LAYMEN HEAR OF ALASKAN WORK

Episcopal Group Entertained At McLean, Tuesday Evening

More than 150 laymen of Arlington, Fairfax and Prince William heard an address by Captain Albert Sawyer, of the Christian Army, at St. John's Parish Hall, McLean on Tuesday evening, the occasion being the Spring assembly of the Laymen's League of this area.

Previous to this a sumptuous repast had been served in the dining hall by ladies of the Presbyterian church. Chairman T. C. Hudson presided and conducted a quiz on subjects of general interest to the layman.

Group singing was led by "Admiral" Chaplain Henry Miller, of St. George's and George Robey, of Fairfax.

Bishop Goodwin gave an inspiring message, stating that the diocese was assigning two of the new deacons to this vicinity, Mr. Fultz at St. John's and Vienna and Mr. Peabody, at Trinity, in Arlington. A survey, he said, will also be conducted during the summer to determine further needs of the rapidly expanding population near Falls Church, in Arlington County.

General Rufus H. Lane gave a report on the recent diocesan council which was both interesting and instructive.

In introducing Captain Sawyer, Bishop Goodwin explained the work being done by this group of consecrated laymen throughout the world.

Captain Sawyer, a young man in his twenties, wearing a semi-military uniform, told of his work among the Esquimaux, going back to the coming of the Indians prior to the coming of the white man. He discussed their deep sympathy with music, drawing and religion and their intense desire to be instructed. He gave many stories of their habits and surroundings.

At the conclusion of the meeting the executive committee announced the nomination of F. Humme, of Upper Truro Parish as chairman for the coming year to be assisted by William W. Mackall of St. John's McLean, as vice chairman and R. C. Rollings, of Epiphany church, Cherrydale, as secretary-treasurer. The autumn meeting will again be held at Epiphany. An invitation from Trinity Church, Manassas, was held over till next Spring.

Attending from Manassas were Rev. A. S. Gibson and Messrs. Paul Arrington and T. E. Didlake; from Haymarket, Rev. W. F. Carpenter and Messrs. W. L. Carter, W. W. Wright, Jordan, and J. W. Garrett.

PLACING THE WREATH

FINE ARTS SECTION HEAR EXCELLENT BIBLE TALK

The Fine Arts Section of the Woman's Club of Manassas held a delightful meeting in the attractive new home of Mrs. Dennis Baker, on Tuesday evening, the new chairman Mrs. Ossie Tipton presiding.

A most enjoyable program was given by Mrs. Gibson and music students of Mrs. Dennis Baker.

Mrs. Gibson gave an interesting and inspiring Bible talk selecting Luke the Physician as her topic, telling of Luke's administering to the simple folk and gaining knowledge from his association with them.

Mrs. Gibson gave an excellent character study of this great Biblical character who truly deserves the name "My Beloved Physician" used by his friend and companion Paul. She brought out that it was Luke who gave us the real story of Christmas, and we should be grateful to him for the most beautiful story in the world. The story of the birth of Christ in which he tells of the angels appearing in the field to give them the message of "Peace on earth, good will to men". Mrs. Gibson stressed the need for redemption to the teachings of this great apostle, since at this time there is so little peace in a worried, war torn, world.

Mrs. Baker presented Miss Hilda Moses and Mr. Earl Marsteller who delighted the group, with the following selections on the organ: Miss Moses "Allegretto" in B Minor, by Sulmant, and "Berceuse" by Thompson. Mr. Marsteller, "Vesper Hours" by Ward, and "Elegy" by Massenet.

The hostesses Mrs. W. L. Lloyd and Mrs. Marie Larkin assisted by Mrs. Dennis Baker served delicious refreshments to the group.

ACUTE NEED IN WAR AREA

Striking a pace of $200,000 a day, the American Red Cross war relief drive for a minimum fund of $10,000,000 was reported exceeding the $3,000,000 mark here as incomplete returns from chapters throughout the country revealed that America is responding generously to ease the plight of the stricken innocents of the European war.

From the pennies and nickles sent in by children, to large gifts of thousands of dollars donated by wealthy individuals and business concerns came hope that the drive would go well "over the top", Red Cross officials stated.

It was stressed that acute needs are growing hourly and that more than 5,000,000 refugees are on the march in France, fleeing from the danger zones in the north. Women, children and the aged have been affected especially in the filth to safety, reports from Paris headquarters of the American Red Cross declared.

SERIES OF TELEPHONE CONFERENCE CALLS USED TO ANNOUNCE NEW GASOLINES

Division Heads Describe New Products To Dealers From Maine To Louisiana

The above scene, showing F. H. Skehan (center) Virginia division manager for the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey with department heads, was re-enacted throughout the C. & P. territory and in many U. S. towns recently when the company announced by means of a series of "telephone conference calls," the release of two new gasolines.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey took advantage recently of telephone conference calls to announce to dealers, from Maine to Louisiana, that they were releasing two new gasolines.

In Maryland Esso dealers gathered at Baltimore's Belvedere Hotel to hear the voices of the division manager of the company and other staff members describe the new products.

In Virginia Esso dealers gathered at fourteen points—Norfolk, Petersburg, Richmond, Lynchburg, Pulaski, Bristol, Roanoke, Farmville, Fredericksburg, Staunton, Warrenton, Winchester, Charlottesville and Danville to listen to the telephone message from Richmond.

Charleston, Huntington, Wheeling, Clarksburg, Parkersburg, Beckley and Bluefield were linked in the West Virginia conference calls.

In Washington about one hundred dealers assembled in the Standard Oil Building on Constitution Avenue to hear the new products described.

The "conference service" message made it possible for the heads of the company's divisions to explain with speed and completeness every detail of the new motor fuel, and acquaint dealers with the technical sales and advertising methods.

COUNTY AGENTS COLUMN

MAKE HAY EARLY

The best time to cut hay is when the maximum amount of digestible nutrients rather than the largest tonnage will be obtained. Quality is more important than yield.

Hay crops are most palatable and their digestibility is generally greatest at the blooming stage, or before. If cut after the blooming stage, plants have lost palatability and cannot be made into the highest quality hay. Early-cut hay may contain as much as 20 per cent more digestible nutrients than hay cut in the late-bloom or seed stages.

Alfalfa should be cut when the field is about one-tenth in bloom. Soybeans should be cut when the seeds are one-half to three-fourths developed; lespedeza when in full bloom; cowpeas when the firstpods begin to ripen and turn yellow but before any of the pods are mature enough to shatter their seed during handling; timothy from the early to full bloom stage; red clover from three-quarters to full bloom; oats and wheat when the grain is in the milk stage, except that oat hay that is to be fed to horses may be cut when the grain is in the dough stage; and other miscellaneous grasses not later than full bloom.

A mixture of clover and grasses should usually be cut when the clover has reached the proper stage since legumes are higher in feeding value than the grasses.

STATE FARMERS INSTITUTE

The next session of the State Farmers Institute, Institute of Rural Affairs and Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs will meet at Blacksburg on July 30, 31 and August 1. The theme of this year's institute will be "The Interdependence of Agriculture, Industry and Labor". A better program and better accommodations than ever before will be provided and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance from the county.

WOOL POOL

Wool will again be marketed on a cooperative basis through the United Wool Growers Association. Local wool producers will be notified of loading points, price to be paid or advanced, etc., as soon as arrangements are made.

The following suggestions are made for preparing wool to the best advantage for marketing:

1. Use only paper twine for tying fleeces. Hemp, jute or sisal twines discolor wool and should never be used.
2. Shear sheep only when fleeces are absolutely dry and keep in a dry, protected place until wool is marketed.
3. Remove all dirty locks before shearing by "tagging". Clip the heavy locks from each animal and pack them separately; never permit them to be bundled in the fleece.
4. Remove the fleece from the animal in an unbroken condition.
5. Roll the fleece with the flesh side out.
6. Tie each fleece separately with paper twine.
7. Fleeces that are burry, seedy or closely matted, and fleeces that are dead, black or gray should be kept separate at all times from the good clear wool.

KIWANIS ENTERTAINED AT HAYMARKET

The Kiwanis club was delightfully entertained last Friday evening by the Guild of St. Paul's at the Parish Hall in Haymarket. After a most pleasant supper, the program was offered by Mr. Parrish, the guest speaker being Hon. Branch Spalding, director of military parks in Virginia. Previous to this, Mrs. William Lloyd made a brief appeal for aid in the special Red Cross drive.

Mr. Spalding introduced Mr. Raleigh Taylor, the newly appointed superintendent of the Manassas Battlefield Park. His talk was historical, citing the history of the rise and fall of the Confederacy connected these parks.

He gave several amusing anecdotes. "O. D." was called on to do some silver-tongued orating which he did, with apologies. Parson Dick Graham replied very neatly to some of O.D.'s wit.

At the beginning of the program the club had sung quite lustily both "America" and "God Save the King", as a solemn symbol of the fraternal relations of these two great countries. Parson Graham offered a special prayer for peace and for suffering humanity, giving at the same time a glowing commendation of the manner in which our international border is maintained.

Tomorrow evening, some of the high school grads will be guests of the Club at the Parish Hall here in town.

In attendance at the meeting were the following members, guests and certain eminent citizens of the Haymarket community:

Mrs. Mary A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arrington, Mr. T. E. Diddle, Mr. Edward P. Beverley, Dr. Wade C. Payne, Mr. J. W. Garrett, Mr. J. E. Bradford, Mrs. Frances Lynn Robertson, Mr. W. STUDY OF VIRGINIA

State agencies, through an allotment of approximately $177,000 by the Rockefeller-endowed General Education Board, will make extensive scientific studies of land use, population and small industries in Virginia—a program in which the University will play a prominent part.

In announcing the allotment, Governor Price said the studies would be the most elaborate ever made in the South. The grants are $90,000 to the State Planning Board for a population study, $48,000 to the University for the support of a bureau of industrial research for a study of small industries as a means of providing jobs for persons unable to earn their living on farms, and $38,400 to V. P. I. for a thorough inquiry into the subject of land use in the State.

In the words of the Governor, the bureau of industrial research at the University "will seek to ascertain how well selected new small industries can be set up to provide employment near their homes for those boys and girls who are shown by the population study to have little prospect of earning a living on farms in those small communities that have a very high birth rate. With this study of population and small industry is to be linked a more detailed investigation by V. P. I. of the best use of land."

This is to be a timely and important investigation on a vital question. The research when completed should offer a far clearer picture than now exists of the needs and opportunities in Virginia's agricultural and industrial life.

Advertising Helps Both The Consumer And the Advertiser

Baltimore . . . About 250 million miles of cotton yarn—enough to encircle the world 10,000 times—are washed in a single year in the factories of the Western Electric Company, manufacturing organization of the Bell System. It was found that washing makes this cotton 100 times better as an insulator for telephone wires.

Colombo . . . One of the largest installations of dial telephone service ever made in the tropics has settled a 60-year old problem for Colombo, capital and principal city of Ceylon. To cope with the very humid climate of Colombo, which is only seven degrees from the equator, it was necessary to provide the apparatus with a special tropical finish and to air-condition the operating rooms of the three exchanges where it will be installed with dehydrating plants which maintain a prescribed humidity at all times. Ceylon had its first telephone only four years after the art was invented by Alexander Graham Bell. Telephone had been demonstrated in Ceylon in 1879 and in 1880 the first line was installed.

Prepare a "Serve-Yourself Salad"

Help Yourself to Ingredients of Your Own Choice in Making This Type Salad

There's something about eating out that makes every member of the family shout with anticipation. The food at home is usually better, but the dinner out remains a gala occasion.

Wise homemakers, however, are able to capture the same party spirit and make every evening meal something to which the family look forward eagerly. Their secret, despite the amazing results, is simple—so simple that we're pretty certain you'll be spellbinding the family this very evening.

They dramatize their meals. They take a lesson from the leading restaurateurs, and, while they obviously can't offer the entire variety, they can offer the family a selection in appetizers and salads, and perhaps even desserts.

The delight of your family will prove that there is definitely something festive and gracious about being offered a dish from an assorted tray. And perhaps the best thing about it all is that it's just as easy to serve an assortment as to serve everyone the same thing.

Salads lend themselves particularly well to the serve-yourself idea. They are quickly prepared; they are economical; they provide vitamins and minerals that, though too often overlooked, are essential elements in the healthful diet. They are attractive and delicious. It is significant that leading hotel chefs are laying more stress on salad tray assortments.

All it takes to make an appetizing "serve-yourself" salad tray is ingenuity. The ingredients are prepared in advance; many of them you keep on hand regularly. The science of modern canning has actually given the American housewife a garden in her pantry. Winter or summer, her choice of the gardens of the world is hers for the reaching. And canned peas come in for a large share of that reaching. This versatile vegetable has shown by its steadfast quality and delightful flavor that it deserves the place it holds in America's esteem.

Canned peas have made innumerable friends by their outstanding ability to go well with so many foods. In fact, regular users of this popular vegetable will take as a matter of course the important role they play in any salad tray.

Salad greens may be purchased throughout the entire year and can be kept crisp and fresh in a damp cloth or in a vegetable pan. Lettuce, of course, is the old standby, but you will want to try watercress, endive, spinach, celery, cabbage, or chervil. Any one of these greens will add an enticing new flavor to the salad tray.

Let the contents of your refrigerator guide you from here. Yesterday's chicken dinner might suggest a salad of flaked chicken, asparagus tips, tomato aspic cubes, and tender appetizing canned peas. After the male members of your family have sampled this, you'll never again hear mutterings about salads being "fancy fodder for dieting women."

Here are a few hints to follow in making help-yourself salads. Buy only fresh greens; make the dressing in advance; refrigerate the ingredients in a vegetable pan, and combine just before serving. Never stir the salad food; toss, or place separately.

You'll be surprised at how quickly a tray of salad ingredients can be tossed together to serve a hungry family. Open a can of peas, one or two other vegetables, gather together yesterday's leftovers, provide several dressings, some crunchy greens, and there it is!

And, incidentally, you'll find that canned peas not only add a definite flavor goodness, but provide a contrast in texture and color that adds considerably to a salad's appeal.

Arrange "serve-yourself" salad ingredients on platters, trays, or perhaps divided relish dishes or hostess trays will be available. Some pleasing food combinations are suggested below:

1. Tomato aspic cubes, shredded lettuce, celery, diced chicken, canned peas.
2. Carrot cubes (cooked or raw), deviled eggs, canned peas, shredded lettuce, whole shrimp, asparagus tips.
3. Salmon flakes, deviled eggs, tomato wedges, olives, cucumber slices, canned peas served with frozen tomato juice dressing.
4. Tomato aspic, canned peas, sardines in celery stalks, carrot cubes and olives.
5. Ham mousse, canned peas, diced celery, whole tiny beets, olives and tomato slices.

BANNED SCENES RESTORED TO NEW UNCENSORED FILM

With Europe in the thick of another titanic war, "All Quiet On The Western Front," recognized as the greatest war film ever made, has been released in its original uncensored version for the first time.

The history making film, winner of five international awards, will open Wednesday, June 5 at the Pitt's Theatre with many dramatic scenes that could not be shown during its original release.

Truth, shining through all censorship efforts, distinguishes the picture of Erich Maria Remarque's world famous novel.

Foreign countries, sensitive to anything which might reflect on their victories or defeats on the field of battle, have hitherto cast a halting hand on producers in Hollywood. Even though opposed to weakening the dramatic appeal of their stories, the picture makers were nevertheless obedient to the foreign protests. But today, recognized as an international medium for the spread of good will, the motion picture and particularly "All Quiet" is presented as is.

Restoration of the censored scenes, ample re-editing and modernization of the film, accomplished by Universal experts only last week, have resulted in the new production of a film which will strike as deeply into the hearts of men, women and children everywhere as did the original "All Quiet" almost a decade ago, in the opinion of those who already have viewed the reissue.

The film is not so much an indictment of any one country as it is a denunciation of certain systems of government. As a moving, stirring dramatization that shows the horror, the pathos and the grim humor of war as it is waged in modern times, "All Quiet On The Western Front" has its place in the public consciousness today. The famous characters of the book, played to perfection by men and women who are top stars today, come to life in startling realism now that another war is raging in Europe. Lew Ayres, who rose to stardom in "All Quiet" with his inspired portrayal of "Paul" plays "Tjaden," and others in the Baumer; Slim Summerville, who picture seem to be characters in the world of 1939-40 now that half of the Continent once again has answered the call to arms.

TEAMING UP FOR UNCLE SAM STATE CHAMBER PRODUCES HISTORIC MAP

As summer weather comes around the recreational groups of the various Government departments in Washington begin to take on renewed activity. These recreational organizations of Federal employees include baseball teams, tennis teams, swimming teams, bowling teams, horseback riding clubs, camera associations and various other groups. The story of these teams, of the spirited contests planned for the summer and of their activities in general is told in a special illustrated feature article appearing next Sunday in The Washington Sunday Star.

The Virginia State Chamber of Commerce has announced the completion of a historic map of Virginia which graphically portrays approximately 200 of its most historic and scenic points and its recreational advantages. The map, drawn by Richard Mays, Jr., of Richmond, has been reproduced in large size for framing and an edition shortly will be available for public distribution.

Three smaller maps are also shown, in addition to the large one—an enlargement of the Virginia Historic Peninsula, a railway transportation map of Virginia and a map of the Shenandoah Valley proper.

Illustrations used include presentations of freshwater and saltwater fishing, bear, deer, duck and bird hunting, golf, riding through mountain areas, seashore resorts, the flora of Virginia, and pictures of more than a hundred historic shrines, as well as the major scenic attractions of Virginia: Dogwood, rhododendron, tobacco and apple blossoms are among the flora shown.

Blue Ridge Parkway, Skyline Drive, Colonial National Parkway, the Sky Drive in Cumberland Gap, and other famous drives, as well as Virginia's Natural Wonders, famous schools and churches and principal products are illustrated. Illustrations call to the public attention the fact that eight presidents of the United States were born in Virginia.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in later years.

Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away.—Matthew 24:35.

"BLITZKRIEG"—1861-65.

While Europe's great war is raging on the battlefields of France and Belgium, it is interesting to note that "modern" warfare, as it is fought today, had its beginnings in Virginia and particularly on the Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville and Wilderness battlefields of the War Between the States.

The evolving of a new theory of military tactics—the use of lightning stabs and trench defenses—was in part due to the fact that the Confederacy's limited number of troops made it necessary for the Southern commanders to hit upon some method of waging war that placed as little drain as possible upon their resources. The old concept of mass employment of troops, crushing the opponent by weight of numbers, accordingly gave way to a new concept.

The Nazis' "blitzkrieg" stabs of motorized troops through the Allied lines is fundamentally little more than an up-to-date use of tactics first employed by Stonewall Jackson's foot cavalry and J. E. B. Stuart's dashing raiders. Present-day trench warfare and use of hastily-constructed field fortifications evolved from the Confederates' use of breastworks such as may be seen today in the Fredericksburg-Spotylvania National Military Park.

It is also interesting to note that Jackson, who with Stuart, Mosby and the other Confederate raiders, first employed the "blitzkrieg" tactics, has long been admired by the British as a great general and his movements, particularly his Valley Campaign, are held up in the great English military schools at Sandhurst and Aldershot as examples of brilliant strategy. In fact, the best biography ever written of Jackson was the work of an Englishman. That the English failed, however, to note the implications of Jackson's movements as adaptable to modern warfare can be seen by their record thus far in Belgium and France, where they are confronted with a dressed-up version of the same method of offense.

On a broader scale, it is possible for a student of the War Between the States to find a parallel between tactics used in that conflict and those of the opposing armies in France today. Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, editor of the Richmond News Leader and an authority on military matters, has had occasion already to draw such comparisons in his editorials which have attracted nation-wide attention for their grasp on what is happening abroad.

Many military groups already have visited the battlefields in this section to study the campaign fought on them, and it is probable that many other units and officers in the future will use the parks as outdoor "schools". To get a thorough grasp on modern strategy, they can pick no better ground.

Careers in Engineering
By R. T. Strohm
Dean, International Correspondence Schools

MANY a fond parent who sees little junior busy over his mechanical toys tells his friends "My son shows great promise as an engineer".

Which may or may not be true. Probably not. Many a boy with aptitude for using tools will be happier as a machinist, carpenter or plumber. For engineering requires an ability to reason, to figure and to imagine.

Every bridge, loom or airplane must first be conceived and described by drawings before a stone is laid, a shuttle built, or an engine cylinder cast.

Since the plan precedes the construction, the work of the engineer as a designer requires an understanding of mathematics, a knowledge of such sciences as physics, chemistry, metallurgy before a line is drawn or a rivet hammered into place.

Only after youth has an adequate understanding of the sciences and an insight into what other engineers have done in any branch of engineering is he adequately prepared to devote his energy, study and thought to his chosen field.

One obvious test of engineering ability is to begin the study of engineering fundamentals. The young man who finds this study fascinating, no matter how hard the going, can be fairly certain he has with perseverance the inherent interest to assure success in engineering as a profession.

"TWO GIRLS ON BROADWAY"

Eye-filling and ear-thrilling entertainment for the entire family unfold next Monday and Tuesday, June 3 and 4 on the screen of the Pitt's Theatre where the new streamlined musical, "Two Girls on Broadway", opened for an engagement of two days.

With a cast headed by Lana Turner, Joan Blondell and George Murphy, the musical drama proceeds through sixty minutes of well-rounded fare. Hit tunes coupled with lavish production numbers add to the dramatic story which tells of the love of two sisters for the same boy. Lana Turner and George Murphy, in addition to being an effective romantic duo, promise to become one of the season's favorite dance teams. In their numbers together they are superb. Especially effective are "My Wonderful One Let's Dance" and "Broadway's Still Broadway". This definitely continues the popularity won by Murphy in his last film, "Broadway Melody of 1940", in which he appeared with Fred Astaire and Eleanor Powell, and assures Miss Turner new laurels as the high school and college boys' delight.

Joan Blondell, who makes her first appearance under the M-G-M banner in this film, gave a sterling performance in a role which contrasts sharply with her more familiar comedy characterizations. As the older sister, Molly Mahoney, who sacrificed her own happiness so that her younger sister might have a chance at romance, she registers a distinct dramatic triumph.

Telephone Work Is Interesting Because Of Unusual, Exciting And Humorous Problems

Request For Lemon Pie Recipe Is Example Of Odd Questions Asked

Pick anyone of the thousands of employees of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies, ask them if their work is interesting and a unanimous answer will be "yes." And they have reasons to back up that answer. As one young lady put it, "My work is interesting because we are constantly running up against unusual, exciting and humorous problems."

For example, one of these unusual problems had nothing to do with telephone service. A young lady in a local telephone business office received a call from a housewife who wanted to know the recipe for a lemon pie. Instead of refusing the request, the alert employee thought for a moment and was soon able to tell the customer where she could get a "recipe for a lemon pie."

Then, there was the case of the subscriber who wanted to save money. He called and inquired about the cost of installing one of the newer type telephones to replace his old one. When he had the information he made the classic remark that "for half-price I'll take a second-hand one." After some explanation he was convinced that the company had no second-hand telephones. He took a "new" one.

Still another subscriber was asked a simple question in regard to a minor business matter.

"What is your telephone number?" the girl asked the subscriber. Disregarding the question the subscriber answered "I was born in 1880 in a little town in Virginia. I am married and have five children. My husband is employed."

"But," interrupted the telephone employee, "that information isn't necessary, all I want is your telephone number."

Again the question was ignored and the subscriber chatted merrily for several minutes until she had completed a thumb-nail sketch of her family history. (P. S. The telephone employee finally got the number.)

It is such incidents as these occurring day in and day out that make telephone work so interesting.

Careers in Engineering

By R. T. Strohm

ENGINEERING includes all activities that have to do with turning the natural forces and raw materials of nature to the use of man. The work of the engineer may be divided into seven general activities: (1) those who construct anything from airports to water works; (2) those who extract or mine anything, from coal to zinc; (3) those in public utilities such as electric light, gas, radio or television; (4) those in transportation, by any modern conveyance from trains to trans-oceanic clippers; (5) those in manufacturing machinery, electrical devices, chemicals, textiles, lumber, food or ceramics and workers of metal; (6) those in what might be called personal services, such as engineering of business enterprises, and (7) those engaged in agriculture and forestry.

There are opportunities for abilities in many special fields. Engineering covers such projects as research, design, development, experimentation, construction, manufacture, sales adaptation, application and operation.

Most engineering graduates believe in engineering training whether they follow engineering or branch into other activities. They feel that no other training gives so much value in mental discipline, in practical understanding of the world today, and in the opportunities to perform important work in this scientific age.

Careers in Engineering

By R. T. Strohm

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

THE engineer has a most important place in industry. Today sixty per cent of all engineering is in manufacturing or governmental work. The bulk of engineering work, therefore, is not in the production of new things, but the enlargement and adaptation of existing mechanisms, factories and public works. A new battery of machines is added to the production line, a factory wing is enlarged or built, the capacity of a plant is increased; all these projects are directed by the engineer.

The past 100 years saw the great development of the civil engineer. The machine age has made greater and greater demands upon the engineer. The marvelous development of engineering in this period has grown beyond the work of the military or civil engineer until now there is a need for a wide variety of engineering specialties.

The hand of the engineer is to be seen in many places. From coal, air and water he produces the thread of nylon, finer than silk and more durable. Out of giant retorts he builds dazzling colors; from resins or skimmed milk he fashions new plastics. With corn-husks and sugar-cane stalks he renders buildings more livable in winter and summer, conquering weather. From by-products such as sawdust and beet pulp he creates cattle foods. These are but a few instances of his handiwork, but the list grows endlessly. The engineer's future is as brilliant today as it ever was.

LEESBURG GARDEN CLUB TO SHOW AT "BELMONT"

The Leesburg Garden Club's Fifteenth Annual Flower Show will be held at historic Belmont, home of the former Secretary of War and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley on Wednesday, June 5th from 2 to 6 p. m.

Belmont was built in 1800 by Ludwell Lee, son of Richard Henry Lee, Signer of the Declaration of Independence. Visitors may see the garden, the nearby chapel, the Lee burying ground as well as the colonial mansion house. The beautiful interior of Belmont will provide a perfect setting for the flowers which are to be exhibited.

The show has been planned so that the flowers will be suitable to the eight rooms of the house where they will be displayed. An arrangement of bright flowers in an urn shaped container is to be shown in the dining room where the beautiful Adam mantle given Ludwell Lee by his friend, Marquis de Lafayette is located.

The dining room, with its unusually fine Sheraton furniture is one of the most charming rooms in the house. The exhibit planned for this room is an "old fashioned bouquet", which will be placed on the dining room table. This is the first time the Leesburg Garden Club has included a class of flowers which may be worn.

An outstanding feature of the show is a group of non-competitive horticultural exhibits. Notable among these is an exhibit of Clematis by Mr. Frank Littleton of Oak Hill. Mr. Littleton's previous exhibits have created great interest and won him an outstanding reputation.

The club is providing a generous prize in each class including two challenge bowls and, as a sweepstakes prize, a silver plate.

Belmont is located on Route No. 7, four miles east of Leesburg and may be recognized by a historic marker.

DAIRY MONTH SUPPORTED BY CHAIN STORES

Commending the work being done in Virginia to promote NATIONAL DAIRY MONTH in June, Thos. P. Thompson, Managing Director, Southeastern Chain Store Council, today pledged the cooperation of chain stores in the efforts to increase consumption of dairy products and help the dairymen of the state.

Efforts being made to acquaint the public with the healthful qualities of dairy products, as well as the economies to be enjoyed by using more of them on family menus, Mr. Thompson said, would undoubtedly be instrumental in developing greater consumption and larger local markets.

"An increase of a bottle per day in per family consumption," he pointed out, "would mean a large percentage increase in fluid milk sales, and would also be productive of improved health conditions."

The plans for promotional efforts, and the wide support being given the campaign by various organizations, Mr. Thompson declared, give assurance that Dairy Month will be an outstanding success in Virginia.

Catholic Information

"Dominus Vobiscum!"

It is in Shanghai of a Sunday morning is of advantage to the Catholic who nings. The Catholic church in which I travels, and just as surely of no kneel is crowded with a cosmopolitan, disadvantage to him who stays at home.

A Chinese priest is home, saying the Mass in an undertone. His voice comes to us, even in the front pews, as a mere mumble, so that we can not recognize the language he is using. But suddenly he turns to the people and says in clear audible tones: "Dominus vobiscum!"

"Dominus vobiscum!" How familiar and home-like those words of blessing! Sunday after Sunday I have heard them in my home-town church—in Catholic chures in Europe, Asia, Africa, South America and Australia.

No Latin scholar, I; but here in my little double-column prayer book I have the Mass prayers in Latin in one column of each page and in the other the exact translation in my native tongue. "Dominus vobiscum!"—"the Lord be with you!" So with the help of these and the few other Latin words which the priest says aloud, I am able to check my place in the prayer book and thus follow through the entire Mass with the Chinese priest, just as readily as I can with my good pastor at home. Surely then the Latin of the Mass

Latin, a language known by all cultured people in the long centuries of Christianity, was adopted by the Western Church as the logical language for the sacred liturgy. Latin, now a dead language—unchanging and unchangeable—is indeed the logical language for the Church, which has ever been unchanging and unchangeable in its basic worship and teachings.

The few Latin words audible at Mass soon become familiar and understood by even the child who reads his prayer book. The two Latin words from the Mass, used in this little treatise, we believe and hope are now familiar to you, so that you will understand when we most sincerely say to you: "Dominus vobiscum!"

To have and to hold your good-will, we must have your understanding. Won't you give us the opportunity to explain anything Catholic of which you are not fully informed? Write to:

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "As astronomy reverses the human perception of the movement of the solar system, so Christian Science reverses the seeming relation of Soul and body and makes body tributary to Mind. Thus it is with man, who is but the humble servant of the restful Mind, though it seems otherwise to the finite sense. But we shall ever understand this while we admit that soul is in body or mind in matter, and that man is included in non-intelligence. Soul, or Spirit, is God, unchangeable and eternal; and man coexists with and reflects Soul, God, for man is God's image" (p. 119).

WONDERFUL SOUND MOTION PICTURES OF "LIFE OF CHRIST"

"The Passion Play", or "Life of Christ", is veritably a treasured heritage of the ages, to all Christian people, whose faith is anchored in the resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth. The dramatic versions given periodically, in Europe, at Oberammergau, and Freiburg, are visited by hundreds of thousands of Christian people, from all sections of the world, at enormous expense.

The public of Manassas is to be given the rare opportunity of seeing the world-famous "Passion Play" motion picture, based upon, and patterned after, both Friedburg and Oberammergau productions, and actually produced in Europe, the Holy Land, and Egypt, with special organ and choral music, on sound equipment, depicting many famous scenes in the Life, Crucifixion, and Resurrection of Jesus, at the Grace Methodist Church, on June 5, at 8 p. m. Everybody is invited, and admission tickets are not necessary. A silver offering will be taken, to assist in paying expenses.

MARR MEMORIAL TO BE UNVEILED

Exercises Will Be Staged At Fairfax This Saturday

A program as resplendent as those of yore will be staged on the court house green at Fairfax this coming Saturday afternoon when an everlasting memorial to the veterans who wore the gray and were also members of Marr Camp, U. C. V. will be unveiled.

It is a simple shaft bearing the names of the members, with an appropriate inscription. The entire membership of the Camp is now deceased and the memorial is the loving work of the Fairfax Chapter, U. D. C., in cooperation with James Thrift Camp, S. C. V. Mrs. Marie Farr is chairman of arrangements and the following program has been announced.

The invocation will be given by Rev. Grey Temple, of Turo Parish after which Hon. James U. Kincheloe, commander of James Thrift Camp, will say a word of welcome. Music will be rendered throughout the afternoon by the Fairfax octette and the quartette from Washington. Special solos will be given by Miss Lillian Chenoweth (The Little Bronze Cross), and by Mrs. Fannie Shreve Harstill. (Carry Me Back to Ole Virginia).

A history of Marr Camp will be given by Hon. W. Rust, former State Senator, an address by Hon. Francis Pickens Miller, delegate to the general assembly, and the main address Hon. R. Walton Moore, counselor of by Hon. Vergil Chapman, M. C. from Kentucky who will be introduced by Hon. R. Walton Moore, counselor of the State Department in Washington.

The monument will be unveiled by Misses Sally Ann Williams and Mary Lee Wiley, after the presentation by Mrs. Nora Allison, president of Fairfax Chapter, U. D. C. Hon. Walter McCarthy, circuit court judge, will accept the gift on behalf of the county.

An added feature of the occasion will be the presentation of the Robert Wiley Memorial Confederate flag by Mr. Richard Claiborne Durham, assistant secretary of the National Democratic Committee in Washington. This flag will be accepted by Hon. Herbert Williams, member of the county school board, and a son of Captain Franklin Williams who was one of the five men who accompanied Mosby into the Episcopal Rectory on the night of the now famous raid.

The march to the cemetery, a time-honored custom, will see the school children accompanied by Falls Church Post of the American Legion and the Alexandria Light Grey Infantry. Here the benediction will be offered at the Confederate monument by Rev. Carl Maxwell and flowers will be strewn by the children just as their fathers and mothers did many years ago. Taps will be sounded and a salute by the infantry corps.

To those who may not know it, June 1 is Memorial Day at Fairfax. It was on the night of June 1, 1861 that Captain John Q. Marr, of the Warrenton Rifles, was killed in a skirmish that took place a few hundred yards from the courthouse itself. A magnetic bearing on the Confederate monument near the courthouse records the exact date.
