WEEK OBSERVED

Governor Calls On All Virginians To Stand At Attention

Thousands of Business men throughout Virginia this week will receive copies of the Virginia Bill of Rights, the Virginia Statute for Religious Freedom, the Declaration of Independence and the Monroe Doctrine from the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, as a contribution by this organization to the cause of national defense. The documents in question are contained in the September issue of "The Commonwealth", publication of the State Chamber, which also contains a proclamation by Governor James H. Price, calling upon Virginians to restudy the foundations of our national existence and rededicate themselves to the principles enunciated in the documents in question. Governor Price has designated the week of September 2 through 8 as Rededication Week.

"This is no time for petty quarreling or small-minded quibbling," Virginius Dabney, editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, states in an editorial in the issue.

"The United States of America is menaced as it has seldom been menaced in its entire history, and each of us must contribute whatever he can toward the nation's safety. We must act in the realization that no state has played a worthier role than Virginia in the defense and the building of America."

"Mason's trial by jury, his prosecution of cruel and unusual punishments and his freedom of the press would be only a memory if this country fell beneath the swastika and the gestapo. Jefferson's passion for liberty of thought, conscience and action would be a hollow mockery, under such circumstances, and the historic thesis enunciated by Monroe that we consider the extension of European systems to this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety, would be the subject of boisterous Teutonic laughter."

"Freedom for America is a heritage bequeathed to the nation by patriotic, devoted and courageous men in both the North and the South. No section or state can claim to be its only source or repository. Yet none can deny the glorious role which Virginia has played in preserving and guarding that heritage for posterity."

"Today, as this country moves into uncharted and dangerous seas, and prepares for any eventuality, Virginia's sons can be relied upon for the utmost in sacrificial service. There is a noble tradition, and they will respond as their forebears have done in all the great crises of American history."

Also included in the number is a section describing how to volunteer for national defense service and describing the various services open to volunteers, the locations of enlistment offices and the compensation offered to volunteers.

HOTTLE-KELLER REUNION

The nineteenth annual reunion of the Hottle-Keller memorial Association was held on August 23 at Toms Brook, near Woodstock, Va., where Johannes Hottle and his pioneer followers made the first permanent settlement in the Shenandoah Valley in 1740.

The old Hottle homestead, now owned by W. J. Keller, Jr., will be made a shrine by this association where family records may be collected and preserved. It stands on the spot where the historic old Johannes Hotel was located.

Attending the reunion from Manassas were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Breeden, Miss Ila and Tommy Breeden, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Breeden and sons, Charles, Earl and Earl; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Breeden, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Hottle, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hottle and family, Miss Bertha Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Runaldue and family.

The reunion was attended by 720 persons representing twelve states and two foreign countries. Many relics of the earlier days were seen including a Bible dated 1687 and brought to this country from Holland in 1759.

It was announced that Mr. Harry L. Keller, of Plant City, Florida, was preparing a book on the Keller branch of the family.

BUSINESS MEN GUESTS AT N. Y. A. SCHOOL

The Prince William County Chamber of Commerce held its Tuesday luncheon meeting at the N. Y. A. school in Manassas, the members being the guests of Prof. Jakeman and the faculty. President C. C. Cloe presided.

After a splendid repast which was prepared and served by the students under instruction of Miss Pearman, a vote of thanks was offered by Dr. George B. Cocke, to the faculty and especially Miss Pearman.

R. J. Ratcliffe reported a move to construct a sample home in the town. The committee was continued to the next meeting.

Following the luncheon, the entire group was taken through the rejuvenated halls of old Eastern College in which the present government school is located. The difference made in just a few weeks seems wonderful, and all the guest enjoyed the occasion to the fullest.

REGULAR MEETING WOMAN'S CLUB

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club will be held at the Parish Hall on Monday, September 9, at 2:30 p. m.

Dr. Freeman delivers picturesque eulogy of great Southerner

"Stonewall" Jackson never stood before his people in greater glory than on Saturday afternoon last when his praises were rehearsed by some of Virginia's most eminent citizens.

Following the invocation by Bishop Tucker, Senator Henry T. Wickham, president of the Virginia State Senate, and a boy at the close of the War between the States, gave a splendid retrospection of his memories of the Old South and its leaders, especially his cousin, General Robert E. Lee.

Always a gifted speaker, Senator Wickham poured forth a wealth of golden phrases, uplifting in their interpretation of the tradition of the South and its splendid history.

One fact of interest developed was that at the two battles of Manassas, practically every great Southern leader took part, something which occurred nowhere else in the entire war.

Following on the program was Governor Price who gave much of the specific data in connection with the victories won by Jackson in July 1861 and August 1862.

The monument was then unveiled by Miss Julia Preston, great grand daughter of General Jackson and Miss Anne Hooe Rust, daughter of former State Senator John W. Rust, presiding officer on the occasion.

Playing of "Dixie and "God Bless America" by the Quantico Band, along with other numbers added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The high point of the whole afternoon was the address by Dr. Douglas Freeman, noted editor and historiographer.

Dealing with the hero of the occasion, "Old Jack", he left the beaten paths of exact data to give an idealistic picture of the heart of the Confederacy, namely its great military strategist.

He gave a stirring picture of the simple faith of the man and his stern perseverance. Other traits were also developed such as his simplicity and utter courage, and unusual adherence to discipline. Discipline, he stated, is one of the crying needs of the present hour.

Jackson's ability to gauge his line of battle and to maneuver into it was described by Dr. Freeman who graphically pictured the scene of the first battle as Jackson found it, and how he sensed the position from which the fight was to be won, and how taking that stand could not be shaken.

She was a faithful wife, a devoted mother, a friend to all who knew her. Funeral services were held in old Ramoth Church where most of her girlhood days were spent. Interment was made in the cemetery nearby.

The many beautiful floral tributes bore mute evidence of the love and esteem in which the deceased was held both in the neighborhood of Aden where she has resided since her marriage and in Stafford where she was born and raised. She also leaves two sisters; Bettie A. Wine, and Mrs. Ethel L. Raines, of Stafford, Va.; and four brothers, Rev. W. T. Wine, of Independent Hill; Marcellus M. ## TO PREPARE THOUSANDS FOR FLYING

National Aeronautics Council Plans Course Under Military, Naval and Civil Experts

GEN. JAMES E. FECHET (Ret.)

THE National Aeronautics Council has just launched a movement to teach aviation in its various branches to thousands of young men and women, under the guidance of recognized experts who are officials of civilian flying services as well as ranking officers, or ex-officers, of the Army and Navy. The individual cost will be nominal—only twenty-five cents a week. The plan has in mind the many youths who are enthusiastic of the subject of becoming pilots or seeking careers in airport work or airplane manufacturing, but who cannot afford a flying school course, or who are in localities where aviation training schools are not available. It aims to present by mail the numerous preparatory steps in "ground school" work and emphasizes the point that a flying aspirant must learn a great many things on the ground before being fitted to sit at the controls of a plane.

General James E. Fechet, retired, formerly Chief of Air Corps, U. S. Army, heads the Editorial Board. Captain Holden C. Richardson, formerly with the Bureau of Aeronautics, U. S. Navy, and who piloted the famous NC-3 on its trans-Atlantic flight in 1931, is one of the advisory experts for naval aviation.

Dr. Alexander Klemm, chairman of the Engineering Department, Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics, New York University, is an advisory expert for civil aviation. Coordinating the work of these and numerous other experts, as general editor, is Don Ryan Mookler, well known throughout the aviation industry for the part he has played in its astounding growth. Among those who will contribute the benefit of their varied experience in the form of lectures and specialized instruction are Col. Harold E. Hartney, who was commander of the First Pursuit Group, A.E.F.; Col. Roger Q. Williams, pioneer trans-Atlantic pilot; R. W. Schroeder, vice-president, United Air Lines; Dr. Jean Piccard, professor of aeronautical engineering, University of Minnesota, and some sixty other aviation executives and experts. Many enthusiasts who do not aspire to become army pilots (perhaps because of age or slight physical defects) nevertheless may find the job they would fit in the humming atmosphere of the private or commercial airport. They may get the fundamental knowledge required for airplane engineering, designing or production department personnel, or for aerial photographer, radio operator, or even forty other jobs about the flying field. More than 1,500 photographs, charts and diagrams will have to be studied by the students in the course of mastering some 1,000 lectures; likewise air photos and working maps of the twenty-four principal American airports and others. All of these, however, are to be clearly and painstakingly explained in simple phraseology, as are more than 3,000 pages of instruction text.

Aviation authorities estimate that 900,000 or more trained men and women will be absorbed by civil and government air branches within the next twelve months. Particulars may be obtained from, and applications for the course made with, the National Aeronautics Council, Instructional Department, 37 West 47th St., New York, N. Y.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 8.

The Golden Text will be "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God; and if children, then heirs, heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ" (Rom. 8:16, 17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God" (I Cor 2:9, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "God expresses in man the infinite idea forever developing itself, broadening and rising higher and higher from a boundless basis. We know no more of man as the true divine image and likeness, than we know of God" (p. 258).

ATHLETICS UNDER WAY AT WILLIAM AND MARY

Thirty-eight William and Mary varsity football players have been invited to report to Coach Carl Marvin Voyles for fall practice on September 2—just 18 days before the Indians' opener with N. C. State in Norfolk.

Coach Voyles, opening his second season as head coach at William and Mary, will have a working nucleus of 13 lettermen led by captain-elect Charlie Gondak, an All-State end selection in 1939.

Nine lettermen were lost from last year's squad, either by graduation or because of scholastic deficiencies. Lettermen missing will include John Dillard and Ray Stephens, tackles; George McComb and Clyde Ramsey, guards; Rudy Tucker, center; Harold Burchfield, Lloyd Phillips and Ben Simpson, backs, and Gus Twiddy, who played both line and backfield last year.

Returning lettermen are: backs, Waldo Matthews, Harrie Masters, Jimmy Howard, Jim Hickey, Howard Hollingsworth; ends, Charlie Gondak, Al Chestnut; center, Bill Goodlow; guards, John Brodka and Ed Goodlow; tackles, Hank Whitehouse and Cary Berry.

Promising looking sophomores this year will include Harvey Johnson, Harold Fields and Johnny Korczowski, backs; Howard Fiery, center; Gerald Ramsey, guard; and Russell Hammond and Marvin Bass, tackles.

Whether these sophomores will develop into useful varsity material this year is problematical, according to Coach Voyles, and it won't be until the week of through N. C. State game that he'll know what new faces will be seen in the Tribe's starting lineup.

Most of the kicking and passing this year will likely be divided between Jimmy Howard and Waldo Matthews. Harold Burchfield, one of the finest kickers and passers on the squad last year, won't be back for the 1940 campaign. Burchfield was the lad who ran 54 yards for William and Mary's touchdown against the Navy last year.

There will be only one change in the William and Mary coaching staff this year. Richard Gallagher, who has coached at Irontown, (Ohio) High School for the past seven years, will replace Joe Flickinger as varsity trainer.

All other members of the staff—Rube McCray, Pop Werner, Dwight Stuessy, Eric Tipton and Eddie Motley—will return for the 1940 season. McCray and Werner are Voyles' varsity assistants, and Tipton and Motley are assistants to freshman coach Dwight Stuessy.

William and Mary's 1940 schedule is as follows:

September 20—N. C. State at Norfolk (night game).

September 28—Navy at Annapolis.

October 5—Apprentice School at Williamsburg.

October 12—V. P. I. at Richmond.

October 19—Hampton-Sydney at Williamsburg.

October 26—Virginia at Williamsburg (Homecoming).

VIRGINIA FARMERS BOOST WHEAT YIELDS 73%, SURVEY SHOWS

Father and son inspect a bumper crop. Inset (1) Unfertilized root system, (2) fertilized root system gives strength to enable plant to go through the winter with less loss.

Virginia farmers who use fertilizer increase their wheat yields by 8 bushels per acre on the average, or 73 per cent, according to a recent national survey in which 32,000 farmers told of their experience with fertilizer. The wheat growers who were interviewed verified on their own farms the results achieved at experiment stations, which show that wheat is very responsive to fertilizer.

In addition to the increase in yield, 73 per cent of the farmers who were interviewed in 17 States reported better market quality; 85 per cent had noticed that fertilized crops got a quicker start; 45 per cent observed that crops were more resistant to disease; and 76 per cent reported that crops matured earlier.

Experiments carried on at experiment stations show that generally the best place in a crop rotation to make a liberal application of fertilizer is on wheat. In addition to increasing the yield and quality of the grain, fertilizer promotes a vigorous growth and larger yield of the clover or other hay crop which follows, which in turn benefits the crop coming next in the rotation.

Virginia farmers can substantially reduce their cost of wheat production per bushel by increasing their yield. In the eastern part of the United States it costs on the average around $15 to grow an acre of wheat, regardless of yield. If the yield is 15 bushels the cost is $1 per bushel; if the yield is 10 bushels the cost jumps $1.50 per bushel; while a 30 bushel yield reduces the cost to 50 cents. The value of the increased wheat yield in Virginia resulting from the use of fertilizer is equivalent to about $1.54 for each dollar spent for fertilizer.

Fertilizer Prices Low Despite War

Contrary to the sharp advance in price of fertilizer during the last World War, demands of the present war and national defense program have not so far boosted the cost of fertilizer to the farmer.

"New developments in science and technology such as the production of synthetic nitrogen have reduced production costs and prices," says the United States Department of Agriculture in a report which also points out that according to 1910-1914 average the price of fertilizer is considerably lower than the prices of most commodities bought by farmers.

Farmers in the eastern part of the United States in 1939 spent on the average only 4.4 cents of each dollar of farm cash income for fertilizer. If the price of fertilizer had been the same as in 1929 it would have taken 5.8 cents, while if farmers were paying 1920 prices their fertilizer purchases would have taken 8.2 cents of each dollar.

Even though the price paid for fertilizer has declined substantially during the past 20 years, the amount of plant food contained in a ton of fertilizer is now 9 per cent greater than it was in 1930 and 40 per cent greater than in 1920. Fertilizer has also been improved in quality in other ways.

"LILLIAN RUSSELL" AT PITT'S THEATRE NEXT WEEK

The life and loves of Lillian Russell, "the most beautiful woman in America", have been made into one of the greatest pictures of all time by Producer Darryl F. Zanuck. Opening Monday and Tuesday, September 9 and 10 at the Pitt's Theatre, Zanuck's production, "Lillian Russell" features Alice Faye in the title role, with Don Ameche, Henry Fonda and others.

It is a motion picture that brings out the strength of Hollywood, for "Lillian Russell" has everything: Drama, comedy, pathos, action, color—all have been deftly blended to make a superb picture that will keep you absorbed and fascinated from start to finish. "Lillian Russell" revives many of the many of the popular song hits of her day, including "After The Ball Is Over", "Rosie, You Are My Posie", "My Evening Star" and "The Band Played On" ("Strawberry Blond").

Lillian Russell was the most colorful of all the personalities of the most fabulous era America ever knew. She lived a vivid life that lends itself to screen adaptation and Zanuck has spun a really great motion picture about her life and loves.

Blonde Alice Faye more than justifies the faith Zanuck placed in her when he chose her to portray the great Lillian Russell. Her acting reaches an all-time high and her charm and her singing voice heighten the triumph.

Don Ameche gives another excellent performance in the role of Edward Solomon, Lillian Russell's composer husband. Henry Fonda proves once more his rare talents in the role of Alexander Moore, the Pittsburgh newspaper publisher, who also became Lillian Russell's husband.

Edward Arnold, as Diamond Jim Brady, another of her countless admirers, Warren William as Jesse Lewisohn, the copper king, Leo Carrillo as Tony Pastor, the Ziegfeld of his era and "discoverer" of Lillian Russell, all give memorable performances.

Others who stand out in the star-studded cast are Helen Westly, Dorothy Peterson, Ernest Truex, Nigel Bruce, Claude Allister, Lynn Bari, Weber and Fields, Tddie Foy, Jr., Una O'Connor and Joseph Cawthorn.

Two new songs were written especially for "Lillian Russell", "Adored One", by Alfred Newman and Mack Gordon, and "Blue Love Bird", by Gus Kahn and Bronislau Kaper.

Irving Cummings directed this entertainment masterpiece with an unerring eye, from a superb screen play at William Anthony McGuire. Gene Markey was associate producer.

A FAIR EXCHANGE

No true American can contemplate the advantages of the exchange which has just been made between the United States and Great Britain without a deep sense of satisfaction.

We need those air bases just as badly as England needs the fifty over-aged destroyers which we have transferred, and our gain in national defense facilities will become increasingly valuable, until we will eventually marvel that we could have made such a rare bargain.

There will be enemies of our national safety who will wail about this transfer amounting to an act of war, but for them we may well reply that if Adolf Hitler's attitude toward the United States makes of this peaceful deal a cause for hostilities, it is well that we have proceeded as soon as we have to unite defense measures with those who are now fighting, to prevent world-wide destruction of the kind of freedom that we enjoy.

Nothing that Roosevelt has done since he has been President has been so gratifying, especially to the South, and we are in a mood to forgive much, so long as he courageously labors to unite the physical force of the Western Hemisphere to withstand the awful menace which has arisen against all free people regardless of where they live, or under whose flag they seek to preserve the safety of their homes and firesides.

STONEWALL JACKSON

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: On August 31 a belated recognition of a great hero was unveiled on the Manassas battlefield. In spite of the threatening weather, a large crowd assembled to pay honor to one of the greatest soldiers of any age—a military leader of such caliber that he is recognized by emulation in every war college in the world—Stonewall Jackson.

Surely he is important enough to have a memorial in granite and bronze all to himself. But no. The statue also carries the names of two Virginia Governors and three State senators.

Wake up Virginia. Are you erecting monuments to heroes of the past, or to living politicians?

MRS. LUTHER MILLER

Mrs. Mary Alice Fox Miller, wife of Mr. Luther Miller, passed away at her home on Centreville Road near Manassas, Va., Sunday morning, September 1, 1940, aged 63 years, 2 months and 28 days.

The deceased was born June 3, 1877 and was the daughter of the late John W., and Emma Jane Fox, of Luray, Va.

She joined the Evangelical Lutheran Church, May 19, 1894 and was confirmed by Rev. J. N. Stirewalt. She was married to Solomon Luther Miller on April 1, 1903, Rev. J. N. Stirewalt, officiating. The couple resided in Page County until the year of 1918, when they moved to Prince William County near Manassas, and have since lived in that community.

Two daughters and seven sons were born to this union, all of whom survive, except two sons who died in infancy, Robert and Ray Benton. Besides her husband, her surviving relatives are: two daughters, Mrs. Viola Payne, of Haymarket, R. F. D., and Mrs. Eula Pattie, of Triangle, Va.; five sons: Messrs. Leo, John, Russell, Floyd and Franklin Miller, all of Manassas. Five grand daughters and seven grand sons. Charles, Amos and Kirby Fox, of Luray; Messrs. Elmer and Raymond Fox, of Manassas.

The deceased was a woman of many beautiful traits, a lovely Christian character, being faithful to her friends and devoted to her family. The tenderness with which the family returned this love was shown by their devotion to her and by their untiring efforts to attend her every need and to relieve her of all possible suffering during her long illness. She peacefully fell asleep early Sunday morning at 12:15 o'clock.

The funeral was conducted from her late home by George D. Baker, Sons, of Manassas, and her remains were taken back to her girlhood home and services held in the Morning Star Church by her pastor, Rev. A. W. Balentine, of Manassas, assisted by Rev. B. D. Castor, of Luray, and the body was laid to rest in the adjacent cemetery at the foot of the beautiful mountain by the side of her infant sons. The pallbearers were her nephews: Robert Fox, Marvin Fox and Charles Miller, of Manassas; Edgar Fox, Paul Miller and Lynn Finter, of Luray.

The great abundance of beautiful flowers were borne by her nieces: Misses Frances and Elizabeth Miller and Audrey Evans, of Manassas; Effie Judd, Reva Short, Kathleen Griffith, Carrie Fox, Vivian Miller, of Luray; Nina Wagner, Harrisonburg; and Eula Griffith, of Washington.

The sympathy of many friends is extended to the bereaved family. "To live in hearts we leave behind, is not to die."

HAYMARKET

Miss Cora Fitzhugh, of Baltimore, paid a short visit to her cousins, the Misses Buckner last week.

Rev. W. F. Carpenter returned on Friday from a ten days' stay in Warrenton, N. C., where he was the guest of Rev. B. C. Wagner.

Mrs. Jean Clarkson Robertson, who spent the summer in Haymarket with Mrs. J. W. Gerrett, has returned to Raleigh, N. C., for the winter. Mrs. Elizabeth Kannard, of Richmond, who also was here in the summer with Mrs. Carrut, has returned to her home.

We understand that Mr. and Mrs. John Piercy, Jr., have bought the farm recently owned by the late Mr. Rolfe Robinson, on the Carolina road near Woodsley, where they will make their home.

Mr. R. A. Todd, of Staunton, is here for a visit to his sister, Mrs. A. R. G. Bass.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tulloss and two little boys and Mr. Stuart Tullose, all of Washington, were guests on Sunday of Dr. and Mrs. Albert R. B. Rust.

Brig-Gen. R. H. Jordan and wife spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. W. M. Jordan.

Mr. James Gosson is having built on the lot next to where he lives a small hut very attractive residence, with furnace, bath and all improvements. We understand it will be for rent and will no doubt soon be occupied as such houses are more or less in demand in our village and community.

Travel is much on the increase through Haymarket as the most direct route to the park, caverns, and other attractions to this part of the country.

VIRGINIA VOLUNTEERS
803 IN AUGUST

Again, as in July, Virginia broke the State recruiting record with 803 volunteers answering the call. Since the Nation's Defense Campaign began in early July, Virginia has volunteered 1,418 young men. This two months total exceeds the yearly output on several occasions.

The Recruiting Service is beginning to see the results of the State-wide co-operation of our many civic and business organizations and if this publicity is continued we feel certain that Virginia will exceed her quota in building up the Army to its new authorized strength.

Today the Army is accepting new recruits, training them and when their enlistments expire gives back to the communities in the State men trained as; Bakers, Bricklayers, Carpenters, Draftsmen, Electricians, Machinists, Meteorologists, Pilots, Radio Operators, Stenographers and many other specialists that make up a more civilized world. In addition to this varied training these patriotic boys are trained as soldiers who make up the backbone of our National Defense.

Young men of military age we are paging you—you may obtain additional information from our Recruiting Stations located in Richmond, Norfolk, Danville, Lynchburg, Roanoke, Bristol, Norton, Staunton and Fredericksburg.

LUKAS DENIES COMEBACK!

Meet a celebrated and popular actor with a grievance. Meet — in other words—Mr. Paul Lukas, whose plaint seems to be well-founded. Giving voice to his protest in calm but positive sentences, Lukas says that he resents the implication that he is staging a comeback in the theatrical profession in general, and the screen in particular. Nothing could be further from the facts, he insists.

This disclaimer, while made on Stage 5 at the Paramount studio in Hollywood, was not inspired by the role he was playing in the Bob Hope-Paulette Goddard mystery-comedy-thriller, "The Ghost Breakers", which opens Thursday and Friday, September 12 and 13, at the Pitt's Theatre, but rather because he was finally becoming convinced that the time had come for him to rise up and scotch a silly impression that somehow had gained foothold in the film capital.

"People are coming to me", complained Mr. Lukas, "saying with deepest sincerity: 'Paul, we certainly hope your comeback is a success'. Now I ask you, how can a man come back from some place where he has never been? To be sure I was away from Hollywood for a year, but I was in the Theatre, working successfully and lucratively all during that year. I might point out that prior to my present assignment in "The Ghost Breakers" I played in "Strange Cargo", before that in "Captain Fury" and, even before that, in "Confessions of a Nazi Spy". And that is not either idling or going away, as the expression seems to have been".

The talented character actor pointed out that he went to London in 1936 to accept a most attractive contract, and played there in 14 pictures, including "The Lady Vanishes" and "Dinner at the Ritz". Following 26 weeks on Broadway in "The Doll's House", he made a personal appearance tour of the principal cities of the East and mid-West. Which is hardly what could be termed being "at liberty"—or something from which a successful actor would want to "come back".

In "The Ghost Breakers", which was directed by George Marshall from a screenplay by Walter DeLeon, based on a play by Paul Dickey and Charles W. Goddard, Lukas portrays a Cuban consulate official who has designs on a haunted, and ghost-ridden castle in Cuba which is inherited by Miss Goddard, who defies warnings and threats and, bulwarked by gag-and-gun assistance of Bob Hope, routs her enemies, ancestral wraiths and a murderer or two, to reach a denouement which is said to have baffled some of the world's best mystery-solvers.

Industry Ready to "Keep 'em Rolling" for Defense

Graphic illustration of the way in which one of America's greatest industries gears its activities with the United States Army for national defense is found at Little Falls, Minn., where the greatest peacetime maneuvers in the history of the country are being held Aug. 3—Aug. 24. To "keep them rolling," Chevrolet, one of the largest suppliers of motor transport equipment to the nation's armed forces, has set up through one of its dealers, the Bert Boston Motor Co., of Minneapolis, a complete parts and service headquarters in the military reservation at Little Falls. More than $10,000 worth of parts is maintained at this depot, where three service representatives are on duty 24 hours daily to service Chevrolet equipment in use. The 85,000 troops in actual combat maneuvers will use 1,180 Chevrolet transport units, including officers' cars, reconnaissance cars, hundreds of trucks adapted to special uses, and military ambulances.

Lower left is Lieut.-Col. R. F. Rosenberg, of the Minnesota National Guard Quartermaster Corps. ### PICTURESQUE DRAMA AT LOCAL THEATRE

Deeper in danger and luckier in love, O. Henry's romantic rogue of the Rio Grande, the Cisco Kid, is at his "fightin'est" in his latest adventure "Lucky Cisco Kid". The romantic, exciting and action-packed 20th Century-Fox film which pre-viewers have acclaimed is far the best of the series to date, opens Wednesday, September 11, at the Pitt's Theatre.

Handsomeness Cesar Romero is back again in the featured role as the Cisco Kid. Dashing, colorful and capable, he has become a fixture for the famous character created by the master short-story writer O. Henry. In his newest adventure, Romero is said to hit a new peak for his portrayals. Gay and daring, with an eye for lovely señoritas, he has made the Cisco Kid one of the best-loved Western characters on the screen.

"Lucky Cisco Kid", loaded with action, is set in an Arizona town which is terrorized by raiders. The fireworks begin when Cisco and his partner Gordito (Chris Pin-Martin) enter the town. A killer beats Cisco to the draw. A bandit steals his name. A jealous señorita has him at her mercy. But how the Cisco Kid lives to laugh at them all makes for thrilling entertainment. Moving fast with interest sustained throughout, the picture smashes its way to a surprising climax.

An excellent cast of featured players has been assembled. Beautiful and blonde Mary Beth Hughes, one of the 20th Century-Fox studio's most promising young players, heads the list. Before appearing in "Lucky Cisco Kid" she played in "Star Dust" and then in "Four Sons" in which she took a long step forward with a beautiful performance. She is very well cast in "Lucky Cisco Kid" as an Arizona dance hall siren-songstress in love with the gay caballero.

Other players featured prominently in "Lucky Cisco Kid" are: Dana Andrews, who is heralded as a very capable newcomer; Evelyn Venable, core beautiful and charming than ever, and Chris-Pin Martin as the Cisco Kid's popular lieutenant Gordito, rotund maker of laughs. H. Bruce Humberstone directed from a screen play by Robert Ellis and Helen Logan. John Stone was associate producer.

NEW PLANE SERVICE BRINGS NORTH, SOUTH AMERICAS CLOSER TOGETHER

With a German drive for economic and political, if not actual physical domination of South America gaining headway, any steps toward increasing the bonds between the American nations and of cutting down trade and communications barriers between them are regarded as of vital importance. The inaugural flight of this new service, is described by a writer of The Washington Evening Star, who made the flight, in an illustrated feature article appearing next Sunday in The Sunday Star.

Field inspection by State Inspectors showed practically no bearded heads, disease or noxious weeds. Yielded 62 bushels per acre in a state Experiment Station test.

Wood's Certified Abruzzi Rye

Countless farmers say our Lee 5 is the only oat for fall planting, as it was not damaged by the past severe winter, which destroyed or damaged other oats.

JACKSON STATUE UNVEILED

Coming down to the present day, he showed the need of trained fighters, just as in the day of 1861 when the trained military leaders of the South won its great victories under varying conditions. Using the patriarchal tokens of ancient beliefs, the speaker brought his magnificent address to a close by declaring that if danger again threatened their beloved Southland, that "Old Jack" and his confreres would again ride from the heights of the blue to which they had ascended to give protection to the homes of their native section.

The benediction was given by Rev. William B. Everett, of Marshall, Va., Commander 4th, Brigade of Sons of Confederate Veterans.
The entire audience was pleased to be thrilled at the sight of four Confederate veterans, one of them being Prince William's own veteran, Mr. Robert Cushing. Others were John Shaw, J. H. Spicer and J. R. Blizard.
Previous to the exercises, Governor Price was guest at a luncheon at the Prince William Hotel. Included in the party were Col. W. M. Kemper, executive assistant to the Governor; N. Clarence Smith, chairman of the Virginia Conservation Commission; Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, Bishop of the Va. Diocese and presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church in America, Hon. Andrew J. Mays, Member of Congress from Kentucky; LeRoy Hodges, Lt. Col. Virginia National Guard and attached to the Governor's staff, J. Roy Price, of Shreveport, La.; member board of trustees of Henry Farm; Watler A. Hopkins, grand commander of Sons of Confederate Veterans, M. A. Martin, of Charlottesville; business associate of Mr. Mays, former delegate from Prince William, George W. Herring, Hon. E. R. Conner, present delegate from the Stafford-Prince William legislative district; Mayor Harry P. Davis, of Manassas, and a number of prominent local citizens.
