SMITH DEMANDS SWIFT ACTION

Charges That Congress Is to Blame for Strike Situation.

Mr. SMITH of Virginia. "Mr. Speaker, as strikes against the defense of our country continue to increase, and as the stoppages in production of arms becomes more frequent and more ominous, I again call attention to the series of speeches I have made to the House on the subject of strikes in defense industries and the amendments which I have repeatedly offered—and which have been repeatedly defeated—that would have prohibited the prevailing racket that compels free American citizens to pay tribute to a labor union in order to work for their country.

How much longer will the American people complacently permit the manufacture of vital munitions, planes, and ships to be delayed and hampered by strikes called by labor leaders for the purpose of forcing Americans to pay tribute to labor unions for the right to work as freemen?

How long will the boys you have drafted at $30 a month be compelled to wait for guns and powder and trucks and planes, in order that racketeers may by their nefarious practices of extorting fees from American citizen in return for the right to work for a country that calls itself a democracy?

How long before the American people will realize the deadly parallel between what happened in France and what is happening in America today? Let us see that the awakening is not too late.

How do a handful of "red" Communists manage to disrupt and interfere with the entire program of this Nation for planes to train the boys you have conscripted into service? How do they do it? They do it because they are members of a labor organization, and under the cloak and under the protection of that radical labor organization they are able to interfere with and stop the program of defense of this country.

Then you will ask, How does any minority labor union exert such a power? How can the C. I. O. or any other labor union say to 140,000,000 people, "You shall not build airplanes to train the boys you have conscripted into service"? Because there is a law known as the National Labor Relations Act, which stands behind and protects the activities of labor unions, which time and time again, by its ukase, has said to the employers of this country, "You shall not discharge a Communist from your organization". Time and again that has happened, and I can cite you the cases where they have said that. I can cite you a case decided in the last 90 days where the Labor Board has said to an executive of the New York Times, "You cannot fire your confidential secretary because she is a Communist".

So they operate under the protection of labor unions, and the labor unions, in turn, operate under the protection of the National Labor Relations Act.

Under whose protection does the National Labor Relations Board come? It comes through this Congress. It comes through us who have put it into effect and have not seen to its proper administration and amendment.

So, Mr. Speaker, that brings us right straight back to the proposition of where this trouble lies. We can not lay it on the administration. We cannot lay it on the labor unions. We cannot lay it on the Communists. It comes straight back to our door, and I repeat the question, What are we going to do about it?" (Quotations from the Congressional Record of Remarks by Hon. Howard W. Smith.)

THE EASTER STORY

Jesus, our Savior, King of the Jews, Ministered in Jerusalem, where he was abused.
The blind received sight, the lame could walk
The "Lepers" were healed; and the dumb made talk.
He taught to thousands, who to him were new,
And fed them all, with fish that were few.

Now the priests and the leaders knew this would not do,
For the sinners that followed him, were not few.
So they planned on the morn, to crown him with thorns
Then by breaking the law, they hired words of fraud.
With victory certain, they draw the curtain
And placed our dear God, before the mob.

Pilate the ruler, who reigned on high
Could not at first, obey the cry,
Crucify—Crucify—nail him to the cross
For if he is freed, our power will be lost.
Because Christ was right, he was condemned to the cross
Which he bore for all sinners, who on this earth were lost.

His friends and apostles, quickly denied.
That they had ever walked by his side.
To the cross of Calvary, Christ was taken.
Here, though he was dying, gladly forgave
Those that teased, smote, and killed him.
Yes, even the ones that took his name in vain.

Jesus taught, healed, and loved all sinners of this earth

RESURRECTION MORN

M. L. Lunsford
In Joseph's new tomb our Saviour lay,
The thorns and the cross were taken away,
No more could evil harm Him,
The victory was won,
And angels in and 'round the tomb,
Watched o'er God's Holy Son.

No darkness do I think could be,
Near our Beloved One,
Within the tomb it must have been
As bright as noon day sun,
And when the night three times
Had turned to day,
God's Angel rolled the stone away.

With snowy robes and face so bright,
Flaming with unearthly light,
The Angel sat upon the stone,
The loved ones came found Jesus gone.
And unto them the Angel said:
"Why seek ye the living among the dead?"
"Christ has arisen from the tomb",
For the Master there is no more gloom.

But Mary, weeping and afraid,
Looked in the tomb where He had laid,
Then turning back she did not know
The Master in the morn's dim glow.

And Jesus spoke to Mary there:
(Her joy with others she did share)
"Go tell the brethren", Jesus said
"That I am risen from the dead!"

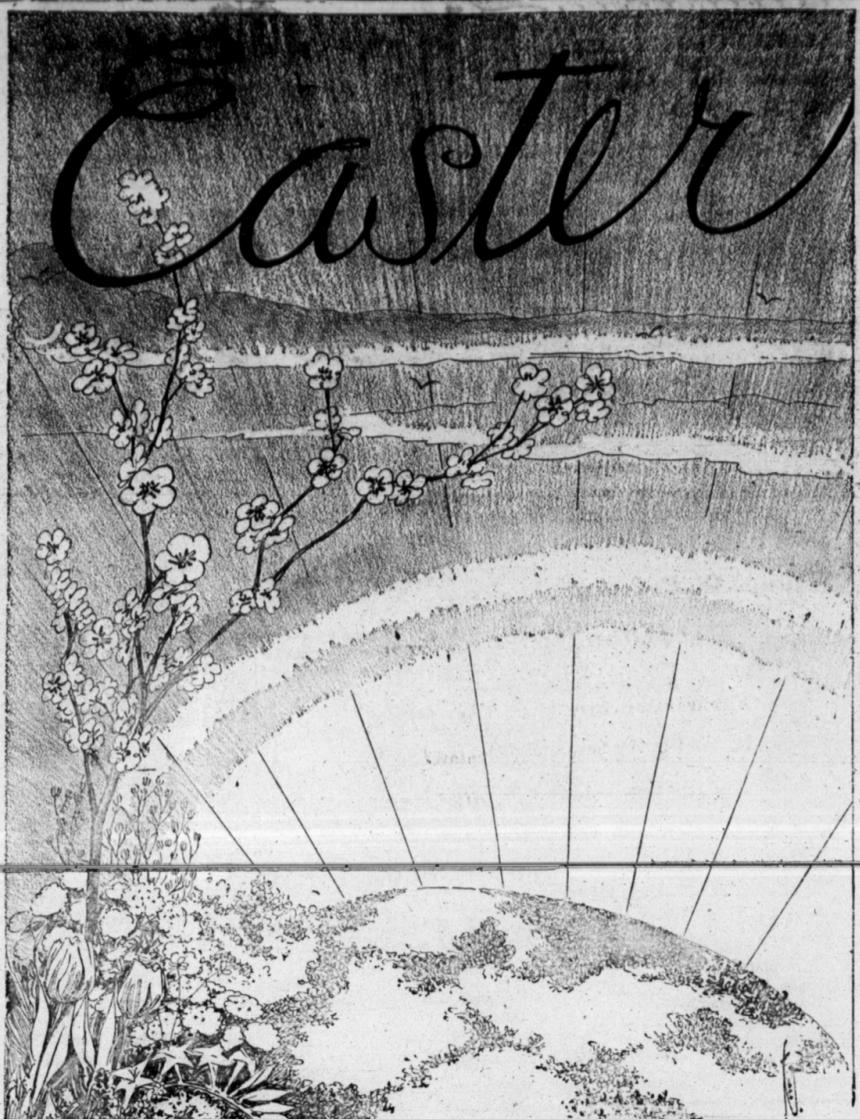

The tender buds, the flowers of spring,
Commemorate the Risen King,
At Easter dawn, with prayer and song,
We honor Resurrection Morn.

A SABBATH CALL FOR ME!

A Sabbath Call,
To God's House of Prayer,
A wondrous call to me!
What have I done or been!
That He should honor me?
To be His Guest?
My heart is weary —
The battle long!
To fit my soul to enter in—
Still there's His Promise!
"Come unto me all ye that are weary
"And are heavy laden!
"Through your sins be as scarlet
They shall be as white as snow!"

So I've heard His Call
And will enter His Courts,
With Prayer and Praise,
Giving God the Glory,
While Sabbath Bells,
Still keep ringing, ringing!
"Come unto Me
"All ye that labor",
"And are heavy laden,
"And I, your Saviour",
Will give you Rest!"
So come while His Call!
Keeps ringing, ringing
For you and me,
—Eleanor Woolcott.

Although some sought to kill him soon after birth,
He went through life perfect, an obedient son of God
To save all sinners. He lived and died,
Again to rise, and make men wise—
Christ is all, for us he died.
—William B. Wood.

HOPE RENEWED

Come 1900 years ago there was revealed to the world an amazing truth! That world, too, needed faith and love! It had known bloodshed, the rule of tyrants, and the fall of empires.
But,—it had never known a Resurrection!
Then He came! Jesus, who took the humble station of a Carpenter's Son, and showed men how to live, to die, and live again!
He was King of LIFE!
Life in all the universe... in nature... in man!
He was King of the wild, restless ocean billows tossing their spitting foam against the egg-shell ships of little men. Of the velvet coverlet, sprinkled with the gold dust of stars, that softly rested over the sleeping world. Of the great sky easel splashed with rose and gold, as day melted into dusk. Of the arched bow in the sky after summer raindrops had bathed the soiled air. Of the aged forest, and the tiny brook!

Miracles, these, before man's eyes... he had seen! The naked earth, stretched beneath the sky canopy, suddenly rise into newness of life. The little birds return from the southland, filling the air with their chirpings. A small, hard seed, planted within the earth springs into a living shoot, its tiny arms outstretched toward the sun's warm rays.
Yet man knew hate. He made war. He suffered. He saw death, and feared it.
But, on that first Easter morning, the King of Life taught him that no grave can hold the spirit of man. That even as there is renewal of life in nature there can be new hope and courage within the human breast.
There is no death!
Now, today, our world is engaged in another war. Perhaps a greater war than ever before! But, there can be a new peace... perhaps a greater peace than ever before!
So, as the flowers of another Easter burst into blossom, silent reminders of that amazing truth revealed some 1900 years ago, let us look forward with faith and confidence to this new and better world!... By Jane Hunt Mohr..

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 13.
The Golden Text will be "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid," (Psa. 27:1).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thou hast dealt well with thy servant, O Lord according unto thy word. Thou art good, and doest good;" (Psa. 119:65, 68 (to;)).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God made all that was made, and Mind signifies God,—infinity, not finity. Not far removed from infidelity is the belief which unites such opposites as sickness and health, holiness and unholiness, calls both the offspring of spirit, and at the same time admits that Spirit is God,—virtually declaring Him good in one instance and evil in another" (p. 229).

SHOWS WORLD-WIDE ACTION

Many stirring highlights in Marine Corps history happened in April, according to the Corps' calendar of events, which shows the fourth month of the year to be an unusually active one for the sea soldiers.

April 1 marks the anniversary of a fight the Marines had with Samoans 'way back in 1899; the 2nd was the date that the Marquis de Lafayette witnessed a sea battle in which the Marines took an important part in 1781. An April 3, 1918, a dispatch bearer was severely wounded, marking one of the first Marine casualties in France.

The sea soldiers landed at Shanghai, China, April 4, 1854, to protect Americans; they fought a lively engagement in the Philippines on April 5, 1899, and on April 6, 1776, sea soldiers were wounded in a desperate sea fight. Thus goes the record, day by day, throughout the month.

Other events on the April calendar include such diversified happenings as battles with pirates in Cuban waters, a landing made at Vera Cruz, Mexico, a fight with Santo Dominican bandits, and the storming of a fortress in Tripoli. April also marks the entrance of the Marines, along with other branches of the service, into the first World War.

During April the Marines have taken part in such solemn affairs as the guarding of the body of President Lincoln, after he had been assassinated on the 14th of that month in 1865, and the unveiling of Grant's Tomb in New York City on April 27, 1897.

A painstaking historian has found some epochal event in which the Marines participated through the years during each of the 30 days of April. Often there two or three outstanding happenings on the same date, but in different years, adding still more variety to the record.

Ever heard the history of the locomotive cowcatcher? Locomotives belonging to an early railroad suffered so much damage from collisions with trespassing cows that something had to be done about it. A young employee soon invented a small truck supporting two iron spears and attached it to the front of the engines. This was effective but very hard on cows. To avoid lawsuits from irate farmers a crosswise bar was substituted, and from this evolved the present V-shaped cowcatcher.

is an important guy to industry! He's used to make edible and lubricating oils, candy, cosmetics, peanut butter, dyes, and medicines. In fact, 19,555 tons of peanuts rode over C and O. last year but only a small part of them finished up at the circus or a ball game!

Based on an annual coal production of 800 tons for each man employed, more than 94,000 coal miners were employed to produce the coal consumed by railroad locomotives last year.

A PUBLIC SERVICE

We congratulate W. B. Grant, chairman of the Mitchell County, Georgia Selective Service Board in refusing to certify any more young men from his County as long as the government continues to tolerate continuance of strikes in defense industries. We believe that he has performed a valuable public service in calling attention of the government to the rapidly rising tide of anger at this situation.

Mr. Grant, of course, will immediately resign, so as not to obstruct defense machinery, but this attitude would be commendable on the part of every Draft Board in the United States. They cannot conscientiously continue to call young men to service until the government ceases to tip-toe around the ugly C. I. O. thugs who are obviously obstructing the manufacture of the supplies needed by these young men in their patriotic effort to defend the nation.

The President must soon realize that he cannot continue to temporize with those who place the right of collective bargaining and of picketing as above that of national security. It was this kind of an attitude that permitted the Bolshevik regime to overthrow the Kerensky government of Russia during the first World War, and which aided so effectively in more recently destroying France, and the sooner we place the national defense above all other considerations the less will be the ultimate sacrifice of American life and treasure in the bloody struggle for existence which Democracies of the world are now waging.

These are small words but they are large in their application to happiness and security.

SAVE by depositing regularly in this friendly and safe bank and you will soon HAVE the means of meeting your obligations and opportunities.

CARRY ON!

As the months wear on and our defense efforts reach higher and higher pitch, an increasing load is being placed upon our economic machine. It is up to business and banking to "carry on", to make every effort to keep commercial and financial functions operating normally. It is painful to recall the breakdowns in many industries and activities in the first world war. This must not happen again. We pledge this institution to apply itself without stint to the job of keeping the wheels of normal business activity turning smoothly.

CREDIT ASSOCIATION ENJOYS BANQUET

Jones, secretary-treasurer, and members and their guests entered into an informal discussion of matters pertaining to the association's activities.

Mr. Jones also announced the fact that each Friday, effective April 4, from 9:30 to 3:30 p. m. the Warrenton Association will have a representative in the Manassas office of the Federal Land Bank group located in Manassas, for the purpose of transacting business with Production Credit Association members and other interested farmers in this section. Of course, the main office in Warrenton is open at all times, but the increased interest shown by farmers in Prince William County has necessitated an outpost office in this county in order to more effectively serve farmers in this rich, agricultural country.

Custom

Custom may lead a man into many errors, but it justifies none.—Fielding.

Men commonly think according to their inclinations, speak according to their learning and imbibed opinions, but generally act according to custom.—Bacon.

JANE EYRE

Jane Eyre, written by Charlotte Bronte and published by the Grosset and Dunlap Company in New York, is the life of a girl whose parents died when she was very young.

After the death of Jane's parents, she was sent to Gateshead Hall to live with her aunt, Mrs. Reed. She led a very miserable life in this household because she was disliked by her relatives.

At the age of ten Jane was sent to Lowood Institution, a charitable orphanage. She remained at this institution eight years, six years as a student and two years as a teacher.

She left the orphanage and went to Thornfield, a small town near Hildesheim, England, as a governess. Here she resided at the home of a very well-known and respectable person, with a small girl as her student. While employed at Thornfield, Jane experienced some of the happiest days of her life.

After rendering several years of service, she left Thornfield because of unexpected developments.

Jane assumed a new name and became a school mistress in a small town not well known.

This story is very interesting because it is true to life. It brings to you the thoughts that, no matter who you are, how poor you are, or what class of people you come from, you can still climb the ladder to success.

Read this book to find out how Jane Eyre climbed this ladder.

I liked this book because it was easy to understand what was pointed out to you by the author. You will find it a clear and well-arranged book.

This book may be borrowed from the Ruffner Carnegie Library of the Osbourne High School.

MANASSAS BOY ENLISTS IN NAVY

John Lang Winfield of Manassas enlisted in the U. S. Navy at Richmond, on April 4, 1941, and was transferred to the U. S. Naval Training Station, Norfolk, for his routine training.

VETERAN EDUCATOR MOURNED

The many friends of Mr. Albert F. Moon were grieved to hear of his death on Sunday, April 6, at his home in Arlington County. Although 82 years of age, he had remained active and in good health until stricken early in March by a severe heart attack, from which he never fully recovered.

Mr. Moon was a friend to all who knew him. For nearly forty years he was superintendent of the Union Sunday School at Burke, in Fairfax County. The hundreds of children and adults who were members of that school, as well as other neighbors who knew and loved him through many years, will always revere his memory as an example of the truly consecrated Christian. His gentleness and nobility of spirit were un-failing. His knowledge of the Scriptures was encyclopedic and his wisdom in presenting its living message was a constant source of inspiration. When Mr. Moon left Burke several years ago his co-workers in the Sunday School insisted that he retain his title as superintendent. Since that time various assistant superintendents have been in charge but Mr. Moon's spiritual leadership, even in absence, has been recognized in claiming him still as superintendent of the school. After moving to Arlington County about five years ago, Mr. Moon became an active member and an elder in the Wilson boulevard Christian Church.

Albert Foster Moon was born January 15, 1859, in Walton County, Georgia. He was a graduate of the class of 1882 at Emory University, Georgia, and also attended Lehigh University at Bethlehem, Pa. He was a member of Kappa Alpha Fraternity. Mr. Moon served for a time as member of the faculty at Burrill College, Spencer, Tenn., and later at Carolina Christian College, at Ayden, N. C. He was married on September 7, 1892, to Miss Effie Hill. After he came to Virginia in 1899, he developed a large fruit farm near Burke in Fairfax County.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Effie Hill Moon, he is survived by one son, Hubert Hill Moon; a grandson, Albert Deane Moon; a granddaughter, Miss Alice Elizabeth Moon; and a sister, Mrs. J. H. S. Hodges of Ayden, N. C.

The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Wilson boulevard Christian Church, in Arlington, with Rev. Ira P. Harbaugh officiating. Mr. Moon was buried at the National Memorial Park Cemetery, near the grave of his brother, Walter DeKalb Moon, whose interment on January 12, 1935, was the first to be made in this cemetery.

Mr. Moon in life was a symbol of all that was fine and inspiring in the older American tradition; in death his memory will be a challenge to others to carry into the future the same great ideals of unselfish service in Christian living.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad, but loving memory of my dear father, Owen Kinchele who passed away one year ago today, April 7, 1940.

Father, in my heart your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond, and true
There is not a day dear father,
That I do not think fo you.

When days are dark and friends are few
Dear father, how I miss you
There may be friends, who may be true
But I lost all when I lost you.

HOUSECLEANING

By Algia A. Martin

We overhaul our house in spring and fall,

But of our soul, we think not at all, So let us think now of cleansing the soul,

And see if we can't reach a higher goal.

Let us wash away all of our malice, And try to scrub away our sin,

Open wide our soul's windows Let the sunshine of love come in.

Brush away all unkind thoughts, Sweep meanness away with glee,

Sweep away the hardness from our heart,

Some happiness we can see, Creep in awhile we all do need.

A good old fashioned housecleaning, Wash bitterness away, this very day,

So love in our hearts will be gleaming.

In publishing the list of principals in last week's issue, omission was made of the fact that Miss Sue Ayres was renamed supervisor of elementary instruction, and Margaret Tomes as supervisor of colored instruction.

A more complete list of the teachers named will not be given until about the time that school opens in September.

TUBERCULIN TEST AND X-RAY

A large majority of adults who develop active tuberculosis could be spared this personal tragedy had the fact that tuberculosis germs were in their bodies as children been determined by way of the tuberculin test and x-ray diagnostic film.

Children are especially susceptible to becoming hosts to the tuberculosis germs by contact with an open case. While these germs may remain in the body walled off by scar tissue or lime deposit, many cases become active in adult life when bodily resistance is lowered. It is a heartening fact that those children who have incidentally become infected by the tuberculosis germ will not become ill if properly cared for immediately. Discovery of the condition, therefore, is essential. This can be painlessly and harmlessly made by the application of the tuberculin test. If this test indicates that the child is host to tuberculosis germs, it then becomes necessary to x-ray the lungs to discover how much, if any, the disease has developed. Tuberculosis in children rarely can be found without the x-ray. Tuberculosis is virtually never inherited though it usually runs in families because of its spread by close contact. The active case is known as an "open" one, who frequently spread the disease by refusing to hold a handkerchief over the mouth or nose when coughing or sneezing. It, therefore, becomes evident that where tuberculosis is suspected in a family group, every member should be examined.

During the week of April 14, in Prince William County Health Department Office at Manassas, a clinic for the diagnosis of tuberculosis in children will be conducted by a specialist of the State Health Department. This activity will be directly under the auspices of the County Health Department and in co-operation with the medical profession of the county.

The examination and tuberculin testing is a free service, but there is a charge for the chest x-rays, the maximum cost being two dollars ($2.00) per person.

On Monday, April 14, the children who have been in contact with active tuberculosis cases, as well as those referred by physicians, will be examined and given the tuberculin test.

On Tuesday, April 15, a second clinic will be conducted for suspicious contact cases among adults referred by the doctors or by the nurse with the family physician's approval. When necessary, adults will also be x-rayed.

On Wednesday, April 16, those children previously tested on Monday should return for a report on the

Those having positive reports will then have x-rays of the chest made in order that the extent of the disease may be determined. A second test will be afforded those who are not positive on the first examination. Those will be read on Friday, A. M. and chest x-rays made if required. Only a limited number of special appointments may be made for Friday morning as the clinic closes at noon and no further examinations can be made.

On Thursday morning adults will be examined (and x-rayed if necessary) by appointment and consultations in regard to their patients will be held with the local physicians. No patient will be admitted to the clinic on Thursday afternoon.

In view of the large area that must be served, this type of tuberculosis service can be made available to counties only at infrequent periods. It is emphasized, however, that this service is extremely valuable and that the opportunity through it to discover hitherto unsuspected infections among those who have been closely associated with active tuberculosis, should be appreciated.

Inasmuch as cases are referred back to the family physician for treatment, all those desiring an examination must consult their doctor and obtain his written request that such an examination be made. In lieu of a private physician, the arrangements should be made with the county nurse before the clinic day.
