a soil may be compared with oil for a motor. A lack of lime will not permit the soil to function efficiently as a place for plants to grow or for its maximum productivity to be obtained.

Experimental results have shown that several dollars may be realized for every dollar invested in agricultural lime.

"DRUMS ALONG THE MOHAWK" HITS NEW PEAK IN ACTION

This 20th Century-Fox picture depicts in Technicolor the days when torch and tomahawk spread their terror in New York's beautiful Mohawk Valley, based on Walter D. Edmonds' best-selling novel.

The screen play by Lamar Trotti and Sonya Levien gives Claudette Colbert and Henry Fonda the roles of pioneer lovers who with the other colonists in the valley have to face the fierce onslaught of the savage Iroquois. While a heart-warming romance is thus assured, the most outstanding feature of "Drums Along the Mohawk" is its action. The screen has proved itself time and again as the best medium for portraying scenes like these, but never has it shown them more powerfully. One is literally frozen to one's seat at the tense realism of the Indian battle sequences, heightened in their effect by the Technicolor.

Technicolor does its inimitable bit too in portraying the beautiful scenic backgrounds of the beautiful Valley, thanks to the work of Cameraman Bert Glennon, who photographed "Stagecoach."

Much of the excellence of the picture is due to John Ford's unparalleled direction. The man who directed "The Informer," "Submarine Patrol" and "Young Mr. Lincoln" has done it again. There ought to be another Academy Award in "Drums Along the Mohawk" for Mr. Ford.

The cast is all uniformly excellent. Featured in it are Edna May Oliver, Eddie Collins, John Carradine, Dorris Bowdon, Jessie Ralph, Arthur Shields, Robert Lowery and Roger Imhof.

The story takes place in those days of romance and adventure when America was young. Claudette Colbert, an aristocratic city-bred girl, marries Henry Fonda, a farmer-colonist of the Mohawk Valley, as the film opens. Fonda takes his bride to the rough frontier where her spirit is almost broken by the crude life and surroundings. But, a brave girl, she perseveres and their love is strengthened by the hardships and perils they share. Then the Indians, under the drive of the British (for this is during the Revolution) attack the peaceful valley. This is the signal that unleashes such thrills upon the screen as it has seldom shown.

"Drums Along the Mohawk" is a rare entertainment treat for Blanktown. It will be at the Pitts' Theatre next Thursday and Friday, February 15 and 16.

NEW TYPE ENTERTAINMENT MERGES COMEDY, MYSTERY

It was every man for himself — and the devil take the dimwits!

Which means that Charlie McCarthy and Edgar Bergen got back in movie make-up to star in Universal's "Charlie McCarthy, Detective," which comes to the Pitts' Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, February 12 and 13.

Those that suffered most under the barrage of Charlie's splintery wit were Mortimer Snerd, Robert Cummings, Constance Moore, John Sutton, Samuel S. Hinds, Ray Turner and producer-director, Frank Tuttle.

"Charlie McCarthy, Detective" is the first picture in which Charlie has had the title role all to himself. In his first, "Goldwyn Follies," his effects were confined to specialties and bits. He advanced a step in "Letter of Introduction," playing a supporting role with Andrea Leeds, Adolphe Menjou and George Murphy, while in "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man" he shared the billing honors with his mortal enemy, W. C. "Bill" Fields. But in "Charlie McCarthy, Detective," he not only has the title role, but he's a big star. Only fly in Charlie's honey is the presence in the cast of Mortimer Snerd, Bergen's other boy friend, who has lately come to the fore through his radio and screen work, and whom Charlie refers to as "an uncouth person, a hick from the sticks."

The story is all about a society murder which the ubiquitous McCarthy solves just as the going gets pretty tough for his friend, the hero. "Elemental, my dear Bergen, elemental," Charlie explains when Bergen's eyes pop at the canny reasoning of his wooden wonder boy.

Robert Cummings was first to suffer under McCarthy's barbed sallies. Cummings came to "Charlie McCarthy, Detective" after finishing a four-week stint with Sonja Henie at 20th Century-Fox studios where he put in a month learning to skate and doing comedy skating routines. He was a bit tired and bruised after his experiences.

MISSIONARY TO SPEAK AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. James Leon Hooper, D. D., a Presbyterian missionary at home on furlough from his work in Manila, will speak in Manassas Presbyterian Church, February 11, at 7:30 P. M.
Dr. Hooper is a Southern man by birth, and a graduate of Cumberland University in Tennessee and of Lane Theological Seminary in Ohio. He went out the Philippine Islands in 1916, and during his years of service there has had a wide range of experience.

Several years of business experience in the United States before going to the Philippines qualified Dr. Hooper to act at different times as treasurer and as secretary of the Mission. In any such work there is a great deal of routine, but Dr. Hooper has always been successful in keeping the personal side of this work to the fore. Perhaps part of his success has been due to the fact that at different times he has spent many months out of Manila, working in provincial centers. For one period he served as visiting pastor in Los Banos, in the southern part of the Island of Luzon, where there is a government agricultural college with about 500 students. In this student center the Mission maintains several forms of work, including a student church. So valuable were his services among these young men that he was again assigned to the same type of work at Silliman Institute (now Silliman University), the large Presbyterian Mission institution at Dumaguete. Nobody could spend three years among these lively and ardently patriotic young people without appreciating to the full the hopes and also the problems of the Islands as they face the future in present troubled and uncertain conditions.

One of the important developments in religious life which has taken place in recent years in the Philippines is the formation of the United Evangelical Church, independent of Mission control. In 1936 the Filipino leaders asked Dr. Hooper to serve as the Secretary of the new organization. In this work he is in contact with Christian leaders of several denominations, with Filipinos and Americans alike. Not all the Protestant denominations belong in this Church; but almost all of them join in the work of the Philippine Federation of Evangelical Churches, and Dr. Hooper works closely with this group also. Denominationalism is not a serious problem in the Philippine Islands; and it is to the credit of broad-minded men such as Dr. Hooper and his associates, both Filipino and American, that this is the case. Coming with so much experience from a region so important to North Americans, Dr. Hooper will be listened with great interest by audiences in this country.

FLAGSTAD TO MAKE FINAL APPEARANCE WASHINGTON

Probably the last professional appearance in Washington of the incomparable Kirsten Flagstad will be made on Wednesday evening (February 14) when, as soloist, she sings with the National Symphony Orchestra under the direction of guest conductor Edwin McArthur at 8:30 o'clock in Constitution Hall.

Since this concert marks the only appearance of the great Wagnerian soprano with a symphony orchestra in Washington this season, and the Eastern debut of McArthur as conductor, it is bound to be an important event. Since it is very possibly Mme. Flagstad's last engagement in Washington before her retirement from the musical world, it may well be an historic occasion.

For her part of the program, Mme. Flagstad will sing with the orchestra three songs by her countryman, Edward Grieg—"Fra Monte Pincio," "En Svane," and "En Drom;" the recitative and aria, "Leise, leise," from Weber's opera "Der Freischutz;" and Brunnhilde's Immolation Scene from "Götterdämmerung." The orchestra, under Mr. McArthur, will play Schubert's "Rosamunde" Overture, Debussy's "L'Après Midi d'un Faune" and "Fetes," Ravel's "La Valse," and Wagner's Overture to "Der Fliegende Holländer" and "Good Friday Spell" from "Parsifal."

Although Mr. McArthur is well known as the brilliant accompanist for Mme. Flagstad and other major artists, this is his first appearance in the East as conductor. Born in Denver, Colorado, in 1907, Mr. McArthur is one of the first Americans to aspire to the mantle of a Wagnerian conductor. So far this season he has conducted both orchestral and opera performances in San Francisco and Los Angeles; he had led an orchestral concert in Denver; and he directed four performances of Wagner operas with the Chicago City Opera. Next month he will lead the Philadelphia Orchestra in two concerts in its home city and one in New York's Carnegie Hall.

Tense excitement prevailed among the spectators who watched the Nokesville Junior Farmers' Basketball team defeat Washington Town team Monday night, February 5th, on the winner's court. ## General Motors Builds 25-Millionth Unit Brief ceremonies were held in the Chevrolet assembly plant at Flint, January 11, marking completion of this car, the 25-millionth unit built by General Motors. In behalf of the thousands of workers who had a hand in its manufacture, 75 members of the final assembly line crew handed M. E. Coyle, Chevrolet general manager, a commemorative scroll for presentation to W. S. Knudsen, president of General Motors. Veteran Chevrolet employees, and executives of the Buick and AC Spark Plug divisions, were present as special guests.

Do You Long For The "Good Old Days"?

The "good old days" had much that was quaint—and much that we would laugh at today. Ask your grandmother to tell you something about the "good old days"—about a shopping trip, for instance.

She'll recall how she trudged to the store with a basket of eggs. How she traded them for barrel sugar and whole-bean coffee. She can tell you about Shiftless Joe who could squirt "tobacco juice" 10 feet to the sawdust box around the pot-bellied stove... and about the cat that slept in the cracker barrel!

Would you want to buy the family food from the old cracker-barrel store?

Answer that question for yourself next time someone tells you that advertising is costing the American household millions of dollars a year. Answer it with careful deliberation, remembering that without national distribution, made possible by advertising, modern stores and tested goods in sanitary packages would no longer be sold. As sure as a cat slept in a cracker barrel, we'd be back in the "good old days."

How about the cost of advertising? Actually advertising costs only a small fraction, often only 1/50 cent, on an article.

That, however, is not the way to judge advertising cost. What of the cost of advertising as long as the goods we buy cost less? And it is a fact that most of the pure, clean, high-quality foods of today cost less than the unbranded, doubtful-value goods of yesteryear.
