LEGION MEETING IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Former - National Committee man Guest Speaker.

At the all of District Commander Vernon Kiblinger of Louisa, the Eighth District of the American Legion, and the Women's Auxiliary met at the Osborn High School last Monday, under the auspices of Prince William Post No. 158. Reports were heard concerning Legion activities in Posts at Alexandria, Quantico, Culpeper, Warrenton, Louisa, Falls Church, Arlington, Lorton, Vienna and Manassas.

State membership chairman, J. C. Cord gave an encouraging report, announcing that over 9000 members have been signed up in Virginia. This number is expected to go to 12000 before Washington's birthday. The Eighth District has 7350 members. Routine business was transacted by the Auxiliary under the leadership of Mrs. Julia H. Brown, district committeewoman, and Mrs. J. L. Jeffries, auxiliary treasurer.

At 7 p. m. more than one hundred guests at down to a turkey dinner, prepared by the ladies of Manassas P. T. A. Mr. M. S. Burchard, chairman of the entertainment committee, presided as toastmaster. He called upon Rev. W. O. Luttrell to offer the invocation. He introduced Commonwealth Attorney W. Hill Brown, who gave a brief but effective address of welcome. Mrs. Luttrell and Mrs. Brown were also seated at the guest table. During the dinner the legionaries sang old songs with Mrs. J. Dennis Baker at the piano. The toastmaster introduced J. L. Jeffries, Judge Advocate of the State Department; E. E. Payne, district vice commander; F. R. Rice, state historian; and F. Clinton Knight, past department commander. An enjoyable feature of the dinner was the entertainment put on by local talent. Mary Lou Trimmer sang, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Eloise Branch, and Betty and Nancy Parrish gave an exhibition of tap dancing, also accompanied by Mrs. Branch. Prof. Berryman of the vocational school, and his son Billy produced many laughs with their radio dialogue; and Mrs. Vincent Davis gave most amusing readings in Negro dialect.

The toastmaster called upon W. Glenn Elliott of Richmond, department Adjutant, to introduce the speaker of the evening. After a brief survey of state legion activities, Mr. Elliott presented Wilmer L. O'Flaherty of Richmond, past national committeeman. Mr. O'Flaherty, active in legion affairs since the beginning of the organization, gave an inspiring picture of what the legion has done in American life during the past 23 years, and called upon the members of the Eighth District for continued loyalty to God and Country, and service to our fellowmen. Closing the evening's program was a series of selections by the Glee Club of Nokesville High School under the direction of Miss Lois Sloop. At the conclusion, all joined in singing the Star Spangled Banner.

MANASSAS BEATS HAYMARKET TWICE

The boys' basketball team of Manassas High School nosed out a hard fighting team from Haymarket. The game was nip and tuck throughout the game with the local lads pulling out in the lead in the final few minutes of the game. Final score: 32-31.

The game started with a tremendous pace with every boy on both teams putting in all the power and speed they had. Surprising to say, every one of them finished the game just as strong.

The scoring on the Manassas team was evenly divided with every member on the team contributing, while the Haymarket scoring was lead by Smith and Hereford, splitting 26 points between them.

We are sorry to say that some of our spectators showed such unruly and unsportslike conduct. The program of the game was halted several times due to this misbehavior.

The Manassas girls won easily over the Haymarket girls. The local lassies took the lead and never did give it up. The Haymarket girls put on a desperate last minute drive but failed to forge ahead.

The Manassas forwards played a fine game with Beeton leading the score. The Manassas guards put up a swell defense. The final score of the girls' game was 21-18.

On Tuesday night the high school team dropped both games to Falmouth.

A WORTHY PROJECT

Anyone having a pair of shoes that are no longer of use to the owner may leave the same at either of Dr. Cocke's stores. They will be rebuilt by the Red Cross and given to needy people who can not afford the purchase price.

No matter what their condition of the shoes may be, leave them at the points indicated. It is surprising what can be done with shoes that seem utterly useless.

Other improvements on this road will follow as funds are available.

ATHLETIC INSTRUCTOR ADDRESSES KIWANIS

Professor Saunders, of Manassas High faculty, was the guest speaker at Kiwanis last Friday evening. He had as his topic of discussion the matter of public playgrounds as adding materially to public pleasure, health and entertainment.

Mr. Saunders gave some interesting figures and cited evidence of general approval of the project. He was asked to revise further ways and means to provide safe exercise for the more mature adults attending the playgrounds another year.

The entire club was very happy to see "Blah" Gibson back at his post. He has been badly missed.

MRS. JOHNSON TALKS ON CURRENT FICTION

The February meeting of the Woman's Club was held in the Parish House on Monday, the 9th at 2:30 p. m.

From reports of the sections, the club work is being carried on in the usual successful way.

The main interest of the meeting was centered in the talk given to us by Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson. This was in the nature of a review of the leading new fiction and gave us in her usual attractive way a clear understanding of these novels so that we felt that from her talk we could choose what each one of us would want to read.

Mrs. Johnson was sponsored by the Fine Arts Section of the club.

MEMORIAL SERVICE BY EASTERN STAR CHAPTER

The Wicodansis Chapter of the Eastern Star was well represented at the monthly meeting, Tuesday, February 18, despite the cold and blustery weather.

After the chapter was opened with the usual formality, and allegiance given to the flag, a beautiful and impressive memorial service was held in honor of the late brother, Mr. Walker Merchant.

The worthy matron called up the chapter and asked that the altar be draped according to custom.

Brother Frank Sigman opened the service with prayer. Sister Gladys Bushong then read the resolutions which she and the committee had drawn up. After which Sister Viola Proffitt reading a few verses from the 14th chapter of St. John, deposited a red rose on the altar as a token of "the fervency of our love for our departed brother".

The Sister Loula Broadbush sang that beautiful hymn "No cares up Yonder", with Sister Margaret Broadbush at the piano. Sister Ada Sigman closed the service by reciting Tennyson's immortal lines "Crossing the Bar".

After the chapter was closed in the usual form, the social committee invited the members to the room below where a George Washington quiz contest was engaged in. The refreshments were delightful, in keeping with the occasion. The table was beautifully decorated with patriotic trimmings.

All enjoyed the entertainment immensely.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Mind" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 23.

The Golden Text will be "It is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure" (Phil 2:13).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Who hath directed the Spirit of the Lord, or being his counsellor hath taught him? With whom took he counsel, and who instructed him, and taught him in the path of judgment, and taught him knowledge, and shewed to him the way of understanding?" (Isa. 40:13, 14).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If God were limited to man or matter, or if the infinite could be circumscribed within the finite, God would be corporeal, and unlimited Mind would seem to spring from a limited body; but this is an impossibility. Infinite Mind can have no starting-point, and can return to no limit" (p. 284).

SPECIAL CONCERT SERIES BY NATIONAL SYMPHONY

The Special Series of six concerts by the National Symphony Orchestra was inaugurated at four o'clock Sunday (Feb. 16) afternoon in Constitution Hall with a program marked by the Washington debut of the beautiful Chicago Opera Co. soprano, Jean Tennyson, and the third appearance as guest director with the orchestra of Charles O'Connell, director of artists and classical recordings for RCA-Victor.

In honor of the National testimonial to Ignace Jan Paderewski, which is being celebrated from February 16, to February 22, this concert will be dedicated to the eminent Polish pianist and statesman.

Miss Tennyson, soloist on Sunday's concert, began her career in musical comedy—in her case, the Ziegfeld Follies—progressed to operettas, and then, scoring movie and further Broadway offers, turned to the study of operatic roles in earnest. She made her debut in Modena, Italy, as Mimì in "La Bohème", spent two seasons singing in European capitals, and returned to this country for a season with the San Carlo Opera Co. Her debut with the Chicago Opera was made the next year. With the National Symphony Orchestra she will sing Recitative and Aria, Dove Sono, from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro", and "Daybreak" by Carl McDonald.

Mr. O'Connell needs no introduction to Washington audiences. He has appeared twice with the National Symphony at the Wate Gale and recently supervised the orchestra's recording of 36 sides for RCA-Victor.

For the major work on Sunday's program Mr. O'Connell has programmed Beethoven's Fourth Symphony in B flat. The balance of the program is comprised of Overture to Paisiello's "Barber of Seville", Prelude, Choral and Fugue by Bach, and Vorspiel and Liebestod from Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde".

C & P 1940 PHONE EXPENDITURES

Defense Program Adds to Current Problems.

While revenues of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia were higher than in 1939, net earnings were slightly lower due to the large increase in expenses, it was reported today by President Lloyd B. Wilson in the company's annual report. This, together with the substantial increase in the telephone plant, resulted in a material decrease in the return on the property.

Total revenues of the company, according to the report, amounted to $11,821,927, an increase of 10.5 per cent over the previous year. Total expenses, including taxes, were $9,485,833, an increase of 13.9 per cent. Taxes amounted to $1,470,393, an increase of $172,428 over 1939.

A net gain of 21,945 telephones as compared with 17,167 in 1939 was the highest in the history of the company. The number of telephones in service at the close of the year was 235,064.

Local and out-of-town calls totaled about 523,613,000, an increase of nearly 8 per cent over the previous year. Out-of-town messages amounted to approximately 9,962,000, an increase of 15 per cent.

COMEDY AND DRAMA MIX IN "GALLANT SONS"

Comedy mingles with dramatic thrills and a romance in "Gallant Sons", in which young players of high school age gravitate between comedy of youth and the more serious side of approaching manhood and womanhood to provide a type of juvenile entertainment new to the screen. Now playing at the Pitt's Theatre, next Monday and Tuesday, February 24 and 25, the picture runs the gamut of emotions, from laughs to smashing dramatic climax, heart-gripping human-interest moments, and a frolicsome school play.

The story deals with the friendship of two boys, played by Jackie Cooper and Gene Reynolds, and a group of their friends. Gene's father, a gambler, is arrested for murder through the activities of Jackie's father, a newspaper. To find the guilty party and clear the father of their friend, the youngsters turn amateur detectives. They find an odd musical clue and trace it down to a band leader in a cheap night club. Amid adventures, comical and otherwise, they establish his guilt, forcing

Mrs. W. B. Cross was rushed to Garfield Hospital Friday and operated on at once for appendicitis. Mrs. Cross is doing very nicely and as well as could be expected.

Mrs. Roy Webster entertains the W. S. C. S. for March.

ing him to reveal himself through a high school play showing the details of the crime.

Jackie Cooper is dashing as the high school baseball captain, and young Reynolds is convincingly appealing as his pal. Cooper and Bonita Granville are paired as high school sweethearts, while the adult romance is in the capable hands of Gail Patrick and Hunter. Others who contribute excellent performances include June Preisser, Leo Gorcey, William Tracy, El Brendel, Edward Ashley, Minor Watson and Tommy Kelley.

JACKIE COOPER GREAT IN "LIFE WITH HENRY"

The role of Henry Aldrich was tailor-made for Jackie Cooper. His latest picture of the adventures of the hapless Henry opening next Wednesday, February 26, at the Pitt's theatre. It's title is the Aldrich Family in "Life With Henry", and what a life he leads! Sometimes hilarious, sometimes sad, but always sincere.

Henry is a typical high school lad whose faculty for getting in and out of trouble amounts to almost supernatural. He is aided in his well-meant misadventures by his pal "Dizzy" the comedy relief.

Another newcomer to pictures is Jackie's new leading lady, Leila Ernst. This may be her motion picture debut, but she carries it off with all the assurance in the world. She's small, blonde and radiates personality. You won't blame Jackie for falling for her.

Hedda Hopper and Fred Niblo, he's the former director of silent pictures who is at the other end of the camera for the first time, are excellent in the roles of Henry's mother and father. And then there's Henry's sister, Kay Stewart, whose brunette charm is what makes "Dizzy", dizzy.

There isn't a dull moment in "Life With Henry". It is a worthy successor to the first Henry Aldrich picture, "What A Life". The latter was adapted from the Broadway stage hit of the same name. It's success, with Jackie Cooper in the star role, was so outstanding that Paramount decided to follow it with another. Unlike many attempts of this kind, "Life With Henry" is even better than "What A Life".

In the picture, Henry is on his summer vacation from high school, but is determined not to waste his time. He had planned to take advantage of an opportunity to go to Alaska offered by a Chicago philanthropist. It's all very simple—he has to do to earn $100, get character letters from three leading citizens and fill out an application blank.

As everybody in town knows Henry it is practically impossible for him to get a job or letters of recommendation. He has to resort to his wits. He finally makes it, but not until after last night's audience went through more than an hour of side-splitting fun.

OCCOQUAN AND VICINITY

Miss Virginia Shanklin of Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg spend the week end visiting her home in Occoquan.

Mrs. Emma Byington of Lorton has returned home after spending part of the winter vacationing in Florida.

Because a sufficient number of the patrons of Occoquan High School could not be obtained as chaperones, the dance scheduled for Friday February 21, has been cancelled. It is hoped that parents will take enough interest in school affairs to volunteer to chaperone at dances.

The Oddfellows of Occoquan are sponsoring a dance to be held at Gadsbys Tavern in Alexandria on Friday evening, February 28. This will be a well conducted and entertaining dance, so be sure not to miss it.

There will be service at Pohick Church on Ash Wednesday, February 26, at 8 p. m. and on every Thursday during LENT except the first Thursday at 8 p. m. All are welcome to attend those services. We are sure you will enjoy them; and will be fulfilling your obligations to GOD. You are also CORDIALLY INVITED to attend services at Pohick Church every SUNDAY at 11 a. m. Holy Communion the first Sunday each month; members of all Christian Churches are invited to partake with us, of the Holy Communion.

Mrs. R. Warthen Hall of Occoquan has gone to Charlottesville, to stay a few months for the benefit of her health. We sincerely hope the change will do her a lot of good. We will miss her in town while she is away.

RAYMOND MASSEY FREES SLAVES AGAIN

Raymond Massey, the Canadian-born actor, sees nothing peculiar in the fact that his most successful parts have been in characters as typically American as the Saturday night band concert in a court house park, or a flight of Fourth of July oratory.

And it doesn't concern him in the least that he portrays John Brown the fanatical Kansas Abolitionist, just after having finished a long run as Abraham Lincoln both on stage and film. Lincoln, like all other solid men of the time, rated Brown a traitor and an enemy.

"I won't give a rip", says Massey, "Just as long as it's a good part".

Massey is playing John Brown in Warner Bros. "Santa Fe Trail", which opens Thursday and Friday, February 27 and 28 at the Pitt's. Other famous Americans are represented in the story: Robert E. Lee, Phil Sheridan, George Custer, Stonewall Jackson, Longstreet, Cyrus Holliday, who helped open the trail and to build the first Santa Fe railline, and a lot of others. Errol Flynn plays the young Virginian, J. E. B. Stuart, who was quite a fellow in his day.

Michael Curtiz, directing the picture, at first was a bit hesitant when Massey was suggested for the John Brown role. Not that he didn't appreciate Massey's unquestioned ability as an actor. Mike was afraid Massey might have trouble with the mechanics of the part, it requiring a lot of hard riding, fighting and shooting.

But Massey proved to be an expert horseman. Asked for a much livelier mount than the one first provided on the opening day of the picture, in fact. Turned out that he had a lot of cavalry experience during the first World War, taught military tactics with emphasis on the cavalry at Princeton and Yale after he was wounded out of active service, and things like that.

Massey is headed back to New York now after finishing his role in "Santa Fe Trail". Has no definite plans for next winter's Broadway play season although he has been reading a couple of things, either one of which he thinks might do. Just wants to get back there or awhile, meet old friends and visit haunts, have a look around the city, and find out what's doing.

Says he likes Hollywood fine, and enjoys working for the cameras. Crew filming "Santa Fe Trail", most of them rather hard-bitten individuals who have worked with Mike Curtiz

Miss Mary Jean Holloway spent last week end with friends at Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg.

Mrs. Ralph Wisner and Miss Elizabeth Brawner were the dinner guests last Monday evening at the quarters of Lt. and Mrs. Robert Hall in Quantico.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Crawford of Washington visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Crawford last Sunday.

for many years, picture after picture, supposed that Massey would be up-stage and a little party on the set. That was before he started to work. He proved quite the contrary; made friends easily and won respect by the way he worked under difficult conditions, mostly till all hours of the night and through the darkness of the early morning. Big outdoor pictures generally are no easy task, especially for actors who have been softened up by an air-conditioned winter on a New York stage.

CONGRATULATING FREDERICKSBURG

We extend congratulations to the City of Fredericksburg upon its having officially been recognized as a City of the First Class.

It will be some time before Manassas secures the same enviable status, but the way things are moving these days, we opine that it will not be nearly so long as it has taken our esteemed neighbor to reach maturity, for Fredericksburg is one of the old Free Cities of Virginia and has a most interesting and honorable record.

Fredericksburg has always been greatly beloved by Virginians everywhere. From earliest days it has been the meeting place of worthwhile folks, a City of culture, of wealth, and of progress, and under its new status as a first class city, we have no doubt that it will become the largest and most prosperous municipality of its geographical area, and will enjoy a local prosperity not possible to ever attain in less fortunate situations.

Congratulations to our big, friendly neighbor!

FREDERICK W. COLEMAN

We regret to record the passing of Hon. Frederick W. Coleman, judge of the circuit Court of the Fifteenth Virginia District. In his death Virginia has lost an able jurist and the counties and city which he served so well a devoted friend.

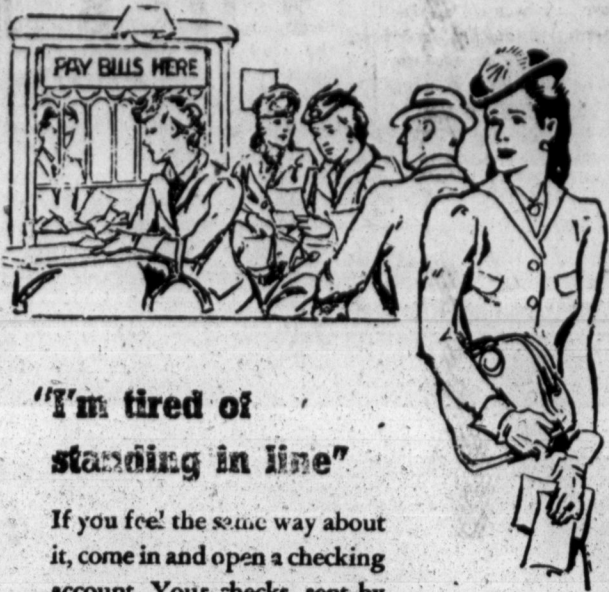

Judge Coleman's was a rugged personality. He never forgot a friend or a kindness, and by the same token, those who knew him best maintain that he likewise never forgot an enemy or act of unkindness, but he was universally respected as one who unvaryingly interpreted the law without fear or favor, and behind his judicial exterior there was to be found a deeply human understanding and sympathy.

There are small words but they are large in their application to happiness and security.

SEWING PROJECTS

HAVE TWO AIMS

Welfare and Defense Needs Met by P. W. A.

Sewing projects of the WPA have concentrated on two main objectives during 1940—the production of millions of garments for the needy, and the preparation of project machinery for any defense emergency that might arise. These facts are revealed in the annual report of Mrs. Florence Kerr, Assistant Commissioner in charge of all Professional and Service projects.

"Our sewing projects in every State are geared to perform additional services that might be required by the government to speed the defense program", Mrs. Kerr states. "During the past few months, workers on a large project in one State have been repairing uniforms for the National Guard, and at least one project of another State includes the mending of blankets for local Guardsmen in its current activities. While these specialized services have not become regular functions of WPA sewing projects, we expect to have more and more requests for assistance in keeping our training units comfortably equipped, as the wear and tear on uniforms and certain barrack equipment increase."

Most of the articles of clothing and household equipment turned out by the sewing projects have been distributed this past year as in other years, to the needy families of those on relief, and to public tax-supported institutions. In utilizing millions of yards of textiles and other materials, the sewing rooms have proven a direct and indirect benefit to many industries, Mrs. Kerr points out.

Also, they have proven a boon to industries increasing their working forces in the past few months, in that they have preserved the skills of thousands of workers and trained other thousands in new skills, useful to industries now engaged in turning out new equipment for the national defense program.

"Our sewing projects do not compete with private industry", Mrs. Kerr explains, "for all garments made are distributed free to individuals who are financially unable to purchase them in any store at even the most modest retail prices. Articles for the needy, supplied to tax-supported charitable institutions or public welfare organizations, are purely supplemental—representing only the supply that these institutions and organizations could not purchase because of the limited funds."

"During the past year employment on the sewing projects has averaged 110,000 people, nearly all of whom are women", Mrs. Kerr states. "They have worked on some 1,000 units in the United States, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands."

STATE TESTER REPORTS ON GAS PUMPS

A recent test of gas pumps at filling stations in Prince William County by H. L. Lewis, an inspector of the Division of Markets of the State Department of Agriculture shows the following results: A total of 131 gas pumps were found in use and tested; 25 of these were found incorrect or failed to meet the standard requirements.

Those pumps that were found to be correct were approved and sealed with a white sticker or tag which indicates to the purchaser that these pumps were tested and approved by the inspector. The public is urged to look for the white seal on gas pumps when buying gasoline as the presence of this seal is their best insurance against short or inaccurate measure. All pumps found to measure inaccurately or have mechanical defects of such a nature as to lead to inaccurate measure or facilitate the perpetration of fraud were tagged with a red "Condemned for Repair" tag indicating to the purchaser that the pumps were not in an approved condition when tested. All such pumps are required to be repaired and corrected at once if continued in use.

In connection with the testing of gas pumps, the grease measuring devices used in filling the tanks and differentials of automobiles were also tested. Grease measuring devices that do not measure correctly are condemned in the same manner as the pumps. However the approved stickers are not applied to grease measuring devices that are found to measure correctly but the adjusting apparatus on such devices is sealed in such a way that the measure cannot be altered without first destroying the seal.

BELLE AIRE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Belle Aire, one of the old homes of Stafford County was destroyed by fire last Monday evening, at an estimated loss of approximately $30,000. The fine old mansion was more than 200 years old and it is stated could have been saved by the firemen, had there been available a reasonable supply of water.

The property is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Claire D. Schlemmer. Mrs. Schlemmer was at home with her two daughters when the fire was discovered in the roof about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, but despite all efforts, the building was finally consumed.

Belle Aire was built by Francis Fitzhugh in the early 1700's and was purchased by Abram Primer, great-grandfather of Mr. Claire D. Schlemmer, who purchased the property about twelve years ago.

"O.Pioneers", which was written by Mrs. Cather, is a story of the pioneer life of Alexandria Bergson and her struggle to keep her promise to her father, who was dead.

After the death of Mr. Bergson, Alexandria had to manage things and run the farm in Hanover, Nebraska. She had three brothers younger than she: Oscar was nineteen, Lou, sixteen, and Emil, eight at the beginning of the story. Her mother was always happy wherever she was, but Alexandria was the one who could tell how much it cost to fatten the pig.

After several years the neighbors began to sell their farms to people who had money, and go back East because they had fallen into debt. When the boys wanted to sell their father's land and home, Alexandria refused to sell. She told them that they should buy all of the land that they could, even if they had to mortgage their own farm, because in six years it would be worth twice as much it was now.

Alexandria became lonesome when Carl Linstrum, a neighbor, whom she trusted went back East.

Alexandria's brothers did not like the way she ran her farm, but she made the most and added more to it each year. Alexandria sent Emil to school and told him that he could do whatever he wanted to.

One day about ten years after Carl Linstrum had gone East, he came back to see Alexandria. Although her brothers fussed and worried because they thought that he wanted to marry her for her money, their worrying was all in vain because he left and went to hunt gold.

Alexandria's life was greatly changed by the death of Emil. After his death she was not her old self. Nothing was right; she could not seem to get over his death until one afternoon when she went to the cemetery, a storm came up. This experience seemed to bring her to herself.

The return of Carl gives a satisfying and romantic ending which I like. "O.Pioneers" is a very interesting story of pioneer life of the West. It was published in 1913 by Houghton Mifflin and Company. I think it would be worth anyone's time to read it.

This book can be borrowed from the Ruffner-Carnegie library.

WILLIAM SHERMAN CROSS

Suddenly, on Wednesday, February 11, 1941 at his home at Occoquan, William S. Cross, beloved husband of the late Ellen Selesman Cross passed from this life. He is survived by two sons, George Cross and William Dutz Cross.

The deceased was beloved by all who knew him. He was of unswerving, sterling character, who refused under any stress of circumstance to compromise right with wrong.

He exemplified the most heroic character, especially during his long illness, which he bore with heroic Christian fortitude.

He was loving, self sacrificing husband and father, loyal friend and kind neighbor. The needy was never turned unaided from his door.

The deceased was a son of Sarah Joy Cross and Andrew G. Cross among the oldest and most prominent families of Maryland and Washington, D. C., who were married at historic Mt. Vernon. He was a descendant of his ancestor of the name of Cross, who heroically perished in Greely's expedition to the North Pole. The deceased was seventy-eight years of age. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Catherine Miller by Washington, D. C.

The deceased was connected by marriage with one of the oldest Christian character, especially during dated from the year 1582.

His ancestors were of Mayflower Plymouth group of 1620, and were also signers of the Declaration of Independence. Two forebears marched to the Lexington Alarm and served through the Revolutionary War, and others were at Bunker Hill. He was also a descendant of the late Jamestown settlers in 1607, and of the pioneer residents of historic old Dumfries, including the families of Dorr and Epps, early lawmakers of Virginia.

Mrs. Ellen Selesman Cross was a direct descendant of the late Henry Selesman, who was a settler and proprietor of Occoquan, before the Revolutionary War.

The deceased was in the fullest sense nature's nobleman. He is reaping his heavenly reward.

This funeral services were conducted by the Rev. P. M. Colbert, at the Occoquan M. E. Church on Thursday, February 13, at 2 p. m. His remains were laid to rest at Crawford Memorial Church Cemetery amidst masses of beautiful flowers which he loved so well.

WALTER A. KIDWELL

Funeral services were held at HALL Funeral Home at Occoquan, Sunday, January 19, for Walter A. Kidwell, age 70, who died at his home near Woodbridge, Friday, January 17, after an illness of three days.

Mrs. Dorothy Radford, who has been ill for some time, is now living in an apartment at Colonial Village, Arlington County. She is said to be much improved.

Mrs. Agnes Robey has as a visitor her small niece, Norma Gleason.

Rev. Robert F. Gibson of Upper Truro Parish and Mrs. Annie Turberville were recent callers at Green Gables, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Varnell Payne.

POWDER FOR SENTRIES BIG PROBLEM IN 1803

The neatly trimmed locks worn by the U. S. Marines of today make it hard to believe that powdered pig-tails were once worn by them and that every man appeared at dress parade and elsewhere with his hair neatly whitened and braided.

Yet, such was the custom of Revolutionary times up until after the War of 1812. During the intervening years the locks of the leather-necks glistened under a liberal sprinkling of flour which was commonly used for hair powder.

In those both British and American Marines used flour to whiten their cues, while the bluejackets of both navies wore single twisted braids which were tied with a bowknot at the neck. Sailors, however, did not powder their hair.

Sometimes the marine flour barrel was empty and officers complained that they had no flour to "powder the sentries." When the flour barrel failed on the U. S. S. Philadelphia in 1803, a marine lieutenant wrote to his commandant that he would be willing to buy the flour himself if he had the cash.

Estimates computed in December, 1807, include $150.00 for "flour for hair powder", apparently considered a sufficient sum to keep the hair of approximately 1,000 enlisted men properly whitened.

Powdered hair became obsolete among service men as well as civilians early in the last century, and long locks are no longer considered to be good form.

Today, Marine Corps regulations require that the hair shall be closely trimmed around the edges and that it shall not be over two inches in length. Even shaved necks are strictly taboo.

ARMY TESTS REVEAL SURPRISING T. B. RESULTS

Recent rejection of a group of Virginia National Guard officers for service in the United States Army because of tuberculosis has focused attention on a condition which is crying for correction. J. Vaughan Gary, president of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, declared today.

In an effort to discover the incidence of tuberculosis among recruits of the Army and Navy, the Virginia Tuberculosis Association has joined in a nationwide movement of civilian and military authorities with the object of taking steps to remedy a situation which already is causing concern among leaders of the anti-tuberculosis movement.

In letters to Miss Leslie Combs Foster, executive secretary of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, surgeon general of the Army, have thanked the State Association for an offer of co-operation to detect tuberculosis among recruits in this State.

"The need for early diagnosis of tuberculosis is emphasized more than ever by the unexpected discovery of the disease in apparently healthy youths", said Miss Foster. As an example she pointed to the case of a young Virginia captain who was rejected for military service the other day because of pulmonary tuberculosis. "Here was a case of an athlete," explained Miss Foster, "who was dumbfounded when the Army turned him down because he was tuberculous."

"The importance of tuberculosis is accentuated by the current situation", said Surgeon - General Thomas Parran of the United States Public Health Service. "We have made some progress since the last war in terms of a lower active infection rate and a lower death rate, but we do not have in any State the machinery to detect all active cases of the disease."

In a move to mobilize its affiliated organizations and gear them to the tempo of the defense program, the National Tuberculosis Association emphasizes that "any influences which tend to lower the general standard of health of a community cannot be dissociated from our interest in tuberculosis. Poor housing, crowded living, lack of sanitation, lack of adequate medical care, lack of public health and nursing services all count seriously against maintenance of a successful program for

DELEGATE MOORE SEEKS INFORMATION ON BUDGET

Detailed data concerning proposed State government reorganization has been asked of the Budget Director by the reorganization commission, Delegate E. Blackburn Moore, chairman, for consideration at its next meeting here March 14.

In the meantime an opinion will be sought from Attorney-General Staples as to whether the appointment of a commissioner of finance with over-all supervision in the offices of Treasurer, Comptroller, Purchases and Printing, and Motor Vehicles would be contrary to the constitutional requirement for a system of checks and balances. State Auditor McCarthy Downs questioned its constitutionality, where Junius P. Fishburn, Roanoke publisher, asked for an opinion.

Termining the chief finance officer proposal "unsound" from an accounting point of view, State Auditor Downs suggested establishment of an advisory board which would make monthly reports to the Governor.

Dr. Rowland Egger, budget director, told the commission that governmental costs are increasing, and that saving of money should be linked with promotion of greater efficiency in government in any reorganization plan. He emphasized there probably would be no reduction in cost of government because of public demand for expanding governmental services. Dr. Egger cited an increase in State expenditures from $43,000,000 in 1929 to $88,500,000 in 1939.

Governor Price in a letter said the major objectives in any reorganization plan were efficiency and simplicity rather than monetary savings which might accrue incidentally.
