Mrs. L. J. Bowman Retires As Secretary Of County Sunday School Association

After being secretary of the County Council of Religious Education for the past eight years, I feel that someone else should take the work. I know there are plenty of younger people in our county who will go on with the work. However, I do want you to know that I appreciate beyond words the fine co-operation you good people have given me, and I shall not forget it. The work has been a pleasure to me, and if in any other way I can be of help in the building of the Sunday school work, I shall be more than glad to do it.

I thought it might be interesting to give a brief summary of the work during the last eight years.

Dr. Henry E. Tralle, of New York City, one of the world's most famous Sunday School leaders, was the principal speaker at the July meeting in 1932 held at the Manassas Presbyterian Church. This was the first night meeting of the organization, and Dr. Tralle spoke at both the morning and night session. At the afternoon session a group of the Aden and Nokesville young people presented a play, "Mother Pulls the Strings". Rev. Minor Miller and other outstanding Sunday School leaders took part. Rev. Hall was then the pastor of this church but passed away the coming year.

The secretary reported that up until the year of 1931 only three Leadership Training Credits had been issued in Prince William County.

During the year of 1933 the outstanding accomplishments of the officers striving for was leadership training schools and daily vacation church schools. Several leadership training schools were held, the largest enrollment being at the school held at the Manassas High School Building. Fourteen daily vacation Bible schools were held in the county that year. Several girls from different schools were sent to other Sunday Schools in the county to conduct Bible schools. The committee on this work consisted of Prof. R. C. Haydon, Rev. Luther Miller, Mr. R. D. Sadd, Miss Marjorie Graybill, Rev. John DeChant, Rev. O. R. Kesner, Mrs. E. L. Herring, Miss Agnes Thomason, Mr. Roy Blakemore, Miss Hazel Bowman, Prof. S. G. Sigman, Mr. Rag Wood, and Mrs. Harry Love.

The 1934 meeting with Mr. John Kline as president, was held August 26, at the Nokesville Church of the Brethren. The speakers were Rev. Earl Flohr, Rev. Minor Miller, Rev. O. R. Kesner, Rev. J. H. Cassidy, and Rev. J. W. Brill. Some of the music was furnished by the church of the Brethren, Miss Jessie May Conner, and a male chorus from Oakton. Sixteen ministers were present at the afternoon session, a record attendance.

The night meeting was held at the Nokesville Auditorium. It was crowded to capacity. Outstanding addresses were delivered and the music was furnished by the choir from the Washington City Church of the Brethren, under the direction of Mr. David Weimer. Mr. Walter Wine was elected president with Prof. Sigman as vice president. Later he resigned and a meeting was called at which a very large number of Sunday School workers attended. Prof. Bittle, chairman of the nominating committee had met with his committee previous to the meeting and presented the name of Mr. R. D. Sadd who was unanimously elected president for the coming year. But during the year God in his wisdom saw fit to take Mr. Sadd from our midst. While we so keenly felt the loss of one so interested in the work, we were thankful to have one so capable as Prof. Sigman to go on with the work.

The 1935 meeting was held at the Aden Calvary U. B. Church. The speakers were Miss Florence Hostetter of Harrisonburg; Rev. C. P. Jones, O. R. Hersch, Dr. A. C. Renoll, of Xenia, Ohio; and others. Music by the Foster sister, Garman sisters and a numbers of Sunday Schools in the county; also the Dunn Loring quartet. Sometime before this meeting a county choir was organized by your secretary and Miss Mae Fountain and those of you who were present will remember the inspiring

TO THE RESCUE

MACS WIN 6 TO 4

On Sunday, July 21, 1940, the Manassas A. C. won a tight game, 6 to 4, from the "Super team" of Washington.

Billy Ward hurled for the Macs and kept 11 hits well scattered. The Macs big inning came in the third when the Macs scored four runs.

Ward walked and stole second and went to third when the catcher threw the ball into center field. Floyd Vetter then reached first on an error, and Ward crossed the plate. Floyd then stole second and the catcher made his usual throw and second into center field and Vetter scored. D. Vetter then walked and stole second and the catcher again threw the ball away and D. Vetter second and scored on Crabill's double.

In the first inning D. Posey got on by an error and scored while D. Vetter was driving a single to left. In the fifth inning, D. Vetter tripled and scored on Leith's fly ball.

The "Super Team" scored two runs in the first, when Crampton singled, Wall got on by an error and so did Brown.

In the third inning they combined a double and singled to score a run. In the eighth inning they had three doubles and a walk and an error but only made one run when Brown tried to stretch his double into a triple and was a dead bird. And you know what happened then.

NEW FEATURES AT RURAL INSTITUTE

Interdependence Of Agriculture And Labor Is Central Theme

Farm men and women from every Virginia county will assemble at Blacksburg on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week for the annual Institute of Rural Affairs. Able speakers have been secured by the program committee and those attending will be at liberty to choose to sit in on those parts of the program in which they are most interested.

The theme of this year's institute will be "The Interdependence of Agriculture, Industry and Labor". A new feature of the annual meeting will be exhibits and demonstrations of farm electrical equipment, handicrafts, dairy products, foods, etc.

As in past years, the tours of experimental projects being carried out the Experiment Farm will be of especial interest to farmers. Separate group meetings, at which farm men and women may discuss with specialists problems in nearly every phase of farming and homemaking, are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. The Washington County Chorus will present special music on the Tuesday and Wednesday evening programs and group singing will be led by R. W. Kerns. The social assembly in the gymnasium after the evening session on Tuesday provides an opportunity for meeting and getting acquainted with others from the various sections of Virginia early in the session.

Comfortable quarters will be available in the college dormitories for the nominal sum of $1.00 per person for the entire session and excellent meals may be had in the main dining room for 35c each.

It is suggested that those driving to Blacksburg plan to go by way of Skyline Drive from Panorama south and also visit Mountain Lake, only a few miles from Blacksburg, while at the Institute.

Farmers and their families planning to go to Blacksburg next week from Prince William look forward to an enjoyable and instructive short mid-summer vacation. The valuable information that may be obtained from visiting the various experiments will alone well recompense any farmer for the time and expense required for the three-day farm and home rally.

NEW DRAMATIC PROMISE IN "SUSAN AND GOD"

The new dramatic promise which Joan Crawford evidenced in "The Women" reaches a surprising culmination in "Susan and God", picturization of the Rachel Crothers Broadway hit which has become an even greater screen success. The film, co-starring Frederick March & featuring one of the season's strongest supporting cast, opens next Monday and Tuesday, July 29 and 30, at the Pitt's Theatre.

Despite the magnificent handling of the theme by Director George Cukor, the brilliant screen play by Anita Loos and the individual gems of characterization turned in by March and the others, "Susan and God" is a person triumph for Miss Crawford, for the delicacy and assurance of her work places her on an acting pedestal which she has never previously approached.

As Susan, the scatterbrained, self-centered social gadabout who adopts a new social movement as a fad and makes a complete botch of the lives of her friends and herself by her meddling, the star overshadows every other item of critical consideration. As the inebriate husband, Barrie, who finally wins the battle with himself and Susan, March turns in a matching performance which makes his return to films a welcome event following his Broadway success in "The American Way".

Another surprise of the film is the performance of the youngster, Rita Quigley, who makes her screen debut as Blossom, the lonely, unwanted daughter of Susan and Barrie, and makes Blossom the most sympathetic character in the script. Warm and understanding is Ruth Hussey's Charlotte, the family friend in love with Barrie. Appropriately glamorous is Rita Hayworth as the young actress, Leonora, married to the pompous and much older Hutchins Stubbs (Nigel Bruce) but regretting it for the sake of the young actor, Clyde Rochester (John Carroll). Also deserving of singling out for the conviction of their performances are Rose Hobart as Irene, hostess at the Long Island house party where much of the action of the piece takes place; Bruce Cabot as he lover, Mike O'Hara and Constance Collier as Lady Wigstaff, leader of the new movement.

LADIES FIRST AT STATE FAIR

Prize winners in crochet work at the Virginia State Fair in September will be eligible to enter their work in the fourth National Crochet Contest to be held in New York City in November, in which $1,350.00, in cash prizes are to be awarded. This is an added attraction for Virginia's expert crocheters, of whom there are a large number, to enter their work at the State Fair.

A speed crochet contest is also scheduled for September 26th, which is open to all comers. The championship title will go to the hookster, who crochets the longest edging in one hour.

Another national event in which Virginia's feminine State Fair winners can share is the National Certo Jelly Making Contest at the New York World's Fair in October. Winners of first prizes on jellies and jams made with Certo at the Virginia State Fair can enter for prizes totaling $400.00.

All who are interested in particulars of the above contests are invited to write to the Virginia State Fair offices in Richmond.

HAYMARKET

"Home coming" Sunday was a most happy occasion for many of this sections and we think it was for the many visitors and old friends who gathered at St. Paul's Church. Rev. Jacqueline Ambler, Trinity Church, Fredericksburg, preached a sermon that had the close attention and interest of his hearers, and also assisted with the service.

The social hour at the Parish Hall was most enjoyed, as was the delicious lunch brought by many and served to every one. Mr. Christian Heineken, of Bethesda, Md., brought his usual donation of ice cream for the lunch which the intense heat made a more than usual welcome dessert.

Miss Elizabeth Foley, who has recently returned from Los Angeles, Calif., is at her home here for the summer.

Mr. Billy Dodge, of Washington, formerly a resident of this section, came up for Sunday, and received a warm welcome from many friends. Bishop Goodwin will be here on the first Sunday in August and will preach and confirm a class at St. Paul's Church.

GREENWICH

All of our community, has been suffering with the hot weather we have had recently. A large crowd enjoyed themselves, Sunday at Ellis' Run. About one hundred were in bathing and quite a number brought their dinner.

Mr. Atlee Wood and Miss Louise Houston, of Washington: Mrs. Abby Wood and son, Mayzieck, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wood, Sunday.

Mr. Lewis Cook visited relatives at Greenwich over the week end. Relatives from Maryland, are visiting the Powers family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Martin, of Buckland, visited Miss Josephine Mayhugh, Sunday.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Truth" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 28.

The Golden Text will be "O God, my heart is fixed; I will sing and give praise, even with my glory . . . For thy mercy is great above the heavens: and thy truth reacheth unto the clouds" (Psa. 108:1, 4).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (II Tim. 2:15).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "The purpose and motive to live aright can be gained now. This point won, you have begun as you should. You have begun at the numeration table of Christian Science, and nothing but wrong, intention can hinder your advancement. Working and praying with true motives, your Father will open the way. 'Who did hinder you, that ye should not obey the truth?' (p. 326).

We wish to thank our various correspondents for sending their notes early this week.

HOT TIPS FOR WORLD'S FAIR TRIPS

BY CHOLLY LASHER

I SET OUT to learn why so many folks are saying, "Hotel Pennsylvania is the place in New York for World's Fair visitors." Here's the glad news . . .

This great 2200-room hotel is tops in location. A passageway to Pennsylvania Station saves taxi fares and confusion. And special electric trains zip you to the Fair in 10 minutes for 10 cents. Brooklyn's one block away!

Next, I learned that you folks get a single room with private bath for $3.50. Take your wife and it's only $5.00. Bring the children, and you get a "family" room at surprisingly low rates. Better yet, on the "10. Week-end Plan," both you and the Mrs. get a double room with bath for two full days and a night . . . plus a wonderful dinner at either the gay Pennsylvania Roof (Jimmy Dorsey plays for dancing!) or right at the Fair in the enchanting Romanian House Restaurant . . . plus a fine breakfast in the Hotel . . . plus admissions to the Fair and to one principal attraction—all for a ten dollar bill. Include the youngsters for only $3.00 each. If you must go alone, it's only $6.00; single.

By auto, the Hotel's a cinch to reach. Special garage rates, too! For reservations, write or wire the Hotel. Or just "drop in."

INFANTRY NOW NEEDS SPECIALISTS

This is the age of specialization and nowhere are specialists more in demand than in an Infantry Regiment. It is a far cry from the old-time outfit, where mastery of only the rifle and ability to take it foot-slogging many miles a day was the large extent of Infantry peace time activities.

Today in an Infantry Regiment are found the new semi-automatic Garand Rifle as the principal arm of the individual soldier, in addition automatic rifles, machine guns, two sizes of mortars, 37 millimeter (about 1½ inches) cannon and a great variety of signal equipment.

An Infantry Regiment-Tanks, is truly a group of rugged specialists who must operate and maintain modern tanks with the high degree of teamwork necessary in a highly mobile organization. The operation and care of the motor transportation necessary for the supply of the regiment alone requires a large number of automotive specialists, to say nothing of the communication work, radio, telegraph and telephone operations are particularly necessary.

If you are a young man, unmarried, between the ages of eighteen and thirty-five, why not ask the nearest recruiting officer what the Infantry has to offer you in an opportunity for a career, a chance to travel, and an education.

GAY CESAR ROMERO CARRIES CISCO KID TO GREAT NEW FAME

Few characters in fiction have won the instantaneous popularity of the Cisco Kid, O. Henry's dashing, lovable outlaw, who "could shoot five sixths of a second sooner than any other man".

Given life on the screen a decade ago, the colorful caballero of the old Southwest won millions of fans and, recently revived, the Cisco Kid promises to prove one of the most popular and perennial of all screen favorites.

Played by Cesar Romero in this new 20th Century-Fox series, Cisco is interpreted by an actor as handsome and dashing as the romantic desperado himself.

Romero, that very versatile "Latin from Manhattan", who since his entrance into films a few brief years ago has successfully portrayed just about every type of character the screen has to offer from "heavy" to "great lover" and from comic to straight dramatic roles, fits perfectly into the shining boots of the Cisco Kid.

First portraying the part in "The Cisco Kid and the Lady", he brought to the character so much color and gaiety and charm that the fans immediately clamored for more.

This demand is thrillingly met in the latest Cisco subject, "Viva Cisco Kid", which finds the dashing caballero galloping back from the border and straight into a new set of breakneck adventures.

A moment after he has sworn off all senoritas for all time, Cisco meets a lovely damsel in distress, in the person of pretty Jean Rogers, and promptly forgets his decision. He risks his neck a dozen times to rescue her from a band of cutthroats, faces a murder charge and is left for dead in a mine cave. But, Caramba! it's all for Love—and so, it is wonderful!

WASHINGTON JUDGES REPRESENT MANY PARTS OF THE NATION

Widely divergent backgrounds are represented in the careers of the dozen jurists who sit on the bench of the District of Columbia Federal Court, they come from many parts of the Nation and from a variety of law practices, and bring to bear on the legal problems of the National Capital and its inhabitants a wide scope of talent. The story of these eminent jurists, a fourth of whom have had service in Congress and three of whom are septuagenarians is told in an illustrated feature article appearing next Sunday, July 28, in The Washington Sunday Star.

WILL SOUTHERNERS BOLT?

There is a widespread and growing resentment throughout the South over the conduct of the National Democratic Convention in Chicago, where the conservative wing of the Party was completely ignored and a Vice - Presidential nomination dictated from the White House over a well established precedent of permitting the Party in convention to exercise its own judgment in such matters. The New Deal now takes over, one hundred per cent, and Conservative Democracy is relegated to the background.

It has been the history of our great Party that the Northern wing soon voices its deep-seated antipathy of the South and finally creates such a wound that the Republican Party comes into power. Possibly history is repeating itself. In any event the loyalty of the Southern Democracy to the ticket of Roosevelt and Wallace is sorely tried, and it is not beyond the realm of speculation to predict that the resentment which has been created will ripen into organized political revolt.

The South has had to swallow a great deal in the past seven years. We have survived many attempted "purges", but whether we shall complacently submit to a total purge from the White House, can only be answered in the political events of the weeks ahead.

Realizing that the radical group of the Party has taken charge, we have to weigh what they will do to us, in the light of what we may expect from Republicanism. But since Candidate Willkie was once a Democrat, and Vice Presidential Candidate Wallace was once a Republican, it may be that old lines are disappearing and that Radicalism and Roosevelt and Conservatism and Willkie will be the final choice.

political situation, but certainly Southerners have a lot to think about between now and November and we hope that a wise and far-seeing prophet will rise among us to point the way.

THE CONVENTION WAS A FLOP

The New Deal bureaucrats are returning triumphantly to Washington today. These delegates who acted as robots for politicians in high office feel that all is as favorable as they could expect it to be. Four more years at the trough are theirs, they say, if they can "put F. D. R. across for a third term".

When this is said, the full measure of satisfaction over the Chicago Convention has been meted out. There is no pride of performance on the part of the delegates. Many even of those who faithfully carried out instructions to vote for Roosevelt start home with the cheerless observation, "What's the use?" They had at Chicago the same experience they have had so often in Washington: Everything was in the hands of a small, inner coterie; if they did not belong to that coterie, they did not amount to much. All they could do was to okay the proceedings, and when they did that, nobody thanked them.

—Richmond News Leader.

When Roosevelt had his trained fess at Chicago whoop through his third term aspirations—assisted by Boss Kelly's hoodlums—my heart sickened. All I now ask is that they now keep their mouths off of Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson, whose very memories they have desecrated.

With regards and apologies if these tirades are offensive to you.

Your truly,
Arthur H. Jennings.

music they rendered at the morning, afternoon and night sessions. The church was packed for the night program. Music was given by Messrs. Sinclair Boatright and Luck and a quartette from Washington, D. C., directed by David Weimer made the evening full of spiritual blessings. Sixty four leadership training credits were issued to Sunday School members in Prince William County in 1935.

The 1936 day session was held in the Presbyterian Church Manassas. A round table discussion was held in "Religion in the schools". Those taking part were Rev. C. B. Jones, Mr. Wine Rev. DeChant, Rev. Elory, Rev. Miller, Rev. Morrison, Rev. Carpenter, Rev. Blough, Rev. Guy West from Roanoke, delivered a masterly prepared address at the night session in the Methodist Church on "Christian Youth Building a New World". It was during this year the association employed its first religious education teacher in public schools.

The 1937 meeting was held at the Methodist Church with Rev. John DeChant as president. The principal speakers were Rev. Walter Wolf, of Clarendon, and Minor C. Miller. It was at this meeting that Miss Hazel Saunders was employed as part-time worker to assist in teaching religious education. The conference was divided into groups. Those interested in adult work was instructed by Prof. R. C. Haydon; Young People, Rev. Minor Miller; Primary, Mrs. Roy Blakemore.

The 1938 meeting was held at the Sudley Church. Rev. Guy West spoke on the "Big Opportunity before the Church". Mr. E. T. Fenwick, of Falls Church, gave an inspiring and humorous address. Rev. Minor Miller and others spoke and added many helpful suggestions for the betterment of the work. Rev. N. J. Miller gave a brief report of the splendid vacation church school held at the Seminary in which many schools of different denominations in the district had co-operated. Some time was given to select a religious education teacher for the coming year.

The 1939 meeting was held at the Cannon Branch with Rev. Fearneyhough of Remington, and Mr. Handley, of Arlington, as guest speakers. Miss Hazel Saunders gave an excellent talk and reported on enrollment of 756 children taking the course and out of this number 375 did not attend Sunday School. A program committee for 1940 convention was appointed and it was decided to have a county-wide picnic. Mr. Troy Counts was appointed chairman. Mr. Walter Wine reported on the excellent Sunday School work being done in Cotes District.

I was treasurer also from 1932-1936. During this time $906.42 was paid into the treasury.

Many other things should be mentioned about the work, but space will not permit. I must, however, mention Mr. R. D. Wharton who has aided us in so many ways. His help has indeed been appreciated by the officers of the County council.

I sincerely feel that each convention was closed with the hope that during the coming year we would seek the leadership of Almighty God for greater results than ever before.

Manassas has won a place in the hearts of their neighbors from Washington, members of the Catholic Evidence Guild, for its kindly reception of them beginning last Saturday evening.

The guild will continue with their program this evening (Thursday) and will conclude their week's program tomorrow evening. The programs are presented in Courthouse square beginning at 7:30 and consist of music, lectures, and other instructional features.

Last Saturday evening's beginning program was attended by an audience estimated at 150. The music and lectures were conveyed through an amplifier and reached the automobile audience as well as those gathered on the square.

Harry J. Kirk, president of the guild, in his talk brought to the attention of the listeners the purpose of life as summed up in the two Commandments, love and service of our Creator and of our fellowmen. Miss Catherine Jarboe charmed the audience with an able presentation of the doctrine of the Communion of Saints, and Rev. Edward L. Stephens, of the St. Mary of the Highways Trailer Chapel made a most convincing appeal to all Americans, Catholic and Protestant alike, to make the practice of Christianity in their lives a shining light for all the world in these fearful times when God and Christianity are eclipsed in so many parts of the globe. Mr. Elliott Ferry gave two solos in which the audience joined, and musical records were played.

On Monday evening, after opening remarks by the Manassas pastor of All Saints Church, Rev. James J. Widmer, Miss Helen Connolly gave a very clear and scholarly explanation of tradition as a part of the deposit of Faith, and Daniel Egan showed the place of Mary, the Mother of God, in Catholic doctrine.

Very Rev. Vincent S. Waters, Chancellor of the diocese of Richmond, climaxed the evening's program with his lantern slide lecture on the life of Christ.

Dr. Edw. J. Heffron, executive secretary of the national council of Catholic men, was the chairman of Tuesday evening's session and gave an enlightening picture of "The Catholic Church in America". Dr. Heffron is a charter member of the Catholic Evidence Guild and has been a promoter of its active work of explaining the Faith in the public parks of Washington for the last eight years. He is in charge of the national Catholic Hour which has been sent out over NBC for the past ten years. He is a nationally known figure. Dr. Heffron was followed by Rev. Philip Hannon, of St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Baltimore. Father Hannon is recently returned from a four year stay in Rome and on the Continent of Europe and gave from first hand knowledge a most graphic talk on the Roman catacombs.

Rev. Stephen Landherr, of the Redemptorist Fathers of Washington, closed the speeches of the evening with an elucidation of the plan left by Christ for the direction of men's lives. Miss Mary Ellen Dashiell's telling of stories delighted children and grown-ups alike.

Last night the speakers were Francis Thornton, Madeline Kane, Andrew McHugh and Rev. Wilbur Wheeler, of St. Matthew's Cathedral, of Washington. These speakers all made an excellent impression. There was unusual interest in Father Wheeler's discussion because as a convert to Catholicism he was able to present both sides of the story.

Tonight Rev. A. J. McDonnell, C. S. P., of Catholic University, will act as chairman and will discuss the necessity of Baptism. He will present Miss Elizabeth Raney who will explain the Catholic doctrine on the saints, Harry J. Kirk on the ideal of Christian marriage, and Rev. James Canfield, of Holy Name Church, of Washington in an explanation of the Holy Eucharist.

Tomorrow night the week's meetings will close with a discussion by Rev. Dr. William H. Russell, professor of religion of Catholic University and Vice Moderator of the Guild, on "Jesus Christ, the Way, the Truth, and the Life". Dr. Russell is author of many volumes in this field of his specialty. He will be assisted by Charles Ferry on the marks of the church, and by Mrs. Linda M. O'Hara who will explain the union of all Christians in the Mystical Body of Christ. Mrs. O'Hara is a charter member of the Guild and its vice president and has given much time to the promotion of its activities. She is on the editorial staff of the National Center of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine and is widely known in the field of secular education as well, having spent many of her earlier years as a member of the faculty of the University of Minnesota.

The Guild is looking forward to meeting tonight and tomorrow night the audience it has learned to know. The Guild members count their Manassas experience one of the most delightful activities they have undertaken. The public is cordially invited to attend the meetings. Questions are gladly answered and there are no collections.

GOOD TIME TO IMPROVE SWINE HERDS

"Prices of purebred hogs tend to follow but lag somewhat behind those of market hogs in their upward and downward movement. It therefore appears to be an excellent time to buy purebred hogs for the improvement or establishment of herds", says G. C. Herring, animal husbandman, Virginia Agricultural Extension Division.

According to the June pig crop report, hog production in the United States is declining, having reached the peak of the production cycle in 1939. The 1940 pig crop is expected to be around 10 per cent less than that of 1939.

The spring pig crop of 1940 is estimated at 8 per cent smaller than that of 1939, and the number of sows to farrow in the fall of 1940 is indicated at 12 per cent below the preceding year. The Virginia spring pig crop is reported as 17 per cent, and the South Atlantic states as 19 per cent below those of 1939.

The low point in hog prices appears to have passed, as the bulk of the 1939 crop has now gone to market. Prices have already shown an inclination to respond to lessened receipts.

Careers in Engineering

By R. T. Strohm

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

ENGINEERING includes all activities that have to do with turning the natural forces and raw materials of nature to the use of man. The work of the engineer may be divided into seven general activities: (1) those who construct anything from airports to water works; (2) those who extract or mine anything, from coal to zinc; (3) those in public utilities such as electric light, gas, radio or television; (4) those in transportation, by any modern conveyance from trains to transoceanic clippers; (5) those in manufacturing machinery, electrical devices, chemicals, textiles, lumber, food or ceramics and workers of metals; (6) those in what might be called personal services, such as engineering of business enterprises; and (7) those engaged in agriculture and forestry.

There are opportunities for abilities in many special fields. Engineering covers such projects as research, design, development, experimentation, construction, manufacture, sales adaptation, application and operation.

Most engineering graduates believe in engineering training whether they follow engineering or branch into other activities. They feel that no other training gives so much value in mental discipline, in practical understanding of the world today, and in the opportunities to perform important work in this scientific age.

Millionth 1940 Chevrolet to be Contest Award

ONE MILLIONTH
CHEVROLET

Some conception of the demand for the 1940 Chevrolet may be gained from the fact that the one-millionth model of this year's production left the assembly line at Flint, Mich., on July 12. In celebration of the public appreciation reflected by this tremendous production record, M. E. Coyle, general manager of Chevrolet, shown (left) above with W. E. Heller, general sales manager, announced that the one-millionth 1940 car, together with a trip to the New York World's Fair, would be awarded in a contest which is open now and will close Aug. 31. Twenty-One Different Colors Used For Designating Radio Networks

"Red" and "Blue" Chains Originated When Telephone Engineers Drew Layout With Red and Blue Pencils

In this room, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's general radio control office, skilled technicians monitor radio programs and safeguard day and night their high quality transmission.

Telephone engineers responsible for arranging and maintaining radio networks in this country have to know their colors. It's necessary because the networks are designated by various shades. In addition to the "blue" and "red" networks, there are purple and gold, amber, slate, bronze, peach, maroon, green, brown, ivory, black, ebony, white, gray, russet, salmon, yellow, rose and violet ones—in all 21 networks, each designated by its particular hue.

The Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company which arranges and maintains the networks has six shades yet unassigned. They are azure, crimson, orange, scarlet, tan and silver. If the number of radio networks continue to grow, color experts can probably add other shades.

The idea of colors for designating networks originated with the Long Lines engineers. In drawing the layout for the first two NBC networks years ago, they used a blue pencil for one and a red for the other. Hence, NBC's blue and red networks of today.

The 21 existing networks are served by more than 55,000 miles of permanent broadcasting circuits, which are specially equipped telephone lines. In addition, the telephone company has some 38,000 miles of reserve circuits for augmenting the networks on special occasions and providing routes in emergencies.

Routing and rerouting of the major broadcasting circuits with split-second precision according to prearranged schedules, is handled in the company's general control office in New York City (as shown above). Technicians in charge of maintaining the programs and safeguarding the high quality transmission of them day and night, are guided not only by the familiar arrangement of jacks and plugs associated with each network, but also by the definite colors of each chain. This color appears on the metal card holder just above each jack by means of which a particular circuit is plugged into service.

COAST GUARD RESCUES
TRAWLER'S CREW AFTER RADIOTELEPHONE CALL

Strong Winds Force Vessel
Aground Near Ocracoke
Inlet, North Carolina

From the trawler "Albatross," out across the stormy waters of Ocracoke Inlet, N. C., and through the headset of Mrs. Sophie St. Pierre, Norfolk, Va., marine operator, recently went the call of distress of the ship radiotelephone service—"Mayday, Mayday, Mayday." The message received from the trawler's captain, Dan Hayman, was an urgent one. It read: "Strong winds have forced us aground off Ocracoke Inlet, N. C. The ship is breaking up—send help." Instantly the alert operator connected the call with the Coast Guard.

The cutter "Modoc" was dispatched to the aid of the stricken craft but due to the shallow water could be of little help. The Coast Guard headquarters in Norfolk called their Ocracoke Inlet station by land line, and rescuers were soon making efforts to launch their light surf boats in the rough water.

With Capt. Hayman on the "Albatross" were fourteen members of his crew and two passengers. All watched with anxious eyes the bobbing surf boats nearing their stranded craft.

Contact was soon made and while the "graveyard of the Atlantic" claimed another vessel, those aboard were placed ashore, praising highly the aid brought them so quickly by means of their ship radiotelephone.

TO TALK TO NEWSMEN

Address On Foreign Affairs Conveyed To Listeners By Means Of Telephone Setup

Newspaper men and radio commentators in the District of Columbia recently heard, by means of a telephone conference call hookup, an address from the Metropolitan Club in Washington by Gen. John F. O'Ryan, United States Army, retired, and former police commissioner of New York City.

The conference call, arranged and set up by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, made it possible for Gen. O'Ryan to discuss the present European situation and its effect on U. S. foreign policies with the newsmen located at various places in the nation's capital.

Included among those linked in the conference hookup were Paul Mellon, International News Service correspondent; Baukage, NBC commentator; Jay Franklin, free lance writer; Albert Warner, CBS commentator and representatives of the Associated and United Press.

Some 20 or 30 other newspaper men were present at the telephone conference to hear Gen. O'Ryan's address.

"SAFARI" IS SUSPENSEFUL AND INTRIGUING ROMANTIC DRAMA

Recommended as absorbing screen fare is Paramount's suspenseful and intriguing romantic drama, "Safari", co-starring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Madeleine Carroll, which opens next Thursday and Friday, August 1 and 2 at the Pitt's Theatre. Studied with exceptionally fine individual performances, and distinguished by an interesting and expertly devised story, it offers entertainment of a high order.

Briefly, the picture has to do with a wealthy, arrogant Baron — played by Tullio Carminati — who entertains as guests on his yacht Madeleine Carroll and Muriel Angelus. Madeleine is plotting to marry Carminati, but finally recognizes her only chance is to incite his jealousy. Arriving at M' Pola, West Africa, the starting point of a safari Carminati has planned, he is incensed because Fairbanks, whom he has hired to lead the expedition, does not meet the boat.

Fairbanks, a big game hunter, arrives that evening and further arouses Carminati's ire by ordering him from a table at a birthday party given to Lynne Overman, a Scotch trader. Fairbanks refuses to head the hunt but Madeleine, deeply interested in this self-sufficient young adventurer, talks him into shaking dice to decide the question. He loses and Madeleine joins the safari. She grasps the opportunity to play these two men against each other and precipitates a proposal from Carminati.

From his base camp Fairbanks decides to fly over the area the safari will travel, and Madeleine induces him to take her with him. Aware of her plan to use him, he tells her so and berates her unmercifully. By delaying their departure she prevents him from flying back to camp and they spend the night alone in the jungle.

They return in the morning to find Carminati insane with jealous rage, and Fairbanks learns that he has been responsible for the death of one of the native boys during a hunt the previous day. He savagely denounces Carminati, who demands that they start immediately on a lion hunt. Carminati intentionally wounds a lion and dares Fairbanks to go into the brush and finish the kill, a foolish and hazardous attempt.

Knowing that Carminati hopes for his death, Fairbanks emerges with a torn arm — angrily disbands the camp — and orders the safari back to M' Pola. After telling off both Madeleine and Carminati he planes back alone and prepares to fly to Europe and the war. In a series of fast-paced scenes the picture is brought to a dramatic climax.

IN MEMORIAM

 The world may change from year to year
 And friends from day to day.
 But never will the one we love
 From memory pass away.

Our hearts' still ache with sadness,
 Our eyes shed many tears,
 God only knows how we miss you,
 At the end of two sad years.

Your guiding light to keep me straight each night as I travel along life's way.
 Devoted friend,
 E. S. W.

FIREMEN'S

NEW MANAGER DISCUSSES SERVICES

W. G. Baylis, manager of the Social Security Board office, which opened at Alexandria on June 17, said today that most of the workers in this area already have obtained social security account numbers; but there is still a continuous demand for account numbers, due to the fact that many persons who have never before participated in the old-age and survivors insurance system are now finding jobs in employment that is covered by the act. Farm and domestic workers who are exempt from provisions of the Social Security Act are seeking work in industrial plants or with business concerns. High school and college graduates and many undergraduates who have never worked before are finding jobs in shops, mills, factories or business houses. All of these must be given social security account numbers, even though they work only a few weeks.

Mr. Baylis pointed out that each employer who is subject to the law sends his tax and his employees' taxes to the Government every three months, at which time he reports each employee's wages, giving the name and account number of the worker. If an employee fails to give his employer his proper social security account number, he may experience difficulty when the time comes to claim insurance payments. Such benefits are related to the worker's average monthly wage. If the Social Security Board's wage record for the worker is complete at the time he or his family file claim for benefits, it will be easy to determine the full amount of benefits to be awarded the claimant.

Mr. Baylis explained that when an insured worker dies, his widow should apply for insurance benefits at the Alexandria field office. At the field office she can fill out the necessary forms. These forms indicate the basis of her claim.

Some types of benefits are payable only when the claimant reaches the age of 65. Some are payable up until the time a young beneficiary reaches the age of 18. In such cases it is necessary to establish the age of the claimant in order to prove that he is qualified for benefits.

This proof of age is best established by a birth certificate or, where that is not obtainable, by a church record or a family Bible entry. Where these are not available, insurance records, army service records, other public records or other sources of information may be used in proving the age of the claimant.

The new field office of the Social Security Board at Alexandria will advise claimants on all problems concerned with old-age and survivors insurance in the counties in this area which were formerly served by the Washington, D. C., field office. Now, residents of these counties who wish to file claims, to obtain social security account numbers or to secure information about provisions of the Social Security Act should apply to the Alexandria office located in Room 313, Post Office Building.
