FLAG DEDICATION MARKS ARMISTICE

Speakers Urge Unity And Co-operation Of All Citizens.

One of the most colorful sights that has graced Manassas in recent years was the massing of the flags recently installed for the streets of Manassas to be displayed on national holidays, etc.

This was their first display and the assembly and return of the same was executed by the students like old vets.

Sharp at 10:30 A. M., Commander Claude W. Staggs, of Prince William Post called together the large crowd which had gathered despite the biting breeze, and the invocation was given by Chaplain of the local Post, Rev. John M. DeChant.

With Miss Lillian Knight directing, the high school glee club sang "America", after which Councilman O. D. Waters made everyone feel right at home with his address of welcome.

The brief dedication of the flags by Commander Staggs was a moment well to be remembered in the history of the town. Like the balance of the ceremony, it was timed to the occasion and should leave something for all to think over carefully.

A short talk suggestive of the occasion was given by the 8th District Commander E. E. Payne.

Commander Staggs then recognized the following visitors:

Judge Fox, Former Mayor of Roanoke, Va.; J. H. Smith; A. H. Albright, General Gorgas Post No. 1, Birmingham, Ala.; Judge Travis Williams; Hon. Luther Patrick, Gen. Gorgas Post, No. 1, Birmingham, Ala.; Commander Lorton—Post No. 162, Lorton, Va.; Vice-Commander John Galt, 8th District Vice-Commander Post No. 130, Falls Church, Va.; Arthur R. Cavanaugh, Asst. Dept. Sgt. at Arms, Post No. 130, Falls Church, Va.; Ernest A. Hileman, Commander Vienna Post 180, Vienna, Va. and Comrade Moffett, Post Commander of Warrenton Post 72, Warrenton, Va.

Following the rendition of "America, the Beautiful" by Miss Knight and the Glee Club, General McCarthy Little, commandant of Marines at the Quantico Base, gave a most forceful address. It was directed at the heart of every American present in his simple and earnest plea for a working together of all citizens of this country to guard their liberties and to give their country whatever it called for in one of its greatest hours of need.

Commander Staggs then called for a moment of silent respect for the world war dead, the hour of 11 A. M. having arrived.

The honor of introducing the guest speaker, Representative Luther Patrick, of Alabama went to Hon. E. R. Conner of Manassas, who performed his task gracefully and in the spirit of the occasion, Mr. Patrick is a genuine Southerner, in manner, speech and attitude but he is also the kind of a real American that the South has always produced.

He spared no words, direct or indirect, in describing the man in Germany who has "three eyebrows." He referred to the blot of tyranny induced by dictatorship now spreading over Europe and what it might eventually mean to our own country.

He spent some moments handing his compliments to the "isolationist" whom he termed a super-optimist with no more brains than a trained monkey who could not be taught to count above five.

"America" he said, "is the goal of the dictators...this land of milk and honey...the very lap of Croesus, with all of the riches of world contained here."

The crowd gave a roar of laughter at his play on the words "Panzer" used by the fighting forces in Europe. He declared that "old Hitler got fooled" when he thought that Russia's "Panzer" were not ready for action.

Closing with a world of clear defiance to the enemies of America, Mr. Patrick declared that "the voice of America is heard" and that united as one it would "pass through the door" of action through "Uncle Sam" which would go to do his part in seeing that "democracy shall not perish from the earth."

After the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the Glee Club, Chaplain DeChant adjourned the meeting with the benediction.

The Legion has initiated a patriotic move at a crucial time and for this, Commander Staggs and his co-workers certainly have general praise.

JUDGE SMITH SPEAKS AT KIWANIS MEETING

Hon. Howard W. Smith, U. S. Representative from the 8th District of Virginia, was present at Kiwanis last Friday evening and gave a very entertaining week of the events which had taken place in Congress last week on the Administration measure to do away with that portion of the Neutrality Act allowing the arming of Merchant Marine and permitting the same to go in the War zones, so long as the strikes in national defense continue.

Judge is always a welcome visitor anywhere in Prince William, and his presence at such times as these is reassuring and helpful.

ANNUAL MEETING OF R. E. A. CO-OP

Manager Roseberry Points Out Advantages of His Organization

(By the Prince William Co-operative) The first annual meeting of the members of the Prince William Electric Cooperative will be held at the Town Hall at 10:00 o'clock a. m. Tuesday, Nov. 25, 1941.

The Prince William Electric Cooperative is a rural community enterprise organized democratically for the purpose of supplying electricity to its members at the lowest cost made possible through mutual self-help and Rural Electrification Administration financing and guidance.

We have democratic control in our democratic form of government, where each citizen has only one vote, regardless of how rich or how poor he is. In the ordinary business Corporation, the stockholder who owns the largest number of shares of voting stock has the largest numbers of votes, because each share of voting stock is entitled to one vote. It is also common corporation practice for a few people to try to get hold of other stockholder votes by collecting "proxy" votes. This makes it possible for a few stockholders to control the entire corporation and to run it for their own exclusive benefit, without giving consideration to the many small stockholders. In a real co-operative, each member has one vote, and only one. In this way, the control of the enterprise is in the hands of the majority of the members. Men and women, not money, control a co-operative enterprise.

If you are a member of the Prince William Electric Cooperative you are one of its owners, you are a member of its controlling body. By your vote, you can approve or disapprove policies and you have the right and duty to elect a capable and public-spirited board of directors. As a member, you should make every effort to come to all members' meetings and to vote on all matters which the members have a right to decide. The success of your cooperative depends upon your active support in it and help to control it.

There is positively no money risk in being a member of the R. E. A. Co-operative, except for the small membership fee you pay. All the other capital has been loaned by the government and you are not personally liable for its repayment, as your co-operative is incorporated. Nor can you be forced to pay any assessments if your project showed loss money. All that your board can do is raise the rate if they are not high enough to meet operating expenses. And no one can force you to use electricity if you do not want to use it.

On the other hand, while you cannot lose, you have everything to gain. If you do your share in making your electric cooperative succeed, you will be part owner of a going business that will yield constantly increasing benefits to you and your neighbors.

Attend the annual meeting, help elect your board of director, have a voice in the success of your cooperative.

Remember! Town Hall, Tuesday Nov. 25 1941 at 10:00 o'clock a. m. You owe it to yourself and to your neighbors to attend.

THIRD COUNTY COURT HOUSE MARKED

WHO'S 'DRASTIC' NOW?

Rep. HOWARD SMITH of Virginia has been denounced as an enemy by the bosses of organized labor. He has fought to change New Deal labor laws.

Rep. Mary Norton of New Jersey has been hailed as a friend by the bosses of organized labor. As chairman of the strategic House Committee on Labor she has blocked efforts to change New Deal labor laws.

Now there is a crisis, for which unfair labor laws are largely responsible. It comes to a head in the John L. Lewis coal strike, which defies the power of the Government to provide for national defense. And see what happens.

Mrs. Norton announces secret hearings by her committee on a bill which she says she has drafted as a substitute for the "ridiculous" and "drastic" measures proposed by Mr. Smith and others. The secrecy is bad. The bill appears to be worse. It would create a new Defense Mediation Board—an independent agency with power to issue injunctions against either party to a labor dispute which did not abide by its findings. Injunctions by this board would be in effect for periods up to 30 days, after which findings could be taken to the courts for enforcement.

That would be compulsory arbitration, a real blow to the rights of labor. And it would not prevent defense strikes. Unions which now defy the Government when voluntary mediation does not give them what they demand would defy the courts if compulsory arbitration did not give them what they demand. Short of sending men to jail for refusing to work, court orders under Mrs. Norton's bill could not be enforced.

How about Mr. Smith's bill, to which Mrs. Norton says her committee will give no attention? It would not prohibit strikes. It would not compel arbitration. It would invoke against a defiant union no force except the force of informed public opinion.

The Government has given unions many special privileges. It has provided rules of fair labor practice for employers, but exempted unions from such rules. The Smith bill would provide rules for unions, too. And it would withdraw the special privileges from unions which break the rules—

By striking without giving 30 days' notice to the Secretary of Labor and permitting mediation an opportunity to settle disputes; by calling a strike not authorized by a majority of the workers in a Government-supervised election; by striking to enforce a closed shop (where the closed shop already exists it would remain); by engaging in mass picketing, violence or intimidation; by conducting jurisdictional strikes or secondary boycotts.

What is "drastic" or "ridiculous" about that?

SPECIAL NOTICE TO HUNTERS AND SMOKERS

Since the fire season opened, we have had from 3 to 4 fires per day and out of this number everyone has been due to hunting except for one.

For one minute put yourself in the place of the land owner. If practically all your income should be taken from you, how would you feel? Most timber owners rely on this as their income. For your information I quote, section 545-A Chapter 314 acts 1930 from Forest Fire Laws of Virginia.

Ceremonies Marked by Pageantry and Music by Marine Band

The last of Prince William's courthouses of the past, which have disappeared from the face of earth, was properly marked with a suitable monument on Tuesday of last week. The bicentennial committee which began ten years ago to set about leaving its courthouses located for posterity has now finished its job and with much credit.

One of the principal speakers on this occasion was Hon. Wade H. Ellis, who was the committee's first chairman at the time of the Colchester celebration. Another figure who labored faithfully has passed from the scene. This was Mrs. J. B. T. Thornton who died nearly two years ago. Mrs. Mada Hibbs carried on as chairman for the present occasion.

The second marker was erected May 31, 1932 and located the site of the second Courthouse known as Cedar Run. It is located on the farm of Mr. T. N. Berryman of near Orlando.

The Courthouse which still stands at Brentsville is being preserved by means of a fund bequeathed to the people of Prince William County by the WILL of late Judge J. B. T. Thornton.

The Bicentennial committee is composed of the following: Chairman, Mrs. E. H. Hibbs; Vice Chairman, Mrs. E. H. Marsteller; Legislative, H. Thornton Davies, Sr.; Schools, Division Superintendent, R. C. Haydon; County Board Chairman, D. J. Arrington, and rural Supervisor, Miss Sue Ayres; county Board of Supervisors: Rev. J. M. Taylor, chairman, V. S. Abel, and Wheatley Johnson; Woman's Club of Manassas, Mrs. E. H. Marsteller; Jr. Woman's Club, Mrs. Charles Lynn, Jr.; Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations, Mrs. J. Powell; Publicity, O. D. Waters and R. D. Wharton; also Mrs. Benjamin Brown, Mrs. J. J. Davies, Mrs. John Piercy, Mrs. Wallace Lynn, Mrs. McDuff Green, Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Shumate, A. E. McInteer, and James Bishop.

As usual the school children formed an important portion of the program. For some weeks past, Mrs. Evelyn Lynn, principal of the Dumfries school (where the celebration was held) and her aides had been drilling and preparing the children to take their parts.

The selection of Armistice Day was quite apropos, and concluded a day in which the county had combined a most up-to-date memorial of modern times with a noteworthy observance of its colonial history. At shortly after one o'clock, guests from all over the county began to arrive. Prominent among these were Mrs. Lulu Bawner, Mrs. Annie Merchant, Mrs. Walter H. Keys, Mrs. Maria Wheat, and Messrs H. Clay Speake and W. A. Speake, all old Dumfries folks.

With the ladies of the Dumfries Choral club singing the theme air "America, the Beautiful" and Mrs. Beulah Bawner at the piano, the curtain first rose as the 4th and 5th grades of the school, with Mrs. Stella Mountjoy directing, sang "Our Prince William." (The flag of Prince William was quite prominently displayed on the platform).

Next came a series of colorful and difficult tableaux. First was Captain John Smith, the first white man to set foot on Prince William soil. Master Frank Miller was the Captain. He was confronted with some very real looking little Dogue Indians.

To make matters as simple as possible and for the audience to understand just what was going on, Miss Ellen Waters read the subject matter while the announcements for each were given by Miss Joscelyn Bawner.

The second historic scene was the home of Giles Brent, (Bobby Haynes) the first white settler, also his sister, Margaret Brent, (Betty Bawner) so well known in Stafford county history. Giles' Indian princess bride was also very effectively portrayed by Jeannette Robbles.

The first citizen of Dumfries, together with his neighbors and slaves was the final number. George Francis Waters took the part of John Graham, the original settler of the town, with Sammie Bauckman as his neighbor. The group sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia", with Miss Lucille Pulley at the piano.

Thomas Chenoweth recited the American's Creed, while Francis Burns led the entire audience in the pledge of allegiance.

I Like This Book

One of a series of book reviews by students of Osbourne High School, Manassas—Session 1941-42 in competition for the W. C. Wagener Memorial Prize.

I LIKE THIS BOOK

"Our Town," a play in three acts, was written by Thornton Wilder, and published in 1938 by Coward McCann Publishing Co., New York, City, N. Y. Wilder is a double winner of the Pulitzer Prize, and in two fields. In 1928 he won the award for his novel, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," and just ten years later he received the prize for the outstanding play of the season, "Our Town," which was immediately acclaimed by both critics and playgoers, and is considered his greatest contribution to American literature.

"Our Town" reveals the day-to-day life of the inhabitants of a New Hampshire village, with its humor and its tragedy, its beauty and its ordinariness, set against a background of real Americans, striving for the better things of life.

No matter where you live, you have neighbors like Doctor and Mrs. Gibbs, Editor and Mrs. Webb, and surely your neighbors' children are like George and Emily, who fall in love over an ice-cream soda, marry, and arrive on the never-ending drama and implicitly found in a small town.

When you read "Our Town," I am sure you will be moved by this tender, human story of people like yourself, living their lives in a small town.

When you have read "Our Town," I am sure you will say as I did, "It was an excellent play—one of the best I have ever read."

This play may be borrowed from the Ruffner - Carnegie Library.—EVERETTE JONES

WILLIAM A. YOUNG

William J. Young was born at Rehrsburg, Pennsylvania, on November 4, 1868; and died on November 15, 1941 - age 73 years and 11 days. He made his confession of faith in Christ on April 4, 1885, in Hosts Lutheran Church, Telephocken Township, Pennsylvania.

He was married to Adah Troutman on December 23, 1891. To this union one son was born, Harvey A. Young. His wife preceded him to the spirit land nearly 12 years ago.

He moved from Pennsylvania about the year 1893, and settled near Manassas, Virginia. From the incomplete records, it appears that he was a charter member of Bethel Lutheran Church, Manassas. He was connected with the church from the beginning of its existence. During the active years of his life, he was actively identified with the activities of the Lutheran Church, and made no little contribution to its growth and development.

He leaves to mourn his departure, one son, two grand-sons, William and Charles Young; two brothers, the Rev. John H. Young, Nescopeck, Pa. and Robert R. Young, Manassas, Va.; three sisters, Mrs. Emma French, Washington, Mrs. Eva Olsen, Washington, Mrs. Jennie Newton, Washington; and a large circle of relatives and friends.

The service was conducted in Bethel Lutheran Church by his pastor, the Rev. A. W. Ballentine, assisted by the Rev. Luther F. Miller, a former Pastor. The body was buried in the cemetery at Buckhall.

WILLIAM M. WEAVER

William Martin Weaver, aged 69, died at his late residence near Nokesville on Saturday last (November 15th) from complications following an illness of several months.

Born in Newmarket, Virginia, he came here sometime after his marriage in 1897 and proved himself a substantial and valuable member of the community.

He left to mourn six daughters and three sons. It was from his sons and sons-in-laws that the list of pall bearers were drawn.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon from the Nokesville Methodist Church with which he had been affiliated for sometime.

The pastor, Rev. John W. Newman, officiated.

THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving seems to be the first outstanding victim of subversive propaganda!

It is impossible for us to follow through all of the ramifications leading to the final action of setting aside our traditional last Thursday in November as the national day of Thanksgiving, but the modification may safely be cited as a definite Fifth Column accomplishment.

As dictated from Moscow, the idea is to change everything possible and as often as possible, where affectionate regard for old-time tradition is involved. The nature of the change is not so important as the mere fact of change, which is regarded as a softening process calculated to break down public resistance to the idea of holding on to what our forefathers cherished. Then when final modification of our constitutional government becomes imminent, no great revulsion of feeling will be encountered.

Christmas is next on the list of changes. Of course there will have to be invented a much more subtle reason than big department store insistence for a longer shopping period; but clever Communist propagandists and they are the most astute in the world will find the necessary excuse within the realm of their general insistence that religion itself is a worn-out superstition deserving of no place in modern world affairs.

However, the last Thursday in November, the third Thursday, and every other day in November and throughout the year should be a time of thanksgiving for the blessing of peace which we are continuing to enjoy. We have never had more justification nor inspiration than at the present time to give thanks to Almighty God, and to pray that we shall continue to be spared the horrors of war.

WOMAN'S CLUB HOLDS

INTERESTING MEETING

The Woman's Club meeting held Monday, November 10 in the Parish Hall, was a most instructive and enjoyable one. The Club is doing its bit, helping with the Red Cross Christmas kits, also stressing our National Anthem.

The Fine Arts Section announced a tour of the National Art Gallery to be held Tuesday, Nov. 18. Those who cannot make the trip at that time were urged to make a private tour of the Gallery on any Friday or Tuesday, on which days a guide is furnished at 11:00 o'clock for the tour.

Mrs. C. C. Lynn, President, announced the big Christmas Ball which will be held in the Gymnasium on the night of December 29th. Again the Club has been fortunate in securing the splendid orchestra which furnished the music for the Club's Easter Ball.

Mrs. W. L. Lloyd, Program chairman introduced ten children from Mrs. Breeden's fifth grade who sang two numbers, "Beautiful Stream," and a Thanksgiving song, which were very well received.

Mrs. Marion Lewis, acting for the Welfare Committee, introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. Florence I. Ryan, District Child Welfare Worker of the Children's Bureau of the State Department of Public Welfare, with headquarters in Richmond.

Mrs. Ryan said the security of the child was of first importance, in considering the child's welfare. She said no laws were necessary unless they would benefit the child; in her estimation that is our First Line of Defense of the Democracy, to make a happier child now who will be a more adequate person of tomorrow.

Mrs. Ryan traced the help given children in years past, in the Almshouse, then putting children out on apprenticeship, followed by orphanages where there was too much regimentation, then followed state societies for placing children in homes without regard as to family conditions. Though the Social Security Act of 1935, the Rural allotments for child welfare were greatly increased, and the state has been perfecting her organizations so that the child may be regarded as an individual regardless of the family conditions into which he was born.

Mrs. Ryan hopes that in the near future the state will set up an Eugenics Board as other states now have, through which mentally-deficient cases may be more easily handled.

BENEFIT FOR ST. PAUL'S
The Committee on Improvement of Church Property of St. Paul's Church, Haymarket will have a Dessert Bridge on Thursday evening, November 27 at 8 P. M. in the Parish Hall. There will also be tables of Chinese Checkers. Table and door prizes.

The occasion was a very happy one for the couple as well as many of their friends and relatives, many of whom dropped in during the day to wish Mr. and Mrs. May many happy returns of the day.

GRIFFITH-TOLSON

A wedding of much interest in Fauquier and Prince William Counties took place on Tuesday afternoon, November 11, at the First Baptist Church, Frederick, Maryland when Miss Lottie Irene Tolson became the bride of Frank I. Griffith.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. William C. Royal, pastor of the Church.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowen Tolson of Nokesville, Virginia, wore a dress of wine velvet with matching accessories.

Mr. Griffith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eppa Hunton Griffith of Warrenton, Virginia. Having entered the Baptist ministry several years ago Mr. Griffith takes an active part in church affairs.

After a brief wedding trip the couple will make their home near Nokesville.

RATCLIFFE-HURLBUT

A wedding of much interest to many readers of the Journal was solemnized last Wednesday, Nov. 5, at Calvary Methodist Church, Arlington, Va., when Miss Emma Margaret Hurlbut, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Douglas Hurlbut, became the bride of Mr. Wilbur Stuart Ratcliffe, Jr., only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Stuart Ratcliffe, Sr., of Washington, D. C.

A beautiful program of pre-nuptial music was rendered by the organist of the church. Mrs. Garner, a cousin of the bride, sang in exquisite voice, "I Love You Truly," and "At Dawning." The altar decorations were of chrysanthemums in hues of gold, and lavender.

The bride, who entered the church upon the arm of her father, was most charmingly gowned in a costume of dusty blue wool, fashioned in redingote style with self-fabric pasties and accessories were of harvest wine. She carried a bouquet of gold and bronze chrysanthemums. She was attended by her younger sister, Miss Nancy Hurlbut, who was lovely in a costume of beige and brown silk crepe, with brown hat and accessories. She carried bronze and gold chrysanthemums.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Raymond Ratcliffe of Washington, D. C. Mr. Charles Hurlbut, brother of the bride, and Mr. Harris Collins served as ushers.

The ring wedding service was performed by Dr. Black of Washington, pastor of the groom's family, while the nuptial prayer was made by the Rev. Mr. Betschler, pastor of Calvary Methodist Church, South Arlington.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 909-19th St., South Arlington, which was attended by the immediate families, and many relatives and friends. Light refreshments were served, the wedding cake, with its decorations of miniature bride and groom. Amid a shower of rice and good wishes, the happy young couple departed for their wedding trip, which will include a visit to New York City, Boston and points of interest in Canada.

Upon their return they will make their home in South Arlington. They were recipients of many thoughtful and valuable presents. The bride is well known in Prince William being a graduate of Haymarket High School, where her

BENEFIT SHOULD CEASE SURVIVORS INSURANCE

With defense industries calling for workers of all ages, W. C. Bayliss manager of the Social Security Board office in Alexandria, today issued a reminder to men and women who are receiving retirement benefits under the Social Security Act. "Not that the Social Security Board would discourage retired workers from going back to work," Mr. Bayliss said, "but they must remember to notify the Social Security Board when they do so." As stated in the "award letter" they received when their claims were approved, he explained, they cannot receive their retirement benefits during any month in which they earn as much as $15 a month (that is, more than $14.90) on a job that comes under the Social Security Act.

This is a matter of law, Mr. Bayliss points out, and there is a penalty for disregarding it. The penalty causes a loss of 2 monthly payments for every one that should not have been paid.

"The same requirement applies to the wife or children of a retired worker who are receiving benefit payments on his account," Mr. Bayliss added. "They are not entitled to receive benefit payments for any month during which the husband's or father's payments are stopped."

LIBRARY PROGRAM

The Latin American program, presented by the Ruffner Library Tuesday evening to the Parent-Teacher Association and "The Friends of the Library", was of unusual interest. The special feature was an address by Senor Don Eugenio De Anzorena, of the Mexican Embassy in Washington. The speaker, introduced by Mr. Armistead Sinclair, gave an extremely interesting account of his native land: its scenic marvels; its people proud of their Indian descent and of their ancient civilization; the present poverty of the people, the result of centuries of exploitation since the Spanish conquests; and the recent marvelous rebirth of the country with its reforms in government, its increasing prosperity and its intense interest in popular education.

He dwelt also on the satisfying progress of the "good neighbor" policy followed so well in recent years by the United States and its southern neighbors, and urged its importance as one of the best means of our hemisphere defense. He added, however, that such a policy to be really successful must always depend on the countries learning to know each other, and advised, as a means to this end, more study of Spanish in our schools and more interchange of visits on the part of our people. Mexico, he said with its marvelous scenery, quaint customs and low cost of living might easily outstrip both Florida and California as a tourist's paradise.

After the address, the audience was especially invited to inspect the Library exhibits: the new books recently received, the Library's excellent collection of P. T. A. material, and its new collection of Pan American books and pamphlets, many of the latter having just been presented to the Library by the Pan American Office.

In connection with the Library program, a "Book Mart" was held early in the evening by the Alumni Committee in charge. Many books had sent in and a considerable crowd attended.

Mrs. M. S. Burchard presided during the short business session of the Parent-Teacher Association held before the program.

Mrs. Emmett Rice, Membership Chairman, announced that Mrs. Albert Breeden's Fifth Grade room had won the five-dollar prize for having gained the largest percentage of new patrons during the drive closing on this evening. Mrs. Philip Park's Second Grade room ran a close second. A total of 191 new members joined the P. T. A. during this drive.

The attendance banner was awarded to Miss Evelyn Hall's Fourth Grade.

M. S. V. S.

Religious Service will be held at 7:30 P. M. Sunday, November 23 at the Gymnasium of the Manassas State Vocational School. The Rev. A. Stuart Gibson will conduct the service. His congregation will be present and a cordial invitation is extended to anyone wishing to worship with the school group.

MANASSAS FARMER WINS SOUTHERN STATES PRIZE

W. H. Evans of Manassas is one of the three members of Southern States Cooperative who had a part in naming the new Southern States egg grade "Dixie Breakfast Eggs" and who shared with Mrs. C. E. Skelton of Blackstone and Henry E. Kilmon of Onancock the $50 prize offered for a name, according to L. J. Graham, Richmond, general manager of Southern States Marketing Cooperative which operates in Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, and West Virginia.

The contest for a new name, a name that would indicate the high quality of the product and the section served by the cooperative, was open to all patrons and their families. "Farmers should put themselves in position to reap even larger returns from their eggs by meeting the standards of the new Southern States egg grade soon to go on the market," Mr. Graham declared.

"Poultrymen are urged to bear in mind each step necessary for shipping high quality eggs," Mr. Graham continued. "Eggs should be gathered from the nests several times a day, cooled as quickly as possible in a room where relative humidity is as near 75 per cent as possible and temperature range is from 50 to 60. Dirty eggs should never be shipped. Frequent marketing is necessary. Heat, time, and dirt are the egg's worst enemies."

The Southern State Marketing Cooperative receives eggs from poultrymen in a number of communities in the four states it serves, and grades them, pays the producer cash, and markets them through wholesale outlets located in Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, and Roanoke.

WINNERS NAMED IN FARM GARDEN CONTEST

The Garden Contest sponsored by the Farm Security Administration in Prince William and Fairfax counties was quite a success in spite of the drought throughout the season.

Many of the gardens had as many as fifteen varieties of vegetables. The most of them furnished sufficient quantities for home use, some for marketing, and large quantities to be stored, dried, and canned for winter use.

Gardens were judged in the Spring and again in the Fall, special consideration was given to earliness, variety, quality, an quantity used, stored, dried, and canned.

Prizes were awarded in both counties.

In Prince William county Mrs. A. O. Hurbert was the winner of the first prize, Mrs. Luther Lanham, third. In Fairfax county the prize winners were Mrs. Octavio Rosado, first, Mrs. Herbert H. Howard, second, and Mrs. Gerrit Slothauer, third.

Others receiving honorable mention were Mrs. Nathan Hensley, Mrs. Ira Runion, Mrs. Hugh English, and Mrs. Sallie Cordell, in Prince William, and Mrs. Moody Berry, Mrs. F. H. Curtrie, and Mrs. C. M. Weatherholtz in Fairfax and Mrs. C. M. Weatherholtz in Fairfax.

The Garden Contest is an annual event and it is not to soon to begin making your plans for next year.

Plans for a new phase of the Virginia Farm Defense Program will be discussed in a meeting at Hotel Murphy in Richmond on November 25 when members of the state defense board meet with farm leaders to discuss the farm machinery repair and scrap metal sale campaigns.

It is expected that a report will be made to the defense board concerning the progress AAA committeemen have made in contracting farm operators concerning 1942 production of food for defense, and the anticipated production from these contacts.

In announcing the Richmond meeting, John H. East, chairman of the defense board, said that because of increased demands upon steel a less than normal quantity will be available for manufacture of new farm machinery for 1942. Enough will be allotted for manufacture of repair parts, provided information of the quantity needed can be promptly obtained. For that reason, he said, it is urgent that farmers check their machinery and order all needed parts at once.

A separate campaign but closely allied to farm machinery repair is the marketing of all available scrap metal. It has been recognized that farmers may make a substantial contribution to the metal shortage by marketing scrap.

Plans for carrying out these campaigns in every county will be discussed. Among those meeting with the defense board will be representatives of USDA agencies, farm organization officials and others.

WAR AGAINST HITLER TO BE WON WITH TEST TUBES

The war against Hitler will be won or lost with test tubes, behind locked doors, by men who never see the field of battle—an army of scientists that has been mustered into a hundred laboratories.

The story called to task by Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the Office Scientific Research and Development and by the National Defense Research Committee is told in an illustrated feature article appearing next Sunday in the Washington Sunday Star.

THIRD COUNTY COUNT. HOUSE MARKED

At this point the Marine Band, so kindly allowed to be present through the courtesy of General McCarthy Little, commandant of Marines at the Quantico base, sounded the strains of "God Bless America," which was played over twice while all hands joined in.

H. T. Davies, presiding, then announced a concert by the band which followed immediately and covered a period of some fifteen minutes or more.

Mr. Davies then introduced Hon. C. C. Callahan, commissioner of the revenue in Alexandria, and a native of Dumfries, gave a graphic account of the past glories of Dumfries, once rated as a competitor of New York City in the commerce of the world.

While diverging occasionally to tell of the old canal where he learned to swim and the catfish he used to catch, Mr. Callahan spoke in part as follows:

"We are here today to perpetuate the memory of an event which transpired in this old town nearly two centuries ago and those responsible for this worthy effort are entitled to the hearty congratulations and gratitude of very citizen of northern Virginia.

The founders of Dumfries were men of a high order of merit in both an intellectual and commercial sense. Their ancestors had flown from the persecutions of arbitrary government to establish a home in the wilderness where untrammelled the exercise of their faculties might be enjoyed without restraint or persecution. No section of America produced as many great men as the tidewater section of the Potomac and the Rappahannock rivers known as the Northern Neck. Their forbears had left the political and military turmoils of old England to seek the safety and tranquility of the new land and their descendants proved worthy of the matchless energy of the immigrants, but in order that we may get a full understanding of this interesting situation it becomes necessary to go back and rehearse the case in its primal conditions.

The rise of Cromwell at the head of the Roundhead Party in the fourth decade of the Seventeenth Century marks the beginning of the political conflicts in England which started the stampede of her leading citizens to America. The overthrow of Charles I at the Battle of Newby in 1646, his capture and subsequent execution by the Cromwellites in 1649 and the complete annihilation of the royal forces as an organized body under Charles II at the Battle of Worcester in 1653 spelled the doom of monarchical power in England for nearly a decade and forced into exile not only the King but over twenty thousand of his royal followers. In 1640 there were estimated to be fifteen thousand inhabitants in the tidewater section of Virginia located on the peninsula below the Rappahannock River and east of the falls. In 1660 this population had increased to over forty thousand, most of whom had settled in the Northern Neck and no incident in our history so clearly indicates the rapid increase in population as the organization of political institutions in this location.

In 1648 the General Assembly established Northumberland County, which in the beginning comprised the entire area of the Northern Neck from the Chesapeake to the mountains on the west. Three years later 1651 the set apart Lancaster Co. from the territory of Northumberland and in 1656 old Rappahannock County was organized from the territory of Lancaster. This county was abolished in 1692 and Richmond was organized in its place. Stafford was created in 1664 from the western section of Westmoreland and King George was organized in 1720 from the western section of Richmond. Next came the object of our attention today Prince William, which was taken from King George and Stafford in 1730 with its boundaries extending from Deep Creek on the Rappahannock to the head waters of the Choptank, thence by that stream to the Potomac River at west and north of these boundaries comprised the County of Prince William, named for Prince William Duke of Cumberland. It constituted in its early days what now comprises five different counties. Its first court house was established in 1730 on the south side of the Occoquan at what we know as Woodbridge where it remained for only a short while. In 1742 Fairfax was cut off of Prince William at the Occoquan and the Court House of Prince William was transferred to the land of Philemon Waters on Cedar Run, a more central location than that of the Occoquan. It continued in this location until about 1760 when it was transferred to the thriving town of Dumfries and remained there until 1820 when it was again transferred to Brentsville in the upper part of the present County. Finally it was moved to its last and present site in 1898. The subdivisions continued as the population flowed in 1759. Loudoun was cut from Fairfax in 1757 and Fauquier was taken from Fairfax to the District of Columbia. This concludes the subdivisions as they remain today except in 1846 the Federal Government deeded back to Virginia the territory which had been and the Legislature of Virginia erected Alexandria County from the retroceded territory giving Alexandria City a separate and distinct governmental entity.

The first known industry in the vicinity of Dumfries was the erection of a grist mill on the Quantico by one Richard Gibson in 1690. In 1713 Governor Spotswood established a storage house for tobacco, in 1730 a warehouse was established on the land of Brent, this burned and two years later another and larger building was established on the land of Britt. The town of Dumfries was chartered on the 11th of May 1749, (the same day Alexandria another Scotch town received her warrant of incorporation, on sixty acres of the land of John Graham.) The first Trustees of Dumfries consisted in 1749 of John Tayloe, Presley Thornton, John Champ, Richard Henry Lee, Richard Lee, Henry Lee, Henry Peyton, John Moncre, Rev. James Scott, Allan MacCray, John Bayless, Jesse Douglass, Foushee Tebbs, Thomas Lawson and William Carr.

Among the important merchants operating when Dumfries was at its height were Collin Dunlop & Sons, Dunlop Crosse & Co., John Glassford Co., William Cunningham & Co., Henderson McCaul Co., George and Andrew Buchanan & Co., The McDowells Macraes, Mushetts, Hughey and Co. Some of its distinguished citizens and civic leaders were John and William Graham, Colonel William Grayson, Col. Henry Lee, Judge Cuthbert Bullitt, Rev. James Scott, Rev. Mason L. Weems, William Willoughby, Foushee Tebbs, Richard Blackburn and Col. Thomas Blackburn, Jesse Charles and Bertram Ewell, Richard Bland Lee and Allan Macrae. Its known industries and institutions were a branch bank, a public market, a Masonic Lodge (Dumfries No. 50) eleven public warehouses, a warehouse for the storage of grain at Granary Landing a printing office and newspaper (Dumfries Gazette), an agricultural paper at least five hotels or "ordinaries," a theater, a dance hall, a ferry, a canal with tidewater lock, a jockey club and race track, three grist and flour mills, an academy, brick yard, a ship yard at Graham Park, etc."

After he concluded, Hon. Wade Ellis spoke very briefly of the future of Dumfries as well as its past. Mr. Ellis is himself a descendant of the Blackburn family so prominent in the history of Prince William. He has shown himself a worthy son of Prince William and is always a welcome guest.

The speaking over, the band led in a regular military march to the top of the hill just above the Jefferson Davis Highway and on the west side of State Route No. 234, on land donated by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bishop.

Speakers at the monument were Hawes Davies, chairman for the occasion, who presented the monument on behalf of the committee and the organizations they presented, Professor Haydon, who told the story of the Bicentennial committee and the work it had done and Rev. J. Murray Taylor, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, who accepted the monument on behalf of the county. The unveiling was done by two little ladies, Miss Jean Bishop and Miss Jewell Pratt Brawner.

Thus ended a celebration typical in its beautiful simplicity as a Prince William affair and one that goes quietly into the annals of the history of the county as a testimonial of the high respect its citizenry have for its high place in the story of America.
