DRAFT DRAWING ON OCTOBER 29

Lottery In Washington Will Determine Order In Which All Men Are Called

The national drawing of numbers to determine the order in which all men between the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive will be called for classification under the Selective Draft System will be held on Tuesday, October 29, in Washington. The identical glass bowl will be used that was selected for the draft during the World War and the method identical with the procedure of that time, with the exception that the present Secretary of War, Mr. Simon, will draw the first number, whereas President Wilson pulled out the first one in 1917.

The plans have been completed by Dr. Clarence Dykstra, who has been granted leave from the University of Wisconsin to head the Selective Draft System for the nation. It is stated that President Roosevelt will be present as the drawing commences, but that the task will require something like twelve hours to complete, as the numbers in the bowl will be sufficient to cover the largest registration precinct in the country.

There are 6500 local Draft Boards throughout the nation and it is estimated the approximately 17,000,000 men have registered. As each number is drawn it will determine the sequence of that number in the list for each county those numbers being drawn which are larger than the total for any locality being ignored. Thus if No. 918 is the first number pulled out of the bowl, then No. 918 of every county in the United States represents the first man called for classification, examination if found eligible for service and final induction into the training camps. It is stated that only enough men will be classified to meet the existing calls, and that the remainder will constitute a vast reserve, carrying their draft registration cards at all times, ready for call for any and every national emergency.

This lists are already being posted in various counties of Virginia. In the cities, where larger publication facilities are available, it is probable that the entire registration lists will be published in the daily papers, but in rural sections, served by weekly newspapers of average capacity, it may only become possible to publish the names and numbers included within each call by the local draft boards. In this manner every registrant whose name has not appeared in the columns of his local newspaper may feel assured that he is not immediately subject to call, although it will be his own personal responsibility to keep his whereabouts on file at the draft headquarters and respond promptly whenever a questionnaire is mailed to him.

Following the drawing of numbers in Washington next Tuesday local newspapers throughout the country will publish those referring to local draftees subject to early call, so it will only be necessary to watch the local newspapers for such information. But, of course, those called immediately will receive questionnaires from their local Draft Boards and these must be fully filled out and returned within five days. From this information the Board will decide who should be placed in the deferred classes and who called for training. Those so called have still to pass the local physical examination, and later the more exacting army tests before actually entering the armed forces of the nation.

It is stated in Washington that the first call will be on November 18, for only 30,000 throughout the nation. The second call comes Dec. 2 for 60,000, and then on Jan. 3, 60,000; Jan. 15, 90,000; Feb. 10, 160,000; March 5, 200,000; June 15, 200,000; making a total of 800,000 men called for training in the national defense.

The Prince William Draft Board is located in the old Courthouse building at Manassas. The Board consists of Mr. C. C. Cloe, of Triangle, chairman; Mr. J. W. Alvey of Catharpin, and Mr. W. Holmes Robertson of Gainesville. The Examining Physician is Dr. Stewart McBryde of Manassas, and the Government Appeal Agent is Col. Robert A. Hutchison of Manassas. The Board has a phone, Manassas 245, but is not allowed to give out Draft Numbers by telephone. The long lists are posted where they may be inspected by the public, but it is a laborious task for any one the immediate future.

MEDICAL ADVISORY BOARD APPOINTED FOR THIS COUNTY

The Selective Service Headquarters for Virginia has been informed of the appointment by the Governor of Virginia, of the following Medical Advisory Boards for the Selective Service. These Boards will function in an advisory capacity upon the request of Selective Service Local Boards, who desire Medical advice in specific instances, asked for by their respective Examining Physicians.

The Medical Advisory Board listed below will function for the counties of Prince William and Fairfax and the city of Alexandria.

The members appointed include: Dr. M. D. Delaney, 329 N. Washington St., Alexandria, Virginia; Dr. Herbert Wolff, 816 Prince St., Alexandria, Virginia; Dr. H. A. Latane, Alexandria Hospital, Alexandria, Virginia; Dr. L. F. Hobbs, chairman, 815 Prince St., Alexandria, Virginia; Dr. S. H. Williams, presidential mansions, Alexandria, Virginia; Dr. J. T. Ashton, 108 N. Washington St., Alexandria, Virginia.

NYA OPERATIONS ARE ENLARGED

Made possible By Increased Allocations

The National Youth Administration for Virginia has been notified that $627,730 has been allotted to supplement the NYA out-of-school youth work program in Virginia for the employment of young men on work projects offering mechanical experience. T. Edwin Burke, Deputy Administrator of the NYA in Virginia, announced in Richmond.

The money, Mr. Burke said, is Virginia's share of the $32,500,000 earmarked for the NYA in the First Supplemental Civil Functions Appropriation Act, a defense bill just passed by Congress.

Some 4,000 young men in Virginia, Mr. Burke said, will be employed on a part-time basis on project involving work of a semi-skilled nature. There are now some 5,500 youth on the out-of-school program in the State, and the additional youth will be made up of applicants who had applied to the NYA and are awaiting assignment and of others who have not previously registered because of quota limitations.

Mrs. Virginia V. Lewis, located at Manassas, Va., is the Area Director for this locality and has charge of the NYA program in Prince William Co.

To be eligible for this work a young man must be 17-24 years of age, out of school and unemployed. Through work on the NYA mechanical projects, Mr. Burke said, the youth will gain work experience which seems in line with the demands of semi-skilled labor in defense industries.

Suitable projects, for this phase of the NYA program, already in operation in the State, will be enlarged and a number of new ones are to be established, it was stated.

VIRGINIA TO CALL 5,000 DRAFTEES IN NEXT 5 MONTHS

With 344,312 cabulated as registered for selective service for Virginia alone, 9,749 Virginians will be called to the colors before next July, officials here have been informed. Of this figure, 4,874 will be in active service by March 1, as Virginia's quota in the first 400,000 scheduled to receive military training. White registrants will number 3,765 of the first group to be called from this State—Negroes, 1,109, it was announced.

The total number of those registered from Virginia for training in defense of their country sets a mark 43,312 in excess of the maximum estimate made by the Federal Government, it is declared. Since those within the eligible age groups who have not yet enrolled may do so without penalty until the time of the first drawing, it is likely that the final total of Virginia registrants will reach an even greater figure than the one announced to date.

Forty-three medical advisory boards have been named to review cases in which an extra check of an enrollee's physical condition is considered desirable. These boards, composed largely of medical specialists, will advise examiners with respect to doubtful or borderline cases, Col. Mills F. Neal, State director of selective service, has announced.

First lists of serial numbers assigned to registrants were posted at various local boards throughout the State on Monday, October 21. These numbers will be included in the national service lottery to be held in Washington, probably by the end of this month. The Governor of each State has been instructed to report the highest serial number in this State. When these are known, lottery slips will be prepared, and the order in which serial numbers are drawn will determine which registrants will be mustered first into military service.

DEMOCRAT RALLY AND BARBECUE

Hon. Howard Smith And Other Distinguished Guests Attend

On Tuesday evening the Democrats of Prince William County staged a rally and barbecue which was unsurpassed in good fellowship and fine nourishing material for both mind and body. The addresses were delivered to a large and appreciative audience in the High School Auditorium, and the barbecue near the school gymnasium was the center of attraction.

The presence of our good friend and neighbor, Hon. Howard W. Smith added greatly to the pleasure of the occasion. He made a straight-forward and forceful address to the Democratic voters of this county. Hon. Hawes Davies presided with his usual efficiency and good humor and the other distinguished Democrats included Hon. James Ashby of Stafford, a member of the Conservation Commission, Hon. C. C. Cloe, chairman of the Democratic party of Prince William, and now chairman of the County Draft Board, Hon. E. E. Conner, Delegate to the General Assembly of Virginia from Prince William and Stafford; Senator William D. Medley of Arlington; Hon. Charles Fenwick, Arlington Delegate to the General Assembly, Senator Wicker of Richmond, who spoke with exceptional vigor, Hon. Lake Triplett of Fauquier, and Hon. William Sweeney, Eighth District chairman of the Young Democrats.

Chairman E. R. Conner received many compliments upon the quality and quantity of the delicious barbecue and a number of generous contributions for the occasion were much appreciated, and many a good Democrat who had been leaning somewhat away from his party came back full hearted into the political fold when he realized that in the present international situation, there was little less for him to do.

Later in the evening the Young Democrats staged a very successful dance in the high school gymnasium.

The other future farmers elected to office were: Gerald Herring from Nokesville; Vice President; Hampton Alvey from Haymarket; Secretary; Walter Arrington from Salverton; Treasurer; Frederick Harpine from Nokesville; Reporter; and Harold Hersh from Manassas, Watchdog. Mr. C. L. Smith, who graduated from V. P. I. last spring and is the Agricultural Instructor at Marshall and Upperville, was elected the Federation Advisor.

FRANK SIGMAN IS TO LEAD KIWANIS

Annual Elections Held Last Friday Evening

The Kiwanis Club held its annual elections last Friday evening. The following were elected: President Frank Sigman; vice president, C. C. Lynn; treasurer, L. Ledman (re-elected); directors, Rev. J. J. Widmer, G. R. Ratcliffe, A. A. Hooff, A. H. Roseberry, R. C. Haydon, Hunton Tiffany and J. E. Bradford.

At the secretary's suggestion family night was set for November 15th and ladies night for December 6th.

Mr. D. J. Martin was chairman for the evening's program, introducing Lieut. Lykes, manager of the Chopawamsic Recreational Area. Lieut. Lykes gave an entertaining exposition of the work of the Conservation corps, concluding his talk with an invitation to hold an early meeting at Chopawamsic. The invitation was forthwith accepted, and the meeting November 15th will be held there.

Frank Sigman reported on the District convention recently held in Richmond. Frank's report was quite enlightening, with a few humorous spots thrown in.

(Ed Note: Thanks to the Club's secretary for going to bat for him while he was hitting the highways through our great Southland, Roger Wharton's attendance at the Warren Georgia club last Wednesday was a most enjoyable occasion.)

RUFFNER-CARNEGIE LIBRARY EXHIBIT FOR BOOK WEEK

The Ruffner-Carnegie library following its annual custom will celebrate Book Week November 10-16, with a joint program of the "Friends of the Library" and the Parents-Teachers Association, on Thursday night, November 14.

As Book Week coincides with Education Week this year, an address will be given Thursday night relative to both fields. The usual Library Exhibit will also be held Thursday night and through the following Friday. One of the features of the exhibit will be a display of the really good collection that the Library has of recent books on the present world situation: fiction, description and the governmental and economic aspects of the countries involved. Another exhibit will be of material relating to the earlier history of Prince William County before the Civil War. The Library will be most appreciative of any material that can be loaned by anyone illustrating the history and the earlier social life of the county—books, old papers and letters; cookbooks, fiction and children's books that our forefathers read, their favorite magazines, as the Southern Literary Messenger or Godey's magazine that delighted the ladies of the 1840s and '50s. School text books used in the earlier part of the 1800s would be appreciated. The Library has a few treasures of this kind, among others, facsimiles of the complete set of the famous old McGuffey Readers, and a rare copy of Euclid, the old Greek geometry that has served our forefathers for the last 2000 years. Any materials loaned for this exhibit would be carefully put away and have special caretakers during the exhibit; so there would be no risk involved in lending them.

As the year 1940 is the 500th anniversary of the art of printing an exhibit would also mark this all important event. The Library has some interesting material in this field illustrating the development of writing through the Babylonian clay tablets, the hieroglyphics of the Egyptians and classical and medieval manuscripts down to the first printed book by Gutenberg of Mainz, Germany, in 1440. Specimens of the modern printer's art would complete this exhibit.

All interested in the Library and its work are cordially invited to be present at this program and Exhibit on the night of Thursday, November 14.

P.T.A. SPONSORS EDUCATION WEEK

Local Group Emphasizes Need Of Co-operation

The regular meeting of the P.T.A. was held in the Bennett School on Thursday, October 17th. The reports of standing committees were heard and the budget for the year was adopted. Plans for an organization meeting of the parent study group were discussed and November 12th, at 2 p. m. is the date of the first class. At this time the program for the course will be announced. The association urges parents to make special effort to join this class and study the development of a home and school program for the improvement of citizens and society.

Mention was made of the possible discontinuance of the post graduate course in high school. Parents were asked to think seriously over the matter before definite action was taken concerning it.

Miss Billings' first grade entertained with songs they have learned in school and Miss Ayres spoke to the group in "School Objectives for the session 1940-41". These objectives are made up in general terms for the entire county, in localities for individual schools and by each teacher for her own group. She spoke on the objectives of the county.

Miss Ayres stated that the development of the usual cultural courses in music and art would be continued. Home making will be stressed as the school is home for a large part of the child's life. Effort is made to develop in each child those qualities which make life better for him and make him a better person for life as well as teaching him to read, write, and spell. She solicited the help of parents, in making each boy and girl a part of the home, asking that each one be recognized as an individual with rights and responsibilities. The school hopes to develop these features in their phase of his life also. A more effective program in Physical Education is planned in response to the demands of the present day world for strong minds in strong bodies.

The speaker emphasized the need of parent co-operation in the execution of these objectives in order that the school and home may work out a unified program. Study groups were advocated as a means of bringing a better understanding of the needs and process of learning which takes place in child growth. Miss Ayres mentioned American Education Week as an opportunity to launch a program of combined effort.

The topics for this week, November 10 to 16 are:

Sunday, November 10. Enriching Spiritual Life.

Monday, November 11. Strengthening Civic Loyalties.

Tuesday, November 12. Financing Public Education.

Wednesday, November 13. Developing Human Resources.

Thursday, November 14. Safeguarding National Resources.

Friday, November 15. Perpetrating Individual Liberties.

Saturday, November 16. Building Economic Security.

The P.T.A. is planning to observe this occasion by visiting school, with a visit from every parent as its goal. It is to be hoped that this visit will be the beginning of united effort between home and school, two of the most powerful forces of civilization, for the promotion of all that Americanism stands for.

MRS. LYONS ENTERTAINS TRINITY GROUP

PRESBY CLUB CONDUCTS QUIZ

Members of the Press by Club of the Presbyterian Church sat down to a delicious dinner served by the Westminster Group on Tuesday night. Group singing was done under the direction of Lewis Carper.

Jack Stauff conducted a "Prof. Quiz" in which Sedrick Saunders, Harry Blakemore and Edgar Rohr were the victims. Sedrick seemed to be the winner with the others scoring in the above order. Jack also entertained with several numbers by "Steppin' Sam". Rev. DeChant, in a brief address, gave facts and figures on liquor consumption in the United States and pointed out some of the moral results of a condition where per capita use of alcoholic beverages has risen to over 14 gallons per year. The chief address was made by Dr. H. H. Hemming, personnel officers of the Manassas State Vocational School. Dr. Hemming spoke on the Hungry Man. He pointed out that hunger is the great driving force in human nature. The hungry man always wins. Whether he is hungry for food, or for peace, or for righteousness, or wealth, or power, it is hunger that drives him on. Dr. Hemming urged the men to be hungry for all the finer things of life. The program, varied and interesting, was thoroughly enjoyed.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Probation after Death" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, October 27.

The Golden Text will be "Let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not" (Gal. 6:9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And in this mountain shall the Lord of Hosts, make unto all people a feast of fat things, a feast of wines on the lees, of fat things full of marrow, of wines on the lees well refined. And he will destroy in this mountain the face of the covering cast over all people, and the veil that is spread over all nations. He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord God will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it" (Isa. 25:6-8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Be watchful, sober, and vigilant. The way is straight and narrow, which leads to the understanding that God is the only life. It is a warfare with the flesh, in which we must conquer sin, sickness, and death, either here or hereafter, certainly before we can reach the goal of Spirit, or life in God" (p. 324).

IN MEMORIAM

A tribute of love to the memory of my beloved daughter, Rosie Belle McCuen who passed away twenty-one years ago, October 22, 1918. Gone is the face we loved so dear. Silent is the voice we loved to hear. 'Tis sad but true we wonder why. The best are always the first to die her memory is as dear today as in the hour she passed away. Short and shocking was the call when you were taken from us all. But never will we, who love you best forget the day you where laid to rest. You suffered hours. Yes, hours of pain till God alone knew what was best. He called her home to give her rest. From this world of pain and sorrow to a land of peace and rest. God saw the road was getting rough, the hills were hard to climb and whispered "peace be thine". By her mother, Mrs. Lacy McCuen.

Gentility is the ability to ignore in others those faults or blemishes we will not tolerate in ourselves.—Anon.

Who hath not learned that when alone he has his own thoughts to guard, and when struggling with mankind his temper, and in society his tongue?—Mary Baker Eddy.

We love ourselves notwithstanding our faults, and we ought to love our friends in like manner.—Cyrus.

Unless you bear with the faults of a friend, you betray your own.—Publius Syrus.

There is no outward sign of true courtesy that does not rest on a deep moral foundation.—Goethe.

BETHEL

In spite of the storm Saturday the ladies of the church and P. T. A. worked faithfully to make their supper a success. Supper was carried to the ones that could not get out. Bethel has some faithful workers as the same ladies work for the both.

Plans were made to work in the future for both as both is for the good of the community. All expenses were paid and a profit for both was taken in the expense were not great as most ever thing was donated by the patrons and church workers. We are looking forward to another supper soon hoping we will have better weather.

We wish to thank each and ever one for their fine spirit of giving.

LIMESTONE FOR FALL USE NOW ON HAND

Applications for 3, 106 tons of ground limestone have been received at the County Agents office for fall use through the Agricultural Conservation Program. Most of this has already been delivered by truck to the farms.

Farmers who can use ground limestone this fall or during the winter may avoid next spring's rush by placing their orders now. Lime may be efficiently applied now on land to be broken for corn next spring as well as on small grain, pasture or hay land.

Those who do not wish to use ground limestone until next spring and have a dry storage shed are encouraged to have it delivered this winter so that the material will be on the farm in good handling condition when they are ready to spread it on the land.

POWELL AND LOY IN HIGH PRESSURE COMEDY

Hitting an all time high for the number of laughs per second, "I Love You Again", co-starring William Powell and Myrna Loy, opens next Thursday and Friday, October 31 and November 1 at the Pitt's Theatre for an engagement of two days.

Taking a new turn, inasmuch as no "Thin Man" mystery or tactics are involved, the story deals with the plight of a man who suddenly recovers from an eight-year attack of amnesia only to discover that he has acquired a new personality, a wife a bank account, a spotless reputation in the town of Habersville and the manager's berth in a large pottery works.

The fact that he decides to use all of these facts in returning to his former business of being a high-class crook, makes for the fastest, funniest, laugh-packed entertainment of a many a moon.

Powell has never turned in a more amusing performance. His actions, early in the film before he shakes his amnesia, bring him before the public in a new type of characterization. He is stuffy, egotistical, a complete teetotaler and a downright bore. Seeing the immaculate Mr. Powell in stiff collars, tight trousers, linen cape and frowzy moustache, is an experience in itself.

As the wife, Myrna Loy will add new fans to her already large congregation. She isn't the to be expected "perfect wife" in this one. Quite to the contrary. Instead of chasing after her husband, he is forced to chase after her. Not only is she getting a divorce, but her next husband is already chosen.

RICHMOND TO HAVE FIRST TELECAST

Scientific marvels of Electronic Television will be demonstrated to Virginia Residents in a two day showing beginning October 28. The demonstration will be held in the auditorium of the John Marshall Hotel. There is no admission charge.

Equipment to be used is valued at $110,000.00 and was designed by Phila T. Farnsworth, who is conceded to be the inventor of Electronic Television and such organizations as Philca Radio Corporation and American Telephone and Telegraph operate under Farnsworth Patents.

A complete Television Studio will be set-up in the auditorium of the hotel. There the public will see the famous Farnsworth Dissector Camera in action. The camera will be operated by John Stagnard, who is considered the Dean of Television Cameramen. Visitors at the demonstration will be invited to be elevated.

In addition to the transmission of Television there will be ample receiving equipment so everyone will receive an insight on both phases of Television.

R. B. Gamble, director of the unit for the Farnsworth Television and Radio Corporation of Fort. Wayne, Indiana, extends a special invitation to all school children so they too can see this modern miracle Electronic Television.

The unit is on its way to Miami, Florida, where it will be installed. It was through the efforts of the Benj. T. Crump Company that the unit will stop in Richmond.

Telecasts will run from 11 a. to 10 p. m.

NAVY DAY TO BE OBSERVED OCTOBER 27

Navy Day is sponsored by the Navy League of the United States and will be observed throughout the nation on October 27th. On this day Naval officials in co-operation with citizens are sponsoring programs to acquaint the public with the progress of naval expansion. Among the features of the program will be the calling to the attention of eligible young men the advantages of service in the Navy.

The building program for the "two-ocean fleet" is well underway. The naval expansion plan calls for the addition of approximately 330 ships of well balanced type and 14,000 aircraft. This material increase will necessitate an increase in personnel of approximately 30,000 officers and 300,000 men.

All citizens are invited to co-operate in the building of this "second to none" Navy. They may take an active part in this program by urging young men to take advantage of the increased opportunities offered by the Navy.

Those young men who enlist in the Navy today will become the leaders of tomorrow. Their chance of advancement is excellent, since 50 per cent of the men in the Navy today are specialists in some particular branch of the service.

Navy Day is appropriately observed on October 27th, the anniversary of the birth of President Theodore Roosevelt who worked unceasingly for an adequate Navy for the United States.

VOTE FOR HOWARD W. SMITH

The presence in Manassas Tuesday night of Hon. Howard W. Smith affords the occasion to remind all Democrats and, in fact, all voters that we have our chance on November 5 to show Virginia and the Nation how highly our distinguished Congressman is regarded by the folks at home.

The outstanding services of Judge Smith in the Congress has placed him in the forefront of American Statesmen. His conduct of the Committee investigating the National Labor Relations Board has won the gratitude of all liberty-loving Americans everywhere, and his sponsorship of the recently enacted law requiring the registration and finger-printing of all aliens in the United States has been one of the greatest contributions to the national safety that has been accomplished. It would likewise be possible here to devote many paragraphs to his distinguished services to the Eighth District of Virginia, to his State as a whole, and to his Country in its present time of great international peril.

All of these facts combine to make it most appropriate for every voter of good old Prince William County to go to the polls on November 5 and thank Judge Smith for all that he has done for us by letting him enjoy the pleasure of leading the ticket. He has faithfully served all of his constituents, regardless of party affiliations and he deserves this expression of public gratitude.

If there be some good Democrats who cannot bring themselves to the point of endorsing the National Democratic Ticket, let them please not forget, if they should momentarily turn away, to let Howard Smith at least have that part of their

TEACHERS OF DISTRICT MEET AT ARLINGTON

Last Friday close to a thousand teachers gathered in the auditorium and class rooms of the Washington-Lee High School of Arlington. It was for the first only a one day session. Henry F. Moncure was the presiding officer. The usual addresses of welcome and response were made.

The entertainment side was furnished by the uniformed band of the high school, by the boys' and the girls' glee club.

The treasurer reported only a small amount on hand and only a slight source of income. The important address of the general meeting was delivered by Mr. Robert Porterfield, State Director of Dramatics, Richmond. This ease of manner and the substance of his address showed way he holds this important position. His main plea was for the performance of plays of real merit instead of those for entertainment only.

For an hour and a quarter, the teachers were broken up into group meetings, the largest of which was the department of class room teachers. At this meeting Mr. Harold H. Weiss, Dramatics and Department, of Mary Washington College, spoke on "Speech Improvement". His main argument was for "relation" to secure such improvement.

The heads of the Manassas State Vocation School, Messrs. Jakeman, and Buchardt addressed the group of superintendents and trustees. The main purpose of the dess, according to Mr. Jakeman was to "sell" the school to those assembled.

There were meetings of High School Principals, of Elementary School Principals, of Vocational Teachers, of Commercial Teachers, of Student Government sponsors, of School Librarians. At each meeting problems were discussed and actions taken.

Mr. Francis Chase, Executive Secretary of the Virginia Education Association and Editor of the Virginia Journal of Education was the principal speaker when all the groups were united in a single meeting. He is carrying his theme of Education in Democracy up and down the state in a most convincing manner.

A new constitution was submitted and adopted. It has some unique provisions. The resolutions committee put a new note in an old theme. Then resolutions were voted enthusiastically.

The Public Relations Committee submitted a plan in a formal way and proposes to carry out the following objective.

"To solicit and obtain the support of each local school board and each local teachers' association in the publication of a paper or journal, whose objective will be to bring before pupils, patrons, community leaders and the general public a concept of school problems and school accomplishments."

Careers in Engineering By Rufus T. Strohm Dean, International Correspondence Schools

ANY young man who is planning a career in engineering must give consideration to the pay he may earn. A recent study showed that the earning curve of engineers as a class continues upward to well past the age of 50. In sharp contrast to that of the artisan or technician whose earnings usually taper off after 40. Incidentally, this upward trend also is common to most other professions, such as law and medicine.

An effort has been made by the United States Civil Service Commission to divide the various grades of engineering ability into eight brackets, with annual compensations ranging from $2,000 for the junior professional grade with duties under immediate supervision, to $9,000 or over for special administrative work.

Another study of salaries for engineering graduates conducted by the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education showed a first-year salary of $1,475. After five years the salary was $2,860, and then upward to about $7,500 thirty years after graduation. The highest ten per cent of this group reached salaries averaging $30,000.

Never before have the opportunities in engineering been so great. Under such circumstances there is no question but that the field is an appealing and a promising one for the young man who has ability to work with people, ability to analyze programs, good judgment, good imagination and mechanical intuition.

Correct Use of Telephone Greatly Increases Value of Instrument

Slamming Receiver On Hook When Call Is Completed
Considered Poor Manners By C. & P. Employees

When Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone he probably never dreamed it would develop into a service which would enter so intimately into the lives of millions of people or contribute so importantly to the progress of a great nation. But the importance of the telephone today is recognized. What is equally important, but not so universally recognized, is the vital necessity for correct usage of the telephone.

Statistics available from the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies show that proper telephone manners coupled with a pleasing telephone personality greatly enhance the value of this means of communication. Telephone employees are ever ready to point out that the same rules of etiquette used in face-to-face conversations should apply in telephone conversations.

Take, for example, the chap pic tured above. Figuratively speaking he has just "cracked a customer or acquaintance on the ear." His telephone conversation and manners may have filled the bill right up to the time he put the receiver back on the hook, then he slammed it down and the listener's good opinion of him went tumbling. Telephone rules of courtesy emphasize that when you finish talking say "Goodbye" and place the receiver gently on the hook.

One telephone employee, in discussing proper telephone manners, stressed the importance of answering a call correctly.

"When answering calls," she said, "don't subject the person on the other end of the line to a 'third degree.' Such questions as 'Who is this calling?' or 'Who told you to call?' are impolite. Ask your question tactfully. Phrases such as, 'I'm sure Mr. Doe would like to know who is calling,' or 'When Mr. Doe returns, may I tell him who called?' are the best."

Another telephone employee brought out the fact that using a person's name in conversation is important. "Everybody you talk to likes to hear his name spoken," she explained. "You should always be certain, however, that you can pronounce it correctly."

These rules on how to develop a pleasing telephone personality are just a few of the many set forth by C. & P. employees. Following them, employees point out, may mean the difference between winning or losing a friend or customer.

BUSY PHONE LINE MAY NOT ALWAYS BE IN USE

Two Calls To Same Party At Same Time Can Cause
Unavoidable Delay

If you telephone your residence and find the line is busy, and if, subsequently, you learn no one was home at the time, naturally you feel the telephone company was at fault.

However, the folks may all be away and yet the telephone line may be busy. The house might even be boarded up and still the line could be in use. In other words, a telephone can be busy even if no one is at home because it is perfectly possible for two people to be calling the same number from different telephones at the same time, and if two people are calling the same person at the same instant, one of them will find that the line is busy.

Another way in which the line can be busy when not in actual use is when someone has forgotten to place the receiver on the hook. In such cases, no one can put through an incoming call. Also, in the case of party-line service, use of the telephone by any one of the subscribers on the line makes it busy, no matter which number on the line is being called.

WARY TURKEYS REPORTED

VICIOUS FIGHTERS

When a wild turkey finally bites a hunter—that will be news. And stranger things have happened.

Hunters who catch fleeting glimpses of this shy and wary bird may not realize what a fearless and vicious fighter he can be when his pugilistic instincts become thoroughly aroused, and may never witness the "blitzkrieg" tactics which are sometimes employed to keep his less noble associates in their place. The title "king of game birds" describes him well.

It is well-known that common barnyard variety of turkey is often far from a gentle and peaceful citizen of the farmyard. A strutting gobble is a rather poor playmate, as many small farm boys and girls have learned to their sorrow. Wild turkeys in their native haunts are no more sissies than their domesticated relatives, although they have acquired a fear of the long range shotgun and have become remarkably proficient in maintaining a safe distance between themselves and such weapons.

Supervisor W. C. Rives of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, reported recently that he witnessed a wild turkey hen in action against a great horned owl that seemed to thank one of the turkey's half-grown poults would be just the thing for dinner. Rives reports that the turkey had other ideas, and that she was quite successful in convincing the owl of his mistake, whipping the bird bandit "with-in an inch of his life" and putting him to complete and undignified flight. According to the tale, the sound of battle could be heard for quite a distance through the woods, and when the owl finally broke away from the turkey it was only the sight of man which caused the victorious mother to abandon the chase and lead her brood to safety.

Another tale of these gladiators comes from near Scottsburg. A lady in Halifax County has complained that she cannot raise tame turkeys on her farm any more, because the wild birds insist on coming to the barnyard and putting on a friendly bout with their "cousins". Unfortunately, the wild turkeys always play too rough, and the tame gobblers can't hold up their end of the scrap. No turkeys were raised on this farm this year, because every gobble on the place was killed.

Such reports of savagery do not prevent the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries from going right ahead with their turkey restoration program, however, and if hunters find the ever-increasing flocks of turkeys too vicious they are urged to pursue more gentle game. Perhaps we will soon have the first report of a hunter killing his gobble "in self defense".

TONS OF FOOD, DRUGS RUSHED TO CHINESE

A mercy cargo including five hundred tons of rice and cracked wheat, 1,000,000 sulfanilamide tablets and large quantities of other medical supplies, this week is on the high seas, destined for the relief of wounded and famine-stricken Chinese, it was announced here by the American Red Cross.

The rice and cracked wheat were shipped from Seattle, destined for Shanghai. An American Red Cross Advisory Committee in China will arrange distribution to needy Chinese.

A quantity of medicines and cloth were shipped from New York on the SS Washington October 19. Additional supplies will be sent aboard the SS Express October 25, destined for Rangoon. Transportation will be over the Burma road to free China, where distribution will be by an American Red Cross Committee of which American Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson is honorary chairman, and Major Arthur Bassett is chairman.

Three representatives of the American Red Cross now are en route to China by clipper to supervise the handling of the Red Cross supplies. They are Dr. John E. Baker, Walter Wessellus and Arthur M. Fifer. They will land in Hong Kong and proceed by plane to Chungking, and later to Rangoon, the port of entry for the relief supplies.

Plans for the Chinese relief measures were worked out over a period of several months between American residents in China, who compose the Red Cross committee, Chinese health officials and the Chinese Red Cross.

The primary needs in free China are for medicines for the sick and wounded and cloth for garments for Chinese civilians; food supplies are said to be adequate at this time. Famine, however, is widespread in occupied China, and foodstuffs are needed, the Red Cross was informed.

The Red Cross has purchased fifteen million tablets of quinine in Java, Dutch East Indies, for delivery in Rangoon December 15. Other medicines shipped from New York on the 19 and 25 include: twenty million tablets aspirin; one million sodium bicarbonate; 47,000 pounds boric acid; 6,500 pounds ether; 2,000 pounds chloroform; five million yards surgical gauze; 40,000 pounds absorbent cotton.

We wish to thank our various correspondents for sending their notes early this week.

The Parents-Teachers' Association of the Manassas Public Schools in keeping with its usual progressive-ness has this year launched a campaign for new members. This membership drive was planned by the executive board of the association. The drive is to be entirely in the hands of pupils of the high and graded schools. These representatives are as follows: from the Post-graduate room, Lella Dowell; the senior room, Alice Swank; Miss Lutes' junior room, Dorothy Lawson; Miss Waters' junior room, Robert Swank; Miss Nelson's sophomore room, Betty Knott; Miss Smith's sophomore room, Buddy Merchant; Mr. Saunders' freshman room, Iva Lee Fitzwater; Miss Lulu Metz's freshman room, Elyst Hill; Miss Blough's 7th grade, Fern Swank; Miss Grace Metz's 7th grade, Jean Lewis; Miss Johnson's 6th grade, Warren Sloper; Mrs. Tipton's 6th grade, Wade Vetter; Mrs. Breeden's 5th grade, Bob McCall; Miss Pleasants' 5th grade, Miriam Gregory; Miss Lewis' 4th grade, Billy Sloper; Mrs. Lynn's 4th grade, Florence Harley; Miss Heartwell's 3rd grade, Robert Wine; Miss Isabelle Patton's 3rd grade, Betty Lee Jenkins; Mrs. Park's 2nd grade, Jimmy Marshall; Miss Reid's 2nd grade, Denis Todd; Miss Billings' 1st grade, John Champion; Miss Amelia Patton's 1st grade, Bill Crass.

It will be the duty of these pupils to report the progress their respective rooms to the contest chairman, Edward Jasper, who will have the returns recorded on a chart in each of the two schools. The contest will be judged on a percentage basis. The room whose enrollment has the largest percentage of their parents (or friends) members in the P-T. Aviation Expansion Calls For Many Specialists

Chanute Field, The Home of the Air Corps Technical School, Rantoul, Illinois, is the key instruction center in the Air Corps Expansion Program. A rehabilitated Chanute Field—a veritable city within itself—is rapidly springing up and in 1941, when the peak of the Expansion Program has been reached, the total personnel of the Field will number over 15,000 enlisted men and officers.

Perhaps relatively few persons actually realize the scope and magnitude of this undertaking. Previous to the Expansion Program, the maximum output of trained technical specialists for any given year never exceeded 900 men. During 1940 and 1941 the schedule contemplates the training of over 13,000 technicians at the Chanute Field Branch of the Air Corps Technical School alone. This will necessitate Chanute Field stepping up its activities to accommodate over seven-and-one-half times its previous record output. The curriculum of the Air Corps Technical School embraces all phases of vital importance to Aviation maintenance: airplane mechanics, radio repairers and operators, aircraft welders, aircraft machinists, aircraft metalworkers, and numerous other specialists courses, which include carburetor specialists, instrument specialists, propeller specialists, electrical specialists, parachute riggers and Link-Trainer specialists.

The time required to complete a course varies, depending upon the nature of the subject. The radio repairers and operators course, Department of Communications, requires six months of instruction, as does the airplane mechanics course—which is under the jurisdiction of the Department of Mechanics. However, the specialists courses with the exception of the Link-Trainer course, are of four weeks duration; the latter, 6 weeks. To become eligible for the carburetor, propeller, electrical and instrument specialists course, the applicant must be a graduate of the airplane mechanics course; and the Link-Trainer course is available to selected graduates of the radio repairers-operators course.

Which course is desired mostly by the applicants? A study of the situation shows that eighty to ninety-percent of the men request the airplane mechanics course. All men can not become mechanics since a favorable balance must be maintained for the proper functioning of the School as well as fulfill the requirements of the tactical units of the Army Air Corps. For these basic reasons, all applicants—prior to their assignment to one of the courses—must appear before the trade test department of the ACTS for examination. The tests are to determine three things: (a) Can the applicant successfully finish the course in the limited time allowed? (b) In which course shall he be entered? (c) Will he successfully graduate and secure his diploma? Applicants for enlistment in the Army Air Corps Technical School have been of unusually high calibre, as only four per cent of all men applying for enlistment at Chanute Field have been rejected for failure to meet the Trade Tests requirements.

To the Air Corps itself, this program means a method of securing qualified specialists so vital to the successful upkeep of their aircraft. Civil Aviation, although the results may not be noticeable immediately, it will provide an influx of skilled workers when and if these men leave the Service and seek employment within the industry. To National Defense, a trained reserve, regardless of the subsequent employment of graduates should they leave the service.

At one point in its history, Chanute Field was one the verge of being abandoned as it was considered of little value to the Air Corps. The School authorities made out a strong case and won their point. The advance in Aviation, the complexities of modern design and the increase in the technical equipment have more than justified the decision to retain the Technical School. Today, a new station is rising on the site of the old, war-time structure. A new barracks of 2200 man capacity is rapidly nearing completion. A modern central heating plant is already in operation. Concrete roads and walks checkerboard the new area. Two new hangars and School buildings, the most advanced type in the Army, are in operation with an additional structure to be completed in the near future. A modern hospital of 120 bed capacity will be read for occupancy about August 15, 1940. Warehouses, paved aprons, quarters, sewerage, water and lighting system and numerous other installations go to make up the enlarged physical plant of the ACTS and Chanute Field. Pending completion of the permanent projects, 63 temporary barracks of 60 man capacity have been erected to house the personnel during the period of the Expansion Program.

The Air Corps Technical School—Field Branch—is one of the finest installations of its type in the world. The students are privileged to work with the latest and best type of equipment available to the aeronautical industry. Upon graduation, the students are assigned to their home stations to take their place on the flying line, with the realization that they are at last an important cog in the wheel helping to keep the Army Air Corps planes aloft—one of the men behind the pilots!

Further information relatives to the Air Corps Technical School and enlistment in the Army Air Corps may be obtained from the Personnel Officer, Chanute Field, Rantoul, Illinois; or from any regular Army Recruiting station for those who are interested in serving at other Air Corps Stations.

FARMERS ATTEND DAIRY SHOW

Last Tuesday, October 15, the Nokesville F. F. A. Chapter accompanied by Mr. R. W. Beamer, Agricultural Instructor, attended the National Dairy Show held at Harrisburg, Pa.

The breeds being judged Tuesday were Holsteins and Ayrshires. The Grand Champion Holstein sire and dam attracted much attention and thrilled everyone who had the opportunity to see such outstanding dairy animals. The sire weighed 3,000 pounds.

The boys also saw the very latest in modern dairy equipment which was displayed in connection with the show.

The trip was enjoyed by all and proved to be very educational.

Telephone Work Is Interesting Because Of Unusual, Exciting And Humorous Problems

Request For Lemon Pie Recipe Is Example Of Odd Questions Asked

Pick anyone of the thousands of employees of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies, ask them if their work is interesting and a unanimous answer will be "yes." And they have reasons to back up that answer. As one young lady put it, "the work is interesting because we are constantly running up against unusual, exciting and humorous problems."

For example, one of these unusual problems had nothing to do with telephone service. A young lady in a local telephone business office received a call from a housewife who wanted to know the recipe for a lemon pie. Instead of refusing the request, the alert employee thought for a moment and was soon able to tell the customer where she could get a "recipe for a lemon pie."

Then, there was the case of the subscriber who wanted to save money. He called and inquired about the cost of installing one of the newer type telephones to replace his old one. When he had the information he made the classic remark that "for half-price I'll take a second-hand one." After some explanation he was convinced that the company had no second-hand telephones. He took a "new" one.

Still another subscriber was asked a simple question in regard to a minor business matter.

"What is your telephone number?" the girl asked the subscriber.

Disregarding the question the subscriber answered "I was born in 1880 in a little town in Virginia. I am married and have five children. My husband is employed—"

"But," interrupted the telephone employee, "that information isn't necessary, all I want is your telephone number."

Again the question was ignored and the subscriber chatted merrily for several minutes until she had completed a thumb-nail sketch of her family history. (P. S. The telephone employee finally got the number.)

It is such incidents as these occurring day in and day out that make telephone work so interesting.
