HOWARD W. SMITH INSISTS THAT LABOR STRIKES MUST CEASE

STICK TOGETHER ADVISES LITTLE

Marine Commander Tells Kiwanis Club Of World Conditions

General McCarthy Little, commandant of Marines at the Quantico Base, was present at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club on Friday as the guest of Mr. E. G. Parrish. Also present as a guest of Mr. Parrish was the military aide of General Little, Lieutenant Woodrum.

General Little may be a fine soldier but he ranks way above that as a fine citizen, and his quiet little chat with the club was resonant with expressions of genuine Democracy.

He urged upon all present that there lies before the people of America a Democracy of the future no less powerful than that of today "if we stick together and see this through now."

Barring that, he advanced the thought that the next generation might merely "be living in an armed camp."

"The danger from within is even greater than that from without," he said. "You gentlemen know about the ravages that foreign insects have done to our crop lands. That sort of thing is bad enough but it makes me feel even more outraged by the expressions of Americans high in our Democracy."

"America does not want an army except when it needs to call for it, and for the first time America has had a God given year in which to prepare to face its greatest danger," was another salient expression of the General.

Great interest was felt in General Little's address, and President Frank compared the remarks of Judge Howard Smith the previous week as coming from the civil side of life.

Apostrophizing the American soldier, General Little declared that he was the finest fighting man in the world when he felt that the "folks at home were behind him." Here the reference was clearly directed against the damage strikes are doing defense work.

General Little, who has been on every continent and in every country of the world, brought out in the short time that he spoke an epitome of the world today. He told of certain conditions in the far east, and answered numerous questions advanced by interested Kiwanians.

The resignation of Secretary Dick, due to continued ill health, was received with a general expression of regret, and hope is held that he may very soon be able to attend again regularly. Mr. Hunton Tiffany was named to fill out his unexpired term.

Also among the honor guests was Mr. Claude W. Staggs, commander of Prince William Post, No. 158, American Legion.

SELECTIVE SERVICE ORDERS

Notice has been received by this Board for 27 men to be delivered for induction to fill Call No. 23. This call, which is for twenty white men and seven colored, is for January 5th and 27th respectively.

The following men have been ordered to report to Dr. Stewart McBryde on Friday, November 28th, at 2:00 p.m.: Clayton Edward Alderman, Occoquan, Va.; Alfred Bolognese, Quantico, Va.; Lawrence Curtis Coleman, Nokesville, Va.

The following men have been ordered to report to Dr. J. McIver Jackson on Saturday, November 29th, at 9:00 a.m.: Henry Clay Gossom, Haymarket, Va.; Thomas Henry Sealeman, Occoquan, Va.; Nathaniel Green Lawson, Manassas, Va.; William Herbert Smith, Manassas, Va.

All previous records for Virginia will be broken when the Selective Service system adds 2,930 selectees to military life during January. Of this total, 1,992 will be white men and 939 negroes. Every local selective service board in the State will contribute to the heavy quota, with the exception of Appomattox, Northumberland; Bland; Buchanan; Pittsylvania, No. 1; Roanoke County No. 1; Buena Vista, Scott and Shenandoah.

The January total is made heavier because of the fact that there will be no inductions from Virginia in the latter part of December, so that as many men as possible may spend Christmas at home.

COUNCIL SPONSOR TO CELEBRATION

"Bill of Rights" Day To Be Observed By Defense Group

The Northern Virginia Regional Defense Council will sponsor a region-wide celebration of the 150th anniversary of the ratification of the Bill of Rights on December 15th, Gardner L. Boothe, Chairman announced this week.

Congress by Joint Resolution requested the President to issue an Executive Order proclaiming December 15th as "Bill of Rights Day," and the Governor has directed regional councils to inaugurate appropriate ceremonies celebrating the ratification of the historic document.

Mr. Boothe announced that Judge Walter T. McCarthy had accepted the chairmanship of the celebration for the Arlington-Fairfax-Alexandria area and the council would arrange appropriate ceremonies in the other counties of the Northern Virginia Region.

In announcing Judge McCarthy's appointment, Mr. Boothe said: "It is very fitting that Virginia, and especially this section of the State should celebrate the ratification of the Bill of Rights. The Virginia Bill of Rights was incorporated almost in its entirety as a part of the Federal Constitution and may very properly be termed the American Magna Charta. It was through the ratification by Virginia that the Bill of Rights became a part of the constitution, and its author George Mason, lived, died and is buried at Gunston Hall, in Fairfax County."

Mr. Boothe expressed the hope that all civic and patriotic organizations would take part in the ceremonies attendant upon the birthday of the historic document.

Judge McCarthy will announce the personnel of his committee in a few days, and he is expected to ask all veterans organizations, bar associations, and civic and governing bodies of the Region to participate in the ceremonies.

Among the features being considered is the placing of a wreath on the tomb of Mason, at Gunston Hall, and a mass meeting in one of the large high school buildings in the nearby metropolitan area of Virginia.

Governor James H. Price has expressed an interest in the northern Virginia celebration and is lending the aid of his office and the State Council to the regional councils' celebration committee.

It is expected that the Governor will also issue a proclamation after the president has issued one designating "Bill of Rights Day."

CIVILIAN DEFENSE CLASSES

Civilian Defense classes in Nutrition will begin on December 2nd at 7:30 p.m., in the Home Ec. cottage. Miss Elizabeth Trueheart will conduct the classes. One class a week for ten (10) weeks will complete the course. Certificates will be awarded and those completing the course will be eligible to take the Canteen course which will be given in the spring.

GIVE HIM A CHANCE

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT URGES AID FOR T. B. SEAL CAMPAIGN

President Roosevelt today endorsed the annual Christmas Seal Campaign of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association as a vital part of national health. The campaign, which opened yesterday, was termed by President Roosevelt "a valuable and far-reaching tradition" in the anti-tuberculosis fight.

The President's endorsement read: "With the approach of the Christmas Season, my mind turns to one of our most valuable and far-reaching traditions, the Christmas Seal which supports the fight against tuberculosis. For 35 years the appearance of the small tuberculosis Seal on the flood of holiday mail has proved that we Americans are sincerely trying to protect our own against an insidious, communicable disease."

"We have full confidence in the Christmas Seal, a confidence deeply rooted in the victories which have been won over the disease. But the fight against tuberculosis is not yet won. We must continue to give our full support to the National Tuberculosis Association and its 1,700 affiliated organizations throughout the country. We must help overcome a disease that still kills more persons between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other cause of death."

"The anti-tuberculosis campaign has long been a vital part of the foundation of the structure of our country because health is the first requisite of a nation as well as of an individual. This year, above all years, we must, and am sure we will, faithfully observe one of our oldest, most worthy American customs—giving health to ourselves and to others through Christmas Seals."

WILL DEBATE LABOR SITUATION

This evening at 9:15, Hon. Howard W. Smith will speak over the blue network system on the present strike situation. Appearing on the same program will be officials of the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O.

BAD FOREST FIRE SITUATION

Rain of a substantial amount relieved the situation in this area after several hundred acres of timberland have been burned over in this county despite the heroic efforts of Chief Warden J. M. Russell, who has had the finest sort of cooperation from the chief Warden Botts of Stafford and also District Forester, Berlin Eye. The help from Fauquier has been greatly appreciated, too.

Mr. Botts has had plenty of trouble in his own county, much of it parallel with what has been going on here.

In connection with this, Mr. Russell has made the following statement, using also the subsequent quoted section of the code.

"Leaving open-air fires without extinguishing them; how punished.—Whoever shall build a fire in the open air, or use a fire built by another in the open air within one hundred and fifty feet of any woodland, brushland or field containing dry grass or other inflammable material, shall, before leaving such fire untended, totally extinguish."

Since the fire season opened, we have had from 3 to 4 fires per day and out of this number everyone has been due to hunting except for one.

For one minute put yourself in the place of the land owner. If practically all your income should be taken from you, how would you feel? Most timber owners rely on this as their income.

Tickets will be given as usual for money paid in trade or on account. These tickets will be gathered by a representative of the Chamber of Commerce and retained until the time of drawing which will be announced later in the JOURNAL.

Secretary Owens, of the County Chamber of Commerce, is managing the affair, and any specific information not covered by articles published in the Journal may be gotten from him.

The campaign starts begins on December first and runs through Christmas Eve. The drawing will not be until after Christmas.

MURDER YET UNSOLVED

The ax murder of Lester Gallighugh, formerly of Wolfstown, Madison County, who was killed about the middle of the month, and his body left in the woods along Bull Run, north of Manassas, is still unsolved, although Sheriff Kerlin is holding what he believes to be a material witness in the affair.

The prisoner, one of the dead man's children, has refused to do much talking up to the present time but police are looking for her to crack up most any time and give them information thought to be very valuable.

Gallighugh came here some months ago, and got work at a higher wage level at laboring work in Arlington County.

COL. FARR ILL

As we go to press we learn that Col. R. R. Farr, Delegate Elect to the General Assembly of Virginia from Fairfax, is seriously ill.

Opposes War Measures While Strikes Sabotage Defense

(From the Congressional Record) MR. SMITH of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, in the past I have supported every foreign policy of this administration, without exception. I have voted for every appropriation for the defense program. I have supported all legislation in furtherance of that effort, without exception.

On October 9 the President sent a message to Congress asking specifically for the repeal of that provision of the Neutrality Act which prohibited the arming of merchant vessels plying their lawful trade in neutral ports and on the high seas. I supported that measure. We were given to understand that was what was needed and desired at this time. The bill comes back to us from the Senate in the form of what is, in effect, a declaration of war. It comes as a vastly different proposal and comes to us under the parliamentary situation that we are permitted no opportunity for amendment or for reservation. It authorizes not only the arming of our merchant vessels for their self-protection but authorizes their entrance into the belligerent ports of the world. If we sent those merchant vessels into belligerent ports, the necessary implication follows that we will protect them in those ports with the American Navy.

And so we meet today the stark proposal to enter an undeclared naval warfare with the Axis Powers—a warfare for which we are ill-equipped, ill-trained, and ill-prepared.

I cannot find it within my conscience to take that step in our present state of domestic turmoil and uncertainty. For my part, I insist that we should first be prepared. The vital part of that preparation is that we shall learn to govern ourselves and the unruly elements within our midst before we undertake by physical combat to settle the complex affairs of a troubled world. I hope that the House will today vote down this rule that gives you no choice except to concur supinely in the Senate amendment. If the rule is voted down, the bill can go to committee of conference between the Senate and House for further consideration. I, for one, am unwilling to vote to plunge this country into the horrors and uncertainties of war until we have first set our house in order, and quelled the labor insurrection, with its violence and bloodshed, that is occurring daily in our midst, or until the President and his administration is ready to take a firm stand in behalf of the great masses of American people and recommend measures that will put a stop to the labor dictatorship that has been sabotaging our defense effort from the moment of its inception.

We have all watched—some with alarm, others with complacency—while our country has gradually drifted, step by step, into what is now a full-fledged labor government, controlled not by the masses of the workers of America, not by the Constitution and laws of the United States, not by the duly elected representatives of the people, but by a few willful, power-driven labor leaders, who seek first their own autocratic control over our destinies.

We have waited for more than a year to see if these leaders of organized labor could not be brought to a sense of their responsibilities through appeal to their supposed patriotism. It is obvious now that the situation cannot be controlled by high-sounding phrases or patriotic appeals, no matter how humble. What the American people are praying for today is a firm stand and stern action by the President of the United States. It is not enough to appeal to the patriotism of those who know not the meaning of the word. We must have a show-down. We must learn once and for all whether this Government is run by the duly elected representatives of the American people or by a few self-willed labor leaders.

The situation has gone from bad to worse, day by day, until now we look with resignation, if not complacency, upon audacities and outrages that a year ago would have stirred the American people to irresistible anger.

For more than a year, legislation has been pending before three committees of the House, any one of which could have acted and should have acted. Those bills have accumulated dust in the pigeon-holes of committees while the situation has grown progressively worse until it has now become intolerable. And yet,

IN MEMORIAM

As the day of October 17, 1941 died and its sun had sunk to rest the tired and worn out body of Mrs. Llera Ada McLearen yielded up her spirit and her soul went home to God at the age of 56 yrs. 1 day.

For a number of years she was an active member of the Presbyterian Church and was active until her health began failing.

She was the daughter of Mrs. Mary Edna and Wm. Allen Bodine of Nokesville, Prince William Co., Virginia. She was born October 16, 1885, married A. Owen McLearen, Catlett,
Virginia on October 15, 1910.

She was an untiring worker and enjoyed having and arranging articles for the convenience of her family life. Never was she too busy to entertain a friend or lend a hand in time of sickness or distress. She is being missed as much by her close friends by as her beloved family.

She was a great sufferer but bore her suffering, as all Christians do, with patience. She was a good patient.
The husband survives her and the following devoted children, Ray, manager of the Nokesville Supply
Co., Lorena, clerk at the N. Y. A.
Vocational School, Manassas Va.,
Celestine a student in Nokesville
High School and Sidney a mechanic
at the Naval Air Base, Norfolk, Va.,
One sister, Mrs. Mary Wood of Washington, D. C., and two brothers, Wm.
A. Bodine, Gainesville, Va., and De Witt, Maryland.

The funeral services were conducted at Greenwich Presbyterian Church at 2:00 p. m. October 19 by the Rev. Smythe of Warrenton, Va., assisted by Rev. Mitchell of Nokesville, Va.

She was interred at Bradley by the side of her father and mother. The music was furnished by a special group directed by Miss Lois Sloop and accompanied by Mrs. Dennis Baker.

The large number of friends who attended her funeral and the many beautiful floral designs all attested the love and esteem in which she was held.

"SHE"
—Henry Rider Haggard

Excitement, humor, adventure and horror are all packed into this unusual story. Mr. Haggard keeps the reader interested in the tale by the extraordinary plot. He presents to us a new and different Africa.

The book, of course, is centered around She, who is an odd but interesting character. Her proper name was Ayesha. Because of her unusual powers, the natives whom she ruled by fear, called her She-Who-Must-Be-Obedied. This form was later condensed to "She". In the imagination of the author, Ayesha was so beautiful that he could not describe her.

She was born in the time of the ancient Egyptians, but when a young girl, she found out the secret of living for centuries. Shortly after this,
in a jealous fit, she killed her lover.
Ayesha was so grieved over this that she went into seclusion in South Africa. Here, ruling the natives, she waited for centuries for her lover to be born again. All this time she wore a veil over her face which was so beautiful that you could not look upon it.

Leo, a young Englishman, and his guardian who tells the story, ventured into the perils of Africa in order to find this woman who lived for centuries.

While in Africa, Leo and his guardian have many exciting adventures.
Ship wreck, the "hot-potting" of their servant, and Leo's illness, which was cured in the nick of time by She, are included in their adventures.

It was because of She's love for Leo,
that he and his guardian escaped
death by the natives.

Ayesha was ready to give Leo and his guardian the gift of living for centuries when she died a most hideous death.

Leo and his guardian finally escaped from this fantastic place and went back to England.

This book may be borrowed from the Ruffner-Carnegie Library.

CATHARPIN

Mr. John Rosenberger of Winchester, Va., the Lay Leader of the Virginia Conference, filled the pulpits at Sudley and Fairview Churches last Sunday and delighted his audiences with his excellent talks, as well as the splendid manner in which he presented the many duties and opportunities which confront every layman of every church, of every denomination. Mr. Rosenberger is a prosperous lumberman of Winchester, and understands life from every point of view. He was a former classmate of Dr. E. C. Beery and Rev. C. L. Beard, both of whom are well known in this section. Mr. Rosenberger left 3 vital instructions to his hearers and all those who failed to attend church on Sunday really missed a treat. Many who live at a great distance saw the announcement in the Manassas Journal and came to Fairview for the afternoon service. Thus, indeed, is the Manassas Journal doing a great work.

Some of our soldier boys in camp write of how much they enjoy getting the Journal which gives the news from our county.

Rev. Clark H. Wood returned Monday from Clifton Forge where he and Rev. W. O. Luttrell of Manassas have been assisting Dr. Wolfe in a revival service.

We deeply regret to announce to our readers that Miss Sallie Brawner passed away at home early Monday morning, November 24. An obituary will be given next week.

Among the guests at the L. J. Pattie home Sunday were Mr. John Rosenberger of Winchester, Miss Gladys Kennedy of Mississippi, Miss Harriett Pattie of Washington, Messrs. Jett and John Pattie, and John Franklin Jr. of Triangle; Miss Betty Sterner and Robert Sterner of Arlington; Private Charles J. Sterner, Jr. of the U. S. M. C.

Mr. D. Hunter Smiley of Washington visited his farm here Sunday. Miss Betty Brower, who is attending school in Roanoke, spent the Thanksgiving holiday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Will Brower.

Mrs. J. Worthington Alvey and her son, Hampton, motored to Lynchburg Thursday morning where they attended the football game, and were accompanied home by Cadet J. Worthington Alvey, Jr. who spent the week-end.

Mr. Gordon Pattie returned home Sunday evening after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Sterner Sr., and family in Arlington.

Mrs. A. W. Smith is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Carter in Washington. Mrs. William Partlow and little son, Billy, are spending this week with her father, Mr. A. W. Smith. Mrs. Roberta Caton spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Caton.

Mrs. Sara Caton returned Sunday after an enjoyable stay with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Collins at their home near Annandale.

Mrs. Lelia Akers and Mrs. Augusta Webb visited Mr. and Mrs. Wade Akers in Arlington and Dr. Whittington in Washington last Wednesday.

Miss Muriel Ellison of Washington visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Ellison, Friday, and spent the week-end with friends in New York City.

SPIRIT OF THANKSGIVING IS OBJECT EASILY CAPTURED BY CAMP LEE SOLDIERS

The spirit of Thanksgiving was easily captured by the 22,000 Camp Lee soldiers in a well-planned campaign on "Turkey Day." Mountains of turkey, potatoes, vegetables, pie, and delicacies were leveled by the furious assaults of the khaki-clad shock troops armed with knife, fork, and spoon.

The Thanksgiving menu provided one pound of turkey per man, and 27 different items are listed for the noon dinner. The roster of choice edibles starts with celery and olives, shrimp cocktail, and soup, goes through turkey, potatoes, and vegetables, and ends with pumpkin pie, mince pie, and coffee. Side items are fruit, mixed nuts and mints, and hard candy.

More than 2,000 turkeys, each of the size which would be consumed by a family of five, were sent to Camp Lee. The ingenuity of soldiers of individual companies was shown by a variety of interior trimmings for the feast.

About 4,000 soldiers left Camp Lee on Thanksgiving holiday passes. Of his number, 2,500 went by rail and bus and the remainder by car. While the bulk of the travel was northbound, a great many soldiers left for destinations in North Carolina, Tennessee, and Kentucky. The railroads provided extra cars, and more than 15 special buses were placed in service.

The Manassas Journal

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove "wonderful training" to them in "war time." Thou shalt not avenge, nor bear any grudge against the children of thy people, but shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.—Lev. 19:18.

JUDGE SMITH SPEAKS

This week we print in full one of the finest public statements which has been made in our generation concerning the national welfare.

Its breadth of viewpoint, conservatism, fairness to all, and its unquestioned soundness of argument, places it among the truly great Congressional speeches.

Judge Smith does not talk often, nor does he waste many words when he takes the floor. But when he does rise, the nation listens. And he arises this time to bring a message which is most timely, and which, if heeded, will avert the certain disaster that is rushing full speed upon us.

Without attempting to paraphrase or to sum up what the Honorable Howard W. Smith has said, we present the message to our readers in full; and we urge that it be thoughtfully read.

Few men are rendering more patriotic service in Congress than Representative Smith. And few are receiving greater abuse at the hands of a special labor group which is gradually placing their affairs outside and above the law of the land, and who, when the final instructions are given, are ready, and apparently willing, to destroy the national security.

We beg those who admire Judge's Smith's patriotism and statesmanship not to forget that quizzings are constantly at work to undermine his prestige at home; for they realize that his rising power comes through the will, the determination and the patriotism of the Eighth Virginia District which he so ably represents.

YOUTH PARTY

The Young People will hold their Youth Party Saturday night, November, 29th at 7:30 P. M. It will be held in the Gainesville District School Auditorium.

THANKSGIVING

Those who have the greatest cause for thanksgiving are the folks who have developed the habit of depositing regularly in their bank and carrying all financial transactions through orderly banking procedure.

The patrons of their friendly and safe bank are the happiest citizens of the community because they have something saved to provide for their loved ones in the days to come.

How a Checking Account can help you save on your Income Tax

THE new Federal income tax rates are much higher than ever before. You will want to take every legal deduction you can, to keep your tax down. The law allows you to deduct various taxes you pay such as on real estate, interest on mortgages and personal debts, auto registration, contributions to charity and many other items.

At tax time it is hard to remember these things. That's where a checking account proves very valuable. Your stubs and cancelled checks provide a permanent record of each payment you make—thus helping you figure your tax and providing proof of payment should the need for it arise.

EIGHTH DISTRICT LEGION CONFERENCE MEETS AT HERNDON

Herndon Post No. 91, The American Legion, was host to the Eighth District Conference which was attended by 89 representatives from the various Posts of the Eighth District of Virginia. John E. Burgett delivered the address of welcome. Eighth District Commander E. E. Payne of Lorton presided over the conference. Short and impressive talks on membership and National Defense were made by John Galt, Eighth District Vice-Commander of Falls Church; F. C. Knight, Past Department Commander of Alexandria; W. Glenn Elliott, State Adjutant of Richmond and others.

The spotlight of the conference was the address of Fred E. Martin, State Commander of Norfolk who spoke on National Defense and outlined what the Legion has done and is doing. From indications, the membership of the Eighth District will far exceed that of previous years. The meeting was a very spirited and well attended one.

Herndon Post for its outstanding community and Americanism work from August 14th, 1940 to August 31st, 1941, was presented with a National Citation for its outstanding accomplishments in the short time the Post has been organized. The presentation was made by W. Glenn Elliott, State Adjutant on behalf of National Organization.

FUNDS ADVANCED FOR FOOD PRODUCTION

Funds amounting to over $1,000,000 to produce "food for freedom" have already been advanced to farmers by Production Credit Association in the Second Farm Credit district which includes Virginia.

Each month since July has seen the amounts larger than the preceding month until the total at the end of October was $1,107,975.65.

Virginia members of Production Credit Association in Fauquier, Loudoun, Prince William, Rappahannock, Stafford, Spotsylvania, Orange, Madison, Culpeper, Fairfax, and Greene counties used $72,120.00 of the Virginia total.

Although feed supplies are scarce in many sections as a result of dry weather last summer, the major portion of the production credit went to buy equipment or additional animals including dairy cows and poultry.

Even so, these figures represent only a little over eight per cent of the total funds advanced this year by the Associations to their 16,000 members in Pennsylvania, Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia, Delaware and Puerto Rico.

The balance was used in the normal operation of the farms to enable the purchasers of supplies and equipment to stay on a "cash basis" although not necessarily to produce additional food supplies.

Help the Red Cross

Manassas, Virginia
November 26, 1941

Dear Editor:

After reading the article in your issue of November 20, 1941 by Fire Warden J. M. Russell, relative to fires started by hunters and I am sorry to have to admit that he is correct in his analysis of the situation as it now exists in most localities.

The worst evil affecting our game today is burning over the fields and woodland. I have found that most fires started is caused by carelessness or cussedness is the reason why there are so many fires in hunting season and that the unusually dry season is upon us in which high winds and an accumulation of dry litter on the floor of the woods make fires extra destructive.

We have seen and helped to control a good many forest fires at work. There is something terrifying about the quick advance blown forward in sheets by strong winds. It ignites old stumps and logs and throws out sparks and coals well in advance of itself. The only thing to do was to run and this a few rabbits and squirrels were quick to do.

These fires leave a black and unsightly blanket where a few minutes before had been wonders of fall.

All men are not good citizens, but they can vote. All hunters are not good sportsman and they should be. One tree will furnish wood for one million matches. One match can destroy one million trees. Think this over, Mr. Sportsman.

YELLOW JACKETS CLOSE
SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The Yellow Jackets of Manassas High School have just closed their most successful football season in winning two games while losing five.

The Saundersmen hit the win column in downing Marshall 63-6 in Marshall two weeks ago and continued the same fine playing in winning from Berryville High 7-6 on Thanksgiving Day.

With only three lettermen back from last year squad, the Yellow Jackets have played good football in each game played as they have scored in each encounter with the exception of the Warrenton game. The score in all games have been close and the local gridders have lost two of these games due to inexperience.

The Yellow Jackets played a fine brand of ball in defeating Berryville High School with H. Breen scoring the touch down and then continuing to kick the extra point from placement to bring victory for Manassas. J. Johnson, Breeden, C. Jasper, and a host of others were standouts of the game along with Breen.

The seniors who were playing their last game for Manassas were: Captain Parrish, L. Breeden, J. Johnson, G. Oleyar, and F. Beeton.

Coach Saunders stated that he was mighty proud of his boys for the fine spirit, grit, sportsmanship, and team work that the boys have given him this past season. Coach also stated that he will miss the boys who graduate in June, but is confident of having even a better team next year.

WHEN MOTHER GETS A LETTER

When mother gets a letter
Then her eyes begin to twinkle
And the joy at hearing from him
Seems to banish every wrinkle.
I think if he could see her
As she hurries for her glasses
There would never be a morning
When the gray-clad postman passes
And I'm sure if he could hear her as
She hums some cheerful ditty
She would never be forgotten by
The boy who's in the army

It's no use to sit and tell her
Not to worry or be fearful;
When a mother's heart is lonely,
Then a mother's eyes are tearful.
And a mother's mind is troubled
And she's constantly referring
To the dangers at the city
And the accidents occurring.
But the nights I find her smiling
And she says she's feeling better
And she laughs across the tea-cups
Then I know she's had a letter.
From the pockets at her apron.
She pulls out his written pages
Finding joy and satisfaction
And exultantly she tells me
That he's had a raise in wages.
Then she chuckles at his humor.
And the story of his labors
And I know beyond a question that She's read it to the neighbors;
And we sit and talk it over
Proud as lovers newly smitten
Finding joy and satisfaction
In each line ever boy has written
When mother's had a letter
Then she bears and loves that giver
And the thousand things she's dreading

Through the silence seem to leave her
Then I wish unto her chuckles
Some glad morning he could listen
Or could see her smile returning
And her eyes begin to glisten
Could he know the joy it gives her
Then he never would forget her
And she'd never love to wonder
Why she doesn't get a letter.

DR. JEKYLL A BRILLIANT
DRAMA

Stars, thrills, drama, all combine to make "Dr. Jeckyll and Mr. Hyde" at the Pitts Theatre one of the season's most exciting films. Spencer Tracy lays the dual title character, Ingrid Bergman is seen for the first time as a "bad girl," and Lana Turner is cast as Tracy's fiancée.

It is Tracy's delineation of the dual personality of the good Dr. Jeckyll and the evil Mr. Hyde which gain proves his artistry. He had no need of superfluous horror make-up or Mr. Hyde. His change of facial expression achieved even more than any make-up alone could have done.

Miss Turner definitely steps into the category of dramatic actresses as Beatrix Emory. She injects a piquant flavor to the role of the Victorian girl who is willing to defy convention for the love of her sweetheart and more than justifies her recent elevation to stardom.

APPLES FOR DAIRY COWS
TO MEET FOOD SHORTAGE

Every Virginia dairyman knows what the drought has done to feed supplies. In some localities there is enough hay and silage to make up for loss of pasture, but some areas were hit by earlier dry spells and dairy feeds of all kind are short.

The apple harvest is on, and there will be the usual number of culls, pams from cider mills, and quantities of drops.

R. C. Connelly, dairy husbandman, Virginia Agricultural Extension Division, says that cull apples and pams may be used to supplement hay and silage. Experiments at VPI show that a pound of dry matter from apples is worth slightly more than a pound from timothy hay and slightly less than a pound from corn silage. In feeding value, a ton of corn silage is worth about twice as much as two tons of apples.

Chopped apples have the additional advantage of making the dairy ration more succulent and palatable. The apples should always be sliced or chopped in a root chopper.

Apple pomace may be fed fresh, or put in the silo and fed later as silage, or dried and used with the grain mix. Dried pomace may also be soaked in 2 1-2 times its weight of water for more palatable feeding. Though apple pomace contains only about a third as much digestible protein as corn silage and is slightly lower in total digestible nutrients, it is a good substitute for corn silage. Connelly says it is almost equal to corn silage in value per ton.

To make up for the low protein content of apple pomace it should be fed along with good quality legume hay (alfalfa, clover, lespedeza, soybean, etc.), which is relatively high in protein. If only grass hay and fodder are available, then a grain concentrate mixture containing about 24 percent crude protein must be used.

With the dairy feed situation as critical as it is in some sections, Connelly hopes that cull apples and pomace may be secured at prices that will justify their use. Demands for fluid milk are heavy and will likely continue so; therefore, it is highly important that high levels of milk production be maintained. But this will be hard to do, Connelly says, unless palatable and nutritious rations can be supplied. Apples can turn the trick.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Affas Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 30.

The Golden Text will be "Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel; Let not your prophets, and your diviners, that be in the midst of you, deceive you. For they prophesy falsely unto you in my name: I have not sent them saith the Lord" (Jer. 29:8,9).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Animal magnetism has no scientific foundation, for God governs all that is real, harmonious, and eternal, and His power is neither animal nor human" (p. 102).

SPECIAL NOTICE

Everything entering into the cost of production of our paper has been increased from 15 percent to 90 percent, and yet we have not increased the price of our subscriptions by one cent.

In return we are only asking for a little very simple cooperation, in lieu of which a reasonable cost charge must be added.

On and after January 1, 1942 any subscription a year old at the time it is paid, will have a charge of twenty-five cents added at the time of payment. If less is paid, a deduction will be made from the length of the renewal then being paid.

If the subscription is more than a year old, a larger fee will be added.

This is being done not only to stabilize our lists, but to save bookkeeping which is an important item in our circulation work, to say nothing of the postage involved. If you are not sure of the date on your label, write in or come by the office.

The Journal exists for the good of the community and its general betterment, and it is with this in view that we hope for a greater degree of understanding with our reader-family in the future. 30-1f.

DESCRIBES TRIP OUT
WEST LAST SUMMER

Well the wonderful trip is over and I must say we had a lovely time and everyone was smiling when we arrived at Lottia's. We only had one blow out and we picked up a ten penny nail at the Indian Reservation; only for that it was perfect. We covered almost 4000 miles. We cut out from the direct route to take in the Carlsbad Caverns, Painted Desert, Petrified Forest, Grand Canyon and Boulder Dam. They were worth the difference in mileage.

I did not realize what a wonderful country we have in the U. S. A. The Luray Caverns are not to be compared with the Carlsbad Cave. We walked 6 1-2 miles through the Cave and dined 826 feet below the surface; the hall was 600 feet long, 350 feet wide and 300 feet from floor to ceiling. The cost of the dinner was 50c each. I never saw so much beauty anywhere in my life. We came out by the elevator.

Sadye and I saw the bats come out of the cave—there were six million in about four hours. They return each morning before sunrise and leave each evening at sunset from April until October. During hibernation they hang on by one foot during that period of time. They have their young like a cat and the young bat hangs to its mother's side until the mother gets tired of him and kicks him off. As the ranger explained, like all mother's do.

The Boulder Dam is also a wonderful piece of work, one intake water pipe is so large two freight trains could pass each other going in opposite directions; also each rivet used in that pipe cost 8 cts. each. This is a wonderful world of ours, no wonder Hitler would like to have it.

The desert was not nearly as bad as some portions of Oklahoma—so do not dread the desert.

I am feeling fine and with best wishes to you, I am,

Sincerely,

JAMES BIRKETT.

LOVE AND LAUGHTER

HIGHLIGHT "OUR WIFE"

Every season, Columbia studios pop up with the best comedy of the year, a tradition which dates back to such memorable hits as "The Awful Truth" and "It Happened One Night," and carries through "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "This Thing Called Love," etc. and etc. This season, "Our Wife" provides the year's finest comedy film fare, according to Hollywood report, with Melvyn Douglas, Ruth Hussey and Ellen Drew contributing love-and-laugh performances greater than anything they have every done.

Opening Thursday and Friday, November twenty and twenty-one at the Pitts Theatre, "Our Wife" was produced and directed by John M. Stahl. From P. J. Wolfson's adaptation of the Broadway hit. Said to be a raucy, rowdy, rollicking romance, an effervescent and exciting triangle that sends Douglas running in circles. "Our Wife" is concerned as much with characterization as it is with plot, as much with scintillant dialogue as it is with gay and laugh-invoking situations.

Essentially, "Our Wife" is the story of a band leader, a trumpeter, down in his luck. Just when the divorce action undertaken by his gold-digging wife is about to become final, he meets a girl who inspires him to more serious work. Hearing of his success, the wife attempts to win him back.

Essentially, "Our Wife" is the story of a battle royal between two women for one bewildered man. One woman uses her head; the other, her eyes, arms and lips. And when one eye-ful loses her head she finds a husband; when the armful loses her husband, she finds a fight on her hands!

Within the framework of these divergent and dramatic narrative outlines, producer-director John M. Stahl has erected a comedy that towers high above anything in recent months, so far as fully-rounded entertainment is concerned. Swift, suspenseful, "Our Wife" sparkles with honest humor, a humor both sophisticated and slapstick.

The unqualified praise accorded the film, as a whole, has been no less enthusiastic in the matter of its principals. His record of success virtually unequalled in Hollywood, Douglas nevertheless is said to manage to contribute to "Our Wife" a performance even greater than anything he has ever given a previous role. Miss Hussey is said to out-shine her characterizations in "The Philadelphia Story," "Susan and God" and "Flight Command," to name but a few of her recent triumphant appearances, and to prove again her right to the stardom she is so splendidly winning. As "Our Wife," Miss Drew is said to interpret her role so cleverly that the sweet, cuddly kitten she portrays in early sequences changes into a scratching tigress with subtle, smooth ease.

GUNS OF MERCHANTMEN

HOLD OFF SUBMARINES

The armed merchant ship, venturing danger-laden waters with its cargoes, is like the old stagecoach of frontier days. Passing through hostile country, the stagecoach required a guard. The driver was alert for ambush, and tensed to whip his horses to top-speed flight when attack came. How freighters are being armed to hold off submarines and their method of defense against raiders is described in an illustrated feature story appearing next Sunday in the Washington Sunday Star.

SMITH INSISTS STRIKES CEASE

no word has come from the White House to Congress suggesting remedial measures.

Gradually, day by day, we have seen the inalienable and constitutional rights of American citizens to earn their livelihood unmolested, whittled away until today free born American citizens presumably living under the protection of our Constitution and Bill of Rights, are told that they cannot work on Government projects unless they pay tribute to the overlords of labor. In the recent Currier case, there was brought to light the confidential agreement entered into by the Office of Production Management and the American Federation of Labor, which, in effect, denied to American workers in the construction industry the right to work unless they paid tribute to a particular union, namely, the American Federation of Labor, a contract made in direct violation of the provision of the National Labor Relations Act. And yet, to this moment there has come from this administration neither repudiation nor reproach for this monstrosity imposed upon the American people by Sidney Hillman, notwithstanding the fact that the refusal in the Currier case to award the contract to the low bidder meant a loss to the Treasury of the United States of between one-quarter and a half million dollars as a tribute to labor dictatorship.

When that incident was disclosed, I demanded on the floor of the House that those concerned in this fraud upon the American people be indicted for their conspiracy. I repeat that demand today, hoping now, as I hoped then, that it will not fall upon deaf ears.

But what was the alleged justification for that fraud upon the American taxpayer and the American workingman? It was a clause in that confidential agreement by which the American Federation of Labor agreed that there should be no strikes in the construction industry "for any cause." And what do we see today? A strike on naval projects on the West Coast by the American Federation of Labor construction unions that has halted work on our vital naval program; a strike so unjustified, so violent, and so destructive of our preparedness effort that the United States Navy has been compelled to intervene through the armed forces of the United States. So outrageous has been the conduct in this instance, that on yesterday Admiral Blakely, in charge of the project, boldly and truthfully called it a revolt against the Government.

You may go back over the history of these strikes in defense industries for the past year and you will find two significant and ominous circumstances connected with them. First, they have struck at the very vitals of our defense program. They have struck at our shipbuilding, at our airplane factories, at our automobile industry, at our steel industry and our coal-mining industry. The American people had best face the facts. Should your labor dictators, at any moment, take the whimsical fancy to tie up simultaneously, as they can under present conditions, these five vital industries, the United States would be as helpless as the people of Poland, France, Holland, and Belgium when the Hitler war machine rolled over their defenseless countries.

Secondly, in almost every instance, the demand has been for a closed or union shop, which, in simple terms destroys the constitutional right of the American workingman to work without paying tribute to a labor union. The National Labor Relations Act specifically prohibits the closed shop except where it is voluntarily agreed to. It is prohibited by law because we know that the right to work and earn a living is the most vital right of free-born American citizens. Without work, man cannot earn; without earning, he cannot buy food, and without food he cannot live. And so, this demand for the closed shop, in its ultimate analysis, destroys his very right of existence. No more absurd and outrageous proposal can be conceived of, and yet, we sit idly by, day by day, with our eyes open and see this yoke being forced upon the unwilling necks of the American workers.

We can no longer temporize with this situation. Patriotic appeals and humble petitions have been alike futile to halt the ravages of this Frankenstein which we have built through unjust and one-sided laws, patently and admittedly, designed to impose upon an unwilling public the labor dictatorship which now threatens to destroy us.

I have mentioned the grip now held upon the vital shipbuilding, automobile, aircraft, steel, and coal industry.

Up to now, that has never been dominated and controlled by the barons of labor, but it is not to be overlooked in this hour of the Nation's peril. The saboteurs of the Nation's defense have not overlooked this most vital of all our defense needs, and you have doubtless seen in recent issue in the press the announcement of the C. I. O. that it now proposes to take over the oil industry. It has set up a fund and an organization to bring this most vital of all our defense industries within its power and domination; and it has selected, as the dictator in this field, the disgruntled and discredited former member of the National Labor Relations Board, Edwin S. Smith, distinguished for his radical proclivities and his consistent record for persecution of American industry while a member of the Labor Board.

But are these labor dictators satisfied with their sabotaging of their defense effort at home? No. Recent dispatches show that they are preparing to launch into the international field to halt the production of implements in foreign countries, whose defense the President has proclaimed to be vital to the defense of the United States. I refer to the recent announcement of R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, C. I. O., who blandly announces that he has authorized an embargo on automobile parts going from the Ford factory in Michigan to the Ford Co. of Canada. With the cunning inherent in his kind, he realizes that, if he can stop the shipment of the needed part from the American to the Canadian factory, he can shut down the manufacture in Canada of this vital equipment.

We must no longer depend upon patriotic speeches and humble appeals to the overlords of labor. The time for a show-down is long overdue. Let us meet the issue before it is too late. Before we get into this war, let us know whether our country is being run under the Constitution or under the selfish dictatorship of the Lewises the Hillmans, the Tobins, the Thomases, and the hordes of selfish labor leaders exploiting the honest American workingman for their own aggrandizement.

I have reluctantly reached the parting of the ways. I can take no further steps to war, I can no further imperial the destinies of our drafted Army and our splendid Navy until the President is moved to assert and protect the right of American citizens to work under the Constitution instead of under the dictatorship of our labor lords.

I take this stand after long consideration, knowing full well its implications and possible consequences to me, but it is time for the representatives of the people to speak out and to refuse to undertake to settle the affairs of a troubled world while we are still unable to govern ourselves.

When we cannot protect the constitutional right of our citizens to work or protect them from violence, assault, and murder, in their attempt to exercise that right, I am unwilling to further appease these lions of labor by continuing to throw them the tattered remnants of the American Constitution and the Bill of Rights at the expense of the freedom and independence of our citizens.

ADMIRAL SIMONS FAVORS LINKING BAY COMMUNITIES

Rear Admiral Manley H. Simons, USN, Commandant of the Fifth Naval District, stated today that a closer physical linking of the communities in the Hampton Roads area is an urgent defense necessity.

The City of Norfolk, site of the Naval Operating Base, is practically an island, Admiral Simons pointed out, and the present routes of ingress and egress are by no means adequate for the constantly increasing load imposed by the many defense activities of the area. Communications between the Naval Base and the Navy Yard at Portsmouth are particularly vital, the Admiral said, and he emphasized that the present ferry and roundabout bridge routes connecting the two Navy establishments are far from satisfactory.

Tunnels, additional bridges, or a combination of both, are the solution to the current congested traffic situation, according to Admiral Simons. He did not specify which means would be most desirable for the linking of Norfolk and Portsmouth, but in the past the Navy has always opposed the spanning of the Elizabeth River below the Navy Yard. The increasing congestion of harbor and the growing possibility of war make it most unlikely that any plan to bridge the river now could get the Navy's assent. Navy men have no objection, however, to tunnels under the river, provided they do not interfere with ship movements or anchorage.

Better communication routes between Norfolk and Berkley, Portsmouth and Berkley, and between Norfolk and Old Point are likewise of the greatest importance for defense, Admiral Simons said.

The link between Willoughby Spit and Old Point would solve one of the area's most serious transportation problems, he added. Preliminary traffic surveys indicate that tolls would easily pay for a tunnel between those points.

Another factor dictating haste in the linking of Norfolk with surrounding cities is the question of evacuation of the civil population in time of war. The low level of the City is not favorable to the construction of underground bomb shelters, and if Norfolk is to avoid being caught unprepared against bombing in the event of war, the logical first step would be the improvement of the City's currently inadequate communications with the main land.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad and loving memory of our darling baby Boy Stanley Roy Carter who left us three years ago, Nov. 28, 1938.

Three sad years have passed, Our dear baby, since you were called away:

How well I remember that sad dreary day, Though death claimed you three years ago,

Somewhere back of the sunset, Where loneliness never dies, He lives in the land of glory, With the blue and the gold of the skies.

My thoughts wander as day light fades,

To the land of three long years ago, And memory paints the scenes of old, In the gold of the twilight glow.

We seem to see in the soft dim light, A face we loved the best.

And we think of him When the sun last ray Goes down in the far off west.

Loving Mother, Father, Brother and Sister.

BYRD WANTS FACTS FOR CATTLE RAISERS

Senator Harry F. Byrd this week today communicated with the Honorable Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture. This action was taken by Senator Byrd at the request of former Governor Peery in recognition of the fact that the price of beef cattle is not satisfactorily responding to the improved purchasing power of the American people. Senator Byrd said today that his reply from Secretary Wickard would be made public for the benefit of the cattle growers of Virginia.

The letter follows: The Honorable Claude R. Wickard, The Secretary of Agriculture.

My dear Mr. Secretary: My friend, the Honorable George C. Peery, former Governor of Virginia, has asked me to obtain from you the following information:

1. The average price received by farmers for all beef cattle for the years 1939, 1940 and 1941, up to November 1.

2. The average price received by packers from retailers for beef for the same years.

3. The average price received by retailers from consumers for the same years.

4. The net profits of the four big packers for the past three years.

5. Where beefsteak is sold to the consumer at 50 cents per pound, the average amount received there from by the producers, the packers and the retailers.

6. The average price for beef per pound that is being paid by the United States Government on contracts for the Army and Navy.

I shall appreciate such information as you can give me in response to this inquiry.

With best wishes, I am
Cordially yours,
HARRY F. BYRD

"MR. JORDAN IS HILARIOUS"

In a motion picture comedy so unusual, so fascinating and so delightfully different that the entire motion picture industry gains in stature, Robert Montgomery next, brings to Pitts theatre audiences an entirely new conception of joyous screen entertainment. This new Columbia comedy, "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," even as it defies every law of film-making, is the most surprising screen accomplishment of the year, combining laughter and thrills in gay abundance, and telling its uproariously mirthful story emotional value.

The delightful hilarity and appeal of "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" is founded upon a situation which really should be seen to be fully appreciated. The greatness of the picture, one of the greatest of all time, is readily evident during its unfolding on the Pitts theatre screen.

A magnificent cast, contributing magnificent performances, brings to the screen a story that will be told and re-told for years to come. Mr. Montgomery, in the major role, that of a guy named Joe who has a sense of humor and a saxophone he doesn't play as well as he thinks he does, offers a performance which can only be called extraordinary, so clear and sharp and enjoyable is his work. As the "Mr. Jordan" of the title, Claude Rains merits the adjective "perfect," so kindly, so understanding, so real does he appear.

Lovely Evelyn Keyes, proving her right to the stardom which is the reward for excellent performances, is of equal moment in the leading feminine role, and Rita Johnson abandons her ingenue parts to contribute to "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" a character portrayal of outstanding merit.

James Gleason and Edward G. Robinson and delightful "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," for all its superb charm, is a comedy designed for laughter, a motion picture that captures the hearts of its audiences.

Credit, to, must be accorded to director Alexander Hall, whose "This Thing Called Love" and "He Stayed for Breakfast," first flight-comedies of last year, are overshadowed by the "Here Comes Mr. Jordan." There can be no doubt that Mr.
