HISTORIC MILL

Prince William County has many landmarks of interest. Since the construction of the John Marshall highway which passes by its door, considerable attention has been paid to the old Beverley Mills at Broad Run, immediately on the Fauquier County line.

The structure was erected in 1760 by slaves and has been in continuous operation since that time. The actual work began in 1752, the rock being quarried out of the mountain and laboriously hauled and worked into place. The old fashioned buhrs which are still in operation are no longer made these days.

John Marshall, from whose name the present highway derives its designation, passed this way when he journeyed to Alexandria and the National Capital. Among some of the mill's famous customers was General Robert E. Lee. More recently Hon. John Barton Payne came to the mill several times a year for his meal. Many celebrities come to the mill at the present time for their meal and flour.

Mrs. Mell Apperson, 82, one of the oldest residents of New Kent County, died at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Edward Hubbard, in Suffolk Saturday and was buried at Corinth Baptist Church at New Kent Courthouse at 4:30 p. m. Sunday. Mrs. Apperson was the widow of Norwood Apperson, who had made his home at Cedar Lane, New Kent County. Surviving her is Mrs. Elizabeth Apperson Hubbard of Suffolk, a granddaughter, and one son, Willie A. Apperson of New York. Mrs. Apperson was the oldest member of Corinth Church and was active in the church her entire life.

Grandma will long be remembered in Manassas where she had a large number of devoted friends.

ROSCOE LEWIS

Roscoe Conklin Lewis, age 62, colored, of Manassas, Va., died suddenly Tuesday, May 13, at 8 p. m. in the Garfield Hospital, Washington, D. C., of pneumonia.

He was the son of the late Landonia and William Lewis of Manassas, and a life-long resident of Prince William County. He would have been 63 years old this Friday.

Roscoe Lewis attended the Hamilton Institute; was one of the first pupils to attend the local Industrial School. He taught mechanics both in Dr. Cooke's School for Boys at Indian Head, Md., and the Manassas Industrial School.

He married Marie A. Brown of Manassas, Va., in 1907.

From this union there were six sons and three daughters:

Lewis of Fort Dix, Md.; L. G. Lewis, freshman at Virginia State College, who has returned home to carry on his father's business here.

He is also survived by three grandsons, two sisters, Eva P. Lewis and Mrs. Pattie L. Howe; one brother, Dr. Stephen J. Lewis and many other relatives and friends.

Roscoe Lewis' Blacksmith Shop, as it was known, has served Prince William county and the neighboring counties for 38 years. The shop has been transformed over the years from a blacksmith shop to a mechanic shop. Roscoe Lewis was prominently identified with the fraternal, educational, and religious life of the community.

He was a member of the Board of Trustees of Manassas Industrial School, Knights of Pythias, one of the founders of the Manassas Horse Show, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the First Baptist Church of Manassas, member of local Odd Fellows' Lodge, was on the Agricultural Advisory Board of the Regional High School, and Business Manager and Treasurer of the Rose Hill Cemetery.

Funeral services were held today Thursday, May 15, 1:30 p. m. at the First Baptist Church of Manassas, and burial at the Rose Hill Cemetery.

(The Editors of the Journal desire to express their appreciation of years of friendship with Roscoe Lewis. In his dealing in his Church, his school activities, and his business, he achieved a success of which his community should be proud. His home and surroundings expressed culture. He reared his children to reflect credit on their native State wherever they go. To his widow and children we extend our sincere sympathy in their great loss.)

At the conclusion of his talk Dr. Richmond charmed the club by singing several numbers: "Ave Maria",

"Mighty Like a Rosa", "Were You There When they crucified my Lord?", "The Rosary", "Three For Jack", and "The Rich Old Lady". This was a varied and very pleasing program. Mrs. Lewis Carper accompanied Dr. Richmond.

GOVERNOR SMITH VISITS MANASSAS KIWANIS CLUB

The Manassas Kiwanis Club had the unique experience of entertaining two lieutenant governors at one time last Friday evening.

The regular visitor, Harold W. Smith, of Hagerstown, Md.; was on his official visitation, accompanied by Mrs. Smith. Lieutenant Governor L. E. Nelson, of Logan, Utah, of the Utah District, was making up his attendance while in the East.

Mr. Nelson spoke briefly on the state of affairs in his area, giving an interesting picture of Kiwanis work out there.

Governor Smith reviewed Kiwanis history from its beginning, showing how the work had broadened in its aspects since its first years. He used an interesting bit of Indian history as an analogy to make his point.

Reading the cardinal objectives of Kiwanis, the speaker emphasized the even greater need of the international aspect of Kiwanis today.

The speech was hailed as one of the best ever made by any visiting lieutenant governor.

Ladies night will be observed in the basement of the Methodist Church tomorrow evening. Father Jim is program chairman for the evening.

FLAG PRESENTED AT HAYMARKET

Legion Post Closes Successful Series of Shows.

With the final showing at Haymarket last night, the Mirth and Melody Minstrels of 1941 closed an illustrious season. The audience showed its preference for old black-face comedy and mountain music in no uncertain measure.

Prior to the show, Commander Edgar G. Parrish, of American Legion Post No. 158, introduced Dr. Wayne Payne, who in behalf of the Prince William Post, presented a handsome American flag to the Haymarket school. Miss Pamplin, of the Haymarket faculty, received the gift with appropriate remarks of appreciation.

The American Legion, whose work in the county is aided by this series of performances, expressed its thanks to the business men for their generous support of the program, to the agile young gentlemen of the Manassas Vocational School and those lovely young ladies of the community, all of whom co-operated in the success of Professor Berryman's ideas.

Some of the Virginia boys could have put on the skits in the way that they went over. "Skinny" Hughes and his tambourine had some new movements that brought even more applause than at other places and "Sugar Foot" Deahn got a hatful of encores for his rendition of "Mona". The sentimental numbers also received special attention such as Miss Evelyn Berryman's "Kind-a-Lonesome" and "Faithful Forever" by Bob Morris. Every number put on by the Melody Minstrels received at least one encore.

The Ennis Brothers with their string and vocal duets received a heavy round of applause. The Show Boat with Mose (Carroll Maness) put through its quota of musical hits in good style, while Ten Nights in a Bar Room and an Army Unit received good attention.

The colorful Easter Parade was only too short, and the Twigg family were again very much in evidence.

The orchestra and accompanist deserve their share of praise for the general success of the whole affair. And last but certainly not least, come the property men, scenic artists, electricians and the whole "army" of helpers all of whom did their respective parts.

It was a clean, enjoyable show. Certainly it reflects great credit on Professor Jakeman, his faculty and the youth under their charge. It was a handsome gesture toward community affiliation which will reflect itself on the history of the school.

LAWN PARTY AT PRICE ESTATE

The beautiful old Potomac River home and grounds of Judge and Mrs. John W. Price on the Mount Vernon boulevard just north of Mount Vernon will be open to the public for a lawn party and Bazaar to be given by Pohick Church on Saturday afternoon.

The hosts will be the Members of the Executive Committee in charge of the party for George Washington's Home Church—Judge and Mrs. Price, Mrs. M. M. Barnard, Miss Mary Nevitt, Mrs. E. Russell White, Mrs. John Curtin Runkle, wife of the Rector of Pohick Church, and Mrs. Kenneth Dove.

Gaily decorated booths and tables of novelties will be arranged on the lawn which slopes down to the Mount Vernon boulevard. Fried chicken and Virginia ham will be among the delicacies served at the garden supper.

The festivities, with an entertainment program directed by Mr. Wm. M. Kabler, will be held from 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon to 8 o'clock that evening. Adequate parking space will be provided and a gay banner across the Mount Vernon boulevard will mark the entrance to the Price Estate.

The entertainment as announced by Mr. Kabler includes a tap dance by Miss Marjorie Clapp; solo selections by Mrs. E. Russell White, accompanied by Mrs. Lewis Carper; piano recitals, choral selections by the music section of the Alexandria Woman's Club, and an auction. Mr. Milton K. Lockwood will be the auctioneer. MISS NELSON WEDS AT PARENTS' HOME

The wedding of Miss Mary Elizabeth Nelson of Huntington, W. Va., and Washington, and Mr. Charles Fenton Mercer McGuire of Washington and Clark county, Va., on April 26, at 7:30 p. m. was attended by a large company of guests representing Huntington society and by a large party of out-of-town persons. The ceremony was at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Paul Nelson of 1230 Sixth avenue.

Dr. Edward B. Willingham, pastor of Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, performed the service with the assistance of Rev. S. Roger Tyler, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church.

The ceremony was read in the drawing room. An aisleway from the stairway was marked through a long hall to the wedding chamber by white standards tied with satin bows and linked with white roping. A white floor covering carpeted the way of the procession.

A massive banking of Easter lilies set in huckleberry foliage and two brass candelabras holding 14 burning cathedral candles each were on the mantle. Two urns on fluted columns, holding lilies and foliage, and a pair of white elevated candle standards flanked this arrangement and behind a satin-covered kneeling stool was a large brass bowl of lilies.

Mrs. J. Harold Ferguson, at a Hammond organ, played a program of nuptial music and the traditional bridal themes from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and Wagner's "Lohengrin".

Attending the bride was her elder sister, Mrs. Taylor Vinson of Huntington, W. Va. Mrs. Vinson's costume was a two-toned gown of crepe, in lime and chartreuse. In her hair she wore a tiara of gerberas and deep blue delphiniums and she carried a cascade bouquet of Talisman roses, deep blue delphiniums and painted daisies.

Young Miss Betty Jane Vinson and Master Zachary Taylor Vinson, children of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Vinson, were flower girl and ring bearer. The flower girl wore a pattern dress of chartreuse mousseline de soie over a pink slip and carried a Colonial bouquet of Talisman roses, forget-me-nots and sweet alyssum.

Dr. Horace G. Smithy of Charleston, S. C.; a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride's gown was that worn by her mother in her wedding. Made along princess lines, a rich silhouette of cream lace, handmade and imported, was worn over chiffon and satin. The neckline was cut as a rounded-V, following the line of a single strand of pearls which she wore. The great fullness of the skirt fell into a long, oval train.

The bridal veil was also used in the wedding of Mrs. Nelson and was of imported rosepoint lace with on-work edging. It was attached to her head by a band of pearls.

The bride's flowers were bouvardias and stephanotis about a center of white orchids and tied with white satin ribbons holding tiny rare white orchids to form a shower.

Mrs. C. Paul Nelson, mother of the bride, was in a sea foam green crepe gown and had white orchids with fuschia lips at her shoulder.

Mrs. Charles F. McGuire of Washington, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a white and black crepe formal dress and wore a deep lavender shade of orchids at her shoulder.

Mrs. Houghton A. Robson of Huntington, W. Va., and Manassas, Va., grandmother of the bride, wore a black lace gown and had lavender orchids on her shoulder.

After the ceremony there was a reception, to which a large company of guests were invited. In the music room there was an orchid tree of choice blossoms.

In the dining room, the bride's table was set with a three-tiered wedding cake in the center. At either end was a large silver bowl of white lilies, snapdragons and larkspur and from the center of these flowers there protruded a silver candlestick holding a single burning taper. The twin com-modes in the room held large bowls of calla lilies, which were also on the mantle.

In the late evening Mr. and Mrs. McGuire left by motor for Florida for their honeymoon and plan a plane trip to Cuba. They will reside on Porter street, Washington.

For her going-away Mrs. McGuire wore a navy suit of light sheer wool with a white blouse appliqued with gold nail-head beading. Her purse and shoes were in McGuire green and her accessories here in navy. She wore three green orchids at her shoulder.

WHAT ARE MOTHERS MADE FOR?

(First published in 1932)
Mrs. Margaret Lunsford

A short time ago, as I was preparing lunch for my five school children, I remarked to my eldest son, "Do you ever expect to repay me for all that I am doing for you?" "Why," he answered, in apparent surprise, "what are mothers made for?" ie, what are we made for, it not to labor for our children,—love them and sacrifice for them, and all that we ask is love from them and that they should walk uprightly thru life, and if that is denied us, our life is just the same. "Bone of my bone, and flesh of my flesh!"

There are many kinds of mothers in the world, but the good ones predominate. Good step mothers also and some of these have more to go thru with than real mothers, in some ways. Patience and charity she must have in abundance.

We are hurt sometimes by our children's selfishness or thoughtlessness but if we look back over the years we will see that we were supremely thoughtless and selfish when we were young, and did not realize it then, but remembered with regret in later years. And our young people will follow in our steps.

My children have rather an enlarged conception of the strictness of our forefathers. For instance, when one had behaved rather naughtily at the dinner table, another child remarked, "If that was in old times you'd be burned at the stake!"

To the most of us I think our children are always "babied" in our hearts.

We like to look back to the days when they were "toddlers", and we rocked them to sleep in our arms.

And now, when we reach up our hands to fix our tall son's tie or smooth his hair, the time seems so short since he held up his hands to us.

And Mother's Day! Do you know what I think it really is? When a mother sits "up front" in a high school or college auditorium and sees her boy or girl step forward on the stage to receive his or her diploma and perhaps to make "in her eyes" a wonderful speech, they are not just anybody's children. They are hers, and on thru life their honors and successes are hers, and when a mother's heart is bursting with pride for her children, then it is Mother's Day in all its glory.

Let us go cheerfully onward, Always striving to do our best, Until Jesus calls over yonder, And we enter the "Haven of Rest". —Mon.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Adam And Fallen Man will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 11.

The Golden Text will be "If by one man's offence death reigned by one; much more they which receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ" (Rom. 5:17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Watch ye and pray, lest ye enter into temptation. The spirit truly is ready, but the flesh is weak" (Mark 14:38).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We should blush to call that real which is only a mistake. The foundation of evil is laid on a belief in something besides God" (p. 92).

Every rose is an autograph from the hand of God on His world about us. He has inscribed His thoughts in these marvellous hieroglyphics which sense and science have, these many thousand years, been seeking to understand.—Theodore Parker.
