

DEMOCRATS URGE AID FOR ALLIES

Harmony Prevails At State Party Convention

Meeting in Roanoke, Virginia's Democratic Convention adopted on June 14, a foreign policy platform rewritten to demand "speedy aid to the Allies to the fullest extent of our resources." This uncompromising, unqualified statement was adopted amid cheers after a proposal that "all aid short of war be extended" was rejected.

Virginia's delegation, mustering 22 votes in the Democratic National Convention to be held in Chicago, will go unimpaired, for it is expected to vote as a unit on issues that win a majority of its votes. The unit rule may also be discarded if a majority of the delegation so votes.

Highlights of the Convention were: The keynote speech by State Senator John W. Carter, of Danville, avoiding the third-term issue, and advocating "arming to the teeth" against foreign aggression. "Let me warn you that if England and France fall victims to the hordes, planning the destruction of London, we are next on the list", Senator Carter thundered.

A ringing address by Senator Harry Flood Byrd, urging a navy strong enough to defend both the Atlantic and Pacific, mechanized equipment second to none, a powerful air force, and a trained army. Virginia's junior U. S. Senator said that the State and nation must have "total preparedness", and must realize that "we now are not prepared for war". Senator Byrd, an advocate, has never voted against a defense appropriation, it should be noted. He warned the convention that America might have to send "not one million, not two million, but many millions of men", to regain conquered portions of Europe.

E. R. Combs, clerk of the State miteeemen to succeed Senator Byrd. Senate, was elected national delegate at large were: Senators Glass and Byrd; Governor Price; J. Murray Hooker, Chairman of the State Committee; Representative Thomas G. Burch; E. R. Combs; Mrs. Page Morton, of Charlotte Court-house, and Mrs. Josephine Almond, of Roanoke. Alternates were: John I. Bryan, of Norfolk; Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss, of Fairfax; Mrs. Edith Sands, of Middleburg; Raymond Guest, Front Royal; State Senator W. M. Tuck, of Halifax; Thomas W. Ozlin, of Lunenburg; W. N. Neff, of Abingdon; and Harry Flood Byrd, Jr., of Winchester.

State Senators William A. Wright and Robert W. Daniel were named presidential electors-at-large.

HOME COMING AT TEMPLE SCHOOL

The patrons and student body of Temple School, as well as a number of the old friends of the institution, were welcomed at an "at home" on Sunday afternoon, this marking the end of regular teaching work for the season. The school does not close and most of the holiday period is devoted to recreational activities.

The display of work done by the children and instructional methods were very interesting. The playground in the rear of the school is fitted up with a number of highly ingenious devices that seem to be most attractive to the children. ### Every Avenue Of Action Now Being Made Available

Mrs. Wm. L. Lloyd, chairman of Prince William County Chapter American Red Cross, called a meeting of the Executive Board and Committee Chairman, Monday, June 17, in the Parish Hall, Manassas, for the purpose of considering ways and means which would enable the chapter to fulfill the calls made upon it by National Headquarters, in these hours of desperate War Emergency.

Mr. O. D. Waters, Treasurer of the Chapter, has forwarded funds subscribed for this object by National Headquarters and the chapter anticipates completing the full amount of $800, the doubled quota for Prince William County by July 1; that this may be accomplished, there necessarily must be an active campaign of Red Cross members to collect this needed sum; therefore, individuals and organizations are urged to give generously and promptly. Chairmen of the various county districts were instructed to canvass their communities and do their utmost to speed this work of mercy.

Mrs. Charles Harris, chairman of the Manassas Production Committee, has asked Miss Helen Lloyd to be her assistant chairman and Mrs. Arthur Sinclair, secretary, Mrs. Harris' residence, West Street, Manassas. She will have the production Headquarters where garments are cut and made ready for completion by those wishing to aid the Red Cross in sewing, there also, may be wool to be knit into sweaters. It is important that these articles be completed in time for shipment to the war area in the late summer.

Containers, vividly marked with the Red Cross insignia, are being placed at points throughout the county that offerings no matter how large or small, may be made by those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity of easing the sufferings of millions, through the only agency able to reach the stricken lands.
