

HORSE SHOWS HONORS RETIRING OFFICIALS

A massive silver tray, appropriately inscribed, was presented yesterday by the Warrenton Horse Show Association, to retiring manager Frank D. Gaskins, who for more than forty years was an official of the well known organization.

Youthful president J. North Fletcher and secretary Mrs. James (Peggy Keith) Hamilton made the presentation in behalf of the association.

The handsome sterling tray is inscribed "To Frank D. Gaskins in grateful appreciation of his loyalty and zeal for over 40 years in behalf of the Warrenton Horse Show Association."

Mr. Gaskins served as secretary with ring manager duties until 1917 when he was made manager. This office he discharged with great credit to himself, the organization and most successfully until the annual membership meeting in early 1940, when by reason of pressure of the duties of his office as Justice of the Peace, "Fauquier's Marrying Official" and declining years the veteran show manager tendered his resignation which was accepted with great regret by the association.

He was succeeded by Francis T. Greene, of Warrenton and Washington, D. C. The Warrenton Association also lost another veteran officer two years ago when Julian C. Keith, president, resigned. He was presented by the association with a handsome silver pitcher. He was succeeded by J. North Fletcher, who was then secretary. Mr. Keith's daughter, Mrs. James Hamilton, was elected a director at the same meeting, the first woman to be so chosen for the Warrenton Association.

WILL PARTICIPATE IN WHITE TOP FOLK FESTIVAL

Four-H Clubs from every section of Virginia will participate in Young Folks' Day, August 15, of the White Top Folk Festival, on White Top Mountain near Abingdon, Virginia, Richard Chase, director of of young people's activities announced today. The festival will begin with this feature and last through August 17. Mr. Chase has been engaged for more than a year in the training of young people's groups among the 4-H clubs in play party and similar games.

A 4-H group from Albemarle County will perform several country dances as an exhibition on the festival program. Hill Massie, a leader of the Crozet 4-H Club of Albemarle County, will assist in opening the festival, Mr. Chase announces.

John Blakemore, business manager of the festival, has notified the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce that scores of distinguished guests, high in the musical world, will attend the festival this year. Reservations have been made by Dr. and Mrs. Reed Smith, of the University of South Carolina, Thomas B. Cross, of the Department of English of the University of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Storm Bull, of Chicago, Mrs. S. H. Dykstra, novelist, of Arlington, and many others. The festival will be directed by John Powell, famous pianist.

Much of Interest for Farm-Week Visitors in GM Fair Show

WHEN the farmers of America come to the World's Fair in New York during the week of August 12, which has been designated as "Farm Week at the Fair," one of the chief centers of interest and activity will be the popular General Motors Highways and Horizons exhibit. This exhibit houses the now-famous Futurama and a variety of other displays, many of which show the important role played by the farmer in the national welfare of our country.

Visited by more than 13,000,000 persons during the Fair last year and again playing host to capacity crowds of daily visitors, the Fair show has carried the message of the farmer's role in the scheme of American living to persons from all sections of the world. During "Farm Week" the entire personnel of the GM building will be on hand to greet and meet personally as many as possible of the thousands of rural guests expected to visit the Fair at that time, according to A. J. Schamehorn, general manager of the exhibit.

"One of the most important themes of our entire exhibit is the dramatization of the interdependence of the farmer and industry," Mr. Schamehorn said. "Every year millions of dollars worth of raw materials from the farm are used in the manufacture of motor-cars. The profit to the farmer from the purchase of these materials enables him to buy 'farm products' in return—not raw materials, but manufactured products which have been made up into a myriad of conveniences and necessities contributing to better living for the farmer and his family."

Mr. Schamehorn said he believed "Farm Week" visitors to the GM exhibit would be particularly interested in the great amount of attention devoted to the Futurama to the improvement of transportation facilities in rural areas and to the advancement in farm methods. "Naturally, we do not know that all of the things shown in the Futurama will be worked out exactly as they are shown," Mr. Schamehorn explained, "but we do feel that a great interest has been aroused in rural problems and possible improvements through the tremendous cross-section of people who have viewed the Futurama since the Fair opening last year." More than 100 new farm units were added to the Futurama this year—new homes, barns, sheds, livestock and rural villages. A highlight of the Futurama tour is a spectacular model experimental farm and dairy. Here fruit trees bear abundantly under individual glass housings. There is a modernistic chemical plant where plant-food chemicals are pumped through distributing troughs to trees and fields. In the world 20 years hence, the Futurama shows how farm products may be moved swiftly to outlying markets. Farm families are given new access to town and city conveniences made possible by highway engineering and the application of scientific research. In the popular science stage show, Previews of Progress, presented hourly in the GM Auditorium, "Farm Week" visitors will see and hear how new plastics are being made from farm products. Although no mere stunt show, this feature of the exhibit rivals anything on the midway for sheer entertainment.

HOT TIPS FOR WORLD'S FAIR TRIPS BY CHOLLY LASHER
I SET OUT to learn why so many folks are saying, "Hotel Pennsylvania is the place in New York for World's Fair visitors." Here's the glad news...
This great 2200-room hotel is tops in location. A passageway to Pennsylvania Station saves taxi fares and confusion. And special electric trains zip you to the Fair in 10 minutes for 10 cents. Broadway's one block away!
Next, I learned that you folks get a single room with private bath for $3.50. Take your wife and it's only $5.00. Bring the children, and you get a "family" room at surprisingly low rates. Better yet, on the "$10. Week-end Plan," both you and the Mrs. get a double room with bath for two full days and a night... plus a wonderful dinner at either the gay Pennsylvania Roof (Famous orchestras play for dancing!) or right at the Fair in the enchanting Roman House Restaurant... plus a fine breakfast in the Hotel... plus admissions to the Fair and to one principal attraction—all for a ten dollar bill. Include the youngsters for only $3.00 each. If you must go alone, it's only $6.00, single.
By auto, the Hotel's a cinch to reach. Special garage rates, too! For reservations, write or wire the Hotel. Or just "drop in."

TELEPHONE MEN RECEIVE MEDALS FOR HEROIC ACTS PERFORMED IN SAVING LIFE AND PROPERTY

Chatham, Va., Central Office Fire, Sailboat Explosion and Plane Crash Figure In Stories Behind Awards Presented To Four C. & P. Employees

Robert C. Atkins, manager at Madison for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of West Virginia, Samuel C. Horney of the Plaza central office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City, and Robert W. Edwards manager, and William L. Young, plant wire chief, Danville, of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia, have just been awarded bronze Vail medals in recognition of noteworthy public service rendered by them.

While fishing aboard his 43-foot motor boat anchored in Chesapeake Bay recently, Horney heard an explosion from the direction of a sailboat which was anchored about one and one-half miles north of his location. Mr. Horney at once headed his boat toward the scene, removed the only person aboard the craft, which was now enveloped in flames, and then with his party fought the flames until they were extinguished. After administering first aid to the badly burned victim, he rushed him to shore for hospital treatment.

over icy roads, entered the flaming building twice to recover valuable records. Shortly after this the ceiling of the building collapsed. The records recovered by R. V. Edwards Edwards and Young were of great value in the prompt restoration of telephone service. Vail medal awards are made annually and are provided by the fund created as a memorial to Theodore N. Vail, one-time president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. The medals are in recognition of the most conspicuous examples of loyalty and devotion to service that are daily occurrences among telephone employees throughout the Bell System.

OUR HEAVENLY FATHER
By Algia A. Martin

Who is it loves us one, and all
Tries to keep us from a fall?
And by us does the very best,
Tries to guide and keep us at rest?
Our Heavenly Father.

Whom, when we're hungry, do us
feed?
Then give us more from its seed?
Who is as kind as kind as can be?
When we are on a turbulent sea?
Our Heavenly Father.

who when all seem dark as night?
Tells us to keep on all will be bright?
When we are tired, and losing our will,
Tells us to keep on, there's work still?
Our Heavenly Father.

Who will help if we ask him to share?
And give strength our burdens to bear?
And who is it knows the very best?
When to take his children, home to rest?
Our Heavenly Father.

WORLD TELEPHONE NEWS EXCHANGES

Virginia Beach... Mrs. Edith... telephone switchboard operator... responsible for the recent apprehension of a burglar. Seeing a light flash on her switchboard and noting that it came from a pay station in a closed summer hotel, she decided to investigate and in a few minutes the hotel was surrounded by police and the burglar caught. The quick-thinking of Mrs. Currie proves that the switchboard operator is more than a "hello girl."

Winnipeg... A telephone unit, manufactured in England, has been installed on an American-La France aerial ladder used by the fire department of Winnipeg, Canada. It is believed that this is the first unit so equipped on the North American continent. This equipment makes it possible for a man on top of a ladder to communicate what he sees of the progress of a fire to the ground crew. As the ladder is drawn up or lowered a drum automatically pays out or winds up the telephone cable. With the trend toward longer ladders, telephone communication has become more important.

Lincoln... Miss Myra Underhill, night operator at the York exchange of the Lincoln (Neb.) Telephone and Telegraph Company, sensed something was wrong recently at the home of Dr. C. N. Holmsted when the light on her switchboard kept flashing. Knowing the family was out of the city, she called police who found a brisk fire in progress. The fire had short circuited the telephone wiring which caused the signal on the switchboard.

Greenwich... Advice given over the telephone on how to apply a tourniquet saved the life of Irving Austin of Greenwich, Conn., after he had suffered a deep cut on one leg while operating a buzzsaw near his home. Alone when the accident happened, Austin dragged himself fifty yards to his home, where he telephoned police who told him to apply a tourniquet until the arrival of an ambulance.

East Waterloo... The East Waterloo, Iowa, independent school board recently approved plans for taking classroom recitations directly to crippled shut-in children by telephone. Equipment has been installed which will permit the shut-in child in the home to hear all of the classroom instruction and ask questions of the teacher. The state board of education provided the equipment.

Careers in Engineering
By R. T. Strohm
Dean, International Correspondence Schools

ENGINEERING includes all activities that have to do with turning the natural forces and raw materials of nature to the use of man. The work of the engineer may be divided into seven general activities: (1) those who construct anything from airports to water works; (2) those who extract or mine anything, from coal to zinc; (3) those in public utilities such as electric light, gas, radio or television; (4) those in transportation, by any modern conveyance from trains to transoceanic clippers; (5) those in manufacturing machinery, electrical devices, chemicals, textiles, lumber, food or ceramics and workers of metals; (6) those in what might be called personal services, such as engineering of business enterprises, and (7) those engaged in agriculture and forestry.

There are opportunities for abilities in many special fields. Engineering covers such projects as research, design, development, experimentation, construction, manufacture, sales adaptation, application and operation.

Most engineering graduates believe in engineering training whether they follow engineering or branch into other activities. They feel that no other training gives so much value in mental discipline, in practical understanding of the world today, and in the opportunities to perform important work in this scientific age.

THE ARMY PAID

A sergeant of Coast Artillery Corps kept an itemized account of his earnings during his thirty years of service and found that the Army really paid.

Here is the sergeant's most interesting record:

When he enlisted in 1908, the pay of a private soldier was $13.00 per month; today the minimum is $21.00 upon enlistment and $30.00 per month as soon as the grade of first class private is reached. His latter grade, in these days of Army expansion and rapid promotion, is frequently attained in a surprisingly brief period with a chance for several specialist ratings to be added within a few months. It is well to have these comparisons of earnings in mind when the sergeant's figures are quoted.

During his 30 years he gives as gross earnings $74,093.17, this imposing figure being arrived at by adding his actual cash received to the various allowances for clothing, medical attention, travel, etc., normally allotted to a soldier by the Regulations. This averages up to $205.81 per month for the entire 30 years, a very tempting income even in this day and age. During this period he added a knowledge of steam and electrical engineering to his military training which he says is still paying dividends. At 50 he now finds himself in perfect health, due to his Army training, with an income of $133.87 per month for the balance of his life, added to his earning capacity in the field for which he has been trained.

To the young man in quest of a future, the United States Army unquestionably offers much food for thought. For with good behavior and application to his duties, any one enlisting today can duplicate the earnings of this now retired sergeant. Any recruiting officer will gladly give information about the opportunities open to young men of today.

SERVICES 3 TIMES DAILY EXCEPT SATURDAY 10 A. M. - 7 P. M. - 8 P. M.

REV. A. H. SALTER, Pastor
 Come and hear the full Gospel preached—Salvation through the merits of the Lord Jesus Christ. Healing for the Bodies as well as the souls of men; Baptism in the Holy Ghost as the Christian's source of power, The Second Coming of Christ as our Blessed Hope.

"Rev. L. S. Evans, is a capable, fearless, uncompromising, convincing preacher of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. He has counted the cost. His consecration is deep and thoroughly sincere. He loves the power of God; honors the leadership of the Holy Spirit in his services, and the signal blessing of God has rested upon his labors".

"We have had Rev. L. S. Evans in two successful revivals. His experience as a Baptist Minister for 23 years plus the Baptism of the Holy Spirit makes him an outstanding Minister of the Lord Jesus Christ".

Says Rev. E. L. Tanner, former District Supt. in Louisiana and now Pastor, First Assembly Church, West Monroe, La.

The church that is not too big to appreciate you, but big enough to help you.
