SCHOOL BOARD BUYS SET OF "LAND MARKS OF OLD PR. WM"

A most valuable addition to the school library was made possible last week at the June meeting of the county school board when arrangements were completed for the purchase from a member of the Harrison family of the set known as "Landmarks of old Prince William." This book was produced by the late Fairfax Harrison at great expense, and is now out of print.

With all members of the Board present, a resolution was passed requiring all teachers next session to reside during the school year in the community in which they teach.

Delegations were present from Nokesville and Haymarket in the interest of addition to the Brentsville District High School and the addition of the Gainesville District Elementary School.

The board authorized the superintendent to have plans and specifications prepared for both additions which will be set up as one project for the coming year.

A committee was appointed to secure bids for the purchase of tires for school busses during the coming term.

The board authorized the absence of Division Superintendent Haydon for the last part of June during which time he will attend the National Educational Association at Milwaukee.

LOCAL AUTO SALESMAN WINS DISTINCTION

A Manassas auto salesman is among the 793 winners in a nationwide question and answer contest sponsored by Fisher Body and the five General Motors passenger car divisions, William S. McLean, director of advertising for the body-building organization, disclosed today in announcing the results of the competition.

He is Charles M. Harris, of Hynson and Bradford, who won seventh place in the zone, and will receive a merchandise award as a result of his efforts. He was entered in the Chevrolet division of the contest.

The contest, which was open to retail salesmen employed by Chevrolet, agencies throughout the country, climaxed an educational campaign emphasizing body featured that was started with the introduction of the new models. In commenting upon it, Mr. McLean declared:

"In a day and age when buyers insist upon style as well as safety and comfort, it is only natural that the automobile body should assume increasingly greater importance. The purpose of our educational work, culminating in the questionnaire contest, was to give the salesman of the General Motors dealer organization answers to all the questions that buyers are asking about the new 'unsteelt' turret top Fisher bodies."

Answering the Call for Volunteers

One of the most beautiful weddings of the season took place Wednesday, June the 5th, at 5 o'clock in the Trinity Episcopal Church when Miss Rena Bevans, daughter of Mrs. Stewart E. The church was decorated with pink and white peonies, against a background of ferns, on the altar were Easter lilies and candles. The bride was given in the marriage by her uncle, Mr. James R. Dorrell. Mrs. Dennis Baker played "Oh Perfect Love" during the ceremony. The bride was lovely in a gown of white satin trimmed in hand-made alencon lace, with a lace veil held in place with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids and lily of the valley. Her matron of honor was Mrs. Sedric Saunders who wore dusty rose marquisette over pink taffeta; a large blue picture hat trimmed in pink roses. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink and blue spring flowers. Little Miss Barbara Linton acted as flower girl, wearing a dress of white ruffled marquisette, over pink taffeta and a "Gone with the Wind" hat. She carried a basket of pink sweet peas and ragged robins. Mr. Clarence G. Joyce, of Washington, brother of the groom acted as best man. The ushers were Sedric Saunders, of Manassas; J. Franklin Forsythe, Paul Shannon and John Marchi, all of Front Royal, Va. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother for the bridal party and members of both families. The bride's going away suit was beige crepe ensemble with brown accessories and corsage of orchids. They left immediately after the reception for a trip through the New England States, including Boston and other cities of interest. On their return, they will make their home at Front Royal, Va. WRITER'S PROJECT WINS FAVORABLE COMMENT

Prince William County, its county seat of Manassas, several small towns and hamlets, as well as many points of historic interest are described in the publication, Virginia-A Guide to the Old Dominion, outstanding accomplishments of the Virginia Writers' Project of the WPA, just placed on sale throughout the United States.

Prince William is covered in three main tours in the Guide that traverses U. S. Highways 1 and 29 and State 55. These in turn include many side trips over county roads.

The present appearance of Manassas, which has given its name to two great battles of the War between the States, is given as well as its history and that of the county which was formed in 1730 from Stafford and King George. The First and Second Battles of Manassas are treated with military accuracy.

Brentsville, county seat from 1822 to 1893, and nearby Lake Jackson, with facilities for camping and fishing; the town of Bristow, where Stonewall Jackson cut General Pope's line on August 26, 1862; and Park Gate, once the home of Thomas Lee, also are described.

On other tours are described Rippon Lodge, Bel Air, the town of Dumfries, with its Stagecoach Inn and old Henderson House; Quantico, a Marine Corps Base; Gainesville, Haymarket; and Throughfare Gap.

GIANT BINGO PARTY

The annual bingo party sponsored by the Catholic Woman's Club of All Saints Parish will be held on Monday night, June 17th, in the Manassas High School Auditorium, at 8 o'clock. The regular admission price will allow the bearer of a ticket to play 25 games. Only valuable articles will be given as prizes. A grand door prize will be given to the holder of the lucky ticket.

WOULD AID ALLIES

The Manassas Kiwanis Club at its weekly meeting on Friday, unanimously passed, without discussion, a resolution calling on the President and the Congress to do every thing possible to aid the Allies in their war in Europe.

The entertainment portion of the program was given over to some delightful piano and violin solo numbers by the Roseberry brothers and by violin duets by Albert Roseberry and John Broadus, Jr., all pupils of Mrs. Broadus.

Short talks were also given by Parson Graham and O. D. Waters.

MISS RATCLIFFE A LOVELY BRIDE

Popular Daughter of Local Banker Weds Mr. John Beard

One of the most outstanding social events of the season took place in Manassas on Wednesday afternoon when Miss Rose Silling Ratcliffe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Ratcliffe, was united in marriage with Mr. John Eugene Beard, son of Mr. Edgar Eugene Beard and the late Mrs. Beard, of Herndon, Va.

The wedding took place at 5 o'clock, in the Trinity Episcopal Church, Rev. A. Stuart Gilson officiating. Miss Joan Wrench, of Amity, L. I., played selections on the organ. The church and altar were decorated with containers of daisies and fever few.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white chiffon fashioned with a yoke of hand-made lace, a becoming square neckline and a tight bodice. At the waist, a full skirt was gathered to a lace insert, and the long sleeves were fitted at the wrist forming a point over the hand. A full length tulle veil was arranged from a clip of lace held in place by a circle of orange blossoms. The bride carried her mother's prayer book from which fell streamers of white ribbon and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. R. Jackson Ratcliffe, sister-in-law, of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore dusty blue marquisette, with matching lace insets. Her leghorn picture hat was trimmed in ribbon of the same shade, and she carried a bouquet of daisies and delphinium.

Mrs. G. Raymond Ratcliffe, mother of the bride, was dressed in pale pink lace, with a large white hat and accessories. She wore a corsage of pink and lavender sweet peas.

The best man was Mr. Joseph Beard, of Fairfax, brother of the groom. The ushers included Mr. R. Jackson Ratcliffe, brother of the bride, Mr. C. W. Lewis, Mr. Sedric Saunders and Mr. P. A. Lewis.

Immediately after the ceremony a large reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Grant Avenue. Over a hundred guests including many out-of-towners were present. An exquisite table cloth of hand-made lace was used on the table and a silver bowl filled with white sweet peas and columbine was arranged as a centerpiece. On one end of the table was a five-tier wedding cake topped with a tiny bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Beard departed on a northern wedding trip following the reception and upon their return will make their home on North Main St., in Manassas. The bride's traveling costume was a dusty rose ensemble with navy accessories and she wore the corsage of gardenias which she had carried on her prayer book. Mrs. Beard is a graduate of Penn Hall, Chambersburg, Pa., and also attended Madison College, while Mr. Beard is an alumnus of V. P. I.

Both bride and groom are very popular in Manassas and have had many parties given in their honor.

DANCE PLANS COMPLETE

Plans have been completed for the Young Democratic dance to be held at Haymarket High School, Friday, June 21. The arrangements committee has announced that a popular orchestra has been secured from Fredericksburg and it is hoped that a large crowd will be on hand to enjoy the music.

Admission will be free to all 1940 members of the Pr. Wm. Young Democratic Club, so pay your dues now in order that you may dance on the twenty-first.

RAPID SPREAD OF DEFENSE PLANS

State Council Holds Its Initial Meeting

Three thousand trucks, half of them available on an hour's notice, and more than 200 tractors can be made ready almost instantly in the event of military emergency, State Highway Commissioner Henry G. Shirley has reported to the Virginia Defense Council. The department also has 600 depots and gasoline supply bases, 16 railway tank cars and 66 maintenance and supply shops throughout the State. The trucks might be utilized to assemble and transport troops and equipment in mobilization, and both trucks and tractors, readily lending themselves to being armed and armored, might quickly form the basis of a formidable mechanized force.

The Council held its initial meeting in the Governor's office, June 5. Dr. Douglas S. Freeman was formally elected chairman, and arrangements were made for a full-time secretary to handle non-military correspondence. The Virginia Railway Association and the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce have promised clerical and research cooperation. W. J. Jenks, president of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, reported Virginia railroads were better equipped for defense purposes than in 1917. Dwight Morgan, of Norfolk, president of the Virginia Manufacturers Association, pledged the cooperation of that body. Commissioner of Agriculture L. M. Walker, Jr., said that agriculture throughout the State could be stepped up 50 per cent. Commissioner of Labor Thomas B. Morton stated that his office had data on thousands of unemployed skilled mechanics and technicians. He urged that all citizens be asked to work against any increase in the cost of living. Organization of a home guard in the event the Virginia National Guard is called into active service can be accomplished on a voluntary basis, Brigadier-General S. Gardner Waller informed the Council.

Virginia's delegation in Congress has received numerous proposals for the utilization of Camp Lee in the rapidly growing defense program. Proposals range from use of the World War mobilization center as a training school for pilots to making it the site of an airplane manufacturing plant.

A group of Lynchburg citizens have organized to combat subversive and disloyal elements, and will make efforts to aid in the formation of similar groups in other communities throughout Virginia and the nation. Calling itself the Sixth Column, the group does not intend to harass citizens of foreign descent nor to do anything in any manner un-American.

GRADUATION AT REGIONAL HIGH

Col. LeRoy Hodges Delivers Eloquent Address in Manassas

The forty-ninth annual commencement of the Manassas Industrial High School of Northern Virginia, School, now known as the Regional High School, was held on May 26 to 30. The baccalaureate service was held Sunday the 26th, the sermon being delivered by Rev. W. H. Triplett, Moderator of the Northern Virginia Baptist Ministers and Deacons Union. Music was by the choral society of the school.

The commencement exercises were held on Thursday, May 30, beginning at 3:30 p. m. The invocation was delivered by Rev. Frank Hearn. Music was by the choral society.

After remarks by Rev. W. E. Costner, president of the Northern Virginia Baptist conference, a collection for benefit of the school was taken up which resulted in the raising of $285.87, which will be turned over to the school authorities for improvement of the heating facilities of the school.

The speaker of the day was Col. LeRoy Hodges, comptroller of Virginia, who was introduced by Hon. C. A. Sinclair, treasurer of Prince William County.

Catholic Information

Do Catholics Have to Say the Rosary?

"If I were a Catholic," a lady asked a priest, "would I have to say the Rosary?" "No," was the reply, "but you would say it because you would want to."

"If you were a Catholic, dear Neighbor, you would not have to go to Mass on First Fridays, or numerous feast days—you would not have to confess your sins, nor go to Holy Communion more than once a year—you would not have to pray to the saints nor for the souls in Purgatory—you would not have to light candles or kneel before statues and pictures. You would not have to use Holy Water or wear medals.

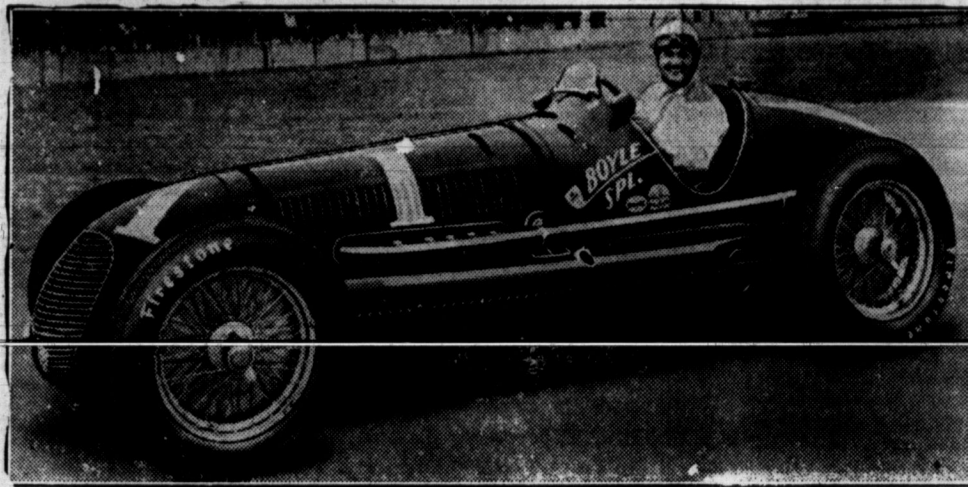

But if you were a sincere, practical Catholic, you would do all these and many other uncommanded things, because you would understand them—you would approve of them—you would want to do them.

Judge not Catholics by what they do, unless you thoroughly understand what is back of it all. Judge not the Church by so-called Catholics who fail to follow their Faith. Judge not anything by information supplied by the enemies of that thing. As the Bible says: "Judge not, lest ye be judged."

If there is anything about Catholics—their religion, their practices which seems to you evil, superstitious, unpatriotic, or just plain ridiculous, won't you in all fairness, let us help to straighten you out. Write us frankly what is on your mind and you will find that in our reply we will put our cards face-up on the table. Address:

FORMER RESIDENT OF MANASSAS IS HOSTESS AT D. A. R. RECEPTION

Monticello's reception at the D. A. R. Chapter House, 1732 Massachusetts Avenue, on the evening of June 3rd, the birthday of the chapter, honoring State and National officers, was one of the most brilliant and largely attended assemblies of the season.

Softly lighted, the lovely, spacious rooms were lavishly decorated with palms, peonies, gladioli, wigelia, roses, snapdragons, iris and many other flowers of the season. The dining table had a centerpiece of feathery baby's breath, pink snapdragons and white carnations, and with the gleaming silver of the valuable gifts to the Chapter House, was a marvel of beauty.

In the receiving line were: Mrs. Leo Kasehagen, re-elected regent of Monticello; Mrs. Harry C. Oberholser, State regent; Mrs. Charles Carroll Haig, National vice president general; Mrs. Howard Lincoln Hodgkins, National honorary vice president general; Mrs. Geoffrey Creyke, State vice regent; Mrs. Joseph N. Saunders, State chaplain; Mrs. Roy C. Bowker, State recording secretary; Miss Margaret E. Naylor, State corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edgar E. Good, State treasurer; Miss Ruth Ann Parker, State assistant treasurer; Mrs. Claude A. Cook, State registrar; Mrs. Jessie S. Arnold, State historian; Miss Phebe Ann Ross, State librarian and curator. Introductions were made by Mrs. Roger Williams, past State registrar and a former regent of Monticello chapter.

This June 3rd reception was the first formal one to the new State officers who were inducted into office at the close of the D. A. R. Congress in April.

Lovely corsages were presented by the Chapter to Mrs. Oberholser, Mrs. Haig, Mrs. Hodgkins and Mrs. Creyke. Mrs. Kasehagen wore orchids, the gift of a member of Monticello.

Representatives of many Societies were present, including the Order of the Three Crusades, of the Knights of the Garter, of the Barons of Runnymede, of the First Families of Virginia, The Mayflower, The Daughters of the American Colonists, The Founders and Patriots of America, The Huguenots, The Colonial Dames, The Sons of the American Revolution, The Children of the American Revolution, The Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, The Daughters of 1812, The United Daughters of the Confederacy, The Spanish American War, The Columbian Historical Society, The Arts Club, The Capitol Hill History Club, The Political Study Club, and others. Also present were: Miss Lillian Chenoweth, retiring State regent, and the other retiring State officers; past and new State chairmen; regents of the sixty chapters of the District, including past and new, as well as many individual members, and all delegates. Members of the State officers Club were also in attendance, Mrs. David D. Caldwell, president, and members of the District Chapter House Board, Mrs. Harry Colfax Grove, president.

Present, too, was an interested guest, Mr. Eric Underwood, of England, a member for many years of the Council for the Preservation of Places of Historic Interest or Natural Beauty of his country. Lord Lothian is a member also of this body and his historic house, Blicking Hall, is held by the trust. Mrs. Kasehagen's sister, Mrs. Frederick Carpenter, Holland, Griffith, is a member of The Walter Hines Page chapter, D. A. R. in Mr. Underwood's country. According to last dispatches, she expected to attend a meeting of this Chapter in London, May 23rd. Mrs. Griffith visited the Kasehagens on Grant Avenue, and will be remembered by older residents of Manassas as Miss Rosamund Higginbotham. Her first husband, Mr. Royston, St. Noble of Barcelona, Spain, was a visitor there, too. Mrs. Griffith's home, Biddenham Close, is used for evacuees and refugees, and the cottages on the estate house the wives of various officers away at the front. Mrs. Griffith also takes an active part in the Red Cross and in providing for the needy. As soon as the war is over she is planning a long stay in the United States. Owing to the proximity of Biddenham Close to a large aerodrome, her relatives here are in constant anxiety in regard to her ultimate safety. All mail is censored, consequently little is known of the real situation or facts.

The Manassas Journal
BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him. And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us—1 John 3.24.

HOWARD SMITH HAS NO OPPOSITION

It is a pleasure to record the fact that Hon. Howard W. Smith has no Democratic opposition for re-nomination to represent the Eighth District of Virginia in the national Congress.

This compliment is distinctly deserved, for no Congressman has more faithfully, energetically, and intelligently served the interests of his District, his State and the Nation. It would have been impossible for any aspirant to have unseated Judge Smith, but it is very fortunate in these times of great national emergency, that his outstanding work in Congress as legislator and investigator will not be interrupted by the necessity of even a trivial political campaign.

We have frequently predicted that Hon. Howard W. Smith will continue to represent us in the Congress as long as he chooses to serve, or until some special emergency of State or Nation would demand from him a different or higher public service. In the meantime we are indeed fortunate to have as our Congressman a gentleman of such fine discernment, recognized ability and sterling character.

We congratulate Virginia, and the Nation, upon the fortunate circumstance that Judge Smith will continue to represent the Eighth District of Virginia in Congress.

THE HEBRON CHURCH BI-CENTENNIAL

At a time when the whole world is shocked and stunned with the rapidity with which Christian forces are apparently being overwhelmed abroad, it is inspiring to note that the oldest Lutheran Church in continuous use in the United States is celebrating its 200th anniversary this summer, culminating in a home coming day on August 24.

This historic church is located in Maidson County, Virginia, and was erected in 1740 by a congregation dating from 1717. This observance by Hebron Lutheran Church is an event of far wider significance than a concern merely of its immediate congregation, or even of the Lutheran Denomination throughout this United States, for interwoven with the history of this fine old house of worship are many stirring events of American history.

The sturdy pioneers who build Hebron Church established the first iron furnaces in North America, founding an industry which played an important part in the industrial development of the Colonies, and finally gave to the patriots of the American Revolution essential military supplies.

From this historic Church also have gone fighting men, both aymen and preachers, who fought gallantly in every war in which Virginia has been engaged. In the Revolution, in the Mexican War, under the Stars and Bars, in the Spanish-American War, and in the World War, the congregation of old Hebron Church has been conspicuously sacrificing and patriotic.

We congratulate the Pastor Rev. C. K. Rhodes, upon his long and effective ministry at Hebron Church and sincerely hope that in its quiet dignity and modesty, this really significant bi-centennial observance will not be overlooked by those who publicize important public events throughout the State and Nation.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clary motored from Lawrenceville, Saturday to visit their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Worthington Alvey. Mrs. Clary accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Alvey to Blacksburg, Sunday morning, where they attended the commencement exercises at V. P. I.

Mr. J. Worthington Alvey, Jr., who was one of the honor students in his class, returned home with his parents.

Mr. Rumsey Light, who resides in near-by Loudoun, narrowly escaped very serious injury last Thursday when he hitched a tractor to the rear end of a heavily loaded lime truck to pull it from a mire. The driver had placed the truck in reverse and after the tractor had stopped it continued backward, the body going up over the tractor and pinning Mr. Light against the steering wheel. He is now under the doctor's care, but it is hoped that the severe bruises on his limbs will heal without complications. (Mr. Light was standing up driving. Had he been sitting down, he may have been fatally crushed.)

Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson went to Washington, Wednesday to visit her brother, Mr. James Dorsey, of Arlington, who is exceeding ill.

Mr. L. Jett Pattie, of Triangle, spent the week end visiting his parents and other friends and relatives.

Mr. Charles J. Sterner, Jr., of Washington-Lee High, recently spent the week end with his friend, Gordon Pattie.

The many friends of Mr. Amie Bitterly will regret to hear that he is in a Washington hospital for treatment, and hope for his speedy recovery.

Mrs. Charles R. McDonald is quite indisposed from an attack of asthma. She was visited by many of her friends during the week, among them, Mrs. Sara Caton and Mrs. Charles Caton.

Mrs. Will Ellison, Mrs. L. J. Pattie and daughters, Harriett and Bertha, were callers at the home of Mrs. Rumsey Light, Monday afternoon.

Mr. J. E. Kidwell has been quite indisposed and under the care of a physician for about two weeks.

Mrs. Annie Ellison entertained a number of her relatives and friends on Sunday in honor of the birthday of her brother, Mr. Floyd Conrad. Rumor tells us that Mr. Conrad blew out all the candles, except one! Now, just what does that signify?

Miss Ann Piercy, who will this fall complete her training as a nurse in a Richmond hospital, was caller at "Oakwood" last week.

Mr. Charles Hall, of Luray, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Senseney. Miss Lucille Gardner, of Hickory Grove, was also a dinner-guest of Mrs. Senseney.

Mrs. Willie Davis is rapidly convalescing from her recent operation in Alexandria Hospital.

NAVY CONTINUES EXPANDED TRAINING PROGRAM

With the present authorized expansion of the Navy to 170,000, training facilities are now proceeding at a full time pace to fit the many thousands of young men being enlisted so that they may become proficient in the many trades required in the operation of a modern fleet.

Navy ships are equipped with the most modern machinery and appliances, making them perfect laboratories for trade learning. The Navy looks upon each man as a permanent part of its personnel and keeps him under continuous training and instruction.

The Navy requires each man to study and complete a regular training course for advancement in rating. The man who can follow his chosen line of work and study it at the same time gets a broad, practical knowledge of his trade that is difficult to get in any other way. This accounts for the fact that the Navy is known as the place where a man can gain more valuable trade experience than he can in most civil occupations.

The Navy Department issues Navy Training Courses to personnel in order that the development of individual skill and efficiency may be speeded up. These courses are not designed, however, to replace experience as the primary teacher.

They contain material covering the basic principles of the special training required, and also, where necessary, general educational subjects such as elementary mathematics, physics, grammar, etc. The courses now issued are divided into two general classes, as follows:

1. RATING COURSES—A rating course is intended to cover the exact requirements of the rating for which it is written. It brings together, in compact and convenient form, the information that will enable a man to meet the requirements for his rating, as prescribed by the Navy Department.

2. GENERAL COURSES—These courses cover such subjects as diesel engines, marine engines, gasoline engines, pumps, generators, compasses and piloting, storage batteries, seamanship, shorthand, etc. Each of the general technical courses now supplied by the Navy Department is closely related to the work in some branch of the Naval service and is intended to promote the efficiency and advancement of men in some Naval rating. The man who is willing to supplement the experience gained in his daily work by systematic study usually succeeds.

Navy training courses are issued without charge to enlisted men through their commanding officers. Study is carried on under the direction of officers on board ships and stations and all necessary assistance is furnished men who wish to improve themselves by this means.

PERSONS NEEDING WORK SHOULD FILE APPLICATION

At this time all persons seeking employment—professional, technical, clerical, skilled, unskilled, service and domestic—who are bona fide residents of Alexandria City, Arlington, Fairfax and Prince William Counties are urged to file their applications with the Virginia State Employment Service Office located at 301 King St., in Alexandria, it was stated today by manager Carter W. Friend. It was also stated that in certain skilled trades there is a greater demand for qualified workers.

For the month ending May 31, 1940, the local office aided employers in locating workers to fill 757 jobs. 710 of these placements were with private employers—contractors, business concerns, factories, merchants, and householders—an increase of 223 private placements or nearly 50 per cent over the number for May, 1939, when 487 private placements were made. For the period of January 1st through May 31, 1940, this office made a total of 2,782 placements or an average of 558 placements per month, during 1940. This is 12.4 per cent of the total number of placements for the 34 offices in Virginia during May—a very enviable record of one office staffed with nine employers.

During May, 1940 there were:
New Applications 340
Renewed Applications 558
Retentions 510
Total 1,408
Five persons were referred to employers in other parts of the state. 119 visits were made by members of the Employment Service staff to employers during May.

The Alexandria office serves without charge the employers and workers of Alexandria City, Arlington, Fairfax and Prince William Counties. It can also call on the other 33 offices in the State and the offices of other states to locate special types of workers who are not available from this section of Northern Virginia.

STARS IN DRAMATIC "VIGIL IN THE NIGHT"

A glowing tribute to the devoted and loyal women in white who patrol the hospitals of the world, "Vigil in the Night", RKO Radio's screen version of the sensational novel by Dr. A. J. Cronin, of "The Citadel" fame, is scheduled for an early local showing with Carole Lombard, Brian Aherne and Anne Shirley in the stellar roles.

With the greater part of its stirring action taking place in two English hospitals during the months just preceding the current war, the story presents Carole Lombard as a loyal nurse of high ideals, Brian Aherne as an humanitarian doctor, and Anne Shirley as Miss Lombard's younger sister, a student nurse who is temperamentally unsuited to her chosen profession.

Disclosing a vivid insight into the behind-the-scenes work of nursing, "Vigil in the Night" traces the dramatic experiences of Miss Lombard, stirring with her dismissal when she assumes the blame for her sister's negligence which cost the life of a sick child.

In another town she joins a hospital that is insufficiently staffed and equipped. Here she meets Brian Aherne, a famous surgeon who becomes interested in the nurse when her keen observation saves him from losing a patient on the operating table.

When the nurse is involved in a bus accident, she again comes to the attention of the doctor, for she is obliged to assist him in an emergency operation at the scene of the crash. From these contacts a feeling of understanding is born which lays the foundation for a romantic association.

Counterpointing to experiences of Miss Lombard are those of her sister, whose weakness involves her in several disasters.

The story reaches its climax in an isolation ward where a sudden epidemic is taking a heavy toll on patients and nurses. In this setting are depicted such dramatic events as the valiant struggle to conquer the disease, the risk Miss Lombard takes in forging an order for much needed medical supplies, and the heart-touching sacrifice Anne Shirley pays to redeem herself.

"LITTLE ORVIE" PORTRAYS TYPICAL AMERICAN BOY

Presenting the new juvenile find, John Sheffield, in the title role, RKO Radio's "Little Orvie" brings Booth Tarkington's delightful kid character to the screen for the first time.

Based on the humorous tales about the eight-year-old lad who disrupted the peace of a whole community in his frantic efforts to have a dog, the film ranks with Tarkington's "Penrod" vehicles as a sparkling story of a typical American boy and his troubles.

In Orvie's case, the trouble lies chiefly with his mother, who has no sympathy for his desire to have a dog. Orvie's father is indulgent but unable to do anything about it, so when the youngster finds a huge Great Dane waiting for him on the sidewalk one morning, he promptly takes possession of the animal for the day.

But the dog refuses to leave him when he comes home after a hectic day of broken windows and indignant citizens. The homecoming is disastrous and Orvie is ordered to take Tiger to the pond, but on learning that the dog will eventually be electrocuted he resorts to blackmailing the colored maid into keeping Tiger at her home.

The consequences of this move, and the boy's efforts to aid a little girl in disposing of a litter of puppies, make for the fast-moving conclusion to the offering—a conclusion that mixes laughs and tears in satisfying proportions.

Young Sheffield, who only recently made his debut on the screen as Tarzan's son, is a tousle-haired youngster ideally suited to the role of the resourceful and persistent Orvie.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear grandmother, Mrs. Cordelia Beavers, who departed this life six years ago today, June 12, 1934.

Six sad years have passed. Since God called you home. Since the day you left, dear grannie. It seems I've always been alone. Many times when I am silent, My thoughts alone of you, Yes, of the one I loved But God, loved you too.

I knew you had grown old, and suffered many a pain, God took you to rest with him But, I pray we'll meet again.

By your loving Granddaughter, Mary.

"I KNOW..."

Dutch by birth, an American by adoption, Hendrik van Loon knows war. In 1914, while a reporter for the Associated Press stationed in Belgium, he saw the tragic evacuation of Belgians and his fellow countrymen.

By Hendrik Willem van Loon

To the People of America:

You, who slept in a comfortable bed in a comfortable home last night. You, who enjoyed a comfortable breakfast with all the coffee and cream you wanted, eggs and bacon and a chat with your wife before going to town. You, whose children happily marched off to school this morning, looking at the pretty airplane flying overhead without rushing shriekingly back towards the house to find shelter in the cellar. You, who still may believe (even now and after endless warnings) that such things can not happen here, I am addressing myself to YOU.

This same night literally millions of men and women and children have slept out in the open. They had no breakfast nor anything else to eat since they were told to run, to run for their lives, for the merciless tanks were coming, throwing flames and streams of lead crushing and destroying everything they met on their onward rush.

They have lost everything they had worked for, everything their grandfathers had worked for, their grandmothers and great-grandmothers had worked for and scraped for. Their less fortunate neighbors lay dead by the roadside, their limbs broken by the weight of tanks and motorized guns, their brains splattered over the soil that had been theirs for countless generations.

I know whereof I speak. Twenty-six years ago I saw just such a flight. I was in it and even today I do not know how I got out of it. But then warfare was civilized, compared to what it is today. And listen to me, YOU in your comfort and security, it is but by the grace of God that those things are not happening to you today as they may happen to you tomorrow. And then, if you have any compassion upon your fellow-men in France and Belgium, dig into your pocket.

Stop talking about a depression which still left you a house and a home and a wife and children and safety and comfort. Stop feeling sorry for yourself, for nothing has ever happened to you of that which is now happening to millions of your fellow-men whose only crime consisted in the fact that they lived when Anti-Christ came back to earth.

Stop thinking. Just feel. And get hold of whatever small cash you can find and send it to your local Red Cross chapter. Every cent will go to those unfortunate victims of Hitler's demented fury. But give! Give as much as you can! The Red Cross alone now stands between life and death for those hapless millions. The AMERICAN RED CROSS. Mark that word AMERICAN and give. For the day may come when you yourself will need such help. Give to the Red Cross and give now. Not in the name of any country or race, but in the name of common decency and because you are an American and because it makes you sick to hear of a cruelty and a bestiality this planet of ours has never seen before. Give to the Red Cross and give NOW! But give!

Hail Strikes in Shenandoah County.

"It was this high," County Agent G. G. Dickenson is saying, in showing hail damage to wheat in Shenandoah County to J. B. Farrar (right foreground), field representative of the State AAA office. "At a time like this, fortunate indeed is the farmer who has his crop covered under the Federal Crop Insurance program," he said.

One day a green and thriving crop of wheat was on this Shenandoah County field. By the next day hail had reduced it to a withering pulp, as County Agent G. G. Dickenson and J. B. Farrar (standing) view the damage. The Federal Crop Insurance program was designed to protect farmers from such unavoidable disaster.

WINNERS OF PIANO PLAYING AUDITIONS

Among the winners in the District of Columbia unit of the 1940 National Piano Playing Auditions, sponsored by the District of Columbia Chapter of the National Guild of Piano Teachers, which closed June 9, after a six-day event in which hundreds of piano students of the area participated, were two pupils from the class of Mrs. Virginia Speiden Carper, of Manassas, Va. The judge was Miss Adela Laue, eminent pianist and teacher of New York.

These student winners were: Edna Lee Armstrong, of Nokesville, Va., who achieved a place on the National Honor Roll and Betty Lee Jenkins, of Manassas, who was awarded the District Honor Roll certificate.

To achieve the National Honor Roll, each pupil was required to receive an 80 per cent grade or above from the judge upon the playing of a complete program of ten, or more, memorized compositions chosen from standard literature for the piano. State winners had to present creditably partial programs of from seven to nine selections while local or district honors have been accorded all who ably played one group of four pieces. Certificates of Rating were presented those who performed two or three selections in a pleasing manner.

The local Auditions were a part of a national piano playing event held during May and June in more than 90 music centers from Boston to San Diego with nearly ten thousand piano pupils entering.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, BOSTON, MASS., JUNE 3, 1940

An appeal for calm and more faith in the omnipotence of God in the face of present world turmoil, featured the gathering here today of thousands of Christian Scientists from all over the world for the annual meeting of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

"Trusting in the omnipotence of God," said Harry C. Browne, First Reader of The Mother Church in reading a message from The Christian Science Board of Directors, "enables one, through demonstration, to enjoy the freedom of thought resulting from the unfolding of the characteristics of divine Mind as expressed by Christ Jesus."

"Becoming cognizant of the true idea about anything, exposes its suppositional opposite as a lie. Therefore, when the true idea of man's relationship to God is universally expressed, misunderstanding between men and nations will vanish."

"The divine Mind is in reality the only power; therefore nothing can resist the manifestation of righteousness. With due regard for the necessary human footsteps, which our Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, says are indispensable in meeting problems, it is also imperative to look to the divine Mind for guidance and wisdom to supply the impetus to do all things in a right way and at the right time."

Commenting on the turbulent international situation, the incoming President said that "Christian Science reveals the power of individual man to meet and overcome the hordes of mesmeric suggestions and subtle influences claiming to induce discouragement and apathy."

It enables the Christian Scientist to overcome the belief that war can be of permanent advantage, or that it is to be feared. It destroys the desire for an unrighteous, just, and enslaving peace; and it sets right that wrong sense of values which would prefer this so-called peace to that active warfare between the flesh and Spirit which The Mother Church typifies, and which culminates in the victory of spirituality and Love."

Referring to the apparent strength of unity or quantity in material organization, she quoted Mrs. Eddy's statement in Miscellaneous Writings (p. 138): "I once thought that in unity was human strength; but have grown to know that human strength is weakness,—that unity is divine might, giving to human power, peace."

In a parallel vein, George Shaw Cook, the retiring President, pointed out that "the effort of one individual or nation to dominate others, or to exploit them, by means of force, coercion, dishonesty, or deception, may appear temporarily to succeed, but it can not permanently prosper for the simple reason that evil has no divine Principle. Its nature is self-destructive."

"The ultimate triumph of good is not merely a question of hope or even of faith. All that is good in human experience is upheld by divine or spiritual law. And this law is able to assert itself and enforce itself, in spite of the effort of misguided mortals to interfere with or to prevent its operation."

Reading the report of the Manager of Committees on Publication, Mrs. Florence W. Saunders, Assistant, said that the Committees are grateful "for an increasing manifestation of the spirit of friendliness on the part of the press and of the clergy toward Christian Science. This friendliness is evidenced in the lessening of public attacks on Christian Science, and in an increasing number of requests for speakers on the subject of Christian Science."

Last summer the Manager of Committees on Publication addressed, with gratifying results, some twelve thousand church members in Great Britain and Ireland and on the continent of Europe.

"Important recognition of our Leader is being given from time to time. The Honorable John H. Bartlett, former Governor of New Hampshire, the History of the Granite State, makes this statement: 'No writer's name will ever live longer than that of Mary Baker Eddy, and no book will be read by more generations than 'Science and Health'."

A Warren Norton, Manager of The Christian Science Publishing Society, declared that "The Publishing House is becoming widely known as a place of interest. Over 100,000 people visit it annually, including groups from well-known educational institutions and individuals from all parts of the world."

William W. Davis, Executive Supervisor of the charitable institutions, expressed gratitude for the many demonstrations of healing at the Christian Science Sanatoriums, also to the graduates and undergraduates of the nurses' training courses. "Taught by experienced instructors," he said, "they are bringing healing, comfort, and love to the performance of the duties of their chosen profession."
