PARALYSIS FIGHT GAINING IMPETUS

Business, Labor and Industry
Unite for Record-Smashing
1941.

America's program of national defense against a stealthy enemy swung into high gear this week as business, labor and industry united for a record-smashing 1941 "Fight Infantile Paralysis" campaign.

Responding to the nation wide enthusiasm which has been revealed by hundreds of letters pouring into headquarters, Keith Morgan, National Chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday left for a swing across the country. Mr. Morgan's tour will take him to Chicago and Los Angeles. Returning to New York, he will attend organization meetings and luncheons in Kansas City, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Columbus (Ohio) and Detroit. Meanwhile, scores of prominent Americans continued to inform National Headquarters that they will accept memberships in the National Committee and declared their determination to fulfill the year's slogan: "Help the Youngster Around Your Own Corner."

Under the leadership of Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Col. Frank Knox, commanders of the armed forces and directors of Selective Service joined the battle against the crippling invader. Chief of Staff General George C. Marshall was among the first to pledge his support.

Industry gave its assurance of whole-hearted backing to the drive. Among the leaders in this battalion are F. L. Fisher, Vice President of General Motors Corporation, Edwin F. Chinlund, President of Postal Telegraph Cable Company, Sothenes Behn, President of International Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Labor's forces this year will be led by William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor; Philip Murray, President of the Congress of Industrial Organizations and Sidney Hillman, President of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America and a member of President Roosevelt's recently created super-defense commission.

The campaign will be formally launched on January 13. The first of thousands of "Home Parties" will be given by Mrs. Roosevelt on January 14; the "March of Dimes" will be conducted from coast to coast on a scale never before attempted. In Washington, D. C., the "Mile-O-Dimes" will share the spotlight with the gala festivities planned for January 30, President Roosevelt's 59th birthday. Stars of the stage, screen and radio have pledged their full participation in the 1941 "March of Dimes of the Air", directed by Eddie Cantor.

INFORMATION ON NATIONAL DEFENSE

In response to requests from farm people for information about the National Defense Program as a whole and the role of agriculture in the program, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has prepared in mimeographed form a free 8-page "National Defense Reading List". The first part of the list contains the titles of publications, speeches, radio talks and moving pictures issued by the Department since June, 1940 and a few titles of outstanding publications issued before the National Defense Program began, since the role of farmers in defense includes the strengthening of existing programs for achieving a balanced agriculture. The second part of the list contains titles of a few of the timely publications and motion pictures available on request to other governmental agencies. These include sources of information on the armed forces, the rearmament program, national resources for defense, vocational training for defense industries, Latin American relations, public health, employment services, housing, and the Government as a whole.

Copies of the "National Defense Reading List" can be secured from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, or from the University of Virginia Extension Division in Charlottesville.

The Executive Board of the Manassas Woman's Club will hold its meeting Wednesday, January 2, at the home of Mrs. C. Wade-Dalton at 10 o'clock, a. m.

LOCAL TO SEND TWO MORE VOLUNTEERS

Prince William County will send two more volunteers to the Army January 10, when Harry Duncan of Haymarket, and Herman Livingston Minton, Jr., of Gainesville will answer the second call at the Army induction station in Baltimore.

C. C. Close of Triangle, chairman of the local draft board, said the present quota for the county is 64 men. January 16 Theodore Roosevelt Smith, colored, of Nokesville, who has been drafted in the third call, will be sent to Baltimore.

VA. BANKS LEND 306 MILLION

More Than 392,000 Loans Made to Virginia Business Firms and Individuals.

Thirty-four per cent of Virginia's commercial banks made more than 392,000 loans totaling $306,000,000 to business firms and individuals throughout the state during the first six months of 1940, according to the semiannual survey of bank lending activity made by the American Bankers Association.

The A. B. A. loan survey was participated in by 108 Virginia banks, or 34.3 per cent of the 315 commercial banks in the state.

These 108 banks reported that they made between January 1, and June 30, 1940:

$6,234 new loans totaling $74,837,619
291,792 renewals of loans totaling $225,790,046

2,090 new mortgage loans totaling $6,059,528
892,106 renewals of loans totaling $306,686,193

The survey showed that business firms in the state used only 37 per cent of the "confirmed open lines of credit" maintained for their use on the books of banks. A total of 24 banks in the larger centers of the state reported that they carried on their books $22,898,950 in "open lines of credit" offered to and kept available for regular borrowers for use as needed by them. Of this amount $8,508,859 or 37.5 per cent was used.

The average number of new loans made per bank during the six months period under review was 909 and the average size of loan was $762.

The average number of loans renewed per bank was 2,702 and the average renewal was for $774.

The average number of new mortgage loans made per bank was 19 and the average new mortgage made was for $2,899.

The Virginia survey was part of a national survey of bank lending activity made by the American Bankers Association. For the country as a whole 6,203 banks, or 43.3 per cent of the nation's commercial banks reported that they made between January 1 and June 30, 1940:

A. B. A. Bank Lending Survey:
7,331,097 new loans totaling $12,253,628,581
6,134,178 renewals of loans totaling $8,246,301,885

177,398 new mortgage loans totaling $453,653,612
13,642,673 renewals of loans totaling $20,953,584,028

This is a total of 13,642,673 credit transactions amounting to $20,953,584,028, reported for the first half of the year less than half the country's banks.

SANTA VISITS KIWANIS

The Manassas Kiwanis Club had a belated surprise visit from old St. Nick on Friday evening. The jolly saint seemed much pleased with the fine co-operation and help the boys of the club had rendered in seeing that no children were forgotten at Christmas time. (Rev. Luttrell displayed all the requisites of a real Santa). Each member of the club received a present from Santa.

Mrs. Burchard very ably assisted Kiwanian Ratcliffe in making the reputation of "the singiest club in the district" hold true.

President Dave Arrington tapped the bell reluctantly at the close of the meeting, completing a year of fine service and growth in Kiwanis activity.

TELEPHONE COMPANY HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

The Central Mutual Telephone Co., held its annual banquet Wednesday, December 23, at the Stone House Inn.

Dr. Geo. B. Cocks, president, was toastmaster. Geo. B. Cullen, connecting supervisor from Richmond, was the guest speaker. Mrs. C. E. Nash of Manassas was also a guest of honor.

Short talks were heard from the members of the board of directors who were present. These included Mr. Harry P. Davis, Mr. T. E. Didlake and Mr. J. A. Vetter, manager. Directors Wood and Hyman were not present. All employees of the company attended the enjoyable affair.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Blough announce the engagement of their daughter, Miriam, to Mr. Loren S. Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Simpson of Altoona, Pa.

Miss Blough is a graduate of Bridgewater College and is now teaching in the local school. Mr. Simpson is also a graduate of Bridgewater College and now holds a teaching position in the High School at Fincastle, Va.

The wedding will take place in the early summer.

FIND NEW WAY OF TWISTING AND BENDING WOOD

A new method for plasticizing wood is announced by the Forest Products Laboratory of the U. S. Forest Service at Madison, Wis. Comparatively simple in operation, reasonably inexpensive, and of apparent application in the bending of wood and in the production of cheap plastics and molded articles, the new treatment is a by-product of the Laboratory's research on the chemical seasoning of refractory woods.

During the course of seasoning experiments it was found that oak which had been soaked in a concentrated solution of urea and then dried became plastic and capable of being bent, twisted, and compressed when a temperature approximately 212 degrees F. was reached and while the wood was still the dry condition. The wood retained its plasticity while at or above the critical temperature and resumed its normal hardness and rigidity when cooled, retaining its altered shape unless reheated. In addition it was found that urea impregnated wood chips or sawdust when subjected to elevated temperatures and pressures can be compressed to a density approaching that of basic wood fiber, and that in becoming self-bonding with the urea-lignin produced by the treatment, they form a material of true thermoplastic properties.

Although the new process apparently has wide possible application in wood bending and in the production of cheap plastics, the Forest Products Laboratory has so far been obliged to ignore specific applications and concentrate its available research effort on exploring fundamentals of the treatment. The work was initiated with blackjack, overcup, southern red and white oaks, but trials with such woods as Sitka spruce and juniper have indicated that the plasticization treatment should be applicable to softwoods as well as hardwoods.

Thermoplasticity, as produced in wood by the urea treatment, should

SOUTHERN BAPTISTS TO SPONSOR BROADCAST SERIES

HEALTH CHECK-UP URGED FOR ADULTS

Physical Examination Advisable for This Season of Year

"At this season of the year executives of mercantile and manufacturing establishments take account of stock. This inventory establishes the amount of business done and also indicates future trends. Thus, it gauges past performance in terms of gains or losses. But, it also discovers, if existing, any weakness in the selling or production program that might not have been apparent on the surface. Based upon these findings, the new programs are planned. The fundamental principle involved in this type of investigation, in the form of the periodic physical examination, profitably could be applied by all persons who are forty or more years of age," states Dr. I. C. Riggins, State Health Commissioner.

"Unfortunately, curiosity concerning one's physical condition is not likely to be keen unless one has been made aware through pain or illness that something is amiss. Upon the theory that, because one looks and feels well, nothing possibly can be wrong, the average middle-aged or older individual is negligent regarding a physical check-up. Nevertheless it is exactly this indifference that gives some of the degenerative diseases their real chance to work under cover up to the point where irreparable damage is done. Statistical tables are burdened with premature casualties due to this misplaced optimism."

"There is no desire to suggest that the majority of adults who look and feel well are otherwise than healthy. What is being emphasized is that a comparatively small proportion belie their looks and feelings, and that it is just plain common sense to make sure that one is not in that class."

"The physical examination which the family physician will make will not be an involved and burdensome rite. Simple tests will be applied. If the investigation does not suggest anything basically wrong, the matter will end at that point until the next examination visit at least six months distant. On the other hand, should something turn up, advanced tests may be required to confirm or dispel suspicions; in which event, the additional time and expense involved will be wisely spent."

"Moreover, barring the discovery of an insidious and dangerous disease, this type of contact with one's family doctor presents an excellent opportunity to obtain advice on fundamental principles of healthy living and the consequent readjustment or elimination, if needed, of any habit or practice which may be working to one's eventual disadvantage. Periodic consultations of this character from this latter standpoint alone, for many persons could add years to life if the counsel received were taken to heart and conscientiously applied."

"In its broadest implications, the physical check-up is a most efficient "Stop, Look, and Listen" procedure. It is a type of inventory that no one of mature years can afford to disregard."

MABEL VIRGINIA MATTHEW

Mrs. Mabel Virginia Matthew, age 65, died December 19, at her home at Arcola, Va., as a result of a heart attack. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Omeara, natives of Loudoun County.

Mrs. Matthew had been a member of the Fair View Methodist Church for forty-three years. She was married to Henry James Matthew, December 15, 1897. Her survivors are husband, Henry James Matthew; daughters, Mrs. D. S. Allison, Mrs. Robert Lanham; sons, Mr. Charlie V. Matthew, Mr. Walton J. Matthew; sisters and brothers, Mr. E. F. Omeara, Mrs. E. T. Wilson, Mrs. Ida Fox, and ten grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the Fair View Church, Dec. 21, with Rev. John S. Schwartz conducting the services. The pallbearers were Charles Smith, Lester Wilson, Frank Mayhugh, Stonewall Omeara, Charles W. Peters, and McClellan Mayhugh.

AID TO CHINA TOTALS MILLION

Red Cross Supplies Clothing, Drugs and Food for War-Stricken China

American Red Cross relief for Chinese victims of warfare now totals $1,000,000 it was announced.

Supplies, including wheat and rice, drugs, surgical gauze and cotton and cloth for garments, of a valuation of $250,000 have reached China and distribution has begun, according to cable advices from American Red Cross representatives.

Wheat, drugs, surgical materials and cloth purchased and which will be shipped as fast as transportation is available, total $713,000.

An American Red Cross distribution system has been set up successfully in both Free and occupied China, and additional relief supplies will go forward upon advices from the American representatives on the scene, it was said. Relief being shipped is purchased from Red Cross war relief funds and from the Congressional appropriation of $50,000,000 for victims of war in foreign countries.

Flying a quantity of vitamin B-1 tablets to China by clipper plane to combat prevalence of beri-beri, and purchase of 5,000 tons of wheat, 200 tons of denim cloth and several tons of vital drugs and surgical dressing material are the latest steps in the American Red Cross program of relief of Chinese victims of warfare, it was announced this week.

The first shipment of 20,000 vitamin B-1 tablets left San Francisco on the clipper plane today, and the same quantity will be carried on the following flights, December 24 and 31. An additional 100,000 tablets will be shipped on the S. S. President Taft on December 20.

Cable advices received from Dr. J. E. Baker, director of American Red Cross China relief, stated a serious prevalence of beri-beri existed in the Hong Kong-Canton area. The tablets will be divided among the hospitals, being shipped up the Pearl river to Canton from Hong Kong on the U. S. S. Gunboat Mindanao. Additional quantities will be shipped. Red Cross officials said, if further request is received.

The wheat will be shipped from Pacific Coast ports to Shanghai, 1,000 tons going forward January 10 and 2,000 tons on January 30.

To meet the continuing needs of Chinese in the Chungking area, the following additional drugs and surgical material will be shipped on the first available boat to Rangoon, Burma:

Thirty million aspirin tablets; 1,200,000 tablets sulfanilamide; 26,000 pounds sodium bicarbonate; 64,000 pounds boric acid; 24,000 tablets emetine hydrochloride; 140 pounds procaine; 2,000 pounds chloroform; 6,400 pounds iodine; 3,800 pounds potassium iodide; 2,000 pounds ether; 7,400 pounds absorbent cotton and 8,250,000 yards surgical gauze.

Two hundred tons of denim cloth to be made into clothing for men, women and children in Free China through the co-operation of the Chinese Red Cross, also will be shipped on an early boat to Rangoon.

An additional 21,200,000 quinine sulphate tablets has been purchased by the American Red Cross in Java for early shipment through Rangoon to Chungking. An equal quantity previously had been purchased and shipped.

VITAMIN A POTENCY OF GUERSEY MILK

According to the Councils on Foods of the American Medical Association, and printed in the May issue of the American Medical Journal, it has been found, after a year and a half of research in the Milwaukee-Madison, Wisconsin, markets, that Guernsey milk sold on those markets contained on the average approximately twenty-five per cent more Vitamin A than did regular milks sold on these markets.

The Vitamin A content varied somewhat with the feed and the time of year, more Vitamin A being present in the milk during that season of the year when the cows were on green pasture. The report also stated that the Vitamin A content could be raised during the winter months by feeding high carotene silage such as that made from green legumes.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST
CHRISTMAS

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER
If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in later years.

And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweet-smelling savor. Ephesians 5:2.

THE NEW YEAR

Addressing "the kings and judges of the earth" the Psalmist wrote "rejoice with trembling". That is as good an admonition today as it was when it was originally written.

Most Americans awoke this morning, the beginning of a New Year, in a more thoughtful and sober mood than they have known at any time since the first World War. Conditions are not as we would have them. We realize that, while we should rejoice over the manifold blessings that have been vouchsafed to us, we should do so with trembling, although not in despair. If man has made a sorry mess of the world, by the same token he is powerful enough to re-build a better one.

So, while we let yesterday bury past regrets, today we should start the foundations of new hope; but not because it marks a formal and arbitrary division of time. Every day begins a new year and every hour begins a new decade upon the seamless web of history. Any morning may bring the shattering experiences or the supreme blessing from which the pattern of our lives diverge. Any day may start a war or bring a peace, or witness the human triumph or circumstance, which begins an epoch in our existence that really matters. What happens for better or for worse depends more upon ourselves than upon the calendar.

If mankind could give composite expression to its greatest wish for the New Year, the voice of humanity would swell in one grand chorus in its plea for peace, not peace at any price, not a peace coming as a bribe for our liberties, not a peace of appeasement, but a peace that would forever banish war. That is the one great wish for which

We extend best wishes of the season to each and every patron of this bank, and wish for our many friends the happiest holidays of their lives.

The Peoples National Bank of Manassas

What part are banks playing in the national defense program?

THEY are providing the all-important credit that makes the wheels of industry turn. The American banking system is on record as being ready and willing to do its full share. This bank welcomes loan applications for defense or other sound purposes.

hundreds of millions are yearning at the beginning of the year. In cherishing the hope of such a peace which we do not at the moment see in the offing, the American people should not relax their preparations nor slow down their efforts, but should go forward with all possible speed to attain their collective wish — but still "rejoice with trembling".

TELEPHONE DIRECTORY OF 1894 HAD BUT 336 PAGES

National Directory Included
Exchanges for Eighteen
States

A national telephone directory published in 1894 contained only 336 pages. This directory listed all telephones in the United States which could be connected by metallic circuits with the long distance lines of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

It included exchanges in 18 states: Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Kentucky; also the District of Columbia.

Today a bookshelf, 35 feet long would be required to hold one copy of each of the current telephone directories issued by the Bell System.

New York state had the longest list, covering 135 pages. This compares with 1,132 pages in the latest edition of New York City's telephone directory for Manhattan alone.

When this "national" telephone directory was published, long distance telephone service extended only as far west as Chicago. Today telephone communication is practically world-wide.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 5.

The Golden Text will be "Praise waiteth for thee, O God, in Zion: and unto thee shall the vow be performed, O thou that hearest prayer, unto thee shall all flesh come" Psa. 65:1,2.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved. For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God" Rom. 10:1,2.

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We must receive the divine Principle in the understanding, and live it in daily life; and then we go, and we can no more demonstrate Science, than we can teach and illustrate geometry by calling a curve a straight line or a straight line a sphere" p. 223.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brawner visited relatives here over the holidays.
Mr. and Mrs. Grover King had as their dinner guests last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Burdette and daughter, Gerry of Alexandria.

GEMS OF THOUGHT SERVICE

Self-improvement
Judge of thine improvement, not by what thou speakest or writest, but by the firmness of thy mind, and the government of thy passions and affections.—Fuller.

"Infinite wisdom is able to sweep away a mist; but by ascending a ladder of self, often we are in it altogether. So it is with our moral improvement; we are often at a vicious habit, which would have no hold upon us if we ascended into a higher moral atmosphere.—Sir Arthur Helps.

To remove those objects of sense called sickness and disease, we must appeal to mind to improve its subjects and objects of thought, and give to the body those better delineations.

LADY WITH RED HAIR IS GAY, GLITTERING FILM FARE

Things were very gay back in the days when gallant gentlemen drank their champagne from the dainty satin slippers of the reigning stage queen, when the nineteenth century was turning into the twentieth, and when all actresses and red heads were considered "fast". Mrs. Leslie Carter was both an actress and a redhead, which may be part of the reason why her life story, "Lady with Red Hair", turns out to be such exciting and satisfying film fare. Another, and very good reason is that Miriam Hopkins is starring in the name role of the Pitt's new film, Thursday and Friday, January 9 and 10.

As Mrs. Carter, the internationally famous stage star, envied by all women, adored by all men, temperamental darling with her many-faceted character, Miss Hopkins reaches dramatic stature that she has never before achieved on the screen. Her Mrs. Carter richly measures up to all the glorious legend that surrounds the most glamorous star of the gay nineties.

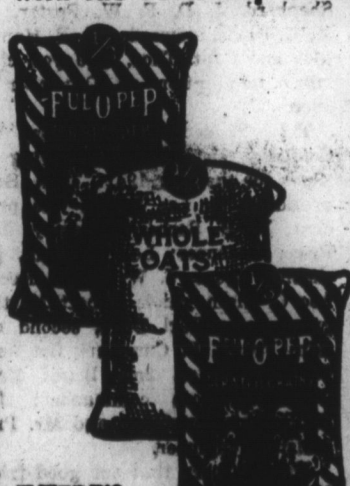

It was David Belasco, showman extraordinary, to whom Mrs. Carter owned a great deal of her fame, and due tribute is given him in the screen story. He is masterfully portrayed by the versatile Claude Rains.

Divorced from her husband, and separated from her child, she leaves Chicago and goes to New York. Totally inexperienced as an actress she goes to the then youthful Belasco and demands that he write a play to star her in.

Triumph follows triumph as she stars in one Belasco success after another. Enter love—as the grain meets Lou Payne—the young man who befriended her when she first moved to New York.

Besides Miss Hopkins and Rains, the very able cast includes Richard Ainley in the role of Payne, Laura Hope Crews as Mrs. Carter's mother,

1940 CHEVROLET SALES PASS MILLION MARK

Chevrolet sales of new passenger and commercial cars for the calendar year of 1940 passed the 1,000,000 mark December 20; it was announced here this week by William E. Holler, general sales manager. This is the third time in the history of the division that sales in any calendar year have exceeded 1,000,000. In 1935, Chevrolet dealers retail in excess of one million cars and trucks, and 1940, according to his estimates, will surpass 1935. Mr. Holler said: "Only in 1935 and 1936 did Chevrolet dealers retail in excess of one million cars and trucks, while each month of 1940 ran well ahead of the comparable month last year, leading to the million-plus total for the year."

"This sales record is due to two factors", Mr. Holler added. "First was the success of our 1940 model, of which we produced and sold 1,000,000 during the final quarter of 1939 and the first eight months of 1940. Second, is the outstanding public approval of our new 1941 models, introduced in September and selling in increasing volume since."

Chevrolet dealers have maintained first place in automobile sales in nine of the past 10 years, Mr. Holler added.

PROPOSED BRIDGE ACROSS CHESAPEAKE BAY

Two sites for an automobile bridge across Chesapeake Bay, long under consideration, have been studied by bridge engineers of the J. E. Greiner Co. for the Maryland State Roads Commission, one extending between Millers Island and Tolchester, and the other between Sandy Point and Kent Island. The engineers have rejected the former in favor of the latter. The plan for this bridge across Chesapeake Bay and its value as part of the defense program is outlined in an illustrated feature article appearing next Sunday in The Washington Sunday Star.

Careers in Engineering

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

ANY young man who is planning a career in engineering must give consideration to the pay he may earn. A recent study showed that the earning curve of engineers as a class continues upward to well past the age of 50, in sharp contrast to that of the artisan or technician whose earnings usually taper off after 40. Incidentally, this upward trend also is common to most other professions, such as law and medicine.

An effort has been made by the United States Civil Service Commission to divide the various grades of engineering ability into eight brackets, with annual compensations ranging from $2,000 for the junior professional grade with duties under immediate supervision, to $9,000 or over for special administrative work.

Another study of salaries for engineering graduates conducted by the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education showed a first-year salary of $1,475. After five years the salary was $2,860, and then upward to about $7,500 thirty years after graduation. The highest ten per cent of this group reached salaries averaging $30,000.

Never before have the opportunities in engineering been so great. Under such circumstances there is no question but that the field is an appealing and a promising one for the young man who has ability to work with people, ability to analyze programs, good judgment, good imagination, and mechanical intuition.

DR. BUCKLEY NEW HEAD OF BELL LABS

Dr. O. E. Buckley, left, new president of Bell Telephone Laboratories, receives congratulations from Dr. F. B. Jewett, his predecessor. Dr. Jewett becomes chairman of the Board of Directors of the Laboratories.

Dr. Oliver E. Buckley, executive vice president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, New York City, has just been appointed president, succeeding Dr. Frank B. Jewett, who has held the post of president since the incorporation of the Laboratories in 1925.

Dr. Jewett now becomes chairman of the Board of Directors of the Laboratories. While he retains responsibility for the general program of research in the Bell System, the change will increase the time he has available to meet two official assignments in the service of the nation. These are his presidency of the National Academy of Sciences, which is the official scientific advisory body to the government, and his duties as a member of the National Defense Research Committee.

Dr. Buckley entered the Bell System in 1914 as a research physicist. Since then he has been intimately associated with telephone research. He became director of research in 1933 and executive vice president in 1936. He is chairman of the Engineering Foundation Board, a member of the National Academy of Sciences, and a fellow of several engineering and scientific societies.

ROBERT CUMMINGS, DEANNA'S SWEETHEART IN LAVISH FILM

First actor to gain the honor of playing the masculine leading role with Deanna Durbin twice is Robert Cummings, who's the object of the star's affections in her current picture, "Spring Parade", now at the Pitt's Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, January 6 and 7.

Just a few seasons ago Cummings made his first appearance with Miss Durbin in Universal's "Three Smart Girls Grow Up".

The role proved to be the turning point in Bob's life, as for some months previously the young star's career had been in a bit of a slump. "Three Smart Girls Grow Up" provided role different from anything he'd ever played, and shot him into a popularity he'd never enjoyed before.

Cummings credits producer Joe Pasternak and director Henry Koster with discovering the type of character he could play best.

"I had always been cast in parts where I was supposed to be a weeping who becomes hysterical when things start to go bad," Bob says. "Koster and Pasternak discovered I had a bit of comedy ability and weren't afraid to take a chance."

The actor is portraying the role of a devil-may-care, flirtatious young blade in Deanna's new "Spring Parade".

In his first picture with Deanna, "Three Smart Girls Grow Up", there was no romance between the star and Cummings. In "Spring Parade" he's the man she falls in love with. It will be the first time Deanna has had a real sweetheart on the screen.

GILBERT B. SPINDLE

Mr. Gilbert B. Spindle, a life long resident of this county, died at his home here, December 21.

Services conducted by Elder H. H. Lefferts at Centreville, Monday, December 23. Interments were beside his wife, the former Jennie Makely who died several years ago.

Surviving are four daughters: Iva, Inez, Ida, and Idell, and one son, Alvah B. Spindle. He is also survived by several grand children.

Mr. Spindle had been sick quite some time. His passing was not a shock to the people of this community. He was a veteran of the Spanish American War.

RADIOTELEPHONE SYSTEM WILL CONNECT "LOST ISLANDS" OF TANGIER AND SMITH

Proposed Project Launched By C. & P. Telephone Companies Of Maryland And Virginia Will Cost Approximately $30,000

The 2,200 inhabitants of Tangier Island, Virginia and Smith Island, Maryland, are getting ready to do annual battle with old man winter. What he has in store for them not even the weather bureau can predict, but if, as happened in 1936, he goes on a rampage, chokes the blue-green Chesapeake with ice and cuts off the islands from the mainland, he will find the Tangerians and Smithmen well prepared for him, armed with a new weapon against isolation—the telephone.

Nestled in the corner of lower Chesapeake Bay some ten or twelve miles off the eastern shores of Maryland and Virginia, the islands have for years engaged in a never-ending struggle with the elements. In fair weather months the several miles of water separating them from Crisfield, Maryland, the nearest point on the Bay coast, have served as a valuable ally in the islanders' determination to prevent destruction, by the march of progress taking place in the outside world, of the privacy and independence they value so highly. But with the advent of winter these waters often become jammed with ice—ice which locks in the mail boats and other craft constituting the life-line of communication and food between the islands and Crisfield. Then it is that Tangier and Smith literally become "lost islands." Left to their own meager resources the residents of Tangier and Smith have frequently been faced with serious food shortages. Illnesses requiring hospitalization resulted in story-book rescues and pilots flying planes from the mainland. Milk for babies and medical supplies were transported under hazardous conditions.

But in the latter part of 1939 the islanders appealed to the forces of modern science for aid. The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies of Maryland and Virginia responded to their appeal by installing portable radiotelephone equipment on the islands and at Crisfield for the transmission of urgent messages. At that time the equipment was to be used only in case of emergencies, but the large number of calls sent out served as irrefutable evidence of the pressing need for telephone service.

Phone Service Restored

Suspended since the outbreak of the Spanish Civil War in 1936, regular telephone service between the United States and Spain was recently restored with the opening of a direct short-wave radio circuit between New York and Madrid.

WINNER STARS IN NEW WESTERN FILM 1-MAN'S LAW

Don "Red" Barry, the red-headed Texan who was victorious over five hundred aspirants for the lead in Republic's new western series to supplement the Gene Autry, Roy Rogers and Three Mesquiteros pictures, again demonstrates the wisdom of Republic's choice by his excellent work in "One Man's Law" which opens Saturday, January 4, at the Pitt's Theatre.

Barry, who was christened "Donald Barry de Acosta", left the Texas School of Mines to go to New York and audaciously bluff his way into "Tobacco Road", Broadway's hardy perennial.

Hollywood was the next step in his progression, but he found it more difficult to crash the film than to crash Broadway, and for a while had to take a job on the sales staff of a Hollywood trade paper to support himself while waiting for the Great Opportunity.

This opportunity broke at Republic Studios, where Barry was signed for a starring role opposite Helen Mack in "Calling All Marines". This was followed by prominent roles in "Wyoming Outlaw" and "Days of Jesse James", and his initial starring film on his new western contract, "Ghost Valley Raiders". Shortly after the completion of the latter he portrayed the popular comic strip character, "Red Ryder", in a Republic Red Ryder.

MRS. EMMONS PASSED AWAY

Mildred Lickorish Emmons passed to the great beyond on August 1, 1940.

Mrs. Emmons with her husband the late A. L. Emmons moved to Virginia June 1918. On August 15, 1928, Mr. Emmons passed away; in October 1928 Mrs. Emmons moved to Madison, Ohio, to make her home with her sister, Mrs. A. C. Newton; where she remained until her death. Mrs. Emmons passing came as a shock to her family and many friends, as she was only sick a few hours.

Mrs. Emmons was born in N. Ridgeville, Ohio, October 22, 1870. She leaves to mourn her loss, one daughter, Mrs. J. A. Sessions of Columbus, Ohio. One son, Willard Emmons of Boykins, Va., one brother, J. D. Lickorish of Elyria, Ohio. One sister, Mrs. A. C. Newton of Madison, Ohio, with whom she made her home. She was laid to rest in the N. Ridgeville Cemetery in the family lot on August 4, 1940.

Whereas: The Kensington Society has lost by death one of its most earnest and active workers, Mrs. A. L. Emmons. She was one of the first officers of the Kensington Society. Which she helped to organize in June 1919.

Whereas: Mrs. Emmons was ready and willing at all times to assist in any worthy cause for the advancement of the principles of her Church and our Society.

She was greatly beloved by all of us, for to know her was to love her. Mrs. Emmons knew the secret of beautiful living and carried the riches of God within herself. She set an inspiring example of self-sacrifice.

Many beautiful traits made up her character. She was beloved by the entire community, and was one of our most faithful members until she returned to Ohio to make her home.

Therefore be it resolved:

That this Society extend to the family and friends of our departed member, their deepest sympathy, and join with them in mourning the loss of not only a splendid member of our society, but a most excellent citizen. May they be greatly comforted by the affection and esteem in which she was held by her many friends.

There are many whom we have loved and lost awhile, but God will take us into their goodly company some glad day.

We unite in expressing our sincere sympathy.

Be it further resolved:

That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our records and a copy sent to the bereaved family.

GIRL REPORTER GIVES BLOOD TO BRITAIN; TELLS REACTION

On the first day that the newspapers carried an announcement that the American Red Cross was calling for volunteer blood donors for the British war wounded there were eleven applicants at the New York office. The next day there were thirty-eight.

Three hours after my name had been entered the Blood Plasma Division of the Red Cross called to make the appointment for the Vanderbilt Clinic at Medical Centre two days later.

One went through typical dispensary crowds in a vague aura of heroism. The nurses-in-training who gave directions through the large building helped sustain that aura. The first words, or even glances, of inquiry were sharp. Dispensary clients get the best of medical attention, but psychologically they are apt to be a bit bothersome because there are always droves of them and the nurses are ready to be curt. One had only to say Blood Plasma Division, however and the tone changed.

It was the first day of actual blood-taking, and a sense of thrill hung over the blood clinic proper. The girl at the desk was excited.

Three women and a man were the first arrivals. The woman next to me on the waiting bench was a German Jewess, nine years resident in the United States. She was working woman; my guess is that she was a governess. She was disappointed because her offer to take a British child for a month had not yet been acknowledged by the committee. Once before she had tried to donate blood to a poor young man whose picture was in the paper, but he died two hours before the transfusion was to take place. Now she had been the very first to appear here, but the woman doctor who came on the floor earliest had asked her to wait. She had small veins. It was the departmental head who took her finally.

Another young woman came along, and when she and the young man and I were the only three left on the waiting bench a nurse appeared and stuck alcohol-tasting thermometers into our mouths. We sat so embellished when a horde of newspaper photographers armed with the usual flashlight paraphernalia and escorted by a man from the Red Cross and a hospital authority trooped in. The young man, being the only male present (it was during business hours) was asked whether he minded being photographed in the process of donating blood. They either threatened or promised that the pictures were likely to appear throughout the whole world, but he didn't mind. He had a slight accent; I could not place it. The other young woman didn't mind being photographed either. She posed with her mouth open and the nurse about to stick a thermometer into it. Later, while I was in the private room, waiting for the transfusionist, I saw the flashlights working in adjoining rooms.

It's a strange feeling, being treated like a hero by a doctor and a nurse. Regular patients are pampered, but always in a way that makes them realize they are considered babies. This was different. May be the subsequent donors didn't get it so markedly because even hero-worship wears off. But we got it plenty that first day. Everybody said thank you. We were given a delicious egg-nog and a bandage on the arm as a reward.

Woody is the word for describing how you feel when it is all over. You get up and decide you had better lie down again for a minute or two. Your body seems to be saying: "What the hell! What did I ever do to you that you make me manufacture an extra pint of blood on a pleasant day?"

On the waiting bench four more women are sitting with thermometers sticking out of their mouths. Their eyes search the face of the one who has emerged. They are not afraid, but nobody can look heroic with a thermometer in his mouth.

On the street the newstands are loaded with headlines: Thousand Planes Bomb Britain. And sipping a cup of good hot American coffee in the cafeteria across the road I reflected that even without the thermometers our heroism was not much to write home about.

A TREAT FOR ALL THRILL LOVERS

There's a treat awaiting all lovers of fast-action, outdoor films at the Pitt's Theatre, where "Gun Code" Tim McCoy's latest big-thrill Western is packing 'em in at every performance. This picture is absolutely the last word in tense drama, so charged with exciting situations and shock punches that you feel almost punch-drunk when the crash-climax comes. The star is seen as a frontier marshall who comes on the scene at the cow-town of Miller's Flats, just after his dad and the editor of a weekly paper have been murdered by the members of a band of blackmailers, headed by a supposedly respectable banker. There are many crooked trails for Tim to follow, but he negotiates them successfully, shoots down the thugs who ambush him, cleans up the situation in a final whirlwind reel of devastating fury.

It's a sure-dandy Western and both writer and director deserve praise for developing a film that's a whole lot more than merely blazing guns and horse-opera. It's reel good drama, filled with adventure, romance and timely comedy. McCoy does himself proud as the dashing marshall, and the supporting cast a peach! Inna Gest is the winsome heroine. Peter Stewart directed.

I Like This Book

One of a series of book reviews by students of Osbourne High School, Manassas. Session 1940-41. In competition for the W. C. Wagener Memorial Prize.

THE TREE OF LIBERTY by Elizabeth Page

Entertainment is well blended with historical information in "The Tree of Liberty" by Elizabeth Page, published by Farrar and Rinehart in 1939. This is a romantic novel of the eighteenth century, having as its background Colonial Virginia with all of its wonderful scenery, canals, inns, and beautiful women.

The author has a gift in describing the different types of characters that existed in Virginia at the time.

Matthew Howard, the hero, is a backwoodsman from Augusta County, and is typical of his class. He is a man of sudden outbursts of anger, of underlying kindness toward others, and a great zest for life.

A job as surveyor takes him to Williamsburg, where he meets and marries Jane Peyton, a beautiful, charming, and well-bred girl who is a typical Tidewater "blueblood".

Matthew, who went to school with Thomas Jefferson, shares his ideas about the government of the colonies and goes so far as to fight for them in the Revolutionary War in spite of the protests of his wife.

Later, Peyton and James, his two sons, also join the army and become captains. Peyton is an aide to Lafayette while James serves on the staff of General Alexander Hamilton.

After the war, Peyton settles down to practice law and believes very firmly as his father and Thomas Jefferson do, while James takes sides with Hamilton and goes into the manufacturing business. The two sons carry on the tradition started by their parents, but instead of being the wealthy planter against the "poor white trash", it now becomes big business and law.

I personally liked this book because of the vivid picture of Thomas Jefferson painted by the author. Elizabeth Page points out the true Jefferson, one of the most colorful statesmen in the developing of America. She describes his views on the government as well as those of Hamilton and Adams, his adversaries.

For a good story about the making of our great country, for a story well-seasoned with interesting characters, and for a book that makes you feel glad that you are a Virginian, I can suggest no better one than "The Tree of Liberty".

This book may be borrowed from the Ruffner Carnegie Library. —"Smiley" Breeden.

Manassas Journal

Thirty prominent men and women have consented to act as chairmen in as many counties and cities of Virginia for the annual "fight infantile paralysis" campaign. State Chairman John Galleher announced this week at headquarters in the Richmond Hotel. At the same time it was disclosed that eighteen distinguished Virginians had accepted appointment on the advisory committee.

Mr. Galleher said the names of local chairmen are being given as quickly as possible to all newspapers serving the communities in which these men and women will direct the 1941 infantile paralysis campaign. He expressed the hope that organization will be complete within the next week, in order that every effort may be made to bring the drive to a successful conclusion on January 30, birthday of President Roosevelt. He asks that all citizens who wish to help get in touch with the chairmen of their respective communities as soon as the chairmen's names are announced.

Distinguished Virginians who will serve on the Advisory Committee are:

R. Walton Moore, Counselor of the Department of State, Washington; the Rt. Rev. H. St. George Tucker, Bishop of Virginia and presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church in the United States; the Most Rev. Peter L. Iretton, Catholic Co-adjutor Bishop of Richmond; E. L. Fox, president of the Co-operative Education Association, Richmond; C. O'Connor Goodrick, former State Senator, Fredericksburg; General J. A. Anderson; coordinator and executive secretary of the Virginia Defense Council; Dr. Belle Boone Beard, member of the faculty of Sweet Briar College; Miss Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, West Point; Dr. Robert V. Funsten, University of Virginia Hospital; Dr. Sidney B. Hall, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Dr. William T. Sanger, president of the Medical College of Virginia; Dr. Hugh Trout, Jefferson Hospital, Roanoke; Major Raymond B. Bottom, publisher, Daily Press, Inc., Newport News; Junius P. Fishburn, publisher, Roanoke Times and World-News; Dr. L. C. Riffin, State Health Commissioner; Lee Long, Dante; John Stewart Bryan, president of the College of William and Mary; and T. Emmett Warriner, commander of the Department of Virginia, American Legion.

NEW OFFICERS AT KIWANIS HELM

Former Lieut. Governor Hutchison Conducts Installation Ceremonies.

The 1941 Kiwanis season got off to a flying start last Friday evening when former-Lieut-Governor R. A. Hutchison inducted the new officers into their several stations.

Col. Bob made one of the best jobs which he has ever performed on a similar occasion and kept the group in a hearty roar with his well placed mirth.

Both Past President Dave Arrington and President Frank Sigman made neat little addresses. Everyone felt the utter sincerity of Frank's remarks, and he is sure to get uniform and consistent support. Charley Lynn took his seat, greeted with an equal amount of applause, as did Secretary "Dick" Graham and Treasurer "Mons" Ledman.

A letter from Mrs. Gibson was read regretting the enforced absence of Mr. Gibson (husband).

Henry Clay from the Arlington Club was a visitor.

President Frank announced the following committees:

Agriculture: Roseberry, Conner, Kinchloe and Lewis.

Attendance: Hooff, Gibson, Kerlin, and Peters.

Boys and Girls: Parrish, Haydon, Hooff and Ledman.

Business Standards: Brown, Hutchison, F. Hynson, and Tiffany.

Christmas: Kinchloe, Hutchison, Lewis, Lynn Martin, and Watson.

Kiwanis Education: T. E. Didlake, Bradford, and Lloyd.

Finance: Tiffany, Bradford and Martin.

Housing: Arrington, Lloyd, and Truett.

Inter-Club: Hutchison, Martin, Wharton, and Widmer.

Way and Means: R. H. Hynson, Bradford, Alpaugh, Graham, Ratcliffe, and Peters.

Laws and Regulations: Lewis, Lynn, and R. S. Hynson.

Music: Ratcliffe, Alpaugh, Conner, and Graham.

Program: Widmer, Graham, Haydon, F. Hynson, and Martin.

Public Affairs: Lynn, Bradford, Brown, R. Hynson, Kerlin, and Conner.

Publicity: Wharton, Gibson, Waters, and Widmer.

Reception and Visiting: Martin, Ledman, and Wharton.

Under-Privileged Child: Truett, Maydon, Ledman, Sadd, Parrish, and Widmer.

Vocational Guidance: Peters, Arrington, Didlake, and Sadd.

MANASSAS PLAYS

OCOQUAN FRIDAY

The local high school hoopsters will lock horns with the Ocoquan leather tossers on Friday evening at seven-thirty. This game will be the initial league game of the season and should prove a good contest.

Our boys have a fair team and have won two games in as many starts in high school competition.

Come on out and help our teams lead the league until the end of the season.

Tuesday nite our lads and lassies travel to Haymarket to tangle with the "Red Devils".

FIREMEN CAGERS OPEN SEASON

PLAYING DEPT. OF LABOR

Monday night the firemen basketball team play the fast moving Dept. of Labor team from Washington.

This will be the opening game of the year for the locals who have excellent prospects for a successful season.

The starting line-up for Monday night will probably be W. Lynn, N. Lynn, Smith, Keith and S. Vetter, while the following reserves are capable of filling in: Miller, Brown, Murphy, Brown, Gilliam, B. Vetter, and Butler.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Deputy O. B. Hopkins of Alexandria will be on hand on Monday night to install the newly elected officers of Prince William Council, No. 46, Daughters of America. A full attendance is urged.

CHANCE OF TIME OF MEETING

The Parents-Teachers Association of Gainesville District will hold its regular meeting the fourth Thursday, January 23, instead of the third Thursday due to the county meeting to be held in Manassas on that date.

PRINCE WILLIAM-FAUQUIER DAIRYMEN TO MEET

A meeting of Prince William, Fauquier and Culpeper dairymen will be held at Warrenton, on a date to be announced later, to discuss advisability of organizing an artificial breeding association to serve herds of interested dairymen of these three counties.

Under this plan, outstanding proven bulls of each breed are kept at one central point and an experienced man employed to carry out the artificial breeding work for members of the Association. The cost per service will probably be more than under the usual plan of having direct service on farm but it should be possible to obtain better bulls for the use of all members than each individual can afford to buy for use with his herd.

Local dairymen will be notified of the date of the Warrenton meeting. Artificial breeding associations are now in successful operation in many dairy sections of the country.

MRS. CHLOE E. LAY HODGE

Mrs. Chloe E. Lay Hodge, resident of Manassas since 1907 passed away at her late home here on Sunday morning, January 5, in the ninety fourth year of her age. Her husband was the late Professor B. Templeton Hodge of Manassas, who served in the Confederate States Army.

Born in Montreal of American parents (Robert Wolcott Lay and Eleanor Haight) Mrs. Hodge was educated in that city and studied music in London and Paris. She was a member of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and also took active part in the organization of the organization of officers, to applaud the winners of the contest, and to listen to Mr. J. M. Kline's talk, which should be of interest to every citizen in the county.

Funeral services were held at Trinity Church, of which she was a member, on Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. J. F. Burks officiating. Interment was in the family lot at Manassas.

Mrs. Hodge was very popular with a large circle of friends. She was an adorable personality, and her going is generally regretted.

ODD FELLOW INITIATION

Crescent Lodge No. 33, Independent Order of Odd Fellows initiated a class of candidates on Tuesday evening. A delegation from Highland Lodge No. 202, Manassas, attended and large delegations were also present from Falls Church, Clarendon, Alexandria, Dumfries, Fredericksburg, and from Oklahoma.

The District Deputy and staff from Falls Church put on the work in a very impressive manner and a presentation of colors was especially noteworthy.

County Game Warden W. S. Brewer advises all dog owners to get their licenses now. The period of grace will be extended to February 1st after which all owners of any dog four months of age are liable to arrest and fine.

MRS. DAVIES NEW POST MISTRESS

Mrs. Hawes T. Davies, jr., took over the active duties as Postmistress at Manassas, Va., on January 1, 1941. It became necessary for her husband, Mr. Hawes Thorton Davies, jr., to resign as Postmaster because of his recent illness.

In naming Mrs. Davies to succeed her husband, the Department followed a procedure now widely accepted in government circles.

Mrs. Davies is one of the very popular young ladies of this town and she is very active in clubs where her business-like qualities are relied on in administrative work.

We wish her much success in her new duties and also extend sympathy in her husband's illness. Hawes, jr. has been very successful in the administration of his office and we know Mrs. Hawes will give equal satisfaction.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS TO

The election of officers of the Young Democratic Club of Prince William County for the year 1941 will take place at the Court House on Tuesday night, January 14, at 8 p. m.

At this meeting cash prizes will be awarded to the winners of the membership campaign contest for 1940. The first prize will be $25.00, the second prize $15.00 and the third prize $10.00. They will be presented by Mr. C. C. Clee, chairman of the County Democratic Committee.

A brief talk will be made by Mr. A. E. Jakeman, director of the Manassas State Vocational School on the work now being accomplished at the school and the plans for the future.

Every member of the club is urged to be present at this important meeting.

Officers, to applaud the winners of the contest, and to listen to Mr. J. M. Kline's talk, which should be of interest to every citizen in the county.

J. M. KLINE HERD LEADS IN DECEMBER

The production of both milk and butterfat of the herd of John M. Kline led the Prince William County Dairy Herd Improvement Association during the month of December. The average production of the Kline herd was 95 pounds milk and 36.2 butterfat per cow.

The herd of W. L. Coverston was second with 862 pounds milk and 36 pounds butterfat per cow. The herd of Wilmer M. Kline was third with 85.5 pounds butterfat and 873 pounds milk per cow.

The average production of the 20 dairy herds on test in the local association for December was 687 pounds milk and 26.4 pounds butterfat per cow. This was equivalent to an average of more than one pound of butter per day for each cow on test in the 20 herds of the Prince William D. H. A.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Hawes Thorton announced the engagement of daughter, Elizabeth Thorton, to Charles Craig Lynn, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Lynn.

The wedding will take place in the spring.

WILL CO-OPERATE WITH PARALYSIS CAMPAIGN

The county school board held its January meeting Saturday with all members present. Another regular meeting will be held on January 14, at 10 a. m., at the Manassas High School.

Mr. Johnny Russell was elected as driver at Ocoquan to transport the present school.

Plans for Haymarket school were received and approved.

The board will co-operate with the Washington School League in installing electric lights in the Washington School.

Resolutions were passed allowing the schools to cooperate in the possible with the local committee in carrying the campaign for infantile paralysis.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Sacrament" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 12.

The Golden Text will be "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all" (II Cor. 13:14).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel: After those days, saith the Lord, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people" (Jer. 31:33).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christianity as Jesus taught it was not a creed, nor a system of ceremonies, nor a special gift from a ritualistic Jehovah; but it was the demonstration of divine Love casting out error and healing the sick, not merely in the name of Christ, or Truth, but in demonstration of Truth, as must be the case in the cycles of divine light" (p. 135).

Miss Lettie Sullivan called on her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sullivan.

Miss Evelyn Arrington spent Christmas in North Carolina with friends.

Mr. L. E. Strother had friends from Lincoln.

Mrs. Robert Oliver of Alexandria called at her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Nelson.

Ed. Note: Our correspondent sent us some rosebuds which he found in his yard when the above notes were written.

OCCOQUAN AND VICINITY

Mr. and Mrs. E. Myron Lynn have returned to Occoquan after spending New Year's at Back Bay, as the guests of Mrs. Lynn's parents.

Mrs. W. C. Heider of Lorton will leave on Sunday for a month's vacation in Florida. She will accompany her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Heider, jr., of Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. McNeil of Washington, D. C., entertained at dinner on New Year's day. Out of town guests were Capt. and Mrs. Thos. F. Joyce and daughter, Mary B. Joyce of Occoquan.

Due to the vacancy created in the officers of the O-W-L-Volunteer Fire Company, Occoquan, an election was held on Friday evening January 3, and the following were elected Mr. Claude M. Green, assistant fire chief, to fill vacancy caused by the death of Mr. William R. Sealeman; Leroy Petellat, to 2nd. Lieut., to fill vacancy created by the promotion of Mr. Green. Also; Mr. John A. Musselman appointed the following:

Mr. Clyde Bryant, chief engineer and driver; Mr. Wallace S. Lynn, second driver; Mr. R. Warthen Hall, third driver; Mr. Lacey Harvey, fourth driver, and Messrs. C. W. Hixson and James E. Sheppard, electricians.

The Vestry of Pohick Church have installed a memorial plate to the memory of the late James M. Denty, who during his life was a faithful worker and liberal contributor to Pohick Church, and in his will left valuable property to the church. This memorial plate was installed on one of the Pews in the Church.

Old Occoquan has again lost one of its dearest citizens; Mr. A. B. Rogers who has been postmaster of Occoquan during the past several years, and who was loved by old and young. He was laid to rest in Orange, Va., where most of his living relatives reside. As the tribute to the esteem and respect in which Mr. Rogers was held by the folks of Occoquan and vicinity, about fifty from this vicinity attended the funeral. There also was a special tribute of a lovely COMMUNITY wreath. We will all miss Mr. Rogers. Our sincere sympathy to his relatives and others left to mourn his loss.

The Fairfax County Firemen's Association will hold their January, 1941 meeting and election of officers for the year 1941 at Occoquan, on Wednesday evening, January 15, 1941.

It is hoped all the O-W-L-Volunteer Firemen will attend this meeting, and show our Good Friends from Fairfax, we welcome them and appreciate their selecting Occoquan as the place to hold their annual election of officers. We expect to hold the meeting at the high school. Refreshments will be served. ALL YOU OCCOQUAN FIREMEN BE SURE TO ATTEND.

HOADLY

The neighborhood was shocked at the sudden death of Mr. William Sealeman. We wish to extend our sympathy to the bereaved family.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. Brent Davis was taken to Alexandria Hospital last week, we hope he has a speedy recovery.

Mr. C. H. Payne entertained at a New Year's dinner for his family and friends. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Payne, Alexandria; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Maddox and daughter, May, Arcola; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ewers and sons, and Mr. Ernest Ewers Clarendon; Mrs. Maudie Doores, Sun Hills; Mrs. Blanche Payne and sons, James and Barton, Manassas; Mrs. Ethel Bitner and Mrs. Edith McLaughlin, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hedges, Mrs. Arthur Hedges, Hoadly; Miss Louise Hedges, Indian Head, Md.; All had a good time and wish him and his daughter, Miss Estelle Payne a Happy New Year.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. J. T. Mauck is much improved at this writing.

Mr. Garber, who has purchased the Winfield Dewey's property, has moved in. We are glad to welcome him to our neighborhood.

We were sorry to learn of Mr. Elisha Garner's illness. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Quite a few of the school children has the chicken pox during the holidays.

Mrs. Mollie Mills of Washington, D. C., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ella Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton of Baltimore visited Mrs. Norton's mother, Mrs. Ida Davis over the week end.

Misses Mary and Grace Hedges visited Miss Estelle Payne New Year's evening.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

CATLETT

Our community has been saddened the past month by the death of two of its best beloved citizens, Mr. Frank Heflin and Mrs. Ruby Burke.

Mr. Frank Heflin passed away at the home of his sister, Mrs. Hettie Colvin with whom he made his home. Frank was a good kind neighbor and friend; who walked gently among us and will be missed by all who knew him. Our sympathy goes out to his sister, Mrs. Hettie Colvin who has been so faithful to him through all his illness.

Mrs. Ruby Burke passed away in a Washington Hospital after an operation. Our community will greatly miss the kind gentle touch of our faithful nurse who has nursed so many of our local ones back to health. She will be remembered by many as the little nurse with the smiling face at the Panquaker Hospital, where she was a faithful nurse for a long time.

Ruby was a good neighbor and a devoted mother to her two sons, Spilman and Welford Burke to whom goes our heart-felt sympathy.

Our community has lost a Ruby of great value; a precious gem.

We are glad to know our friends, Mr. C. B. Yeatman, who has been in a Washington Hospital for some time, is improving. We wish for him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Mary Sauls, who has been sick, is much improved.

Mrs. Chas. Shaffer is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jim Stanley of Man-

Miss Nelda Walker, who spent Christmas holidays here with her parents, has returned to her school work in Richmond.

Miss Clara Koppel of Richmond spent the holidays with her sister, Mrs. Geo. W. Nesselrodt.

Mrs. J. B. Powers is spending some time with her niece, Mrs. James Douglass.

Mr. G. H. Pence has returned from Wilmington, N. C., where he spent the holidays with his daughter, Miss Janet Pence.

Mrs. Upton Fletcher and baby girl spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cal Heflin.

Miss Anita Ruffner has returned from Washington where she was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Lois Bergthall. Mr. Will Colvin had as his guest for the holidays his three sons, Paul, John and Herbert, of Washington, D. C.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. Owen McLearn, who has been ill in Alexandria Hospital some time, is able to be home and improving.

Catlett is well represented at Ft. Belvoir. Quite a number of men and boys have found work there the past month.

ADEN

Mr. and Mrs. Ramburg and Mrs. Arthur, of Md; Mrs. Ramburg's daughter, Mr. Dawson, May Ruth, and Edith Wright were the dinner guests at Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold on Sunday.

In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Amos Corder were there.

We are very proud of the new lights in the school house.

We had a very nice get together on New Year's Eve to watch the old year leave and the New Year in. Played games, some prizes were given refreshments were served just before the stroke of 12. Then we wished every one a Happy New Year, and Mary Lee Whetzel a Happy Birthday.

We are very sorry to hear that Mark Smith was taken to the Children's Hospital in Washington, D. C. on a New Year's night.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Vance and little sons, and Mrs. J. P. Smith attended the vox pop program which was broadcasted at Quantico, Va., in the new Theatre.

Mrs. Geo. Jones spent the week here at her home.

The U. B. Aid Society held their monthly meeting with Mrs. Arnold on Thursday.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CREDIT GROUP

Warrenton Production Credit Association Election

The seventh annual stockholders' meeting of the Warrenton Production Credit Association was held in the Centre District High School, Warrenton this week.

Secretary-Treasurer Thos. D. Jones reported to the stockholders that during the year 1940 $8,398 was added to reserves to protect $23,275 in class B stock owned by the farmer borrowers. A surplus of $2700.00 derived entirely from member income was included in these reserves which means that in the seven years which this co-operative farmer controlled lending organization has been in existence, this association has become entirely self-supporting and was able to net $2700.00 for its members during the year 1940 irrespective of any stock owned by the Production Credit corporation of Baltimore. The association loaned $486,500 in 11 northern Virginia Counties and now has a volume of loans outstanding in the amount of $311,000.

W. H. Hurst of Culpeper County presided at the meeting. T. Otis Latham, vice president, reported to the stockholders on the activities of the board of directors during the past year. J. M. Hughes of Sterling, Loudoun County dairy farmer, addressed the meeting in an impromptu talk on the remarkable progress that the association had made in serving its members since he became a stockholder in 1935.

P. M. Browning of Culpeper was re-elected to serve on the board of directors for a term of three years. Mr. Browning is one of the leading breeders of Angus cattle in this section and also owns a real estate and insurance business in Culpeper and is connected with the Virginia Motor Company in Culpeper.

Mr. T. O. Latham is director of the Warrenton Production Credit Association from this county.

William H. Johnson, secretary, Production Credit Corporation of Baltimore made a very interesting address on "The Progress which Production Credit has made since its Organization", and Mr. H. S. Marshall from the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Baltimore addressed the meeting on the subject "Where the Money for your Loan comes from". The Federal Intermediate Credit Bank is the channel through which money is guided from private investors to production credit associations and on to farmers.

Following the business session the stockholders were entertained by a negro quartet after which a delicious meal was served by the Warrenton Community League.

MARX BROTHERS RIDE RANGE IN NEW LAUGH HIT

As their answer to the desire of the public for an opportunity to laugh long and loudly in these times, the Marx Brothers offer their merriest fun-fest, "Go West" which opens next Monday and Tuesday, January 13 and 14 at the Pitt's Theatre for an engagement of two days.

The Kings of Comedy spent nearly a year in developing their new story, which unfolds an uproarious farce, taking place in the Colorado gold country of 1870. It gives the Marxes their first "period picture", with costumes of an earlier era.

The comedy was tested for best laughs through 103 performances of the Marxes and a full cast before theatre audiences, before being played before the cameras. This was done to assure perfection in comedy sequences and dialogue.

Supporting the stars is a stellar cast, including John Carroll, Diana Lewis, Walter Woolf King and Robert Barrat. The production was directed by Edward Buzzell and was produced by Jack Cummings.

The plot is an exciting one about the mad antics of the Marx Brothers in foiling a group of villains and sirens from stealing a valuable deed to land from the hero and heroine. While the plot is well rounded, everything is played for laughs, with many of the most hilarious scenes the Marx Brothers have ever had. In addition there is plenty of music, with a piano solo by Chico, a harp number by Harpo, songs by Carroll, Miss Lewis and Groucho, and a "Can-Can" dance by a dozen lovely chorines.

HIRED WIFE IS PEPPERY VEHICLE FOR NOTABLE TRIO

Fast moving comedy of the type which depends on situations rather than gags for laughs is the keynote of Universal's "Hired Wife", one of the year's most hilarious pictures, which opens next Thursday and Friday, January 16 and 17 at the Pitt's Theatre.

Co-starring Rosalind Russell, Brian Aherne and Virginia Bruce, "Hired Wife" is a story of a girl whose heart is broken when she marries the man she loves for business rather than romantic reasons.

Miss Russell, who give the outstanding performance of her entire career, plays the tile role. She is Aherne's secretary, and also is very much in love with him. Aherne, at the same time, is enamored over Miss Bruce, a beautiful model. For business reasons he is forced to get married in a hurry. Because of Rosalind's trickery, he can't reach Virginia and has to marry the secretary.

Then the fun starts. As the intrigue grows more intense, the comedy becomes funnier.

All three stars are perfectly cast and turn in superb performances, making their characters appear real rather than mere shadows, prancing across the screen. And they are given some excellent support by Robert Benchley and John Carroll. Funny-man Benchley, believe it or not, is an attorney. And what an attorney! Carroll is a Latin Romeo who tries to help Rosalind by attempting to woo Virginia away from Brian. How he can woo! As a certain comedian might say, woo-woo!

Much of the credit for the fast pace maintained throughout the picture must be given producer-director William Seiter. In his first assignment since directing Deanna Durbin in "It's A Date", he has come through with a real winner.

George Beck's highly diverting original story has been adroitly adapted into the screenplay by Richard Connell and Gladys Lehman. The swift action never sags and each reel is punctuated with pungent dialogue lines which registered with hilarious emphasis.

SWIFT MELODRAMA IN 'BURY ME NOT ON THE LONE PRAIRIE'

Johnny Mack Brown's newest two-gun saga, Universal's "Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie", comes to the Pitt's Theatre, starting Saturday, January 11.

In a story, developed from the title of the popular western song, Brown portrays a rugged mining engineer who battles to avenge a series of murders, perpetrated by ruthless claim jumpers.

Director Ray Taylor chose a competent cast to support the cowboy star. Included are: Fuzzy Knight, western comedian; Nell O'Day, the "Girl of the Golden West"; Kathryn Adams, talented starlet of action films; and Harry Cording, Jack Rockwell and Ernie Adams, ace badmen of outdoor pictures.

Jerome Ash handled the photography and the screenplay was the work of Sherman Lowe and Victor McLeod, adapted from Loew's original story.

LEGION HEAD RAPS NAZI "DIPLOMATS"

German Representation In U. S. Increase 300%, Declares Grove

A drive directed to arouse vigorous action by the various County patriotic organizations on nation-wide espionage of Nazi "diplomatic" groups, was announced today by George Grove, former chairman of the American Legion Americanism Committee.

Mr. Grove stated that this nation, through Congress or the President, should take immediate action for combating the undeclared war which Hitler is waging in this country through his diplomats.

The discussion, which preceded the adoption of a strong resolution condemning the practice of permitting wide diplomatic immunity to certain espionage and anti-American activities, took place before a group of outstanding public and civic leaders of the County.

Mr. Grove stated that it was not generally recognized but within the past three years German "diplomatic" representation has increased in this country by over 300 per cent. For example, he pointed out that the officials in the New York Consular office have jumped from 38 to over a hundred, despite the fact that trade between Germany and the United States is virtually nonexistent. The fact that this office maintains a political department and one of its officials up until recently signed letters as the national leader of the Nazi party in America is revealing as to what this country must contend with, he said.

The importance of these consular representatives to the work of Hitler's Gestapo, saboteurs, and bundists lies in the fact that all lists of members and reports are maintained in these offices and hence are subject to diplomatic immunity, he asserted. "And not even the State Department has a complete list of these officials who brazenly exploit this international courtesy of diplomatic immunity."

Chester Sipes, Arlington Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, brought out the fact that checking on these activities is doubly difficult since members of the Bund are supposedly American citizens, but who periodically renew an oath of loyalty to Hitler and the German Reich. Like membership in the Gespato, complete lists of bund memberships are kept in consular and other diplomatic offices which makes it impossible to put a finger on all of its members, he points out. An untold number of these people are known to be employed in arsenals, powder, plane and power plants, and power plants, and are in a position to do untold harm, Mr. Sipes said.

Resolutions requesting the Congress and the President to take immediate action to bar the fifth columnist who works with the complete protection of our laws, are being sent to all patriotic groups. Mr. George Grove also invites other organizations who wish to add their voice to this demand to get in touch with him.

VIRGINIA TREES

By William Harrison Lamb

VIRGINIA TREES

Volume I of this valuable publication explains just how our native trees are associated in the forest and how they should be handled to the best advantage.

Detailed descriptions and illustrations of each species are carried in this volume through the commercially important group known as the conifers and a complete checklist of all Virginia hardwood species is included.

Students, boy-scouts, farmers, timber-land owners, and nature-lovers generally will derive as much pleasure and profit from this book as will the professional forester.

MORE WILD TURKEY FOOD TO BE GROWN IN VIRGINIA

Many small patches of ground on the Jefferson National Forest are being prepared for the planting of turkey foods next spring. Chufas, a food eagerly sought by wild turkeys will be planted on most of these food patches.

Last year the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, which co-operates with the Forest Service in managing the wildlife resources on the Virginia National Forests, furnished chufas for several experimental plantings. These plantings were exceptionally successful, and turkeys fed upon the chufas to such an extent that the chances are slight for the natural reproduction of these first plantings.

This year more plantings will be made, especially in areas where wild turkeys are being restocked by the Game Commission. These plantings should provide easily accessible food for the birds, and help to hold them on the areas where they are released, so that they can be given all possible protection until they become completely established in the wild.

THE RITZ BROTHERS CREATE OWN COMEDY GAGS, ROUTINES

One for all—and all for one!

Holding to that code and specializing in an original style of comedy and nonsense which both stage and screen audiences find a sure cure for the blues, the Ritz Brothers have romped to popularity as a sort of three-ring laugh circus.

Veterans of nearly a dozen Hollywood films, the three comedians are said to have their funniest roles to date in "Argentine Nights".

The Universal musical, which opens Wednesday, January 15, at the Pitt's Theatre, co-stars the Andrews Sisters, famed song trio, and presents a brilliant cast of singers, dancers and screen favorites in top supporting roles.

For energy, originality and expressive pantomime, the Ritz Brothers have seldom been equaled. Born Harry, Al and Jimmy Joaquin at Newark, N. J., they changed their names to Ritz because their agent felt it would be easier to pronounce.

Gaining experience in separate stage careers, the boys first appeared as a trio in Earl Carroll's "Vanities". They were billed as "The Collegians", and their wide, baggy trousers and huge bow ties started a style trend among youths of the country. After success in Broadway musicals and as vaudeville headliners, they made their screen debut in 1936 in "Sing, Baby, Sing", and scored an immediate hit. All the boys sing any song and dance any step.

FIRST AID MADE COM-PULSORY FOR CCC MEN

The American Red Cross here announced that it was co-operating with the Civilian Conservation Corps and the War Department in the training of 300,000 CCC enrollees in Red Cross first aid, as a part of its national defense program.

This co-operative effort initiated by John J. McEntee, CCC director, provides for 20 hours of first aid instruction for every CCC enrollee. Director McEntee informed the War Department that arrangements had been completed with the Red Cross requiring all supervisory personnel and enrollees to receive training in Red Cross first aid.

Harold F. Enlows, national director of Red Cross First Aid Service, said his organization would assign a supervisor for each of the nine CCC corps areas throughout the country. Working in co-operation with CCC officials, members of the national staff of the Red Cross will train some 3,000 instructors, who in turn will conduct classes in the 1,500 camps for the 300,000 CCC enrollees. Instructors' training schools call for an intensive two-week course and will be attended by camp personnel having previous first aid training.

WELL DRESSED MILITARY

When honors for the best-dressed military men in the world are awarded, the U. S. Marines should be somewhere near the top, if variety as well as snappy styles are considered.

Three complete outfits with such accessories as belts, gloves, leggings and similar details are the foundation of a marine's wardrobe, which includes a blue, forestry green, and khaki uniform.

For the present there is a dearth of blue uniforms due to the fact that Marine Corps has increased so fast that only a limited number could be supplied. Meanwhile they are being issued only to marines who go to sea and a few other special detachments.

The blue uniform with its brass buttons, yellow and scarlet trimmings and bronze cap or collar ornaments, is decidedly popular. Sometimes white trousers, belts and caps are worn with the blue blouse by way of contrast, making a rather striking ensemble.

Soldiers of the sea also have a choice of about nine hats of different styles and colors. These include a khaki, blue, green, or white cap with visor, a field or campaign hat, a green or khaki overseas cap and a tropical sun helmet or steel helmet.

Naturally a marine does not choose for himself the style he prefers to wear. Such decisions are made by the commanding officer of barracks or detachment, who prescribes the uniform of the day for the men under his command.

FIRST AID CLASSES

Instruction classes in First Aid have been organized at Manassas which will meet every evening this week and next, January 6 to 17 from 7 to 10 p. m., under auspices of the Red Cross.

Prof. R. C. Haydon is chairman of the First Aid Committee of the local Red Cross, and states that these classes are being held for the purpose of developing a nucleus of instructor in First Aid around which may be built a program of teaching.

About twenty-five are already enrolled.

NEW GOVERNMENT

PRINTING OFFICE

With a major European war, a presidential inauguration and the first precinct draft in American history, the public has somehow lost sight of an event of the first importance in Washington and the printing world in general—the occupancy of the new eight-story printing plant of the Government Printing Office. A description of the new building, which is the greatest printing plant on earth, and the important work being accomplished under its roof are included in an illustrated feature article appearing next Sunday in The Washington Star.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

Behold God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid, for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation.—Isaiah 12:2.

SELF DEFENSE

The United States stands behind President Roosevelt in his determination to aid all victims of aggressor nations. We have seen other unoffending countries go down, each ruthlessly destroyed, both from within and by final assault.

If our system of government is not worth fighting to preserve we can go along in fancied security, with half-hearted measures of military preparation, while the fifth column penetrates ever deeper into our vitals, and traitors progress further in seizure of key government positions, until the moment arrives for quick, positive measures to effect our final destruction.

If, however, the freedom secured for us by our forefathers is worth perpetuating, we must make an effort commensurate with the danger presented, and it would appear from the President's message that we are proceeding to do just this thing.

One of the best tests of the sincerity of this effort will now be the speed and efficiency with which we put the President's recommendations into effect, and the attitude now taken by the Chief Executive himself toward Communistic and other subversive activities within the official ranks of his own Administration.

What, for instance, is the President going to do about these recommendations of the Howard Smith Committee Investigating the National Labor Relations Board?

"It has been unfair and biased and has sought to legalize anarchistic sit-down strikes."

It has shown pronounced sympathies with the C. I. O. favoritism that has served to induce and prolong a large number of industrial disputes.

It has invented methods of tormenting and ruining employers.

It has given protection to avowed enemies of America's democratic form of government."

These are serious and well substantiated charges, proven by the sworn evidence of a Congressional Committee, which has earned the gratitude of the nation in substantiating the existence of an intolerable condition of affairs dangerously menacing the basic structure of our national defence program, and unless the President does now and forthwith remove from his own official household all avowed enemies of our democratic form of government, certainly the wisdom of his judgment if not his sincerity of purpose, may be seriously questioned.

"Don't Break the British Blockade Even to Feed My People"—Masaryk.

"The Czechoslovak nation is determined to withstand without complaint, the combined effect of German oppression and the British blockade, which result in a serious food shortage in our country. From our point of view, it is much better to get along without material necessities as food and clothing, than that our souls should be destroyed. I am convinced that other peoples whose territory is occupied by the Germans feel we do.

"The blockade was instituted in order to deprive the German war industry of important raw materials and undermine her fighting strength. Can anyone believe that the Nazis would not rob the conquered peoples of any food sent them, as they have already robbed Czechoslovakia, Poland, Norway, France and the others of everything they wished? Does anyone actually believe that there is any way to force the Nazis to change their methods and make a humanitarian effort to supply the hungry in Czechoslovakia, Poland, France? The German Governor of Poland, Frank, recently declared in all seriousness that he will treat the Poles like obstinate beasts. It is dangerous to expect the German leopard to change his spots.

"When the Germans began their propaganda to lighten the British blockade by America's sending food to Europe, representatives of the Vichy Government told me in the United States, that the Germans have no authority in unoccupied France. They insist that it is cruel not to send food and other goods to the suffering in southern France. Those are fairy tales. France is on her back with a robber kneeling on her chest, holding a knife at her throat. Even if her left hand were free, who can affirm that the robber cannot seize any money she may clutch in that one hand? The Germans are sinking British ships daily regardless of whether they carry food, munitions or children. A complete blockade is essential to victory—half measures are not enough.

"We on the front line of battle can see the splendid sacrifices the British people are making. Arguments for softening the blows of one of their arms of defense, the blockade, are unthinkable to us, even though they may occur to some persons thousands of miles behind the front, say in California.

"It would be a great injustice to accuse the British of indifference to the needs of other peoples. In the present circumstances compromise is impossible even from the humanitarian standpoint. Czechoslovak children will be pale after the war is won, but their spirits will be free. In love and sympathy we must think of their spirits and their future as much as of their bodies. There will come a day when America can help feed the hungry and restore weary bodies, but that day has not come yet.

"To all who offer food to Czechoslovakia at the cost of delaying our victory, we say: 'Thank you—not yet. Germany and her ally must be defeated first. Let them return what they have stolen from occupied areas and there would be no need of lifting the blockade'.

"Here is a case in point. A young air-aid warden in the defense of London was recently killed on duty. He was engaged to a lovely girl who works in an office which was evacuated 50 miles outside the city. Since his death, she continues to work by day at her job, and three nights a week comes into London to take her fiancé's place in the defense of their city. Those are the people who will win this war and save the souls of Czechoslovak children. Those are God's own people—and we will not weaken them in battle'.

POULTRY MEETINGS

Two meetings of poultry keepers are scheduled for the county next week as follows:

Manassas Post Office Assembly Room, Wednesday Afternoon, January 15, at 1:30 o'clock.

Brentsville District High School, Nokesville, Wednesday evening, January 15, at 8 o'clock.

Harry L. Moore, V. P. I. Poultry Specialist, will lead the discussions at both meetings and endeavor to assist poultry keepers with any problems that they may have. All people of the county who are interested in poultry are invited to attend one or both of these meetings.

GROUSE HUNTING GOOD ON GAME MANAGEMENT AREA

Sportsmen hunting on the 10,000 acre Hurricane Branch Wildlife Management Area during the special 10-day grouse season last fall bagged a grouse for every 84 acres covered. The total kill amounted to some 120 grouse.

This wildlife management area is Smyth County is on the Jefferson National Forest, and is managed co-operatively by the Forest Service and the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries. A number of similar areas are maintained on the National Forests in Virginia. They serve primarily as game refuges, but provision is made to open them to sportsmen when a surplus of game makes such action advisable.

The total kill made this fall on the Hurricane Branch area was somewhat lower than had been expected. However, in view of reports from other sections indicating a below normal grouse season throughout the state, the average kill of a bird for every 84 acres was considered satisfactory.

The success of this special grouse hunt and the co-operation received from sportsmen visiting the area indicate that harvesting annual surpluses of wild game produced on managed areas has real possibilities in Virginia.

TELEPHONES X-RAYED

In much the same way as the physician studies the human body, here the telephone engineer studies the nervous system of a telephone with the aid of an X-ray. This engineer, one of many hundreds at work in the Western Electric manufacturing plants of the Bell System, notes how the precision parts of the telephone instrument fit securely inside a protecting armour of hardened plastic and ponders on the problem of giving them even greater protection. His job is one of searching for better tools and better methods to make still better and simpler telephones.

NEW PLANT

Professor A. B. Massey, botanist of the Virginia Co-operative Wildlife Research Unit, recently discovered an European vetch never before reported in North America. Professor Massey found the plant, commonly called chickling vetch, while on a field trip in Middlesex County. It was growing on the high beach along the Rappahannock River, near Deltaville.

ANTI PARALYSIS CAMPAIGN
IN FULL SWING

Thirty prominent men and women have consented to act as chairmen in as many counties and cities of Virginia for the annual "fight infantile paralysis" campaign. State Chairman John Galleher announced this week at headquarters in the Richmond Hotel. At the same time it was disclosed that eighteen distinguished Virginians had accepted appointment on the advisory committee.

Mr. Galleher said the names of local chairmen are being given as quickly as possible to all newspapers serving the communities in which these men and women will direct the 1941 infantile paralysis campaign. He expressed the hope that organization will be complete within the next week, in order that every effort may be made to bring the drive to a successful conclusion on January 30, birthday of President Roosevelt. He asks that all citizens who wish to help get in touch with the chairmen of their respective communities as soon as the chairmen's names are announced.

Distinguished Virginians who will serve on the Advisory Committee are: R. Walton Moore, Counselor of the Department of State, Washington; the Rt. Rev. H. St. George Tucker, Bishop of Virginia and presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church in the United States; the Most Rev. Peter L. Iretton, Catholic Co-adjutor Bishop of Richmond; E. L. Fox, president of the Co-operative Education Association, Richmond; C. O'Connor Goolrick, former State Senator, Fredericksburg; General J. A. Anderson, co-ordinator and executive secretary of the Virginia Defense Council; Dr. Belle Boone Beard, member of the faculty of Sweet Briar College; Miss Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, West Point; Dr. Robert V. Funsten, University of Virginia Hospital; Dr. Sidney B. Hall, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Dr. William T. Sanger, president of the Medial College of Virginia; Dr. Hugh Trout, Jefferson Hospital, Roanoke; Major Raymond B. Bottom, publisher, Daily Press, Inc., Newport News; Junius P. Fishburn, publisher, Roanoke Times and World-News; Dr. C. Riffin, State Health Commissioner; Lee Long, Dante: John Stewart Bryan, president of the College of William and Mary; and T. Emmett Warriner, commander of the Department of Virginia, American Legion.

RED CROSS CARGO LEAVES
FOR ATHENS JAN. 15

An American Red Cross "mercy ship" carrying a $850,000 cargo of urgently needed relief supplies for Greek war victims, will leave New York for Athens on or about January 15, it was announced here by Chairman Norman H. Davis.

The vessel will be the S. S. Kassandra Louloudis, $7,500-ton freighter provided free of charge by the Greek Government. It will sail to Athens via Suez.

Mr. Davis said the Red Cross had taken action following a detailed report from its Athens representative, Charles L. House. His report described "critical" needs for complete hospital units and milk products for children. Orders have been placed for $100,000 worth of canned and dehydrated milk and $150,000 worth of drugs and surgical equipment. The remainder of the cargo will consist of 10 trucks, dried fruits, cereals, flour and a large quantity of blankets. Orders also have been placed by the Red Cross for 25 U. S. Army field type ambulances, Mr. Davis said. They will be placed on the "mercy ship" if delivery is made before departure.

Announcement of the "mercy ship" brought American Red Cross relief to Greece to $1,100,000.

The Kassandra Louloudis will be the second American Red Cross "mercy ship" since the start of the European war. In July the S. S. McKeesport carried a similar cargo of relief supplies to Marseille for distribution in unoccupied France. Other Red Cross relief supplies from the United States have been shipped as partial cargo lots on Europe-bound vessels.

The cargo of the Kassandra Louloudis is being purchased according to needs as described to House by the Greek Red Cross. Their re-

Says Battle For Britain Will Be Won or Lost On U. S. Assembly Line

Declaration of a full national emergency by the President has been requested by members of the Arlington Branch of the Committee to defend America by lending the Allies, it was announced this week by Harrison Mann, the local chairman.

Mr. Mann pointed out that the battle for America will be won or lost on the American assembly line, and that this nation has fallen down badly in its production program, not only for its own defense but for Britain's as well.

Mr. Livingston Hartley, author of Our Maginot Line, who has spent much time in Washington during the past few weeks analyzing the details of the defense program for 700 branches of the Committee has indicated how disappointing our production performance has been. While the lag in plane production is described by Mr. Knudsen, the Commissioner of Production, as being 30 per cent behind schedule, what this really means is made more understandable by actual figures. Total airplane exports to England follow:

In June 97, July 173, August 278, September 136, October 177 and November 200 (approx).

Mr. Knudsen reported on October 8 that September production of airplane engines amounted to about 1,000, of which 1,500 were combat engines. These figures are not enough to meet present needs, as shown by recent difficulties in obtaining engines for "flying fortresses" and arrangements to obtain them from Britain. This bottleneck is particularly serious, it was said, because expansion of plane production is useless without expansion of engine production. At the present time the delivery of planes depends directly on the output of engines.

It has been intimated that the defense program may be speeded by "freezing" the 1941 model for future new automobiles. No final decision has yet been reached on this question, according to Mr. Mann, but it appears an objective which the citizens of the country should urge since its adoption would liberate machine tools and skilled labor from a luxury field for the serious task of defense.

The announcement further stated: "Senator George has given the nation a valuable lead in calling for a twenty-four hour basis in defense production. This must be urged, and this the public may be expected to back. If the pressure is strong enough, factories now operating ten hours will begin to run full night shifts sooner."

"Much of the production problem is technical and only to be solved by experts. But much is a question of national will and spirit. At present we are tackling this problem like a Community Chest drive, instead of a struggle for survival."

"If citizens awake to this dangerous situation and can mobilize the public behind production, it will be easier for the President to call a spade a spade in explaining to the country the peril America now faces."

Mr. Oren Lewis, the newly elected head of the Arlington County Republican Club and Secretary of the local branch of the Committee, called upon this government to give Greece something more effective than mere sympathy or applause. The Committee believes, he stated, that the United States should make available to Greece all the war material it can without lessening aid to Britain or endangering its own defense program. Many types of war material that are unsuitable to the Battle of Britain and the re-equipment of our own armed forces could be of great value in the "old-fashioned" Battle of Albania.

Mr. Lewis also pointed out that the successes of Britain's new ally underline the soundness of the Committee's policy in retaining its original name of Committee to defend America by aiding the Allies.

ORANGE TESTING
SUNDAY MOVIES

The question of the legality of moving pictures on Sunday will come before the Circuit Court of Orange at its January 27 session. The Orange Town Council has been deadlocked on the question for some time and it has been decided that all parties concerned would like a court review of the interesting question.

RADIO TOWERS DOOMED

The huge steel radio towers in Arlington County, which have been a landmark near Washington for many years are said to be scheduled for removal, because of their obstruction to airplane traffic. The higher tower is 47 feet higher than the Washington Monument. They will be moved to Annapolis, Md.

THE TREE OF LIBERTY

by Elizabeth Page

Entertainment is well-blended with historical information in "The Tree of Liberty" by Elizabeth Page, published by Farrar and Rinehart in 1939. This is a romantic novel of the eighteenth century, having as its background Colonial Virginia with all of its wonderful scenery, canals, inns, and beautiful women.

The author has a gift in describing the different types of characters that existed in Virginia at the time.

Matthew Howard, the hero, is a backwoodsman from Augusta County, and is typical of his class. He is a man of sudden outbursts of anger, of underlying kindness toward others, and a great zest for life.

A job as surveyor takes him to Williamsburg, where he meets and marries Jane Peyton, a beautiful, charming, and well-bred girl who is a typical Tidewater "blueblood".

Matthew, who went to school with Thomas Jefferson, shares his ideas about the government of the colonies and goes so far as to fight for them in the Revolutionary War in spite of the protests of his wife.

Later, Peyton and James, his two sons, also join the army and become captains; Peyton is an aide for Lafayette while James serves on the staff of General Alexander Hamilton.

After the war, Peyton settles down to practice law and believes very firmly as his father and Thomas Jefferson do, while James takes sides with Hamilton and goes into the manufacturing business. The two sons carry on the tradition started by their parents, but instead of being the wealthy planters against the "poor white trash", it now becomes big business and law.

I personally liked this book because of the vivid picture of Thomas Jefferson painted by the author. Elizabeth Page points out the true Jefferson, one of the most colorful statesmen in the developing of America. She describes his views on the government as well as those of Hamilton and Adams, his adversaries.

For a good story about the making of our great country, for a story well-seasoned with interesting characters, and for a book that makes you feel glad that you are a Virginian, I can suggest no better one than "The Tree of Liberty".

This book may be borrowed from the Ruffner Carnegie Library.

COMMISSION TO STUDY OFFICES

State Inquiry Into Reorganization of Departments.

After electing Delegate E. Blackburn Moore, Berryville, as chairman Senator Harvey B. Apperson, Roanoke County, as vice-chairman, the Virginia governmental reorganization commission adopted a schedule of four meetings, fortnightly, beginning January 17, at which time it will have Governor Price's recommendations before it as a starting point. Subsequent sessions are slated for January 31, February 14 and 28.

Those invited to appear January 17 and 18 before the commission include N. Clarence Smith, chairman State Conservation and Development Commission; Carl H. Nolting, chairman State Game and Inland Fish Commission; G. Walter Mapp, chairman of State Fisheries Commission; Col. M. S. Battle, director State Division of Motor Vehicles; Comptroller LeRoy Hodges; Pearne E. Ketron, director, Purchasing and Printing Division; Edwin B. Jones, State Treasurer; Dr. H. C. Henry, director of State Hospitals; Dr. William H. Stauffer, Commissioner of Public Welfare; and Major Rice M. Youell, superintendent of the State Penitentiary.

It was agreed, at the suggestion of Delegate E. L. Breeden, Jr., Norfolk, to ask the Virginia Defense Council for any suggestions it might have along the line of governmental reorganization in connection with the defense program in the State.

Commission members, in addition to the chairman and vice-chairman, are: Senator John W. Carter, Danville; State Tax Commissioner C. H. Morrisett; Dr. Robert H. Tucker, Washington and Lee University; Junius P. Fishburn, publisher Roanoke Times; and Delegates Breeden, Norfolk City; E. O. McCue, Jr., Charlottesville; and David R. K. Bruce, Charlottesville.

The commission plans to assemble and discuss basic information in its early meetings, and then to ask specific State department chiefs to submit ideas in writing following verbal discussions. It has been estimated that large sums can be saved the State by regrouping certain departments and agencies, and by making needed reforms.

SUPREME COURT IS DEDICATED

Governor Price was the principal speaker at exercises dedicating the offices and quarters of the Virginia State Supreme Court of Appeals, a part of the new State Library building here.

State Senator John S. Battle, Charlottesville, president of the Bar of Virginia, in presenting national and State flags to the appellate court, warned executives and legislative bodies in these times of stress against destroying the inherent rights of the people and the independence of the judiciary. Senator Battle said America would meet the totalitarian threat and that democratic institutions would be preserved.

Governor Price said, in part:

"Realization of our State building program dreams has been made possible in large part by the generosity of the Federal government. During the present State Administration we have directed the construction and completion of almost an hundred new public buildings of various kinds (not including public schools and other local structures), erected at a total cost of $12,679,586, of which the general treasury of Virginia has supplied $4,722,635. Practically $8,000,000 has been provided by the Federal government and other sources, and all possible without any additional burdens on the State treasury.

"We are now in position to devote our attention to needed judicial reforms, simplification of procedures, the elimination of administrative duties now imposed by law upon the judiciary, and the necessary regulations to remove every suggestion of politics."

Justice E. W. Hudgins, Chase City, reviewing the Supreme Court's history, said liberty would be preserved as long as lawyers and judges adhered to the rule of equal justice under the law.

A distinguished group witnessed the ceremony, including Governor and Mrs. Price and their Mansion guests, Delegate and Mrs. John B. Spiers, Radford, and Mayor and Mrs. Brady Allman, Rock Mount; Speaker and Mrs. Ashton Dovell, Williamsburg, President Pro. Team and Mrs. Henry T. Wickham, Hanover County; Delegate E. A. Fitzpatrick, Roanoke, and Senator Charles W. Crowder, Richmond.

MANASSAS CHAPTER MEETING DAUGHTERS OF CONFEDERACY

Mrs. A. O. Weedon and Miss Nolie Nelson were hostesses to the Manassas Chapter U. D. C. on yesterday afternoon, January 8, at the Weedon home on Battle street.

A goodly number was present in answer to Roll Call for dues which were gratefully received by the treasurer Mrs. G. G. Allen, who in turn gave her report for the old year of 1940, showing a pleasing balance in the building fund and other accounts in savings.

An urgent plea for financial aid to the Lee Mausoleum custodian at Lexington was presented by President, Mrs. McDuff Green. A creditable response was noted and contributions are being placed with Mrs. E. H. Hibbs, chairman.

A report of "Christmas Cheer Baskets" sent out by chapter was made by Mrs. Fred Dowell, chairman of local relief.

Mrs. A. O. Weedon brought glad tidings that through medium of Manassas Chapter, a needy Confederate woman of our locality is receiving a Confederate pension.

Following the recent death of a beloved member, Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge, resolutions of respect were ordered drawn and the following committee appointed Mrs. E. H. Marsteller, Mrs. R. S. Hynson and Mrs. A. O. Weedon.

The general U. D. C. is arranging for the purchase of the Raphael Semmes memorial ambulance to be sent through the American Red Cross to England for use in the British Army, according to a report from the President-General Mrs. Parke C. Bolling, Richmond; Mrs. W. C. N. Merchant, Chatham; is chairman of committee.

Most pleasant greetings were read from absent members Mrs. Lillian Hixson Adams, Florida; Mrs. Fannie Simpson Randall, Washington, D. C.; and Mrs. Nannie Lynn, Independent Hill.

The historical program consisted of poetical selections read by Mrs. C. E. C. Johnson, "Rest Under the Shade of the Trees", "Through the Pass" and "Gone Forward", having to do with General "Stonewall" Jackson, Matthew Fontaine Maury and Robert E. Lee, respectively.

Mrs. R. L. Byrd read annual letters from State Historian, Mrs. William A. Coleman, Alexandria; and General Historian, Mrs. J. L. Heiss, Gulf Port, Miss.

A CHRISTMAS STORY

By Eleanor Wolcott

It was late in the afternoon, about five, yet the far-stretching fields and hills lay bathed in that indescribable twilight that spreads itself over the heavens in the Sunny South. A twilight so rich in tints of flesh and blue speckled clouds, with silver tones, met the eyes of a young and beautiful wife, Ruth Lander. For a time she forgot the loneliness that was filling her heart, her restless spirit was quieted. Ruth was hungry for a sight of the home of her birth in the beautiful land of Canada. As she stood gazing in admiration at the perfect sunset scene, she reasoned with herself. I should be contented with my life here, my surroundings are beautiful, my home so sweet, my husband a noble, refined Southerner; but her thoughts, like a flash, changed, and sitting down under a peaceful elm, visions of her parents, brothers and sisters, with her hosts of friends, came up before her.

Oh! The good times she was losing since she plighted her love, her life, to Harold! While musing thus, she exclaimed "this stillness, this lonely place is unbearable! I hate it! I like noise, and brightness, and good times, and friends all around me, and I will go home for Christmas!"

The shadows of evening were falling fast around her. Suddenly she heard her Harold whistling a tune she loved, and knew so well. It meant much to her, she never failed to whistle this favorite air as he came up the

One of the maids had told Mr. Lander that Mrs. Lander had gone sometime ago across the fields towards the cluster of elms. He hurried to find her, whistling all the way, the familiar song. He soon spied her deep in thought. Bending over her, and giving her the kisses she was accustomed to, her husband noticed she did not return her usual greeting.

Ruth looked up, and for the first time since she had had the joy of calling Harold her husband, she spoke hastily. Her words were cold, and harsh. Harold asked her if she was unhappy. Ruth replied: "You do not like this place, so void of pleasure and so far from home. You love it! I know you do! You are never homesick for your mother and friends; but I am tired and sick of this lonely home! I want to go back to Canada for Christmas."

Harold, while listening, had all the elements in his noble nature of a true gentleman, a perfect man, so gathered strength, and courage to speak with control, and courtesy. His heart for the first time was crushed. He had, to the full, appreciated the self-sacrifice of his Ruth, when she said goodbye to her childhood home, and hosts of loving friends, to go so far away to make a home sweet and happy for him, while he embraced the splendid opportunity he had to make a fortune for his wife, thus surrounding her with comforts. Slipping his arm around her dainty figure, and drawing her close in his arms, he told of his sympathy, his devotion and his thankfulness for all she was to him, for the many things she had done to make their home attractive and a perpetual joy.

Only those who love with the heart can animate the affection and devotion of another heart. No cord or cable can draw as forcibly or bind as firmly as love, so Ruth felt the influence of this noble man, a man with rare affection, and said:

"Harold, let us return to the house, and talk over my going home Christmas."

"Yes, indeed Ruth, this is a bright thought. I want to help you to find your sunny heart again. It breaks mine to see you so lonely."

Sometimes love's sweetest meanings are unspoken; often the full heart knows no rhetoric of words, so these lovers were silent as they wended their way homeward at the gloaming time.

The sweet, clear flute-like tones of the wood thrush, rising from the woodland depths, as the mists of evening gathered, the song of the Vesper Sparrow, plaintive beyond expression, harmonizing with the dying day, the clear, whistling call of the cardinal, brought to these young lovers hearts the nearest approach to domestic happiness on earth, a desire on both sides

Miss Eugenia H. of absolute unselfishness in this matter. This was unexpressed while walking home.

Soon they were back again in their cozy nest, perfect in refinement, and all its appointments, made so to welcome Harold's attractive, lovely wife, although it was far from city conveniences.

Dinner was served, and as Harold looked up into his wife's face, he said: "Ruth, you always have everything so cozy, and sweet for me after my busy day, and you look so bonny in your pretty, tasteful costume."

There was a "big lump" in his throat as he spoke; for he realized what Christmas would be without her; and how much, very much he would like to see his precious mother, and the other dear ones at a distance. He could not possibly go with her, as the means it would take to accomplish this were needed to purchase some expensive machinery to hasten his fortune. Both had decided when married, to wait one year before they returned home so there would be an abundance of money for the trip, and its pleasures, and a good account left in the bank.

As they lingered at the table, discussing the current events of the day, Ruth's better self was expressed. She was a most lovable character, a perfect companion to her husband, loving just such things as he did! Up to these moments spent under the elm tree, her fine sensitive nature full of devotion and sympathy, had never left her. It was perfectly natural for Ruth to long to see her parents and friends at the Christmas season, but she realized, her better self holding sway, why should Harold not long to see his precious mother just as much as she did?

Why not share his hunger for Christmas joys, and a sight of his dear mother, rather than leave him alone, without her to make merry the Christmas season?

The thought of how dear Harold was to her, how in every way he had made her wishes his, she rose from the table and, going around to her husband's chair, and with all the enthusiasm, so natural to her, threw her arms around his neck, showering him with kisses, saying:

"Oh, Harold! how selfish I have been! You have been generous, so unselfish to say I could go home for Christmas! While I would rejoice to be there, my place, Harold, is right here in our own lovely home, and here I will stay."

We need not try to express Harold's joy. He held his precious wife fast in his arms. Ruth was radiant, and said:

"Why, Harold, this is my home—our home! I am going to make this beautiful home you have given me, merry and happy on Christmas morn, and you will be my 'King Chris Kringle!'"

Christmas season passed, and winter was over. Easter Day was nearing.

Harold knew a sweet surprise was coming to gladden his dear wife's heart, as he had intended Ruth's mother to spend Easter Day with them, and make them a visit.

Just as they were chatting together about how their loved ones were in the far Northern home, a telegraph boy was announced.

Harold, in his usual thoughtful way, opened it, as Ruth seemed distressed, lest sad news had come. Harold knew Ruth's mother had promised to telegraph when she would arrive. The contents of the telegram ran thus:

"Meet a friend at the 10 o'clock train from Montreal, Canada."

Ruth did not take long to realize who this was.

Easter season being over, plans were made for Harold and Ruth to return with her mother for a lengthy visit.

A happy family was soon on its way for Canada, and the beautiful city of Montreal. They had a surprise for the waiting hearts in a lovely little "Southern Bell, who came to their home for an Easter Day joy and blessing. Her Better Self was adorned by Motherhood.
