SUBSCRIPTION $1.00 A YEAR

MUST PAY NOW TO ENTER PARK

Shenandoah Area Will Soon Be Mecca of Nature Lovers.

James R. Lassiter, superintendent, announced today that collection for permits to enter Shenandoah National Park, Va., begins for the 1941 season on March 15. The cost of the permits is the same as in the past, 25 cents per daily trip, or $1.00 for annual permits for private automobiles, and $5.00 per trip for commercial buses.

The most popular of the National Parks, Shenandoah is retaining its lead with an 8 per cent increase in visitors during the first five months of the travel year which began on October 1, 1940. It is anticipated that in this travel year the number of visitors will reach 1,000,000.

Springtime in Shenandoah National Park is one of the most beautiful of the seasons. The Skyline Drive, winding around the crests of the Blue Ridge offers an ever-changing vista of valleys and mountainsides. Observant visitors will find delight and interest in noting the progression of the seasonal growth at different elevations, from the yellow in lush fulfillment of spring about April 1, to the highest peaks where buds will be bursting in early May.

The greenish yellow blossoms of the silver maples, harbinger of spring in the Park area, are followed closely by red maple bloom and the conspicuous show of redbud, the spicetree, and the delicate starlike flowers of the shadblow and wild cherry. Azaleas, naked or with leaves, are seen throughout the Park at all altitudes, singly and in great masses, and later the plentiful tulip trees hold out their candelabra of greenish-yellow flowers. In late April and early May comes the flowering dogwood. At about the same time the flowers of the less numerous wild crab are found in some sections.

One of the biggest shows of the spring is presented over immense areas along the Skyline Drive and trails alike by the mountain laurel with its beautiful pinkish white, spotted flowers and shining green leaves. The blooming of this shrub in early June presents a spectacle second only to the riotous colors of turning leaves in mid-October.

To young or old, active or inactive, scientist or amateur nature lover, Shenandoah National Park offers an abundance of pleasure for everyone, and in spring dress its attraction is at one of the high points of the year.

PLANS MATURING FOR EASTER BALL

Plans are now under way for the big Easter Charity Ball to be given by the Woman's Club of Manassas in the High School gymnasium, Monday night, April 14. The orchestra already secured is The Rhythm Kings, and they will play for dancing from 10 until 2 a. m.

The committees for the ball have not been completed but the several chairmen have been appointed as follows: Mrs. T. J. Broadus, general chairman; Mrs. Lewis Carper, music; Mrs. Harold McCall, decoration; Mrs. Marie Larkin and Mrs. E. H. Mars-teller, invitations, and Mrs. M. S. Burchard, publicity.

JUNIOR WOMEN TO GIVE FASHION SHOW

Manassas will doubtless become fashion conscious during the month of April, which trend will come to a climax on the night of April 23rd when the Junior Woman's Club will hold a fashion show at the Pitts Theatre, preceding the movie "Honey-moon for Three." This plan was submitted to the club by Mrs. J. Carl Kincheloe, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, at its regular monthly meeting on March 13th at the home of Mrs. J. C. Kincheloe.

The Junior Women entertained a number of the members of the Young Woman's Club of Herndon at their meeting, which was presided over by the president, Miss Walser Conner. A very interesting talk was made on child psychology by Miss Roberta Shoemaker, Principal of the Park View School in Washington, who was introduced by Mrs. Paul Arrington. Miss Shoemaker is a friend of Miss Susan Ish Harrison who accompanied her to the meeting. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Wallace Hook, Mrs. Wallace Lynn, Mrs. Stanley Owens, Miss Hilda Moser, Miss Shirley Mason and Miss Walser Conner.

Mrs. R. Worth Peters and Mrs. T. J. Broadus represented the Woman's Club, and Miss Walser Conner and Mrs. R. Jackson Ratcliffe represented the Junior Woman's Club, at the District Institute of the Virginia Federation of Woman's Clubs which was held at the James Madison Hotel in Orange on Wednesday, March 19th.

REDEN HERBERT PITTMAN

Elder Reden Herbert Pittman, minister, writer and publisher, for the past ten years, pastor of Primitive Baptist Church, Manassas, passed away Friday, March 14, at Harrisonburg Hospital after an illness of several weeks.

Elder Pittman was born in North Carolina seventy years ago, was baptized in 1893 at the age of twenty-two years, ordained to the ministry in 1900 at Bishopville, S. C., where he held pastorates until coming to Luray, in the summer of 1906; here he continued to reside until his death. Besides the Manassas Church, Elder Pittman was pastor of two churches in Page County Seneca Church in Maryland.

Because of extensive travel and wide circulation of the church paper, The Advocate and Messenger, Elder Pittman's faithful work in the ministry and his efficient editorship are well known throughout the country.

The deceased is survived by his widow formerly, Miss Bessie Barnes of Elm City, N. C., three daughters and two sons and one brother, who lives in South Carolina.

The funeral services were held on Sunday the 16th from Mount Carmel Church in Luray and interment in Luray Cemetery. Elder A. L. Harrison of Front Royal was in charge of services and was assisted by Elders, Miller, Jenkins and Suddenth. Seven other ministers were present. The profusion of beautiful flowers and the immense crowd in attendance bore evidence of the love and high esteem in which he was held by all who knew him, truly a gentleman of the Old South.

IMPROVING

Friends of Rev. W. O. Luttrell will be pleased to know that he is on the road to recovery and is expected to be back with us next Sunday to resume his duties.

He has been greatly missed in the church and community for the past several weeks.

EVEN SONG SERVICE

The Even song service will be held at 7 P.M. at the Episcopal Church by the Trinity Group.

JUDGE MACDONALD WILL SPEAK TO FINE ARTS SECTION

The ladies of the Fine Arts Section of the Woman's Club will have an open-meeting in the auditorium, on April 1, so that the public may have an opportunity to share their program.

Miss Rose MacDonald of Winchester will review her new book, "Mrs. Robert E. Lee", at that time. Miss MacDonald needs no introduction to the Manassas people as this not her first visit to our town. Her work as a member of the State Board of Education and her contributions in writing make her a prominent figure today and the ladies of the club feel fortunate in having the opportunity to extend this invitation to everybody. You are urged to enjoy this occasion with them.

HAYMARKET SPLITS DOUBLE HEADER

The Haymarket girls played a splendid game against the Aldie girls. After a very exciting game the Aldie girls won with a score of 25-23. F. Ellis was high scorer of 20 points for Haymarket, with the other girls playing a fine game.

The Haymarket boys played an excellent game with fine team work throughout the game. At the end of the first quarter Aldie was leading by a score of 4-2. But the Haymarket boys came up at the half with a score of 15-9, and held the lead through the game. The final score was 33-27.

P. Smith, jr., scored 13 points and H. Alvey scored 10 points with R. Hayford, M. Piety, and B. Rust playing a fine defense.

STAMP COLLECTORS AIDED BY SOUTHERN RAILROAD

On suggestion of Mr. Scott Nixon, philatelist, of Augusta, Ga., Southern Railway System, has arranged to print 1000 envelopes commemorating the first trip of "The Southerner", a new streamlined train from Washington March 31.

These envelopes will be sent to Mr. Nixon, and he advises that if stamp collectors desire to secure one of these covers they can do so by sending him a three-cent stamp with their name and address. He will then place the stamp on the envelope and after all of these requests are in he will forward them to us for mailing from Washington on Monday, March 31, 1941.

This action is necessary because "The Southerner" will not carry any mail. However, we have been assured by Mr. Nixon that this will be entirely satisfactory to stamp collectors.

CLAUSEN-GILRAIN

Mrs. Otie Brodene Gilrain, foster-daughter, of Dr. B. F. Iden, sr., and former resident of Manassas, announces her engagement to Mr. Albert Burton Clausen, of Dallas, Texas.

WINS AGRICULTURAL PRIZE -

ALBERT ROLLINS

Albert Rollins, a senior agricultural student of Leesville District High School, has been announced a winner in the K-H Arcadian Nitrate of Soda, Soils Fertility Contest.

This is Albert's fourth year in Vocational agriculture. He was a member of the State Dairy Judging team in 1937, and won a free trip to the National Convention at Kansas City. He was a member of the Out of State Dairy Judging team in 1931, and competed in the National Contest held at Kansas City.

Albert is to be commended on his outstanding accomplishments. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rollins of Bristow, Virginia.

NOKESVILLE HIGH CONTEST WINNER

Eugene Nolley is oratorical champion.

Eugene Nolley, senior of Brentsville District High, was selected as winner in the county contest of the National Oratorical Contest which was sponsored by the National Americanism Commission of the American Legion. The purpose of this contest which was held at Nokesville on Friday afternoon, March 14, was to select the individual who would represent the county in the Northern Virginia contest which will be held on March 24, at Fairfax High School.

Joseph Johnson, the representative from Manassas, gave his interpretation of the terms "Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness".

Eugene Nolley discussed the application of "Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness" to the every day life of an individual. Both participants revealed a comprehensive and extensive knowledge of the subject. Each participant was also required to give a short extemporaneous speech on some phase of the Constitution of the United States.

The judges of the contest who were from Fauquier County based their decisions on the following points: poise and personality, accuracy and effectiveness of composition, and the powers to thrill, quicken, and compel. A short musical program was rendered by several students of the High School.

MOORE BOARD ASKS EXPLANATION

The Moore Reorganization Commission has voted, 4-2, to request that Governor Price appear before it at a meeting in April, and support his statement, made in Norfolk February 25, that reorganization proposals which he supported and which the 1940 General Assembly rejected, would have saved "thousands of dollars in administrative expenses".

A letter to the Governor, signed by E. Blackburn Moore as chairman of the Commission, stated that "in fairness to you and the General Assembly and the Reorganization Commission, and in fairness to the people of Virginia, and in view of the conflicting and insufficiently convincing evidence on your reorganization proposals, the Commission on Reorganization invites you to meet with them at your convenience in April. The meeting is to be held either as an open meeting or in executive session, as you prefer".

BOOK MART VERY SUCCESSFUL

The friends of the library and the alumni association wish to extend their appreciation to all those who helped to make so successful the Book Mart, held Friday, March 14, 1941.

The value of money taken in and book contributed to the library amounted to $87.15.

HEARING ON REDISTRICTING

Arlington to Get Separate State Senator.

Southwest Virginia representation in the Virginia House of Delegates will be discussed at a public meeting of the Legislative Reapportionment Commission June 16 in Roanoke.

At a hearing held March 17 the commission received vigorous protests against tentative changes in House and Senate districts involving the Appomattox - Amherst - Nelson - Buckingham and Brunswick-Lunenburg areas.

An additional delegate from Richmond City and Arlington county, an additional Senator from Northern Virginia, and additional delegate from Norfolk City, Tazewell County and Lynchburg city have been tentatively approved by the commission. The commission's report will be acted on by the 1942 General Assembly.

Many speakers emphasized that population alone should not be the chief consideration, but that area should also be considered, also historic associations. The shades of Patrick Henry were invoked by one speaker, while Ralph James of Elizabeth City county said "my people would rather live on half-rations at home than live elsewhere with plenty to eat". Still another orator remarked that "if it hadn't been for Hitler and mushroom growth, we wouldn't have redistricting problems".

A constitutional mandate requires redistricting of the House and Senate every ten years.

Tribute was paid to Appomattox county by Robert Whitehead. Commonwealth's Attorney of Amherst county, who said "Appomattox casts more votes per capita than any county in the State", adding that "the people who live on the South side of the James river are better politicians than their northern bank neighbors".

Roanoke City, said Senator Leonard Muse and Carl B. Shorts, feels it should have a separate Senator, while Roanoke county, Delegate Ben Chapman contended, should be given an additional delegate. Arlington county, Senator W. D. Medley and Delegate Charles R. Fenwick said, should be given a separate senator due to its continuing growth.

SCHOOL CHILD KILLED TUESDAY

About 3:30 P.M. on Tuesday, Herbert Green, aged 10, third grade pupil at Haymarket school, met his death while returning home from school.

The exact details will be brought out at a hearing before Judge Compton on April 2nd, the driver of the truck causing the youngster's death, having been placed under $500 bond to appear at that time. Investigation was made by Special Officer Robert Vetter and State Officer Parker.

Driver John Sweeney of the school bus had stopped on the Front Royal road about a mile and a half north of Haymarket, where it is intersected by the Antioch road, to let off several children. One of these was the little Green boy. Just as Sweeney started off, the boy seems to have been struck by the truck which was admittedly traveling at least thirty-five miles an hour according to reported statements credited to the driver, Lester B. Zirkle of Strasburg, Va. His vehicle was moving southward. The child, of course, had left the bus which was again in motion.

This is the first time that a child has met death while in transportation was put into operation in this county. It is in nowise a reflection on the bus driver who seems to have discharged the children with all the usual degree of care.

The lad was rushed to the Alexandria Hospital where he does not seem to have recovered consciousness, dying this morning.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed as this goes to press.

RELIGIOUS SERVICE AT BRENTSVILLE HIGH

On Sunday night, March 30, at 7:45 there will be a Religious Service at the Brentsville District High School auditorium, Nokesville. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. R. M. Graham of Manassas.

Several musical members are being prepared. It is hoped that a large member will attend from every church in the district.

A free will offering will go on our district's quota, which is being raised for religious education.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "In God is my salvation and my glory; the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God" (Psa. 62:7).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Nothing we can say or believe regarding matter is immortal, for matter is temporal and is therefore a mortal phenomenon, a human concept, sometimes beautiful, always erroneous" (p. 277).

BRETHREN MISSIONARIES SAIL TO AFRICA

Three nurses, Misses Ruth Utz of Virginia, and Alice Engel and Sylvia Oiness of Baltimore, will sail March 15. Shortage of ships has delayed the sailing of these workers to the mission where they are urgently needed to give service in the leper colony of over seven hundred lepers and in the two mission hospitals in Africa.

Thirteen China missionaries are on their way home from China. Rev. E. E. Blough, pastor of the local church of the Brethren just received this announcement from the national headquarters of the Church of the Brethren at Elgin, Illinois. The returning workers include the following persons: Rev. and Mrs. Frank Crum-packer of Kansas, founders of the mission thirty-three years ago; Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Ikenberry from Kansas; Rev. and Mrs. W. Haplan Smith from Iowa; Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Wampler from Virginia and Ohio; Miss Minerva Metzger from Indiana; Mrs. Minor M. Myers from Virginia; Velma Ober and Laura Shock from Indiana; and Anna Hutchinson from Maryland. These missionaries have been forced from their work by the hostile elements which have created such acute tension in the Far East. Four other missionaries continue with the work in China to conserve interests there, looking toward the return of all the missionaries to China when conditions permit.

Rev. Charles D. Bensack, secretary of the General Mission Board says people ask him, "Should not the church withdraw from missionary work until the present crisis passes?"

Reverend Bensack replies, "The church does not retreat in times of danger". It is the Christian message which the world most sorely needs now.

Reverend Blough stated that his congregation is taking an active part in this national program and contributed $511.00 toward the national budget of $235,000, which was raised in full, when the fiscal year closed February 28. In addition to the general church program the Church of the Brethren has given more than $29,000 for war relief and support of the Civilian Public Service program. This is double the goal which the church set a year ago. The church has only recently launched a campaign for more than two hundred thousand dollars to set up Civilian Public Service camps as approved by the federal government where conscientious objectors to war will be engaged in types of service of national importance.

I Like This Book

One of a series of book reviews by students of Osbourn High School, Manassas, Virginia 1940-41, in competition for the W. C. Wagner Memorial Prize.

"Reaching For The Stars", written by Wain, is a very interesting sketch of what she found among the German people during her stay with her husband in Germany from 1934 to 1938. She set herself to see why such cruelty as the desertion of free speech and of loyalty to kin, which clouded many German households, should be among this race of people.

Nora Wain was an American Quaker from Pennsylvania, and her husband was a musician who traveled to widen his knowledge of music. They had one daughter who was put into a private school.

During her stay in Germany she found many unpleasant conditions as well as many pleasant ones. She came in contact with many individuals of different walks of life and varied opinions so that she learned the true character of the German race. She found many hardhearted people and many goodhearted ones, the latter being very loyal and friendly to the Wains. They faced the difficult problem of trying to live with the people and understand the Germany of Hitler.

The Wains were admitted to the inner circle of artists and music lovers because of Mr. Wain's work as a musician. They attended many concerts, parties, and dinners. While Mr. Wain spent most of his time studying, Nora Wain spent her time being entertained in many German homes. From the description given in this book, she enjoyed herself very much. However, she makes us feel the tragedy of these people from their lack of liberty. They are faced always with the fear of being thrown into concentration camps, or being exiled from the country. She makes us feel the aching heart of the old people when their sons are taken away from them and put into training as soon as they are able to handle a gun.

Nora Wain felt that while she was in Germany she witnessed the building up of one of the World's greatest military forces.

"Reaching for the Stars" was published by Little, Brown and Company in March 1939. It may be borrowed from the Ruffner Carnegie Library of Osbourn High School.

THRILLING COURTROOM DRAMA

Robert Young, acclaimed the most consistently popular star in Hollywood, comes Monday and Tuesday March 24 and 25, to the Pitt's Theatre teamed with Laraine Day in what is said to be the most powerfully dramatic picture of his career, "The Girl of the Year".

Young takes the leading role in the new picture, following his performances in "The Mortal Storm" and "Western Union". He portrays a desperate young lawyer who must depend upon his legal skill to save his sweetheart from the gallows.

Mrs. Day, in the title role, makes her first screen appearance since being named the outstanding young actress in Hollywood in a poll taken in the film colony. She first won recognition for her Mary Lamont role in the "Dr. Kildare" picture.

The picture is taken from Bayard Veiller's sensational play and deals with a girl who flees from a reformatory (where she is held unjustly) and attempts to rehabilitate herself. She falls in love with a young lawyer, responsible for her crashing the gates who asks her to marry him and go off Hollywood to film success. She with him to South America. This she must refuse, for she cannot get a passport without revealing her true identity.

The lawyer goes without her and when he returns, a year later, he finds that she is standing trial for the murder of her former benefactor. He discovers that the defense attorney is making only half-hearted attempt to defend her and takes over the case himself. In a sensational trial he proves that the girl could not have committed the crime and wins the acquittal.

Young and Day are teamed in the picture, which is being shown at the Pitt's Theatre, and of course, the hit tune is warbled by Mary herself.

It was her unusual delivery of this song, "Leave It to Me", that was responsible for her crashing the gates who asks her to marry him and go off Hollywood to film success. She had been to Hollywood before with no luck. It was only when she left to star in the musical production that the talent scouts went after her in droves.

Paramount won out and brought her to the coast for "The Great Victor Herbert". Then she made "Rhythm on the River", starring Bing Crosby, and from that went directly into the Benny Allen picture.

SUBS HERE, SUBS THERE

Americans should not allow themselves to be either excited or angered by the story that Nazi submarines are being sent to waylay shipping off the American coast.

In the first place the story in its more sensational form—conjecturing up the picture of a U-boat lurking just outside New York Harbor—is not true.

Secondly, while German psychology is notoriously poor, it seems unlikely that it could be so incredibly poor. Unless the Nazis figure that the United States would be less useful to Britain if it declared war itself they will hardly bring the war to the very shores of America.

Finally, Americans need today to place double clamps on their emotions. They are determined to do their part in the defense of democracy. If that part ultimately calls for actual hostilities, the step should be taken calmly and because it is the most effective way to serve the cause of freedom and national defense, not in excitement or anger.

A submarine operating on one side of the Atlantic would be doing the same work as on the other. Its effect on American interests and ideals might be no greater. That effect, not fear or resentment, should determine American action.—Christian Science Monitor

ROAD MARKING

ARE EXPLAINED

Centerlines clearly show where driver may proceed.

"Virginia's new system of marking the center of its highways is one of the greatest potential safety factors ever adopted by the State, but the people must be educated to observe strictly the markings to make them effective."

This statement was made last week by Colonel Marion S. Battle, director of the State Division of Motor Vehicles, and concurred in by officials of the State Highway Department, which was responsible for the legislation introduced in the last Legislature that brought about adoption of the system.

"So important do we regard rigid observance of the center markings in our constant campaign to reduce the ever-increasing accident death toll on our highways," Colonel Battle asserted, "that we have had thousands of pamphlets made up containing clear diagrams with simple explanations of where and when the markings may and may not be crossed. These we will send out to the State's motorists this year when we send them their automobile registration cards. And we expect to enforce the regulations to the letter of the law. It is a matter of life and death for the highway users.

"Under the system, where there are two parallel solid white lines down the center of the highway, no vehicle is to cross the line," he said. "Before those lines were laid out on the roads, competent engineers made a thorough study and the lines are warnings to motorists that if they cross into the other driver's lane they are taking their lives into their own hands.

"Where there is a solid white line on your side of a broken line, you must not pass another car or cross the solid line, for the same engineers' study has proven that you don't have enough clear view ahead to be certain another car may not come speeding suddenly into view and cause you to crash," Colonel Battle said. "And if you crossed that line the fault would be yours.

"Where there is a single broken line down the center of the highway you may cross it if no car is approaching the opposite direction. But you must allow plenty of time to get back on your side of the road.

Where there is a broken line on your side parallel to a solid line, you may cross it, but only if no car is approaching.

"If the highway is a fourlane road with double solid white lines down the center, they must never be crossed—the territory on the other side belongs to the other fellow and if you do cross you are not only endangering your own life but the lives of others, and if there is a crash the fault can be no one's but yours.

"Many drivers do not yet understand these markings," Colonel Battle continued. "Only a day or two ago, one of our State troopers stopped a motorist who had just crossed a double solid white line. When he asked the man what he thought the double solid lines were for, the reply was, 'Why, I thought they were put there to make it easier to stay in the middle of the road at night.'"

"We must correct such mistaken beliefs as that to make the system effective in slashing the death rate on the highways. We must teach all drivers to respect the rights of all others. These markings are simple and as soon as they are thoroughly understood should have a decided effect in decreasing accidents and accident deaths."

C. S. Mullen, chief engineer of the State Highway Department, and John J. Forrer, maintenance engineer, are just as convinced of the potential life-saving qualities of the marking system as is Colonel Battle.

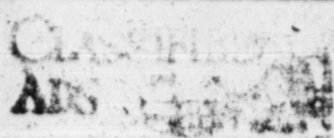

Mr. Mullen was a member of a special committee of administrative design policies appointed by the American Association of State Highway Officials which recommended general adoption of the system after an exhaustive survey of various types and systems.

"We think it is an excellent safety measure," he said. "Already a number of states have adopted it with slight variations. And it appears to be gaining stronger support as it becomes better known. If the motorists observed it, the death and accident rate would be cut to a minimum."

On the committee with Mr. Mullen were 13 other engineers of unquestioned ability from various parts of the United States and they were looking for one universal center marking system. Their recommendation appears to be well on the way to becoming a national movement. Mr. Forrer has just completed the job directing the laying out of the markings on Virginia's roads, and Colonel Battle and the State Police now are taking the lead in educating the motorist to observe them rigidly.

WHERE YOU SHALL NOT PASS!

Don't cross a double solid white line—it is the other man's territory over there.

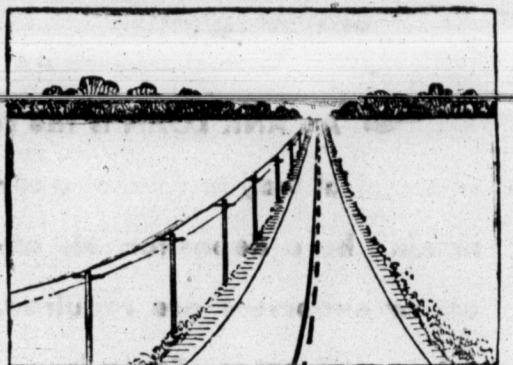

Don't cross a solid white line if it is on your side of a broken line—you don't have enough clear view ahead to be sure the road is clear.

WHERE YOU MAY PASS!

You may cross a single broken line if no car is approaching. Allow plenty of room to get back on your side.

You may cross a broken line when it is on your side of a solid white line—if no car is approaching.

IN ANY CASE, STAY BACK UNTIL YOU ARE SURE THERE IS AMPLE ROOM TO PASS AND TO GET BACK ON YOUR SIDE OF THE ROAD!

PRINCESSES NAMED FOR APPLE BLOSSOM FESTIVAL

Announcement was made at festival headquarters here today of the appointment of eight princesses to the court of Queen Shenandoah XVIII, who will reign over this city's annual spring apple blossom festival when it is held here May 1-2.

The first princess to be named to the 1941 entourage of Queen Shenandoah was Miss Peggy Murray Brinton of Spangler, Pa., who will represent Southern Seminary and Junior College at Buena Vista.

The princesses and the schools they will represent follow:

Gretchen Aileen Maiden of Meadowview, Emory and Henry College; Evelyn Powell Delp of Corners Rock, State Teachers College at Radford; Jonedith Montague Henry of Winchester, Handley High School; Ella Camerian Dickenson of Lebanon, College of William and Mary; Peggy Murray Brinton of Spangler, Pa., Southern Seminary; Jeanette Ann

Richards of Richwood, W. Va., Greenbrier College; Mary Alice Finch of Houston, Texas, Warrenton Country School; and Mathilde Baldwin Thomas of New Orleans, La., Fairfax Hall Junior College.

Some 6 girls in all from schools in Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland and the District of Columbia are expected to be in the queen's court this year.

Last year Queen Shenandoah's court was composed of 33 princesses.

SHARED PRIZE MONEY

Enemy vessels, captured by our bluejackets and U. S. Marines in the days of wooden ships, were called "prizes", and the joy of our naval forces in subduing the enemy was often considerably increased by the prospect of prize money.

This practice had been well-established abroad before it was adopted by the U. S. Navy. At first, prize money was awarded to naval officers and bluejackets alone, but early in January, 1776, Congress passed a law allowing marines a share in the proceeds obtained from captured enemy vessels.

During the War of 1812 the American warship President captured the packet Swallow which had about $108,000 in specie aboard. The money was brought ashore and deposited in the State Bank at Boston.

It was customary at this time to allot one half of the prize money to the U. S. Government; the remaining half was divided among officers and men, each member of the crew being allotted a certain proportion of the money according to his respective rank.

While this appeared to be a fairly liberal arrangement, in some cases it was urged that the entire proceeds of the capture be awarded to the victorious bluejackets and marines.

It is probable that few of the vessels captured in the War of 1812 yielded as much as $168,000. Even if the President's crew received but one half of that sum, it meant a substantial bonus for all hands.

FACE POWDER ROUTS WESTERN OUTLAWS

Bang, bang, bang—another outlaw bit the dust! Richard Dix in the role of a United States Marshall with his deputies behind barricades of grain bags, doorways and windows, were battling the worst bad men who ever terrorized the west for Paramount's "Cherokee Strip", which opens Wednesday, March 26 at the Ritz Theatre.

But shades of Jack Dalton, Black Eyed Charlie and Dick Yeager—what is this? There's an odor in the air reminiscent of Max Factor, Coty or Houligant!

"Phew!" exclaimed Dix when the shooting was over. "This place smells like a ladies' boudoir. What is the idea?"

"Don't get sore, Dick," replied Harry Sherman, the producer. "I was just trying a little experiment. You see, this is taken in the days when smokeless powder was unknown and I just tried to get a little smoke in these shots."

"What did you use, face powder?" Dix inquired.

"That's exactly what I did do," Sherman replied. "I had the make-up man and the prop man open every shell and put in a pinch of face powder so that when the shot was fired it made what looked like a puff of smoke. Ordinarily we would have used flour, but there wasn't any within fifty miles."

DATES SET FOR STATE SAFETY CONFERENCE

Marion S. Battle, executive chairman of the seventh annual Virginia State-Wide Safety Conference, announced officially this week that Norfolk, has definitely been set as the place for the conference, and May 22, 23 and 24 as the dates. A special effort will be made this year to have every country and city in the state represented by its law enforcement officials.

Selection of Norfolk was made definite last week at a conference with Norfolk officials, at which the conference was assured of adequate accommodations for all delegates. Annual attendance by industrialists, transportation representatives, home and child safety experts, mining groups and the public generally has grown to more than 2,000.

OBSERVATIONS FROM THE CONVENTION AT ATLANTIC CITY

The annual conference of the National Association of School Administrators met at Atlantic City, New Jersey, February 22-26. Several thousand delegates from all sections of the country attended the convention.

The general meetings were held in the Atlantic City auditorium, one of the largest auditoriums in the United States. It has seating capacity of 41,000.

There were approximately 600 speeches read or delivered during the convention. The evening programs were given by the artists in the entertainment field - namely National Symphony Orchestra, Gladys Swarthout and several others. The outstanding leaders in the educational field took the lead in the discussions during the other meetings.

Honorable Harold E. Stassen, Governor of Minnesota, started that democracy's future rests on education.

Paul V. McNutt, Federal Security Administrator, in his talk to secondary school principals, said that democracy must be reassessed, broadened and strengthened.

Prof. Isaiah Bowman, Pres. John Hopkins University, said the United States faces two questions. How to win a victory - what to do with the victory won.

Education carries the responsibility for permanent victory, was quoted by Dr. John Studebaker, Commissioner of United States Education.

What fathers and mothers become the child will become, was a statement made by Dr. Angelo Patri. In his address he definitely said "If you want your child to be a fine American citizen, you must be one."

We must broaden our training variety to give boys and girls working tools and best wishes.

when they leave high school, if we wish our democracy to prevail, was the conclusion from a panel discussion of high school students before the secondary principals' group.

Honorable Joseph Korns of Alabama stated from within the school people must be on the alert to keep democracy for youth.

The United States must be more observant of its enemies within its boundaries, quoted Major Fielding Elliot, I am convinced that American people will meet the challenge—with strength, unity, and confident of victory.

Dr. Thomas Briggs of Columbia University stated that we must prepare our youth to be ready for the changed world conditions at the conclusion of the present war.

The exhibits by the Manufacture Association were an education within itself. One was able to compare the different types of material offered for school purpose.

The inspirational and informational experience which one received while attending the convention is well worth the time and expense.
