SMITH EXPOSES VILE C. I. O. LOBBY

Cites Its Own Official Publication as Evidence.

(From the Congressional Record)
Mr. SMITH of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, on last Thursday the House had under consideration and debate the so-called May bill, which had for one of its objects the outlawing of violence in strikes in defense industries. During the course of that debate I made some remarks with which some of my good colleagues and friends took issue.

I made the assertion then and I make it now that all the May bill does or undertakes to do to organized labor is to see that organized labor is accorded the same privileges as well as the same responsibilities as are enjoyed by other citizens of the United States. All the May bill does with respect to labor is first to provide that when production is stopped in any defense industry the President shall have the right and the power to order work to begin and if it does not begin to put the Army there to see that it does. That did not seem to me like asking too much when we consider the fact that we have taken 950,000 boys from their homes and put them in the Army. No. 2: The other thing the May bill would have done, and I want to refresh the recollection of some of my colleagues on that—I will read it:

It shall be unlawful to prevent by force or violence or by threats thereof any person from accepting or continuing in employment in any defense plant or from entering or leaving any defense plant in the course of such employment. Nothing in this section shall limit the right of any person or organization to strike or to engage in peaceful picketing.

Then followed drastic penalties for the violation of those provisions.

That is all the May bill does, and I challenge anyone to say to the contrary. All it does in that section is to take away from labor unions the right to bend a piece of lead pipe over the heads of the workers who do not wish to join.

During the course of that debate I made the statement that the C.I.O.—and I repeat it now—had conducted the most disgraceful lobby against the May bill that had occurred on Capitol Hill since the investigation which followed the passage of the so-called "death sentence" in the utilities bill. Some of my friends took issue with me on that. I recall that one of my good friends on the Republican side (Mr. Bender of Ohio) described my assertion as "moonshine." I took that to mean that he doubted the accuracy of my assertion. Now, I am not gifted with the powers of oratory enjoyed by the gentleman from Ohio and so frequently displayed by him, but there is one thing I do try to do, I try to make no statement upon the floor of this House that is not accurate; and so I am taking this time this afternoon to complete the record.

I said the C. I. O. had conducted a lobby here to defeat this bill, and a wide-spread lobby. I call to witness the truth of my assertion whom? I call as my witness the C.I.O. itself. The C. I. O. has an official publication that reaches the desk of every Member of Congress once a week. I am afraid some of those gentlemen who had not heard that there was any lobbying going on had not been reading the C. I. O. News as diligently as they should. I take care to see what appears in the paper every week. Sometimes they have some thing complimentary to say about me, and I enjoy reading it. So let us see what the C. I. O. News has been saying on the subject. Let us see whether the C. I. O. News thinks they have been doing any effective lobbying around the House of Representatives. We will take the issue of July 7. That was the week before the May bill came out. We find spread across the front page of that paper in large headlines:

Murray calls C. I. O. conference to resist anti-labor bill. Asks all unions to send delegates to July 7 meeting.

July 7 was the day prior to the day on which Congress was to begin consideration of the May bill. The article

VETTER STARS IN LAST GAME

"Dee" Vetter, Manassas No. 1, baseball star, played his last game with the home team before entering Uncle Sam's Army and drove two mighty home runs out of Swavely Park. His first was to left field and his other was about 320 feet to right field.

Posey also played his last game and got a hit while making two fancy catches in left field. He is also joining the American forces.

Even though this all happened Arlington still defeated the Macs 11 to 5 as they pounded three Manassas hurlers for 14 hits. "Shorty" Vetter got three singles for the home team as the largest crowd of the year saw the game.

"THE FLYING DUTCHMAN"

DAYLIGHT SAVING IN MANASSAS

Deliberating last night on the situation created by Governor's request that Mayors of Cities and Towns proclaim Daylight Savings, the Town Council of Manassas decided that since Maryland, Washington Arlington, Alexandria City and Fairfax had not complied with the President's suggestion, it would not be wise for the Town of Manassas to attempt the change, at least until the Board of Supervisors of the County decided what action Prince William County as a whole would take.

It was the unanimous opinion that the Council and the Mayor were doing everything possible to aid national defense, and would continue to do, but they felt that the proposed change at this time by the Town of Manassas, would under the circumstances hinder rather than aid the community's contribution to national security.

DO GOOD WORK IN ALUMINUM DRIVE

The Young People of the Methodist Church, Nokesville, canvassed their community for aluminum during the past few days, using the most intensive methods.

The results of the drive were deposited in a truck and hauled into town Tuesday morning. The mass was probably around 300 pounds, a goodly donation.

Mrs. Mildred Hale directed the drive in co-operation with Mrs. Charles Martin.

NOW EMPLOYED IN NAVY YARD

William B. Wood, formerly of Greenwich, Va., is now employed as an apprentice mechanic at the Washington Navy Yard. He is doing well at his work and should make rapid progress.

COUNTY OFFICES ADOPT DAYLIGHT SAVING

All Prince William County Offices at the Courthouse in Manassas, including the Office of the County Superintendent of Schools have decided to immediately adopt Daylight-Saving hours, which means, of course, that these offices will be open to the public one hour earlier and close an hour earlier than the usual Eastern Standard Time.

FLOWER MOVIE AT HAYMARKET

A movie on "Flower Arrangement" will be shown in the parish hall, Haymarket, Va., on Friday, August 8, at 4 p.m.

The admission charge will include light refreshments and a booklet on Flower Arrangement. The entertainment will through the courtesy of The Coca Cola Company and is sponsored by the auxiliary-Guild of St. Paul's Church.

MANASSAS PRINCIPAL AD- DRESSES STATE CONVENTION

Prof. Worth Peters, superintendent of Manassas Schools, returned this week after a two weeks trip, which combined business and pleasure.

First he went to his old home, Franklin, Virginia, for a brief stay, going from there to Blacksburg, Va., where he was called on to address a state convention of agricultural teachers.

Prof. Peters' subject in the general looking forward theme, was "The Place of Vocational Agriculture in Community Education."

His address was well received and furnished a basis of interest in the general panel discussions.

WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

Miss Walser Conner will be among those who will attend the Eighth District convention of Young Democrats in Charlottesville Saturday.

FREE MOVIE AT GYMNASIUM NEXT TUESDAY

Under sponsorship of the American Legion and the Prince William Chamber of Commerce a free moving picture will be shown next Tuesday evening at 8 p.m., at the high school gymnasium.

The picture shows the defense work being done in great industrial plants of the country.

HOWARD SMITH CHIEF SPEAKER

Young Democrats Gather Next Week at Charlottesville.

Congressman Howard W. Smith, of the Eighth Congressional District of Virginia, will be the principal speaker at the convention banquet of the Young Democratic Clubs of the Eighth District at Charlottesville, Virginia, on Saturday evening, August 9, at the Monticello Hotel. Representative Smith will be introduced by Judge Lemuel F. Smith, of the Eighth Judicial Circuit.

At the opening of the banquet, the assembly, led by John Paul Jones of the Arlington Club will sing "God Bless America". Judge Lemuel F. Smith will be introduced by Randolph H. Perry, toastmaster, who will also introduce the distinguished guests.

Following the banquet there will be a dance until midnight. The morning session of the convention, opening at 11 a.m., will be devoted to committee meetings and after the luncheon recess the convention will convene in business session in the Rose Room of the hotel at 1:30 p.m.

Professor Charles P. Nash of the University of Virginia Law School and City Commissioner, will make the address of welcome and Walter I. Young of Alexandria, Virginia, vice president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Virginia, will respond on behalf of the Eighth District Clubs.

The keynote address of the convention will be made by Charles R. Fenwick, a member of the House of Delegates from Falls Church, Virginia.

After the introduction of distinguished guests and actions on the reports of the committees, the convention will adjourn until the banquet.

An imposing array of state officials and officers of the Young Democratic Clubs have been invited to attend and large delegations are expected from all of the clubs in the Eighth District. Arrangements for the convention are in charge of committees of the local club. Stuart F. Head, president of the Charlottesville Club, is convention chairman. The reservations committee is composed of Randolph H. Perry, S. H. Rothwell, and H. E. Belt. Mr. Perry has requested that persons desiring to make reservations for the convention do so through his office at the Chamber of Commerce in the Monticello Hotel.

The registrations committee is composed of R. E. Taylor, Robert Musselman, B. B. Woodson, Mrs. Eloise M. Coops, Miss Barbara Lee Fitzhugh, and Miss Jeanette Seiler. The program and entertainment committee is composed of E. J. Martin, T. R. Shepherd, and Douglas Gardner, and the Publicity Committee is composed of Jesse B. Wilson, R. C. Sourts, and R. W. Sadler.

STOLEN BICYCLES RECOVERED

Eugene Beavers and Edward Jones, of the Lake Jackson neighborhood, are two very happy boys this week as the result of the friendly interest and co-operation of Mr. T. H. Marshall, Police Officer of Manassas, Va., who located and recovered their bicycles, stolen from the Fireman's Carnival Grounds last Saturday.

That The Law is a real friend of boys was further demonstrated by the fact the Mr. Marshall, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Partlow, went over to Nokesville, where the bicycles had been abandoned, identified them by serial numbers and brought them back to their owners.

FINE PEACHES

The Journal editor had a birthday present from one J. Benny Johnson in the shape of some of the best peaches he ever ate. They were marvelous. Thanks, Benny.

THE BROOM HITS TOWN

This week Centre Street Manassas has had a thorough sweeping, and we join the many friends of Town Manager in expressing our appreciation.

"Organization" Candidates Crush Their Opponents.

Former Congressman Colgate Darden won the Democratic nomination for governor of Virginia by a crushing majority over his two opponents in the Primary on Tuesday. His majority will probably exceed 100,000 votes.

Incomplete returns gave Darden 97,000 to 17,979 for Page and 11,974 for Cary.

For Lieutenant Governor State Senator William M. Tuck knocked Plunkett out by a vote of 98,744 to 23,782 on incomplete returns.

Hon. E. R. Conner, Delegate to the General Assembly of Virginia for Prince William-Stafford led the ticket, being nominated unanimously, without opposition.

All Democratic Committeemen, five for each District were re-elected, without opposition. They are as follows: Manassas: D. J. Arrington, E. R. Conner, H. T. Johnson, A. A. Hoof, O. D. Waters.

The Prince William vote by precincts is printed on page 5.

LELIA M. FITZWATER

On Thursday night of last week, Manassas lost one of its finest young business women in the person of Mrs. Clell W. Fitzwater, who died after a serious illness of several weeks. She had been as sweet and as patient in her suffering as she had always been through her every day associations with the many with whom she came into contact.

Born at Bristol, Tenn., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Collins, she and her parents came here when she was quite a little child, and her entire life since that time was spent here.

She leaves to mourn besides her husband, one son, Mr. Eugene Worley; three sisters, Mrs. Robert Ballinger, of Alexandria, Va.; Mrs. Robert Dawson, also of Alexandria, Va.; and Mrs. Fred Whetzel, of Nokesville, Va.; two brothers, Mr. Jay Collins, of Bethesda, Md.; and Mr. Wash Collins, of Woodlawn, Va.; also both parents who live here.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon from the Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Mr. John M. DeChant, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Mr. W. O. Luttrell.

Interment was at Valley View Cemetery, near Aden, Va.

The kind and modestly unassuming personality of the deceased had won for her a very wide circle of friends, many of whom came to the funeral. The profusion of lovely flowers was also an evidence of the esteem in which she and her bereaved husband and son are held. The local American Legion Post, of which Mr. Fitzwater has long been a member, attended in a body.

INTERNATIONAL CON- VENTION REPORTED ON

Col. R. A. Hutchison was called on to make the convention report at the regular meeting of the Manassas Kiwanis Club held last Friday evening.

The Kiwanis International convention was held at Atlanta some weeks since but Col. Hutchison had lost none of the antosphere gained while there. His talk was very graphic, and filled with human interest incidents that kept his audience quite engaged.

The program tomorrow evening will be the annual farmers night, and Albert Roseberry in charge.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Spirit" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 10.

The Golden Text will be "The fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth" (Eph. 5:9).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "No man hath seen God at any time. . . . Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit" (I. John 4:12 to first period, 13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures"
by Mary Baker Eddy: "The three great verities of Spirit, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience.—Spirit possessing all power, filling all space, constituting all Science.—contradict contradict forever the belief that matter can be actual. These eternal verities reveal primeval existence as the radiant reality of God's creation, in which all that He has made is pronounced by His Wisdom good" (p.
109).

We wish to thank our various correspondents for sending their notes
early this week.

KEEPS LONELY VIGIL

From the life of a bandsman in far-off China to that of a radio operator on the lonely island of Atka, one of the Aleutian group, was the odd transition made by Charles R.
Magee, a former U.S. Marine.

Magee and his wife are the only white persons on the islands. The remaining eighty-five inhabitants are Aleuts, who in appearance and mode of living resemble the Esquimaux.

From his island outpost Magee sends radio dispatches several times daily and makes daily observations
for the Weather Bureau. Mrs. Magee, by her husband, conducts a school for the island children.

About twice a year, although its visits are by no means regular, a supply boat reaches Atka and adds some welcome items to a somewhat monotonous bill-of-fare. The only available supply of fresh meat is from reindeer herds on the island.

For years Magee was in the Marine Corps band attached to the American Legation at Peiping, China, and he also served as a musician at several posts in the United States.

When he left the service his comrades lost track of him. He happened to tune in on a band concert given by the Marine Band at Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian Islands, some 2,000 miles away. Magee immediately wrote a letter to his buddies at that naval station, but it took months to reach them.

Like sea soldiers all over the world
he remembered the Marine Corps tradition: "Once a marine, always a marine".

San Francisco . . . The most talka-tive state in the Union is California, according to "American Magazine," which cites census figures to show that the average Californian makes 464 telephone calls a year. The state of Washington is second, and Iowa third.
Mississippi makes the least number of calls per person. The most talkative city is Washington, D. C., averaging 627 calls per person per year.

Jungfraujoch . . . The highest telephone exchange in the world has recently been completed at Jungfraujoch, Switzerland, in the lofty Alps
where it is safe from bombs, blizzards, and avalanches. The automatic dial central office and all wires are buried in solid rock which had to be blasted to permit construction of the exchange.
The exchange serves only four subscribers, the Hotel Berghaus, the railway station, the post office, and the High Alpine Scientific Institute.

Cheyenne . . . A monument to a telephone pole has been erected in Wyoming. Between Cheyenne and Laramie on U. S. Route 30, the tablet commemorates the first telephone pole set on the Lincoln Highway.

Boston . . . The first advertisement for the telephone appeared in May, 1877, in the form of a small four-page circular entitled simply "The Telephone." It announced that speech could be transmitted for 20 miles and pointed out with complete candor the shortcomings of the then new and crude instrument.

Stockholm . . . Stockholm, Sweden, ranks second in telephone development in the world, having 40.16 telephones per 100 people, according to recent telephone statistics. The report showed that London, England, which before the present war actually had more telephones than any other single city outside the United States, on March 31, 1939 had only 17.81 telephones per 100 people or less than one-half the ratio existing in Washington, D. C.

BOTULISM

"Last autumn several Virginia
deaths due to botulism were reported to the State Health Department's Bureau of Vital Statistics. This disease is rare in the United States and is entirely avoidable. When it occurs, the infection in many instances is fatal because of the high potency of the poison and its stealthy approach. From 18 to 36 hours after eating the poisonous food responsible for the condition, the symptoms appear. However, even this developing period may be shorter or longer depending upon the quantity of toxin partaken," states Dr. I. C. Rignin, State Health Commissioner.

"The early symptoms generally are indefinite, thus making diagnosis by the doctor, who usually arrives late on the scene difficult. Fatigue, headache, dizziness and increasing muscular weakness which, in severe cases results in near-paralysis, manifest themselves. Dissimilar to the usual type of poisoning, acute intestinal irritation for the most part is lacking.
Even if diarrhea be present, it is only temporary. Indeed constipation exists. Little if any pain accompanies the infection.

"In Europe many of the outbreaks have involved meats such as sausage and ham. In this country most of the cases have been traced to home-canned or home-processed foods such as beans, peas, and corn. Instances have been recorded, however, where spoiled beef, fish and fowl also have been responsible for the infection.

"Prevention is based upon cleanliness and care in the home-canning and home-processing of nitrogenous foodstuffs. Botulism does not occur in fresh foods. It is the carelessly canned, preserved, pickled or processed food, especially so-called packing, that causes the trouble.

"Incidentally, commercially canned foods have not been responsible for a botulism outbreak in this country for 16 years, the canning industry having taken adequate measures to prevent conditions that develop this toxin.

"Cooked food not intended for canning should not be permitted to stand around unrefrigerated. The poison, if present in minute quantities in he first instance may increase in amount, if such food stands 24 or more hours at room temperature.
Moreover, any home-canned or processed food concerning which there is the slightest doubt should be thoroughly recooked immediately before use, as the presence of the botulism poison usually cannot be detected by its appearance, smell or taste.

"In short, all housewives and cooks who at this season of the year are accustomed to can, process, or cold-ack food for future use, should certain that the food to be used for this purpose is fresh, and the precautions above outlined carefully and consentiously followed. All botulism tragedies could be avoided if these suggestions universally were applied. No housewife or cook should disregard them".

GEMS OF THOUGHT SERVICE

Law and Justice

Law is the embodiment of the moral sentiment of the people.—Blackstone.

A law is valuable not because it is law, but because there is right in it.—Henry Ward Beecher.

I believe in obeying the laws of the land. I practice and teach this obedience, since justice is the moral signification of law. Injustice denotes the absence of law.—Mary Baker Eddy.

What we seek is the reign of law,
based upon the consent of the governed and sustained by the organized opinion of mankind.—Woodrow Wilson.

Our human laws are but the copies, more or less imperfect, of the eternal laws, so far as we can read them.—James Anthony Froude.

There is but one law for all, namely, that law which governs all law,
the law of our Creator, the law of humanity, justice, equity—the law of nature and of nations.—Edmund Burke.

Will Ignorance Cure Malaria?

AMERICAN health officers were as amused as those in the Transvaal by newspaper announcements of two new "cures" for malaria—one from South Carolina.

From South Carolina, where the malaria rate is much too high, an old southern negro announces his "cure."

Some Negroes have their own "cures."
It consists in boring a hole into an oak tree, blowing into the hole, and then plugging it with a wooden peg!

If this does not seem so good neither does that from the Transvaal, which is now in the midst of its "winter." It seems that to prevent malaria the adherents of the South African "cure" bundle up in heavy overcoats, with woolen gloves and mufflers for good measure.

Both "cures" go back to magic—the bad old days when any nonsense passed for medicine if only it was announced solemnly enough. The older and more ignorant the author the better—his "cure" must come from some inner or mystical vision denied to most of us.

The amazing thing is that these "cures" ever get into print and that people even more credulous than their inventors still believe such stuff. But these two are recent, in spite of the fact that for many years it has been well known that mosquitoes cause malaria, and quinine will cure it.

It is now over forty years since Sir Ronald Ross absolutely demonstrated that only through the bite of an infected mosquito could one get malaria.
And quinine was discovered in 1820,
since when it has been the world wide remedy for malaria.

So true is this that the United States Public Health Service has issued a recommendation as to the best cure of malaria. Neither the South Carolina negro, nor the bearded natives of the Transvaal will ever read it. But their respective Health Departments have been telling them that as a cure of malaria, 20 grains of quinine for 5-7 days is just a little better than boring holes in trees or wearing overcoats in tropical regions.

DEANNA DURBIN STARS
HERE IN "NICE GIRL"

America's nice girl has grown up into a glamorous young woman.

Deanna Durbin is no longer America's favorite "little girl" of motion pictures.

Instead, Deanna is an even more potentially popular young lady who steps out in all her glamour in "Nice Girl?", coming Thursday and Friday, August 14 and 15 to the Pitt's Theatre.

The film is Deanna's ninth, and it is expected to take its place among the hits in which the Universal star has grown up from the ingenué sensation of "Three Smart Girls" to the charming young lady seen most recently in "Spring Parade".

Producer Joe Pasternak, maker of all the successes starring Deanna, has provided the star her most mature vehicle, combined with what is easily her most outstanding supporting cast to date.

Franchot Tone, Walter Brennan, Robert Stack, Robert Benchley, Helen Broderick, Ann Gillis, Anne Gwynne, Elisabeth Risdon and Nana Bryant are headliners in the supporting cast. William Seiter, who directed Deanna in her seventh hit, "It's a Date", also was director of the new film.

The story presents Deanna as a typical small-town "nice girl" who tires of being one—so she escapes through a romantic escapade with a young New Yorker, played by Tone. Deanna thereby becomes subject of a town scandal which is quelled only after her "engagement" to Tone is announced. Then Tone reappears, to complicate a situation which provides its surprise finish.

Benchley appears as Deanna's father, a Connecticut high school principal, and the Misses Gillis and Gwynne are Deanna's sisters. Brennan and Miss Broderick form a new team as town postman and housekeeper for the Benchley family.

Deanna sings five numbers, including Stephen Foster's "Old Folks At Home" and four new songs: "Perphas", "Love At Last", "Beneath the Lights of Home" and "Thank You, America", the latter a stirring patriotic number.

M. G. M. DRAMA FEATURES
U. S. NAVAL ACADEMY

M-G-M's stirring navy story, "Navy Blue and Gold", starring James Stewart, Robert Young and Lionel Barrymore, opening on the Monday and Tuesday, August 11 and 12, screen for a return showing an answer to wide-spread popular demand.

The colorful story of life at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis gives its big trio of stars every opportunity for telling dramatic performances, aided by Florence Rice in the feminine lead, with an outstanding supporting cast featuring Billie Burke, Tom Brown, Samuel S. Hinds, Paul Kelly and Barnett Parker, under the direction of Sam Wood.

James Stewart, in the role of a Navy officer from a battleship to try for his stripes at the Academy, once again proves himself one of the most talented and versatile of the screen's male stars, with Robert Young, as a cynical young midshipman, coming him a close second in the matter of stealing stellar honors. Barrymore, of course, is Barrymore always, which is to say that his characterization of the veteran coach is superb. Miss Rice, in the leading feminine role, is adorable and it is easy to understand why two midshipmen would love her.

The story presents three midshipmen, from different stations in life, who are drawn together at the Academy, on the gridiron and as classmates. Young is a cynic with no intention of remaining in the service. Stewart is up from a battleship, trying for a commission. Brown is a scion of wealth, with a pretty sister, played by Miss Rice.

Stewart is involved in a scandal when it is learned that he enrolled under an assumed name, owing to the fact that his father, a navy officer, had been cashiered out of the service. He clears his father's name in a dramatic scene and is reinstated.

SOCIETY DRAMA FEATURES
RUTH HUSSEY AT PITTS

"Free and Easy", whimsical comedy of the romance and foibles of the fashionable, with talented Ruth Hussey in her most glamorous role to date, is the attraction coming Wednesday, August 13, to the Pitt's Theatre. The picture places the heroine of "Flight Command" in a gorgeous setting, spectacular costumes, and in a comical series of complications surrounding a romance. Robert Cummings, leading man recently for Deanna Durbin, plays opposite her.

The story deals with a couple of impetuous aristocrats who set out to find rich wives. The father, played by Nigel Bruce, finds a wealthy dowager, Cummings, a wealthy spinster, played by Judith Anderson. Then he meets and falls in love with Miss Hussey, who is poor.

Hilarious situations grow out of the dilemma. The rich loves him, he loves the poor girl, and has a rich love rival. Amid the potpourri of trails and tribulations the romance is finally and laughably solved.

Elaborate social functions, gorgeous gowns and settings, lend glamour to the fast-moving story, directed by George Sidney. The picture is based on a New York stage hit by Ivor Novello.

Players include Reginald Owen as Cummings' wealthy rival in love, G. Aubrey Smith as a wealthy Duke, devotee of the turf and father of Miss Anderson, Tom Conway and Forrest Harvey.

Striking settings include the ancestral hall of the Duke where a big formal dinner leads into an intense dramatic situation, a fashionable casino thronged by gorgeously gowned women and dress-suited men; exciting moments in the fashionable boxes at the races, and other lavish detail.

Miss Hussey wears an elaborate wardrobe in contrast to her costumes in "Flight Command", "The Philadelphia Story" and others of her recent hits. No less than fifteen outfits, ranging from sportswear to glamorous evening gowns, comprise her wardrobe for the picture.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Love" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 3.

The Golden Text will be "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing" (Zeph. 3:17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him. But whoso keepeth his word, in him verily is the love of God perfected: hereby know we that we are in him. He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also to walk, even as he walked" (1 John 2:4-6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook. "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To ascertain our progress, we must learn where our affections are placed and whom we acknowledge and obey as God. If divine Love is becoming nearer, dearer, and more real to us, matter is then submitting to Spirit. The objects we pursue and the spirit we manifest reveal our standpoint, and show what we are winning" (p. 239).

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST
The Daily Bible
BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in their future.
The steps of a good man are ordered of the Lord and he delighteth in his way.—Psalm 37:23.

THE GASOLINE CURFEW

Beginning last Sunday night all gas filling stations in the Atlantic Seaboard Region, from Maine to Florida began closing at night. The first effect of this order seems to have had an effect opposite to its intent, resulting in an actual increase of sales through wide-spread fear of motorists that they might suffer hardship or inconvenience.

Then there seemed to follow a definite falling off in gas sales, and while it is very widely feared that the measure will prove inadequate, still there is sufficient evidence of possible saving of gas on a large scale to merit a full test before abandonment for harsher measures which must certainly follow failure of the night closing plan.

In the meantime the public should extend every possible co-operation in the effort to conserve gasoline. There is little likelihood that there will be any immediate relief in the shortage of gasoline transportation facilities which is said to have made this night closing necessary. In fact there is some probability that the transportation on situation may become even more acute.

In any event there is no justification for hoarding gasoline in improvised containers around the home. Gasoline, particularly high test varieties, is highly explosive and extremely dangerous outside of tanks especially designed for storage and use. There is no immediate prospect of curtailment of legitimate gasoline propelled transportation and everyone is justified in feeling assured that their real needs will be met.

NEFF-GARMAN

Nokesville Church of the Brethren was the scene Sunday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock of a beautiful but simple wedding of Miss Kathleen Elizabeth Garman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Garman, of Nokesville, Virginia, and Roy Edwin Neff, son of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Neff, of Fairfax, Virginia. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. A. J. Caricofe before an altar decorated with gladioli and ferns.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a dress fashioned of white ivory satin. Her veil of illusion fell from a coronet to a finger tip length and she carried a bouquet of white lilies.

Miss Genevieve Garman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor gowned in pink marquisette carrying a bouquet of orchid gladioli. Miss Mary Neff, sister of the groom and Miss Fleta Garman, sister of the bride, both gowned in yellow satin and Miss Hazel Nelson and Mrs. Mary Garman, sister-in-law of the bride, gowned in aqua satin, each carrying a bouquet of gladioli corresponding to the color of their gowns, served as bridesmaids.

Joyce T. Garman, brother of the bride, was best man and the ushers were Miran Myers, Welton Myers, Cleveland Flory and Leo Garman, brother of the bride.

The flower bearer was Betty Lee

Garman, niece of the bride, dressed in blue marquisette.

The pianist, Miss Edna Armstrong played, "Savior Breathe An Evening Blessing", "Because", "We Would See Jesus", "Liebsträume", "At Dawning", and "O, Promise Me", before the ceremony, and the Rev. Hugh Garner sang "Sweetest Story" and the Rev. Mrs. Oden Mitchell sang "I Love You Truly."

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents at Nokesville, Va.

For traveling Mrs. Neff chose a pink shantung suit with black accessories.

After a short bridal tour they will make their home at Fairfax, Virginia. Out of town guests attending the wedding were:

Mrs. George R. Lee Turberville IV, was elected secretary-treasurer to fill the unexpired term of Miss Jane Lynn who has moved to Maryland. Mr. Martin was appointed Chairman of Entertainment for the current year, which office was formerly held by Mrs. Turberville.

Several of the local club members will go to Charlottesville Saturday to attend the district convention, and a delegation is already planning to go to the state convention of Young Democrats in Roanoke, August 29, and 30. At that time the membership of the Prince William Club is expected to be about 250.

The crab feast will be free to all 1941 members of the club, and plans will be made to entertain a large crowd.

LOCAL FIGHT-FOR FREEDOM COMMITTEE MEETS

A meeting of the local unit of the Fight-for Freedom, Inc., was held Wednesday night at the home of the Chairman, Dr. Stewart McBryde.

Mrs. D. Tucker Brown, of Lexington, Virginia, state secretary and treasurer, described the organization of the Fight-for Freedom movement and its aims, and asked local members to distribute its literature, to write and as others to write, to congressmen in support of the administration policies, and to be on the lookout for subversive activities of any kind. The most recent efforts of the Organization, she said, had been to urge the support of General Marshall's request to Congress for the draft extension time.

The Fight-for Freedom, Inc., she explained, is an entirely non-political and non-sectarian organization, and its aims are to support the Government's aid-to-Britain policy, and to combat the influence of those American groups preaching appeasement and defeatism in the struggle against the Hitler menace to the United States.

RUFFED GROUSE SHOW
INCREASE, SURVEY DISCLOSES

Ruffed grouse are more plentiful than last year, it was reported to the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries today by wildlife technician T. E. Clarke of the George Washington National Forest.

Brood counts being made in connection with a ruffed grouse study reveal that there is an average of about four young birds per brood this year, as compared to an average of slightly more than three last summer. In addition to being larger, the broods are said to be more numerous than they were in 1940.

Life history, food habits, and management studies of the ruffed grouse are now in their sixth year. The studies are being made by the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, the United States Forest Service, and the Fish and Wildlife Service. A special agreement between the State Game Commission and the Forest Service makes it possible for the two agencies to manage the National Forests in Virginia as public hunting grounds, and to conduct co-operative wildlife studies on these large areas of forest land. In addition to Commission and Forest Service personnel, Robert Stewart of the Fish and Wildlife Service has been assigned to the grouse project.

Nesting studies now being carried on indicate that snakes and chipmunks may be responsible for the destruction of large numbers of grouse nests. A bulletin on grouse food habits has already been published as a result of the study, and investigators believe that it will be possible to publish a second report this winter dealing with other phases of the work.

TRAVEL ON SNOW CRUISER

Camels, mules, ox-carts and airplanes have been used by the U.S. Marines as modes of transportation, but at least four of Uncle Sam's sea soldiers know how it feels to travel in a snow cruiser—the first craft of this type ever made.

The Marines were with the Admiral Byrd expedition to the Antarctic and were selected to make the trip because of their abilities as radio operators, mechanics, or airplane pilots. The strange craft in which they made their home at the faraway southern base was called the "Penquin".

Built like a huge trailer, approximately 50 feet long and 20 feet wide, it was powered by two Cummins diesel engines. The odd conveyance included cooking, living and sleeping quarters, machine shop, engine room and other compartments.

Huge rubber-tired wheels, weighing three tons each, enabled the snow cruiser to pass over wide spaces in broken ice fields without making detours, and the cruiser also was able to carry an airplane on its ample roof.

Living in the odd craft was fairly comfortable, the Marines say, except when it became colder than 40 below zero and the kerosene in the cruiser wouldn't burn. At such times they were forced to seek shelter where coal was available.

Minerals which promise to prove valuable were found by geologists with the expedition, and new shore lines and mountains were discovered. The Marines had a good opportunity to test extremes of temperature, most of them having served previously in the tropics.

REA APPROVES PLANS FOR 200 MILES OF RURAL LINES

H. B. Lee, REA Supervisor of The Prince William Electric Co-operative, announced this week that the Rural Electrification Administration had approved the plans and specifications for 200 miles of new line in Prince William County and the adjoining counties of Fairfax, Stafford and Fauquier.

Bids on this new building program will be opened in the co-operative's office on August 12, 1941. Staking of the lines is well underway and construction will begin as quickly after August 12 as possible.

Due to the defense program it is becoming more and more difficult to obtain material for line construction and with this in mind, and also the big part electricity plays in the defense program, Officials in Washington are trying to secure priority rights for copper wire and other line materials used by REA. Encouraging reports have been received and delays in the construction of the afore mentioned 200 miles of line is not considered to be serious.

This will be welcome news to many farms in this vicinity and a boom to preparing food for National Defense. During the present emergency but-ter, eggs, and milk are much in demand and this demand is increasing by leaps and bounds. With electric lines spreading to more and more farms milk coolers, pasteurizers, chicken brooders, etc., are being installed to defray the heavy demand of National Defense on the farms of America.

VARIOUS FARM COSTS ARE AVERAGED

During 1940 Assistance was given by the Department of Agriculture Economics at V. P. I. to 12 farmers in keeping and closing detailed cost accounts. A record of the farm businesses on these farms was returned to the co-operating farmers.

The cost of man labor ranged from 17.3 to 32.8 cents per hour, and averaged 24.8 cents. The cost of keeping horses a year averaged $114 a head. Horses average working 649 hours each during the year. The cost per hour of horse work ranged from 11.8 to 51.6 cents and averaged 17.6 cents. The farm machinery on these 14 farms had an average value of $1034. The cost of use of farm machinery averaged 3.5 cents per hour. The cost of operating tractors on 9 of these farms average 60.7 cents per hour. The average cost of operating tractors was $218 for 359 hours of use.

Eleven of the 12 farms produced corn for grain. The average area planted was 19.5 acres. Yields of corn ranged from 20 to 63 bushels, and averaged 43 bushels per acre. The cost to produce an acre of corn ranged from $28 to $86 and averaged $40. The cost per bushel of corn produced ranged from 68 to 168 cents and averaged 92 cents. The man hours of labor to produce an acre of corn for grain ranged from 26 to 174 and averaged 64. The returns per hour of man labor on corn ranged from minus 7 to plus 32 cents and averaged 4 cents. Corn for grain was not profitable crop in 1940.

Corn for silage was produced on three of the farms. An average of 12.5 tons were produced per acre at a cost of $43.82. The average cost per ton of silage was $3.51. It required an average of 39 man hours to produce an acre of silage corn and put it in the silo. The returns per hours of man labor in 1940 were 39 cents.

Wheat for grain was produced on 10 farms. An average of 10.8 acres was harvested per farm and an average of 22 bushels yield per acre was produced. The average cost of producing an acre of wheat was $27.40. The cost per bushel of wheat produced ranged from 56 to 270 cents and averaged 127 cents. It required an average of 13.7 man hours to produce, harvest and thresh an acre of wheat. Wheat was not a profitable enterprise in 1940 on 5 out of 10 of these farms.

Barley for grain was produced on 7 of the farms. An average of 11.9 acres were seeded per farm and an average of 26.7 bushels per acre was produced. The average cost of producing an acre of barley was $22.34 with a cost of 84 cents per bushel. Barley required 7.7 hours of man labor per acre and was not profitable on 4 out of the 7 farms from which records were secured.

Oats for grain was produced on 3 of the farms. An average of 7.5 man hours were required per acre. Oats was a profitable crop on two of the farms, which produced an average yield of 56 bushels per acre.

Alfalfa hay was produced on 5 of the farms. These farms cut an average of 15.6 acres per farm and secured average yields of 2.2 tons per acre. The cost of producing alfalfa was $9.24 and the value was $15.38 per ton. An average of 15 man hours was required per acre through the use of tractor mowers and hay loading equipment. Alfalfa was a profitable crop on all but one of these farms in 1940.

Lespedeza for hay was grown on 5 of the farms. An average of 29.2 acres was grown per farm and yields of 1.3 tons per acre were secured. Lespedeza cost $12.07 per ton and was valued at $12.22. Lespedeza required an average of 14.5 man hours per acre and paid a return of 28 cents per hour of man labor used.

Soybeans for hay were produced on 2 farms. These farms had an average of 12.5 acres per farm and harvested yields of 2.0 tons per acre. Soybeans on these farms cost $41.83 per acre, or $20.51 per ton of hay. Soybeans required an average of 3.7 man hours per acre and were not a profitable crop in 1940.

Costs and returns for dairy cattle on 7 farms showed an average of 36 cows kept per farm, with an average value of $106 per head. These dairy cows were fed an average of 2,011 pounds of grain, 2.3 tons of hay and 3.7 tons of silage per head. The average total cost of keeping a cow was $177.57. Average returns per cows were $204.01. There were 143 hours of man labor required per cow, for which the cow returned 43 cents per hour of man labor.

There were 9 farms keeping hogs. These farms kept an average of 17 head of hogs. It required 691 pounds of grain to fatten a hog or keep a breeder, at a feed cost of $8.31 per head. Hogs required an average of 14 man hours per head, for which they paid a return of 63 cents per hour. Hogs were a profitable enterprise in 1940 on 7 out of 9 farms.

The 8 farms keeping chickens had an average of 211 birds per farm. Chickens were fed an average of 39 pounds of grain and 35 pounds of mash, at a feed cost of $3.91 and a total cost of $2.01 per bird. Labor returns were 27 cents per bird, and average of 2.1 man hours was required per bird, for which birds paid an average return of 13 cents per hour.

Considerable credit for this cost data is due the co-operating farmers. Such data are not only of great value to the co-operators, but also are of value to all people engaged in farming. Date such as this are essential if intelligent plans are to be made by farmers and those working with farm people.

NEW PHONE CONSTRUCTION PLANS

Expenditures amounting to $818,900 for the construction of telephone plant and installation of equipment in the State of Virginia were authorized by the directors of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia at their regular monthly meeting today, according to a statement by R. C. McCann, vice president and general manager.

Approximately $486,000 of the amount authorized will be spent to provide additional central office equipment at points where growth in the number of telephones requires expansion of facilities, and more than $200,000 will be spent to provide additional cable in several sections of the state.

Also included in the amount authorized was an item of $85,000 for additional long distance circuits in the Richmond-Norfolk section.

Mr. McCann stated that the $818,900 approved at today's meeting brings the total amount authorized during the first seven months of 1941 to $6,568,000.

REVEALS C. I. O. LOBBY (from page one) goes on to say that the C.I.O. mobilized its full resources to fight anti-labor legislation pending in Congress when President Philip Murray issued a call to all national affiliates and State councils to send representatives to the conference he called for July 7. And so on it goes at some length, telling how many are going to be here and what vigorous efforts they are going to make to see that the Congress does not pass this May bill.

Well, we came along and we had the May bill up, and the May bill was defeated by a very large vote on last Thursday. The C. I. O. News which some of my friends have not been reading, came out on July 14 and appeared on the desk of every Member of Congress. I assume, that morning; and across the front page is spread this great headline in large letters which one can read across the room:

Antilabor May bill killed by C. I. O. drive.

It does not claim it was killed by anything that had to do with the merits of the bill. It did not claim it was killed by any of the fine eloquence and oratory of my friend from Ohio, who took issue with me and my statements. It did not claim they had anything to do with the defeat of this obnoxious bill, but it said it was killed by the C. I. O. drive. Down underneath that article is a picture of a large aggregation of C. I. O. leaders from all over the country which is headed "Declare War on Anti-Labor Bill". The picture has underneath it the statement:

Some of the 225 representatives of C. I. O. unions and State councils who gathered in Washington last week at the call of President Philip Murray to offer strong resistance to the current flock of antilabor bills in Congress.

It will be recalled that this is the same Philip Murray who is also a member of the so-called impartial Mediation Board which is supposed to settle all of these labor disputes in defense industries. They came at the call of President Murray to offer strong resistance to the current flock of antilabor bills in Congress. The article goes on to say:

Delegates unanimously voted opposition to reactionary measures, later went call upon Senators and Congressmen.

It seems they did not call on the gentlemen who took issue with my remarks and who said I was spreading moonshine all over the floor of the House, indicating that what I said was inaccurate. I do not know whom they selected to call on. Perhaps they called on some; perhaps they did not think it was necessary to call on others. The fact is that the C. I. O. itself says that we, the C. I. O., by this lobbying drive, by which we called from all over the United States men to come here and tell the Congress what to do, are the people who defeated the May bill.

The article goes on to say:

In a smashing 220-149 roll-call vote that directly reflected C. I. O.'s political strength the House of Representatives late today killed all antilabor sections of the Connally-May bill, passing only the clause lowering the draft age limit to 28.

Now, this following sentence is significant:

The vote coming after two days of bitter debate in which anti-labor or Congressmen charged the C. I. O. with marshaling labor's opposition, showed the result of intensive mass lobbying by a force of 250 C. I. O. representatives who came to Washington from all parts of the country to fight down the drive against labor's right to organize, bargain collectively and strike.

Of course, they did not mention that the fight was also against labor's so-called right to use a piece of lead pipe over the heads of American citizens who did not happen to agree with them.

There is another significant article in this C. I. O. News, and I commend this to all Members of the House. In my opinion, if we do not read this paper our education is being seriously neglected. We ought to know what is going on. We ought to know what is behind our votes. The C. I. O. News tells you, and I hope you gentlemen in the future will glance over it instead of throwing it in the wastebasket, as I am afraid some of those gentlemen who disagreed with me last week do.

There is a gentleman by the name of Jones. I do not know which Jones he is. There are a lot of Joneses, like there are a lot of Smiths. Mr. Jones is described as the legislative representative of the C. I. O. My understanding of the legislative representative of one of these lobbying outfits is that he is the fellow whose job it is to call you out in the lobby and tell you to vote so-and-so on this bill or so-and-so on that bill. When

Mr. Jones found he could not handle the May bill by himself, he called this aggregation of C. I. O. people from all over the United States, and he made a speech to them at this meeting. The C. I. O. News goes on to tell you what he stated in that speech. It is a rather long speech, but I want you to become familiar with a few extracts from it and I refer to those gentlemen who neglect their education by failing to read the C. I. O. News. He stated:

In addition to refusing to speak against the Vinson bill, House Leader McCormick swung his support to the Case amendment at the last moment during the debate of June 9, thereby assuring its passage, Jones charged. The Case amendment, he said, completely eliminated the right to strike and imposed compulsory arbitration upon all defense industry.

Mr. Jones is there complaining because the majority leader of the Democratic House does not seem to agree with him that he—the majority leader—was supposed to represent the C. I. O. The majority leader apparently seemed to think he was here to represent the people of the United States, and he disagreed with Mr. Jones and declined to make a speech. So Mr. Jones issued this blast against the majority leader, and he concludes with this statement:

While professing friendship for labor and claiming labor's political support on the basis of that friendship, the majority leadership has pursued an anti-labor course.

We ought to listen to this gentleman with a great deal of care and respect; he is the C. I. O.'s legislative representative.

Labor will not be satisfied with fair-weather friends. Those who can justly claim the right to labor's support must defend labor and all of labor's rights, especially in times when it is difficult to do so, labor's ancient enemies and the traditionally anti-labor press are howling the loudest for labor's scalp.

That was relatives to the majority leader, but here is something for the garden variety of Congressman. That is, Congressmen like you and me—the small fry.

It must be made clear that regardless of what a Congressman's or a party's record may have been in the past, labor will evaluate their friendship on the basis of their attitude toward these present crucial issues. I emphasize these matters to you because in my humble opinion they constitute a major consideration if we are to evolve a successful opposition to those elements that would destroy the American labor movement.

By the way there is another article that appears in the same issue of this paper relative to the same thing. It states:

Embittered charges by such tory diaphanous as Representative Smith of Virginia that the C. I. O. workers' lobby was directly responsible for the defeat of the antilabor sections of the bill were seen as proof of the vigor and effectiveness of C. I. O. opposition, both as shown in the special C. I. O. conference and demonstrated during a period of weeks after the antilabor bills came up.

(Here the gavel fell). Mr. SMITH of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to proceed for five additional minutes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. Smith)?

There was no objection.

Mr. SMITH of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, it was asserted that what I said about the C. I. O. lobby was all "moonshine", and that it did not exist around here at all. I call as a witness the C. I. O. News, the official agency and the official publication of the C. I. O. You heard what it said about its efforts and about its alleged influence on this House. But the fact remains that they made every possible effort, how effective I am unable to say, to control the legislation that was being considered by this House.

There is one thing I did not say the other day, though, because I did not know it. There is a gentleman of notorious reputation on the west coast named Harry Bridges. So notorious is he in his anti-Americanism, so notorious in his communistic activities, so notorious in his violent radicalism in carrying out his labor policies, that this very House less than one year ago, with only 20 negative votes, voted to deport him, an alien, Harry Bridges, when hearings were held and a report was issued by the so-called trial examiner in which it took 150 pages of printed matter to find some excuse for not deporting Harry Bridges. Then again, this year the people of the United States, dissatisfied with that decision, have so clamored for the deportation of this radical Communist that deportation proceedings are again pending against him right this minute.

To my amazement, I learned after I had spoken here on last Thursday, that not only the C. I. O., but Harry Bridges, the big C. I. O. boy himself, had come all the way from the west coast to lobby with Members of this House of Representatives against the May bill, had gone to their offices and told them what they were supposed to do to defeat the May bill. If anybody doubts that statement, there are members of this House to whom I can refer you and whom he went to see.

Can you imagine an alien radical Communist, under proceedings for deportation at the moment, coming to Members of the American Congress and undertaking to tell them what they are supposed to do in their vote on a labor measure?

Some say that it does not make much difference about the passage of the May bill or any other anti-strike bill because there is nothing to this strike business. I conclude my brief remarks by reading you an official report from the War Department, appearing in this morning's paper:

Two Million Four Hundred and Fifty-Eight Thousand Days Lost in Strikes—Officials Compile Six Months' Record.

A total of 2,458,150 man-days of employment on vital Army defense work was lost during the first six months of the current fiscal year because of 187 strikes, an official survey revealed last night.

The study showed that the greatest volume of tie-ups came in the basic and raw-materials field, when 41 disputes affected 87,300 workers and caused the loss of 777,850 days of employment.

This article did not include the west coast shipping strike, the Ford Motor Co. strike, or, I believe, the coal strike.

Two million four hundred and fifty-eight thousand man-days. Translate that, if you will, into bullets and machine guns and tanks and airplanes that the boys you have drafted into the United States Army at $21 a month are beginning for this very moment and you will understand why the American people are clamoring for Congress to do something to stop strikes in defense industries.
