SPEAKER LAUDS JEFFERSON DAVIS

U. D. C. Hears Address on President of Confederacy.

In spite of the welcome rain and slippery condition of roads, a large group, representing the Manassas Chapter, U. D. C. journeyed to the hospitable home of Mrs. Allen H. Green near Nokesville on Wednesday afternoon where the regular June meeting of the Chapter was held.

Mrs. Green was assisted in receiving by Mrs. J. J. Davis, Mrs. Benj. Brown and Mrs. McDuff Green.

The meeting was presided over by the President Mrs. McDuff Green who introduced Mrs. William A. Coleman of Alexandria, division historian, guest of honor and speaker of the afternoon.

Mrs. Coleman selected to speak on the imprisonment of Jefferson Davis at Fortress Monroe following the close of the War between the States.

Mrs. Coleman gave a graphic word picture of the mental and physical suffering of Mr. Davis relating however, of the very kind and human treatment which he finally received from a Northern soldier, Dr. Craven and who was directly responsible for the final release of Mr. Davis from prison after which he returned to home and family in Mississippi where he wrote the famous edition "Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government". Mrs. Coleman's talk was received with appreciation and she was cordially thanked by the chapter.

Mrs. Lewis J. Carper read minutes of May meeting and Mrs. G. G. Allen gave report on finance. A neat sum was added to the general fund by a recent food sale as reported by Chairman Mrs. R. B. Larkin.

Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson reported on literature, a recent gift to the library by Mr. D. J. Arrington and a book by Major John Scott of Fauquier, title "Partisan Life with Col. John S. Mosby". Mrs. Johnson also announced that the library will be open all summer, every day, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Robert A. Hutchison gave report of the district convention recently held in Leesburg and stated that Manassas is delighted to be the hostess chapter next spring.

Mrs. E. H. Hibbs announced that for the Lee Mausoleum she had received $15.50.

An interesting account of the Fifth District Meeting held at Mineral, was given by Mrs. McDuff Green.

The hostess served a dessert course and coffee. Those assisting were Misses Lelia Montague Dowell and Mary Green and Mrs. C. C. Lynn, Jr.

Other guests present were Misses Marie and Mabel Latimer of Washington, house guests of Mrs. R. B. Larkin and Miss Helen Coleman, daughter of Mrs. William A. Coleman of Alexandria.

HON. COLGATE DARDEN TO ADDRESS KIWANIANS

Radio personalities got confused at the Friday night meeting of the Kiwanis Club and it was uncertain whether Edgar Bergen and Charley McCarthy or Bob Trout and Professor Quiz were on the program.

In other words, the silver tongued orator, (O. D. Waters) took over for Dudley Martin with an "IQ" for the club as a whole. Things went well until President Frank got to answering too many questions.

Two programs of unusual import are on the schedule for this week and next. Tomorrow night, the club will have present as guest of Hon. E. R. Conner, the Honorable Thomas Ozlin, chairman of the State Corporation Commission, and Hon. Colgate Darden, who will speak before the club, will be present as the guest of Mr. J. E. Bradford. Mr. Ozlin will later deliver the graduation address at the Manassas High School.

Next Friday, the entire senior class of Manassas High will be entertained by the Club. This is later than usual and the class will have already become alumni but they will still be entertained as mere seniors.

CALL FOR AIRCRAFT WARNING VOLUNTEERS

The Volunteer Aircraft Warning Service should be complete and ready to function by June 15. Governor Price has made it clear that Virginia will be organized and ready to go by this date and we will support the Governor and see that it is ready. Therefore we ask everyone who desires to serve his state and country in this work to get his offer of service to us at once.

Those who wish to volunteer their services will please report to me at my office at Manassas, and be given civilian aircraft observer registration blanks. While we anticipate that the majority of those who will volunteer will be men, we have a place in this service for women who are willing to volunteer and have the time and ability to do it.

RED CROSS MORE THAN COMPLETE GARMENT QUOTA

The production of American Red Cross War Relief garments went over the top for the period ending May 31 for Prince William County. Through the co-operation of local and social organizations the quota was more than filled.

The Junior Red Cross also had its share in this work contributing by cutting, knitting afghans, piecing scraps into quilts, sewing and winding wool.

The list of garments sent in during the past week is twenty layettes comprising one hundred and sixty garments which had to be served, eight men's bathrobes, five men's sweaters, ten hospital robes, thirty-five children's sweaters, ten women's sweaters, thirty girl's dresses, four women's dresses, one afghan, and one knitted scarf.

The new quota has been accepted and is very much larger. Their is heartfelt appreciation sent back from the people of Great Britain for these much needed garments, words of high praise to our volunteer workers for this humane labor for those in such dire distress and need.

Trusler, Arthur Vetter, John Burke and Eugene Mooney.

In both Occoquan and Haymarket no candidates filed in time to have their names placed upon an official ballot, so that the voters there will have to write in their preferences upon the dotted lines.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my dear father, George Bryant who passed away two years ago, June the sixth.
Down the Road in Memory's garden,
Just two years today, the one we loved and deeply cherished,
To the great beyond was called away.

The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never,
The memory of those Happy Days,
When we were all together.

His devoted daughter,
Minnie B. Sauveur.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God The Only Cause and Creator" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 8.

The Golden Text will be "Great and marvellous are thy works, Lord God Almighty; just and true are thy ways, thou King of saints" (Rev. 15: 3).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O Lord, how manifold are thy works! In wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. The glory of the Lord shall endure for ever: the Lord shall rejoice in his works" (Ps. 104: 24, 31).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science textbook, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures' by Mary Baker Eddy: 'God fashions all things, after His own likeness. . . . Man, made in His likeness, possesses and reflects God's dominion over all the earth. Man and woman as coexistent and eternal with God forever reflect, in glorified quality, the infinite Father-Mother God' (p. 516).

By Algia A. Martin
When you first kissed me
With sweet, tender love,
I saw a bit of Heaven
And I have the feeling
I'm safe from all harm,
When you hold me tight
In your precious arm.
I can't give you the moon
Nor the sky of blue,
But, I gladly do give,
All my love to you.
So, take my love dear
It is sincere and true,
And keep it darling
As it belongs to you.
You were so very sweet
So kind, and so true,
That is the reason
I gave my love to you.

LADIES AID TO MEET WITH MRS. DODSON

The Ladies Aid and Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Dodson on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, June 10.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Roscoe C. Lewis thank their many friends for the kind expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral tribute given during the illness and death of their beloved husband and father.

TELLING THE WORLD

Littleton . . . Six-year old Joan Hadley, of Littleton, N. H., was in the habit of telephoning her father, Fire Chief H. Edgar Hadley, daily for a chat. So when she came in from play one day recently and found her mother, Mrs. Florence Hadley, and her sister, Ruth, unconscious, she went to the telephone, called her father, and told him that they had fainted. Chief Hadley sounded an alarm and dashed to the house with an inhalator. The firemen revived the mother and daughter and two other persons, who were suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning.

La Paz . . . The Bolivian telephone system is privately owned with offices in La Paz, Oruro, Cochabamba, Tarija, Potosi and Santa Cruz. An estimate of the number of telephones indicates a present total of about 4,000, representing a considerable increase over a period of years. There are hardly any long distance connections in Bolivia. There has been little increase in the telephone wire in use, the total approximating 5,500 miles. Dial telephone service is now being installed in La Paz.

New York . . . There is more telephone wire in the United States than in all the rest of the world put together. In this country there is nearly 4,000 feet of wire for every man, woman and child, whereas there is an average of only slightly over 200 feet of telephone wire per capita in the rest of the world.

Havana . . . At the present time there are 55,675 telephones operated by the Cuban Telephone Company, three-fourths of which are located in Havana and its suburbs. The company has 15 dial exchanges and 116 manual. Its employees number 1,158. Service is provided to 412 municipalities and to 104 sugar mills.

New York . . . During the forty years since the beginning of this century, the world's population has increased about 35 per cent, whereas the total number of telephones in the world has increased from less than 2,000,000 to over 42,000,000 or more than 2,000 per cent.

Kearny . . . In an average year over $200,000 in reclaimed materials from waste substances of manufacture are saved at the Kearny, N. J., plant of the Western Electric Company, manufacturing and supply organization of the Bell System. To the reclamation department come, for example, rubber shavings, paper, cotton, machinery, cinders, furniture, gold sludge, etc. All this and much more is sorted into about 200 classifications.

GEMS OF THOUGHT SERVICE Praise

The praises of others may be of use in teaching us, not what we are, but what we ought to be.—Hare.

Praise, like gold and diamonds, owes its value only to its scarcity. It becomes cheap as it becomes vulgar, and will no longer raise expectation or animate enterprise.—Samuel Johnson.

As the Greek said, many men know how to flatter; few know to praise.—Wendell Phillips.

It is difficult to say which may be most mischievous to the human heart, the praise or the dispraise of men.—Mary Baker Eddy.

It takes a great deal of grace to be able to bear praise. Censure seldom does us much hurt.—Spurgeon.

Think not those faithful who praise all thy words and actions, but those who kindly reprove thy faults.—Socrates.

Radiotelephone System Placed In Service For Chesapeake Islands

Gov. O'Connor Of Maryland And Gov. Price Of Virginia Take Part In Ceremonies Opening Communication For Smith and Tangier

The four scenes above depict various stages in the construction of the radiotelephone system on Smith and Tangier Islands. At the left can be seen the small equipment hut flanked by the radio antenna poles located on Smith. At top center Tangiermen push carts loaded with equipment which was transported by boat from the mainland. The bottom picture shows a pole crew at work on the marshy shores of Chesapeake Bay one mile south of Crisfield, Md. At the right, two linemen hang from their lofty perch while antenna equipment is hoisted up one of the 60-foot poles.

Commercial telephone service to Smith Island, Maryland and Tangier Island, Virginia, those isolated spots in the Chesapeake Bay often referred to as the "lost islands," was officially opened for use recently when Governor Herbert O'Connor of Maryland and Governor James H. Price of Virginia extended greetings to the islanders over the new radiotelephone system.

The many months of work required to develop and install the necessary equipment was climaxed by a meeting on Smith Island, followed by a similar ceremony on Tangier. Mrs. W. H. Kohl, wife of Smith Island's minister, inaugurated that island's new system by calling Governor O'Connor at the executive mansion in Annapolis. At Tangier, the Rev. Mr. J. H. Billingsley exchanged greetings with Governor Price in Richmond.

Prior to the official calls, R. F. DeButts, District Manager for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City at Salisbury, Md., delivered a talk at both meetings in which he discussed the development and construction of the system and explained various features of its operation.

The unusual telephone system, the first of its kind in the country, is the result of considerable planning and study by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies of Virginia and Maryland. Previous to its installation, the islands had been provided with restricted communications through the use of emergency radiotelephone equipment set up in the latter part of 1939. Transmission of this equipment was necessarily confined to emergency calls but these were so frequent that they emphasized the urgent need of the islanders for a more extensive telephone service. Separated from the mainland by some 10 or 12 miles of water, the Smithmen and Tangiermen have frequently been isolated in winter months and as a result have suffered hardships due to lack of medical supplies and food. In September 1940, the C. and P. Companies applied to the Federal Communications Commission for permission to construct a radio transmitting station on Smith and Tangier Islands to provide telephone communication between these points and the mainland. In October 1940, the F.C.C. granted this permission and construction of the present system was begun.

Although featuring several new developments in telephone science, the system is similar to that which provides radiotelephone service to ships at sea. Equipment, including radio antenna poles and transmitting and receiving apparatus, is installed at Tangier and Smith and on the Bay shore one mile south of Crisfield, Md. Additional equipment is in the Crisfield central office, which acts as a control center for all calls to and from the islands. An interesting feature of the new system is its automatic operation. Special equipment developed by the Bell Laboratories makes possible instant automatic operation of the necessary power machinery and the transmitting and receiving apparatus involved in a radiotelephone call to the mainland.

Four telephones are located at strategic points on each of the islands. A call to the mainland merely involves picking up the receiver of one of these telephones. This automatically opens the radio channel to Crisfield and signals the operator in the central office who then completes the call from there. Calls from one island to another will also be handled by the Crisfield operator.

The equipment also makes possible intercommunication between inhabitants of the same island. Each telephone is equipped with a key which is switched one way for radiotelephone service and another way for local conversation on the island.

So important is proper nutrition that President Roosevelt called a national conference on nutrition for defense to which three Virginia Tech staff members attended late in May. Nutritional needs for health are stressed in the instruction young women at V. P. I. (upper left) receive. Students in the institutional food management class (lower right) operate a cafeteria on the campus as part of their training in this important phase of home economics instruction. Not only must the girls know how to cook, but they must be able to demonstrate (lower left) each step taken. Considerable individual instruction is available. Dr. Mildred Tate, head of the home economics department, second from left (upper right), is meeting with a seminar of graduate students.

OUR FLAG GIRDLES

THE GLOBE

Old Glory, proud symbol of our country, will celebrate its 164th anniversary on June 14, the date of its official adoption in 1777. Like the British Empire, which takes pride in the fact that the sun never sets on its flag, we Americans may also claim that in some part of the world our National Flag is always floating in the breeze.

We may have fewer far-flung possessions than some of the older nations, yet Old Glory is known in every clime and place. For example, it is the custom of the U. S. Marines to raise our flag every morning at eight o'clock. It remains flying until sunset.

Three hours after the Marines at naval stations along our eastern seaboard have raised the flag, their comrades at other posts along the west coast salute the colors as they are hoisted briskly to the top of the flag-staff.

About two and a half hours later the ceremony is repeated in the Hawaiian Islands. More than five hours will have elapsed before the flag is raised by the sea soldiers in the Philippines. At virtually the same hour, the Marines hoist the flag in China, at Peiping, Tientsin or Shanghai.

Several hours later the westward march of daylight catches the fluttering folds of the Star-Spangled Banner flying over American Consulates and Embassies in Europe, and soon after the sun has passed its zenith in the Old World it is again flung to the breeze on the Atlantic seaboard.

Thus the Stars and Stripes, beloved standard of a free nation, makes its appearance in the early morning hours and remains flying until the sun disappears over the horizon.

BUY COAL NOW

With world conditions as they are today, no one can foresee what may happen next week, let alone two or three months from now. But one thing seems fairly certain. An expanding Defense Program can hardly fail to result in further labor shortage, increased burdens on transportation facilities and higher coal prices.

JANE WITHERS COMPLETES

Completion of "Golden Hoofs," Jane Withers' 26th starring picture for 20th Century-Fox since she came into films almost six years ago, meant that her mother, Mrs. Ruth Withers, had to begin the pleasant task of adding an annex to the huge closet where Jane's movie mementos are stored.

Starting in 135 with a scrapbook, Jane's mother has saved photographs of her daughter, newspaper and magazine articles, souvenirs and many reels of 16mm movie film. These objects form a complete diary of Jane's career from the time she scored a hit as the meanie in "Bright Eyes" to her latest film, "Golden Hoofs", with Charles (Buddy) Rogers currently to the Pitt's Theatre, next Wednesday, June 11.

To date, Mrs. Withers has 57,000 still photos, ranging from 35mm size to billboard proportion, a seven-foot stack of newspaper and magazine clippings and many thousands of feet of 16mm film which she had made of Jane.

The annex is necessary because there's not an inch of space available in the large closet for the still pictures from "Golden Hoofs" which also features Katharine Albridge, George Irving and Buddy Pepper. Lynn Shores directed. Walter Morosco and Ralph Dietrich were associate producers.

MONTGOMERY AND BERGMAN
CO-STAR AT PITT'S

Robert Montgomery and Ingrid Bergman, fascinating new Swedish actress, are co-starred in one of James Hilton's most exciting novels, "Rage in Heaven", coming next Monday and Tuesday, June 9-10 to the Pitt's Theatre.

Hilton's genius for brilliant characterization, revealed in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" and "Lost Horizon", reaches its peak in the psychological study of a weaking, married to a beautiful girl, whose insane and unjustified jealousy of his best friend drives him to attempt the "perfect crime".

Montgomery, in his most powerful dramatic role since "Night Must Fall", plays Philip Monrell, a dashing, attractive young man with a queer mental quirk, the inability to believe in himself. He fails madly in love with, and marries, his mother's secretary, Stella Bergen, portrayed by Miss Bergman. But he tortures himself with the conviction that she really loves his friend, Ward Andrews, played by George Sanders, who is everything Philip would like to be.

As his madness grows on him, stage star and screen actress, remembered for her fine performance in "Waterloo Bridge", Oscar Homolka, Philip Meivale and others.

Auto Design Opens New Mural Mode

NEW possibilities in the field of mural painting, particularly for the outdoor work, may have been advanced in creation of the above futuristic design. This entire scene was done in lacquer with an air-brush. Experts believe it is the largest such project ever successfully completed with a lacquer spray, and some had even felt that use of lacquer in an air-brush was impossible on such a large scale.

The scene above forms the backdrop for the Fisher Body display in the General Motors Parade of Progress. The artist is applying a finishing touch to one of the super-aircraft he perceives for the World of Tomorrow. The painting, having been done with lacquer, has a degree of brilliance and blended effect which could not have been obtained by other means. It was completed more quickly than would have been possible with water color or oil. Furthermore its surface, being identical to the finish of an automobile, will resist rain or sun rays just as will automobile duco, and it also may be cleaned just like the body of a car.

The entire scene is 14 feet long by 35 inches high.

A GRATEFUL ACKNOWLEDGMENT

It is not the policy of this newspaper to enter into a strictly local political campaign where apparently no public issues are involved, but in the friendly contest which is now being waged among five of our friends to fill the two existing vacancies on the Town Council of Manassas, we wish to take this occasion to acknowledge a long standing debt of gratitude to Mr. Arthur Vetter for courtesies and helpful co-operation extended his local newspaper, and we wish to express the hope that, whatever be the selection of the community among the other well qualified and highly esteemed candidates, the devotion of Mr. Vetter to the welfare of the Fire Department, street and tree improvement and numerous other unpaid but important community services will receive recognition at the polls on June 10.

HOW CAN WE DO IT?

In 1917 Kerensky attempted accomplishment of a social revolution in Russia without undermining the military strength of his country. Or, if stated differently, he attempted to maintain the military strength of Russia while temporizing with the theories of collective bargaining and government protected strikes. Apparently not aware of the adult possibilities of the curious embryo which he was feeding Kerensky finally saw a monster arise from his folly to destroy Russia and launch out into a gigantic attempt to overthrow the world.

great Republic had placed its social gains above the national safety and was working forty hours a week and striking freely in defense industries while the Germans were working sixty hours a week with no radical labor manifestations. Finally when the Maginot Line was pierced the German blitzkrieg went through unprepared France like steel through a rotten chest of bones.

Today, after the President's appeal for national unity in all-out aid to Britain, defense strikes go on and the government continues fantastic wages and fearful extravagances, and unless the present trend is quickly checked and real patriotism substituted for self-interest, we can easily slide down the same broad pathway to destruction which led Russia and France to their doom.

How in the world can we really help put out the worst fire the world has ever seen, or actually aid in destroying the most hideous and powerful monster that has ever raised its filthy head, if we insist in doing it leisurely, complacently, at the apparent per capita rate of something like 5 or 10 minutes a day of defense effort while millions of man-hours are sabotaged by Communist strikers?

WALTER G. COVINGTON

Walter Gregory Covington, aged sixty-eight, a former resident of Manassas, and prominent dairyman of the county, was buried here yesterday morning after an illness extending over many months.

He was born November 8, 1872, near Stevensburg, Culpeper County, Va., the son of Thomas R. and Mary Jane Ashby Covington, both of Culpeper County. In 1896 he was married to Meta Rose Hart, of Warrenton, Va.

For a time he was engaged in business in Washington, D. C., and Portsmouth, Va., coming to Manassas from that town in 1910. Most of his life was spent in farming.

He was a member of Grace M. E. Church from the time of his residence here, being a steward for many years. He was also a much beloved and loyal member of the Kiwanis Club, of Manassas, and held an honorary membership after his enforced absence due to his illness.

Surviving him are two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth C. France, of Philadelphia, Pa.; and Mrs. Mary Jane Sheppard, of Washington, D. C.; and one son, Maxwell Hart Covington, of Davidsonville, Md. His wife preceded him in death nearly twelve years ago.

"Walter" as everyone called him was loved and respected by all who knew him. He was a loyal and patriotic citizen, and truly a pillar in any community. His passing will be mourned by everyone in the entire neighborhood.

Rev. W. O. Luttrell, pastor of the church, conducted the funeral services, assisted by Rev. A. S. Gibson, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, Manassas.

The pallbearers were Messrs. L. B. Williams, Doctor George B. Cooke, Benjamin Johnson, Wheatley Johnson, Norman Maberry, and Mr. George Roth, the last two being from Washington. Interment was at the local cemetery.

CHIEF WILSON OF THE SECRET SERVICE

The story of Frank J. Wilson, chief of the United States Secret Service, the agency responsible for the protection of the President, is as fascinating. The love of his job comes to him naturally, for his father, once president of the Buffalo Police Department, had the job of protecting President William McKinley. Frank Wilson's rise to his present post appears next Sunday in The Washington Sunday Star.

"VICTORY" CONRAD EPIC SCORES AS FILM DRAMA

Spurred into life by the magic of Hollywood, "Victory", Paramount's filmization on the great novel by Joseph Conrad, opening next Friday, June 6, at the Pitt's Theatre.

Starring Fredric March and Betty Field, the picture wrought from the novel, which millions have read and enjoyed for over a generation, must be listed in the front ranks of major screen achievements. It is definitely a triumph for its splendid cast, its producer, its director and everyone connected with the making of this thrillingly beautiful story of exciting adventure and romance. Not only Conrad fans, but everyone, will find grand entertainment in this screen version of the novel.

The film has captured the book's full flavor—the spell of the Javanese islands, the beautiful love story, the turbulent adventure and the other qualities that made the original a masterpiece. In stirring fashion, it once again tells the story of a man who loses his cynicism and distrust of the world through the faith and love he finds in a woman. It is she who gives him the courage and the desire to fight back when their newfound love is threatened with destruction by the invasion of their island paradise by three fortune-hunting cutthroats.

March and Miss Field, one of the screen's stellar new-comers, turn in sensitive and impassioned performances as the lovers. In the roles of the invading villains, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Jerome Cowman and Lionel Royce rate high praise, as do the rest of the impressive cast, including Sig Rumann, Margaret Wycherly, Fritz Feld, Rafaela Ottiano and Chester Gan.

REGIONAL HIGH GRADUATES 79

Howard University Dean Addresses Senior Class.

The forty sixth class graduation of Manassas Industrial School, now more generally known as the Regional High School of Northern Virginia, took place on Friday afternoon on the campus. A chilly wind with threatening drops of rain did not affect the enthusiasm of the hundreds of friends and parents in attendance.

Earlier in the day, Ollie Tinner, of Falls Church, an alumnus and chairman of publicity among the citizens associations in Fairfax County, appealed to the group for response to a movement to raise funds for the construction of an auditorium and gymnasium to be erected in honor of the school's founder, Jennie Dean.

On the program at the graduating exercises, he announced that pledges and money in hand already exceeded five hundred dollars, a very pleasing figure. He gave a very interesting chat on a number of things of constructive value.

The speaker, Dr. Charles H. Wesley, dean of the graduate school at Howard University, Washington, was introduced by Professor Barnes as an old classmate at Harvard.

He gave a meaty address, full of staccato momentum, in which he urged the graduates to think in an active and dynamic and positive fashion. He gave analysis of the necessity of such a course in a day and age filled with the prent international repercussions that exist everywhere. His audience repeatedly interrupted him with hearty applause.

Following this came the presentation of the diplomas by Division Superintendent W. H. Thomas, of Fauquier Co., who introduced a distinct note of piety in his advice to the graduating class which was highly approved by all.

Music was furnished by the choral society of the school which rendered several selections. "On the Battlefield" was particularly effective, Miss Pauline Terry rendering the solo part.

This class was the largest in the history of the institution, it being noted that it exceeded the entire student body of less than twenty years ago.

Praise was repeatedly given the regional board of control for making such phenomenal growth possible.

Another note of appreciation was introduced by the guest speaker who commended Professor Barnes for having been at the helm and helping bring about the present high rating of the school, it being as Mr. Tinner stated, one of the outstanding in the entire United States by actual poll of all of the forty eight states.

A feature of the day was the playing of the Manassas hymn written by Miss Marie H. Lewis and dedicated to Professor Barnes. The music was by Richard C. Gay, Jr.

The list of graduates is as follows:

OLD GLORY CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY
PRIDE OF NATION FOR 164 YEARS

The shadowy figure of Betsy Ross is shown in the background of the U.S. Marines, displaying our National Flag and their regimental standard. At right are Pine Tree, Grand Union and Rattlesnake flags, used before the Stars and Stripes design was adopted by the Continental Congress, June 14, 1777.

Virginians will be proud to celebrate Flag Day, June 14.

There is a certain mystery concerning the origin of our flag which has never been solved. Historians fail to agree as to who designed the flag or as to the origin of its chief symbolism, the stars and stripes, although a number of ingenious theories have been advanced.

Many persons believe that Betsy Ross a Philadelphia needlewoman, made the first sample of the Stars and Stripes, but the fate of that original banner is unknown. Soon after it was authorized by Congress the flag was flown at a number of locations, and its popularity was assured.

Scores of highlights serve to brighten our flag's history. One of them occurred on February 14, 1778, when it received a salute from the French Fleet in Quiberon Bay, the first salute to the Stars and Stripes from a foreign power.

During our war with the Barbary pirates, Lieutenant Presley N. O'Bannon of the U.S. Marines, hoisted the flag at Derne, Tripoli, on April 27, 1805, after the stronghold had been stormed and captured by American bluejackets and marines. It was the first time the Stars and Stripes had ever been flown over a fortress of the Old World.

Our flag also served to inspire the writing of our national anthem when Francis Scott Key saw "by the dawn's early light" the Star-Spangled Banner floating over Fort McHenry on September 14, 1814.

From time to time changes in the number of stars and stripes have been authorized and both the flags flown to the Bahamas.

From time to time changes in the number of stars and stripes have been authorized and both the flags flown at Tripoli and at Fort McHenry had fifteen stars and stripes.

Yet today, save for forty-eight instead of thirteen stars which now appear in a blue field, the flag is much the same as it was 164 years ago.

Floating from the lofty pinnacle of American idealism, our flag is a beacon of enduring hope, like the famous Bartholdi Statue of Liberty enlightening the world to the oppressed of all lands. It floats over an assemblage of free people from every racial stock on earth.

Old Glory embodies the essence of patriotism. Its spirit is the spirit of the American nation. Its history is the history of the American people. Embazoned upon its folds in letters of living light are the names and fame of our heroic dead, the Fathers of the Republic who pledged upon the altars their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor.

Our flag bears witness to the immense expansion of our national boundaries, the development of our natural resources, and the splendid structure of our mutually helpful social system. It prophesies the triumph of popular government, of civic and religious liberty and national righteousness throughout the world.

In recent years it has been the custom to observe June 14, the anniversary of our flag's adoption, as Flag Day. It is also an opportune time for all Americans to renew this solemn vow: "I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all".

GRANGE MASTER OPPOSED GAS TAX

Claims Federal Increase Will Hit Farmers Hard.

All Virginia citizens interested either directly or indirectly in farm problems will undoubtedly endorse the statements of Fred Brenckman in opposition to the proposed increase in the federal gasoline tax, said Dr. Meade Ferguson, Master of the Virginia State Grange, today.

Reference was made to a presentation made by Mr. Brenckman, Washington representative of the National Grange, to the Ways and Means Committee of Congress, at present considering a new tax bill as recommended by the Treasury Department. Among other things, the recommendations include an increase in the federal gasoline tax from its present rate of 1 1/2 cent per gallon to 2 1/2 cents per gallon. If enacted, the total Virginia tax will be 7 1/2 cents per gallon.

"The legislatures of half the states, fearing that the intrusion of the federal government into a sphere of taxation developed by the states to provide funds for road improvement may have serious consequences on state financing, have memorialized congress to withdraw from the field of motor fuel taxation," said Mr. Brenckman in the statement referred to by Dr. Ferguson, which continued, "Congress should certainly heed the voice of the elected representatives of the people of those states, comprising a substantial majority of all the electors of the nation". These states are:

Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia.

Mr. Brenckman pointed to the direct interest of the farm in this proposed tax increase when he said, "So far as agriculture is concerned, motor transportation under modern conditions is not a luxury but an absolute necessity. More than one million motor trucks, or about one-fourth of the country's total, are owned and operated by farmers. The farmer must have his motor vehicle facilities, and he does not feel that his use of the highways is a proper and adequate measure by which to determine his contribution toward the cost of national defense. Many states properly refund the tax on gasoline used in farm operations. So far as the federal tax on gasoline is concerned, no refunds whatsoever are made. To increase the federal gasoline tax would, therefore, result in increasing the farmer's cost of production."

Mr. Brenckman expressed grave concern over the pyramiding of gasoline taxes and stated, "The intrusion of the federal government into the gasoline tax field cannot be regarded as legitimate. By far the major portion of the funds that have been expended for the improvement of our highways has come from state, county and local sources. From 1917, when the Federal-Aid Highway Act took effect, until 1939, the states, counties and local expenditures for roads amounted to $29,675,397,000. During the same period federal expenditures aggregated $6,797,897,595 of which $4,757,046,318 was for work relief, leaving only $2,000,000,000 as the actual federal contribution against the thirty-odd billion furnished by the states, counties, etc."

"These figures unmistakably show where the greater burden for roads has been in the past", added Mr. Brenckman, who then directed attention to those states having large highway bond issues.

"In view of the situation with which we are faced, the non-defense expenditures of the government should be held to the lowest possible minimum, without sacrificing any really essential public service. It would be grossly improper and fair to impose back-breaking taxes upon the people, with government squandering public funds to maintain supernumerary employees on the payroll, or in promoting projects that are non-essential, and which do not contribute in any way whatsoever to the cause of national defense", concluded Mr. Brenckman.

Virginia was the first state to express opposition to the federal levy on gasoline, which took the form of a memorial to congress in 1932 at the time the tax was first imposed.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ADDRESS (continued from last week)

Peace between nations means vast more than a cessation of hostilities, reduction, or even a complete absence of armament. Peace is a mental attitude. Its companions are friendly security and good will. With a feeling of security at home, and there will be no need for fortified borders.

good will among neighboring nations.

Emphasizing good will, Jesus said: "If ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? do not even the publicans so? Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect". Or, as Dr. Torrey has translated the last sentence, "Be therefore all-including (in your good will) even as your heavenly Father includes all".

This recalls a conversation heard some years ago. Someone asked, "Could all the people in the world get into the state of Texas?" The answer given was, "Yes, if they were friends". People of good will can dwell peaceably anywhere.

In order to maintain an attitude of good will toward a neighboring country we should ever be on the alert to detect and dismiss any temptation to harbor national prejudice. On this point Mr. H. G. Wells is quoted as having said: "I am convinced myself that there is no more evil thing in this present world than race prejudice, none at all. I write deliberately, - it is the worst single thing in life now. It justifies and holds together more baseness, cruelty and abomination than any other sort of error in the world".

Now there may be a vast difference between good will in theory and good will in practice, or between good will in general and good will in particular. This was the subject Jesus touched upon in his talk with the lawyer as recorded in the tenth chapter of Luke. You remember Jesus told him a story, and chose, perhaps deliberately, a Samaritan as the hero of the narrative. "for the Jews have no dealings with the Samaritans". The lawyer was driven by logic to admit that his racial enemy was the only one of the three to show neighborliness. That is, the lawyer admitted this as a general proposition, but when Jesus told him, "Go, and do thou likewise", we hope his good will was equal to the occasion. You see Jesus landed squarely upon the lawyer's inherited prejudice. He could admit without even mentioning the Samaritan that "he that shewed mercy" was neighborly, but could he go out and act in that neighborly fashion toward a Samaritan? That was another question, and we hope he measured up to the standard set by the Samaritan.

Inherited prejudices and racial animosities must be overcome. These mental heirlooms and intellectual antiques humanity has been harboring and exulting over must be cast aside; and there is nothing but an improved knowledge of God, faithfully adhered to and practiced, that can effectually accomplish this. Were humanity to awaken to the truth about God and man as it is being revealed through Christian Science, the false and foolish notions of inherited enmity between races and nations would fall away as an outworn cloak. Hear this statement from our textbook (p. 340): "One infinite God, good, unifies men and nations; constitutes the brotherhood of man; ends wars; fulfills the Scripture, 'Love thy neighbor as thyself'; annihilates pagan and Christian idolatry; whatever is wrong in social, civil, criminal, political, and religious codes; equalizes the sexes; annuls the curse on man, and leaves nothing that can sin, suffer, be punished or destroyed."

There is the remedy—spiritual understanding. Repeating the words I have quoted is not sufficient. The spirit of this message must be understood and put into practice in our daily lives. If we are to prove that intelligence is the master of prejudice, that Love is the master of hate in international affairs, we must be willing to take up one by one the many phases of the problems which confront us, acquaint ourselves intelligently with humanity's needs, and then help not only to declare, but patiently to prove, the efficacy of Love day by day to adjust all human relations.

Many people take the peace movement too easily. They think they are for peace simply because they are against war. But almost everyone is against war. Even ardent militarists avow that they are against war. Peace is not a condition the world is going to fall into. It is a positive achievement which we must want so much that we shall be willing to pay the cost, and the cost will be high. For instance, would you be willing to have the largest business in the world wiped out? Today there are a number of very large industrial organizations in the world. You know some of them. There may be a branch of one of them in your vicinity. Such organizations are meeting the material needs of the people. They give employment to many. You would not like to see one of them close its doors, and I do not blame you. But the war business is today the largest business in the world. Are you prepared to have it wiped out? Yes, peace will most much. Are you prepared to pay it? If not, you will pay the cost of war, which is much, much higher.

Disputes between nations can be settled peaceably. This has been done many times. If we attempt to settle them by an offensive war we may not succeed. Such wars have settled few disputes. In most cases settlement has been effected after the fighting had ceased, by a few men around a table. Why not, then, have the round table first?

Would you know the antidote for war? Here it is in our textbook (p. 367): "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established."

"In every country in the world 'the man in the street' wants peace. You and I want peace. We want peace in order that civilization may continue and come to full flower. War would arrest it if not destroy it. We want peace in order that democracy may expand. War is one of its enemies. It is true that democratic government has not reached perfection. No system of government can be any better than the people who devise and enforce it. As men grow in their understanding of true government, that understanding will be reflected in their government of themselves, their communities, and their nations. Again, we want peace in order that scientific Christianity may extend its sway until 'the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea'."

Christianity as it is being revealed through Christian Science is today uniting the peoples of the earth as no other system has ever done. It is revealing to people of every nation the truth about God and man, and this is giving them a common understanding of how to solve the various problems which may arise, whether such problems are personal, social, or national. When the nations of the world envision and accept the brotherhood of man under the government of God, we shall have peace.

"Then let us pray that come it may (As come it will for a' that)
That Sense and Worth o'er a' the earth
Shall bear the grie an' a' that!
For a' that, an' a' that,
It's comin' yet for a' that,
That man to man the world o'er
Shall brithers be for a' that".
—Burns.

So today we continue to pray in the word of our Leader's poem (Poems, p. 6):

"Brood o'er us with Thy shelt'ring wing,
'Neath which our spirits blend
Like brother birds, that soar an' sing,
And on the same branch bend.
The arrow that doth wound the dove
Darts not from those who watch and love."

"Thou to whose power our hope we give,
Free us from human strife,
Fed by Thy love divine we live,
For Love alone is Life;
And life most sweet, as heart to heart
Speaks kindly when we meet and part".

NEW PHONE EXTENSIONS BY C. & P. TELEPHONE CO.

Expenditures amounting to more than $515,000 for the construction of telephone plant and installation of equipment in the state of Virginia were authorized by the directors of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia at their regular meeting in Richmond today, according to a statement by R. C. McCann, vice president and general manager.

Approximately $144,000 will be required to enlarge the central office building at Alexandria, and an additional $161,000 will be spent to provide cable extensions in the Arlington, Falls Church and Alexandria areas.

The need for additional circuits on the Richmond-Staunton and Staunton-Roanoke routes to take care of an increase in the number of calls requires the expenditure of $25,000.

Approximately $34,000 will be spent to install additional cable facilities and central office equipment at Norfolk and Suffolk as the result of defense activities in this area.

GAME OFFICIAL LAUDS FOR-EST SERVICE WILDLIFE WORK

Efforts of foresters of the George Washington National Forest to make natural wildlife foods available to deer, turkeys, and other wild game on the high plateau of the Big Levels Refuge in Augusta county were commended heartily by Chairman Carl H. Nolting of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries after an inspection trip to the area last week. The plateau makes up about one-fourth of the area of the 38,000-acre refuge, and is covered with a dense growth of scrub oak which bears a plentiful supply of acorns each year, but which is so thick that deer cannot get through it. The foresters are now building a fire road along the top of Bald Mountain, and the openings resulting will enable game animals to get to the natural feed that is present.

"If the road-building equipment can be used to clear out a number of travel lanes leading off from the new road, the potentialities of the area for supporting game will be greatly increased," Nolting said. "Not only will deer and other wild animals be able to move into areas where oak mast is plentiful, but also the openings will promote the growth of legumes and other food plants valuable to ruffed grouse, turkeys, and even quail."

Scientists visiting the Big Levels refuge have frequently commented on the peculiarity of the situation where plentiful food is present but where growth is so thick that the food is not available to wild animals. The refuge, which is administered by the U. S. Forest Service, serves as an experimental laboratory where game management practices are tested and later applied on the National Forest Co-operative Wildlife Management area, jointly managed by the Game Commission and the Forest Service.

VIRGINIA TAX COLLECTING UP

Collection of capitation taxes in Virginia for the month of April were $3,310.92 more than for the same month last year, according to a report tabulated by the Division of Accounts and Control.

April figures have been used over a period of years as indicating interest in forthcoming elections, evidenced by the fact that payment of the tax makes voters eligible to cast their ballots for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Attorney General, in addition to city officers where local elections are being held. The highest total of April collections was recorded in 1931, when $101,816.76 was paid to qualify voters in county elections. Before the last gubernatorial at election, April collections of capitation taxes reached $99,906.69, as contracted with $61,497.54 for the same month of this year.

FROM AN OLD RECORD

The following verse was found in the files of an old church in Scotland under date of 1620:

"When pictures look alive with movements free,
When ships like fishes swim below the sea,
When men outstripping birds can soar the sky,
Then half the world deep drenched in blood will lie."

DROUTH BROKEN

After nine weeks of almost continuously dry weather in which less than one inch of rainfall is recorded in this section, rain began to fall intermittently and by today the almost unheard of drouth seems to be a thing of the past.

Hay has been badly damaged almost everywhere, wheat has been cut sharply, and the early corn had a narrow escape from extinction. Spring seeded clover has suffered in many instances. Gardens practically stopped yielding. Fruit, however, has come through nicely and in a few days local cherries will be on the market. Apples and other fruits look well.

Footprints of the Trojan Horse

EDITOR'S NOTE: This graphic analysis of "Fifth Column" techniques is published by the (name of newspaper) in co-operation with the National Department of Americanism of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. The text and illustrations are taken from the book "Footprints of the Trojan Horse" published by Citizenship Educational Service, 122 East 42nd Street, New York City, a non-profit association of patriotic organizations dedicated to the preservation of Americanism.

The use of a minority group as a scapegoat is one of the oldest devices in history, used by tyrants to gain power and stay in power.

IN THE ROMAN EMPIRE cruises were used to divert the masses. Men of weak and defenseless groups were thrown to the lions, and scores of these victims were Christians.

IN THE UNITED STATES, between the years 1830 and 1860, there was a wave of Irish Catholic immigration. During this period the "Know Nothing" or self-styled "American" party was formed and attained considerable power by spreading propaganda to the effect that the Catholics were to blame for all America's troubles.

WHENEVER THE CZARS OF RUSSIA wished to divert the attention of the people from the misdeeds suffered under their rule, they worked up hatred of the Jews. This was effective in diverting attention from the tyrannies of the Czarist regime.

IN GERMANY, HITLER borrowed the technique of the Czars and gained power over the people by the same method. "Why did Germany lose the war?" "Because of the Jews." The German people were so blinded by this master screen that they did not realize they were surrendering their liberties as a price for giving way to an artificially aroused hatred.
